20. The local character of this election precluded the use of any large scale publicity schemes, but the candidates showed far more energy and initiative in the campaigning than was evident in previous elections. All the usual methods were used but to an extent hitherto unheard of. The day before tha balloting posters, signs and lanters covered the Prefecture from the largest city to the smallest sub-village. Literally, thousands of loud speakers were turned loose for street speeches.

For the first time since the activity began for the initial election the Japanese public itself started and maintained the momentum of the campaigning. Primarily, this was due to the fact that the candidates were running for positions in their own community. All persons seemed to know all the candidates and their policies. For this reason it was necessary for Military Government only to impress on the Japanese participants in the election that the election must be honest and representative. This was accomplished by continued use of the newspaper "Saitama Shimbun", conferences with officials committees and candidates, use of announcer systems at railway stations and reminders in the form of posters and signs on CI & E bulletin boards.

21. No violations of election laws were reported to Military Government Election Surveillance teams on election day. Those reported by letter were all of a minor nature and were turned over immediately to Japanese authorities for investigation.

18. All the usual methods of campaign publicity were in evidence. Although this city is above the 100,000 population figure, it is a poor and dirty city of small factories and foundries and the position of mayor is accorded no more importance than is attached to the office in other much smaller municipalities.

Military Government included Kawaguchi City in its overall prefecture program of giving separate conferences to election committees and candidates in the larger cities. Distribution was made of "open letters" to all committees as well as to the general public, the latter being circulated through the medium of the Saitama Shimbun.

19. No violations of election laws in Kawaguchi were reported to Military Government Inspection Teams, on election day, nor were any pre-election violations discovered.

This publicity was generally in the usual form of street speeches, placards etc. Forty (40) of the candidates utilized allotted radio time and a huge number of candidates and their supporters used loud speaker systems either stationary or hand carts and trucks.

Military Government continued to exploit the news channels of the local newspapers, railway station loudspeakers, and CI & E bulletin boards. Also, working through the prefectural election committee, several thousands of copies of election letters were distributed down even to the local households. A copy of these letters is attached. In addition, every member of the Military Government Team interviewed at least four (4) Japanese, questioning these people in such a manner as to stimulate interest in the elections and to get these people themselves to encourage neighbors, friends, and relatives to vote and vote wisely on election days.

20. No violations of election laws were reported to election inspection teams on election day. One major violation and numerous minor cases were uncovered by Japanese authorities who are following them closely. The major offence was reported to SCAP.

21. In general, the House of Representatives election caused more interest, and was better conducted than preceding elections. No criticism was aimed at the conduct of activities of the Occupation Forces and the Japanese election officials cooperated whole-heartedly.

The voting percentage suffered in some areas because rationing was being carried on concurrently with the election. In certain rural areas, farmers found it necessary to spend the entire day in the fields in order to use the irrigation water which was released on election day.

時、勞働條約締結ということを前定していけば政策協定は出來るのではないか、私どもはそう考えている、またそうしなければならないのではないかと思う

司会者 ここでは連立に賛成の方ばかりだから話は簡單で都合がいいが、各党がうまくまとまりますか

芦田氏 まとまるかまとまらぬかばいかんと思うが……

芦田氏 やろうと思えば卅分で出來るよ、やろうという気がなければ三日かゝつても出來ない

出席者
社会党 西尾末廣氏
自由党 石橋湛山氏
民主党 芦田均氏

石橋氏 まア連立の場合でも[illegible]

左派は大衆の行過ぎに対して随分影響せられたことと思う、それだけじゃなくイデオロギーもあるが、客観情勢が変つたということ、あの二・一ゼネストを頂点としてそれが変つて來たように考えている、現に変つて來ているものと思う

その点については反対するものもあろうけれども大勢は連立に行くと思う

司会者 今度の選挙の結果、左派は判然とは分らないでしょうが右派左派どちらの重さが増し
