INSTRUCTIONS FOR FILING YOUR INCOME TAX RETURN

A. Who Must File.—Every citizen or resident of the United States who had gross income of $600 or more in 1950 must file a Federal income tax return on Form 1040A or Form 1040. This is required whether you are single or married, and whether you were a minor or an adult.

A single person with less than $600 gross income should file a return to get a refund if tax was withheld. A married person with income less than her (or his) own personal exemption(s) should always file a joint return with husband or wife to get the smaller tax or larger refund for the couple. No refund can be made unless a return is filed

B. Who May Use Optional Return Form 1040A.—If your total gross income was less than $5,000 and consisted entirely of wages reported on Withholding Statements (Forms W–2), or of such wages and not more than $100 total of other wages, dividends, and interest, you may use Employee's Optional Income Tax Return (Form 1040A). If you had any income from other sources, such as annuities, rents, royalties, a business or profession, farming, transactions in securities or other property, partnerships, estates, and trusts, you may not use Form 1040A but must file your return on Form 1040. Likewise, Form 1040 must be used in making a separate return of a married person domiciled in a community property State, or where husband or wife itemizes deductions.

If you use Form 1040A, the Collector of Internal Revenue will compute the tax and send you either a check for any refund due you or a bill for any amount you owe. The Collector will compute your tax from the table provided by law which allows $600 for each exemption and about 10 percent of your total income for charitable contributions, interest, taxes, casualty losses, medical expenses, and miscellaneous items. If your deductions amount to more than 10 percent of your income, it will generally be to your advantage to use Form 1040 and itemize them.

C. Married Couple—Advantage of Joint Return.—A husband and wife may file a joint return on Form 1040A if their combined incomes do not exceed the limits described in Instruction B above. A husband and wife may make a joint return even though one has no income. To assure any benefits of the split-income provisions, husband and wife should file a joint return. BOTH HUSBAND AND WIFE MUST SIGN A JOINT RETURN.

A joint return on Form 1040A never results in more tax than separate returns because the tax is computed by the Collector on the combined incomes or on the separate incomes, whichever results in the smaller tax or larger refund for the couple. If each has income, they must list their incomes separately in item 6. Both husband and wife are responsible for any tax which is due on a joint return, and any refund check will be addressed to both.

D. Your Exemptions.—Fill in items 1, 2, and 3 on other side in order to get credit for your exemptions. The law allows—

(Item 1) One exemption for you—two if you are either 65 years of age or over OR blind—three if you are both 65 or over AND blind;

(Item 2) One exemption for your wife (or husband), unless her exemption is claimed on another return—two if she is either 65 years of age or over OR blind—three if she is both 65 or over AND blind;

For purposes of items 1 and 2, marital status, age, and blindness must be determined as of December 31, 1950. However, if the husband or wife died during 1950, the exemptions of the deceased should be determined as of the date of death instead of December 31. If totally blind, attach a statement of such fact to the return. If partially blind, attach a statement from a qualified physician or a registered optometrist that (1) central visual acuity did not exceed 20/200 in the better eye with correcting lenses or (2) that the widest diameter of the visual field subtends an angle no greater than 20 degrees.

(Item 3) One exemption for each dependent (the additional exemption for age or blindness applies only to you and your wife but not to dependents).

The law puts very exact limitations on who is a dependent. Each dependent must meet all four of the following tests:

1. He or she received over one-half of his or her support from you in 1950, and

2. He or she was "closely related" to you, and

3. He or she did not have $500 or more gross income of his or her own in 1950, and

4. If married, her or his exemption is not claimed on the return of her husband or his wife.

To qualify as a dependent, a person must also be either a citizen of the United States, or a resident of the United States, Canada, or Mexico. "Closely related" means your children (including legally adopted children) and grandchildren; your parents and grandparents; your brothers and sisters; your immediate "in-laws" (mother-, father-, son-, daughter-, brother-, sister-in-law); your blood-related uncles, aunts, nieces, and nephews.

In a joint return, a "dependent" may be claimed if supported by either husband or wife, as, for example, husband supporting wife's nephew.

E. Your Income.—Enter in item 4 on other side all the information called for with respect to wages shown on all your 1950 Withholding Statements (Forms W–2) before pay-roll deductions. If a joint return is filed, such detailed information should be entered with respect to all the wages shown on Forms W–2 of both husband and wife. BE SURE TO ATTACH ALL WITHHOLDING STATEMENTS (Forms W–2) TO YOUR RETURN!

Enter in item 5 on other side the total of interest, dividends, and any wages not shown on Forms W–2. If a joint return is filed, enter total of such interest, dividends, and wages of both husband and wife. Include in this item the increase in value of any United States Savings or War Bonds which matured or which you cashed in 1950, as well as all "tips" and so-called "gifts" which are really compensation for services.

Nontaxable income.—You should exclude from your income any items exempt from tax, such as social security benefits, sickness and injury benefits, life insurance proceeds, dividends on veterans' Government insurance, mustering-out pay, and Government contributions to monthly family allowances.

Combat service.—If you served as a member of the Armed Forces in a combat zone during any part of 1950, part of your active service pay is not taxable. Your service withholding statement (Form W–2) does not include this nontaxable service pay but shows only the pay you need report. Enter this figure in item 4.

F. Where and When To File Your Return.—File your completed and signed return (signed by both husband and wife, if a joint return) with the Collector of Internal Revenue for your district, between January 1 and March 15, 1951.

G. Your Rights of Appeal.—If you believe there is an error in any bill, statement, refund, or audit adjustment in connection with your tax, you are entitled to present your reasons to the Collector and have the matter reconsidered. If agreement on audit adjustments is not reached with the Collector, you can appeal to the Internal Revenue Agent in Charge in your district. Decisions by the Internal Revenue Agent in Charge can be appealed to the Technical Staff in your district. Further appeal can be made to the Federal courts.

IMPORTANT MESSAGE - READ CAREFULLY

• AMOUNT OF YOUR CHECK - This amount is the total of dividends on all your policies, less deductions (if any) of amounts owed by you for insurance premium shortage or lien or unauthorized payment of a veterans benefit.

• INSURANCE FILE NUMBER - Please use this number in any correspondence about your dividend payment to assure a prompt reply to your letter.

• ACCOUNT NUMBER - The account numbers with the letters N, V or H are your insurance policy numbers. An account number with the letter C is your Veterans Administration claim number.

• DIVIDEND FOR EACH POLICY - The individual amounts are the dividends for each of your policies, with the total shown as the last amount. On the same line with each individual amount is shown the number of the policy on which the amount is payable. If the figures 0.00 are shown beside a policy number, the policy is not eligible for a Special Dividend. If you have reduced the face amount of a policy, two or more amounts of dividend are shown for that policy -- one amount for the dividend at each face amount of insurance. The number of that policy will appear on two or more lines, opposite the amount of dividend for each face amount of insurance. Please address any questions about these amounts to the Veterans Administration office which maintains your insurance records giving the insurance file number shown on the face of this statement.

The code number for this office appears to the left of the word "Pay" on your check and the address of this office is shown on the enclosed slip, opposite the code number.

• INSURANCE PREMIUM SHORTAGE OR LIEN - This amount was withheld from your dividend to pay a premium shortage or liens on your insurance. On the same line with the amount is shown the number of the policy on which the amount is owed. Please address any questions to the Veterans Administration office which maintains your insurance records, as indicated on the enclosed slip, giving the insurance file number shown on the face of this statement.

• UNAUTHORIZED PAYMENT OF VETERANS BENEFITS - This amount was withheld from your dividend to repay the amounts of a payment (or value of a service) made to you in connection with veterans benefits in excess of your entitlement. On the same line with the amount is shown your Veterans Administration claim number (if any), under which the unauthorized payment was made. If you have already paid all or a part of this amount, a refund will be made of the balance due by the Veterans Administration Regional Office which maintains your claim records. Please address any questions regarding deductions on account of unauthorized payment of veterans benefits to the Veterans Administration office which maintains your claim records, giving your claim number, as shown beside the amount of deduction, to assure prompt reply to your letter.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR FILING YOUR INCOME TAX RETURN

A. Who Must File.—Every citizen or resident of the United States who had income of $600 or more in 1949 must file a Federal income tax return on Form 1040A or Form 1040. This is required whether you are single or married, and whether you were a minor or an adult.

A single person with less than $600 income should file a return to get a refund if tax was withheld. A married person with income less than her (or his) own personal exemption(s) should always file a joint return with husband or wife to get the smaller tax or larger refund for the couple. No refund can be made unless a return is filed.

B. Who May Use Optional Return Form 1040A.—If your total income was less than $5,000 and consisted entirely of wages reported on Withholding Statements (Forms W–2), or of such wages and not more than $100 total of other wages, dividends, and interest, you may use Employee's Optional Income Tax Return (Form 1040A). If you had any income from other sources, such as annuities, rents, royalties, a business or profession, farming, transactions in securities or other property, partnerships, estates, and trusts, you may not use Form 1040A but must file your return on Form 1040. Likewise, Form 1040 must be used in making a separate return of a married person domiciled in a community property State, or where husband or wife itemizes deductions.

If you use Form 1040A, the Collector of Internal Revenue will compute the tax and send you either a check for any refund due you or a bill for any amount you owe. The Collector will compute your tax from the table provided by law which allows $600 for each exemption and about 10 percent of your total income for charitable contributions, interest, taxes, casualty losses, medical expenses, and miscellaneous items. If your deductions amount to more than 10 percent of your income, it will generally be to your advantage to use Form 1040 and itemize them.

C. Married Couple—Advantage of Joint Return.—A husband and wife may file a joint return on Form 1040A if their combined incomes do not exceed the limits described in Instruction B above. A husband and wife may make a joint return even though one has no income. To assure any benefits of the split-income provisions, husband and wife should file a joint return. BOTH HUSBAND AND WIFE MUST SIGN A JOINT RETURN.

A joint return on Form 1040A never results in more tax than separate returns because the tax is computed by the Collector on the combined incomes or on the separate incomes, whichever results in the smaller tax or larger refund for the couple. If each has income, they must list their incomes separately in item 6. Both husband and wife are responsible for any tax which is due on a joint return, and any refund check will be addressed to both.

D. Your Exemptions.—Fill in items 1, 2, and 3 on other side in order to get credit for your exemptions. The law allows—

(Item 1) One exemption for you—two if you are either 65 years of age or over OR blind—three if you are both 65 or over AND blind;

(Item 2) One exemption for your wife (or husband), unless her exemption is claimed on another return—two if she is either 65 years of age or over OR blind—three if she is both 65 or over AND blind;

For purposes of items 1 and 2, marital status, age, and blindness must be determined as of December 31, 1949. However, if the husband or wife died during 1949, the exemptions of the deceased should be determined as of the date of death instead of December 31. If totally blind, attach a statement of such fact to the return. If partially blind, attach a statement from a qualified physician or a registered optometrist that (1) central visual acuity did not exceed 20/200 in the better eye with correcting lenses or (2) that the widest diameter of the visual field subtends an angle no greater than 20 degrees.

(Item 3) One exemption for each dependent (the additional exemption for age or blindness applies only to you and your wife but not to dependents).

The law puts very exact limitations on who is a dependent. Each dependent must meet all four of the following tests:

1. He or she received over one-half of his or her support from you in 1949, and

2. He or she was "closely related" to you, and

3. He or she did not have $500 or more income of his or her own in 1949, and

4. If married, her or his exemption is not claimed on the return of her husband or his wife.

To qualify as a dependent, a person must also be either a citizen of the United States, or a resident of the United States, Canada, or Mexico. "Closely related" means your children (including legally adopted children) and grandchildren; your parents and grandparents; your brothers and sisters; your immediate "in-laws" (mother-, father-, son-, daughter-, brother-, sister-in-law); your blood-related uncles, aunts, nieces, and nephews.

In a joint return, a "dependent" may be claimed if supported by either husband or wife, as, for example, husband supporting wife's nephew.

E. Your Income.—Enter in item 4 on other side all the information called for with respect to wages shown on all your 1949 Withholding Statements (Forms W–2) before pay-roll deductions. If a joint return is filed, such detailed information should be entered with respect to all the wages shown on Forms W–2 of both husband and wife. BE SURE TO ATTACH ALL WITHHOLDING STATEMENTS (Forms W–2) TO YOUR RETURN!

Enter in item 5 on other side the total of interest, dividends, and any wages not shown on Forms W–2. If a joint return is filed, enter total of such interest, dividends, and wages of both husband and wife. Include in this item the increase in value of any United States Savings or War Bonds which you cashed in 1949, as well as all "tips" and so-called "gifts" which are really compensation for services.

You should exclude from your income any items exempt from tax, such as social security benefits, sickness and injury benefits, life insurance proceeds, mustering-out pay, and Government contributions to monthly family allowances.

F. Where and When To File Your Return.—File your completed and signed return (signed by both husband and wife, if a joint return) with the Collector of Internal Revenue for your district, between January 1 and March 15, 1950.

G. Your Rights of Appeal.—If you believe there is an error in any bill, statement, refund, or audit adjustment in connection with your tax, you are entitled to present your reasons to the Collector and have the matter reconsidered. If agreement on audit adjustments is not reached with the Collector, you can appeal to the Internal Revenue Agent in Charge in your district. Decisions by the Internal Revenue Agent in Charge can be appealed to the Technical Staff in your district. Further appeal can be made to the Federal courts.
