THE BEE.

PRINTED AND PUBLISHED DAILY BY JEROME BAYON,
STATE AND CITY PRINTER.

OFFICE—CORNER OF MAGAZINE AND THALIA STREETS.

TUESDAY MORNING, MARCH 23, 1835.

TO SUBSCRIBERS AND MERCHANTS.

In a few days the office of the Bee will be removed to the Commercial house of Mr. Delachaise, adjoining the merchant Exchange, Tricou, Domingon and Canonge, situated in Chartres street, between St Louis and Conti.

The lower story will be devoted to a reading room for subscribers, where they will find most of the public journals throughout the United States, and those of France, England, Mexico, etc—with literary periodicals. A bulletin board will also be regularly kept for the information of merchants and others—containing an account of the clearances and arrivals at the port, the state of the markets, etc.

Due notice will be given of the removal of the office, and the opening of the reading-room.

Nominations by the governor with the approbation of the senate.

City Appointments.—In a few days will occur an election of aldermen to represent the different wards in the city council. It is rumoured that some members of the present council have determined not to be again candidates; as they find the true duties of their station onerous and invidious. It is that these duties are of a serious and responsible nature; that they are performed gratis for the benefit of the public; and that they occupy much of the time of the members in the affairs of the corporation. But noble minds will occasionally sacrifice private interests for the public good; and will feel pleasure and pride in being instrumental in advancing the general welfare and prosperity.

We have learned that Messrs Macready, Mercier and Montegut have determined to resign, and no longer serve as aldermen. Were we permitted, we certainly would request those gentlemen to fulfil the desires of their constituents; who cannot but be aware of the decided, just and impartial manner their interests were attended to by their representatives. We are almost confident of their being returned from their respective wards; and sincerely hope to find them willingly reinstated in the city council.

Congress.—The 23d session of congress was ended on the night of the 2d inst; but so much of the most important business of the country was left unfinished, as to be absolutely a disgrace to our federal legislature. The bill to organ ize the post-office; to regulate custom-houses; amend the federal judiciary system; deposit the revenues in local banks; to carry into effect the convention with Spain; to indemnify claimants for French spoliations prior to 1800; to regulate the tenure of, and removal from, offices; and last—and most important—to repair and arm all the fortifications, were indefinitely postponed, by the expiration of the session.—Time—the members of both houses of congress continued at their posts till main light on the last day of the session; but it is true that they have done the nation but little service—except the resolution of the senate, not to commit us with France, under existing circumstances; and the resolution of the other house, that the execution of the treaty of indemnity must be insisted on. But the resolution authorizing contingent preparations to be made to meet emergencies has been nullified by the bill making appropriations for such contingency being lost by a dispute between the senate and the other house, so that our relations with France remain in statu quo as far as congress is concerned—except that a spirit of determination not to be cajoled has been evinced by the president and the house of representatives; and a spirit of confidence and courtesy by the senate.

It is true that we have little doubt concerning the ultimate passage of the law of indemnity by the French chambers; for in the unsettled state of our domestic arrangements, in consequence of a non-appropriation to meet emergencies, we think it not improbable that an extraordinary session of the 24th congress may be convoked before the winter.

The president will have no other resource should the law of indemnity be rejected. In a Liverpool paper of the 11th of February (which we have before us), not one line occurs of what was transpiring in the French chambers; but we have learned that the project of law was recommended by the investigating committee of that body. And as the Russian claims on France have been answered by a preponderating counterclaim, the arguments relative to the claims being made on France in consequence of indemnifying ours are nullified—and the only questions are now, are our claims wellfounded? is their amount authentic? These cannot well be evaded; and when the justice of our claims is admitted, the amount may be adopted rather than resort to any alternative measures. Congress has now affirmed that the amount must be paid; and that nothing less than the whole amount can satisfy our citizens.

The provision to establish a daily mail between this city and Mobile, was lost with the bill organizing the post-office department; but the bill to establish here a branch of the U. S. mint has passed.

We congratulate the citizens of New Orleans on the prospect of having one of the finest Anglo-American theatres in this country. The foundation of this theatre has been already laid, under the auspices of James H. Caldwell Esq. to whom the city of New Orleans is indebted for the introduction of American dramas here;—for gaslights;—and now for this splendid theatre, which he has had in contemplation during the past three years. Under the superintendance of one so energetic and persevering, we do not fear its success.

We have given a cursory glance over the ground plan of the theatre. Its front will be on St Charles st, and in depth it will extend nearly to Camp. On the right and left wings are arcades, each having two line of stores for dry goods, etc. The refreshment rooms will be on the basement story on either side of the grand vestibule: so that the common inebriating disturbances will not occur. The proscenium is large and prominent; and sufficient space is allowed for a fine orchestra—on either side of which will be stage boxes. The first tier of boxes will be splendidly arranged; and comfortably accommodated with boudoirs in the rear, for ladies to dress or retire. The other three or four tier will be proportionately adjusted. Immediately behind the orchestra will be three or four benches cushioned, backed and separated from the other benches in the pit, and the tout ensemble will present a magnificent appearance worthy a prosperous city like New Orleans.

What has become of Tutorial? Is Mr Harby to be deprived of a benefit? Delay is often defeat.

Lectures on dramatic poetry and elocution will be given by Mr J. J. Adams, this evening, at the corner of Camp and Poydras streets.

Brown's circus richly deserves the patronage of the public.

Sutton appears to be a scientific ventriloquist—skilful and shrewd in his art and artifices.

The original and other allusions at Banks' arcade will be found attractive and amusing to those who have taste in the fine arts; who are willing to give up their senses in that wonder which is the effect of novelty; and who are afterwards disposed to reflect on what they have witnessed—all the happy, happy, happy are they who are pleased without knowing why or why;

When ignorance is bliss
'Tis folly to be wise.

Mrs Stone is a very great acquisition to the American theatre, where good actresses are indeed few and far between; and where they are wonderfully chary of exhibiting the follies, foibles, frailties and illnesses of their sex.—Mrs Knisely appears generally to advantage in operas when she modulates her voice and does not distort her features.—Mlle Nelson performs well when she does not depend too much on her legs and saltorship.—Mrs. Crook does admirably in Mrs Malaprop, but makes as amiable her vanity in assuming the parts of nieces just past their teens—a frailty to which Mrs Russell is also addicted.—Mrs Rowers occasionally frigidity personified, sometimes superciliousness, often gaiety, but generally nonchalance except when dancing.—Miss Petrie is the future hope of the ballet corps and oh! what a demonstration! how elastically she presses on her heels and soles! how admirably she slings her shoulders! peaks her chin frowns herself to gentle slumbers while singing, and . . . pulaw! who does not perceive that

Craig is in every step; heav'n in her eye;
In ev'ry gesture, dignity and love?

And as for Mrs Hubbard, who does not admire her thick lips, her awkwardness and incompetency? and who is not pleased with the forwardness and inefficiency of that black eyed beauty whose name is never heard?

There are few words more frequently confounded in application, yet few more distinct in signification—than anticipation and apprehension. The former refers to hope, the latter to fear. We anticipate future events which we hope; we apprehend those that we fear. No man will anticipate difficulties and misfortunes; none will apprehend prosperity and happiness—at least to himself.

We were led to make these remarks from the confused use of the terms by several members of the legislature, who are in general accurate speakers; but trifles generally manifest the proficient.

Our citizens will soon be gratified or insulted by having caricatured the most unfortunate and degraded rude of men, at the American theatre: we allude to what is so pompously styled in the handbills, the representation of the Negro character. To the grovelling glutton in abandoned exhibitions, Jim Crow, has given and may give delight; but to any who respect themselves, and regard decency and delicacy, humanity and discretion, the representation will give unqualified disgust. Only conceive the basest of mankind abominably caricatured! Odi profanum vulgus.

Mr Mason who made so successful a debut last week at the American theatre, performs St Pierre in Knowles beautiful drama of The Wife tonight. We attended the representation of Hamlet on Friday, and his personation of this most difficult character was governed throughout by sound discretion. It evinced that nice perception of Shakspeare which can only be obtained by patient and constant study; and a delicacy of execution, rarely if ever the result but of unremitting practice. In truth, this gentleman's Hamlet is a very charming and (what is more to the purpose), a very faithful portraiture. We shall probably enter more analytically into the performance of this evening; and cordially recommend the play-going public not to let slip the high gratification they will experience in witnessing a series of admirable, classical delineations. Those whose opinions on such matters are entitled to confidence, inform us that his St Pierre is decidedly the best ever seen in this country; not even excepting that of Mr C Kemble.

Mr Mason's intrinsic attainments are of no every day description; they place him far, very far above any contemptible carrion who, with clipped wings and envious spirit, try to beat down the nobler bird whom nature has gifted with the power to soar.

THE ASSEMBLY.

Senate—Saturday, 21st instant.

On motion of Mr Thomas, the bill to incorporate the Western marine and fire insurance company; and on motion of Mr Derbigny, that to transfer the right of keeping a ferry across the river Marmontel in the parish of St Landry.

On motion of Mr Tessey, the bill creating additional notaries public in the parish of Concordia was discussed.

Mr Thomas was desirous of restoring in this bill the old law on notarial contracts—making their acts not proofs of the identity of the person, unless especially certified in the deed as being personally known to the notary. He is aware of many instances wherein persons under assumed names have disposed by notarial contracts of the property of deceased and other persons.

Mr Hoa thinks that notarial contracts furnish only prima facie evidence; but should forgery be proved, they are not considered valid. Such a law in the city would be onerous if not impracticable; as it is next to impossible that a notary should be personally acquainted with all who may have official transactions with him.

Mr Tessey believes the amendment proposed would but double the difficulty of arriving at justice: for a fraud may possibly be committed by the notary himself; and the means of detecting the forger or vendor in such an instance be defeated; by the fraudulent connection or connivance of the notary.

The bill was passed without the amendment.

On motion of Mr Hoa, the bill from the house making appropriations for the colleges of Jefferson and Louisiana was read a first time. It appropriates $21,775 to redeem the mortgages due by the college of Jefferson to the Union bank of Louisiana, and $27,840 to indemnify the remainder of debt due by said college. It also provides that an annual appropriation for 10 years hence of $15,000 be made for the colleges of Jefferson and Louisiana. It provides further that when the public lands appropriated by Congress 3 March '27, shall be surveyed and located, the proceeds shall be disbursed to meet the above appropriations, and for other purposes.

Mr Hoa moved that it be read a second time.

Mr Thomas could not consent to hurrying the legislation of a bill of this importance. He does not object to supporting the colleges named in the bill; but he thinks that an appropriation should be sometime made for the college at Franklin: and this for the very reason assigned in the other house, why it should not be made—because it had not commenced operations: for it has not yet commenced, because unable. It absolutely requires support to be put in operation; and demands the distributive patronage of the state. Again he is opposed to the clause concerning the surveying and location of the lands appropriated by Congress for the purposes of public education: as he considers it preferable that those lands should be sold before being located; and that if timely notice were given of such sales, the nett proceeds would greatly exceed what would be produced by isolated location.

The bill was therefore made the special order for today (Monday).

On motion of Mr Tessey, the partly-read bill to levy a tax for the support of the Charity Hospital; the Poydras, the Male and the Female orphan asylums, was again discussed.

Five of the sections were amended and adopted. They enact that all cabin passengers arriving here from beyond the limits of the state shall pay a tax of 50 cents; and all deck or steerage passengers, 25 cents;—that 2 collectors shall be appointed; one for marine and one for steamboat vessels, annually at a compensation of 5 per cent each on the amount which both may have collected, provided the annual income of each does not exceed 3000 dollars;—that the masters of ships or steamboats shall regularly furnish to said collectors an account of the number, names, apparentage and sex of the passengers;—that the owners or consignees of the ships shall be responsible for the tax, and a lien be allowed on such ships or boats, if not paid within 3 days from time of arrival; that if no account is furnished, 100 cabin and 100 deck passengers may be presumed as being conveyed, and suits shall be instituted by the collectors for the recovery of the amount;—that the collectors shall monthly furnish an account of all their vouchers and receipts to the state treasurer, etc.

The bill as sent from the house appointed only one collector of this 'charitable' tax, with a salary of 10 per cent on all he collected, provided the annual sum did not exceed $10,000; and gave him permission to employ deputies, etc. His appointment was to be every second year.

Mr Thomas strenuously opposed a provision of this kind. It was calculated to gratify merely the reckless cupidity of restless ambition; to grant a sinecure to some person who would be permitted to recline at ease in his bureau, while the duties were performed by deputies. The salary allowed was considerably too great for our institutions; and the influence thrown by it into the hands of one man, obnoxious and prejudicial. If we want efficient officers, give them a to be reasonable compensation; and if the work is well performed, let the officers themselves perform it in propria persona not by deputy. The office created by the bill would be a perfect sinecure. Already (since the bill was introduced) some of the most wealthy and respectable of our citizens have craved the situation from the governor, to gratify their cupidity. It is necessary to have men of respectability, intelligence and industry; and that they should be but adequately paid for the services rendered. He would therefore move that two collectors be appointed, a marine and steamboat collector; and that each collector shall receive 5 per cent on the amount annually collected by both, provided that neither collector shall receive yearly more than $3000.

The amendment requiring these collectors to furnish a monthly statement and payment was introduced by Mr Tessey.

The bill was remanded for further consideration, when the senate proceeded to executive business.

The turnpike roads of Kentucky are among the best roads in the country. They are graded at two and a half degrees, and bridges and all have cost at average only $1,500 a mile. The state of Kentucky carries on her improvements as joint stockholder with private individuals or companies. They are consequently done at first in the efficient and cheap manner and require little repairs.

Roads so graded and macadamized will eventually prevail throughout the country; as they are equally well adapted for locomotives as the rails—and by using wooden blocks thrust down for grading, they can be constructed across marshy lands in any region.

The senate spent some time on Tuesday evening on executive business and acted on a large number of nominations; amongst many others, the following, we understand, were confirmed.

Edward Kavanagh, (a member of congress from Maine) to be Chargé d'Affaires to Portugal, in the place of Thomas L. L. Brent.

John G. A. Williamson, of North Carolina, to Chargé d'Affaires to Venezuela.

Henry Wheaton (now Chargé d'Affaires at Denmark) to be Chargé d'Affaires to Prussia.

Jonathan F. Woodside, of Ohio, to Chargé d'Affaires to Denmark.

Henry Hone, of New York, to be Consul at Jago de Cuba.

Robert F. Chace, of Mississippi, to be Consul at Martinique.

Cheeney Hickman, to be a Director of the Bank of the United States, in the place of Morris Cuxell, rejected by the senate.

Isaac O. Barnes, to be Naval Officer of the port of Boston.

The nomination of Roger B. Taney, as a Judge of the Supreme Court was then taken up, and indefinitely postponed.—[Nat. Int.

COTTON MARKET.

The demand for Cotton in the early part of the week was very animated and extensive; prices remained steady, and the market closed at an advance of 1-8d. per lb. on common, and 1-4d on the better classes of American; Pernambuco has also improved 1-2d., Maranham and Bahia 1-4d., and Surat 1 8d. per lb, and the Demerara sold on Friday by auction brought very high prices. The business of the week comprises 150 Sea Island, at 21 3-4d. to 28d., with 120 stained, at 12 1-4d. to 19d; 11,120 Bowed, 8 5-8d. to 11d.; 15,000 Orleans, 8 3-4d. to 13d.; 2,960 Mobile, Alabama, and Tennessee, 8 5-8d. to 10 3-8d; 1,950 Pernambuco, Paraiba, &c., 12 7 8d. to 14d; 2,540 Bahia and Maceio, 11 1 4d to 12 1-2d; 1,660 Maranham, 11 3-4d. to 13 1 2d.; 30 Para, 11 1 4d; 130 Peruvian, 12d. to 12 3-4d.; 1,180 Laguayra, 10d. to 11 1-2d; 550 Carthagena, 7 3 4d. to 8 1-8d.; 510 Demerara, &c. 12 3-4 to 13d; 80 Barbadoes, 10 1-2d; 20 Bahama, 10 1-4d. to 12 1 8d.; 410 West India, 9 5 8d. to 12d.; 20 Smyrna, 9 1 4d.; 310 Egyptian, 10 1-2d. to 13d., and 5,060 Surat, at 6 5 8d to 7 7-8d. per lb, making together 45,330 bales, of which 5,000 American, 300 Pernambuco, 250 Bahia, 300 Carthagena, and 2,950 Surat have been taken on speculation, and 2,00 for shipment. There has been less doing on Saturday and Monday than in the former part of the week, but no prices there is no alteration. The sales for the two days are 6,000 bags.

Liverpool, Feb. 10.

3000 bales cotton were sold today, which sustained the prices of yesterday.

AN ACT

Giving certain powers to the Police Jury of the Parish of Livingston, and for other purposes.

Sect. 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Louisiana, in general assembly convened, That so much of the second section of an act entitled "an act defining the qualifications of Police Jurors of the Parish of Livingston, and for other purposes," so far as relates to the Parish of Livingston is hereby repealed.

Sect 2. Be it further enacted, That the law granting compensation to jurors so far as it affects the parish of Livingston is hereby repealed, and that the power of compensating the jurors of the Parish of Livingston is hereby given exclusively to the police jury of said Parish.

Sect. 3. Be it further enacted, That whenever the police jury of the Parish of Livingston deem it necessary to compensate the jurors of said Parish, it is expressly required that they create a distinct and separate tax for that purpose.

Sect 4. And be it further enacted, That it shall only be necessary to appoint three commissioners to lay off public roads in the Parish of Livingston.

MUSE LABRANCHE,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.
CHAS. DERBIGNY,
President of the Senate.

Approved, March 12th, 1835.

NEW PATENT PERRYIAN PENS—Patent Perryian Pens, warranted to write more than fifty lines with one dip of the pen. The ink from this new instrument flows in an even and uninterrupted stream, exactly proportioned to the strength of the letters formed, thus producing a greater uniformity in the appearance of the writing. This new instrument never blots or fails to mark and the economy of time attending its use, must render it a desirable acquisition to every writer.

Patent Perryian India rubber Spring Pen.—This novel application of Caoutchouc effects an extraordinary elasticity in the patent pen, and its advantages over the quill must be universally acknowledged. The distinguishing feature of the India Rubber Spring is to render the same pen capable of accommodating itself to the various degrees of pressure used in different handwritings, so as to produce with perfect ease, any strength of character at the will of the writer.
