MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

A message is received from his Excellency, the Governor, Charles B. Aycock, transmitting the following report:

To the Honorable, the General Assembly:

GENTLEMEN:—The General Assembly of 1903 passed the following joint resolution, which was ratified 4th of March, 1903:

THE JOINT RESOLUTION OF INQUIRY AS TO ENLARGEMENT OF THE CAPITOL.

Resolved by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring, Whereas, by reason of the great increase of the population, wealth and governmental business of this State the Capitol has become much too small for the purposes for which it was designed; and, whereas, the original plan, foreseeing this, provided for the addition of a north and south wing, as in the Capitol at Washington; and, whereas, further, the Judicial Department, the State Library, the Attorney-General and Superintendent of Public Instruction have been crowded out of the present building, and the valuable libraries of the Supreme Court of the State are exposed to great danger of fire, and their loss would be irremediable by reason of these and divers other deficiencies in the present Capitol:

Resolved, That a committee of five shall be appointed, consisting of one Senator appointed by the President of the Senate, and two members of the House of Representatives, the Governor of the State ex officio and the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court ex officio, who shall investigate and report to the next General Assembly a plan or plans, together with the probable cost thereof, for the addition of the aforesaid wings. Said wings shall provide on the ground floor for additional rooms of executive officers of the State, including the Attorney-General and Superintendent of Public Instruction; the second floor shall provide a suitable chamber in the south wing for the House of Representatives, and a suitable chamber in the north wing for the Senate, the present halls of these two bodies to be remodeled and converted into committee rooms. The third floor of the north wing shall be reserved for the Supreme Court and its library, and the third floor of the south wing shall be provided for the State Library, and an elevator shall be provided in each wing.

Resolved further, That said committee shall serve without compensation and shall fill any vacancies (other than in the ex officio members) occurring in their body. They shall have power to employ an architect to make the necessary plans and drawings, with an estimate of the cost of each plan reported.

Said committee may avail themselves of such plans or parts of plans as they may see fit to use, adopted for similar enlargements of capitol buildings in other States.

In the General Assembly read three times, and ratified this the 4th day of March, A. D. 1903.

In pursuance of said resolution, the undersigned, H. E. Norris, Senator from Wake, was appointed on the committee by the President of the Senate, and A. W. Graham of Granville, and John C. Drewry of Wake, were the members of the House of Representatives selected by the President of that body. These, with the two ex officio members designated by the resolution to represent the Executive and Judicial Departments of the State, constituting the committee.

The resolution outlines the general nature of the building, and our duties as stated therein are to "investigate and report to the next General Assembly a plan or plans, together with the probable cost thereof, for the addition of aforesaid wings." After such investigation, we respectfully recommend the plan drawn by Frank P. Milburn, architect, as in our judgment fulfilling the requirments of the resolution. It provides for a north wing, with a porch facing Halifax street, with a basement for records and storage of books published by the State, the first floor containing rooms for Superintendent of Public Instruction and additional rooms for the Secretary of State and Auditor. The second floor is the new Senate Chamber, with rooms for clerks and officers thereof. The south wing, with a porch giving a front on Fayetteville street, contains a basement for the storage of the archives of the Executive office and Treasury Department, the first floor containing rooms for the Governor and secretaries (whose present rooms can be occupied by the Corporation Commission) and the Treasurer and clerks (whose present rooms can be transferred to the Insurance Commissioner), while the second floor is the new and larger Hall of Representatives. There are large and commodious galleries, and rooms for the clerks, provided for both houses. The present chambers of the two Houses and other space furnishes eighteen commodious committee rooms, which are much needed for the proper dispatch of legislative business.

On the east side a wing is added containing a basement for a heating plant, which will economize the heat now transmitted with considerable loss from a distant building. The basement also contains storage room for fuel and a general toilet room. On the first floor is the State Library, with adjacent room for the Librarian. On the second floor is the Supreme Court room, with rooms for the Judges, a consultation room, rooms for the Clerk, the Marshall and the Attorney-General. On the third floor will be the Supreme Court Library. It proved impracticable to place these rooms over the Senate and House, and this is the only deviation from the terms of the resolution. This wing will be fire-proof throughout, thus giving security to the exceedingly valuable State Library and Supreme Court Library, which are now exposed to great hazard from fire.

There are two elevators provided and there are toilet rooms on each floor. The dome will be somewhat raised to conform to the greater length of the building.

These plans preserve the present architectural features of the building down to the smallest details, and will, we think, add greatly to its appearance.

The additions will more than double the floor space of the present building, and by the conveniences introduced, as well as the greater space afforded, will make it a modern building, comparing favorably with the new or enlarged capitols of our sister States. The cost will, we learn from the estimates of the architect, not exceed $300,000, and this cost can be somewhat reduced by using stone from the State's quarry (a mile from the Capitol), from which the other stone for the building was taken, and by the use of convicts.

We send with this report an elevation, or large size picture of the Capitol as it will appear with these additions, and detailed floor plans, on a large scale, for your examination. These have been prepared and furnished by Mr. Milburn, the architect, without any charge therefor. Should it be your will to make additions to the buildings to meet the increased requirements of public business, we do not believe that a better or more economical plan can be provided to meet the views expressed in the resolution under which we have acted.

We have the honor to be, gentlemen,

Your obedient servants,

CHARLES B. AYCOCK.
WALTER CLARK.
JOHN C. DREWRY.
A. W. GRAHAM.
H. E. NORRIS.

Senator Toms, on behalf of Mr. M. O. Dickerson, Clerk of the Superior Court of Rutherford County, presents to the President of the Senate, Hon. F. D. Winston, a gavel made of a piece of wood cut from an old apple-tree which was cut down several years ago in front of the house formerly occupied by William Gilbert and which marked the settlement once known as Gilberttown in Rutherford County.

Senators Toms and Alexander addressed the Senate in explanation of the historic value of the gavel.

The President accepts the gavel and instructs Senators Toms and Alexander to convey his thanks to the donor.

Senator Alexander presents a communication, which is read, as follows:

RUTHERFORDTON, N. C., January 21, 1905.

Hon. Francis D. Winston,
Lieutenant-Governor of North Carolina,
Raleigh, N. C.

DEAR SIR:—To accompany the gavel which Mr. M. O. Dickerson, Clerk of the Superior Court of Rutherford County, has presented to you for use while presiding over the Senate, Mr. Dickerson has requested me to submit to you the following historical facts of which the tree from which the gavel was taken was a mute witness.

The gavel is made of a piece of wood cut from an old apple-tree which was several years ago cut down in front of the house formerly occupied by William Gibert, and which marks the settlement once known as Gilberttown in Rutherford County. The old house, which was the first building in which the courts of Rutherford County were held, when about to fall from age, was torn down by its owner, the late J. A. Forney, Esq., about the year 1878, and nothing now remains to mark its site but the grown sprouts of Lombardy poplars which originally shaded its yard. Tradition says that this house was the center of the settlement known as Gilberttown, where the shoals of Cathey's Creek, which flows near the house site, were utilized for manufacturing furniture and other wood-work by a colony of Scotchmen which William Gilbert is said to have brought to the locality about the year 1750. The place was headquarters for the prominent citizens of what was the western portion of Mecklenburg County, and later Tryon County, prior to 1779, when Rutherford County was established, and its owner was one of the wealthiest and most prominent citizens of this section of the State. In 1780, Colonel Ferguson, commanding the British troops, encamped at Gilberttown during his campaign, which ended with his death at King's Mountain, using William Gilbert's house as his headquarters while Mr. Gilbert was absent in attendance upon the session of the House of Commons, of which he was a member. It was in this Gilbert house that Major Dunlap, one of the most daring and vicious British officers and Ferguson's leading support, was shot and seriously wounded by Captain Gillespie, whose affianced, Miss Mary McRhea, Major Dunlap, during the march of Ferguson's troops through South Carolina, had abducted and kept in confinement until the innocent woman died grief-stricken and broken-hearted. It was in this Gilbert house that the first court of Rutherford County was held and, for many years until the county-seat was permanently located at Rutherfordton, most of the sessions of the County Court were held at either the house of William Gilbert or that of Gilbert's son-in-law, James Holland, on an adjoining plantation.

William Gilbert was of Scotch-Irish descent, migrated to America and first settled in Philadelphia, where he met and fell in love with Miss Sarah McCanless, whom he married against the will of her parents and brought to Charleston, from which place, with a colony of Scotchmen which he had collected together, he came to the locality known as Gilberttown, then a part of Anson or Mecklenburg County. For many years he held the office of justice of the peace of Tryon County, and in 1779 represented that county in the House of Commons, from which he was expelled upon a charge of falsifying his accounts as commissary, from which charge he was thoroughly vindicated by the County Court of Rutherford County at the October Term, 1781, at which court the following record appears on the minute docket: "On motion of William Gilbert, Esq., and testimony produced to the satisfaction of the Court, it is ordered that the opinion of the Court be entered on the records, to-wit: It is the opinion of the Court that the said William Gilbert is not guilty of the charge laid against him to the General Assembly, and we do certify that William Gilbert never plundered, nor was guilty of plundering, to our knowledge." He occupied the position of tax assessor and justice of the peace for many years in Rutherford County, commencing with the establishment of the county in 1779, and was a member of the House of Commons in 1780, 1782 and 1783. In 1783, contemplating a business trip to Philadelphia and other Northern cities, the Rutherford County Court presented him with, and had spread upon the minutes of the Court, a certificate commending William Gilbert to whomsoever with whom he might be thrown during his trip, and stating that he was first in wealth and first in peace in the county, and that he was a thorough patriot, thereby refuting the charge contained in Draper's "King's Mountain and its Heroes" that Gilbert was "a loyal friend of King George." He died in Rutherford County in the year 1790, after a life of strenuous devotion to his adopted country and full of patriotic sacrifices for the cause of liberty.

One of the daughters of William Gilbert married James Holland, who resided on a plantation adjoining Gilberttown, and the small creek which flows through his place to this day bears the name of Holland's Creek. James Holland took a prominent and active part in the early history of our State and, no doubt, the prominence and partiotism of his father-in-law assisted him in obtaining the high offices which he filled. He was Sheriff of old Tryon County before its division in 1779; was Second Lieutenant in Harding's Company, Lock's Regiment, North Carolina Militia; was a member of the State Senate in 1783 and 1797, and a member of the House of Commons in 1786 and 1789; was a member of the first Board of Trustees of the University of North Carolina, 1789-1795, and a member of the second North Carolina Constitutional Convention that adopted the Federal Constitution, 1789. In 1794, James Holland was elected to Congress and served, that time, from 1795 to 1797. In 1800 he was again elected to Congress and served continuously until 1811. In the year 1808, James Holland, who had decided to remove to Tennessee, told his friends that he would not again stand for election to Congress, whereupon the friends of Weightstill Avery, between whom and James Holland there always existed great rivalry, made the charge that Holland would not again stand for the nomination because he knew defeat stared him in the face. Hearing of this, Mr. Holland ordered the removal of his household effects to Tennessee to be stopped, a part having already been sent ahead, announced his candidacy against Avery and was overwhelmingly elected again to Congress. He is the only resident of Rutherford County who has ever been honored with a seat in Congress. After the expiration of his term in Congress he moved to Tennessee, where he died in 1823.

The gavel with which Mr. Dickerson has presented you is a mute reminder of the lives of William Gilbert and James Holland, two men who were most active and prominent in the early history of our State, but whose names, through the lapse of time and our culpable neglect of local history, are unknown to the present generation, notwithstanding the fact that these men are largely responsible for the peace, prosperity and liberty we now enjoy. It was due to the patriotic devotion of such men as these and to the wise legislation of those times that the existence of North Carolina as a State and the establishment of the United States as a world nation became possible. Mr. Dickerson commissions me to urge you to accept this gavel and to use it in the North Carolina State Senate, together with the historical facts which the tree from which it was cut silently witnessed. May this gavel as it is wielded in the government of the Senate renew in the breasts of the Senators remembrance of those troublesome times, the successful outcome of which is our present country —the home of industry, prosperity and liberty.

With the sincerest assurance of the best wishes of both Mr. Dickerson and myself, and kindest regards, I am,

Very truly yours,

S. GALLERT.

Upon motion of Senator Fleming, the Senate adjourns until 11 o'clock to-morrow.

SPECIAL ORDER.

It being a special order for this hour, the President lays before the Senate H. B. 412, S. B. 370, bill to relieve the Board of Agriculture from contributing to the current expenses of the A. and M. College, as recommended by His Excellency, Governor Aycock, in his message of January, 1905, upon second reading.

Senator Scales files a minority report as follows:

The undersigned, a minority of the Committee on Appropriations, respectfully file this as a minority report. It is with deep regret that we antagonize our friend, the Senator from Scotland, in this matter, but we feel compelled to do so. Only the keenest sense of duty to the State, as we see it, would move us to take this action. The last General Assembly required the Agricultural Department to contribute the sum of $10,000 annually to the A. and M. College. The proposition is to relieve the Agricultural Department of this payment. If this is done one of two things must happen: either this amount must be paid out of the State Treasury or the college, with 500 or 600 young men, must greatly suffer. When we remember that last year the Agricultural Department spent more than $97,000 we cannot willingly allow this extra burden to be put upon the general treasury.

(Signed) SCALES.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON SOUTH DAKOTA JUDGMENT AND SCHAFER BONDS.

Senator Zollicoffer, for the committee, submits the following report:

To the Honorable the General Assembly of North Carolina:

GENTLEMEN.—The committee to whom was referred the matter of the South Dakota judgment and the Schafer bonds, to the end that they might carefully consider the same and make some recommendation to the General Assembly, do now respectfully make the following report:

1. That the Governor of the State, with the approval of the Council of State, be directed to settle the South Dakota judgment in the manner deemed by them best to protect the State's interest.

2. That after a careful consideration of the bonded indebtedness known as the Schafer Brothers' bonds, being 242 bonds of the par value of $1,000.00, with the interest on the same for twenty-nine years, and after consultation with the attorneys of said bondholders, the committee unanimously agreed to recommend the following:

The State is to pay the bondholders $892.00 per bond, which is less than par value, and amounts to $215,864.00. This is $447,216.00 less than the principal and interest of the 242 bonds, $179,136.00 less than the first proposition suggested by the bondholders to the Governor, $86,136.00 less than the first written proposition made by the bondholders, printed in the newspaper as a letter to the Governor, and $26,136.00 less than the ultimatum that they offered at the first meeting of this committee. The $215,864.00 recommended by the committee, and accepted by the bondholders, is based (though less) on the settlement of 1879, allowing twenty-five cents on the dollar and interest for twenty-four months, with interest on the deferred coupons, this being in strict accord with the settlement of 1879 and the Democratic Platform.

We believe this settlement is both honest and just, and we therefore recommend that the General Assembly accept and approve it.

Respectfully submitted,
