affiliations, he is under investigation as a possible Communist or sympathizer because of his family relationship to a prominent JCP member in Ishikawa Prefecture. MORIOKA's nephew, MATSUMOTO Ichiro, has been reported as one of the most "dangerous" Communist Party leaders in Ishikawa Prefecture; reports from numerous confidential sources have indicated MATSUMOTO to be active in directing Communist publications, youth groups and intelligence activities. It also has been reported that MATSUMOTO acted as one of several liaison men between the JCP and international Communist representatives in North China. In view of the above, the possibility of MORIOKA coming under the influence of, or being utilized by MATSUMOTO cannot be ignored, even though there is no derogatory information available at the present time on MORIOKA himself.

3. It is requested that CI Div be informed of action taken in connection with the proposed appointment of MORIOKA Hideo as an NPR staff officer.

NEWSMEN BARRED WHEN
PREMIER INSPECTS NPR

JIJI PRESS

TOKYO Dec. 12---Newsmen and photographers failed to catch Premier Shigeru Yoshida reviewing a battalion of the National Police Reserve at its headquarters at Etchujima, Tokyo, today through no fault of their own.

They were barred from the headquarters entrance as Premier Yoshida accompanied by Chief Cabinet Secretary Katsuo Okazaki witnessed for himself what the new 75,000 police setup looked like in full equipment.

The occasion immediately gave rise to speculation that the police force may be further bolstered in strength to meet the situation arising out of the Korean conflict.

Premier Yoshida hardly rises to his feet to make a call in his official capacity save when the occasion demands.

EVENING

Gossipers immediately started speculating that the police reserve structure might be expanded amidst the repercussions of the Korean disturbances in Kobe, Nagoya and Osaka.

Premier Yoshida was in jovial mood throughout his visit of the Etchujima headquarters today and chatted pleasantly with top NRP officials headed by Director General Heikichi Masuhara, an informant said.

Beyond that, there was no concrete revelation of what passed at the headquarters, newsmen and camera wielders having been barred at the entrance.

Wags among the newsmen alluded to this rigorous vigilance against the press as the Premier's "Iron Curtain".

Information Relative to the Police Reserve Force

Note: This information was obtained by an agent of this organ from "T" (name withheld purposely), a private researcher on CHINA and the Communist Party.

Report

It is said that the Police Reserve Force will be increased to 200,000 men by February 1951, and technical corps of artillery and engineers will be established. Furthermore, it is said, the force will be reorganized on a group basis and former Army Academy cadets from the 52d class onward will be removed from the purge lists.

At the present time the top level staff of the Reserve Force is being instructed on secret matters of which low-ranking officers of the US Army know nothing.

G-2 advocated the appointment of former officers to the staff, but the lull in the Korean war helped GS override the contention of G-2.

GHQ at the time it directed re-selection of a high level staff for the reserve forces contended, "appointment of former police officers will be suspended on grounds similar to those previously announced in the case of former officers". Consequently, this has left Japanese Government officials guessing as to the true intentions of GHQ.

Rumors of a personnel increase and reorganization on a group basis, it is said, are an indication of the existence of a plan calling for the employment of an American-staffed reserve force

JCP Directive for Propaganda Operations against the National Police Reserve
(Copy)

Note: This information was obtained by an agent of this organ from "S" (name purposely withheld) who is an anticommunist informant.

Report

The following is a copy of the JCP directive on propaganda operations against the National Police Reserve, obtained by an agent of this organ from "S", an anticommunist informant.

Directive on Propaganda Operations
against the National Police Reserve
(Copy)

To: Prefectural Committees

1. Intensify the class struggle.

Since dissatisfaction regarding the past history, character and views of the staff members (instructors) is rife among the members of the reserves, bring out this point effectively and thereby foster among them the tendency to overrule the staff members. Engender, among them, the idea of adopting the "rule-by-majority-of-the-general-reserve-members", especially in regard to such matters as the appointment of staff members, promulgation of orders and school activities (academic courses and training).

2. Intensify friction among factions and cliques.

Report

The following is a copy of the JCP directive on propaganda operations against the National Police Reserve, obtained by an agent of this organ from "S", an anticommunist informant.

Directive on Propaganda Operations
against the National Police Reserve
(Copy)

To: Prefectural Committees

1. Intensify the class struggle.

Since dissatisfaction regarding the past history, character and views of the staff members (instructors) is rife among the members of the reserves, bring out this point effectively and thereby foster among them the tendency to overrule the staff members. Engender, among them, the idea of adopting the "rule-by-majority-of-the-general-reserve-members", especially in regard to such matters as the appointment of staff members, promulgation of orders and school activities (academic courses and training).

2. Intensify friction among factions and cliques.

Staff members are divided into a former-police faction, an ex-Etajima clique (江田島) and the group which came from civilian life. Among the troops, there are former military academy students, ex-reserve officer candidates, former NCO's, privates, police, and men from the rural areas. These have formed factions according to their origins. Capitalize upon these facts and create dissension among these factions.

3. Constantly infuse a sense of insecurity into these groups.

a. The nation is not giving them full considerations in regard to pay guarantee (position) status, risk of life, etc.

b. Convince them of the victory of the SOVIET UNION, Communist CHINA coalition in the third war of liberation and of the fact that the reserve will be used as human shields by the UNITED STATES.

c. Question the members concerning the underlying principle of the reserves. In short, work upon their psychological weaknesses and thereby create within their minds the questions; "What will we be fighting for? Are we fighting for AMERICA or JAPAN?"

d. Families of reserve members will be neglected and will not receive the aid and assistance which soldier's families received during the (TN last) war. Even when a reserve member dies, his family members will be neglected just as those of company or government workers are neglected.

4. Employ methods similar to those given under paragraph 3 against the staff members. Emphasize in particular the fact that staff members are given frequent tests and are shifted around in accordance with the will of the Americans (example: The transfer of TOGA (門叶), TANAKA (田中) and YOSHIDA (吉田) on 6 November), and thereby convince them that they are but robots controlled by the Americans. Emphasize the fact that they can be relieved of their positions at any time and demoted to troop level in accordance with the results of tests.

At present there are 3,000 comrades in the reserve throughout JAPAN, mostly in HOKKAIDO (北海道) and KYUSHU (九州), and when the time comes for the revolution, we can depend on them (TN to influence others) to switch their allegiance overnight.

3. With reference to at least one of the persons mentioned in Para 2 above, CI Div has obtained from a secret intelligence source derogatory information on a person of the same name, which is of such a nature as to definitely preclude his appointment to the NPR or even retention in his present NRP post. If background and identifying data are furnished CI Div, it will be a simple matter to check whether the person on whom CI Div has such derogatory information is the same as the person referred to in attached papers. Until such a check is made, the appointment of that individual or any of the other persons on whom CI Div has requested additional information in the recent series of correspondence between PSD and CI Div on this Subject would pose a definite security risk.

MEMORANDUM

SUBJECT: Payment for NPR Fingerprint Project

TO: Chief, Public Safety Division

1. With reports based on fingerprints of all its applicants already in its hands, the NPR by direction of CAS, GHq (Major Johnson) has shut off payment to NRP of the remaining portion of the funds allocated to this project from the NPR budget, according to information which was furnished to Police Branch on 6 November by Messrs Manzen and Kubo of NRP National Headquarters. They came to Police Branch to ask for PSD assistance in handling this matter with Civil Affairs Section.

2. The effect of this action on the part of NPR is to render the large number of fingerprint cards taken in this project (326,768) useless to the police, or any other agency, for a long time to come. Without the remaining funds the NRP will be unable to properly index or file the cards for future reference except in spare time, which doesn't exist under present conditions in the NRP Fingerprint Bureau. The funds are required to pay additional employees who were hired especially for this job since it was an emergency over NRP's normal requirements.

3. This project was undertaken by NRP early in August by direction of the Prime Minister in a special ordinance, and the Finance Ministry on 6 August allocated a fund of six million yen to NRP from NPR's budget to finance it on an emergency basis. This amount was calculated upon advice from NRP based upon its experience in estimating costs to carrying out fingerprint operations including the taking of prints, classifying them, searching them for comparison with other cards already on file, compiling reports as to previous criminal offenses, indexing the cards and filing them for further reference. The calculations were based upon an estimate of the total number of individuals to be fingerprinted at 325,000, and NRP calculated the number of additional employees required to handle this project rapidly, both at National and prefectural levels. The NRP's figures in this matter were accepted by the Finance Ministry. At the time, NPR had no accounting staff, and Mr. Kubo of NRP's Account Section was serving as Disbursing Officer for NPR, and he accepted the NRP's calculations as to cost of this project on behalf of NPR.

4. At a recent conference in NPR Headquarters, however, Major Johnson of Civil Affairs Section, GHq, stated that when NPR received background reports from NRP based upon the fingerprints taken of its applicants,

Declassified E.O. 12065 Section 3/402/NNDG NO. 775009

Memo to Chief, PSD, subj: Payment for NPR Fingerprint Project, dtd 7 Nov 50

NPR had no further interest in the fingerprints, and what happened to the cards from that point on was an NRP matter of no interest to NPR; that if NRP wished to index the cards and file them for future reference, it was a police matter and NRP would have to pay for it from their own funds.

5. At that time, 20 October 1950, NRP had expended ¥ 1,700,000 of the amount allocated to it from NPR's budget to pay for this entire project, with much work remaining to be done before the project could be disposed of, and all fingerprint cards carried completely through the process normally required.

6. NRP's position now is that it undertook this project with the assurance that it would have the funds to complete it, and now that the project is one-third complete, the funds have been cut off suddenly by Civil Affairs' direction. They state that NPR executives are willing to carry out the initial agreement as to financing of this project, but are prevented from doing so by CAS.

7. There remains in the allocated budget, approximately ¥ 4,300,000, all of which is required by NRP if the project is to be carried through to completion in the normal manner of handling cards in a fingerprint bureau.

8. It is therefore recommended that PSD take the necessary action through its Liaison Team in CAS Headquarters to restore to NRP's credit the funds required to complete this project as originally scheduled.
