Day and Boarding School for young Ladies.
Founded in 1832, by Madame Leirix, and conducted since 1840, by MADAME DESRAVAUX: Burgundy street, between Customhouse and Bienville streets, New Orleans.
MR. and MRS. DESRAVAUX, formerly in Rampart street, having removed their institution upwards of a year ago, to more extensive accommodations, assure parents and guardians of youth that their new building in Burgundy st. has met their expectations, and supplies one great and almost indispensable requisite—viz: ample accommodations, adapted to the object they had in view. It is scarcely necessary to state, that the building which they erected is supplied with all the modern improvements for the comfort and convenience of domestic life, and for educational purposes. The apartments are spacious, airy, well lighted, and properly furnished. The large and well shaded garden in the rear of the building, purchased for the accommodation of the pupils, is found to be attended with many advantages, as regards health, exercise and amusement—in short, every arrangement has been made, at no small expense, to increase the facilities of education, to guard the health of the pupils, and to procure their comfort and happiness.
The Institution provides thorough and substantial instruction in every stage and department of education. It possesses great facilities for the acquirement of the French language, and for the cultivation of Music, and it is sufficient to say, that no efforts will be wanting to sustain the reputation which the School has already acquired in these departments.
DR. MACAULAY, who has taught in the Institution for upwards of five years, and who divides his time equally between it and Mrs. Macculay's, takes the entire charge of the department of English Literature, including Natural and Moral Philosophy; and teaches not only the outlines, but enough of Mathematics, Chemistry, Geology and Astronomy, as to enable young ladies to understand all the ordinary phenomena which are constantly presenting themselves to their observation.
For further information, the proprietors of the Institution respectfully refer parents to their prospectus, published in pamphlet form, to be found at the book store and at the Institution. s28 1y

Burgundy street, between Customhouse and Bienville streets, New Orleans.
MR. AND MRS. DESRAVAUX respectfully inform parents and guardians of youth that their establishment for Young Ladies is open the whole year, and that it offers superior advantages as regards health and comfort.
The house recently built, and which can accommodate sixty boarders, was erected for the express purpose of a Seminary for Ladies; and, besides being thoroughly ventilated, there is attached to it a spacious garden, well shaded with trees, to be used as pleasure ground for the recreation of the pupils.
Families are invited to visit the establishment, which is open for inspection on Sundays. Copies of the prospectus to be found at the principal bookstores. 117 1y
