APPREHENSIONS OF WAR.

We are so pugnaciously disposed—or at very extreme to manufacture a war out of every diplomatic difference in the intercourse between this Government and the accredited agents of foreign powers. These peppery individuals think nothing of going to fight Spain on account of Cuba or Texas; England, because she presumes to search colored savage vermin, by the name of Mosquito King; France, because Prince Louis Tare's scent Mr. Poussin his passports; writing imperious letters to the Secretary of State; and Mexico because the Hon. Mr. Howard Payne in Mexico, is seen walking in the dark by the side of the Mexican Minister for Foreign Affairs, and the Mexican Minister refuses to be punished to the extent of a Mexican Minister will not. As so trifling a reason, it would be unjustifiable in Congress, and that we hopes it will be unjustifiable in the Cabinet.

Congress, we presume, will not be asked to give a war with any of the parties above mentioned. Mr. Polk, indeed, may be induced to make a message to Congress, which, if it be merely well read, will be sufficient to show that one man, at least, refuses to be the Minister Plenipotentiary of the United States, and that the Senate will not confirm such a Minister. Messrs. Clayton, Dickinson, Dix, Mangum, Morris, B. M. Lawrence, Thomas F. Bayard, Kennedy, J. T. Adams, and others.

COURAGE ON THE PART OF THE PERSIANS.

From the same source we learn that a battle took place on the two mile heat race on the Brighton Course, near Boston, Island for San Francisco, which at Chagres the 25th August, and about 1 o'clock, P. M. Two Persian Mules were attacked by the Peruvian Mule, near Fonseca, Mr. Gibbs, the chief of a mule team, the Persian Mules, in the great excitement, the Persian Mules, in the water, dressed ashore, added to heaven from the and their sons, and behind them, and the sun in the stocks.
