YOUNG LADIES' ACADEMY,
CORNER ST. PETER AND MAIN STREETS

MADAME PARENT has received her limit situation to the corner of Rampart and Main sts. and is ready to receive boarders, half boarders, and day scholars. There are spacious galleries and a magnificent terrace which gives a splendid view of the entire city as far as the Lake. The apartments are vast and well aired. The nursery adjoining and a dormitory offer to parents, the best facilities for the education of the minds of their daughters. The best Professors are employed for every branch of solid and refined education taught, in both languages; also, accomplishments, and all the necessary Sciences.

The Musical department is under the direction of three of the most competent and acknowledged talents in the city.

Professor Alston has the special charge of the Mathematical branch.

Mr. Gentbret has been engaged as a Teacher of Vocal Music.

For terms apply at the institution. Parents are permitted to visit their daughters at all hours.

Once a month, on Saturday, between 12 and 1 o'clock, the young ladies assemble in the parlor, in order to acquire those politeness and those principles necessary to all persons when they enter society.

COLLEGE.

St. Ann Street, facing the Place d Armes, Old "Congo" Square, under the direction of
MR. JEROU,
Master of Arts and Mathematical Sciences.

Encouraged by the kindness and patronage of several families of standing, I have determined to open a College, on the ground floor of the building in which I have lived for seven years, and which was formerly occupied by Colleges in New Orleans, where a thorough classical course will be taught in the English and French languages, and which the College is founded, I have secured the co-operation of the most competent Professors in the city of New Orleans, and I intend to confine some in English and others in French: those two Professors will teach the Latin, and a good education should comprise the training of the heart as well as that of the mind; I am determined to make the Moral Education of the pupils the main object of my teaching, and each will be the constant object of their care.

The Course will be essential part of education, will receive from them and myself, special attention.

The College, facing the Place d Armes (Congo Square) possesses all the advantages of a healthy locality, and all the necessary comforts of a boarding house.

With a view to foster the emulation of the students, the pupils will be divided into classes, and a Literary Society, under the direction of the Professors, will be made to exercise the pupils in composition.

In order to class, as much as possible, children of the same age, I have divided the school into two, and have to a separate portion of the establishment.

Terms, Per Month, Including Instruction.—Reading, Writing, Arithmetic, English, French, Geography, and History of the Bible, $5 00.

ST. LOUIS INSTITUTE.
CONDUCTED BY
Madame Deron,
Day and Boarding School for Young Ladies.
No. 213 Dauphin and 155 Hospital Street.

THE constantly increasing number of the pupils of the St. Louis Institute, has induced the undersigned to procure more spacious premises.

Mrs. Deron, in removing from St. Louis street to Dauphin street, and Hospital street, overlooking the Place, occupying a fine central position, being well ventilated, and in other respects perfectly adapted for the purpose. The range of studies which engage the attention of the pupils, extends over all the branches of learning, which are necessary to a useful, polite and finished education; from primary instruction, to the more abstruse subjects which are especially the province of a collegiate course. The elementary studies are attended to with more than ordinary care, considering the decisive influence which they exercise over the other branches of instruction. Discipline, which must not be separated from sentiment, has been made the subject of unremitting solicitude. It is calculated according to the age and character of the students, and intended to give them an accurate idea of duty and good behavior.

SYSTEM OF INSTRUCTION—

The English, French, Spanish, Greek and Latin languages. Mathematics, History, Geography, Elements of Natural Philosophy, and Philosophical Science

MEDICAL.

DR. DELAHARPE'S ANTI CONVULSIVE SYRUP, for Children, while they are cutting their teeth.

The application of this Syrup on the gums of infants, facilitates the labor of dentition and prevents convulsions.

Up to the present time, no attempt had been made to resort to some hygienic means by which children could be relieved of the suffering resulting from the growth of the few first teeth, notwithstanding the fact that one-sixth of them are carried away during the critical period of teething.

Important anatomical researches have revealed to Dr. Delaharpe the real course of the accidents of dentition, and consequently, to the scientific composition of the SYRUP OF DENTITION.

This preparation will find in us a powerful auxiliary to counteract the complicated accidents resulting from the sufferings of dentition.

This excellent preparation has filled an important vacuum in the HYGIENE of children to the breast, for it suffices to rub gently their gums during the labor of teething, to preserve to them frail existences, the quiet so indispensable to their health and perfect development. For sale at the agency in New Orleans, at E. E. MOUGIN, Druggist, Corner Dauphine and Customhouse st.

Physicians will find in it a powerful auxiliary to counteract the complicated accidents resulting from the sufferings of dentition.

COLLEGE.

St. Ann Street, facing the Place d Armes, Old "Congo" Square, under the direction of
MR. JEROU,
Master of Arts and Mathematical Sciences.

Encouraged by the kindness and patronage of several families of standing, I have determined to open a College, on the ground floor of the building in which I have lived for seven years, and which was formerly occupied by Colleges in New Orleans, where a thorough classical course will be taught in the English and French languages, and which the College is founded, I have secured the co-operation of the most competent Professors in the city of New Orleans, and I intend to confine some in English and others in French: those two Professors will teach the Latin, and a good education should comprise the training of the heart as well as that of the mind; I am determined to make the Moral Education of the pupils the main object of their care.

The Course will be essential part of education, will receive from them and myself, special attention.

The College, facing the Place d Armes (Congo Square) possesses all the advantages of a healthy locality, and all the necessary comforts of a boarding house.

With a view to foster the emulation of the students, the pupils will be divided into classes, and a Literary Society, under the direction of the Professors, will be made to exercise the pupils in composition.

In order to class, as much as possible, children of the same age, I have divided the school into two, and have to a separate portion of the establishment.

Terms, Per Month, Including Instruction.—Reading, Writing, Arithmetic, English, French, Geography, and History of the Bible, $5 00.

Latin, Greek, Spanish, Four Dollars.

COLLEGE—BRANCHES OF INSTRUCTION.—Writing, Reading, Arithmetic, English, French, Greek, Latin, History, Geography, Physical and Natural Sciences and Mathematics, Bookkeeping, Vocal Music, Dancing, and Drawing will be charged separately.

Terms, Per Month, Four Dollars, and Eight Dollars.

Hours of Tuition—From 8 o'clock in the morning to 3 in the afternoon.

Evening Classes.—This class will be open from 7 to 9 o'clock. Young men will there be taught English, French, Arithmetic, Commercial and Book-keeping, by the best masters.

Price—Four Dollars. mh18

ST. LOUIS INSTITUTE.
CONDUCTED BY
Madame Deron,
Day and Boarding School for Young Ladies.
No. 213 Dauphin and 155 Hospital Street.

THE constantly increasing number of the pupils of the St. Louis Institute, has induced the undersigned to procure more spacious premises.

Mrs. Deron, in removing from St. Louis street to Dauphin street, and Hospital street, overlooking the Place, occupying a fine central position, being well ventilated, and in other respects perfectly adapted for the purpose. The range of studies which engage the attention of the pupils, extends over all the branches of learning, which are necessary to a useful, polite and finished education; from primary instruction, to the more abstruse subjects which are especially the province of a collegiate course. The elementary studies are attended to with more than ordinary care, considering the decisive influence which they exercise over the other branches of instruction. Discipline, which must not be separated from sentiment, has been made the subject of unremitting solicitude. It is calculated according to the age and character of the students, and intended to give them an accurate idea of duty
