AMANO Teiyu

STATUS UNDER SCAPIN 550: Screened and Passed

POLITICAL AFFILIATION: Unknown

BIOGRAPHICAL OUTLINE:

AMANO was born in Kanagawa Prefecture in 1884, and graduated from the Philosophy Department at Kyoto Imperial University. In 1915 he became Professor of German at the 7th Higher School in Kagoshima, and Professor at the Peers School (6th Rank) in Tokyo in 1919. He traveled in Germany during 1923 and 1924 studying science and subsequently as a Professor of the 3rd Rank taught History of Occidental Philosophy and Ethics at Kyoto Imperial University (1931). He became Principal of the Konan Higher School in Kyogo in 1944 and Principal of the First Higher School in Tokyo in 1946. At present, he is Professor at the Peers School in Tokyo, which post he has held since 1948.

According to his own statement he has been extremely active and interested in raising the welfare standards of his students, promoting their standard of culture, of health and living conditions.

From 1926 - 1944 he was a member of the Kyoto Philosophical Society and from 1942 to 1945 a member of the Literary Patriotic Society.

His writings include:

1935	Metaphysical Character of Kant's "Critique of Pure Reason"
1937	"Sense of the Reason"

HAYASHI Joji

POSITION: Welfare Minister
Member of House of Representatives (Kochi)

STATUS UNDER SCAPIN 550: Passed March 1947

POLITICAL AFFILIATIONS:

Member and advisor of the Democratic-Liberal Party.

BIOGRAPHICAL OUTLINE:

HAYASHI was born in 1889. He is a graduate of Kyoto University. He was first conspicuous in politics when he became mayor of his home town, 1923 - 1925.

He has been elected to the House of Representatives from Kochi Prefecture six times, first in 1932. Subject ran as a non-recommended candidate for the House of Representatives in the 1942 elections and was defeated. He states he was persecuted by the militarists during this campaign; however, the ultra-nationlistic tenor of his speeches and campaign bulletins, and his advocacy of Tojo's policies tend to negate such a claim.

From 1931 to 1934 he was private secretary to Hatoyama, then Minister of Education. In 1939 he was appointed councillor of Agriculture and Forestry.

In the second YOSHIDA Cabinet, subject held the positions of Deputy Prime Minister and Minister of Welfare.

HORI Shigeru

STATUS UNDER SCAPIN 550: Screened and Passed 26 Feb 47
Barred: 9 Apr 47
Re-instated: 21 May 48

POLITICAL AFFILIATIONS: Liberal Party member of House of Representatives
Labor Minister

BIOGRAPHICAL OUTLINE:

HORI was born 20 December 1901 at No. 1601, Ohaza-Yamamoto, Onizuka-mura, Higashi-Matsuura-gun, Saga Prefecture. He began his career as a reporter for Tokyo Nichinichi Shimbun in 1928. From 1932-33 he was with the Osaka Mainichi Press in Osaka.

From 1934-37 HORI was secretary to the Agricultural and Forestry Ministry, resigning to enter the research staff of the Kokusaku Pulp KK. He resigned from there in October, 1941, and six months later (1942) he became standing director of the Japan Special Forestry Products Control Co. Ltd. He left that company in 1943 to re-enter the Agricultural and Forestry Ministry, as secretary, where he remained until 1944.

He was first elected to the House of Representatives in a by-election of 1944, when he was a recommended candidate of the IRAPA. From 1944-46 he was, concurrently, standing auditor of the Imperial Oil Food Control Co. Ltd.

After the war, he was re-elected to the House of Representatives (1946). In addition, he is president of the Saga Prefectural Aquatic Industries Association.

HORI was a member of the IRAPA from 1943-45 and also belonged to the Great Japan Political Association, of which he was secretary in Apr 45 and Saga Branch Chief in Jun 45.

He also belonged to the Hizen Provincial Association (1937), the Thursday Club (1938), and the Japan Progressive Party (Nov 45), which party later became the Democratic Party.

The only speeches which HORI lists in his questionnaire are election speeches made in 1942 and 1946. In the first, "Recommending Toshitami Ichinose" he praised the accomplishments of a Diet candidate. In the second, "My Statement and My Belief," HORI himself was a candidate in the 1946 House of Representatives election.

Shortly after HORI's election to the House of Representatives in 1946, dissension began over his status under SCAPIN 550. First mention of the question was made in an unsigned memorandum to Major Napier, contained in HORI's 201 file, which stated that HORI should be purged "as a recommended candidate in the 1942 elections" (actually, he was recommended in the 1944 by-election). Further, the memo pointed out that HORI was a close associate of YAMASAKI Tatsunosuke, purged as a former IRAA director and Home Minister in the Higashikuni Cabinet.

Excerpts from HORI's campaign posters in this 1944 "by-election" (in which no voting took place and HORI "ran" uncontested) contained such statements as, "I believe that the politicians must strive with their body and soul to establish a strong political system which will protect the people and to construct an unshakable Greater East Asia Co-Prosperity Sphere...The life I led as confidential secretary in the Agricultural & Forestry Ministry under the great Professor YAMAZAKI Tatsunosuke trained me along political lines...I shall look up to the spirit of the Kamikaze Special Attack Unit and shall bring the spirit of the men in the fighting front to the political world of Japan. I wish to serve the government of His Imperial Majesty even if I have to sacrifice my life."

These posters also contained endorsements from such people as Admiral KOBAYASHI Seizo, president of the IRAA, who stated, "The IRAA has decided to recommend and endorse a promising and capable candidate, HORI Shigeru. I earnestly ask the wholehearted support from you voters to give him the honor of a successful election".

Another endorsement, signed by three admirals and two generals, closed with this entreaty, "We earnestly request that you who are filled with a fervor to destroy America and England cast your votes for Mr. HORI".

On 25 Jan 47 an "Urgent Report and Petition for the Purge of HORI Shigeru" from representatives of 15 villages in Saga Prefecture was submitted to SCAP, in which the petitioners stated that HORI had run alone in the 1944 by-election because his opponents had been threatened and intimidated by IRAA President KOBAYASHI and others. The appeal concluded by stating that, "We guess his case is the result of probable inattention and neglect of his qualification...We heartily hope, if it is due, that you may dare to purge this undesirable person without delay."

Dated 30 Mar 47, one Yasutaro FUJIO appealed to SCAP "Regarding the Qualification of Representative HORI of the Saga Prefecture". Salient points of his appeal were:

1. HORI's mono-candidacy was not decided by the voluntary resignation of the other candidates (of which FUJIO was one), but resulted from an arbitrary decision by Admiral Kobayashi, IRAA president.

2. Pressure was brought to bear against the other candidates by such people (in addition to Kobayashi) as:

   a. Saga Prefecture Governor Tanaka, who said, "It is a great pity for our prefecture to have an election in such an atmosphere."

   b. Sakaru Takatori, a Saga financier, who assembled the other candidates and appealed to their patriotism "to avoid every vestige of strife (i.e., an election) when the nation was in the midst of a decisive war".

   c. Head of Saga Police Matsuno, who, under the orders of Home

Affairs Vice-Minister Yamazaki, stated in a newspaper interview that "A very severe punishment will be meted out to any candidate in the elections without the Party's approval."

3. HORI had learned his political techniques from Agriculture & Forestry Minister Yamazaki, who was a member of the Tojo Cabinet, and who, according to FUJIO, was the "party man who had the closest liaison with the generals and the military clique".

4. The by-election of 1944 "was not a supplemental election to the General Election of 1942...but was aimed to rectify a part of the General Election.../and therefore/ should be considered as an extension of the General Election."

5. The by-election had as its leaders the IRAPA which was, in essence, no different from the Committee of Political Assistance System.

6. The people of Saga Prefecture were disturbed and had raised "a cry of indignation at HORI's exemption from SCAPIN 550.

Other letters written in condemnation of HORI included one by SETO Matsuji, (29 Jan 47), a former village headman who held office for only four months, and felt that his own purge was discriminatory when such men as HORI were still able to hold office. A letter from one NAKAJIMA Saburo to SCAP (28 Feb 47) reiterated points made in letters from others: 1) that HORI had been a recommended candidate; 2) that his opposition had been forcibly withdrawn; and 3) that Saga Ken residents believed HORI's non-purge to be unjust.

On 25 Mar 47 a memorandum signed by Major Snow stated that Minakawa, one of the other candidates forced to withdraw in favor of HORI, had brought in copies of HORI's campaign posters, excerpts from which are quoted above.

On 4 Apr 47, GOTA Mimasaka, another of the candidates forced to withdraw in favor of HORI in 1944, wrote to GHQ, protesting HORI's purge clearance. He pointed out the use of pressure in his own withdrawal by saying that 2 or 3 policemen followed him always during that time and "I decided not to run as I was afraid to be arrested by the policemen who had followed me."

On 9 Apr 47 HORI Shigeru was designated as falling under the provisions of SCAPIN 550 and was removed from the House of Representatives.

In 17 Apr 47 HORI submitted a petition to Prime Minister Yoshida against his designation. He based his appeal upon these two points:

1. The Imperial Rule Assistance Political System Conference was entirely different from the Imperial Rule Assistance Political Society. According to HORI, the former was organized solely as a "recommendation organ" for the 1942 elections, while the latter was "a temporary political party, which recommended me /again/ as a candidate for the House of Representatives in the 1947 (?) election."

2. The reason for his unopposed candidacy was that "The fighting in the Pacific was quite unfavorable to us...and at home increased production of foodstuffs was earnestly desired. Especially in the Kyushu District wheat seeding was delayed by a spell of rain. The election was held in Saga Ken so it was quite natural that the atmosphere was prevailed among people of wanting no voting, even if it would take only half a day for 100,000 men."

Others who submitted corroborating statements for HORI included OASA Tadao, HACHIJO Takamasa, ex-House of Peers member and ex-IRAPS standing director; MIYOSHI Hideyuki, former standing director and chief of the House of Representatives section of IRAPS; and YOKOYAMA Shoichi, former chief of General Affairs Division of IRAPS.

On 3 Jul 47 HORI submitted another petition, this one to Prime Minister Katayama, in which his main points were:

1. All recommended candidates (of the 1942 Diet) have been purged because all of them had been backed by General Tojo.

2. The by-election of 1944 had nothing to do with General Tojo since the Koiso Cabinet had succeeded to power in July, 1944.

Following these petitions in HORI's 201 file is an unsigned, undated slip of paper on which is written, "Should be of interest--his basic facts as to the org of IRAPSC in Feb-March 42 are correct...His logic here seems good to me".

HORI was re-instated on 21 May 48.

This action elicited another letter from GOTA Mimasaka (12 Jul 48). Addressed to Major Napier, GOTA re-stated his convictions concerning HORI's guilt.

After his re-instatement, HORI became vice-chief secretary of the Democratic Party, and after his re-election to the House of Representatives in Jan 49 he was named Democratic Party Secretary-General.

In the Feb 50 merger of the Democratic Party and the Democratic Liberal Party, HORI became a member of the new Liberal Party.

In June 50 he became Labor Minister in the fourth Yoshida Cabinet.

HORI, Shigeru

STATUS UNDER SCAPIN 550: Reinstated 19 July 1948

POLITICAL AFFILIATIONS: Member of IRAA
Member of Great Japan Political Association

BIOGRAPHICAL OUTLINE:

HORI was born 20 December 1901 at #1601, Ohaza-Yamamoto, Onizuka-mura, Higashi-Matsuura-gun, Saga Prefecture. Subject started his career as a Reporter in the Tokyo Nichinichi Shimbun (Tokyo Daily Newspaper) in 1928. He held this position for five years. In 1934, HORI became Secretary in the Agriculture and Forestry Ministry and resigned from same in 1937. In 1938, subject was employed by the Kosaku Pulp K.K. and in 1942 for one year, HORI was Standing-Director of the Japan Special Forestry Products Control Company Ltd. From 1943 to 1944, subject was again Secretary to the Agriculture and Forestry Ministry and following his resignation from this position in 1946, HORI became Standing-Auditor of the Imperial Oil Food Control Company Ltd. and concurrently was President of the Japan Dried Bonito Control Company Ltd. HORI was elected Member to the Parliament in 1944 and again in 1946. In January of 1947, he became President of Saga Prefectural Aquatic Industries Association. He still retains this position.

HORI became a Member of IRAA in 1943 and also a member of the Great Japan Political Association in 1945. He was also Manager of the latter in Saga Prefecture. The Japan Progressive Party, the Thursday Club and the Hizen Provincial Association (Social Club of the Tokyo residents from Saga Prefecture) were some of the other parties and clubs that HORI belonged to.

There is no record of subject's writings but there are two speeches HORI made in 1942 in Saga Prefecture. They are: "Reconmmendation of Mr. Toshitami Ichinose" and "My Statement and My Belief".

HORI was a close associate of YAMASAKI Tatsunosuke since 1934. YAMASAKI, Home Minister in the HIGASHIKUNI Cabinet was purged as former Director of IRAA. He influenced the decision of KOBAYASHI, President of Great Japan Political Society in recommending HORI to the Diet in the 1942 elections.

HIROKAWA Kozen

STATUS UNDER SCAPIN 550: Screened and Passed 10 March 1947

POLITICAL AFFILIATIONS: Liberal Party member, House of Representatives

BIOGRAPHICAL OUTLINE:

HIROKAWA was born in 1902 in Ishikawa-gun, Fukushima Prefecture and was graduated from the Komazawa Buddhist University. An article in the Nippon Times (28 Sep 47) states that after his graduation he worked as a Tokyo tram car conductor, sake retailer and a kindergarten teacher. HIROKAWA himself, in his questionnaire, states that he was a "dealer in miso, soy wood, charcoal & grain etc. Apr 25". However, a KYODO press release on 11 Feb 49 quotes him as saying, "Our party (DLP) has a number of ex-Communists in it. I myself was once a leader of the Tokyo Traffic Labor Union."

His political debut was made as a prefectural assemblyman and in 1931 he was president of the Mishuku Town Assembly. Thereafter his periods of pre-war governmental service included membership in the Tokyo City Assembly in 1933 and 1937; membership in the Tokyo Prefectural Assembly, 1936 and 1940; membership in the Diet in 1940; and membership in the Tokyo Municipal Assembly in 1943.

In 1935 he became president of Asahi Electric Works Co., and in 1939 he was president of Asahi Electric Appliances Co. He now owns (Source: Questionnaire, 20 Feb 47) 1000 shares in each of those two companies, representing one percent of the total outstanding stock in each company.

HIROKAWA's only organizational affiliations are with the Liberal Party (since 1946) and with the Alumni Association of Setagaya Middle School, of which he was chairman of the Board of Directors in 1935.

His campaign speeches included such topics as "The Present Situation in Tokyo" (1933), "The Improvement of Tokyo" (1936 and 1940), "Improvement of City Politics" (1937) and, in the post-war period, "The Future of Japan and Reconstruction" (1946).

In 1940 he went on a month's inspection trip to China and in 1941 he made a similar trip to Manchuria.

HIROKAWA was elected to the House of Representatives as a Tokyo candidate on the Democratic-Liberal ticket in a by-election held after the Apr 46 elections.

As Secretary-General of the Liberal Party, HIROKAWA has been a strong exponent of the "trial balloon technique" (whereby he releases policy possibilities as fait accompli to the press and awaits the reaction). Examples of instances in which he has been forced to retract his statements include his emphasis on "autonomous interpretation of the Constitution" (JIJI, 17 Nov 48), the need of which he stressed in his position of official party spokesman. His retraction came later that day when he stated that this declaration represented only his "personal opinion" (JIJI, 17 Nov 48).

Apparently a strong right-winger, HIROKAWA announced his interpretation of the Jan 49 election results and DLP victory (JIJI, 24 Jan 49). It meant, he said, that the people were "sick and tired" of coalition Cabinets and that they wanted to have the political situation stabilized by a single party with an undisputed majority.

Later, however, (KYODO, 11 Feb 49) he announced that he "deplored" the poor showing of the Social Democrats in the election because it meant the loss of a "powerful opposition party".

It was in that same interview that HIROKAWA announced that the primary objective of the DLP was to be a fight against the Communists, and declared that the "Committee on Un-Japanese Activities" was in the process of formation.

A CCD intercept two weeks later (2 Mar 49) proved that HIROKAWA had evidently been active in this connection. A postcard from one Japanese youth to another urged the latter to join the DLP Youth Alliance, "an organization of anti-Communistic youths", which was to hold its first meeting on 13 Mar 48 with HIROKAWA as one of the speakers.

On 16 Jun 49 an article in the Tokyo Shimbun quoted HIROKAWA as saying that "Because the dual police system consisting of the National Rural Police and the Local Autonomous Police is not consonant with actual conditions as seen from the standpoint of local finance, a bill to create a single national police force is now being prepared under State Minister Higai and it is intended to be presented at the forthcoming extraordinary session of the National Diet." (This in direct contravention to a SCAP letter on the subject to the Prime Minister, 16 Sep 47).

The next day when Director Shima of the Kinki Liaison and Coordination Office interviewed HIROKAWA in connection with this statement, he declared that he had been misquoted and had only said that there was insufficient liaison between the NRP and the Local Autonomous Police. Further, on 20 Jun 49, SATO Eisuke, Chief of Political Research, DLP, paid a visit to Government Section to say that he had been with HIROKAWA and that he had indeed been misquoted.

However, investigation revealed that there was "every indication that HIROKAWA did make the statement" (Uchiyama memorandum to Major Napier, 20 Jun 49), which was further evidenced by articles of similar purport in several prefectural newspapers. Nevertheless, although backed by Tokyo Shimbun officials, insufficient evidence forced that paper to run a retraction of the statement "at HIROKAWA's request" which it carried on 21 Jun 49.

On 6 Sep 49 JIJI carried an article entitled, "Announcement on Economic Depurge Expected Shortly", in which HIROKAWA was quoted as expecting "two welcome announcements" within the week, including one on an economic depurge and another of "important international significance". Later in the day, JIJI carried another article, "HIROKAWA Denies Yoshida Referred to Economic Depurge Issue", in which he also denied that he had referred in concrete terms to the "welcome announcements". However, he added that he still had not "abandoned hope for this welcome news".

On 7 Sep 49, YOMIURI carried an article, "Does Not Know of Any Change in Purge", in which Major Napier denied the HIROKAWA statement, adding that it was "ambiguous". On the same day that paper carried another article which quoted HIROKAWA as saying that "There was a slight mistake in the expected date of the 'good news' ".

MASUDA Kaneshichi

POSITION: Chief Cabinet Secretary
Member of House of Representatives (Nagano)

STATUS UNDER SCAPIN 550: Passed 28 March 1947.

From 1934 to 1936 MASUDA was Chief of the Miscellaneous Section of the Manchurian Affairs Bureau, but only the president and vice-president of this bureau are specifically affected by the Japanese Government Interpretation of Category "G".

POLITICAL AFFILIATIONS:

Subject is an advisor in the Democratic Liberal Party.

BIOGRAPHICAL OUTLINE:

MASUDA was born in 1898 in Nagano Prefecture. In April 1922, the month following his graduation from Kyoto Imperial University, MASUDA entered the civil service as a subordinate official of the Home Ministry before joining the Osaka Prefectural Government as a police inspector, a post which he held until 1927. From February 1928 to August 1929, he traveled extensively throughout Europe and the United States for the purpose of studying and inspecting social and police systems in various countries. Immediately upon returning to Japan, MASUDA became Chief of the Commerce and Industry Section, Kyogo Prefectural Government, leaving that position in 1930 to become an Administrative Official of the Home Ministry Police Bureau. In 1934 while still holding the latter position he was concurrently appointed Secretary of the Home Ministry and Chief, Archives and Documents Section of the Ministries Secretariat.

In September 1936, MASUDA became ill with peritonitis and did not hold public office again until 1945 when he became Governor of Fukushima, and Governor of Hokkaido in 1946. In that year he was appointed Minister of Transportation in the first YOSHIDA Cabinet.

Since October 1945 MASUDA has assumed official posts in sixty-six organizations or societies, among them the Director of Fukushima Branch, Dai Nippon Butokukai, from October 1945 to April 1946.

Subject was Minister of Labor in the second YOSHIDA Cabinet.

OKANO, Kiyohide (Seigo)

POSITION: President and Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Sanwa Bank

STATUS UNDER SCAPIN 550: Screened and passed 2 August 1947.

Subject's principal positions, shown above, caused his designation on 14 April 1947 since the Sanwa Bank was an institution listed under Par. 11a of Category "G".

On 10 July 1947 Government Section approved a request by the Japanese Government, transferring that bank to Par. 12, under the terms of which provision the positions are screenable but do not direct the mandatory removal of incumbent. OKANO was reinstated on 2 August 1947.

Subject was a Director of the Osaka Branch of the IRAA from December 1940 until June 1945 and a member of the National Cooperation Conference of that organization. He was also a Manager of the Osaka Branch of the Political Association of Great Japan. None of positions in this paragraph is of sufficient importance to bring designation under Category "D".

POLITICAL AFFILIATION: Unknown

BIOGRAPHICAL OUTLINE:

Subject was born in Okayama in 1890 and graduated from the Law School of Tokyo University in 1915. He entered the employe of the Bank of Japan and remained with that institution until 1937. During that period he was a member of the New York Branch from 1923 to 1926, Chief Secretary to the President from 1933-1936, and Manager of the Kobe Branch until August 1937. At that time he became Managing Director of the Sanwa Bank; in 1941 he was made Vice-President; in May 1945 he became President and in December of that year concurrently Chairman of the Board of Directors.

At the time of screening, OKANO held many important concurrent posts in financial institutions such as Director of the Japan Industrial Bank, Director of the Trust Companies' Bank, Vice-President of the Federation of Bankers Association of Japan, etc., and a number of official positions in civic, cultural, and economic organizations in Osaka.

Subject has made many radio talks on national economy, and he has written a couple of volumes on money and banking.

OHASHI Takeo

STATUS UNDER SCAPIN 550: Screened and Passed 28 May 1947

POLITICAL AFFILIATIONS: Liberal Party member of House of Representatives

BIOGRAPHICAL OUTLINE:

OHASHI was born in 1904 in Shimane Prefecture and was graduated from Tokyo Imperial University, Department of Law. In 1929 he was appointed subordinate official of the Ministry of Home Affairs, attached to the Civil Engineering Bureau. He became secretary of the Social Bureau in 1930, and from 1934-39 he lectured, concurrently, on social work at Hosei University.

In 1938 he was appointed secretary of the Wounded Soldiers Protection Board and chief of the Planning Division of the Planning Bureau. In 1939 he was appointed secretary of the Ministry of Welfare and Chief of the Wage Division of the Labor Bureau. From 1941-42 he was, successively, Factory Inspector, Mining Inspector and Labor Inspector, and in March (1942) he was attached to the Management Division of the Labor Bureau. In addition, he was appointed Chief of the Police Section of Okayama Prefecture (July, 1942 to April, 1943, according to his questionnaire).

OHASHI became, in 1944, Chief of the Planning Division of the Country Bureau (Ministry of Home Affairs) and in 1945 he was appointed, concurrently, Secretary of the Air-Defense General Headquarters. From November to December, 1945, he was Acting Chief of the Public Works Division of the City Planning Bureau; from 20-23 March, 1946 he was Acting Chief of the General Affairs Division; in November, 1946 he was appointed, and approved as Secretary of the Cabinet.

From July, 1942, to April, 1943, OHASHI was a standing member of the Okayama Branch of IRAA. He was also an executive committee member of the Japanese Disabled Soldiers Society (Dai Nippon Shoi Gunjin Kai, 1938-39); an executive committee member of the Soldiers' Relief Society (Gunjin Engo Kai, 1938-39); a councillor of the Social Work Organization (1930-38); a councillor of the All-Japan Social Welfare Committee and of the Union of Social Welfare Committees (1930-38); assistant chief of the Okayama Prefectural Division of the Great Japan Industrial Patriotic Association (1942-43); assistant chief of the Okayama Branch of the Dai Nippon Butokukai (July, 1942 to April, 1943); executive committee member and councillor of the War Suffering Protection Association (Onshi Zaidan Sensai Engokai, 1945-46).

OHASHI's only trip outside Japan was in 1937 when he attended the 23rd General Meeting of International Labor in Switzerland. During the course of the trip he traveled throughout Europe and the U.S.

He is the author of two books, both of which were published by the Great Japan Industrial Patriotic Association (total: 40,000 copies) in 1941, and which were entitled, "Maximum and Minimum Staring Wages" and "Limitation of the Total Wage".

OHASHI is the son-in-law of HAMAGUCHI Yuko, former prime minister whose Cabinet was among the most liberal in the pre-war period, and who was assasinated in Tokyo Station in 1930. (Source: Japanese press)

On 3 March 1947 OHASHI was appointed Director of the Special Construction Bureau of the Reconstruction Board. On 13 March 1947 a memorandum for the Minister of Home Affairs from the Chief, Government Section, placed all influential members of the Dai Nippon Butokukai and its branches, who had been active between the period 6 December 1941 and 2 September 1945, within the provisions of Category "G", Appendix "A", SCAPIN 550.

OHASHI was screened in May, 1947. His 201 file contains a statement, unsigned, describing his physical condition during the period when he was vice-chief of the Okayama Prefecture Butokukai, which says, in part, "He had been suffering from tuberculosis from the middle of 1941...left the hard work of the Welfare Ministry in July, 1942 and was transferred to Okayama Prefecture, where he usually absented himself from office." This statement, which is entitled "Reason of Judge" bears the pencilled unsigned note "too ill to do anything. JG agrees he should pass".

In a letter dated 28 August 1947 and addressed to General Whitney, one S. TAGAWA pointed out that with the enlargement of the purge scope in connection with the Butokukai, "Many of the Japanese government officials...were preparing counter-evidence, most of which was unreliable". He cited OHASHI's case and stated that "He is very famous for his undemocratic attitude in government circles". He added that it was true that OHASHI's health was not good, but continued that "it was an undeniable fact that he was presiding over everything through his tenure of office, because he was not relieved of his post until April, 1943 and nobody was appointed as his deputy".

Another letter, dated 23 October 1947, addressed to Mr. Kades, and signed by S. TANAKA was occasioned by the publication of the Butokukai purgee list, and stated that "Only the small flies were purged and the bosses were left intact". The writer also stated that OHASHI was "very famous as one of the bosses of "Naimu Kwanryu" (Home Ministry) and said that since he had had no deputy, he (OHASHI) had "supervised everything even when he was in Bed."

In January, 1949, OHASHI was elected to the House of Representatives from the Shimane Prefecture First District. He received 59,486 votes, making him the second highest vote-getter of the five candidates. As a member of the House of Representatives, he has served as a member of the Labor Committee, the Steering Committee, and the Special Examination Committee.

Of his appointment to the post of Attorney-General, 28 June 1950, IZEKI Yujiro of the Public Office Qualification Examination Committee, commented that OHASHI had graduated three years ~~behind~~ ahead of him at Tokyo University and that his (OHASHI's) age, 46, prejudiced him in the eyes of the people with whom he would have to deal. He added that in the opinion of a great many Japanese OHASHI was a second-rate person.

At the present time, according to the Japanese press, OHASHI is also managing director of the Fuji Lumber Co. Ltd, and vice-president of the Japan River Association.

Source: 201 File, Questionnaire, Japanese Press etc.

OHASHI has four children, two sons and two daughters. His oldest child attends Tokyo Higher School.

Ideologically, OHASHI has been described (by SIB) as an "educated liberalist bureaucrat", whose sharp mind has earned him the nickname of "Razor Blade" among his friends. Fond of a good argument, he is considered an authority on the anti-Communist stand, which conversance reportedly won him his appointment. Rumors are that he will conduct the Communist attack in his new position (for which he is believed to have been nominated by SATO Eisaku).

SUTO Hideo

STATUS UNDER SCAP IN 550: Screened and Passed 28 March 1947

POLITICAL AFFILIATIONS: Liberal Party member member, House of Representatives

BIOGRAPHICAL OUTLINE:

SUTO was born in 1898 in Yamaguchi Prefecture and was graduated from the Law Department of Tokyo Imperial University in 1921. His governmental career began with his appointment (1921) as a subordinate official in the Bureau of Patents. In 1922 he became administrative official of the Bureau and in 1925 he was appointed administrative official of the Ministry of Agriculture and Forestry. For a few months in 1927 he served, concurrently, as administrative official of the Industrial Guild. Another concurrent appointment (1932-34) was his position as chief of the Financial Section of the Economic Regeneration Department. In 1934, however, he was relieved of his other posts to become a full-service secretary of the Ministry of Agriculture & Forestry.

From 1935-38 SUTO served as director of the Rice and Grain Bureau of the Ministry of Agriculture & Forestry, later (1939) becoming Director of the Economic Regeneration Department of the Ministry. In 1940 he was appointed, concurrently, director of Agricultural Affairs, and, in 1941, director of the General Affairs Bureau.

Other posts which he held in 1941 included: membership in the Total War Research Institute, directorship of the Board of Planning, and, in December, the vice-presidency of the Board of Planning.

In 1942 SUTO was chief of the Bureau of Prices of Commodities, president of the Imperial Esculent Oil Control Co., and chairman of the Board of Directors of the Oil Control Company.

In 1941-42 he also served as secretary for the National Mobilization Investigation Committee, the Science Investigation Committee and the Temporary Fund Adjustment Committee, as well as holding membership in the Lumber Control Committee, the Rice and Grain Control Committee, the Central Committee of Price Formation. He was a director of the Agricultural Patriotic Federal Association (Nogyo Hokoku Renmei), which he states was "titled the same as the IRAA organization but was not at all the IRAA organization".

In 1946 he was appointed vice-chief of the Cabinet Secretariat.

SUTO belongs to the Tokyo University Alumni Association, the Sagami Golf Club and the Liberal Party. He has traveled throughout Europe and the U.S. (1929), in China and Manchuria (1930 and 1941), all of which trips he made to "inspect industrial and agricultural conditions".

He has written two books, "Explanation of the Agricultural Movable Trust Law", (1936) and "Policies of the Fishing Industry" (1933) and has made several speeches on such subjects as the food problem, natural resources in the South Seas, the plans for mobilizing goods, oil and war, all in the period 1938-43.

SUTO's present address is No1, 2840, Nishi 4-chome, Omagoma-machi, Omori, Tokyo.
