DECLASSIFIED E.O. 12065 SECTION 3-402/NNDG NO. 775 013

MIE PREFECTURAL OFFICE

Tsu, March 10, 1947.

TO : Supreme Commander for the Allies in the Pacific.

THRU : Commanding officer, Mie Military Government Team

SUBJECT: Application for exclusion of machinery bought after the end of the War, submitted by Kondo Tokei Kogyo Kabushiki Kaisha (Kondo Clock Manufacturing Co. Ltd.)

Kondo Tokei Kogyo Kabushiki Kaisha (Kondo Clock Manufacturing Co. Ltd.) that is submitting to you a written application as attached hereto, manufactured woollen textiles since 20 years ago, with the present president, Mr. Fusakichi Kondo, as its head. The company has developed to one of the best factories in this prefecture, but with the outbreak of the war, the measures taken by the Government made it impossible to run the factory for manufacturing woollen textiles. The company was, therefore, forced to convert the factory into manufacturing munition, however the war come to and before the company will make the full activity as munition plant. Being it difficult to rehabilitate woollen textile industry, the company reconverted the plant into clock-collateral commodity - manufacturing plant which was considered to be the most suitable, from viewpoint of industrial conditions in this prefecture and the location of the plant. The permission for reconversion was given by the Allied Occupation Forces on account of only watch factory in this prefecture. The company, therefore, after termination of the war, bought the machinery as listed on the attached list, which are being used for manufacturing clock.

For the above reasons, we implore you to exclude from requisition machinery, the minimum number of machines so as to give an aid to economic stabilization of this prefecture.

SUBJECT: Letter of Transmittal.

TO : CG, Eighth Army, APO 343.

THRU : Military Government Channels.

1. Transmitted herewith, in quintuplicate, is an application for exemption from the reparations list of the Kondo Tokei Kogyo K.K. (Kondo Heiki (Arms) K.K.) (23-16), 507-3, Tonu, Tadomura, Kuwana-gun, Mie Prefecture.

2. This OP-5 (23-16) Company, added to reparations list by SCAP through SCAPIN 1134, dated 13 August 1946, was established in 1925 (correction from previous records, which show that the plant began operation in 1935) for the purpose of manufacturing woolen textiles.

3. Since the plant records were burned at the termination of war, in compliance with Japanese Navy orders, the Director of subject company was cross-questioned and the following was ascertained:

a. That the woolen machinery, originally installed by the company in 1925 for the manufacture of woolen textiles, was sold in 1943.

b. That his company, in July 1944, borrowed 124 machines from the Yokosuka Naval Arsenal, 01-603 (these machines are now stored at subject plant and were inventoried under the code number 01-603) and began the manufacturing of munitions for the Japanese Navy.

c. That, later in 1943, his company purchased 404 machines, now inventoried under code number 23-16, and immediately used for manufacturing munitions for the Japanese Navy.

d. That said 404 machines can not be used for the manufacture of woolen textiles without major reconversion.

e. That fifty-four (54) machines, included on the reparations inventory, under the code number of 23-16, were moved into subject plant after the termination of the war.

DECLASSIFIED E.O. 12065 SECTION 3-402/NNDG NO. 775 013

BASIC: Ltr, Mis Mil Govt Team, APO 710, subj: "Letter of Transmittal," dtd 11 March 1947.

f. That said 54 machines, now used to manufacture clocks and furniture, were inventoried with EK at the end of the code number, and that separate application for exemption of these machines from reparations list will be submitted.

4. In view of the fact that subject company's present machinery (with exception of 54 clock and furniture machines) were purchased, installed, and used for the manufacture of munitions for the Japanese Navy, and because said company falls under the criteria of CD 5/3, Section III, par. 1(b)(2) and 1(b)(2)(c), this headquarters recommends that Kondo Tokei Kogyo K.K. (Kondo Heiki (Arms) K.K.) 23-16, remain on the reparations list. It is further recommended that said company be permitted to continue operations as per par 5, memorandum attached to SCAPIN 1134, dated 13 August 1946. The company is presently using only the EK-machinery to manufacture clocks and furniture.

SUBJECT: Application for Exemption from Designation of Reparation Control to Kondo Tokei Kogyo Co., Ltd.
As privately-owned Munition Plants.

1. In regards to those plants as designated for control as privately-owned munition plants in the directive dated 13 August 1946, we have taken and are also taking actions necessary to assure its satisfactory control and custody, in close connection with organs concerned civil and official.
2 3 1

2. However, Kondo Tokei Kogyo Co., Ltd. is desired to be exempted from the designation for control as well as to be object of reparation in future after your review on the detailed explanation (annexed paper) due to the fact that this company, having the long history as a manufacturer of civilian goods, was not established for the purpose of munitions production though participated in munitions production occasionally during war, and all its facilities were intended to be restored to civilian production, its original mission, since the termination of war.

(K) Reason for Necessity of Retainment:

DECLASSIFIED E.O. 12065 SECTION 3-402/NNDG NO. 775 013

Kondo Tokei Kogyo Co., Ltd. (Ex. Kondo Heiki Kogyo Co., Ltd.), as above mentioned, was established under the name of Kondo Keori Factory in April 1925 for the purposes of production of woolen fabrics, but in August 1943 on account of the governmental readjustment of textile industry, all her machineries were removed and transfered to another factory, and then by order of Japancese Navy she borrowed 124 machines for fuse making from Navy and at the same time purchased supplementary 404 machines which could be used for both fuse and clock making, and produced some parts of fuses during about one year, from July, 1944 till the end of the war. After the war she returned to the Navy these 124 machines for fuse making, and newly purchasing 57 machines for clock making and 27 wood working machines, she began to produce table clocks. But in August 24th, 1946 her machineries were designated to be removed for reparation purpose as she produced parts of fuses during the war, and as the result of the investigation about her real circumstances by the local military government, the above mentioned 404 machineries were included into the designated machineries for reparation.

But among these 404 units no one can find such an automatic machine or a special machine as is designed for special purpose of fuse making, that is, every one of them can be readily used for clock making with no inconvenience. Moreover from a stand-point of her history of production, her factory can be considered a pure and typical factory of industry in peace time by the fact that she was a textile manufacturer before the war and is a clock manufacturer after the war.

Therefore, it is required that all these machineries (404 units in total) should be retained and exempted from reparation.
Though it might be very difficult, we would implore especially as many machineries as only 68 units among them to be retained by all means, which are anyhow impartble for the production of clock on a minimum scale. The details of these 68 units are shown in the accompanying list.

DECLASSIFIED E.O. 12065 SECTION 3-402/NNDG NO. 775 013

These 336 machineries, reduced by 68 units from 404 units, can distinctly be separated from others in their situation as shown in the accompanying maps of her factory.

DECLASSIFIED E.O. 12065 SECTION 3-402/NNDG NO. 775 013

TO : HEADQUARTERS, FAR EASTERN MILITARY GOVERNMENT TEAM.

FROM : Central Liaison Office, Tokyo.

SUBJECT : Request for Removal of Kondo Tokei Kogyo K.K. from Reparations List.

C.L.O. No. 716(ESG-2) 20 December 1946

1. References: SCAP Memorandum AG 004 (10 Oct 46)ESS/IN (SCAPIN - 1258), subject: "Revised Listing of Reparations Selections within Privately-Owned Munitions Plants."

2. The Japanese Government hereby submits an application for removal of the Kondo Tokei Kogyo K.K. from the Reparations List as per the details stated in the explanatory note attached hereto.

3. The subject plant was established in 1925 as a private enterprise for the purpose of manufacturing woolen fabrics and was not originally a munitions plant. Afterwards this plant was incorporated into a joint stock company but it was compelled to close down by the Government sponsored "enterprise rearrangement" within the textile industry. From July 1944 to the termination of war, it was engaged in the manufacture of certain parts of fuse by order of military authorities. After the surrender, however, it has been totally converted to the manufacture of clocks under the changed name of "Kondo Tokei Kogyo Co., Ltd. Such being the case, the subject plant should be considered to be purely within the peace-time industry, which was a textile manufacturerbefore the war and is a clock manufacturer after the surrender.

4. Under these circumstances, it is requested that favorable consideration be given by your Headquarters for the removal of this plant from the Reparations List.

FOR THE PRESIDENT:

(K.ASAKAI)
Director of General Affairs
Central Liaison Office.

Enclosure: An explanatory note on the subject plant, accompanied by a letter of the Ministry of Commerce and Industry.

SUBJECT: Application for Exempting Machinery Purchased after war from Reparation.

Mar. 6th, 1947

We would like to submit hereby our Application to you explaining our state of affairs. The machineries, desired to be released in this application, are 54 units in total. It is requested to be understood that none of these machineries are included in 404 machineries which we owned at the end of the war and which we have already applicated to be exempted from reparations through C.L.O.

II. Machineries desired to be released.

54 units of machineries are desired to be released from reparation. Every one of them, necessary for clock manufacturing, was bought after January, 1946; (cf. Verifying Documents)mand not taken over from any reparation plant.

List of machineries) Verifying documents) to be annexed.

Remarks:

1. Those 12 machines tools (Inventoried No.409- 420) and and the Projector (Inventoried No.462) were bought as scraps because they had been seriously damaged by air-raid fire. They needed much repairs before they were actually used in September, 1946.
2. The tool makers' microscope (Onventoried No. 460) was bought from Tsugami Shoji Co.,Ltd. The apparatus was not installed in the reparation plant Tsugami Seisakusho but but only manufactured as an article of commerce by the same plant, and sold.
3. The length measuring machine (Inventoried No. ~~463~~ 434) was bought from Nihon Kogaku Kogyo Co.,Ltd.

The machine was not installed in that reparation plant, but an article of commerce of the company which is a precision instrument maker.

III. Reason for Necessity of Retainment.

Those 54 machineries listed in an accompanuing paper, were purchased after January 1946 for the purpose of clock manufacturing, and had never been prepared since war-time. After the war we hopedd that, reconverting into civilian Production, we could, sooner than others, make contribution to the reconstruction of national peace, and attempted to obtain these machineries while we were given by Mie Military Government Team a permit for producing clocks and furniture. The machineries can be classified as follows:-

Group No.

1. General machine tools for making jigs and tools necessary for clock-manufacturing.
2. Fresses for punching machine-parts of clock.
3. Automatic machines for hobbing clock-gear.
4. Motor generators for plating.
5. Precision instruments for inspecting minutest parts of clock.

It is clear that these are, except Group No.1, were of manufacturing fuse-parts in which we were engaged during the war. We were under Navy's leadership and lent most jigs and tools by them, therefore we had during the war so few which belonged Group No.1 that before making clock it was an urgent need for us to obtain more machine tools in order to prepare complete jigs and tools for ourselves. In short the subject 54 machineries have been prepared not because of war, but because of reconstruction of peace industry, and we beg your favourable consideration to remove them from reparation.

These machineries are, as it were, an essential element of clock-manufacturing and if unfortunately they would not be released from reparation, we could not continue our authorized manufacturing of clock. It is absolutely necessary to retain these machineries for our continued existence as clock manufacturing, whose deepest desire in the reconstruction of peace industry for Japan.

Sub.: Explanatory Report on Newly Installed Machinery.

Jan. 15, 1947

On 13th Jan. when we were inquired about the installation process of our machineries and how equipped our plant, we made berbal explanation, however, in order to complete it adding some supplements, we would like to submit it here in writing.

1. Motive of Conversion.

In wartime, by order of Government's so called "Readjustment of Enterprise ", we were forced to give up continuing our woolen textile industry, conveying all of our weaving machines to another company. Then we had to convert into some industry to support ourselves and we decide to begin clock-production thinking of the future. Not a moment was lost to purchase machine-tools necessary for the new undertaking, when it happened unexpectedly that Navy ordered us to make, whether we liked it or not, parts of fuse for 25 mm M.G.bullets.

2. How we began to manufacture fuse-parts.

124 units of lathes of small type, which were sent from Toyokawa Naval Arsenal, were installed inthe place from which our weaving machines had been removed. We began to manufacture fuse-parts by using nothing but these 124 machineries.

3. Actual Use of our Machineries in our Factory.

When our production was being carried out, using machineries lent from Navy, it was requested by Navy that our production should be increased, and, therefore, some out of 404 machineries, which we prepared for making clock-parts, were temporarily and supplementarily used for the purpose in the place separated from the machineries lent from Toyokawa Navy Arsenal.

We earnestly hope that you would carefully understand our above-mentioned circumstances and our petition would meet with your favourable approval.

SUBJECT : Explanation for Machinery Disused during War-time.

Feb. 15 1947

We would like to make supplementary explanation about 142 machineries, which have been mentioned in our application for release from reparation, were never used during war-time.

It is true that these 142 machineries were purchased during war-time and some of them were set up inthe shop, and others were not, but it is impossible to prove such fact by any documents, because, we are very sorry to state, every piece of them had been burnt up by order of Navy immediately after the war.

On the other hand, that machine-gun fuse which we had manufactured consisted of many parts, and we first planned to manufactured 7 kinds of them viz., body, cap, head, striking-pin and its head, centrifugal-piece, and screw cover --- machineries necessary for manufacturing these 7 kinds were prepared. However, only 3 kinds of part viz., body, cap, and head were actually produced, as they were comparatively large in size and could be completed chiefly by using lathe. Although a number of them were soon rapidly produced, and in order to make the production efficiency higher and higher Navy ordered us to give up manufacturing the rest 4 kinds of part, of which responsibility being removed to another factory. Therefore these 142 machineries prepared for manufacturing the above mentioned 4 kinds of part had never been used until the end of war. It is quite apparent that these 142 machineries can be generalized to be unsuitable for manufacturing body, cap, and head, because these 3 kinds are quite different in shape from the other kinds of part.

(I) Equipment and Machinery:

(a) Ground Area, 33,400 sq m

Building,

Office house, 585 sq.m,

This building has been used both for the head-office and the factory-office since pre-war time.

Wood working shop,

DECLASSIFIED E.O. 12065 SECTION 3-402/NNDG NO. 775 013

Wood working shop, 1,780 sq.m.

Before the war, 84 weaving machines were installed in this shop, but in the war time, these machines were removed on account of conversion, and 124 machine tools were replaced for producing some parts of fuses. After the war, these machine tools were unfastened and put together on one corner of this shop, and 27 wood working machines been newly purchased and installed in place of the former machine tools.

Machine shop, 1,330 sq.m.

Before the war, 9 twisting machines for woolen fabrics (860 spindles) and their accessories, were installed in this shop but in the war time, 239 small machine tools were replaced with them on account of conversion and used for producing some parts of fuses. After the war, these machine tools were used as they were for producing several parts of clocks and the production of clock is now being into operation.

Tool shop, 501 sq.m.

During the period of production of woolen textile this shop were used as a warehouse of raw materials, and after the conversion to produce parts of fuses, it was converted to a repair-shop and jigs and tools were also made there. After the war, some machine tools were installed more in this shop and jigs a small tools necessary for clock making are now b produced.

DECLASSIFIED E.O. 12065 SECTION 3-402/NNDG NO. 775 013

Tool shop (To be completed) 800 sq.m.

Before the war, this shop was used as a woolen preparing shop and 6 warping machines, 8 warp winders and 2 yeeling machines were installed there. During the period of fuse-part production, it was used as a inspection shop, but it was commenced to be pulled down for dispersion preventing the damage of bombardment, when the war ended it was left undone undone untill today.

Warehouse for commodities (2 buildings) 540 sq.m.

These warehouse were used for the purpose of taking custody of raw materials, instruments and other articles till the end of the war. At present it is partly appropriated for assembling clocks.

Dormitories and Dining-house, 2,240 sq.m.

Since the pre-war time, their uses have remained constant.

Living house, guard house and other minor buildings, 437 sq.m.

Since the pre-war time, their uses have remained constant.

Machinery:

a. During woolen fabrics production (- To Aug., 1943),

Weaving machine 83 units (Transfered to another company at the conversion in 1943.)

Auxiliary machinery 43 units (do)

b. During fuse-part manufacturing (- To Aug., 1945),

Smaller-sized machine tools, & etc. for fuse-part manufacturing, 528 units, including:-

DECLASSIFIED E.O. 12065 SECTION 3-402/NNDG NO. 775 013

Those purchased 404 units out of which 142 units, being unfinished to be set up, were nevee used.

Those borrwed from Toyokawa Naval Arsenal 124 units which were separately designated to reparations and are in the custody of the president of the company.

c. After reconversion into clock manufacturer,

Machine tool 57 units necessary for clock manufacturing, newly installed after the war (since Jan., 1946), most of them being gear-cutting machines testing machines and power presses.

Other machine tool 404 units necessary for clock manufacturing, installed during the war.

(b) Machineries no longer required for peace time Production,

Nothing

(J) The Ratio of Quantity of principal Products of this Company to that of the entire domestic Productions by Month (as of Oct., 1946)

(K) Reason for Necessity of Retainment:

Kondo Tokei Kogyo Co.,Ltd. (Ex. Kondo Heiki Kogyo Co.,Ltd.), as above mentioned, was established under the name of Kondo Keori Factory in April 1925 for the purpose of production of woolen fabrics, but in August 1943 on account of the governmental readjustment of textile industry, all her machineries were removed and transfered to another factory, and then by order of Japanese Navy she borrowed 124 machines for fuse making from Navy and at the same time purchased supplementary 404 machines which could be used for both fuse and clock making and produced some parts of fuses during about one year, from July, 1944 till the end of the war. After the war she returned to the navy these 124 machines for fuse making, and newly purchasing 57 machines for clock making and 27 wood working machined, she began to produce table clocks. But in August 24 th, 1946 her machineries were designated to be removed for reparation purpose as she produced parts of fuses during the war, and as the result of the investigation about her real circumstances by the local military government, out of her actual machineries (588 units) 404 machineries, which were used during the war, were officially verified for the object for reparations, except wood working machines (27 units) and clock making machines (57 units) which were newly purchased since the end of the war.

But among these special machine as is designed for special purpose of fuse making, that is, every one of them can be readily used for clock making with no inconvenience. Moreover from a standpoint of her history of production, her factory can considered a pure and typical factory of industry in peace time by the fact that she was a textile manufacturer before the war and is a clock manufacturer after the war.

Therefore, it is required that all these machineries (404 units in total) should be retained and exempted from reparation. Though it might be very difficult, we would implore especially as many machineries as only 68 units among them to be retained by all means, which are anyhow impartible for the production of clocks on a minimum scale. The details of these 68 units are shown in the accompanying list.

These 336 machineries, reduced by 68 units from 404 units, can distinctly be separated from others in their situation as shown in the accompanying maps of her factory.
