SUBJECT: Themes for Agricultural Extension - September

1. Farm and home advisors continue to take an increasingly active part in the rural life of Japan. The degree to which they are successful depends to a great extent on how well farmers and farmers' wives are informed of services which they can receive from Extension workers. Continuous publicity must be given to the many activities of farm advisors.

2. September is a month in which typhoons and floods frequently occur in Japan. Farmers need to be forewarned of the approach of typhoons so that they can take countermeasures to lesson the ill effects.

3. It has been noted that rural youth club activities have a tendency to taper off during the fall harvest season. Club members and leaders should be encouraged to make efforts to tie in their activities with autumnal farm practices.

4. Generally speaking, September is a month considered favorable for the mating of livestock. Proper information should be disseminated among farmers concerning such points as the identification of oestrum and the utilization of artificial insemination.

5. Major farm practices during Spetember on which farmers need information include: (a) selection of varieties of barley and wheat; (b) preparation of fertilizer; (c) harvesting of sweet potatoes; (d) care of autumn vegetables; (e) seed sowing of fodder crops; (f) utilization of wild grass; (g) filling of silos with ensilage; (h) hatching and breeding of chicks. As much information as possible should be given on these subjects. Farmers at the same time should be urged to seek further information from their local farm advisors.

SUBJECT: Themes for Agricultural Extension - August

1. According to the latest survey 7,431 Extension workers are now employed by the Agricultural Improvement Bureau, Ministry of Agriculture and Forestry. Of these, 7,139 are farm agents and 292 are home advisors. Plans for the current fiscal year call for an increase of 2,500 -- 1900 agents and 600 women advisors -- many of whom are to begin work in August. Efforts must be made on all sides to introduce the new Extension workers to the farmers and to stress the importance of Extension activities in improving rural conditions.

2. Principal farm practices carried on during August on which practical advice is needed include: (a) weeding paddy fields: (b) side-dressing rice plants; (c) making compost of field grass; (d) care of sweet potatoes; (e) care of soybeans; (f) growing autumn potatoes; (g) selecting varieties of barley, wheat and rape-seed; (h) sowing autumn vegetables; (i) management of livestock in mide-summer; (k) making of ensilage.

3. Surveys conducted by experimental stations throughout the country indicate that rice-blast fever may be more prevalent this August than it has been for several years. Farmers should be told of effective control methods.

4. During August schools will be closed for the summer holidays. This is an opportune time for paying increased attention to youth activities such as the holding of club meetings. and "gun" and prefectural conferences. Some prefectures have worked out youth encampment plans, combining recreation and workshops, and this idea might profitably be explored by other ken.

5. The number of subject-matter specialists who are to serve as liaison between the Agricultural Experimental Stations and the farm agents is soon to be increased. Present plans call for examinations to select specialists. Such exams will be held at various places in Japan from 2 September to 9 October. In order that the best personnel may be obtained, information should be given out during August concerning the qualifications necessary for taking the examinations and the duties of the successful candidates.

6. During August farmers are relatively relieved of heavy farm work. Efforts should be extended during the month toward giving a better understanding of the importance of home living improvement -- particularly to the men, by showing them the savings, health-betterment, and increased efficiency which will result from an improved household.

OUTLINE OF AGRICULTURAL IMPROVEMENT WORK AT PREFECTURAL LEVEL: ITS ORGANIZATION AND ITS FUNCTION

(By Extension Division, Agriculture Improvement Bureau, Ministry of Agriculture and Forestry, 6 January 1949)

1. Organization and Function at Prefecture Level

(1) For the purpose of investigating into and deliberating on important matters relating to agricultural improvement work, the Prefectural Agricultural Improvement Committee (hereinafter referred to as the Ken Committee) and the Area or Municipal Agricultural Improvement Committee (hereinafter referred to as the Village Committee) shall be established on prefectural and area, or municipal levels, respectively.

(2) The prefecture shall have: (1) the officials (hereinafter referred to as the extension specialists) to take charge of specialized guidance in each branch of extension subjects, (2) the officials (hereinafter referred to as the farm advisers) to serve their areas on agricultural extension, and (3) other technical officials necessary to carry on the agricultural extension program. Officials who are working on agricultural improvement, including extension specialists, and farm advisers shall not take charge of any regulatory work such as government program of collection, allocation, control, or inspection of quota goods.

(3) The prefecture shall, in cooperation with the Minister of Agriculture and Forestry, qualify extension specialists and farm advisers through examination or other means to determine qualification and prepare a list of eligibles and provide and maintain the list of extension specialists eligible for the Ken Committee and the list of farm advisers eligible for both the Ken and Village Committees.

(4) The prefectural governor shall divide the prefecture into areas and set the number of the farm advisers to serve each municipality or area after taking counsel with the Ken Committee. This division may be into individual villages or several villages depending on the number of farm advisers available, farm population, farm land area, and other local conditions of farming.

11. The Ken Committee

(1) The committee shall consist of a chairman and nine other members. However, its membership may increase up to 15, if necessary. In the case of a 10-man committee, five of the nine regular members shall be farmers, one an agricultural educator, and three persons of learning and experience. In the case of a membership of 11 or more, the proportion representing each profession of the members shall remain the same as with the 10-man committee. In every case, the majority shall be farmer members.

DECLASSIFIED E.O. 12065 SECTION 3 402/NNBS NO.

(2) Appointment of the committee members: (a) the prefectural governor shall appoint farmer members from among those who are elected by the members of the village committee. An eligible person shall be a farmer, whether he be a member of the village committee or not. The prefecture may be divided into several electoral districts to enable election of the farmer members. In this case division of electoral districts and the number of the elected in each districts shall be decided by the prefectural governor , by duly taking into account the farm population, area of farm land, and other agricultural circumstances in each area. The farmer specified above shall be defined as a person who resides in the prefecture concerned, and is not only a member of a family who cultivates such minimum area of land as provided by the prefectural governor, but he himself must be a farmer and must be more than 20 years of age; (b) the initial farmer members of the committee may be selected and appointed by the prefectural governor, regardless of the foregoing provision; (c) the members representing agricultural educators and the persons of learning and experiences shall be selected and appointed by the prefectural governor.

(3) The term of office: One-third of the strength of the committee members shall be selected every two years (one year) to serve for the length of six years (three years). However, they may be reappointed. The term of office of the committee member filling a vacancy shall be the remaining period of his predecessor's term. However, the initial term of office of the committee members shall be two years (one year), four years(two years), and six years (three years), for each one-third of the strength of the committee members respectively. The term of each member shall be determined by the chairman abiding by the recommendation made by the Ken Committee.

(4) Payment: Members of the committee shall serve without salary, but the actual expenses of members in carrying out their duty may be paid.

(5) Functions: The committee shall investigate into and deliberate on the following matters as they are submitted for their deliberation by the prefectural governor, and may advise the prefectural governor and/or the village committee on important matters concerning agricultural improvement work: (a) Drawing up of programs concerning agricultural improvement work, preparing request for necessary funds therefor, and the execution thereof; (b) appointment, transfer and dismissal of extension specialists, farm advisers, and other key technical officials to serve on agricultural extension and research programs; (c) division of areas and number of the farm advisers to serve their areas; (d) integration of extension program with research program; (e) other important matters concerning agricultural improvement work not specified above.

lll. Extension Specialists

1. Organization of Extension Service

1) Shortly after Agriculture Extension Service was introduced in Japan a Division of Extension was created in the Agriculture Section, SPG in order to push extension service and give adequate guidance to farmers. As the work grew in volume and importance a were division was found inadequate to do ample justice to the work. Accordingly the SPG created an independent Section of Farm Extension on 1 March 1950. Below is the setup:

| Divisions | Names | Duties |
|---|---|---|
| Chief of Section | Tatsujiro SAWAI | |
| Division of General Affairs | Shin NIMIYA | General affairs, including budget, personnel, and others |
| | Minoru HARA | Budget, national subsidy, funding plans |

3. Home Demonstration Advisers

Those who are members of Farm Extension Section, SPG the planning, visit areas to render aid and guidance at their request and cooperate with dieteciens and public health nurses at Health Centers.

Last year southern Yatsuka-gun got top priority in receiving aid and guidance, whereas this year pilot farms ("model areas") will be established in 61 areas to give better services.

4. 4-H Clubs

There are at present 244 4-H or similar clubs and 19 junior 4-H clubs in Shimane. Considering the fact that Shimane's first 4-H club was established in April 1949 this is nothing short of marvelous.

DECLASSIFIED E.O. 12065 SECTION 3 NLS [illegible]

In March this year 4-H exhibitions were held in many parts of Shimane where the results of research were on display, critiques were made, and worthy ones were awarded prizes. This proved great incentive for farmers and farm youths.

In April 4-H clubs established liaison by prefectural, and gun levels with a view to exchanging opinions, comparing notes, and letting brother organizations know results of research work.

Hereafter 4-H clubs liaison congresses aspire to enlarge spheres of activities, including intensive lecture forums, visits to advanced regions, liaison with 4-H clubs in USA and elsewhere, and also combating disease and insect pests.

Through mediums of lantern slides and films they tour throughout Shimane to show farmers better farming.
