PRINCIPAL DEPOT, NO. 81 WHITE STREET, N. Y.

Patients, the gentlest sunshine of hope may now be realized, for our remedy not only relieves, but from accounts, effects a cure. Thousands, who initially with agonized prime the last, lamentable, have left the grave, which a few months, or at most, a year, would have consigned them.

Some poor sufferer, lost, I cannot and doubt in regard to what we say, may say, that unless we restore a portion of time, the disease has entirely destroyed, leaving a wreck, a mere tenantless, and, whether in this necessary, it is not effectively perfect cure. If the treatment be commenced in season, but little or no portion of the lung is lost. It prevents, with further the disease and when, it is done. The concrete substance deposited in the tissue of the lung, technically known as tubercle, becomes absorbed, leaving, perhaps, a little cicatrix, such as is, which is quite harmless and the patient finds himself in possession of whole lungs and sound health. But suppose the disease has not arrived at this early stage. The softened tubercle produces irritation the air tubes, bringing on inflammation of that part of the lung, the inflammation leads to ulceration and the destruction of a portion of the tissue is the result, a cavity is formed which enlarges and, after its work of death, unless the deposit of tubercle is arrested, slows down your remedy effect a cure. Most assuredly it does. In some, as the disease is arrested, the carbonic matter is absorbed or expectorated and nature either furnishes the cavity with a lining membrane, or what is more common, where it is of large size, its walls fall together and heal up, leaving a scar, and the remaining portion of the respiratory lung, to take on the function of breathing through the whole. Physical economy becomes somewhat enlarged, taken on increased action, and aids by compensation, the lung in its diminished capacity.
