MR. SHAW'S LAKE LEVEE AND DRAINAGE ESTIMATES.

The estimated expenditures of the city for the construction of the Lake protection levee and for the drainage of the city and its suburbs, must have arrested the attention of every one who has examined Mr. Shaw's budget for the coming year. He contemplates an expenditure of thirteen hundred thousand dollars for these purposes but even this large outlay will come very far short of completing the works the Canal and Levee Company propose to construct. We have little doubt but that the cost of the Lake Levee will amount to four or five millions of dollars by the time the work is done. An expenditure of this magnitude should not be entered upon while the municipal finances are in such a wretched condition. While the tax-payers can hardly stand up under the heavy burdens they have been called on to carry and while the city authorities have great difficulty in obtaining the means of meeting the current expenses of the government, all costly works should be postponed. The business of the City Council just now should be the clearing off of the continually increasing debt and the curtailment of their expenditures. They should not listen to any new projects that are beyond their means to undertake and that can be postponed until the Treasury is in a better condition.

In these general views as to contraction and limitation of our expenditures, we believe our neighbor of the Times concurs, although it is not always consistent in its comments on the subject. Its language varies and it finds it convenient sometimes to be silent concerning schemes which have for their object rather the benefit of speculators than the advantage of the public generally. The Times is continually calling for reform and for economy, but it has a strange way of accomplishing them, when it advocates or is silent upon speculative schemes and monopolies which had their origin in fraud and corruption. The Times goes further than we do as to licenses, for it demands their complete abolition and it persists in sustaining, with all its influence, a company which has obtained from the State ten millions of dollars as a loan to enable it to carry on its enterprise. Such inconsistencies and such inconsistency destroy all the good effect of its daily arguments in favor of reform, and they also neutralize the action of those who sincerely wish for it in despite of personal interest or consideration. Our neighbor is also the advocate of a speculative job which has as little to commend it as the notorious Ship Island Canal project. We mean the Drainage and Levee protection scheme. In previous articles we have stated that the different sums set down in the budget for 1872, as required for the execution of this project, amount in the aggregate to thirteen hundred thousand dollars ($1,300,000). Why does the Times, which objects to the expenditure of one million and a half of dollars for paving the streets, omit all mention of the estimates for the latter? But the Times is not content to be silent. It has the interest of the Canal Company so much at heart that it openly and boldly eulogizes them and their proposed works. Is it because the Times does not wish to frighten its readers that it says nothing of the real cost, the sum total of the drainage and levee estimates—$1,300,000? It mentions only one of the four items—that for five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000), a contemplated payment in bonds to the Canal Company for services in making canals and embankments, and it complacently regards a like sum set down in the estimated receipts as the proceeds of the drainage tax, a product more true than problematic. Will our cotemporary be pleased to tell us if the two items of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars each found in the budget under the head of Drainage Expenditures, do not constitute part of the Canal Company's receipts? also if the two items, of $350,000 for machinery and another of $150,000 for the Lake Levee will not follow the same road, and if the addition of all these sums—$1,300,000—does not constitute an extravagant expenditure, and one which must yield a large profit to the Canal Company? It is necessary to remark that this sum of $1,300,000 represents the expenditures of one year only, and that it will, to all appearance, be necessary to set apart annually a like sum. The result of this will be that the tax-payers will have to pay one or one and a half per cent. additional taxes annually, for the purpose of draining these cypress swamps which lie between New Orleans and the Lake shore. And this will enure to the advantage rather of speculators than of the public at large. The lands are now worth 25 cents an acre. After they have been drained they may be worth from $10 to $15. We do not see why the public should bear all the expense of this improvement without receiving the profit. And then after the improvement has been effected at the public cost, what would prevent the owners of these lands from demanding the increased value for such portion of them as might be required for public use? Would it not be necessary to enact a law expropriating the land required for public purposes, and at an estimated price. Such things have been done before and there is no limit to the audacity of speculators. The project we attack has no other result than to draw from the pockets of the taxpayers the cost of the drainage and to put into the pockets of individuals the profits accruing from the work and from the increased value of the lands.

CONTINENTAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF NEW YORK.—This company, whose advertisement is published in our columns this morning, is steadily growing in public favor, and last year issued more policies than any company in the country. We suppose this is not due alone to the character and responsibility of the company's managers, but to the liberality with which it treats those who deal with it. For instance the company imposes no limitation as to travel or residence, nor do they forfeit policies for non-payment of premium. Its assets are sufficient to guarantee the payment of all possible losses. They amount to five million and a half of dollars. The Continental does business on the mutual plan, the profits being divided among the insured. This company should not be confounded with the fire insurance company of the same name, its business being confined to insurance on lives. There is no connection between the two companies. The Continental Life Insurance Company had no investments in Chicago and did not suffer in the least by the fire there. It is represented in New Orleans by Messrs. Goode & Picton, who are the general agents of the company for the Department of Louisiana and Texas. Their office is at No. 28 Carondelet street.

MEMPHIS, CHARLESTON AND NEW YORK COTTON EXPRESS LINE.—Mr. A. A. Barnes yesterday showed us a dispatch from Superintendent Anderson, that the first shipment of 200 bales of cotton, from Memphis via this city and Charleston, to New York, by the above Express Line, left Memphis yesterday, and will pass through this city to-day. This is a new line for the shipment of cotton to New York, and is the work of the Memphis and Charleston railroad.

Heretofore, the great Arthur [illegible] from Memphis to New York, has been by the East Tennessee route and Norfolk. From this time it will pass through Atlanta.—Atlanta Sun.

The Opening of the Same Fair.

It is hardly necessary to remind our readers that this is the day fixed upon by the Fair Association for the opening of this year's exhibition. We believe there are a large number of strangers in the city, drawn hither by the promised attractions, and expect to find a large attendance at the Fair Grounds, should the weather prove favorable, of which there is now every prospect. R. N. Ogden, Esq., one of the younger members of the Bar in New Orleans, but one of the most polished and effective speakers we have, has been announced as the annual orator of the association. We believe this oration will be delivered to-day, although the time has not been mentioned, strange to say. Mr. Ogden's effort will be one worthy of the occasion and of the honored name he bears.

The new buildings will also constitute a principal attraction to-day. The efforts of the Fair Association deserve to be rewarded by a large attendance of our people. It is a home enterprise in which every member of the community may take part and the advantages to be derived from it are shared in by all classes of the people. Let them give their countenance to the Association who have in so public-spirited a manner and at so great an expense made provision for this Fair.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SYRUP FOR SOOTHING CHILDREN.—Many sleepless nights of painful watchings to the anxious mother might be avoided by using this invaluable preparation.

CITY INTELLIGENCE.

We have received an invitation to a solemn High Mass which is to be celebrated to-morrow at St. Ann's Church, on the occasion of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the ordination of the Reverends J. Flanagan, J. Moynihan and H. Tumoine.

In running down Levee street, across Elysian Fields street, in response to an alarm of fire, on Thursday night, the truck of Pelican Hook and Ladder Company, broke down crossing the railroad track, which is torn up there, and one of the member of the company, Martin Hickey, who held the tongue, was painfully but not dangerously hurt.

Maggie Murray, a child seven years of age, was badly burned yesterday morning by the clothes taking fire from some shavings with which she was kindling a fire in the stove, at the residence of her parents, on St. Thomas street, between Fourth and Washington streets.

Burglars forced open the street door of the grocery store of Mrs. Poulet, at the corner of St. Ann and St. Claude streets between midnight and one o'clock yesterday morning and were about to rob the premises, but a couple of shots fired by Mr. Pigout, who happened to be awake when the burglary was committed, routed the rascals, whose opportunity for plunder was thus spoiled.

Proprietors of frame tenements at the head of Canal street have been notified by the Administrator of Police, to remove the same, within thirty days.

A fire which occurred at No. 515 Lafayette street, yesterday morning, about nine o'clock, was extinguished so soon that the damage was very slight.

Mark Turpin, a steamboat hand, just arrived in the city, was brought to Jackson Square Station, on Thursday night, intoxicated and one of his hands bleeding from a cut. He was found [illegible] at the door of McGinnis' boarding house, corner of Bienville and [illegible] streets, where he says two men, whose names he does not know, induced him to play cards, got him drunk and then knocked him and robbed him of whatever money he had, which he stated was about $60.

Thomas Hall, the colored man who is accused of having murdered Laura Hudson, his wife, who abandoned him to live with a negro named [illegible], [illegible] arrested at Fort Hudson and brought to the Carrollton jail, where he will be detained until the case is examined. The woman was killed in her cabin at the [illegible] large plantation, on the night of the [illegible].

Fourth District Court.—Messrs. Rose, Foster & Marriot and Mr. Emile Le Hache for rent of a store and amount of goods seized in the suit [illegible] [illegible] lien [illegible] [illegible] Louis Pierce [illegible] [illegible] to property [illegible] [illegible] for any debt due by him. Judge Tissot, before whom the case was tried, has rendered judgment for the intervenor, ruling that property sent to a party to be sold on commission is not subject to the landlord's lien. The decision is an application of the principle recognized and enforced by Article 2688 of the Civil Code.

In the case of the city of New Orleans vs. Mr. Wm. N. Mercer, Judge Tissot has decided that the provision of the Constitution of 1868, which was passed by the Legislature of 1869, authorizing the city to compromise with parties owing taxes accrued for the period the Federal authorities had possession of the properties upon which said assessments were made, does not affect the taxes assessed before the adoption of the Constitution, because the law authorizing them was in force until then.

First District Court—Friday, Nov. 17.—The case of Dominick Byrnes, indicted for manslaughter, charged to have been committed in killing Patrick Brady, [illegible] continued to the 6th of next month, material witnesses for the prosecution being absent.

The case of John Cook, charged with manslaughter, alleged to have been committed in killing Patrick Sweeney, was also continued.

The following sentences were passed: Battle Dacamp, for violently beating his wife, [illegible] [illegible] guilty, [illegible] months in the Parish Prison.

Denis Davenport, for assault and battery, twenty-four hours in the Parish Prison.

William Joseph, for the larceny of a pair of gaiters, the property of Alexander Ctambolan, eight months in the Penitentiary.

Edward Beslin, for carrying a razor concealed on his person, to pay $20, or be imprisoned one month.

Thomas Morrison, for assault and battery on Ellen Kelly, one day's imprisonment.

The Iron Barge Lines—New York Opinion.

The New York Economist of the 11th, in a long article in reference to the iron barge lines for the Mississippi and other Western rivers, concludes as follows:

When New Orleans raises the capital for building her iron barge lines, the question arises as to where they are to be obtained without a shipyard. The tariff shuts out private capital from iron shipbuilding, and so it is necessary to apply to Congress to cure, at least a portion of the evils that are produced by the tariff, and remit a couple of million for the construction of an iron marine yard. We may expect therefore a junction of Southern and Western interests, acting in concert with the various [illegible] [illegible] next winter in Washington, in order to obtain a grant of [illegible] for the construction of an [illegible] [illegible] at St. Louis, or at some other point in the West.

It is by no means certain that the attempt may not succeed. The West is now the ruling power in politics, and generally obtains what it wants. The Western members in the last Congress defeated the ocean steam subsidy bills, [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]
