Gee, I certainly do love Friday 3:00 to 6:00 finals; my roommate was finished on Monday. Does anybody have an extra blue book? Who was Durkheim, anyway? Is it too late to withdraw from the quarter? Well, next quarter I'm going to keep up with the work from the beginning.

To be a UCLA student is to experience a special Bruin environment. Naturally, the environment centers about the high level of academics at UCLA; however, this has a personal side. While some prefer to study in one of the busy libraries, others find it more satisfactory to attend to the books in the beautiful outdoor surroundings afforded by the Bruin campus--retreating into nature's realm offers a sense of well-being. In the end, after ten fleeting weeks of a quarter, everyone shares the same experience; as each individual clenches those familiar blue books, grade cards, Scantrons and good ol' number 2 pencils during the tumultuous period known simply as "finals".

Apart from academia, there is the aspect of the Bruin experience which is the tradition of campus spirit. There are the sports, rallies, eight-claps, card stunts, Homecoming, Mardi Gras, University Sing, the pride in joining Japanese and European tourists in donning Bearwear, and the feeling that the sight of a student from U.S.C. should immediately trigger a reaction of disgust or pity.

Then there is the distinctive Southern California atmosphere that prompted a Madison, Wisconsin sportswriter, prior to the UCLA-Michigan football contest, to present a provocative description: "...the West Coast cult image of independence, freedom...barbecue pits, beach blankets...When they step off the plane tonight you half expect Frankie and Annette to be with the traveling party..." The journalist exaggerated a bit, but where else can you enjoy the beach and hit the surf in December? In the casually sophisticated culture of Southern California today, there are the performing and visual arts, rollerskating, frozen yogurt and salad bars, the ocean, and the movie star in the true city of Hollywood is almost as likely as locating one in Milwaukee. A short walk into Westwood Village, amid the college town. Capping off the Bruin experience is UCLA's own intimate and cosmopolitan setting of neon lights, can offer the student One may decide to dine in one of Westwood's elegant restaurants such as La Fondue Bourguignonne, Di Stefano's or Fatburger. One may prefer to stop at some of the Village's distinctive entertainment spots, including the Westwood Playhouse, several classy movie theaters and Dillon's for dancing. Or the student may rather take advantage of the continual entertainment to be found on the colorful local sidewalks--the art and jewelry exhibits, dancers, musicians, fortune tellers, or mimes. And to fit the student pocketbook, the quaint little shops that line the Village streets offer such merchandise as diamonds, $95 shoes, and $200 art reproductions(perfect for the dorm room). If one desperately craves any of these items, you could always arrange to rob one of the numerous banks in the area. Combine the academics at UCLA with the spirit, culture, and sunny(often smoggy) skies of the Southland, and you have created the Bruin environment.

J D Morgan

After seventeen years as UCLA Director of Intercollegiate Athletics, J.D. Morgan officially retires this June.

"J.D. has made the UCLA athletic program what it is today," Chancellor Charles Young said, adding, "the record of thirty NCAA Championships won by UCLA teams during his directorship — the most of any University in the country during his tenure — is just one example of the quality of J.D.'s leadership."

Since his 1963 appointment, Morgan was actively involved with various UCLA building projects including Pauley Pavilion athletic department building which were opened in 1965, the new Marina Del Rey Boat House and Spaulding football practice field (1966), and Drake Track and Field Stadium, constructed in 1969.

Morgan has had a long history at UCLA, beginning in the late 30's when he was an undergraduate and a four-year letterman in tennis. He later attended the UCLA School of Business Administration prior to serving as a commander in the U.S. Navy. Morgan then assumed an accounting position with the Associated Students organization at the same time as he became assistant tennis coach under William C. Ackerman. Following Ackerman's 1949 retirement, Morgan took the head coaching job, going on to coach seven NCAA Championship teams. In 1963, Morgan was selected as Director of Intercollegiate Athletics on the basis of his combination of business and athletic coaching backgrounds.

Morgan has received both local and national accolades and has served on several prestigious sports committees. He currently is a member of the NCAA Executive Committee and the National Football Hall of Fame's "Honor Court."

Morgan will continue his association with UCLA, as he will become special consultant to the Chancellor and to Vice Chancellor Elwin V. Svenson under whose jurisdiction the intercollegiate and recreational programs operate.

...Byron Atkinson

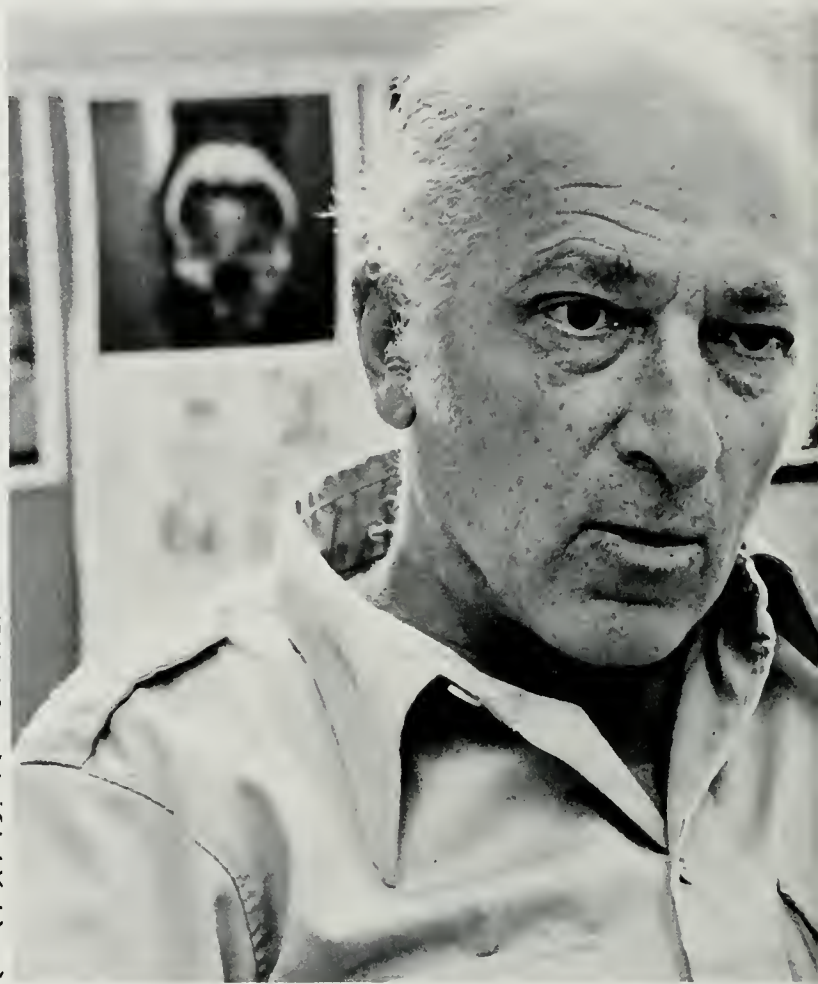

Dean Byron Atkinson is retiring from the UCLA ranks after thirty-seven years of administrative work.

Atkinson worked his way up from Assistant to the Dean of Undergraduates to the position of Assistant Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs.

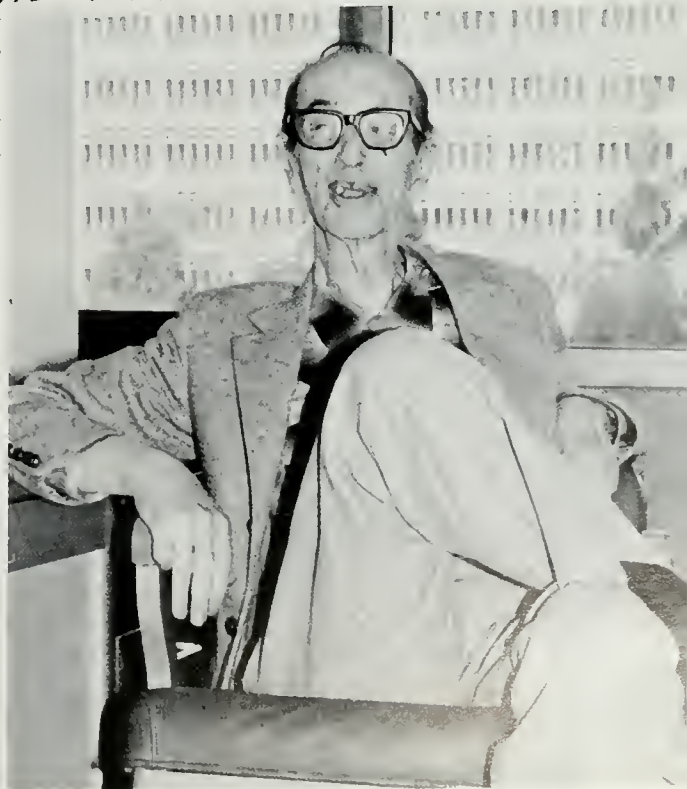

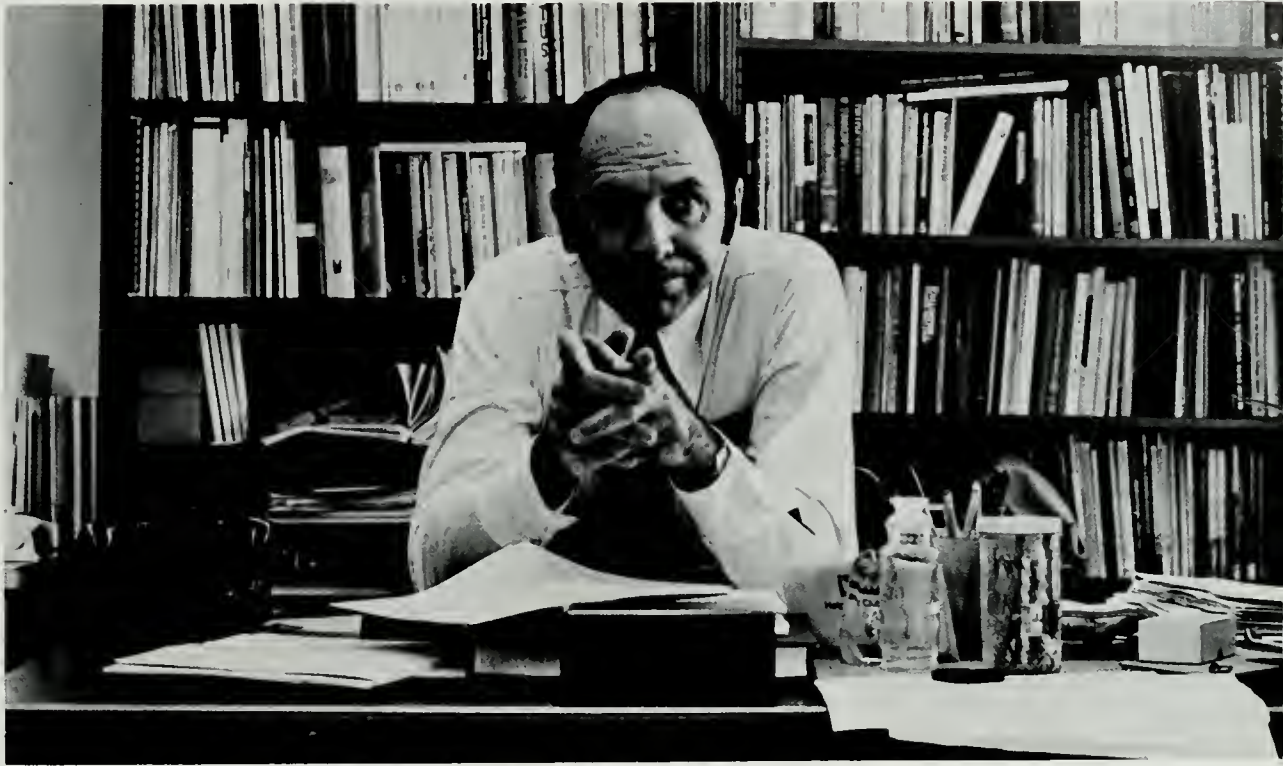

In his years at UCLA, Atkinson accomplished a great deal in the student affairs area, including reinstating such campus traditions as Homecoming and University Sing. He was also instrumental in developing the Special Services (for handicapped, veterans, etc.) and Orientation (for new students) programs. Atkinson's service to the UCLA campus and community was cited when he received the Distinguished Service Award from the Alumni Association in 1971.

That for which the dean is best known is his understanding and fairness. Respected by faculty and students alike, everyone always seems comfortable speaking with him. Chancellor Young summarizes this feeling well when he contends that Atkinson is "more than an able administrator. He is a loyal, compassionate person who has positively influenced the lives of untold thousands. UCLA is indeed fortunate to have him these thirty-seven years. To countless past students, all of whom continue to consider him a friend, he is 'Mr. UCLA.' "

FACULTY

FACULTY

Grandly gracing the Royce Hall Auditorium, just below the majestic pipes of the magnificent Skinner Organ, are the profound words, "Education is learning to use the tools which the race has found indispensable." Many have yet to ascertain exactly what this means, but all will agree that education is learning to understand the professors who make up the faculty of this great university.

GOLDEN YEAR 1979

Since the ceremony in 1979 at which the Golden Year flag was first raised at the West Center, a number of special events took place, saluting UCLA (1929-1979). On September 28, an invitational dinner and reception, hosted by the Golden Year Committee, honored UCLA dignitaries such as Bill Ackerman. Later that evening, students, alumni and friends gathered on Royce Quad to watch a spectacular fireworks display.

Other commemorative events included several special concerts at Royce Hall, the first of which featured Carlo Maria Giulini and the Los Angeles Philharmonic in the same program as Otto Klemperer conducted in 1936 during the first professional concert season here.

...Jane Fonda and Tom Hayden appeared in a political stance; both emphasized their group, "Campaign for Economic Democracy". Although student reaction was mixed, both Fonda and Hayden were receptive to questions from the crowd.

...Seawind, a New Wave phenomenon, eased into a progressive sound which lulled their audience and soothed the soul.

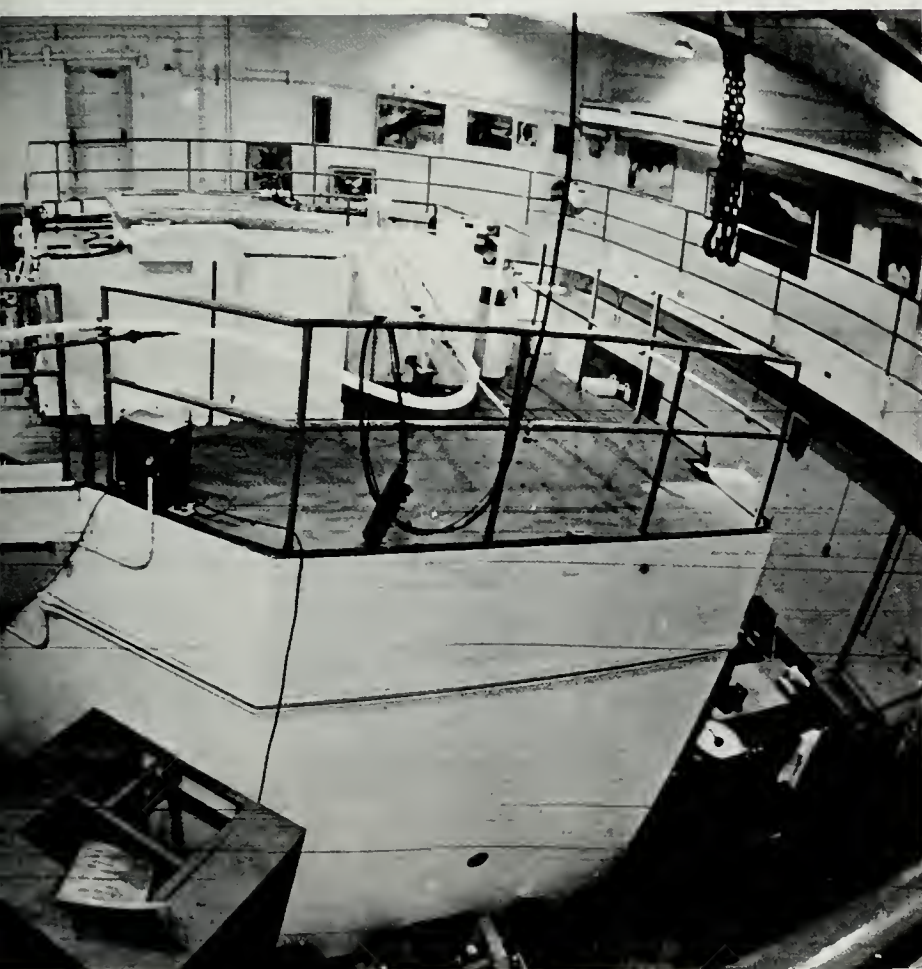

...Penny Marshall, in her first speaking appearance ever, claimed that her best moments were those of "sheer nervousness". Before fielding questions from the crowd, she showed a film of outtakes from "Laverne & Shirley".

Campus Events brought us a flood of New Wave groups in the fall quarter, due to rising popularity. Groups such as the B-52's, the Naughty Sweeties, and the Ramones delighted those with an ear tuned to the "sound of the 80's".

Two major events reflected the end of the decade...the Iranian Crisis and the Anti-Nuclear Movement.

...After finding political asylum in the United States, the Shah of Iran was replaced by religious and political figure Ahyatolla Khomeini. Shortly thereafter, students stormed the American embassy in Tehran, capturing civil and military hostages. Riots ensued over both sides of the world demanding release of both the Shah and the hostages to their homelands.

...The nuclear controversy, spurred by the leakage at Three Mile Island, was brought close to home when the campus began questioning the safety of the nuclear reactor in Boelter Hall. Currently, the reactor is still in operation; although anti-nuke organizations are seeking its demise.

...Students seeking low-budget ways to get around town faced yet another hike in gasoline prices, this time it reached $1.00 per gallon; and California is still on the odd/even plan.

Nick Nolte; 10/31/79

With its usual proficiency, Campus Events was proud to bring us a group of outstanding performers during those first few months back in school. With words or song, our ears and eyes were treated to samplings from sports, motion pictures, politics, music, and comedy.

...George Carlin, first speaker for the year, kept the capacity crowd in laughter with his explanation of his "seven dirty words" routine.

...Dave Mason performed up to expectation--a standing room only crowd swayed to the songs and clapped to the beat.

...Nick Nolte professed that he was "not a sex symbol" although a majority in the crowd reflected another view. Nolte's ultimate goal, "to drink beer", appeased the remainder of the crowd.

Doug Henning

James Caan

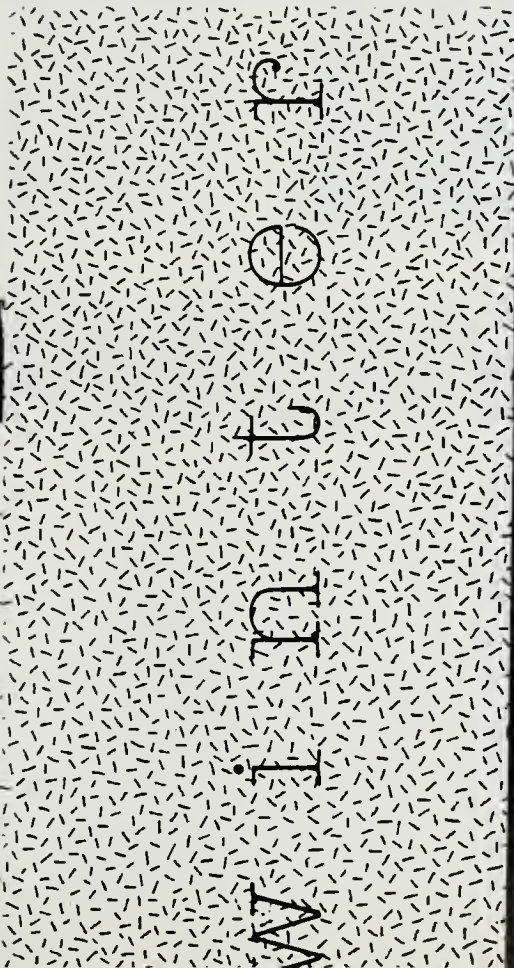

...Master Magician Doug Henning captivated his crowd with feats bordering on the impossible... the applause he heard was no slight of hand.

...James Caan provided his audience with not only the good looks many came to see, but also shared many of his experiences as a performer, almost always tongue-in-cheek.

...Payino us a visit was one of the most sought after groups in the land--"Heart". After a recent reshuffling of members, the Wilson sister proved they're still going strong.

John Beluchi

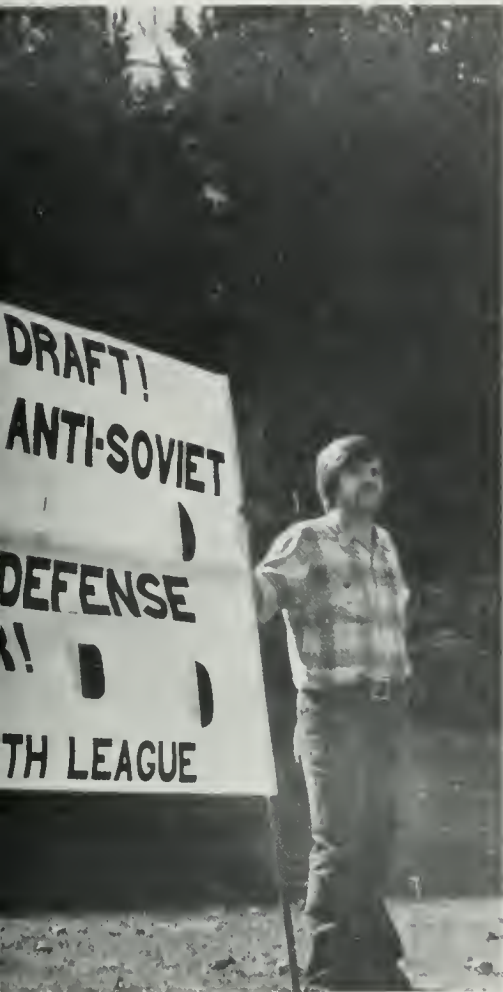

Anti-draft protests

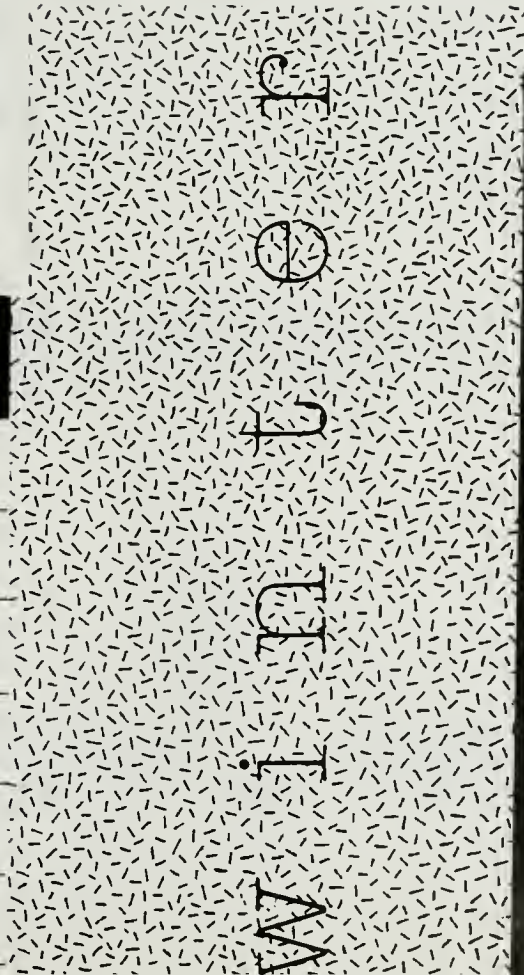

...John Belushi, recipient of the "Performer of the Year" Award, gave the audience what it came to see--a good time for all.

...As the international scene became more unsteady, President Carter declared a reinstatement of the draft--and for the first time women were included. Hard hit, students rallied pro or con; but everyone had an opinion on the prospect of military action.

..."Moving down the block" became a traumatic experience for Malibu residents when the torrential downpours of Winter failed to let up.

After months of hard work by a forty member committee, Greek Week 1980 materialized into the largest such event in recent years. Dedicated to retiring Athletic Director J.D. Morgan, the busy week was designed to involve the entire University in such varied activities as a Colege Bowl Tournament, blood drive, All-University Sing, and benefit Dance Marathon.

After two weeks of preliminary competitions, Greek Week was officially launched on January 27 with a concert featuring the Outlaws and Molly Hatchet. Profits went to the Royce Hall Restoration Fund. Untimely Southern California precipitation moved a Tuesday Greek Week picnic to the not-so-natural setting of the Ackerman Grand Ball Room, while an American Red Cross blood drive was taking place downstairs. The "Greek Ding Show," patterned after television's Gong Show was a new addition to the Greek Week line up. Fraternity and sorority groups had the opportunity to compete in well-calculated craziness.

On the more intellectual side of the week, Greeks, dormies, and other students came together for College Bowl, a strenuous battle of brains, featuring trivia on assorted subjects. In the end, a traditionally strong Alpha Epsilon Pi contingency emerged victorious.

GREEK WEEK

Songs ranging from early English madrigals to "The Attack of the Killer Tomatoes" provided competitive material for the All-University Sing. Dedicated to music professor Paul Tanner, instructor for the ever-popular jazz classes and at onetime a trombonist with the Glenn Miller Orchestra, the large-scale competition culminated in the Wednesday evening Royce Hall finals. "Show bizz" personalities like Henry Mancini, Ted Lange, and John Rubinstein made up the team of judges, and joined Chancellor Young, alumnae and other UCLA representatives at the Alumni Reception, featuring a buffet dinner prior to the Sing. The gala evening, offering special tribute to retiring Dean Byron Atkinson, founded Alpha Gamma Delta and Alpha Epsilon Pi garnering the grand Sweepstakes Award for their novelty entry "No One's Perfect." Other winners were Acacia and Lambda Rho with "Moondance" in the theme category ("Fifty Golden Years of Jazz"), and Sigma Nu and Chi Omega in the Mixed Choral (Promises, Promises Medley) and Alpha Delta Pi took the Women's Quartet top prize with "Do You Remember?", while Women's Choral honors went to Alpha Delta Chi for their rendering of "Alleluia"; Acacia's "Goodbye My Coney Island Baby" won the Men's Quartet competition, and Zeta Beta Tau's own "Fraternity Song" resulted in a Men's Choral Trophy and the Charles McClure Memorial Award (best university or organization song). A rendition of the "Attack of the Killer Tomatoes" by a group from Delta Sigma Phi was judged best in the Odds and Ends Division.

More than 400 runners kicked off Thursday's Greek Week Olympics Day with an exhausting 2.1 mile race, beginning at around 8 A.M. Later that afternoon, the Intramural Field was the site for the 1980 Olympics — Bruin style. After a brief ceremony involving a torch being carried by runners down Janss Steps and onto the field, such sports as a pie eating contest and barrel and orange pass races ensued. A grand chariot race concluded the Olympics with entries made of everything from a bed to a wheel chair.

Leading up to Saturday night's ending Greek Week party was the 36-Hour Dance Marathon, benefiting the American Cancer Society. More than sixty Bruin couples danced to the beat of several bands, Rolling Disco, and KLA disc jockeys, participating in limbo, disco, and hula-hoop contests along the way.

The warm Spring weather brought to UCLA a multitude of Presidential candidates such as John Anderson, who came to speak to the students on campus. UCLA's own political battles caused the usual glut of SLC paraphernalia and swamped innocent Bruin walkers with large signboards and handouts. Other high points of Spring quarter were the rally honoring our near national championship basketball team - ICKY LA BOOM-BAH, and, of course, MARDI GRAS, an annual festival on the Intramural field with proceeds going to charity.

Hi there!

IM Field?

As red, green, and blue balloons, and later fireworks hit the April 25th sky, Mardi Gras 1980 was ushered in memorably. Involving the labor of perhaps 4000 students and a hard-working student committee, the weekend event brought joy to the record-breaking crowds who attended as well as to the many children who could attend Uni Camp as a result of the huge profits. Filling a sizable portion of the I.M. field were dozens of student clowns, stomach-activating rides, food booths, games ranging from a traditional dime toss to a pillow joust, and entertainment including live bands and UCLA's own products such as the Palace Theater and the House of Horrors.

Kappa Sigma - Gamma Phi Beta BACK ALLEY TURE CLUB

Someone once said “the way to a Bruin’s heart is through his/her stomach” — or something like that, anyway. And the discriminating UCLA epicure delights in the large selection of easily accessible eating localities both on campus and in Westwood.

Selecting a place to dine in the Village is not an easy task, for the plethora of restaurants and fast food joints are indeed diverse. Vegetarian chili, pizza, hamburgers, steaks, submarine sandwiches, deli, shwarma, fondue, susi, enchiladas, tandoori chicken — these are but a mouthful of the available items a short walking distance from campus. Among this vast land of culinary pleasures, thee remain certain student favorites. Even these are too many to all receive mention; however, a brief look at several of the preferred establishments can offer a piquant taste of Westwoods peculiar gastronomic magic.

Craving a late night snack, a Bruin may likely consider JoJo’s. Open 24 hours, this classy coffee shop, featuring hamburgers, omelettes, and desserts, is perfect for an evening study break or an early morning surprise birthday breakfast for your roommate. Midnight donuts runs are a UCLA tradition, and these spontaneous escapades frequently lead to Stan’s Corner Donut Shoppe. The specialties there are those luscious assorted donuts and pastries, made fresh daily on the premises. The true nocturnal gourmand often winds up at Fat Burger, the atmosphere (or lack thereof) of which is the inherent charm. Any size appetite can be conquered there, even if it means devouring a Double King Burger with both chili and egg. A more modestly-sized though less protein-filled treat may be found at the Charthouse in the form of “mud pie”. Few Bruins can resist Jamoca fudge icecream covered with a layer of fudge, topped with whipped cream, and all nestled in a chocolate cookie crust.

Only recently opened and already claiming a large campus crowd is D.B. Levy’s. The attraction there is what is sometimes termed a “mega-menu”, a curio which is as entertaining as it is large. Besides the terrific cheesecake (imported from Chicago), there are desserts like the San Andreas Malt, and sandwiches like the Lox Ness Monster, Tongue Fu, Ike and Tina Tuna, and virtually anything you can put between virtually any kind of bread. The “over 21 crowd” hails the drinks, particularly those featuring icecream with various liquors, brandies etc.

Speaking of drinks, pina coladas and margaritas definitely ranked near the top of the popularity list for '79-'80, and students frequented Yesterday's, Macho's, The Hungry Tiger, and Ah Fongs, among others, when a creative alcohol craving surfaced. For the less creative Bruin, beer, not surprisingly, also remained popular and served well to accompany a Sepi's or Substation sandwich or a thick crust pizza at Numero Uno.

The gourmet natural food craze remained in vogue, as did the epitome of this food style — The good earth Restaurant. The menu here sports assorted omelets, salads, and sandwiches, protein shakes, tofu burgers, vegetarian tostadas, and other natural goodies. For the statistically hungry individual, at last count, Westwood had accumulated at least five places specializing in falafel (that Middle Eastern garbanzo bean mixture in pita bread), and the exact number of establishments serving the ever-popular frozen yogurt is all but impossible to determine.

Westwood's many restaurants can make selecting a place for dinner a difficult task, but in the event the decision making becomes too overwhelming, there is consolation in knowing that Westwood also has its very own McDonald's Town House.

Despite its often misinterpreted title, Southern Campus is not an engineering magazine and it deals with more than just the buildings south of Kerckhoff Hall. Thus, we approach the problem of adequately covering material relevant to the majority of UCLA undergraduates, and of doing so in an interesting manner.

We hope this year's book stands apart from the typical unimaginative record of campus events and people, as well as portraying the people, places, ideas, events and experiences we all call UCLA. From the objective viewpoint of the staff, this is a truly outstanding publication, and we are sure it will offer many years of enjoyment, a contention which is much more than can be said for the typical $15 textbook.

Producing one of the most comprehensive college newspapers in the west is a big operation involving a great number of people. Such is the Daily Bruin which fills the kiosks around campus every week day. In addition to sporting news, editorial, sports, entertainment, and advertising departments, the publication offers the once-a-week "Satyr," a section whose humor is often controversial, keeping the Bruin office filled with letters of protest. A favorite section of the paper is the "Personals," which are so "personal" that the entire University is aware of who is "really psyched" for what.

Student Legislative

"The SLC (Student Legislative Council) has a long and illustrious history and is generally regarded as a model student government structure by other universities," Chancellor Young writes in this year's Student Government Handbook. Indeed, significant contributions to campus life have been made by those students "toiling away" in the many corridors of Kerckhoff Hall.

As President of the Undergraduate Student Association, the always busy Jerry Kurland was student representative to local faculty and adminis-

Council, MEChA, Panhellenic and United Jewish Union). Nakasone's office put together a film and the publication The First Connection, both designed to inform students of the special interest groups, and assisted on events such as Greek Week.

The General Representatives (Miriam Aroni, Jean Riley, and Paul Savodelli) and their staff worked on various projects directly affecting students. Examples included an Alcohol Awareness Program, a dorm checking policy, and the Bruin Bagain Book (Susan Schwartz, director) which offered students discounts from a large number of local merchants.

The largest commission on SLC, that of Community Service (Sandy Sinclair, director) was primarily comprised of student volunteers and encompassed almost a dozen programs ranging from the UCLA Food Cooperative to the Exceptional Children's Tutorial Project and the UCLA purchase of apartment buildings specifically for students, and reorganizing dorm management. As Internal Affairs Director, Leslie Lurie served on several student and Chancellor advisory committees and worked toward such goals as extending the deadline for changing classes to Pass/Not Pass grading. Harry Gould's job as Information Director included campus publicity and media relations as well as running student government publications such as Project Awareness. The Budget Review Director (David Friedman) assisted the President with UCLA's budget and budgeting process, and strived to create more of a student voice in these matters. He also directed the Program Task Force, a "research and recommendation" group. The Finance Committee, whose chair worked directly with the President and student government accounting department, functioned as an advisory group, checking SLC's budget requests.

Second in line to Jerry Kurland was Administrative Vice President Jeff Wallack who coordinated various committees and projects such as the Administrative Internship Program. As First Vice President, Rene Nakasone was the liaison between SLC and nine special interest groups (American Indian Students Association, Asian Coalition, Black Students Alliance, Gay Students Union, Interfraternity Council, Interresidence Hall

Fred Gaines, the External Affairs Director, governed the four student lobbies — Metrolobby, which dealt with local issues such as increasing campus, lighting, and bus routes; UC Lobby which handled state-wide issues and worked on a Women's Day in Politics and a voter registration drive; USSA Lobby which worked on national matters such as standardized testing reform and which hosted a Western Conference of USSA lobbies; and the Housing Lobby, an instrument created by Kurland to deal with problems such as helping fraternities retain their houses; encouraging the

Barry Goldberg's Cultural Affairs Commission, sponsored activities and events such as Ackerman Noon Concerts. Expanding the Kerckhoff Coffee House entertainment, the commission brought recognized comedians to Kerckhoff Monday nights and encouraged more students to perform there. The Student Educational Policies Commission handled academic affairs. Dana Trapnell and her staff were responsible for the UpDate Publications and worked closely with the Internal Affairs Director on various issues. Financial Supports Director Mark Epstein sponsored Bank Day and organized a program whereby students can have access to computerized lists of public and private scholarships for which they uniquely qualify, while Facilities Commissioner Greg Karasik worked with the Wooden Center Committee and the Royce Hall restoration project. The Student Welfare Commission (Louis Knox, director) administered programs such as Peer Health Counselors, the Health Faire, and the student tram and escort services.

Wind Ensemble

UCLA's Wind Ensemble, the premiere group of the band program, had a very busy year, encompassing considerably more than their regularly scheduled concerts on campus. In October, the Wind Ensemble received outstanding reviews for their "Americana" performance with the Roger Wagner Chorale at the Music Center. In addition to joining members of the chorus in a work for male voices and winds, the ensemble offered a solo rendition of "Chester".

At the beginning of January, the group recorded a digital album of Percy Grainger works for the Varese Sarabande Label, and a stereo LP of Roy Harris music recorded by the ensemble last year, for the same company, was released in February. Following the short Spring break, the Wind Ensemble toured Northern California.

The other UCLA symphonic bands, Wind Ensemble II and the Concert Band, performed quarterly noon concerts in Schoenberg Hall.

LOT 32:

A Parking Odyssey

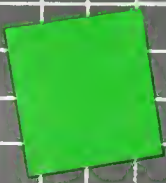

Hungering for the campus's many activities and particularly salivating for the 3,600,000 volumes of the school's library facilities, Bobbie Bruin approaches UCLA. The craving for the university is now too much for the Bruin to bear (little joke), but he does not seem to be able to arrive exactly where he had originally planned . . . Bobbie begins to laugh insanely as he finds himself in a car that is circling the campus again and again without stopping! What is happening? Is there some mysterious barrier between the student and the university? Is poor Bobbie Bruin caught . . . in the Twilight Zone? Actually, the situation is simple; there is no place to park.

Many a Bruin falls victim to UCLA's perennial parking problem. And those lucky permit holders are not always on easy street either. For example, those individuals with Lot 8 parking have a special treat: welcome to the adventure of stack parking. This situation can be lots of fun, ignoring those minor cases of missing keys and unaccountable auto damage — such trivialities!

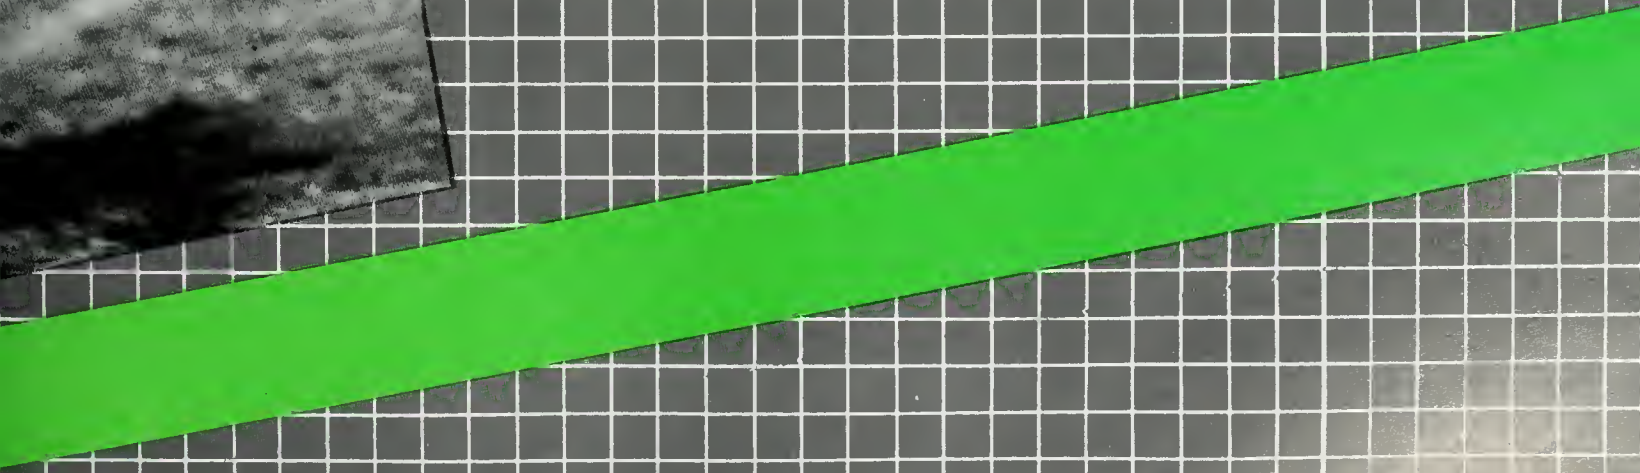

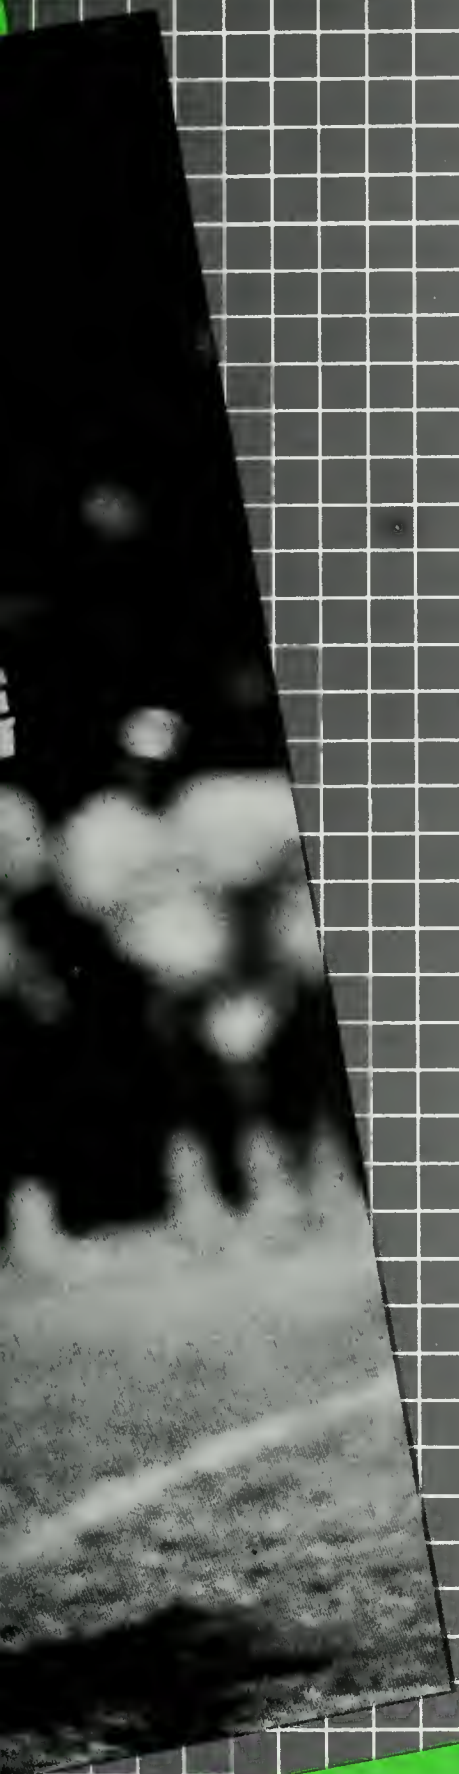

Perhaps the most exciting place to park is Lot 32. Somewhat of a Bruin legend, this one level lot is conveniently located outside the campus near the extremities of Westwood Village; you may not be close to Powell Library, but you are really close to the Nuclear Medicine Building. Ah, but those with Lot 32 permits can ride to campus in style via the luxurious Arrow bus lines. Travelling directly to Ackerman Union (with brief stops at lots 31 and 1), the free shuttle bus is sure to be filled with many smiling faces. One of the bus drivers, fondly known as "The Drivologist", is always pleasant, offering best wishes to all who partake of . . . the Lot 32 Odyssey.

Bruin Highlights

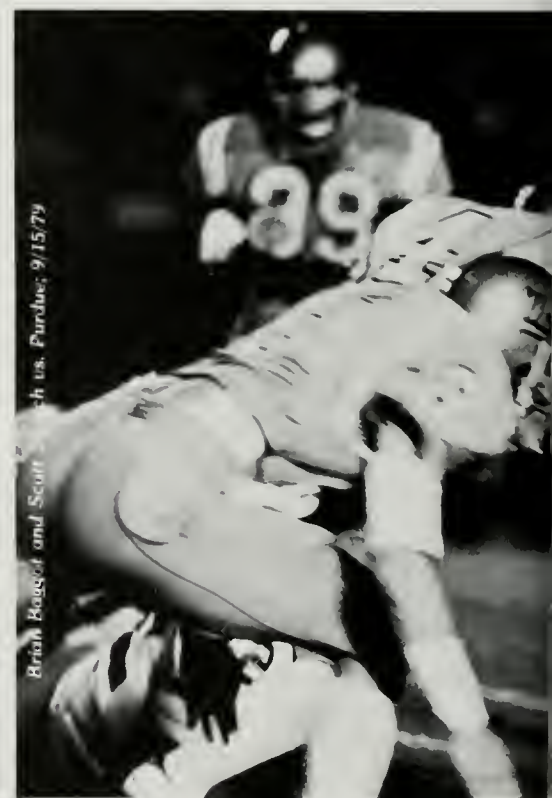

Kenny Easley

Cooper Dostanne with

Rick Bashore vs. Houston: 9/8/79

Brian Haggard and Scott vs. Purdue: 9/15/79

In a season characterized by last-minute disappointment, the 1979 football team made several discoveries which have led to renewed hope for next year's Bruins. Coach Terry Donahue returns 19 of his 22 starters from a 1978 squad thick with young players in key positions.

UCLA opened their season in the coliseum against Houston. The Cougars were ranked among the nation's top ten teams before the season began, as were four other Bruin opponents in 1979. Houston's quarterback, Delrick Brown did his damage to UCLA before collapsing of heat exhaustion and the Bruins started the year 0-1.

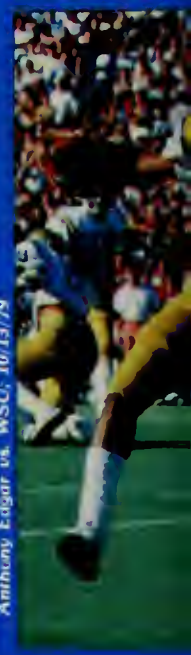

The outlook was much better after the second week when the Bruins, in what turned out to be the highlight of their season, upset fifteenth-ranked Purdue. Tailback Freeman McNeil broke loose for a 51-yard run on the game's first play and UCLA never looked back, jumping out to a 21-0 lead before winning, 31-21.

Kenny Easley vs. Stanford; 10/6/79

Anthony Edger vs. WSU; 10/13/79

Madison, Wisconsin was the site of the Bruins' third game, and they picked up another win over a Big-10 opponent. A sports writer in Madison had ignited the Bruins by referring to them as a collection of "beach boys". But UCLA kicked sand in Wisconsin's face, rolling to a 37-12 win.

This was the last time that UCLA would see a winning record in 1979, as the Bruins dropped their next three games, all in the final minutes.

It began against Ohio State. The Bruins outplayed the Buckeyes for 59 minutes and held a 13-10 lead before Ohio State's sophomore quarterback Art Schlichter connected on six straight passes to give new coach Earl Bruce the dramatic win.

UCLA began the conference season with a 2-2 record and things still looked somewhat promising. But Ken Naber's 54 yard field goal, hitting the left upright and bouncing over the crossbar as time ran out gave Stanford a 27-24 victory in Palo Alto. It was as close as the Bruins would come to being in the Rose Bowl race all season.

The next week, the Bruins lost to 14-point underdog Washington State in Pullman. The Cougars' fans avenged the "Racketjaw" performance of Bruin fans in 1978. The game marked the first time since 1958 that WSU had beaten UCLA.

The situation improved in the homecoming game with Cal. The Bears led at halftime 27-7, but the Bruins surprised everyone in the Coliseum by opening the second half looking like a different team. Led by freshman redshirt Bernard Quarles at quarterback, UCLA rallied for a dramatic 28-27 win, giving fans renewed hope going into the game with Washington.

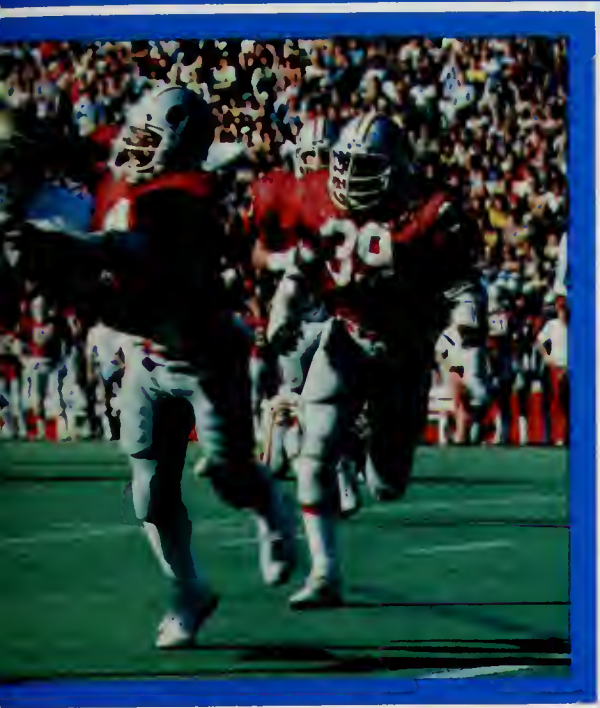

Unfortunately for UCLA, the Huskies came prepared, playing in good form en route to a 34-14 win.

UCLA, beset with numerous key injuries, found it necessary to dig deeper into the depth charts. The resulting play, if not very polished in a coaches' eye, was nevertheless dramatic. Two more wins followed the Washington game, another come-from-behind effort over Arizona State, 31-28 and a 35-0 trouncing of the Oregon Ducks in the rain at Eugene.

UCLA offense after T.D. vs Oregon: 11/17/79

Perhaps the Arizona State game was a key for the Bruins' future as they discovered that they had a quarterback in freshman Tom Ramsey. His poised leadership sparked an aura of confidence about the team, probably the biggest factor in the dramatic win over ASU and the shutout over Oregon.

The Bruins had fought back to .500 with a 5-5 record going in to the USC game. With a victory, UCLA could keep the Trojans out of the Rose Bowl. After UCLA recovered a USC fumble early in the game, it looked like the Bruins had a chance to keep the Trojans away from Pasadena. The momentum was stopped cold, however, with a USC interception and subsequent march down the field toward the goal line. USC, in displaying machine-like precision that characterized their national championship season, picked the Bruins apart. The running of Charles White and passing of Paul McDonald combined for a Trojan offense seemingly fit for the NFL. Rick Bashore, the oft-maligned senior quarterback, came off the bench to throw two touchdown passes, restoring a sliver of pride to UCLA in a game USC won easily, 49-14.

A UCLA highlight emerged out of that meat-grinding game with tailback Freeman McNeil breaking Wendell Tyler's UCLA single season rushing record. McNeil racked up 1396 net yards for the season, surpassing Tyler's old mark set in 1975. McNeil and unanimous All-America Kenny Easley are but two of the 19 starters who return next year. With valuable experience gained and the recovery of UCLA's injured troops, 1980's team looks quite promising.

The tradition of UCLA spirit is directed by the cheerleaders or spirit squads — seven yell leaders and seven song leaders (the dance team) — plus the fine UCLA Marching Band and the ever-playful mascots, Joe and Josephine Bruin.

Waving blue and gold banners and pompons are the students and alumni responsible for the loud "Racket Jaws" tradition. Bruins showed up en masse to athletic events and to rallies such as those for football, encompassing the Janss Steps Pep Rally prior to the Cal game, the Coliseum gathering preceding the USC confrontation, and the rally at the Santa Clara Marriot which brought together three and four thousand avid Bruin fans before the Stanford meeting. As a typical football game call will show, everyone from the Greeks and Dormies to the sixth year seniors and Pauley Pavilion overnight crowd is proud to be UCLA.

UCLA

It was the best year, it was the worst year. Although Carles Dickens wrote these lines 100 years ago in his Tale of Two Cities, they do well to tell the tale of the 1979-80 basketball season.

It was the best year for revitalizing student spirit, and one of the worst for Bruin performance.

Although the cagers lost face by dropping four games on their once invincible home court, UCLA basketball, fans and players, found a new face in affable head coach Larry Brown.

Ushering in the Brown era with heretofore unprecedented pre-game eight claps, overnight stays with students at Pauley and supplying them with doughnuts in the morning, the enthusiastic new coach took much of the pain away from what was generally considered a near-fatal season, as far as respectability and rankings go.

Brown's popularity soared as he fought to make UCLA basketball a real students' extravaganza — with such suggestions as moving students' seats closer to the court, moving up game time and supplying students with pom poms.

And student fans responded to the new coach with human tunnels, general rowdiness and jungle-like cheers, the most popular of which goes something like this:

Icky la boom bah
Icky la picky wicky
Afful la dafful wafful
OOka tee ah — U-C-L-A

This Cliff Pruitt-led cheer was the most popular hit all season.

Unfortunately, all the cheering in the world couldn't put the ball in the basket. Meeting such powerhouses as De Paul and Notre Dame did not help the point-shy Bruins get off on a healthy start — and neither did early season conference losses to Oregon State and crosstown rivals USC. But once down in the trenches of defeat, having lost three in a row — USC away and Arizona State and Notre Dame at home — the Bruins pulled themselves up by the backboard to savor seven straight wins, including a 26 point thrashing of then number 2 rated Oregon State and a 27 point revenge victory over USC.

You-you-you-you!

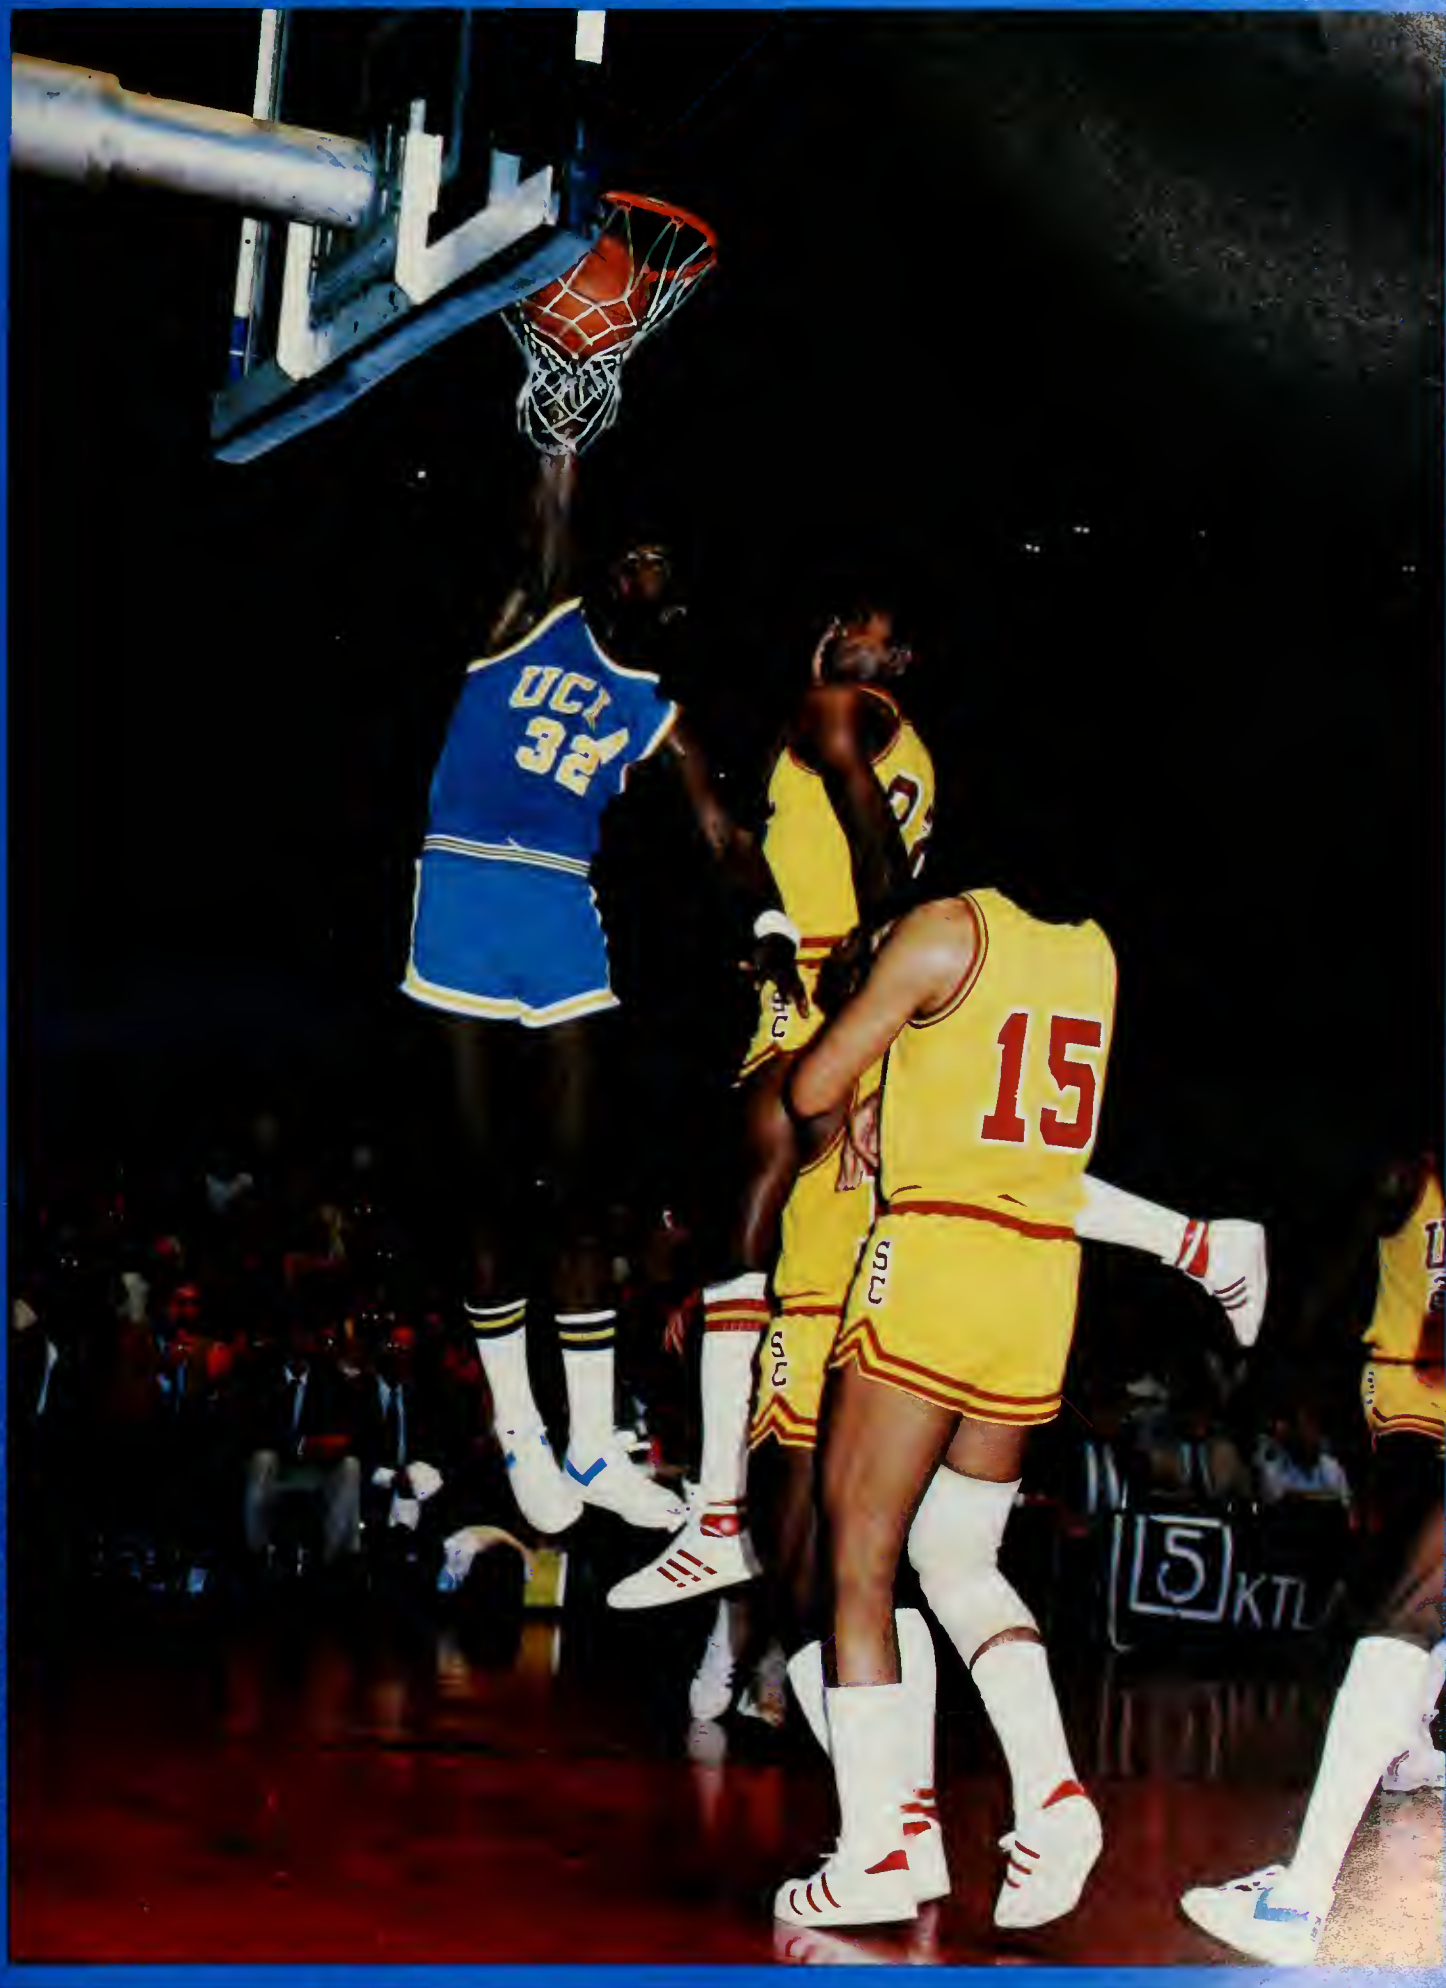

But the quest for number eight straight was sequestered when ASU pulled a few devilish tricks to dunk the Bruin's resurgence. The only game justifiably deemed a thriller occurred at the last home appearance of the season, when the Washington Huskies came barking. This thriller was different from most others, because for one reason, the Bruins didn't come out on top. However, staging their best comeback of the year, the NCAA-bid-hungry squad, down by as much as 16 in the second half, scored nine straight points to tie the Huskies at 70-70 with 25 seconds remaining. A cunning Bruin defense fooled the capacity noise-filled Pavilion into believing they had stopped Washington's last effort, when at the buzzer the Huskies hit a 25 foot outside shot. Pauley Pavilion fell so silent one could hear the net swish as the final shot was called good. Five seniors walked dejectedly off the court.

But Coach Brown was not the only new face to grace the Bruin's bench — there were the four freshmen: Darren Daye, Rod Foster, Michael Holton, and Cliff Pruitt. Whenever the seniors felt a little sluggish, the freshmen came through, usually with the undaunted confidence of a third or fourth year player.

The leader of the pack, however, was a senior — Kiki Vandeweghe, whose shooting ability found him number two scorer in the Pac-10 for much of the season. Sophomore Mike Sanders put his share of lay-ups in, consistently becoming the high game or second high game scorer behind Vandeweghe.

Yes, it was a very different season for Bruin basketball. The old legend may have died, but a new one was being created. The new coach who could show emotion — even lose his cool — was the hottest thing to happen to the Bruins this season.

THE BRUINS ARE BACK!!!

Someday, it might be called the tournament run that almost wasn't. It was said that UCLA was invited to the NCAAs because of the mystical nature of those four letters that was left over from the John Wooden era.

It seems incomprehensible to most anyone that UCLA would ever be a cinderella team in a basketball tournament, but this group of young and talented athletes fostered memories of the Bruins of old.

They started in Tempe. The Bruins were seeded eighth among the 12 teams in the West Regional and were favorites in their opening game against Old Dominion.

Despite playing very tentatively and looking nervous, something they had avoided most of the latter part of the season, UCLA came out on top of the 87-74 decision. Kiki Vandeweghe's 34 points rescued the young Bruins and gave them a chance at revenge against the nation's No. 1 team — De Paul.

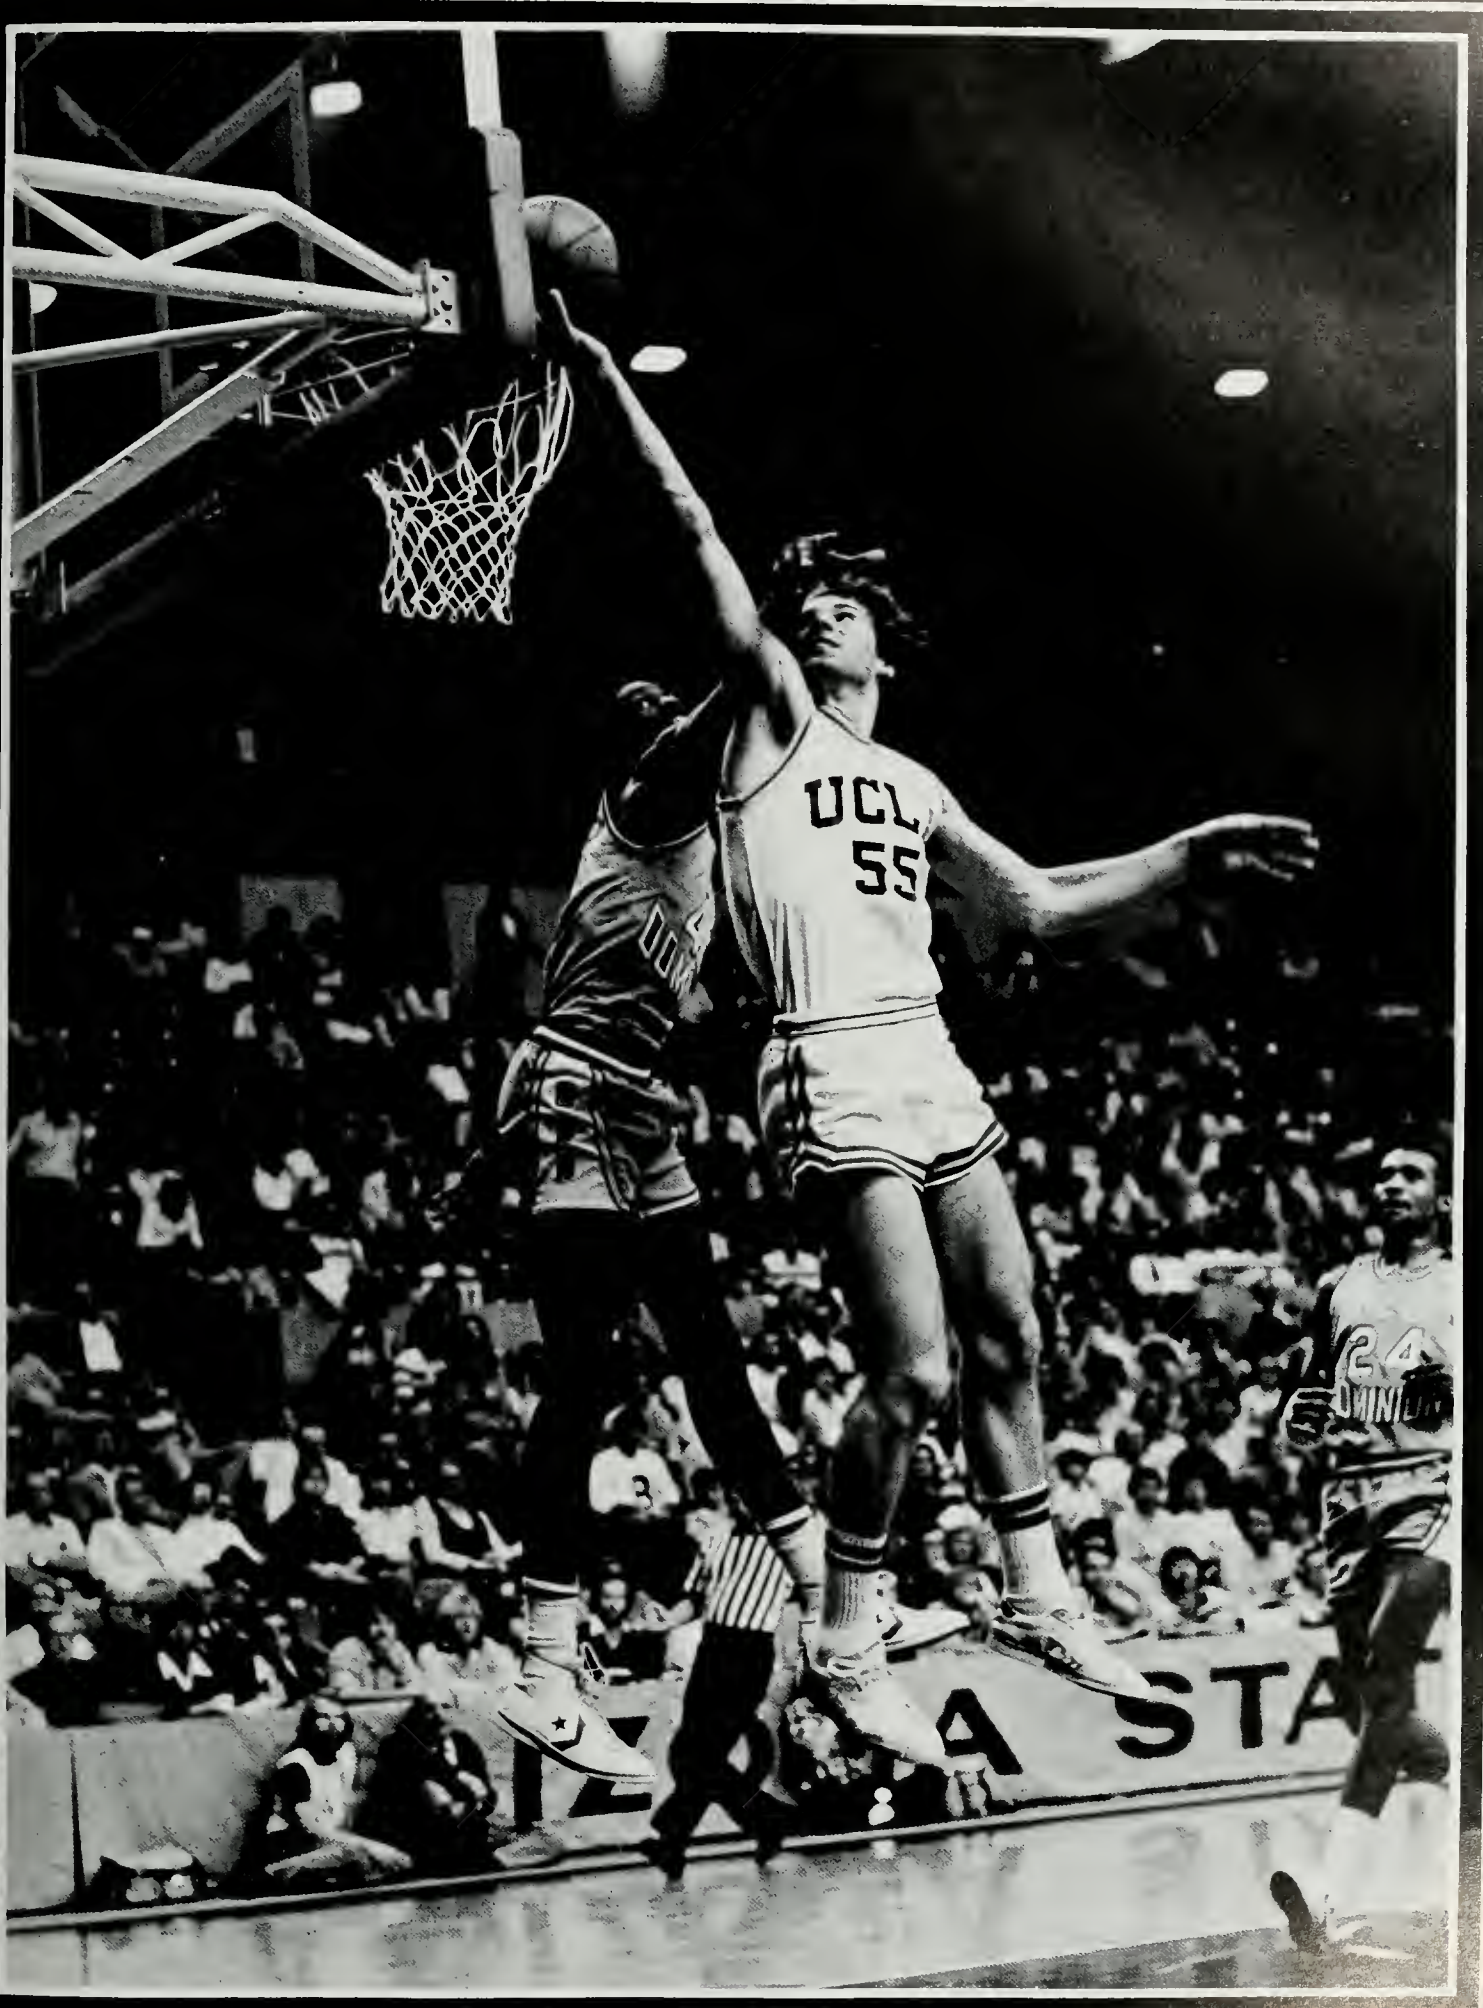

Jayne Papac

It was the Blue Demons that had knocked the Bruins out of the NCAA tournament a year earlier, and they repeated that in December, handing the UCLA a nationally televised loss in Pauley.

But this time, UCLA put together its finest performance of the year and upset mighty De Paul, 77-71. The team that wasn't supposed to be in the tournament at all had upset the favorite and was looking for more.

Ohio State was their next opponent in Tucson as the tourney's second round began. Once again, the young Bruins were heavy underdogs, not given much of a chance against the Big-10 runner-up Buckeyes. But once again, the Bruins surprised the basketball world with a four-point win, thanks in part to a superlative defensive job turned in by James Wilkes.

"Rocket" Rod Foster vs. Louisville, 3-21-80

In the West Regional finals, UCLA met Clemson, a team from South Carolina with a tremendous height advantage over the small but quick Bruins. But it was speed that prevailed, supplied mostly by Rocket Rod Foster — and a soft jump-shot by Mike Sanders, as the upstarts from Westwood continued to amaze people, taking their fantasy act to Indianapolis for the NCAA final four.

They opened in Indy with Purdue and the unstoppable Joe Barry Carroll, the Boilermakers' dominating center. But, with a little muscle, the dream continued as Carroll was completely frustrated and the Bruins had posted their fifth straight NCAA win, 67-62.

It took Louisville and their sensational senior guard, Darrell Griffith, to finally burst the Bruin bubble. Largely behind the exploits of Vandeweghe, the Bruins led by five points at the half and seemed like they might finish the fairy tale with a glorious ending, but they couldn't hold on.

Griffith took over and the Bruins folded, failing to score in the last four minutes of the game, finally losing 59-54. It marked the end of the season and their amazing tournament, but perhaps marked the beginning of a new chapter in UCLA basketball — someday to be known as the Larry Brown era.

Women's Volleyball

Any doubts about the abilities of UCLA's Women's Volleyball Team during regular conference play were shot down in post-season action which culminated in a third place national ranking.

Despite some disappointing road games against nationally ranked teams during the season, the squad performed exceptionally well in regionals and nationals.

Forced into a "must win" situation in their final two local games against Pepperdine and Long Beach State, the Bruins defeated both teams decisively. These victories enabled UCLA (17-11 overall record) to edge into the AIAW regional tournament, the selection committee awarding them the number seven berth among eight teams seeded.

Any initial displeasure the team may have shown regarding their seeding was soon quelled by their outstanding play, as the spikers swept through the regionals, beating San Diego State, University of Pacific (UOP) and twice overrunning top seeded Hawaii.

Moving on to the National tournament, the Bruins rolled over four teams (Florida State, Purdue, Houston, and BYU) in pool play. Later, UCLA beat San Diego State — 15-10, 15-7, 14-16, 16-14 — only to lose to Utah State in a semi-final match. Fighting for third place, the Bruins again faced UOP, overtaking them 15-8, 14-13, 16-14, 15-7 and landing a ranking below only Hawaii and Utah State.

Spikers Denise Corlett and Linda Robertson were named to the all-tournament teams at both regionals and nationals.

The Bruins are losing two outstanding seniors, Denise Corlett and Sue Ewing whom Coach Andy Banachowski termed "one of our steadiest performers all year."

Bruin Soccer

The UCLA Soccer team's season was marked by varied performances, as the Bruins completed the year—15-10-3. But these numbers don't tell the whole story.

Despite not being chosen as one of the two Western teams to participate in NCAA playoffs, the squad nevertheless had some fine regional action. Coming off an early losing Eastern roadtrip, the team sprang into success, compiling an impressive 13-3-2 record in Western play. Top rated USF and USC were the only schools to hand UCLA losses.

Led by junior All-American and future Olympian Ole Mikkelsen (the team's leading scorer this year with 26 points), the Bruins scored victories over some sharp Western teams including San Diego State, Cal State Fullerton, San Jose State, and Santa Clara whose 12-5-1 overall record was a ticket to join USF at the playoffs. "I think we were a better team than Santa Clara," a disappointed Bruin Coach Steve Gay stated. The Coach indicated that the players nonetheless felt good about the season which ended suitably with a 2-1 win over Stanford.

The Bruins look forward to an excellent season next year, as the team is losing only two players, fullback Russell Hulse and fullback-turned-goalie Dan Nannini. Both were valuable to the UCLA defense.

Water Polo

After two years of not earning a spot in the National Playoffs, the UCLA Water Polo Team managed to attain a No. 2 National ranking. But the squad began as though it were following the recent past's example, commencing with inconsistent pre-season play and later a streak of losses against several challenging California teams including UC Santa Barbara, Irvine, Stanford, and Cal. Things turned around later in this season, though, as the Bruins' consecutive losses became a series of wins highlighted by revenge sinkings of Cal and Stanford.

Variable play prior to being invited to compete in the National Playoffs at Long Beach did culminate with the holding off of a tough Trojan team 6-5.

The playoffs provided the poloists with an excellent opportunity to reassert their national stature, which they did, first defeating Bucknell 17-7, then edging Cal 10-9 in semi-final action. The season ended with an 11-3 loss to No. 1 Santa Barbara.

Some of the more brilliant moments for UCLA water polo this year featured the goal-making of Dick Najarian, Rick Sherburne, and Vince Tonne, as well as fine saves by goalie Dave Rosen whom Coach Bob Horn described as a "dynamic force."

Women's Basketball

Disappointment for the Bruin women cagers usually means not capturing the national championship — this year it meant losing the conference title — a claim they had for three straight years.

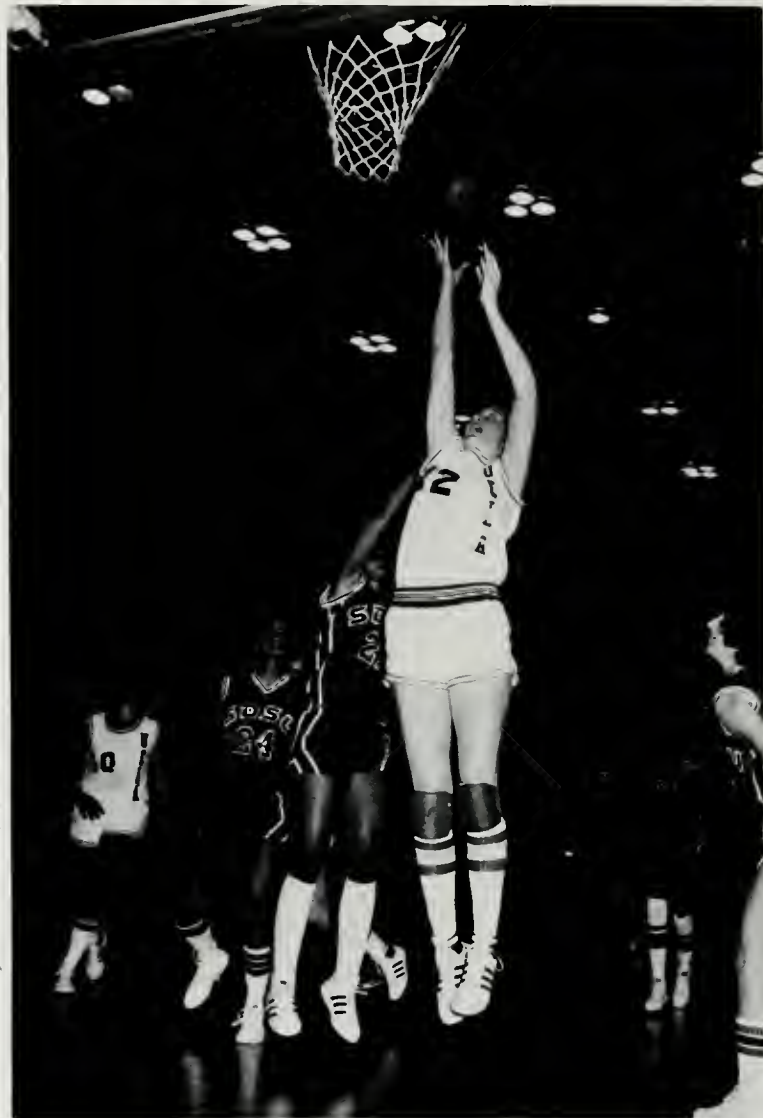

But despite the bleak outcome, the 1979-80 had some shining moments. The Bruins shattered two WCAA records and one team record in the thrashing of the Arizona Wildcats, 122-43. The 122 points scored and the 79 point victory margin have been entered in the books, while the 72 points scored in the second half is a new team record.

Denise Curry, who throughout the season led the nation in scoring with over 32 points a game, became as a junior the Bruins' all-time leading scorer, surpassing Ann Meyers and Anita Ortega. The all-American with a women's game high record this season of 47 points, is fast approaching the 2000 point mark, which has only been broken once before by any Bruin — Lew Alcindor.

Bruin fans have set their own record, as nearly 20,000 of them came to see the cagers play on their home Pauley Pavilion court.

Aside from the highlights, the Bruins did not come through as expected, being panned twice by the Long Beach 49'ers and beaten by USC in Pauley. In their first meeting of the year with Long Beach, the Bruins for the first time ever relinquished their undisputed possession of first place in the WCAA.

At UCLA, volleyball is not just a form of pleasant beach amusement — not with one of the foremost teams of spikers in the nation. Here, under the expert coaching of Al Scates, the sport is an art. Going into April with an awesome 22-1 record, the Bruins looked toward some fine NCAA action.

The season saw UCLA extend the longest winning streak in NCAA volleyball history to 46 before losing to No. 2 ranked USC in the Rutgers Volleyball Classic in New Jersey. The Bruins had knocked down the Trojans in three straight games just one week prior to this tournament.

Outstanding players on this year's spiker squad — the cream of the cream — featured junior team captain Peter Ehrman and a line up of sophomores including All-American setter Karch Kiraly (named MVP in the Santa Barbara Tourney), setter Randy Stoklos, and middle blockers Steve Gulnac and Mark Slevcove.

As a part of the newly created National Intercollegiate Rugby Football Union (NIRFU), UCLA's Rugby team inaugurated a year of national recognition.

Commencing the season on the right foot, the ruggers began by winning the University Division of the San Diego Rugby Football Tourney. By the end of February the squad had accumulated a 7-1 record in collegiate play in a season which included a memorable 47-0 trouncing of USC. Coach Dennis Storer wielded a fine team that included highly experienced players like offensive tackle Gregg Christiansen, John Fowler, and tight end Tim Wrightman.

The powerful Bruin tennis squad proved worthy of its image this season. The team's depth proved a plus, despite the worry early in the season revolving around uncertainty of who would occupy the No. 1 singles spot between Mike Harrington and sophomores Robbie Venter and Marcel Freeman — all outstanding players.

Standing out as the sole freshman on scholarship was Dan Saltz whose doubles work with Venter was highly successful. Another top doubles combination was that of senior Dick Metz and sophomore Blaine Willenborg.

Early impressive wins included the secure beating of a No. 4 ranked Trinity squad, a meet featuring Marcel Freeman's 6-4, 6-5 match over All-American Larry Gottfried.

Women's Gymnastics

Behind one of the best women's gymnastics seasons in UCLA's history was the team's new coach, Jerry Tomlinson. At age 21, Tomlinson is the youngest intercollegiate coach in the nation; but what he does not have in chronological years he has in years of experience. Coming to UCLA from an assistant coaching job at KIPS gymnastics center, one of the top clubs in the country, Tomlinson has been coaching nationally ranked women since he was 17. The young Bruin coach managed to attract a fine new crop of talent, including Sharon Shapiro (one of the finest gymnists in the country and a winner of five individual gold medals in Israel's Maccabiah Games).

The Bruin Women's Golf team demonstrated its talent this year under the coaching of Jackie Steinmann (herself a UCLA graduate). After placing 9th in the 1979 AIAW Golf Nationals, the Bruins teed off 1980 behind the outstanding golfing of such players as Mary Enright who won 33 junior golf tournaments in her three years on the junior tour.

The Women's Cross Country Team performed fairly well all season, ending the year with a tenth place finish at the AIAW Championships at Tallahassee, Florida.

Leding the Bruins through the season was freshman Kathy Mintie whose first place at the Regional Meet, with a 16:17 finish that was 30 seconds ahead of her nearest competitor, abetted the Bruins in clinching the third and final qualifying spot for nationals (behind Cal and Arizona).

Plagued with food poisoning during nationals, Mintie insisted on running, finishing 93rd in a field of more than 250 runners. San Louis Obispos's Maggie Keyes, whom Mintie beat in regionals, finished 5th. Other Bruum harriers had excellent showings. UCLA freshman Linda Geon garnered an excellent 29th place. Next was Sheila Ralston, finishing 52nd, followed by senior Kathy Chisam — No. 134. Coach Scott Chisam was "disappointed for Kathy (Mintie)" but was quite pleased with the performance of the others.

Cross-Country

SECOND ROW: Brian Russell, Ron Cornell, Dave Pascal, Steve Whitcomb, Ken Ernst, Bob Larsen; coach.

It was a year of making history for the UCLA Men's Cross Country Team. For starters, the appointment of new Coach Bob Larsen, who previously was nationally successful with Grossmont College, precipitated the largest UCLA recruiting haul ever of long distance runners.

Throughout the two month regular season, the team ran competitively. In October, for example, the Bruins finished second at the Stanford Invitational Meet (Cal Poly took first), running past traditionally tough Cal and Stanford.

The real history making came when for the first time ever, UCLA qualified for the NCAA Championships, finishing third in Division 8 and knocking out a strong Arizona squad.

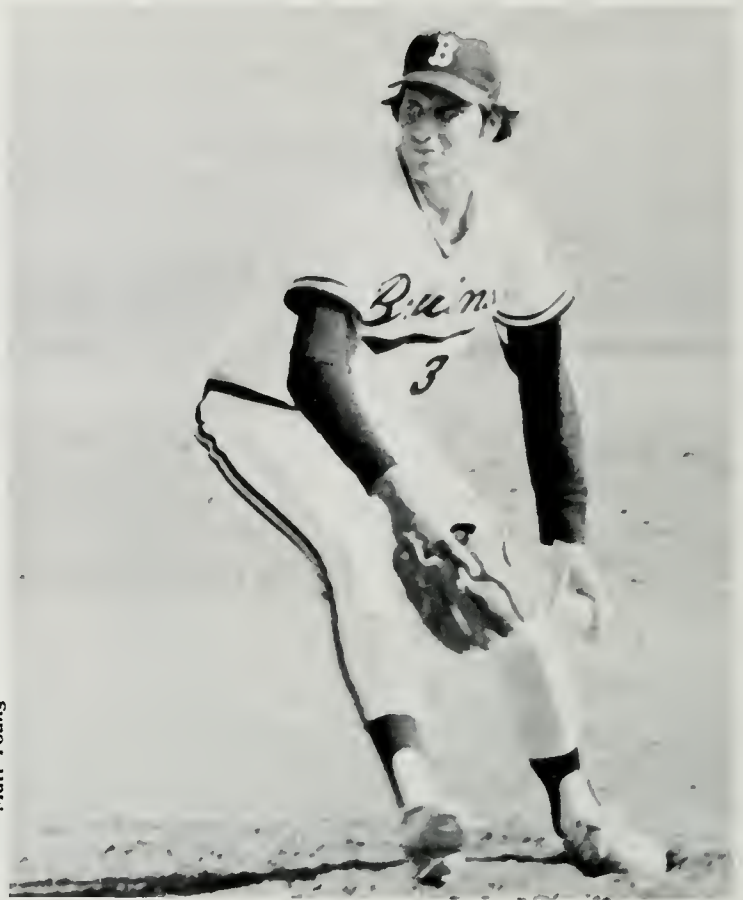

At nationals, held at Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, the team finished 15th in a race in which 250 runners and 29 schools participated. Leading the Bruins was Ron Cornell who finished 44th and was among the first 25 Americans to complete the race which was dominated by world class foreigners. In so doing, Cornell became the first UCLA harrier to achieve All-American status. Next came UCLA's No. 1 man Steve Ortiz who was 58th despite an injury he suffered in jogging. Not far behind was Glenn Best in the 71st spot. Ken Ernst, Brian Russel, and Robert Lusitana were 168, 172, and 197 respectively, while Jeff Woodland, who lost his shoe about 1½ miles out, was unable to finish the race despite a respectable start.

BASEBALL

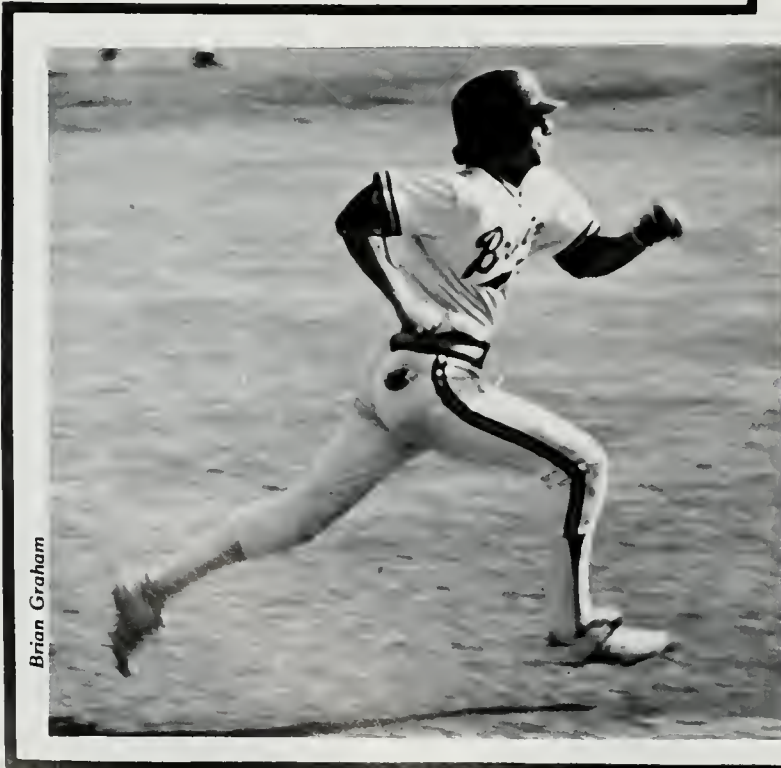

The Bruin batters started play this year facing a tough challenge. The Pac-10 defending Champions, under head coach Gary Adams, lost nine lettermen, returning only three regular starters; nonetheless, the season began with what Adams considered a "solid" offense.

UCLA baseball hit April with a 22-19 win over Loyola, giving the Westwood team an overall record of 14-13-2. At the time, the Bruin's Pac-10 record was good enough for second in the conference. Some stand outs on the 1980 team included infielders Mike Gallego (second base) and first basemen Pat Dodson and Gary Fradella.

Next year's squad should benefit from the added impetus of a new baseball stadium being built on the site of Sawtelle field. When completed, the well-equipped facility with field of major-league dimensions will include seating for 1200 spectators.

Women's Softball

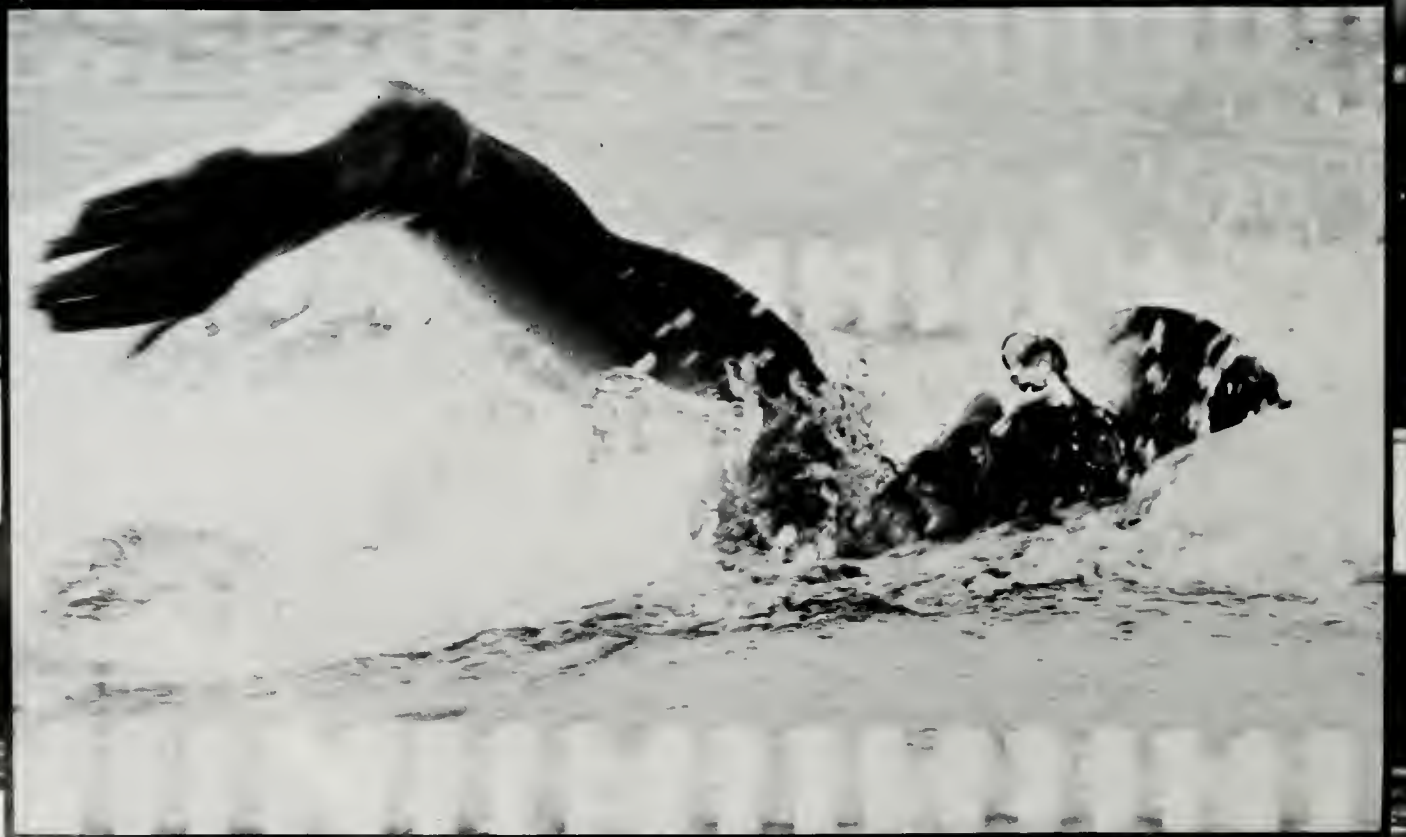

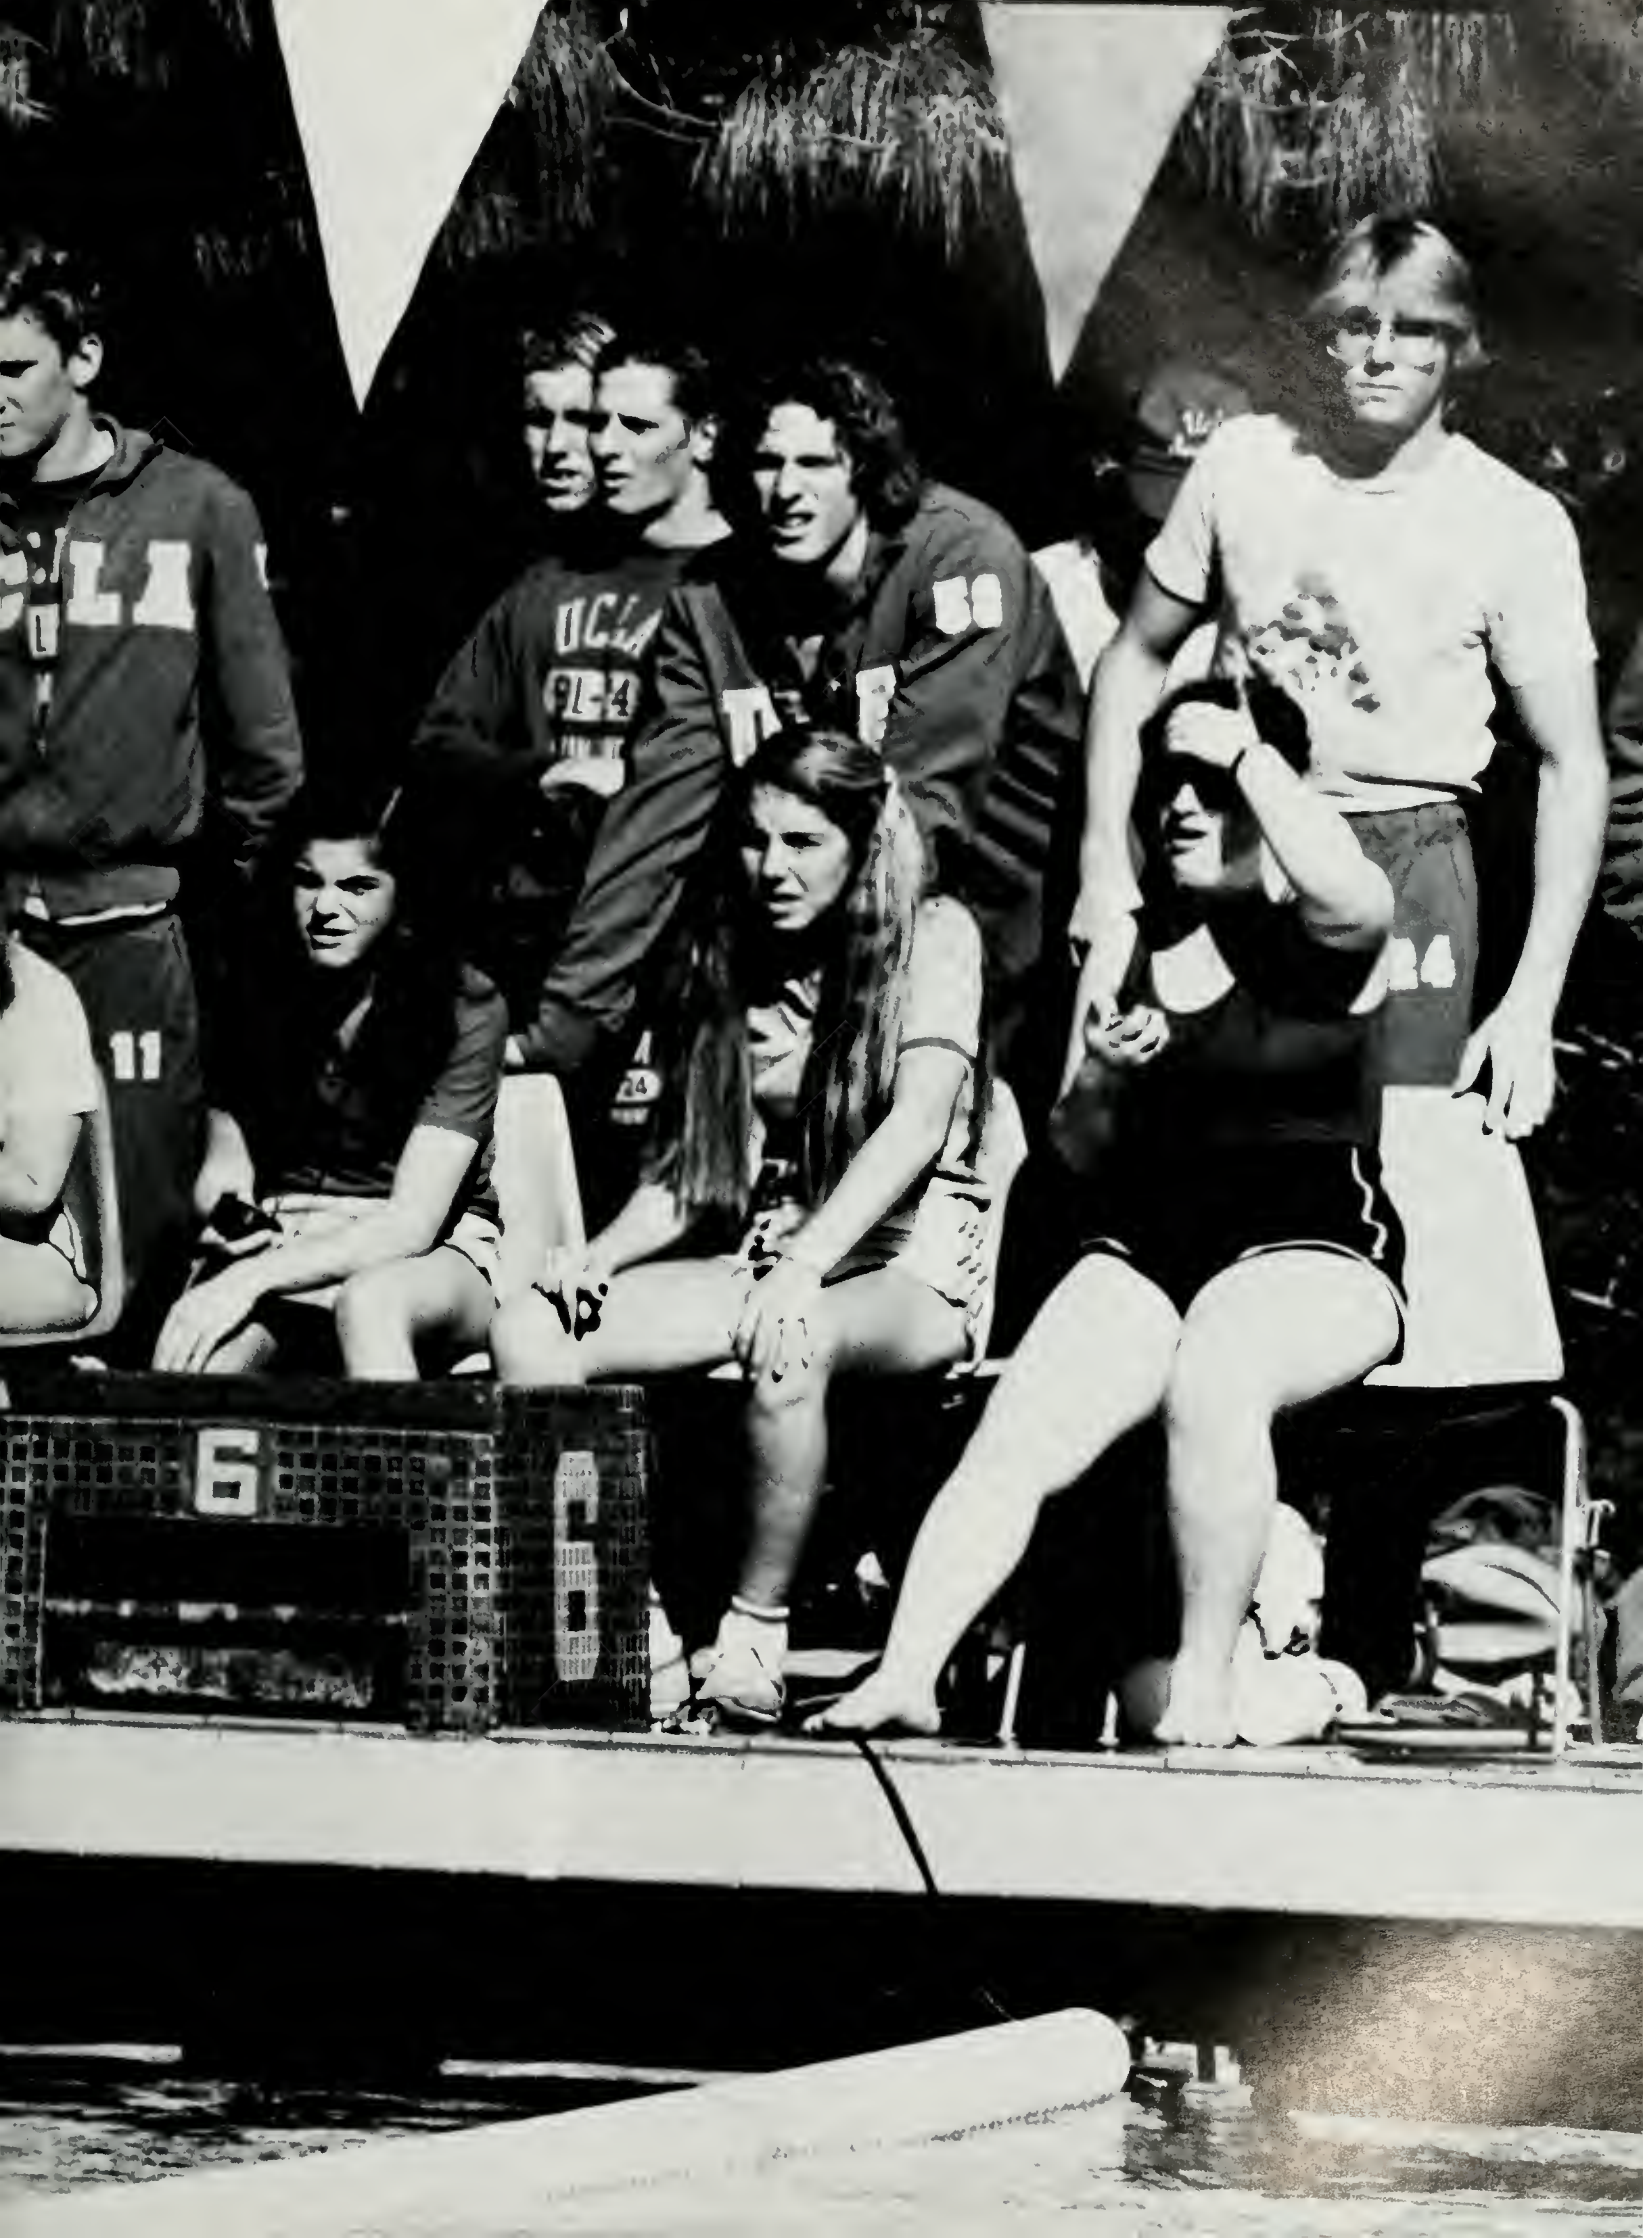

Despite losing a number of players to graduation, the 1980 women's softball team launched a title-contending season. "We have the capabilities to play with any softball team in the country," asserted Coach Sharron Backus. Outstanding members of the Bruin squad included top recruit Patti Irvin (all-CIF shortstop), starting pitchers Jan Jeffers and Karen Andrews, and outfielder Gail Edson who led last year's team in virtually all offensive categories, while batting .319.

Back Row; Sharron Backus (coach), Nedra Jerry, Katie Maurice, Pam Titchner, Gail Edson, Jan Jeffers, Lucy Innuso, Karen Andrews, Frankie Butler, Sue Enquist (assistant coach).

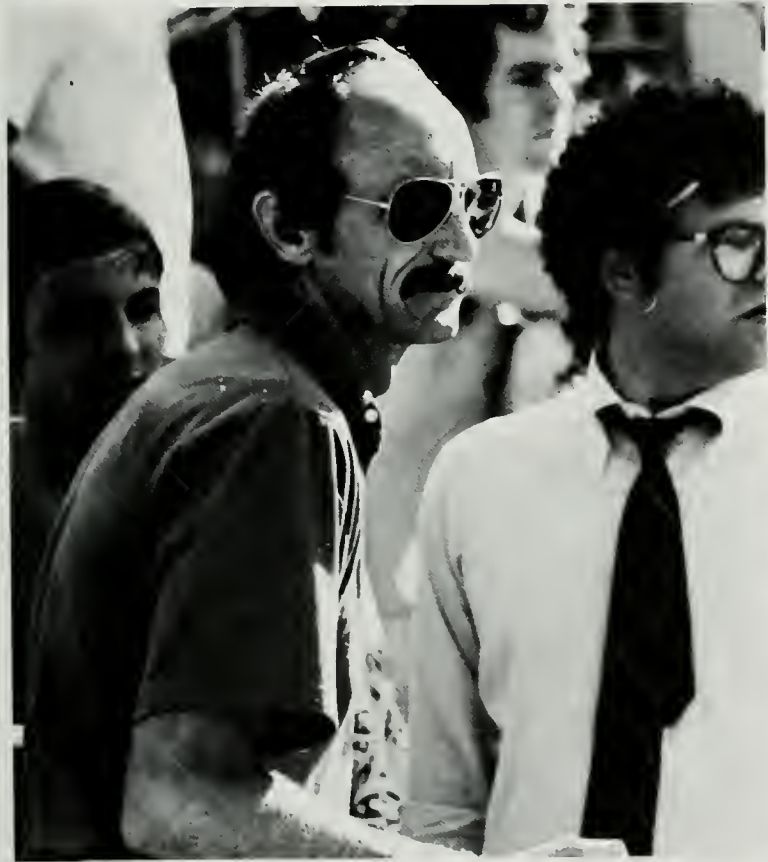

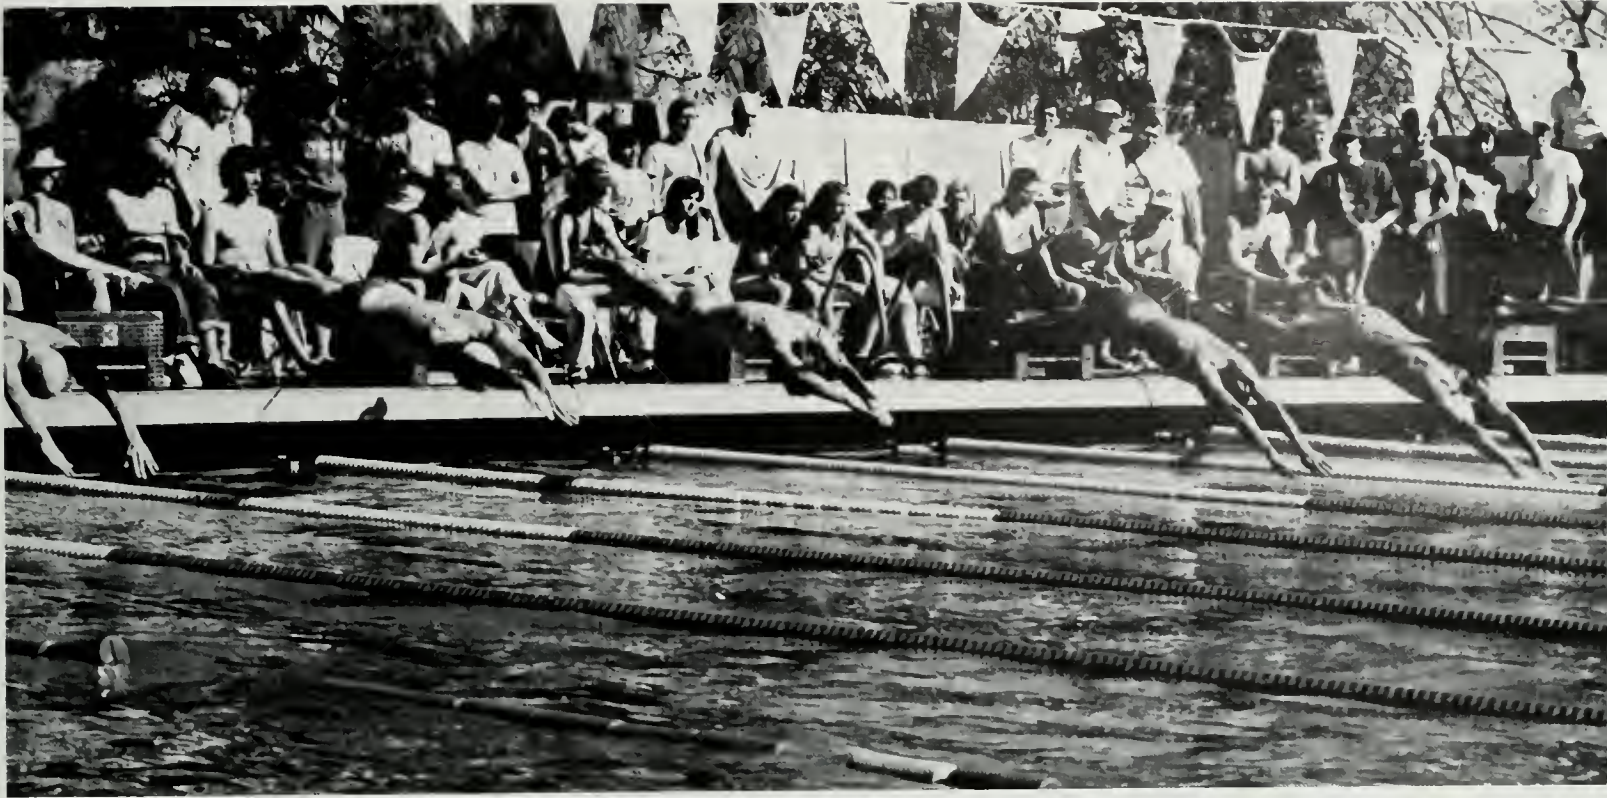

SWIMMING

The Bruin swim team was again a national force as the talented squad displayed strength in all areas. Leading UCLA was junior Olympian Brian Goodell whose consistently brilliant efforts in events such as the 1000 yard freestyle converted to Bruin points. Goodell joined Robin Leamy, Bob Placak, and Bill Barret on what was one of the top relay teams in the country. Barret, a transfer student from Florida proved to be a real power on the team with his superb individual medly work. Other almost invariably successful swimmers included team captain Tony Bartle, junior Chris Wu, and a number of freshmen including Stuart McDonald.

Early season action featured some local triumphs in addition to wins over Texas, Southern Methodist, and Tennessee.

With a limitation on available scholarships, the 1980's was supposed to bring the end of collegiate dual meet competition. Yet the acquisition of Bob Larsen as UCLA assistant coach brought an influx of several of the nation's finest young distance runners to complement Jim Bush's sprinters. The result was that the 1980 Bruin track squad was one of the strongest in school history and the premier dual meet team in the nation.

The outstanding member of the team, as usual, was senior Greg Foster. Called by Bush "the greatest athlete I have ever been associated with," Foster continued to dominate the 110 meter high hurdles and the 200 meters — both events in which he won an NCAA Championship. Foster teamed with David Glassman and Marcus Allen to form the nations premier trio of hurdlers.

Eric Brown was the nation's top junior (under 20) sprinter last year while fellow soph Anthony Curran and junior Chip Benson also make their mark in 1980. Though athletes like these carried on UCLA's traditional strength in the sprint and field events, newcomers Steve Ortiz and Ron Cornell, among others, made for the finest group of distance runners in school history.

Just when it looked as if USC had UCLA's number, winning four straight dual meets, the Bruins routed the Trojans in their 1979 encounter and in 1980 the Trojans again could not match UCLA's depth.

An Olympic boycott affected the future of many of the athletes but individual goals were stressed and that idea was apparently heeded as lifetime bests were had by just about everyone. So in spite of NCAA limitations, the 1980 track squad ushered in a new decade with some old-fashioned strength.

The coming of the 1980's has shown a tremendous upswing in the Track & Field program at UCLA. With one of the top recruiting years nationally in 1979, the Bruins will return to national contention in the AIAW collegiate championships.

Already in 1980, the UCLA squad has upset highly regarded Arizona St. in their annual dual meet 67-59. Linda Goen, one of UCLA's fine freshman recruits was a three-event winner taking the 900m, 1500m and 3000m in easy fashion. All-American Lisa Gourdine was a double winner in the 100m Hurdles and Long Jump in addition to running legs on both relay teams.

So, with the added sprint strength of freshman Gwen Loud and California State High Jump champ Tonya Alston, the Bruins will be a solid choice to finish highly in the collegiate championships.

Women's Head Coach Scott Chisam comments, "Our 1980 squad may not be the best balanced group we have ever had at UCLA in terms of event by event placement, but with so many outstanding individuals with the ability to excell in so many events, we can compete with any team in the nation."

Intramurals

Strolling through magnificent Pauley Pavilion on, say, a Wednesday evening of winter quarter, one may very well not run into Kiki Vandeweghe, but rather may find a number of intramural basketball battles in progress. UCLA's having nationally ranked teams in a wide variety of sports does not deter the budding Bruin athlete who exercises his Southern California image of health and vitality.

The intramural sports program, one of the finest in the country, as well as the various athletic clubs on campus support the sports-hungry Bruin with activities ranging from softball, tennis, volleyball, and bowling to the ever-popular intertube waterpolo. Clubs including those for women's soccer and rugby, lacrosse and ice hockey feature competition against outside groups, while recreation classes such as those in the martial arts and sailing offer social benefits as an extra dividend.

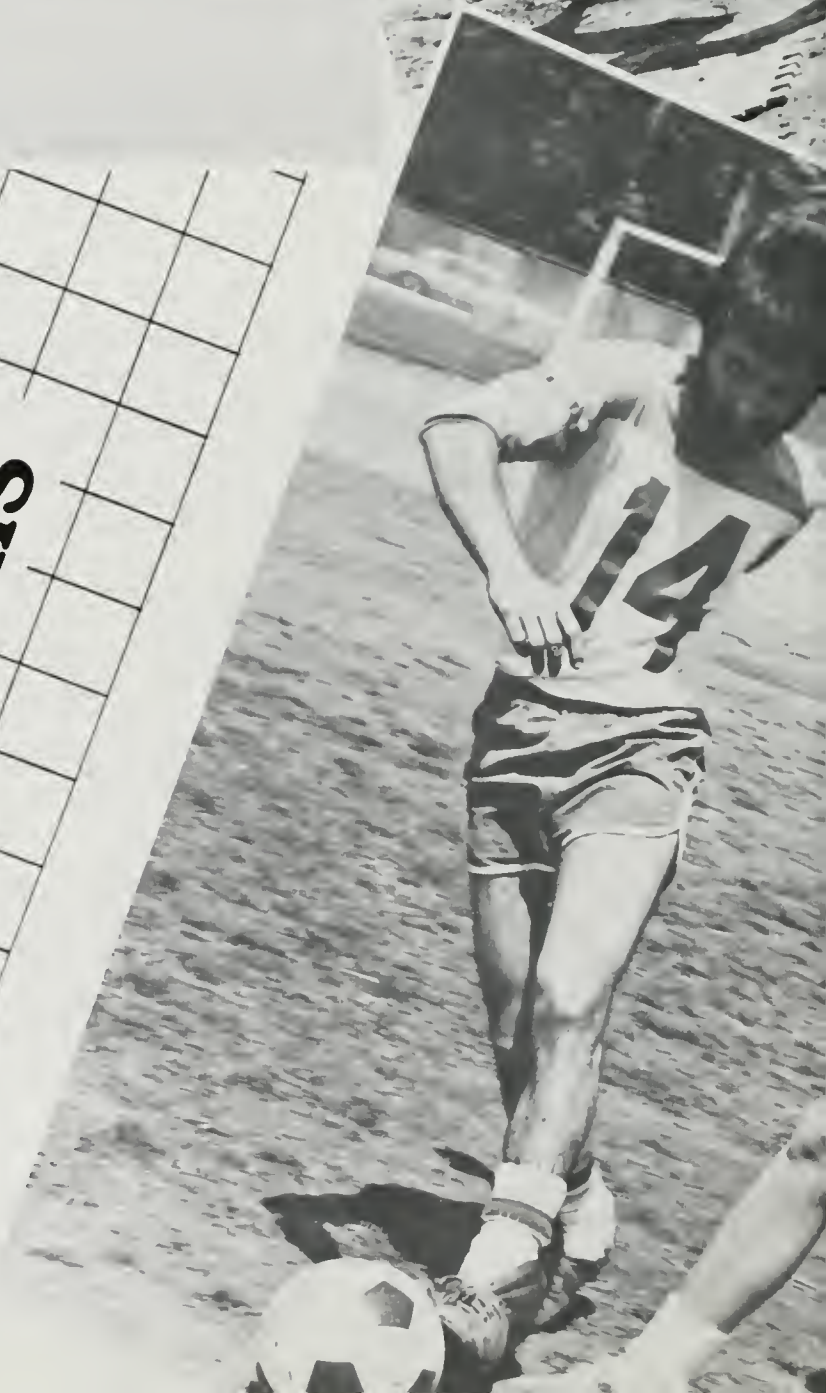

Fraternities, sororities, dorm groups and others are actively engaged in the intramural program; and these activities are not taken lightly. A women's flag football team, for example, is likely to employ a coach and to meet at least once a week for a practice before the weekly big game — invariably a heated competition.

Win or lose, it is good to know that among the atmosphere of UCLA's powerful sports tradition, there is still room for the proud novice.

Lucy Gordon

Kathy O'Brien

Under Coach Gayle Godwin, UCLA's women's tennis team continued its recent tradition of nationally recognized performance. Returning this year with three All-Americans — sophomore Kathy O'Brien and senior co-captains Becky Bell and Lucy Gordon — the team started the season off smoothly, boasting an 8-1 overall record in early March (losing only to number 1 ranked USC). In addition to excellent play from returning squad members, there was some impressive work by freshmen Karin Huebner and Cindy Cambell.

The Spirit of Sproul

The number of names gracing the seemingly endless dormitory waiting lists throughout the year is a powerful indication of the desirability of dorm residence. The desirability of a spot in one of the halls is based not only on a housing need but also on the unique life style the dorms offer. A nostalgic look can provide a kaleidoscopic glimpse at some of the less fundamental reasons why the four undergraduate dormitories are choice places to live.

You might remember the dorm decor. Dorm designers had created the perfect color balance in your room, blending together an essentially red scheme, green carpet and a blue bed banister. In overall atmosphere, where sight ended, sound began, for you soon discovered that your neighbors next door were in possession of a thousand dollar and loud stereo system. As your wall decorations continually became detached, your awareness of the neighbor's predilection for disco, more specifically for the bass thereof, increased steadily.

You might remember the dorm restrooms. You had no idea that a coed floor also meant (unofficially perhaps) a coed bathroom. Apparently privacy was not to be valued; ah, but this is how romance began.

You may remember the dorm parties, room parties, donut runs, floor activities, intramural sports, casino nights, lectures, food during finals, outstanding films, picnics, dances, talent shows . . . and that special person you could have met only by brushing your teeth next to him/her in the coed bathroom.

Residents in each dorm (Dykstra, Sproul, Rieber, and Hedrick) will argue that their hall has the best food, wildest parties, or the most fire drills. Which dorm is in fact the best? That is for you to decide.

Across the way from Dykstra and closest to the tennis courts is Sproul . . . Commencing with a popular Street Dance which attracted about a thousand from all the dorms Fall Quarter's Reg. Week, Sproul Hall's varied activities progressed successfully throughout the year.

"We've got a good cross-section of people from different parts of the country," Sproul's Vice President Mike McClenahan comments, adding, "The 800 people here are good resources for activities." True to McClenahan's observation, a talent show dubbed "Hoot Night" involved people from all floors. Fall Quarter featured an event called "20th Century Sproul" for which each floor sponsored a party with a distinctive decade theme ranging from the 20's through the 70's. Other parties included a Halloween Dance and February's annual Formal.

On a more mellow note, every quarter Sproulers were treated to educational piano concerts by "Doc" Stevenson, music professor and Sproul's faculty-in-residence. And if the myriad of activities or studies were too overwhelming, residents had the option of strolling to the conveniently located Sproul Hall Pizzeria for a little snack.

The Refinement of Rieber

A mere 77 steps up from Sproul is Rieber Hall . . . "It's the class of the dorms," asserts Rieber Program Coordinator Guy Sanders. While many might argue with Sanders' not so modest contention, few can dispute the fact that Rieber sponsored some fairly classy activities this year.

Among the more elegant affairs, there was Winter Quarter's Casino Night, a benefit for the March of Dimes which featured gambling, entertainment, refreshments, and prizes. the Winter months also saw a classic film series including such favorites as Gone With the Wind, Sound of Music, and Paper Chase; the last of these was carefully slated for the first week of the quarter. Other posh extravaganzas encompassed the Starlight Invitational Formal and the annual Luau, both in the Spring.

And then there were those less classy but equally entertaining activities. Who could forget the sensational R.A. Dating Game starring the R.A.s as celebrities, students as contestants and some memorable match ups? A Halloween Night featuring "scary movies" and an intradorm basketball tournament helped round out a very busy calendar.

Closest to Bruin Walk is Dykstra Hall . . . "We're the most different of the dorms in both building design and independent attitude among residents," contends Dykstra President Doug Woo. "The floors are not separated like in the other halls," Woo points out, proudly adding, "we're really close-knit and our parties are pretty wild."

King of the hall's sponsored parties was Fall's "Saturday Night Dykstra" in which rooms and lounges on each floor sported a unique and elaborate theme. Ideas such as a French café, underground movies, and a luau influenced distinctive entertainment and refreshments. A "closed party" Las Vegas Night was held Winter Quarter, while a Luau was featured in Spring.

Other Dykstra diversions included film festivals such as the Hitchcock series, and performances of Jules Feiffer's Little Murders with actors from all the dorms. A Comedy Store event offered residents a chance to write, produce, or present comedy, with top performers garnering opportunities to appear at the Ice House.

The Difference of Dykstra

And finally, furthest up the hill and closest to the Recreational Center, there is Hedrick Hall . . . Besides boasting the majority of Bruin swimmers and water polo players, Hedrick, "the top of the hill," is known by many of its residents as having the best spirit. "Hedrick has the spirit and activities that really get the residents involved," says Vice President Debbie Dunn.

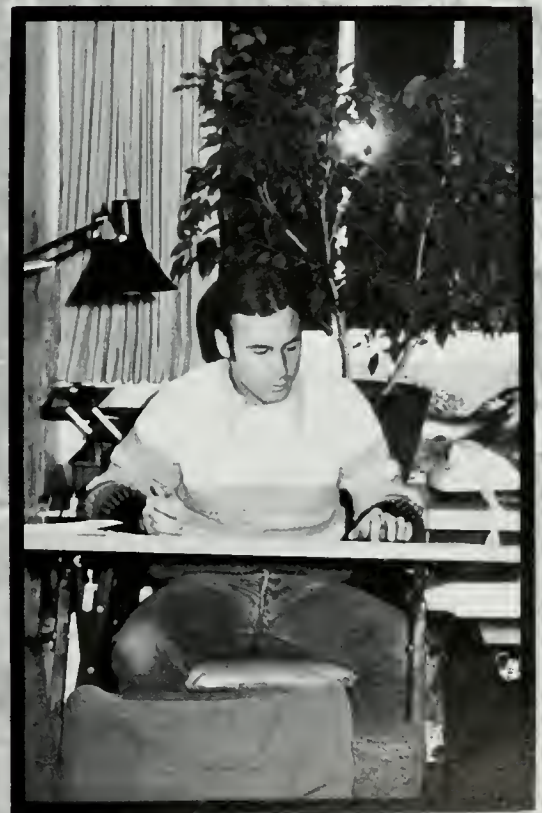

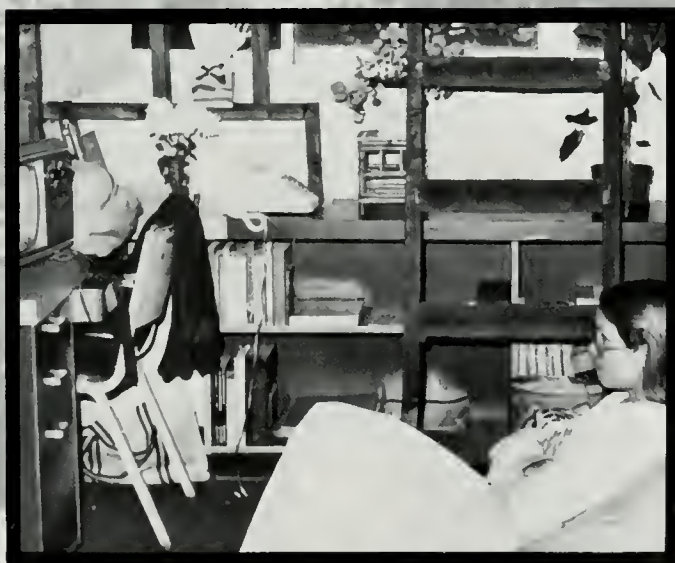

"Diversity" is the best word to describe Hedrick events which ranged from a Lazarium Night at Griffith Park to an authentically decorated Luau featuring tiki torches, volcano props, and pigs flown in from the east coast and cooked in underground pits. In the Fall, Hedrick residents put together an award-winning Homecoming float. Winter Quarter's main event was a Monte Carlo Night that was open to the entire UCLA community. The evening, at which a band of appropriately called "Organized Crime" provided dance music, included casino games as well as plenty of food and entertainment. Proceeds went to Uni Camp. During Spring, floors competed in "Almost Anything Goes," patterned after the TV show.

More intellectual pursuits such as an Awareness Week (e.g. drugs, alcohol) and a "Green Peace" event about saving whales complemented the Hedrick schedule.

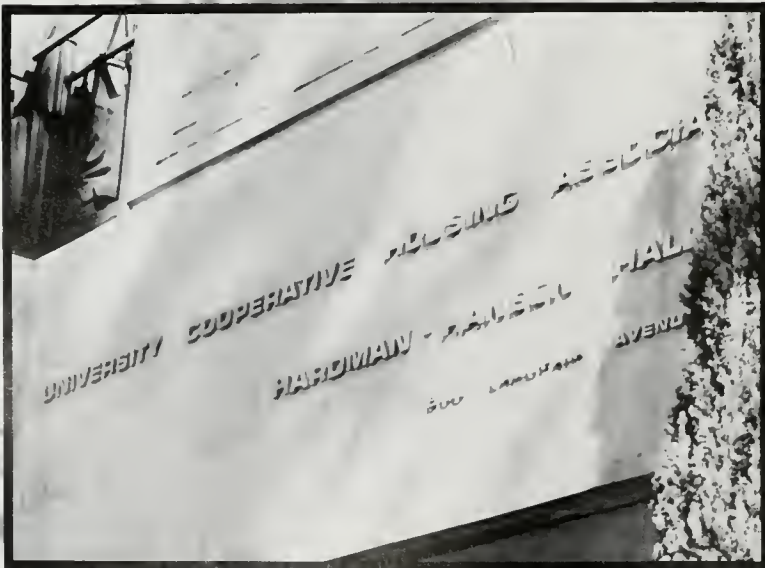

Referring to more than Hedrick's geographical location, Debbie Dunn is quick to remind you: "We're by ourselves . . . we're at the top."

The Highmindedness of Hedrick

University Co-op: “The Alternative”

Beginning in the 1930's during a surge of cooperative movements across the country, the University Co-op has sought to offer an "alternative for students."

All residents work four hours a week on such maintenance activities as gardening and preparing dinner. The entire system is run by a student board of directors and consists of several buildings including the large gray structure on Landfair that was built in 1968 with financial assistance from HUD.

All buildings of the Co-op join together for activities such as the orientation for new residents which featured a special dinner and a film about the Co-op made last summer. Other events included a Halloween party, dances, a champagne brunch and sponsored ski and backpacking trips. Floor activities included beach parties, hikes and barbeques.

Apartment Living: That Personal Touch

AT LAST

Students desiring to exert a substantial degree of independence often choose to live in apartments. Those apartments in the proximity of the UCLA area vary in style and extras offered; however, all seem to share one particular characteristic—a large price tag. If the expense situation were not enough, the student is faced with other problems. First, and most basic, apartments are scarce. Second, many apartment managers do not cotton the idea of having students in their buildings. Third, that apartment with which you fell in love is now being set up as a condominium complex—too bad.

Despite everything, students do seem to find places to live, and soon the book shelves are up and the aroma of macaroni and cheese and Hamburger Helper permeates the kitchens.

While some apartments include some fancy extras like saunas and recreation facilities, others feature such classy luxuries as a refrigerator or closet space. What they all hold in common is the assiduity and zeal of the UCLA student.

It's Chic to be Greek

With record rushes for fraternities and sororities, the Greeks continued to play a vital role in campus activities. In addition to their own elaborate parties and fundraisers, the Greek groups took active parts in University events such as Homecoming, with festive floats and spirited marching units, and Mardi Gras, with creatively decorated entertainment, game and food booths. Then, of course, there were always those rowdy bus loads of singing fraternities and sororities on route to football games.

This year's Greek Week was designed to elicit participation from the entire UCLA community. The response was great for the University Sing, traditional College Bowl Tournament and philanthropic Dance Marathon, among other activities.

In planning their individual fundraisers and philanthropies, the Greeks refused to be bound by the ordinary. Originating in the row's houses were large-scale projects including one centered about a toga party and olympics, a 48-hour softball marathon, and a toilet bowl derby, encompassing a race of dorm and Greek constructed 4-wheel carts suggesting bathroom facilities.

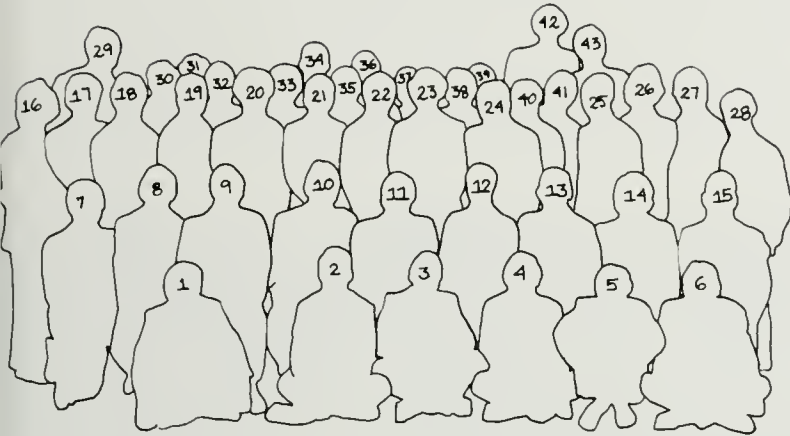

Partying is an undisputably Greek tradition. And the Greeks do not limit themselves to their annual Halloween parties, formals, and luaus. The circus, childhood, punk rock, spies, casinos, and animal dress-up themes were featured at some of the many parties and exchanges that filled the social calendars.

Mention must be given to that Greek zest for spontaneous fun. Fraternity and sorority members will never forget those extemporaneous parties, serenades, champagne and kalua raids, midnight trips to the beach, announcements of pinnings, and Tommy's runs. One of this year's crazes was the painting of Greek letters on the streets of the rows, the end results often being highly artistic, if the police did not arrive first.
