DEATH-BED SCENES, and PASTORAL CONVERSATIONS.

"It has often occurred to me as something wonderful, that, amongst the vast variety of books which are to be met with, on the important subject of Religion, there should still be wanted a manual for the information and direction of the Minister in his daily intercourse with sick persons and other members of his flock."

"Having been in the habit then, for a very long year, of remarking this defect of instruction with regard to practical divinity, and the whole business of a Parish Priest, and having myself, meanwhile, been thrown perpetually into the most interesting and awful scenes with my own parishioners, I determined at length to take up my pen, and to commit to paper whatever having passed under my personal observation, might be most likely to be useful to others of the same profession."

"I had no thought originally of doing more than assist my younger brethren of the clerical order, who might be appointed to the management of large parishes, without time or opportunities to prepare themselves in an adequate manner, for so difficult and ingenuous an undertaking. But, in proceeding with my work, I began to flatter myself with the notion, that it may possibly both amuse and instruct every description of Readers. Many persons may be tempted, upon the recommendation of the Clergy, to peruse the book; and may find unexpectedly their fancy pleased, their knowledge increased, and their hearts touched and improved."—Preface.

The above Work has recently been included in the list of publications recommended by the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge.

John Murray, Albemarle-street.

Works by Lady Morgan.

Second Edition. In 2 vols. post 8vo.

THE BOOK OF THE BOUDOIR.

"After a long silence, Lady Morgan has once more come before the public, not as a romancer or an historian, but, with The Book of the Boudoir, a little work filled with the spirit, and calculated for the meridian of that delightful temple of woman's fascination and unresisted supremacy. It is discursive, like her ladyship's imagination. Original anecdotes, piquant observations, souvenirs du passé, sentiment, sallies of wit, thoughtfulness, levity, gloom, and joy—all topics, all countries, and almost all passions, are made to contribute a leaf, sometimes a flower, to the wreath she has woven."—Courier.

Also by the same popular Author, new editions of 2. THE O'BRIENS and the O'FLAHERIYS, an Irish Tale, 4 vols.

"A work which abounds in all the numerous characteristics of Lady Morgan's eminent talents and genius."—Morning Chronicle.

Works by the Author of Brambletye House.
Second Edition. In 3 vols. post 8vo.

THE NEW FOREST. A Novel.

By the Author of "Brambletye House," "Rejected Addresses," &c.

"Mr. Smith, who has so distinguished himself by the Historical Romance, here comes to our own times, and draws his amusing and able pictures from life as it exists in the every-day world."—Morning Chronicle.

Also by the same popular Author, new Editions of
2. ZILLAH, A Tale of the Holy City, 3 vols.
"The attractions of this work are uncommon and manifold."—Athenaeum.

3. THE TOR HILL. New Edition, 3 vols.
4. REUBEN APSLEY. New Edition, 3 vols.
5. BRAMBLETYE HOUSE or CAVALIERS and ROUNDHEADS. New Edition, 3 vols.

"We would by no means rank the Author of 'Brambletye House' among imitators. He has too much genius, too much boldness, too much originality, to be put among such a class. He is rather to be regarded as an intrepid, and not an unsuccessful competitor, who has had the courage to face the mighty Champion of the North, and challenge him to the contest in his own field, and with his own favoured weapons. Like our great Scottish Novelists, too, he has shown wonderful versatility of talent, and the grave, the comic, the humble and the sublime—what excites pleasure, and what overwhelms with terror and awe, seem equally natural to him."—Edinburgh Magazine.

ANSWORTH'S LATIN DICTIONARY.

ARY, in one vol. imperial 8vo. price £1 11s. 6d. Stereotyped without abridgment from the original folio Edition of 1752, with numerous additions, emendations, and improvements. By the Rev. B. W. Beaton, M.A. Fellow of Pembroke College, Cambridge. Revised and corrected by William Ellis, Esq. M.A. of King's College, Aberdeen.

JOHNSON'S DICTIONARY, complete in one volume, price £2. 2s. in cloth.

A DICTIONARY of the ENGLISH LANGUAGE, in which the words are deduced from their originals, and illustrated in their different significations by examples from the best writers; to which are prefixed, a History of the Language, and an English Grammar. By Samuel Johnson, LL.D. Stereotyped verbatim from the last Edition corrected by the Doctor.

"This Edition of Johnson's Dictionary, stereotyped verbatim from the last folio Edition, corrected by the Doctor, is eminently deserving of notice, for its accuracy, the beauty of its typography, and the character of its arrangements."—Literary Gazette.

"The present volume is printed in three columns, in a clear type, in 1,369 pages, from the last folio revised Edition of the author. Scholars will prefer the present Edition of Johnson to Todd's; the latter is too cumbersome and expensive; and Johnson's own definitions are always more desirable than those which may originate with Editors. Johnson's will always be the Dictionary of the Literary man; and on this account it is, with the great advantage of cheapness, that the Edition recommends itself; and must ultimately obtain, as we believe, no doubt it will, extensive patronage—for superior usefulness is, after all, the best of recommendations."—New Monthly Magazine.

HENRY'S BIBLE, complete. In three handsome volumes, imperial 8vo. price £3 15s. in cloth. An Exposition of the Old and New Testament. By Matthew Henry, V.D.M. To which is prefixed the Memoirs of the Life, Character, and Writings of the Author, by J. B. Williams, Esq. F.S.A.

In presenting this Edition of the celebrated and invaluable Commentary of Matthew Henry to the public, the Publisher has the satisfaction to state, that it will be found to be not only the most correct Edition ever published, but also the most beautiful specimen of Stereotype Printing; the whole being executed by Messrs. Childs, of Bungay. It is also proper to remark, that this is the only Edition which contains the copious and valuable Life of the Author, by Mr. Williams, and that it is published at little more than half the price of any other.

In ten volumes, extra boards, beautifully printed on the finest paper, price £7. 10s.

THE ENTIRE WORKS of NATHANIEL LARDNER, D.D. with a Life, by Dr. Kippis.

National Portrait Gallery of Illustrious and Eminent Personages of the Nineteenth Century.

IN calling the attention of the British Public to this undertaking, the Proprietors would chiefly point out its acknowledged value as a Work of Art, its paramount interest as a Gallery of British Portraits, comprising all that is illustrious for Rank, or eminent for Talent, in our own day; its importance to History, as handing down to posterity authentic Likenesses of the distinguished Characters of a period the most brilliant and eventful in the annals of the world.

To be engaged on such a Work is, to the Publishers, a subject of the highest pride and gratification—inasmuch as it affords to every admirer of national greatness, at a very trifling expense, the enviable means of becoming acquainted with the personal appearance of those illustrious Individuals, by whom his native land has been so signally adorned during the Nineteenth Century.

"We have now to introduce to the reader a Work of no less permanent value, than of immediate interest. We may add, that the National Portrait Gallery will be found a very fit and useful appendage to Lodge's splendid Work of a similar nature."—Monthly Mag. Nov. 1829.
