a. CX 53308 dated 18 October 1951.

b. C/N 2, CAS to G-4, subject: Ammo Requirements for FECOM Reserve, dated 20 September 1951.

2. Reference 1-b transmitted NPRJ ammunition requirements based on T/O & E weapons corrected to include all substitution known at that time.

3. Since submission of the original requirement, temporary substitution of 81 mm mortars for 4.2 inch mortars has been made. Ammunition requirements for the substituted mortars were not included in the original requirement.

4. Reference 1-a requests authority to requisition on the ZI ammunition presumably based on requirements submitted by this section by reference 1-b above.

5. Request that ammunition requisitions to the ZI include that additional requirement made necessary by temporary weapon substitutes provided the additional requirement can not be furnished from FEC stocks. Additional requirements for 81 mm mortar ammunition, as listed below, should be provided without deletion of 4.2 inch requirements originally forecasted, since substitution of these weapons was made on a temporary basis only.

6. Further request that G-4 initiate action to adjust as required by future temporary weapons substitution, this section's ammunition allocations. One probable adjustment would be for additional 60 or 81 mm mortar ammunition provided this section's recommendation for temporary substitution of mortars for artillery is approved.

Ammunition Storage for NPRJ

10 DEC 1951

CAS-L G-4

1. 1. In planning for logistic support of NPRJ, it has been assumed that:

a. All ammunition will be provided by the United States.

b. Emergency reserve and resupply requirements will be stored by United States forces as long as U.S. forces remain in Japan.

c. Ammunition storage facilities may be taken over by NPRJ when released by U.S. forces.

d. There is no necessity for NPRJ to establish ammunition storage facilities other than those required at camps for unit storage, until ammunition depots or supply points are released by U.S. forces.

2. Practically all suitable existing facilities for ammunition depots in Japan are now held by U.S. forces. Construction of additional facilities by NPRJ would duplicate existing facilities, and be an unnecessary expense to the Japanese Government.

10 DEC 1951

2. C/N 6 referred 1 (a) above indicates that G-4, GHQ contemplates no further GHQ action in establishing a yearly allocation of ammunition for NPR.

3. Reference 1 (b) indicates that the DA has compute NPR requirements, however, does not indicate what the requirement is or upon what organizations or weapons the requirement is based.

5. Desire you prepare a draft of a suitable letter to the DA setting forth the NPR 1952 ammunitions requirement. Letter should be in sufficient detail to permit GHQ and the DA to reconstruct all computations. In determining requirements, full consideration should be given to permanent and temporary weapon substitutions.

6. Operations Division should be contacted to provide training requirements, including those for schools and demonstration.

Ammunition Requirements

CAS-L xxx THRU: G-3

1. 1. Reference:

a. CX 53308 dated 18 October 1951.

b. C/N 2, CAS to G-4, subject: Ammo Requirements for FECOM Reserve, dated 20 September 1951.

2. Reference 1-b transmitted NPRJ ammunition requirements based on T/O & E weapons corrected to include all substitution known at that time.

3. Since submission of the original requirement, temporary substitution of 81 mm mortars for 4.2 inch mortars has been made. Ammunition requirements for the substituted mortars were not included in the original requirement.

4. Reference 1-a requests authority to requisition on the ZI ammunition presumably based on requirements submitted by this section by reference 1-b above.

5. Request that ammunition requisitions to the ZI include that additional requirement made necessary by temporary weapon substitutes provided the additional requirement can not be furnished from FEC stocks. Additional requirements for 81 mm mortar ammunition, as listed below, should be provided without deletion of 4.2 inch requirements originally forecasted, since substitution of these weapons was made on a temporary basis only.

Code	81 mm Mortar	B/L	45 D/S	1 yr Trng	Total
R4FJ-HB	Shell, HE M43W-PDF M52	12960	116640	1534	131,134

	Shell, TP			8827
	Cartridge Ignition M3			9360

6. Further request that G-4 initiate action to adjust as required by future temporary weapons substitution, this section's ammunition allocations. One probable adjustment would be for additional 60 or 81 mm mortar ammunition provided this section's recommendation for temporary substitution of mortars for artillery is approved.
