United States Personnel Advisory Mission to Japan

7 May 1947

TO: Brigadier General Courtney Whitney, Chief, Government Section, GHQ, SCAP.

FROM: Blaine Hoover, Chairman, United States Personnel Advisory Mission to Japan.

SUBJECT: Application of proposed National Public Servants Law, Section IV, Standard 1, Part 27.

1. The law in this part provides that:

> The positions in the service of Vice-Ministers, Heads and Assistant-Heads of Agencies of government, Heads and Assistant-Heads of Bureaus, Heads and Assistant-Heads of Divisions and other positions of similar organizational level in the service, as determined and identified by the Authority, are hereby declared to be vacant and without incumbents except that, pending the filling of such positions under examination procedures prescribed by this law, persons occupying such positions, on or after May 3, 1947, shall be deemed to be temporary appointees. It shall be the duty of the Authority, within two years after the enactment of this law and as soon after the enactment of this law as the Authority by greatest diligence can so function, to administer examinations for all such positions. These examinations shall be conducted as entrance examinations under this law.

2. Tabulations, subject to some revision on the basis of detailed position analysis, indicate application of the foregoing provision of the law to personnel as follows:

	Shinnin	Rank 1	Rank 2	Rank 3	Shokutaku	Rank not Listed	Total
Vice Ministers	0	10	0	0	0	0	10
Bureau Heads	11	239	73	3	11	6	343
Ass't Bureau Heads	0	19	10	0	0	0	29
Division Heads	0	212	1044	124	1	80	1461
Ass't Division Heads	0	10	1	0	0	0	11
Section Heads	0	73	801	37	0	299	1210	*
Advisors	8	39	13	0	16	116	192	*
Others	4	265	46	18	1	18	352	*
TOTAL	23	867	1988	182	29	519	3608

* Apparently "positions of similar organizational level in the service" and hence subject to provisions of Section IV, Standard 1, Part 27 of the National Public Servants Law, altho not in all cases so designated.

3. The implications of the operation in terms of the rank of officials affected are as follows:

a. There are about 50 Shinnin rank officials in the National Government. About 25 of them are in political positions. Of the remainder, 23 will be subject to early examination.

b. There are about 1800 First Class officials in the National Government. About 50% of them are college professors. Of the 900 remaining, 867 will be subject to early examination.

c. There are about 19,000 Second Class officials in the National Government, of whom 13,546 are postmasters. 1988 of these Second Class officials in high administrative positions will be subject to early examination.

d. Only 182 Third Class officials and 29 Shokutaku will be subject to early examination.

4. The operation is regarded by the Mission as effective in that:

a. It reaches practically 100% of the Shinnin and First Class officials in the administrative areas of the National Government, reducing their controls and prestige. They are the focal point of the bureaucratic infection.

b. Without regard to rank of incumbents, it substitutes the new order for the old at all administrative policy and control levels.

c. At the administrative policy and control levels, it retains incumbents who can demonstrate competence under examination.

d. It tends to stabilize the status of government employees below these levels and gives them new career opportunities and hope on a merit basis.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Mr. Blaine Hoover, Chairman, U.S.Personnel Advisory Mission to Japan.

SUBJECT : Scope of Activity of the United States Personnel Advisory Mission to Japan.

1. With reference to your memorandum, above subject, dated 28 April 1947, you are advised that the mission was expected to "study the entire personnel system of the Japanese Government, its laws, policies, practices and procedures and make recommendations designed to effect improvement therein" and that on 2 December 1946 the Chief of Staff was informed by check sheet that:

a. "Four members of the five-man personnel advisory mission arrived in Tokyo from the United States on 30 November 1946";

b. "The mission is here at the request of the Imperial Japanese Government to advise it on the formulation of plans for a comprehensive survey of its civil service system and personnel practices and to develop recommendations designed to correct deficiencies disclosed by the survey."

2. Furthermore, in anticipation of your arrival, the Japanese Government submitted plans for the establishment of an Administrative Research Bureau under a director with the rank of Minister of State responsible to the Cabinet. This organization was based upon their expectation that the mission would not only survey and recommend on all aspects of civil service and personnel administration, but would also survey and recommend on matters of organization structure and administrative and operating procedures. However, in the discussions preceding the arrival of the mission, the Japanese Government was informed that the mission would concern itself solely with a survey of the present civil service system and personnel practices of the Government at the national level.

3. The authority of the Personnel Advisory Mission to survey and recommend on all aspects of the civil service system and personnel practices of the Imperial Japanese Government has never been subject to question.

Tokyo, Japan.

25 April 1947.

Dear Mr. MacCoy:

Thank you for your fine note of yesterday. Its expressions will be a source of much added inspiration to me in the days ahead. And when the task has been completed will be among those things I shall treasure always.

I was particularly pleased at your reference to the members of the Government Section. There was no finer group, personally and professionally, anywhere at any time. In fact, I have often referred to it as capable of efficiently administering any task under the American flag.

You and your associates on the Personnel Advisory Mission, although in a status independent of this section, have worked from the start in such complete harmony and understanding with its members that all will view your departure with keenest regret. You have spoken our language and sustained the same high ideals of public service, and your loss will leave a void in our common effort which will not be filled.

Your studies of the Japanese Civil Service to determine appropriate reform measures essential to its democratization, under difficult conditions of which we are all fully aware, will be recorded in the history of the occupation as one of the great contributions to the reformation of Japanese institutions and people. In this I know that you and those who with you have so unflinchingly faced and accomplished this monumental task will find lasting satisfaction.

Faithfully yours,

COURTNEY WHITNEY,
Brigadier General, U.S. Army,
Chief, Government Section.

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS
SUPREME COMMANDER FOR THE ALLIED POWERS
UNITED STATES PERSONNEL ADVISORY MISSION TO JAPAN

MEMORANDUM

24 April 1947.

To : Brig. General Courtney Whitney, Chief, Government Section.

This is merely an informal memorandum to voice my appreciation of the opportunity which has been afforded me to serve under your command even for so short a period. From the first day of the arrival of the Mission I was extremely impressed by your sincerity, and as the days have gone on I have learned to admire and respect you for your clarity of vision and your able leadership. I sincerely doubt whether you have even the smallest concept of the immense respect in which you are held by your staff. It gives me, an outsider, a great deal of pleasure to pass on to you the feeling of deep loyalty, strong confidence and appreciation of able leadership that is constantly voiced by your staff members among themselves and to outsiders.

While my contacts with you were relatively few, I should like to be permitted to add my personal word of appreciation for the fine attributes of leadership which your staff has apparently already recognized. Unfortunately, as we go through this world, we find all too few men of whom we can say those things, and I am extremely happy that I was privileged to have the opportunity to know you and work for you.

Needless to say, I am sincerely and deeply impressed by the outstandingly excellent leadership of your chief, General MacArthur, and I don't believe I have ever, either in my military or civilian life, encountered any individual who has elicited so much sincere loyalty and personal affection from all members of his organization, regardless of rank or station in life, as has General MacArthur. From what little I have been able to see of the occupation in Japan during my short stay, I feel that this trust in his leadership is extremely well placed.

Thank you for all of the many courtesies which you have extended to me as a member of the United States Personnel Advisory Mission to Japan, and also kindly extend my personal thanks to your very kind and gracious wife for the uplift which she gave to our spirits when we needed it most.

May I wish you the best of luck in the completion of your work in Japan and voice the hope that some day it will be my privilege to again serve under your guidance.

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS
SUPREME COMMANDER FOR THE ALLIED POWERS
United States Personnel Advisory Mission to Japan

MEMORANDUM

24 April 1947

TO: Mr. Blaine Hoover, Chairman, U.S. Personnel Advisory Mission.

Recalling the fact that Mr. DeAngelis discussed disposition of certain items relative to our report with you just before he left and during such conversation he authorized you to make such changes as you might deem necessary to integrate his part of the report with the entire Mission's report, I feel that it is wise to cover the same point in my case. Since it is necessary that I leave before the actual completion of the work of the Mission and must therefore leave my report in your hands for inclusion in the Mission's final report to General MacArthur, I wish to authorize you to make such changes as you may deem advisable in the items which I have covered to insure their smooth integration with the entire Mission's report.

My formal report carries my personal recommendations on the subject matter covered. I fully recognize your longer and broader experience and therefore I am willing to rely implicitly on your judgment to make any necessary changes that will accomplish a well-rounded composite report of the work and recommendations of this Mission to SCAP. Therefore, you may feel complete liberty to alter or adjust any recommendations which I have made to insure that the recommendations will support statement of standards and the proposed law which the Mission has discussed and agreed upon.

I wish to take this opportunity to commend you for your fine and capable leadership which you have evinced as Chairman of this Mission. I fully recognize the many difficulties with which you have been faced, the personal inconveniences which you have tolerated cheerfully, and the fine example that you set for the rest of us in the objectivity of your approach to this enormous problem. It has never been my privilege to work under the leadership and direction of a finer individual or a man whom I respected more both personally and professionally. The experience of working under your guidance is one which I will long remember and cherish and I leave the duties of this Mission wondering who has learned more, the Japanese or me, because I find that my work with you on this Mission has been in the nature of a post-graduate course in public personnel administration.

I leave without a single fear in my mind of the successful completion of our Mission because I have the fullest confidence in your ability to carry our recommendations to a successful conclusion. My only sorrow is my leaving at a date earlier than the remainder of the Mission drops added burdens on your shoulders when I recognize the heavy load they have already been required to carry.

Best of luck to you and I shall look forward to seeing you in Washington at some date in the future.

Memorandum to note

April 21, 1947

4/22/47
4/22/47

Dear Sir,

I spoke with the Premier Yoshida privately and presented the following views on my own responsibility on April 17. Such being the case, I wish to report the same to you not officially. No person, moreover, knows the situation except my most confident two staff officials, namely, Mr. Shibata and Hirai.

(1) Considering the presupposed development of the politics of political parties under the new Constitution, I believe that the pressing need of the moment is to set a definite line between "politics" and "administration". I have a firm belief in the inevitability, necessity and value of the politics of political parties in Japan, but at the same time, it is my firm belief also that there exists a definite line between politics and administration.

(2) As Japanese bureacracy now confronts with the rapidly developed, but not enough politically trained political parties, all the officials have been feeling uneasy generally, especially in case of the officials of Home Affairs Ministry, they are under deep apprehensions, for they are staffs of the supervising authorities of the administrations of the local public corporations which the waves of political parties have been swelling upon.

(3) In this occasion, it is not from the mere sympathies to them, but from the benefits of the whole nation and the preservation of efficiencies of national activities to make the administrative officials rest at their duties. Provided that the administrative officials are not secured their rightful positions, they will be obliged to get them by their powers of organization. On the occasion, the Premier will find too late if he is anxious about the forces of labor attacks. I believe that, if the officials who ought to fuse into the mechanism of the administration liberate from and even resist the same, the future of the nation will be entertained serious apprehensions.

(4) Moreover, if we observe the situation from another point of view, the distributions of official business are not always definite in Japanese goverment and the pays to the officials are given to the duties of the office, seniority, "family" or "get over the winter". If we fail in the arrangement of the present sundry conditions, the establishment of the future scientific personnel administration will become difficult.

"My opinion is entirely same as you. I was an official of the Foreign Affairs Ministry under the Minister of State, Shidehara and it was agreed among us that, though acknowledging the predominance of the politics of political parties to the administration, we ought to prevent the invasion of the forces of political parties into the Foreign Affairs Ministry to secure the constability of the diplomacy. Under the present situations, I feel keenly that there exists the necessity to set a definite line between the politics and administration and to preserve the bureaucracy in its good means. Only it is my great regret that I have only a scrap of white paper and no actual plan to write therein."

Then I spoke to the Premier the following two paragraphs as the most important actual plans with simple explanation.

1. Establishment of classification-system;

2. Establishment of sole personnel authority;

To these plans replied the Premier as follows.

"As there exists the support of America fortunately, you may carry out your intentions resolutely. If the plans fail, revise at that time. I wish to know your opinions furthermore."

The Premier, moreover, emphasized the preservation of the disciplines of officials. Finally I remarked, "the Minister of State, Saito has been interested in the reform of the mechanism exclusively and has very negative attitude to the reform of the official system." "I will call his attention," said the Premier smiling at my remarks.

Such were the particulars of the interview.

Believe me,

Yours very sincerely,

Doctor Kiyoshi Asai

Dear Mr. Anderson:

Your letter of 1 March 1947 transmitting a translation of the document "How to Reform the Japanese Bureaucracy" by Tadao Adachi arrived here on the 7th of March.

We have read it with interest and believe it will add materially to the store of information we have been collecting concerning Japanese personnel administration. We will add it to our files and take it into consideration in preparing our reports.

Bob Texter indicated to me on our way to the train on February 23rd that he might be able to advise us of the names of various professors in southern Japan who are giving courses in business, public or personnel administration. We will appreciate and find this additional information also helpful if he can make it available to us shortly.

Dr. Oppler reciprocates your regards as do my colleagues and I. Thank you very much for the courtesies extended to us when we were in Kyoto and for your further interest and assistance in our work.

My own assignment in Japan will be ending next week and I must return to Washington though the Mission as a whole will continue here for another two months. If you are ever in Washington, D.C., please look me up.

Very sincerely yours,

United States Personnel Advisory Mission to Japan
Government Section

21 February 1947

TO : Mr. Carlos Marcum, Chief, Public Administration Division.

FROM: Mr. Blaine Hoover, Chairman, Personnel Advisory Mission.

SUBJECT: Important Government Officials Concurrently Holding Private Positions.

Referring to attached memorandum 18 February 1947 from E. Hadley, Governmental Powers Division to the Chief, Government Section on this subject.

1. Although the practice is not standardized, there is general recognition in public personnel administration of the policy that civil service personnel should devote their entire working time and principal attention to the duties of their public position and should not be otherwise engaged in business or professional practice. The general policy is to construct the policy presumption against dual employment and to constitute exception, as applied to non-government time only, by permission of the personnel authority -- or in some cases administrative officials -- such permissions to be most specific in describing the exception, in writing, and inclusive of a terminating date.

2. The Personnel Advisory Mission in setting up standards for the Japanese Civil Service has this problem under consideration.

3. The recommendation that SUGA, Reinosuke be required to sever his positions with private industry may be essentially correct in ~~the~~ substance but is apparently discriminatory with respect to our general policy. Indications are that dual or multiple employment is practiced by innumerable officials and employees of the Japanese Government.

MEMORANDUM TO: THE CHIEF, GOVERNMENT SECTION

SUBJECT : Important Government Officials Concurrently Holding Private Positions

1. In studying the questionnaire of SUGA, Reinosuke concerning his qualifications under the purge for president of the Coal Board attention has been called to the fact that he is concurrently holding the following private positions in addition to his government posts. He is at present:

a. President of Teikoku Kogyo Kaihatsu
b. Adviser Showa Kogyo
c. Chairman of the board of Dowa Kogyo (formerly Fujita Gumi)
d. President of Zenkoku Kozan Kai, a successor organization to the Coal Control Society

2. The appropriateness of his concurrently holding these private positions has been discussed with ESS and ESS is equally convinced of the inadvisability of this practice.

3. Authorization is requested to call into Government Section Mr. Yamada of the CIO and Mr. Suga and inform them in the interest of good government that if Mr. Suga is to continue his government posts he should sever his positions with private industry.

MEMORANDUM:

On Thursday evening, February 6th, the members of the Personnel Advisory Mission had dinner with Prime Minister YOSHIDA at his home. They were accompanied by Mr. Carlos Marcum and Lt. Colonel F. E. Hays. Several Japanese were in attendance; amongst them Mr. SAITO, Takao, Minister of State and President, Administrative Research Bureau; Mr. IRYE, Toshio, Secretary General, Administrative Research Bureau and Director, Bureau of Legislation; Mr. MAYEDA, Katsumi, Director, General Affairs Division, Administrative Research Bureau and Secretary of the Cabinet.

After dinner Mr. Hoover, Chairman of the Personnel Advisory Mission had a conversation with Mr. Yoshida which was closely attended by Mr. Saito and Mr. Mayeda.

Mr. Yoshida gave the opening by stating that the Japanese Government was very much in need of reform; that it had too many employees and that they were not efficient. Mr. Hoover thereupon presented at some length the objectives of Public Personnel Administration and described some of the services and programs through which these objectives are achieved. He stressed overall ~~agencies~~ objectives of administration as the prime objective towards which several personnel services are pointed.

Mr. Mayeda interrupted to voice some sceptism concerning anything not made in Japan. Mr. Hoover directed attention to the fact that a mission is here in order to adjust the principles of efficient administration to Japanese precepts, traditions and ideas as far as they are reconcilable. He indicated that recommendations from the Mission in the future to the Administrative Research Bureau would contemplate the creation of a national personnel authority which would be an invaluable instrumentality in applying principles of personnel administration with due regard for Japanese interpretations. He further indicated that he regarded prompt action and such proposals as desirable stating that it probably constituted the only means which the situation afforded for working the problems out with some regard for Japanese conditions; that prompt action failing on this, more incisive and direct methods less considerate of the Japanese viewpoint would probably assert themselves.

Mr. Yoshida seemed to get the point and to be receptive. Mr. Saito seemed to get part of it. We happen to know that he agrees with the proposition that the government is seriously overstaffed. Mr. Mayeda is inclined to be controversial and gave every evidence of intellectual resistance.

Mr. Hoover further asked Mr. Yoshida whether he was correct in understanding that the Prime Minister desired the ministries to clear their various matters relating to personnel administration through the Administrative Research Bureau to the Personnel Advisory Mission. Mr. Yoshida indicated that such was his desire. This is also the desire of the Mission at the present time.

SUBJECT: Temporary Passes for Certain Japanese Nationals Meeting Frequently with the Mission.

In connection with the work of the PAM Committees 2, 3 and 4 which have been meeting weekly during the past month, action has now been taken to break the committees into sub-committees which will require attendance by certain Japanese practically every day. Meetings will be held both mornings and afternoons.

At present two of the Japanese who come regularly, namely: Mr. Kanazashi and Mr. Kasuya have temporary passes which are issued, I understand, from month to month. All other Japanese meeting with us have to obtain special passes each time they come. Accordingly, we have been requested to obtain temporary passes for the following four, if such is considered desirable:

MAYEDA, Katsu
ASAI, Kiyoshi
YAMASHITA, Okiiye
ISODA, Yoshisuke

This matter is turned over to you for whatever action is appropriate.

MEMORANDUM:

I today discussed with Mr. Marcum Article 73 of the Constitution of Japan and in particular that portion of it which is as follows:

> "The Cabinet, in addition to other administrative functions, shall perform the following functions: . . . . . "Administer the Civil Service, in accordance with standards established by law."

I inquired whether this meant that the Diet was bound by the Constitution to administer faithfully any law dealing with the administration of Civil Service or whether it meant that the Diet was under the Constitution charged with administration of the Civil Service. Mr. Marcum replied that it was the former and added that there were no other significant questions relative to the interpretation of this clause which had arisen and relative to which we should be informed.

SUBJECT: Survey of Personnel Data resident in GHQ/SCAP files.

As requested by memorandum on 17 December 1946, I have made a quick survey to see what material that might be helpful to us concerning the Japanese civil service might already be available in various GHQ/SCAP sections.

This report lists the contacts I have made and the type of data located:

A. Within the Government Section.

1. (Loaned to PAM) File on Central Government Machinery containing:

a. Japanese Bureaucracy and Responsible Government, 18 July 1946, (Memo to Chief, Government Section) from John M. Maki, 6pps, typed - general statement of the problem and steps necessary for reform.

b. Reports on Investigation of Central Government Machinery in Tokyo, 18 July 1946, (Memo for Chief, Government Powers Branch) from John M. Maki, 2 pages, typed - refers to separate reports on and memo of recommendations concerning:

	Report	Recommendations
The Cabinet	23 pages	2 pages
Ministry of Home Affairs	22 pages	3 pages
Ministry of Foreign Affairs	24 pages	2 pages
Ministry of Finance	(no report)	2 pages
Ministry of Commerce and Industry	(no report)	2 pages
Ministry of Education	(no report)	2 pages

2. (Loaned to PAM) Survey of Ministry of Justice, 20 July 1946, by T. L. Blakemore, 16 pages, typed - concerning personnel, functions and operating techniques.

3. (Loaned to PAM) File entitled Basic Documents, contains various memoranda concerning Japanese civil service reform; detailed data on some aspects such as:

a. Detailed Classification of Allowances, Bonuses and other Remunerations.

b. List of Members of the Higher Disciplinary Punishment Commission for Civil Officials.

c. Various Imperial ordinances concerning civil service; also includes record of interviews of Lt. Esman with various Japanese officials and miscellaneous data on ideas for reforms, newspaper and other clippings, etc.

4. Dr. Williams has copies of all the laws passed at the last session of the Diet and said we can ask Capt. Brown for them when we need them. However, there is no over-all index to them, nor is his file complete for laws passed before the last Diet session. (Incidently, Dr. Williams told me on Dec. 20th that he had asked the Japanese Central Liaison Office to prepare a list of references to all current Civil Service laws and ordinances which he planned to turn over to the Personnel Advisory Mission.)

5. In the Government Section Library there are copies of the "Official Gazette", English edition, that provides a daily record of the proceedings of both Houses of the Diet and also of the ordinances, regulations and other administrative issuances of the various Ministries. However, no index to these is available there, nor is an official index published. Mr. Blakemore suggested that pre-war there was published a monthly unbound magazine that indexed all important material in The Kampo (Official Gazette) in addition to giving some source material. This magazine was called "Horeizensho" and may still be available.

6. Mr. Hauge did not think there was much other material that would help us. However, this survey has not covered whatever data Col. Tilton may have concerning local government, nor what Mr. Marcum may have regarding "The Purge".

B. Within the Labor Division of E.S.S.

By arrangement with Mr. Cohen, Chief, Labor Division, I contacted:

(a) Miss M. M. Smith, writer in Research and Reports Branch, (Room M - 107 FOB, Phone 2-5176) who made certain files available from which we made copies of five items (copies already distributed).

(b) Mr. B. Mazo, of the Wages and Working Conditions Branch, (Room 106, FOB, Phone 2-5357). For information received from him see attached report.

(c) 1st Lt. R. L. Deverall, Chief Labor Information and Education Branch, (Room 102, FOB, Phone 2-2497). My contact with him way by phone and he agreed to send me on 27 December 1946 data concerning the number, size, coverage, and other relevant data for unions of Japanese government employees. When it arrives we will make extracts as advisable and distribute it.

C. Within the Civil Information and Education Section.

I contacted Capt. G. K. Crew (WAC), Acting Executive Officer. A copy of my report is attached.

D. Within the Public Finance Branch of the Finance Division of E.S.S.

My contact here was with Mr. Eugene M. Reed, Acting Chief, Mr. A. T. Middleton (Budget - local) and Mr. A. M. McGlauflin (Budget - national). A copy of my report is attached.

E. Within Public Safety Branch of Civil Intelligence Division of G-2 Section.

Through H. S. Eaton, in charge of Police Work (Room 806, TSB Bldg., Phone 2-3078) I met Mr. Byron Engle, Administrator, Police Section No. 2, (8th floor, TSB Bldg., Phone 23-8153) and spent several hours with him. No written material was available but I learned this:

1. As of 1 October 1946 there were approximately 88,000 policemen and higher supervisory officials, and some 9,000 clerical and other workers attached to police work.

2. A short time ago policemen were for the first time included and treated as 3rd class officials.

3. In every prefecture there is a police training school to which all newly appointed police must go. Generally qualifying exams and residence in the prefecture are required for appointment. The written exams are strong on composition and expression and in addition physical and oral exams are given. As high as 90% of the candidates are eliminated by the examinations. Although no formal regulations require selection according to rating, generally the successful candidates are appointed in the order of their ranking in the exam.

4. Within 30 days or so we should contact Mr. Engle again to see if he has further data for us then. Meanwhile, my conclusion is that we need not concern ourselves too much about the police work for considerable attention has been and is being given to it by others whose work should tie into ours at a later date.

F. Within Postal Division of the Civil Communications Section.

Mr. Hare and I met with Mr. T. S. McIntire and Mr. J. B. Tunny (Room 316, Dai Ichi Bldg., Phones 2-5137 and 2-5143, respectively) on 23 December 1946. These men are the Personnel and Training Unit of the Domestic Postal Branch of the Postal Division. They were very cordial and loaned us several files and materials. Copies of the data that may be most valuable to us are being made and will be distributed.

We also met Mr. R. B. Dunbar, Director of the Division and the other 4 or 5 men in the office. Mr. Dunbar indicated that he would be glad to have

Mr. McIntire and Mr. Tunny work in fullest cooperation with us if we needed them for anything.

Among the facts we learned were:

1. That there are 550 ordinary Post Offices (where the postmasters get fixed official salaries) and 13,450 special Post Offices (usually in smaller communities) where the postmaster gets a nominal salary plus discounts on the postal business done. In these cases the buildings and fixtures were usually the private property of the postmaster and the job was passed on from father to son. In the last 60 days a new law or ordinance requires all employees at such special Post Offices to be paid the full salary provided by the government and the postmaster no longer has discretion to pay them whatever he pleases.

2. The principal operating units in the postal service are 10 regional communications bureaus that are responsible for postal, telegraph, telephone and all other communications operations in their respective regions. There are 14 Railway postmasters with 4 of the regional bureaus having 2 each.

SUBJECT: KIYO SUE INUI

Mr. KIYO SUE INUI, speaking on the topic "The Mission of New Japan" won first prize in the Northern Oratorical League contest held in 1906 following his graduation from the University of Michigan.

Having gained wide publicity he went on an extensive lecture tour throughout the United States and Europe under the sponsorship of the Lyceum and Chautauqua Bureaus and the American Peace Society. He represented the local American society at the world conference of the Great Lakes International Society held in London. He studied international relations in Geneva while a member of the Japanese League of Nations Association. As a lecturer on Far Eastern Affairs he served on the faculty staff of the University of Southern California and of Occidental College for six years. He obtained his doctorate in Japan.

During the 20's and 30's he worked with the Japanese Government officials at various conferences as a special language advisor. From 1930-38 he was attached to the Japanese Embassy in China in the same capacity.

Though an ardent internationalist in the past, Dr. INUI seemed to have taken a passive role during this critical period for "I was in no way connected with the policy-making clique." Though he personally opposed the aggression he merely rationalized, saying, "Yes, Japan is doing something wrong, but she is doing exactly what other Western countries have done." He claims that he saw the situation from an "objective, scientific and historical point of view of international politics and relations."

Dr. KIYO SUE INUI is the same 'KIYOSHI INOUYE' mentioned in the article "Eighteen Words That Bagged Japan" appearing in the November 1945 Reader's Digest. He was with the Foreign Office during the war and made this broadcast voluntarily.

He returned from the United States in 1940 and is presently employed in the Central Liaison Office as Chief of the Translation Section. He is a member of the Japan Democratization Association (Nippon Kei Min Kai) which is patterned after the Lyceum Bureau in the United States. His association is sponsoring lectures and visual education with American films borrowed from SCAP.

He was in no way thinking of the "Greater East Asia Co-prosperity Sphere" when he referred to Japan as the 'Savior of the East' in his 1906 oration, and neither did he dream that the Japanese militarists would provide the same reasons in justifying Japan's aggression. He believes that Japan was on the right path up to 1915, but made her initial mistake when she presented the 21 Demands to China.

Dr. INUI does not seem to have had a keenly critical attitude towards the aggression in which his country was engaged. Being very idealistic he continued to hope for a turn of events which would justify his dreams for Japan. In fact he claims to have been at the time unaware of many of the evils which the past year's publicity has brought to his attention.

It could be said that while he held his idealistic views on Japan's mission for a lifetime, he lacked the practical insight which could have made him a leader of a peaceful, cultural Asiatic policy in opposition to the militaristic course which his nation actually followed; and that he even remained blind to the fact that his ideals were cleverly used as a justification for the aggressive policies which Japan's leaders adopted.

He now believes that the best way in democratizing Japan is through education. He does not oppose strikes and popular demonstrations, but he believes that people's demands can be achieved "through legal channels." Although he does not favor "mob-ocracy" he feels that it is one form of freedom of speech and assembly.

Mr. Asa M. McCain, Acting Chief
Field Section Personnel Classification Division
United States Civil Service Commission
Washington 25, D.C.

Dear Mac:

As you predicted the absence of the top drawer of my desk is proving something of a handicap. Therefore, I would appreciate it greatly if you would obtain and send to us as soon as possible copies of

1. Congressional Hearings on the Federal Employees Pay Act of 1945.

2. Congressional Hearings on Federal Employees Pay Act of 1946.

3. The four volumes of the Federal Register for September 11, 1946 (I think this is the correct date) describing the functions of all Federal agencies.

4. The latest Monthly Statistical Summary prepared by John Mitchell showing the distribution of Federal employees by department and agencies; and

5. A copy of the speech made by President Truman at a special meeting of the Cabinet and heads of agencies sometime last summer. The brief speech related to the new Civil Service rules which were about to be promulgated at that time.

Please send this stuff by airmail and if the Commission can't foot the bill I will fix it up upon my return.

We have been pretty busy since arriving here; most of our time being spent in orientation. Actually we can't say we have started to do much work on the main problem. The more we hear of the Japanese Civil Service the more difficult the job appears to be.

I started a personal letter to you and the folks in the section some time back but it is still in the mill but one of these days I will complete it and tell you a little bit more of my personal doings.

Best wishes to yourself and all of the folks in the section.

Sincerely,

ROBERT S. HARE, Chief

18 December 1946

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen,

It is a great pleasure for me to be able to welcome you at this little function, which I have held to-night in order to make our personal acquaintance closer and to have an opportunity of a pleasant chat with you, and I thank you for your ready attendance, in spite of the heavy pressure of work confronting you so soon after your arrival in this country.

Since this party is intended to be a friendly gathering, it is not my wish to pester you with a long and stereotyped speech: I would just ask you to permit me to say a few words of friendly welcome as our new friends.

First of all, I wish to offer my very hearty congratulations for the safe arrival of the Chairman and members of the Personnel Advisory Mission, who came from the far-off land to give us the benefit of their expert knowledge and broad experience in all matters connected with the Civil Service and personnel administration. I have learnt that this is your first visit to Japan, and, in your new environment, you must doubtless be meeting with no small amount of inconvenience and embarrassment, but I sincerely hope that your stay in this country will be as pleasant and enjoyable as the existing conditions permit.

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen. In the postwar Japan, as you may have already observed, things of all kinds are pitifully short, and I am afraid there is not much to offer you by way of enjoyments. To-night's party is no exception to this general rule, but I do hope that you will kindly appreciate our thoughts behind it, discard ceremony, and enjoy yourselves thoroughly.

I now ask all those present here to raise their glasses and drink to the health of the Chairman and members of the Personnel Advisory Mission and our other guests.

Talk by Mr. Saito.

a. To present for our reference a copy of the draft plan for establishing what is to be called the Advisory Committee for the Improvement of Treatment of Public Service Personnel. A copy of this plan has been submitted to Labor Division, ESS (Mr. MAZO). It is being investigated there at the present and an opinion is expected to be forthcoming about the first of next week, 9-11 December 1946. A copy of the plan has been submitted to the Cabinet and persumably is being approved today. The matter has also been presented to the Administrative Research Bureau; this agency will consult us on the matter in the near future regarding Government Section opinions.

b. To present us with a copy of a Memorandum to ESS, which is a proposal for a Budget Increase for a Year-End Grant to Government employees. This matter they say is not of direct concern to Government Section, but is submitted for information, as it is allied to plan in a, above.

They were told that we would accept the papers, but that the matter would be discussed only through the Administrative Research Bureau.

b. To 1c,--They were told again that the Research Bureau was the agency through which the Personnel Advisory Mission dealt with the Japanese Government and branches thereof and that any information regarding the Mission would go through and be obtained from the Research Bureau.

1. Reference above check note, it is impossible to determine in advance the source from which the salary of the committee will be derived.

a. The usual case is for the War Department to enter into an agreement with each individual concerned.

b. In some cases they are given a CAF rating and are paid for from Theater funds; in this particular case it would be from P-411 - Government and Relief in Occupied Areas.

c. In other cases, they are paid from their parent department and are granted an additional per diem.

d. It will not be possible to determine the source of salary until the contracts are examined.

2. The entire Theater is short clerical and administrative personnel. However, this situation will be somewhat alleviated after 10 October 1946. C.P.S. has been put on notice as to your needs.
