COMMERCIAL.

OFFICE OF THE BEE,
FRIDAY EVENING, October 16, 1857.

The past week has been one of great depression in the business of our city, a scarcity of money and general want of confidence, coupled with the suspension of three of our leading banks and one or two commercial houses, having brought the market for most articles nearly to a stand. In fact the state of affairs has amounted to a panic. The consignees to Cotton have had small, although prices have been further reduced to the extent of about ⅛@⅛c ⅌ ℔. In Tobacco nothing has been done, and but little to Western Produce of any description. Freights are without any material alteration. Exchange continues greatly depressed, and, indeed, almost impossible to negotiate at any rates.

We this morning published the Vanderbilt's advices, embracing sales from Liverpool to the 3d inst. They report the Cotton market quiet, and prices generally easier, with a decline of ⅛d. on inferior grades. The sales of the week are stated at only 27,000 bales, with a stock in port of 326,000 bales, of which 196,000 were American. Fair Orleans was quoted at 9¼d., and Middling Orleans at 9 3-16d ⅌ ℔. Consols closed at 90½.

COTTON.—Arrived since the 9th instant, 37,328 bales. Cleared on the same time, 8,484 bales for Liverpool, 6,123 for Havre, 2,149 for Antwerp, 500 for Vera Cruz, and 18 bales for New York; together, 17,424 bales, making an addition to stock of 19,904 bales, and leaving on hand, including all on shipboard and in the presses and pickeries not cleared, a stock of 113,326 bales.

The market opened on Saturday with not few buyers in attendance, and although factors were willing to accept still lower prices, the sales were confined to about 2,000 bales, the closing rate being 11c for Middling. On Monday and Tuesday matters did not improve to buyers, with sales of 4,000 bales, on a basis of about 10c for middling, and on Tuesday night the holders were willing to have sold at still lower rates. Yesterday Middling ranging at 9⅞@10c. Wednesday night day of a somewhat financial gloom, a run of the banks having failed and still lower rates. Sales of some of them, and barely 1,000 bales changed hands during the day, at very irregular and still lower prices. Yesterday again the market was very dull, and the sales were confined to 1,500 bales, at 9¾@9⅞c for middling to strict middling, but to day some 2,000 bales were sold, making a total for the week of 14,500 bales. The market closes at a range of about 9¾@9⅞c ⅌ ℔. for middling to strict middling.
