Laborers are, at present, absorbed in the special construction or the personal contract job, and the construction of simple residences is very difficult, but it is undertaken by the Kochi-ken Public Works Cooperation Society (Kochi-Ken Doken Kyoryoku-Kai) and the work is now under way.

7. Finance.

As for the simple residences, they are to be constructed by the Residence Corporation and Kochi City, and are, on completion, to be transferred or lent to the citizens. The funds for construction will be accommodated partly by the Residence Corporation, and after the construction completed, the residences will be lent or sold to the applicants. MONTHLY RATIONING & PRICE CONTROL
INFORMATION REPORT

(1) City Kochi, Kochi Prefecture (2) Period Covered April 1946

1. Black Market Activities:

The conversion of currency in March was only effective for approximately two weeks in decreasing black market activities. By the first of April black market rose and the average arrests per week of people in black market have been higher than any other week.

2. Distribution difficulties:

Fuel was the greatest problem in distribution of rationed items but prefectural authorities report no major difficulties. Outlet facilities are adequate.

3. Native price control and rationing enforcement:

During April an average of 43 arrests per week were made in black market alone, indicating greater enforcement activity.

About 30 letters a week were received by the Japanese police and this office during April, they were letters from civilians, signed and unsigned, accusing others of black market activities. About one third of these prove to be true accusations. Letters received by this office are turned over to the police, who investigate and send us detailed reports.

4. Major difficulties due to price ceilings or ration allowances:

Price ceilings for some items such as rice are low, making farmers reluctant to sell. Other items which are locally plentiful at present such as fresh fish and vegetables have high prices so that consumers complain about having to purchase their full quota with money scarce. A continued downward trend is noted in prices of vegetables and fish so that they are now only one-third to one-half of authorized ceiling prices. Otherwise there is no general complaint on ration allowances. For some items local determination of ceiling prices is difficult.

5. Official quota of national production:

According to Prefectural authorities on rationing and price control this locality has been receiving its full official quota of national production of most items.

6. Information of local distribution difficulties which might hamper the objectives of our occupation:

None

7. Suggested remedies:

Better dissemination of information on ceiling prices from central government to prefectural officials.
