ENGLAND AND NICARAGUA.

Hitherto we have been loth to believe that either the enlistment question, or the Clayton-Bulwer treaty could by any possibility involve us in a war with Great Britain. Neither of them constitutes an issue of such vital moment, or so indissolubly connected with the material interests of Great Britain, as to justify the inference that rather than yield to the promptings of reason and the demands of justice her Ministry would willingly incur the terrible responsibility of war with the only power on earth which is certain, in such an event, to inflict an irreparable amount of injury upon her commerce, paralyze her manufacturing industry, and subject her to the perils of intestine discord and civil commotion. With a full foreknowledge of all the evil she could make us suffer, we have not been able to persuade ourselves that her rulers were blind and insensible to the far greater danger with which she would be menaced. As long, therefore, as the difficulties between the two countries were confined to the opposite interpretations of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, and the unsettled demand for satisfaction for the violation by British agents of our neutrality laws, our steady conviction that a rupture was next to impossible remained unshaken.

But if there be any truth in the statements that England has intermeddled actively in the conflict now in progress between Costa Rica and Nicaragua; that she has offered two thousand stands of arms to the Costa Ricans to assist them in the subjugation of the Rivas government of Nicaragua, and has even had the audacity to blockade the port of San Juan by a British frigate, a continuance of peaceful relations with America will soon be among the most remote of eventualities. No expression is too forcible to characterize this most impudent interference. It is in itself not merely wanton, unprovoked and insulting, but a flagrant and palpable infraction of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, even as Great Britain herself professes to understand it. For by her own interpretation, though she may continue to occupy Bay Island, Belize and Ruatan, she is prohibited from any attempts at occupation or possession of other portions of Central America, and is bound to abstain from every species of interposition in the affairs of that country. By what shadow of pretext can she seek to justify her taking sides with the wretched despotism of Costa Rica? Whence, save in an arrogant and intolerable assumption of authority, does she derive the privilege of blockading one of the ports of the Republic of Nicaragua? Our government, in its solicitude rigidly to adhere to the terms of the treaty, has refused to recognize the Rivas administration, has prohibited all armed expeditions of Americans to that country, has cautiously and studiously refrained from any act, overt or covert, which jealousy or malice might construe into encouragement or assistance of Walker. Whatever aid the latter may have received from us has been extended in spite of government opposition, by private citizens who have gone to Nicaragua in their individual capacity, and upon their own responsibility. It would almost seem incredible that while our government is observing this treaty with a minute fidelity that has provoked sharp censure, Great Britain coolly violates its entire spirit, as well as its plainest provisions, and has the effrontery to constitute herself a party to the war between Nicaragua and Costa Rica, and to employ her navy in extending aid and comfort to the latter.

This is a policy which cannot be endured by the United States without national disgrace. We would rather fight Great Britain on this theme, than for a thousand enlistment cases. The insolence of such a stretch of power must be rebuked, unless we are tamely disposed to permit Great Britain to play the rôle of an armed mediator in every quarrel that breaks out between the States of Central America; aiming to crush every impulse of freedom; striving to maintain the miserable anarchy which has so long cursed that splendid region; imposing her will on the people of Central America; constituting herself supreme arbitress in their affairs, and ultimately, if unchecked, absorbing Central America, as she has absorbed India. Rather than witness this, we should prefer all the horrors of a war that would be little less than fratricidal.

To form some idea of the hardihood of this British movement, take a single illustration: England is mistress of a large portion of Hindostan. She has recently sequestrated—that is the dainty phrase she uses for annexation—the Kingdom of Oude. Suppose we Americans were to send a fleet to India with ten thousand men, land them at some convenient spot, and march them into Oude to stir up the disaffected natives to rebellion, and assist them in throwing off the British yoke. Would not such an act be justly deemed monstrous? Would not all Europe denounce us as robbers, pirates and usurpers? Yet the conduct of England is even worse than this would be. Our interest in Central America, from its immediate proximity to our shores, is such, that we have not hesitated to make a solemn treaty with Great Britain, binding ourselves with her not to colonize, occupy, or take possession of any part of that country—to let it alone—to leave it uninfluenced by either power, so far as the authority of the government is available for the maintenance of this principle of non-intervention. Yet behold! No sooner does one of these States evince a disposition to establish a stable administration and a liberal form of government: no sooner does it manifest the inevitable influence of Anglo-Saxon liberty, than England, treacherous to her pledges, recreant to her faith, dares to enlist herself on the side of tyranny, proffers arms to those who are endeavoring to crush out freedom in Nicaragua, and sends her navy to enforce this detestable and unjustifiable policy. We say again that the United States will be callous to every sentiment of honor, and deaf to the instincts of self protection, if she allows Great Britain thus to lord it with a high hand over Central America. It becomes us now, if ever,—once and for aye, to settle the question, to determine whether our boasted assertion of the Monroe doctrine is a recognized principle of our polity, or whether we are basely to abandon it, and bow the knee to the world-wide supremacy of the British flag.

REINFORCEMENTS FOR WALKER.

The schooner Minna Schaffer sails from our port to-morrow, Tuesday morning, with two hundred men on board, who go to the aid of Gen. Walker. They are under the command of Col. John A. Jaquess, of the New Orleans National Guards. Twelve families from Council Bluffs (Iowa) likewise accompany the expedition. The men are well provided with clothing, provisions, arms and everything necessary to those who venture into a new country.

Among those who proceed to Nicaragua by the Minna Schaffer is our friend James V. Thomas, who for some time past has been connected with our paper. Mr. Thomas will supply the readers of the Bee with a regular correspondence, and from his vigorous and graphic pen a stirring narrative of the progress of events in Nicaragua may be expected. At a period so momentous in the history and fate of Central America a correspondence such as we have reason to anticipate will be at once highly interesting and intrinsically valuable.

The Minna Schaffer clears for San Juan, but in case that port should be under blockade, she will direct her course to Aspinwall. The Orizaba will sail from New York on the 15th instant, and will probably arrive about the same time with the Minna Schaffer.

Subscriptions of money for Walker's army are being raised in this city with considerable success. Over $5,000 has already been subscribed. Among the contributors we perceive the name of our patriotic fellow-citizen, Col. Slatter, put down for $500. Other gentlemen, such as Messrs. P. Soulé, E. M. Hyams, and others, have likewise subscribed handsome amounts.

Col. P. H. French leaves this city to-day, by the Mobile route, for New York, with the view of attempting to raise means to send to the aid of the gallant Walker and his compatriots.

De Bow's Review.—Our thanks are due the editor for the May number of this sterling publication. The following are the titles of the principal articles: Relations of the New and Old Worlds; The Mississippi River; The Cotton Plant; Senator Toombs on Slavery; William Gilmore Simms; Distinctive Peculiarities of the Negro Race; Kansas Matters; Editorial Miscellany; Commercial, Agricultural and other tables.

FURTHER FROM NICARAGUA.

Capt. Moncosis, of the army of Gen. Walker, arrived in this city yesterday from Key West, having come passenger from San Juan to that point on the steamship Orizaba. Capt. Moncosis reports that Walker's men are in great need of ammunition and provisions, and it is with the view of raising a supply of these munitions that he has returned. Notwithstanding the hardships and deprivations which the soldiers have to undergo, there is the greatest enthusiasm amongst them, and a general confidence that their struggles will soon be brought to a glorious close.

The rumor of the blockade of the port of San Juan Del Norte, by a British frigate, is believed by Capt. M. to be true, and he is therefore of opinion that the next emigrant vessel from the United States will be prevented from landing.

Among the passengers by the Orizaba to New York, was Padre Vigil, archbishop of Nicaragua, who has been appointed Minister to the United States. We had an interview with Col. P. H. French, late Minister to this country, and he is of opinion that the selection is the very best one that could have been made in the Republic.

We perceive that the respectable journals, such as the National Intelligencer and Louisville Journal, notice and correct the gross error of the telegraph by which D. C. Lawry, of this city, was pronounced a defaulter. We expected nothing less from papers of high standing and intelligence. At the same time it is painful to reflect that where one journal refutes, fifty will recklessly circulate the slander.

To be Sold.—The New York Times says: The Crystal Palace is to be sold on the 22d of May, unless the city or some other body chooses to buy it before that time. It is a beautiful building, and it would be a great pity to see it torn down. Still, if nobody wants to use it, we cannot expect it to be kept standing simply as an ornament to Reservoir Square. It is curious that those who are so anxious to get City Halls and Post Offices into out-of-the-way and quiet corners of the town, do not urge its purchase for one or the other of those purposes.

Odd Fellows' Celebration at Cincinnati.—The Cincinnati papers contain glowing accounts of the Odd Fellows' procession and celebration in that city, on Thursday, the 24th ult., in which a number of the Order from Baltimore, Frederick and Washington City participated. There were over 4,000 persons in the procession, and it is said to have been the most imposing pageant ever witnessed in Cincinnati.

The literary exercises took place in Van Amburgh's Circus, where the Rev. J. D. Williamson delivered an oration. Odd Fellowship, he said, has a conservative influence.—When men meet by the sick bed and the grave, with such purposes as Odd Fellows meet, feelings will arise that surmount the prejudices of nations, party and sect; the common bond of holy charity will comprehend them all. So strong is this influence, that if ever evil hands should, in earnest, be employed in dissevering our glorious Union, the Odd Fellows would be found the last to quit the tie that binds this great people into one nation.

The speaker introduced to the meeting the venerable Past Grand Sire Wildey, of Baltimore, the founder of Odd Fellowship in the United States. He was received with animated cheering.

The festivities closed at night with fetes, banquets and balls.

Horrible Occurrence.—Passengers who arrived at St. Paul's, Minnesota, last week, report the murder of an entire family named Julien, who lived at Travers, (a settlement near Lake Travers, one hundred and twenty miles Northwest of St. Paul's.) The family consisted of father, mother and two children, and from the position in which the bodies were found, it is surmised that the father first murdered his family and then shot himself. It is possible, however, that the deed may have been committed by robbers.

Washington, April 27, 1856.

Mr. Gladstone's statement in the British House of Commons that Mr. Dallas had particular instructions for the settlement of the Central American Question was not justified by the facts. The Administration reserves any decision on the arbitration proposition until the enlistment matter shall be settled, consequently no instructions were sent out, and none are contemplated now.

Mr. Dallas writes that the opposition in Parliament were to make a formidable demonstration on the Ministry the week after his last letter, and both parties were preparing for the contest involving the continuance of Lord Palmerston in power. He says the sentiment of enlightened men is growing favorable to the side of the United States in our controversy.

No conference or correspondence had taken place concerning the enlistments, and no notice had been given of intention to answer the demand of our government. This delay is irksome here and may be terminated by a request for an immediate and specific reply. It is said in diplomatic circles that Crampton's recent despatches are rather unacceptable, though he expresses a belief of being sustained.

Russian Imperial Manifesto.

The following is a translation of the imperial manifesto, published at St. Petersburg on the first of April, to announce the signing of the treaty of peace.

The obstinate and sanguinary struggle which, for nearly three years, has subverted Europe, has at last ceased. It was not Russia that commenced it. Even before it broke out, my late august father, of imperishable memory, solemnly declared to his faithful subjects, and to all the foreign powers, that the sole object of his desires and of his efforts had been to protect the rights of our co-religionists in the East, and to put an end to the persecutions to which they were subjected.

A stranger to all interested views, he never expected that his just complaints (reclamations) would have resulted in the scourge of war; and considering its calamities with a deep feeling of sorrow as a Christian, and as the father of the people entrusted by Providence to his care, he did not cease manifesting his inclination in favor of peace. But the negotiations which were opened shortly after his death, on the subject of the conditions of that peace, which was a necessity for us all, remained without success.

The governments which have formed a hostile coalition against us, had not discontinued their armaments; pending the negotiations, they had even increased them; the war had to follow its course, and we continued it with a firm hope in the protection of the Most High and firm confidence in the unshaken devotion of our well beloved subjects. Our expectations were justified. During that period of hard trials, our faithful and brave soldiers, as well as all our people, without distinction of class, proved themselves as, always, worthy of their high calling. Along the whole extent of our empire, from the shores of the Pacific Ocean to the shores of the Baltic and Black seas, one single idea, one single impulse, animated all and made them spare neither life nor fortune in the defense of their country. Laborers, leaving the plow and their fields, eagerly took up arms for our holy cause, rivaling in courage and self-denial, our veteran soldiers. New and striking deeds of renown have marked this last struggle with powerful adversaries.

The enemy has been driven back from the coasts of Siberia, and from those of the White Sea, as well as from the ramparts of Sweaborg; the heroic defense for eleven months of the fortifications of the South side of Sebastopol, erected in the face of, and under the fire of the assailants, will be handed down as a record to the remotest posterity.

In Asia, after the glorious victories of the two preceding campaigns, Kars was compelled to surrender with its numerous garrison, forming the whole army of Anatolia, and the elite of the Turkish troops sent to its relief were compelled to retreat. By the decrees of Providence, a fact was prepared in the meantime, by the impenetrable and wise designs of Providence, a fact was prepared agreeable to the wishes of our well-beloved and august father, to our own, and to those of all Russia, and which realized the objects of the war. The future condition and the privileges of all the Christians in the East are henceforth guaranteed. The Sultan solemnly recognizes them, and, consequent upon this act of justice the Ottoman empire enters into the family of European States.

Russians! Your efforts and your sacrifices have not been in vain. A great work has been accomplished, although by other and unforeseen means, and we may now, with a quiet conscience, put an end to those efforts and to those sacrifices, by restoring to our dear country the inestimable blessings of peace. To hasten the conclusion of the treaty of peace, and to dispel, even to the future, the very idea of ambitious views or projects which might be attributed to us, we have consented to the adoption of certain precautionary measures destined to prevent a collision of our ships of war with those of Turkey in the Black Sea, and to the establishment of a new frontier line in the Southern part of Bessarabia, nearest to the Danube.

The concessions are not great when put in comparison with the charges of a prolonged war, and the advantages promised to us by the tranquility of the empire, the destinies of which it has pleased God to entrust to us. May all these advantages be obtained by our efforts, united to those of all our faithful subjects. May, with the aid of the Almighty, who has always protected Russia, its internal organization be consolidated and perfected; May justice and clemency preside over its tribunals; may the advancement of civilization and of all useful activity spread with renewed force, and may every one enjoy in peace the fruits of honest labor under the protection of laws equally just and watchful for all. Finally—and this is the most important—may the saving doctrine of our holy faith, by enlightening the minds and strengthening the heart, maintain and ameliorate more and more that social morality which is the surest pledge of order and happiness.

Given at St. Petersburg the 19th of March, (31st) 1856, and in the second year of our reign.

ALEXANDER.

In Louisville, on the 24th ult., a fire broke out in the O. K. smokehouse, and destroyed the greater part of the building, with its contents. The loss is estimated at $30,000, of which one-half will be recovered.

Our Washington Correspondence.

Washington, April 27, 1856.

General James Watson Webb has come out with a letter upon the Presidency. He and Greeley appear to be the spokesmen for the Republican party, and take it upon themselves to lay down the objects, purposes and issues of that party. To this I do not of course object, nor being of that party. Gen. Webb is a warm, personal friend of Gov. Seward, as he has reason to be, and does not like to see him ruled out of the category of candidates for nomination for the Presidency, as, he charges, is being attempted by Republican papers. The General quotes the Toledo Blade in proof of this charge, which takes the ground that "the Republican candidate ought to be a man whose original affinities were with the old Democratic party," and which, therefore, considers it "unwise and impolitic to regard Mr. Seward as in the category of candidates."

Gen. Webb, with the feeling of ardent friendship, defends Mr. Seward against the charge of ultraism and unavailability. But in his article he assumes that there are but two parties at the North, the Administration or Democratic party and the anti-Kansas party. It is more amusing than astonishing to observe how entirely oblivious he is of an American party and American candidates, who are anti-Administration as much as the Republicans are. "I am safe in saying," he remarks, "that all differences of opinion in regard to other issues, as well as all personal preferences for individuals, will be rendered subordinate to the one great purpose of defeating the Administration party;" and then, in the very next sentence he says: "As a matter of course, all kinds of schemes and every conceivable intrigue will be started here and elsewhere, to produce results at the Philadelphia Convention favorable to the wishes of those who delight to fish in troubled waters." He charges members of Congress with President-making; meaning his own Republican friends, and alluding to their intrigues to bring about the nomination of this one or that one by the Philadelphia 17th of June Convention.

This is letting the cat out of the bag—telling tales out of school—exposing family broils. The Toledo Blade above quoted, whose editor has been an Abolition Democrat, and to whom was given the binding of the Documents, &c., of the House, evidently has his eye on Gov. Chase, of Ohio, when he says "the candidate ought to be a man whose original affinities were with the old Democratic party."

Gen. Webb says they, the Republicans, will place in nomination a man of mark, and known to the country as worthy to be honored; and not some obscure individual whose very obscurity constitutes his sole claim to nomination.

Now, I happen to know that the individual here pointed at is Judge McLean; but I will venture one of the very best sugar plantations in the Moon against one of equal value in any other planet, that Judge McLean cannot be induced to accept a nomination. Mr. Fillmore being in the field, and it being now known that he will not leave it.

Gen. Webb says: "I am safe in saying that be he who he may, the nominee of that Convention will be certain to receive the undivided vote of all who are opposed to the present Administration." Really this is cool, and withal, has a strong smack of assurance and audacity. The General is too well informed to base this assertion upon ignorance. He knows as well as he knows anything, that this will not be the case. He knows from the ballot-boxes in Rhode Island, Connecticut, and elsewhere, that the Americans largely outnumber the Republicans, wherever the two parties have given a distinct party vote; and yet he attempts to ignore the American party altogether! Well, we shall see what we shall see. Of one thing I can assure you, namely, that Fillmore and Donelson are gaining ground with the people; not very rapidly, nor very slowly, but progressively and surely. Democratic presses and politicians and it utterly impossible to assail either of them, and so they kept silent. The people notice this and it has its influence. But while the Democrats declare that "they find nothing against this man," Mr. Fillmore, the Abolition papers cry out "crucify him! crucify him!"

The Daily Native Citizen, a very spirited paper, at Chicago, Wisconsin, gives us some account of those by whom the people of that city are now, since the late municipal election there, ruled, and tells us by what disgraceful means and foreign votes that election was carried. It gives the following list of those holding office there under the United States, State and city, to wit:

Thos. Hayne, United States District Attorney—was a Van Buren elector in 1848, and a member of the Buffalo Convention of that year.

Philip Conly, United States Collector and Sub-Treasurer.
Charles O'Conner, Public Administrator.
Michael Gleason, County Treasurer.
D. McKay, Prosecuting Attorney.
P. A. Hayne, Clerk Recorder's Court.
Owen McCarty, City Collector.
Jas. M. Donnelly, City Marshal.
Owen Dougherty, Street Commissioner.
Chas. O'Malley, Thos. Pendergast, Patrick Lamb, Michael McGuire, Jas. O'Donoghoe, John Dunlap, Justices of the Peace.
David Walsh, Keeper of the City Bridewell.

"All Irishmen, every mother's son of them!"

"We call this," says the Citizen, "'squatter sovereignty' with a vengeance: Americans! does not your blood boil at such an outrage, such an utter, open and unparalleled disgrace?"

If it does not, there is no "boiling point" to it. But I fear Americans living in that section are a cold-blooded race. We shall see hereafter. MASON ROUGE.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Mr. Sartiges will shortly return to his diplomatic functions in Washington, the rumored change in the French Legation being unfounded.

A despatch received from Erie, dated April 28th, says that a mob yesterday destroyed the Constitutional office in that city, in consequence of that paper advocating the Railroad interests, and that they threatened to damage the property of the Railroad Company.

Mr. Buchanan reached Lancaster on the afternoon of the 26th. He was met at the outskirts of the town by a host of his friends and fellow-citizens, without distinction of party, and escorted to Centre square, where he was formally welcomed home, and spoke in eloquent and feeling terms in reply. The procession was unusually large, and embraced a large number of Philadelphians. After Mr. Buchanan had concluded, J. Murray Rush, of Philadelphia, made an exceedingly neat and befitting speech. Several others followed and the occasion throughout was one of hearty feeling, and in the highest degree complimentary to Mr. Buchanan.

The Marysville and Lexington Railroad, with all its appendages, was sold on the 26th ult., at Lexington, for $560,000. It was bought by Mr. Tyler, agent of the first mortgage bondholders.

The amount of forged land warrants already discovered exceeds 1,000,000 acres.—The investigation is still in progress and additional frauds are daily coming to light.

H. H. Robinson, United States Marshal for the Cincinnati district, who was committed by Judge Burgoyne for contempt of court, in refusing to obey an order to bring up the Gaines slaves, and was subsequently brought before Judge Leavitt, of the United States Court, on a writ of habeas corpus, was, on the 25th ult., discharged by Judge Leavitt.

The ship Empire City arrived at New York on the 26th ult., from Liverpool, and reports that on the 23d, in lat. 42, long. 56, she fell in with the ship Eudocia, of and for St. Johns, N. B., from Liverpool, in a sinking condition, and took off the crew and passengers, some sixty souls in all, bringing them to this port.

In Pennsylvania the Spring elections show a surprising gain for "Sam." The Lewiston Gazette says that the Americans are making gigantic strides in the Key-stone State.

At the Hopewell township meeting, Mercer county, N. J., the whole American ticket was elected by a majority ranging from 80 to 123. The ticket was composed of men exclusively in favor of Millard Fillmore. There is no Republican organization in this township; the fact is, there are not voters enough here of that stripe to form such an organization.

Washington, May 3.—The rumor that Gen. Pierce is about to decline the use of his name as a candidate for the Presidency, published this morning in the Washington Sentinel, the organ of Mr. Buchanan in this city, is without the slightest foundation in truth.

We are authorized to state, says the National Intelligencer, that an arrangement has just been concluded between Mr. Campbell, Postmaster-General, and the British Postmaster-General, the Duke of Argyll, providing for the registration of valuable letters to and from Great Britain. The registration fee, on letters for Great Britain will be five cents, the same as on domestic letters, thus making the rate on a single letter, when registered, twenty-nine cents. The English registration fee is twelve cents. On all registered letters in each country prepayment is required. The arrangement goes into operation on the 1st of May.

Washington, April 27.—The Nebraska contested election case was postponed, to await the return of Mr. Stephens, of Georgia, who will represent the minority of the Committee. The majority, it will be recollected, recently reported against the sitting member, Bird B. Chapman, and in favor of the contestant, Hiram P. Bennett, as a delegate from Nebraska Territory. There is a point involved in this case which may give rise to considerable debate, namely, whether trespassers on Indian lands are entitled to the right of suffrage. The Committee do not deny there were trespassers on those lands, but argues that, "They were inhabitants of the Territory, and they ought, that appears, they were citizens of the United States. Holding this relation to the Government, they were voters, and did not forfeit their rights as voters by the commission of a trespass."

A Singular Discovery of Old Coins.—While some hands were digging out a cellar in Botetourt county, Va., [illegible] they found a quantity of coin, consisting of [illegible] pieces, in the [illegible] about fourteen hundred years. [illegible] larger than a dollar, [illegible] language [illegible] in the vicinity. [illegible]

KANSAS AFFAIRS.

Chicago, May 1.—A despatch from Lawrence, Kansas Territory, states that a large meeting denounced the murder of Sheriff Jones, disclaiming all responsibility in the affair.

Governor Robinson offers a reward of $500 for the apprehension of the assassin.

NEW YORK COTTON MARKET.

New York, May 3.—Cotton has declined ⅛c; sales to-day of 1500 bales. Orleans Middling is quoted at 11c.; Uplands Middling at 10⅞c.

A Swindler.—The following is from the money article of a New York paper:

"A swindle of about $25,000, as far as has yet been ascertained, has just been perpetrated by the head of a commission house in this city which has heretofore been in good repute. The party in question is a deacon in a leading church, and has by his professions of piety done much to gain the confidence of those dealing with him. The swindle was committed by checks which were not provided for. The party left town on Friday last, ostensibly for the purpose of being married in a neighboring city, instead of which he took with him a frail sister as compagnon de voyage, leaving behind him another one in a condition to increase the census shortly. One Bank is a sufferer to the extent of $2,400, and the remainder of the amount is distributed among several victims. A letter has been received from this Don Juan stating that before the letter was received he would be far at sea, but this is supposed to be for the purpose of distracting attention from his real destination, which is believed to be Kansas.

We understand that the Mercantile Bank is the one alluded to in the above paragraph; and that an eminent Wall street banker is "stuck" for about $1,700.

The Express gives the following particulars relative to this swindler:

The person is named Nace, late of the firm of Nace & Renny, and now Nace & Co., tobacco dealers in Front street. This man Nace occupied respectable standing in society in Brooklyn, and was a deacon and leading member of a fashionable church in that city. The lady with whom he eloped, we understand, is a married woman, her husband having left her about a year ago, at one of our principal hotels in Broadway, where she has been well known as—gay and attractive.

The Waltham Forgeries.—Boston, April 26.—The name of the person who disappeared from Waltham, a few days since, after committing numerous forgeries to the amount of $20,000, is Reuben P. Davis, who was principal of the extensive iron foundery in that town.

The persons whose names he forged are residents of this vicinity, except one New York firm, whose signature is used to the extent of $2,000.

Before leaving, Davis borrowed money in sums of $1500 to $500 from his neighbors. His total liabilities are about $150,000. He had filled large contracts for gas works in Rondout and Jersey City.

CITY INTELLIGENCE.

Amusements.—This evening Gabriel Ravel takes his farewell benefit, and for which he offers a splendid bill of entertainment. It is the last night that he will appear in this city, and is also the closing one of the engagement of the Martinetti troupe. No one should lose this last opportunity of witnessing them in their entertaining, pantomimic, and wonderful fantastic feats.

The Gaiety, according to previous announcement, will be re-opened to-night, for a limited period, by the manager, Mr. Crisp, who has just returned from Mobile, where he has been assisting the distinguished and favorite American actress, Miss Matilda Heron, in a successful engagement. Miss Heron is to appear for one night only, in the character of "Marianne," in Knowles's play of The Wife; Mr. Crisp appears as "St. Pierre." The inc petit comedy of Perfection, with Mr. J. B. Browne as "Sir Lawrence Paragon," will be presented. Miss Marion Macarthy will also appear. The bill is an excellent one, and, coupled with the fact that it is the only appearance of so brilliant an actress as Miss Heron, must draw a large attendance.

At 107 St. Charles street, Vannuchi's American museum continues to offer innumerable and wonderful attractions, among which is that Central American monstrosity, the Horned Rooster. The museum is open, and may be seen at all hours of the day.

May Party.—We take occasion, though late, of returning our thanks for the receipt of a ticket to the May Party given on the evening of the 2d inst., in compliment to the young ladies of the Girls' High School, First District. We were unable to attend soon enough to write out a notice for our paper of Saturday before the hour for going to press, and must content ourselves, in the present crowded state of our columns, with this acknowledgment and the expression of our thanks. From what we saw ourselves, and learned from others, it must have been a grand affair in all its appointments—the assembly itself a conclave of wit, beauty, grace and chivalry, to whom, appropriately,

"The hours of eve
Brought sweet reprieve
From toil, and the cares o'er which they were genially closing."

First District Court—Hon. J. B. Robertson.—The following sentences were passed in this Court last week:

Abell, f. m. c., larceny, one year's hard labor in the Penitentiary.

Patrick McDonald, larceny, two years in the House of Refuge.

William Galloway, larceny, two months in the parish prison.

G. Camelick, larceny, six months in the parish prison.

William Seltinger, assault, six months in the parish prison.

Marcus Talbot and John Ring, entering dwelling houses in the day time with intent to steal, five years in House of Refuge.

United States Circuit Court.—The case of ex-Postmaster Kendall, of this city, on the charge of embezzling the contents of a valuable letter, will be tried to-day and to-morrow.

Committed.—Constant Hearing, who, some time since, for the purpose of getting himself accepted as security for the release of a friend in difficulty, swore as to being the owner of certain unencumbered property, a house and lot situated on the Bayou Road, was arrested on Saturday and brought before Recorder Bright on a charge of perjury. There being no record of his title in the Conveyance office, Constant was unable to establish the ownership to which he had sworn, and was consequently committed for trial to the First District Court, without permission to give bail.

Joseph B. Lee, whose arrest for forgery we have noticed, was also committed by Recorder Bright for trial before the First District Court, under bonds of $1000. The forgery was for $40, on the exhibition it appeared that the principal witness had left the State to avoid, it is thought, the necessity of giving his testimony.

George Kirkham for using brass knuckles on a fellow confrère, was sent before the First District Court to answer the charge.

Lyman A. Cole, a dangerous and adventurous thief, on the charge of having stolen, on the 9th of March last, from the residence of Mr. Salomon, on Common street, a clock worth $100, was committed to prison, without bail, to await examination.

Daniel Gill was examined on a charge of brick bathing Michael Lyden on the head, and sent before the First District Court for trial, the offense being satisfactorily proved. Bail $1000. The wounds of Lyden were so severe as to cause his confinement at the Charity Hospital several days.

Peter F. Maloy was also examined and sent before the First District Court, he having committed the assault and battery upon his wife.

William H. James, the Chief of Police, was called up before Recorder Bright on Saturday last, for a contempt of court committed the day previous, in desiring the Recorder's office after being declared under arrest, and for using language which the Recorder thought was personally disrespectful. Under ordinary circumstances, and considering the thoughtlessness with which men often use offensive language, Recorder Bright said he might accept a good apology and let the matter rest; but as Mr. James was an officer of the law itself, and his offense of a serious cast, he felt bound to reiterate the order for his imprisonment for twenty-four hours.

Mr. James, on enquiring whether he might go to prison in charge of Mr. Morrill, Lieutenant of the District, was answered by the Recorder:—That on the previous day he had found it necessary to get assistance from the Second Justice's Court for enforcing his official order, because the officers of his own Court had refused to perform their duty; he should then apply to the officer who served previously, Constable Phillips, to execute his official orders. Upon this, Mr. James went out with the Constable to the Parish Prison.

"King William—a king quite tenacious of his sovereignty—owing to the dangerous quality of his royal arms and accoutrements, was sent before the First District Court for trial, where the jury of his country men will likely instruct him to make a different display of his royalty in future.

Tom Reddin and Patrick Coyle were sent to prison by Recorder Bright, in default of bonds, for having attacked and severely beaten the Recorder's clerk, Mr. F. Bauer, who had arrested Reddin for fighting and disturbing the peace. Coyle, in addition to this, is charged with attempting to create a riot, and with having advised Reddin to kill Bauer.

Arrested.—C. Docteur, a pawnbroker, has been arrested on a charge of receiving stolen property, a valuable watch, which had been stolen from John W. McDonald, in February last, being found in his possession.

Michael Laddy has been arrested on a charge, by Joseph Rigsby, with assault and battery, with intent to kill, on board the ship Rappahannock, lying in the Fourth District.

Fire.—About 11 o'clock on Saturday night, the clothing store of Bernard Cohen, on Front street, near the small house in which the "Young America" (Steam fire-engine) is kept, caught fire. The alarm was promptly given, and the fire, we believe, extinguished before it had communicated to the other buildings. The Young America was drawn out of its berth, and used on the occasion. We learn that Mr. Cohen's loss is about $10,000, which is covered in part by an insurance of $4,000.

Burglary.—Between 9 and 10 o'clock on Saturday night, the jewelry store occupied by Elias Kirsch, and situated on Levee street, between Elysian Fields and Esplanade streets, was entered with false keys, and two gold watches, some silver watches, earrings, &c., and about $300 in cash stolen.

Boy Found Drowned.—The body of a boy of respectable appearance, and about 14 years of age, was picked up yesterday in the river, at post No. 23, Fourth District. He had on a black alpaca coat and black neck tie. His name is unknown. An inquest was held on the body at the Coroner's office yesterday.

A Fall.—Ann Cord, born in Ireland, fell yesterday from the first story of a house on Craps street, and was conveyed to the Charity Hospital badly hurt.

Clothing, White Shirts, Leghorn Hats, &c.—We call the attention of the trade to the sale of Clothing, White Shirts, Leghorn Hats, &c., which will take place This Day, at 10 o'clock, A. M., at Meeting & Leeds, 37 Chartres street. Terms at sale.

A PERFUMED BREATH.—What lady or gentleman would remain under the curse of a disagreeable breath when by using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers" as a dentifrice would not only render it sweet but leave the teeth white as alabaster? Many persons do not know their breath is bad, and the subject is so delicate their friends will never mention it. Pour a single drop of the "Balm" on your tooth-brush, and wash the teeth night and morning.—A fifty cent bottle will last a year.

A BEAUTIFUL COMPLEXION may easily be acquired by using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers." It will remove tan, pimples, and freckles from the skin, leaving it of a soft and roseate hue. Wet a towel, pour on two or three drops, and wash the face night and morning.

SHAVING MADE EASY.—Wet your shaving-brush in either warm or cold water, pour on two or three drops of "Balm of a Thousand Flowers," rub the beard well and it will make a beautiful soft lather, much facilitating the operation of shaving. Price only fifty cents. For sale by Fetridge & Co., proprietors, in New York.

For sale in New Orleans by J. WRIGHT & CO., f11 3mdaw 1y 138 and 151 Chartres street.

Candor compels us, when considering the wants of the afflicted, to recommend that which is best known and tried, and to recommend Dr. J. Hostetter's celebrated Stomach Bitters, would only be adding to what has already been heralded far and wide, not only by a few isolated certificates, but by the people of the land, endorsed by the physicians and the press, that Hostetter's Bitters have no equal in restoring and imparting health to enfeebled men. Ladies and children find this medicine invaluable in many of their ills of debility, to which they are subject, especially during the summer season; in such cases it should be taken in small quantities before meals. For sale by druggists and dealers generally, everywhere. Sold, wholesale, by E. J. HART & CO., 79 Tchoupitoulas street. CADY & HOLMES, ap30—6t d&c 7 Gravier street

Office of the Mexican Consul-General in the United States. The following important notice from the Minister of Finance of the Mexican Republic, has been received at this Consulate, to be communicated to merchants: Persons doing business with the Mexican Republic are informed that General Customhouse Regulations having been published on the 31st of January last, all those doing business with the ports or the interior of the Republic must obey the same; that the agents of the government have been ordered to seize, on the highways and in the various points in the interior, all goods secretly imported through the frontiers, or on which the duty imposed by said General Customhouse Regulations shall not have been paid, and also the vehicles and animals conveying said goods. A fine amounting to double the value of the goods seized shall moreover be paid for each contravention, if the goods are prohibited. Merchants are also informed that the General Government is not responsible for any contract, anticipation of rights, franchise, reduction or concession which may be made by the interior governors of the Republic, unless they are specially authorized by the General Government to do so, and authority to be signed by the Secretary of State, otherwise they are not empowered to grant the same. It is further declared that, agreeably to the above notice, no claims of foreign merchants interested in such transactions as above mentioned will be admitted, as according to treaties with foreign nations, they are obliged to obey Mexican laws and regulations. By order of his Excellency the President of Mexico, in Mexico, April 15th, 1856. F. REBAUD, Mexican Consul General. New Orleans, April 27th, 1856. ap28 1m taw

MADAME ALLUARD, FRENCH CLAIRVOYANT—SKILLFUL IN THE Treatment of all kinds of Diseases—gives Consultation at her residence, No. 221 BOURBON STREET, between Ursulines and Hospital streets, and also visits patients at their houses, when requested. Madame ALLUARD, who has long been directed by Dr. Pouparé, has already performed many extraordinary cures in New Orleans. Her clairvoyance, almost always infallible, enables her to propose to the owners of slaves who are afflicted with nervous diseases, however complicated they may be, or even if considered incurable by ordinary means, an advantage which they will find with difficulty elsewhere. When owners can no longer obtain any service from such slaves, Madame Alluard proposes to buy them upon reasonable terms. Please apply for this purpose at her office of consultation, at the above address. Monsieur ALLUARD, who prays that this lady may not be confounded with any of the numerous other clairvoyants, proposes to make her truly extraordinary faculties known and appreciated by experiments at exhibitions at the price above mentioned, to the numbers who wish to establish beyond question. She [illegible] the accurate and much contested phenomena of VISION, notwithstanding the most complete occlusion of the eyes, will be rendered evident and incontestable. Madame Alluard may be consulted EVERY DAY Sundays excepted. ap25 1y 3taw
