DEFENDANT DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA’S REPLY TO PLAINTIFFS’
OPPOSITION TO THE DEFENDANT’S MOTION TO COMPEL

Defendant District of Columbia’s motion to compel should be granted because Plaintiffs’ have not answered the District’s first set of interrogatories. Plaintiff Squires claims that this Court should deny the District’s motion to compel as moot because he has provided responses to the District’s interrogatories. Plaintiff Squires has only responded to Defendant Robert Acheson’s first set of interrogatories although Acheson is no longer a party to this action. The other named Plaintiffs have not provided answered to the District’s first set of interrogatories and therefore, the District’s Motion to Compel is not moot.

On March 9, 2007, Plaintiff Randy Squires faxed to the District his answers to twenty-seven (27) interrogatories. See Exhibit 1. However, the District first set of interrogatories to each Plaintiff contained only fifteen (15) interrogatories. See Exhibit 2. Plaintiff Squires’ answers to interrogatories numbers 8-15 are inconsistent with the set of interrogatories served on Plaintiff by the District. Thus, Plaintiff Squires has not answered the District’s first set of interrogatories as required by Fed. R. Civ. Pro. 33.

Additionally, Plaintiffs Gregory Jackson, Wai Tat Chung, Shakir Muslim, Robert Bush, Louie White and Joseph Gatling have not answered the District first set of interrogatories which was served on them on July 11, 2006. Exhibit 2.

CONCLUSION

For the reasons set forth above and in the District's Motion to Compel, the motion should be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

LINDA SINGER
Acting Attorney General for the District of Columbia
