Foreign Liaison Translation No 431, 3 June 1949, which is quoted verbatim below, appeared originally in the Soviet daily newspaper "Izvestia", Moscow, 4 October 1948.

"The capital of Yakutsk Republic is linked by bus transportation with many districts. For example, formerly the route from Amga (60°54'N, 131°58'E) to Yakutsk took ten days. Now, the residents of Amga can travel to Yakutsk via the new highway in one day.

"Regularly scheduled bus lines have been established, linking the capital of Yakutsk Republic with the agricultural villages of Markha (probably 60°36'N, 123°18'E) and with Pokrovsk... The buses travel exactly according to schedule."
