NEW-ORLEANS:
SATURDAY MORNING, AUGUST 3 1844

DISAFFECTION OF THE DEMOCRACY.

The New York papers yesterday, brought us important advices in regard to the movements and designs of the locofoco party, on the subject of Texas and the nomination of JAMES K. POLK. At the period when the Baltimore Convention closed its scenes of turmoil and discord by putting forth a fifth rate politician and twice beaten candidate for public honors, as its aspirant to the Presidency, upon the sole and simple ground that he was friendly to the immediately annexation of Texas, we, in common with the whole whig press, predicted that distraction, apathy and dissention would be the inevitable consequences; that the party could not and would not rally with enthusiasm around this half-fledged leader and in behalf of a new issue; and that defeat certain and inglorious would be the result of the canvass. Events are already in progress which singularly justify the sagacity of the whig party.

There has been a quarrel brewing for some days between the two leading locofoco papers of New York—the Plebeian and the Post. The first is the organ of the ragtag and bobtail, the barndoogers and store-sackers, who under the imposing cognomina of "Indomitables," "Butt-enders" and the like, constitute the radical portion of the democracy. The second is the representative of the upper crust democracy, the intelligence, talent and respectability of the party. This quarrel is based upon the Texas question which is advocated by the Plebeian and repudiated by the Post. The latter journal on the 26th ult. from the start, been deeply incensed at the rejection of Mr Van Buren, and has given but a meagre and cold support to the nominees of the Convention. The Plebeian has lately made a discovery which has inflamed its anger against the Post to the highest pitch of excitement. It is no less than a secret and confidential letter signed by Wm. Cullen Bryant of the Post, Theodore Sedgewick, and a number of the most respectable gentlemen of the locofoco party, calling upon their brethren throughout the State, to repress the resolution relative to Texas, adopted by the Baltimore Convention, and to nominate candidates for Congress of such persons as concur in these views. The Plebeian charges the Post in virulent terms for throwing a fire brand in the party; the Post returns by calling the Plebeian a pickpoc and thief in publishing a private letter. It goes on as follows:—

"By the sentiments expressed in this letter, the course of this paper in relation to the Texas question has been guided hitherto, and will be governed hereafter. We do NOT intend to recognize the annexation of Texas as an issue between the two great political parties of this State at least. It is not by taking the ground marked out in the letter, adopting the nomination of Polk and Dallas, but rejecting the interpretation of annexing Texas, and leaving that to be an open question in the party—it is this only that the democratic party can be saved from defeat throughout the State."

The Post then adduces the following letter from one of the western counties of New York, as evidence of the effect upon the party of the Polk, Dallas and Texas nomination:

"Already in this country men of character and influence, who have always acted with us hitherto, have avowed their determination to abandon Mr. Polk and vote for Mr. Birney, or else refrain from voting at all. A very large number of resolutions, which, in the course of the Baltimore Convention, pervades the minds of many. These are not your brawling pot house politicians, but quiet and reflecting men who cannot be bought with and set independently. Such a letter as that recommended in your circular, would be calculate not only to prevent the revival of affairs and kindness, but to extending, but would, perhaps bring back some, if not all of those who, under the influence of a temporary excitement, have of the present left our ranks."

A still more pregnant sign of the times comes to be noticed. It is embodied in the subjoined call to which NINETY TWO names are attached. Of the signers, the Rochester Democrat says—"We are personally acquainted with many every gentleman who has signed this call, and we know them to be among the most respectable and worthy amongst us."

DEMOCRATIC COUNTY MEETING.

The Democratic Republicans of Monroe, who are opposed to the "two thirds rule" adopted by the National Convention, by which a minority is enabled to dictate to a majority of the party, will meet hereafter in a strict construction of the Constitution and are opposed to the exercise of doubtful power, and who agree with Jefferson that the Constitution does not provide for the interposition of foreign territory in our Union, those who are opposed to the assumption of state debts and of the debts of foreign nations; and who are unwilling that the rights of the people of the Union shall be absorbed under part and parcel of the central domestic, are invited to meet at the Court House, in the city of Rochester, on Saturday, August 3, 1844, at 10 o'clock, A. M.

Thus seven-handed justice returning the ingredients to the lips of the very party which proffered it to the whigs. Locofocoism seized upon the Texas question as a potent engine of destruction, but the weapon used by unskilful hands, has recoiled and threatens to prostrate those who rashly attempted to direct its power.

THE BET ON LOUISIANA

The bet proposed by the Tropic of Thursday, of $500 on the electoral vote of Louisiana, was covered yesterday, and the amount placed in the hands of a respectable firm of this city. The Herald crowed entirely too soon—a very common thing with the Locofocos.

The fact is, these whig presses, whig returns and whigs all round, by the Holy Jehosophat, that they sometimes deceive us.—Herald.

The foregoing is from the polite, gentlemanly Herald—the pink of locofoco presses, which boasts of its freedom from personalities, its decorum and its disposition to discuss principles only. Comment is unnecessary. If we were disposed to retort we might characterize by similar epithets, the disorganed misrepresentations of the Locofoco papers throughout the State, who figure out 29 locofocos instead of 26 in the House, by claiming Le Blanc and Sidle as democrats, and putting down Mr. Day from Ouchita as a locofoco member elect, when there is not even such a name in the list of Representatives. But the game isn't worth the candle.

HUNT'S MERCHANTS' MAGAZINE.—Our thanks are due J. C. Morgan, of the Literary Depôt, Exchange Place, for the Jun- number of this excellent publication. It contains the usual variety of instructive matter. An article on Wisconsin and its resources, and a Sketch of the debate on the Tariff in the United States Senate, at the late session, will be found extremely interesting.

SOUTHERN QUARTERLY REVIEW.—We tender our acknowledgments to the publishers for the July number of the Southern Quarterly. At present we can only notice its contents. They are—Ireland; Milton's Genius; Victor Hugo's Literature; Characteristics of the Statesman; the Colonial Era of South Carolina; Prescott's Conquest of Mexico; Santa Fé Expedition; Critical Notices.

NEW JERSEY is swelling New York, in the enthusiasm of her political gatherings. On the 22d ult, Essex county held a mass convention at Belleville. The papers state that the great parade of 1840 could not be compared with the scene. As a specimen of the numbers present, there were 463 vehicles, some of which contained 30 to 40 persons. The meeting had to organize in a large field, where they were addressed with great spirit and effect by Mr Davison, of N. Y., and Mr Van Waggoner, the Poughkeepsie blacksmith.

THE TELEGRAPH in New York city, after great delay and immense exertions, got up a ratification meeting on the 23rd. It was held at the Apollo Saloon, and a funny affair it was, says the Tribune. Some three thousand persons assembled to attend, but only three hundred of the faithful made their appearance.—The assemblage was characterized by uproar and confusion. Delaton Smith, of Ohio, and Mike Walsh were the prominent speakers. Mike declared he was the first and only Tyler man in the city, and the only one that had not begged for office.

RAISING THE WIND.—A sop-lock dandy professing to be from Baltimore, has been raising the wind in different parts of the city of Pittsburgh, Pa., in the following manner. He takes some good pieces of silver, which he washes with some chemical preparations, to give them the appearance of counterfeits, which he offers in payment at grocers, eating-houses, barber-shops, &c. The money, as he expects, is refused as counterfeits. He becomes indignant at such suspicion, and offers to bet two, five or ten dollars that the money is good. In this way he has swindled a number of persons in that city, and one of his victims on Friday last had him arrested and bound over for trial.

"Under the head of "Homeliking and Fashionable Intelligence," the N. Y. Herald announces the arrival in that city of the fashionable owned and incomparable Dr. SYLLABUB. We should therefore advised the Dear public, from experience, to wait for the arrival of Dr Pills, that his pills are fashionable and incomparable. Dr Pills, Dr Syllabub, Dr Quack, Dr Humbug, Dr Puff, Dr Puffer, Dr Puffer, Dr Puffer
