One Example

Date - 20 June 1941
(Responsible publisher - TAKASHIMA, Koji)

Name - The Mission of the Japanese Race - The Building type of th. Highest Ideology and National Training.

Writer - KANOYU, Bonpu

Gist - Facing the present global commotion every country is exhibiting its own characteristic. Japan has a mental power which excels all others, namely, the great harmony with merits of liberalism. Without this power we could never be successful in carrying out our Southern Policy, and establishment of the Great East Asia co-prosperity sphere, not to speak of guidance of the whole humanity. At home there are two schools: the reformist and antireformist. The former school is favored. Stepping out of liberalism, the Japanese should center around the Emperor as the basis of reform, and promote the Imperial rule. And indeed the first step has already been taken in that direction.

The only way, to tide over this national emergency is the completion of the high defense state, which is the very direction the Youth Association should advance in.

Title - Guiding Spirit of Japan's Cultural Works Toward China (Annex: Introduction of a New Study of China)

Writer - SATO, Tasuku

Gist - The feature of the China incident lies in the fact that it is Japan's war of chastisement against the Sanminchui (or "Three Principles of the People" as advocated by the late Dr. Sun Yatsen) and war to enlighten China. The provisional Government of Nanking's principle of righteous government which has taken the place of Sanminchui is too abstract to save the poverty-stricken masses of China as at present. It is, moreover, of different nature than Japan's Emperor's way principle. Therefore, though Japan has no territrial ambition in China, she must secure hegemonie over the thought of the Chinese people. Japan, therefore, cannot help dealing with China in accordance with the Emperor's Way Principle.

(Responsible Publisher - NOMA, Seizo)

Title - "Kokusai Jihyo" or Comment on International Affairs. (A book written by KATO, Tetsuji). - A book review.

Gist - In the First chapter titled "War between Germany and the Soviet Union", the writer gives a comparatively fair view of the present circumstances of the war. In the following chapter titled the "Attitude of Britain and the U.S.A." the writer says that Britain is very glad to see the outbreak of war between Germany and the Soviet Union. This is also the case with the U.S.A., adds the writer. President Roosevelt does not openly interfere in various questions of the Pacific. But, this does not mean that he entertains any goodwill toward Japan, or that he is indifferent to any questions of the East. Then, the writer, by mentioning actual instances wherein the British fleet is always trying to prevent Japanese navy from growing more powerful, attracts readers attention to the following quotations from the author of the book: "Japan, by enhancing the necessity to establish the Greater East Asia Co-prosperity Sphere, is striving to create a bright and ever rising world in East Asia." The powers having their colonies in the Asiatic Continent, being displeased with this policy of Japan, are forming the socalled A.B.C.D. Japan encirclement camp under the beautiful name of democracy. "If Japan behaves herslef modestly toward them, they will presume upon our patience. We must be prepared for the worst."

Title - Establishment of the Co-prosperity Sphere and its Significance.

Writer - SHIIO, Benkyo

Gist - That our country is striving to establish a co-prosperity sphere of East Asia is quite natural even from a Buddhist's point of view. The reason why our country must help various countries in East Asia in establishing a co-prosperity sphere for them may be explained from the fact that they have been brutally invaded by the western countries in the past. A world where there is no exploitation may be established only when our country earns a universal leadership. From a viewpoint like this, the China incident has its significance. Under the present circumstances, we, the Buddhists, shall act as leaders of East Asia in accordance with such ideology as stated above.

	Title - Vegetable Resources of Greater East Asia Co-prosperity Sphere.
	Writer - TANAKA, Chojiro
	Gist - At the beginning of the article, which may be classified from a general point of view, as a report on the result of his investigation, the writer says that the Greater East Asia Co-prosperity Sphere will form a self-supply sphere with Japan for its nucleus, and that the trade in the world of tomorrow will be conducted between one co-prosperity sphere and another, not between one country and another. He urges also that Japan must hold herself responsible for the protection of all peoples in the co-prosperity sphere including Burmese, Japanese, and New Guineans. In the concluding chapter, the writer says that Japan's advance like this is by no means originated in her wishes to squeeze other peoples, and that Japan must quickly establish the co-prosperity sphere and bring prosperity to all peoples involved.

Title - Reminiscences of the Manchurian Affairs.

Writer - Anonymous

Gist - Viewing the present circumstances of China on this anniversary of the Manchurian Affair, I recall to mind the speedy development of anti-Japanese sentiment and activities throughout China preceding the outbreak of the Manchurian Affair. Since the birth of Manchoukuo, however, Japan and Manchoukuo are now closely related to each other like two relatives by blood. The national defence of Manchoukuo has now become a duty of Japan. In the face of all pressure from abroad we must fulfill our duty as leaders of the Japanese people and the propelling power of our times, and thereby contribute to the development of our national well-being.

Title - Theory and Practice of National School Education.

Writer - TOKUMARU, Konosuke

Gist - Tranformation of primary schools into national schools is the way Japan must follow in becoming the greatest world power. It is desirable that boys having strong physique, though a little inferior in intellect, should be sent forth into the world in great numbers, for victory in war is acquired by the work of youths with strong physique. Training at national schools may be taken as a preliminary step to military training. Totalitarianism is nationlism, while individualism is liberalism. Under a national emergency as at present, we cannot afford liberalism to have the better of the totalitarianism. Liberalism must be subjected to totalitarianism, and individual rights may be respected only under restrictions. As soon as they enter national schools, all children become the proper of the state.

Title - Unshakable Belief in Japan's Final Victory - See the historical facts of Japan which has never known any defeat since her foundation 2,600 years ago.

Writer - TOJO, Hiki.

"Imperial rescript declaring war has just been issued. The powerful and efficient army and navy of Japan are now fighting bloody battles in death-defying manner. The peace of all East Asia has been broken down at last in spite of the utmost efforts of our country to maintain it. For some time in the past, the Japanese Government has been doing its very best to adjust the relations between Japan and the U.S.A. The United States, however, never showed herself ready to yield even a single point. Moreover, in cooperation with Britain, Hooland, and China, demanded the unconditional and complete withdrawal of the Japanese forces from China, repudiation of the Nanking Government, and denunciation of the triple pact among Japan, Germany, and Italy. She has been requesting Japan to make all the concessions. Japan, however has never given up her efforts to being about a peaceful solution of the pending questions. The U.S.A., however, has never reflected on her own conduct up to the present. If conduct up to the present. If our contry should yielf under the persistent demands of those foreign powers we shall forfeit our national prestige, and shall never be able to prosecute the China indident, and eventually may endanger the very existence of our country.

Title - The Cause of the China Indident.

Writer - Information Department of the Cabinet.

Gist - The writer says at the beginning that "It is Japan's traditional national policy, as cherished by the august Emperor of this august age, to 'cover the world under one roof' and enable all nations in the world to obtain comfortable places to live in under circumstances agreeable to them. This may be realised by cooperation of all peoples striving to bring about a universal peace. When this national policy of Japan is realized, there will no longer be seen any conflicts between countries, or any struggle between peoples, and all the world will enjoy perfect peace as if it were a single home.

The writer then expresses regrets at the anti-Japanese policy and activities of China.

In the concluding chapter, the writer says that the present China Incident is noting but the blows of an affectional father on his son who has become delinquent. Therefore, continues the writer, Japan, from a higher view point worthy of one following the highroad of the universe, or the fair way of the world, should strive to enlighten China and realise the cooperation between Japan and China by prosecuting her national policy of Hakko Ichiu which is aimed at the promotion of the universal peace and coopelation between nation and nation by enveloping the world with our lofty ideal.

In order that Japan may realize this lofty purpose, we, Japanese people must follow the way of our ancestral gods which is at once the highroad of justice. In order to attain our purpose in this respect, we must culture the spirit of the Emperor's subjects. This is the only way along which the education of our citizens should be conducted.

	Gist - The world's history is on the road to a new change. The development of Japan, the rise of Germany, and the prosperity of America, apparently hint that the centre of the world does no more exist in Western Europe and that it has entered the Pacific age. Japan, no doubt, is now in a position to lead East Asia. At this juncture, it will be proper for us to look to ourselves regarding the qualities for assuming such leadership. We must study the actual conditions of the United States with whom Japan has the closest relation. In the matter of foreign trade and national prestige, we must be careful not to adopt a shore-sighted and hasty policy; we should solve any problem in a patient, discreet and resolute way.

	Gist - When our country is confronted with the pressing problems of completting its national defence, strengthening the total economic power of Japan, Manchoukuo and China, and establishing an East Asia co-prosperity sphere, we should not be absorbed only in the negative duty of disposing the rapidly increasing transportation goods in the home-land. More positively, we should establish an overall structure of transportation covering the entire field of East Asia, and make it the motive power for establishing the East Asia co-prosperity sphere. The national policy on transportation should be planned, in correlation with other policies, towards the ultimate object of Japan. And re-investigation is required regarding our land, sea and air transportation system. As for Japan-Manchoukuo-China through transportation, we should not be satisfied with that railway-ferry route; we must give our minds to a ship-building and a harbour program from the standpoint of national defence.

Gist - The Sino-Japanese New Treaty is signed between Japan and the National Government at Nanking. Furthermore the disposal of the China Incident which is, really and truly, the foundation stone of the establishment of the East Asia Co-prosperity Sphere, has neared to the speedy conclusion. The chief aim of the establishment of the East Asia Co-prosperity Sphere must be built on the fundamental principle of friendly neighbour~~liness~~ers and mutual assistance between Japan, China and Manchuria, thereby expelling the economic aggressive influence of Great Britain and America which has permeated all Asia for the past hundred years from the Asiatic sphere. Britain and America shall be expelled by the combined efforts of Japan, China and Manchoukuo from the land of the East Asia, thereby inviting the real emancipation of the East Asiatic Nations. However, the Chungking regime still continue to fight against Japan and the English-American bloc is increasing their weight of counter offensive against the advancement of Japan, China and Manchoukuo. Consequently, in order to overcome the coming obstacles successfully, Japan, China and Manchoukuo must have, of necessity, the fighting spirit and system based on the combined operations of three nations which are united by predestinated tie.

Writer - TANIGUCHI, Yoshihiko

Gist - The penetration of the Europeo-American capital in East Asia was naturally accompanied by their political advance, with the result that East Asia has been colonized by them as we see today. Thus East Asia depends, politically and diplomatically, on Europeo-American powers while it is supporting them economically and materially.

Our new trade policy in East Asia should not be such as adopted by the Europeo-American capitalism. I advocate the conclusion of a trade agreement and a clearing agreement as well as the establishment of a monetary link system in East Aisa. When the yen bloc area is expanded, there will no more exist the exchange rates between East-Asiatic countries -- the foreign trade in a true sense being conducted only with third powers.

Gist - The development of the China Incident has invited the stage of constructing the new system in the East Asia from being the stage of destruction. Every citizen of the nation must have a firm determination for achievement of this glorious mission. It is not mere imperialistic construction following destruction. It is the construction of moral righteousness, purging the East Asia of inimical influences. The foundation of the cultural policy in the Far East must come from the real tradition of the Japanese culture - that is, the imperial rule which is based on the mission which was imposed on her from her day of national foundation. There is no necessity to create artificially the twenty century mythology. At this critical juncture, when many many young men were dying for the nation, we shall not be vacillate in our firm belief of truth and victory and our cultural policy in the Far East shall be responsive to the echo of the truth of the humanity in the world.

Gist- A liberalistic nation is to be defined as a nation where its soversign is determined by the will of its people. If we adopt this definition, there can be no room for liberalism to exist in Japan. Therefore, those who advocate liberalism in Japan are merely aping occidental countries, applying the distorted interpretations to the essential feature of our country.

Gist- If we are to materialize the spirit of "Hakko Ichiu" (eightcorners under one roof), the New Order of East Asia necessarily should be established.
If we succeed in bringing about a close and solid cooperation system between Manchukuo, China and Japan, with Japan as its leader, it means the establishment of the New order of East Asia.
What should be done first among its development programmes of China is inefficient, are utterly unsuitable. Hence a Japanese should be appointed the chief of the department of public works: the Japanese Chief of PWD should be given complete reign in his works: streamlining of the system of PWD and the increase of efficiency should be achieved.

1) The "Oriental" mission of Japan can be understood against the background of the occidentalization trend of the world.
2) The world to-day is in the latter stage of spoliation era. It is quite natural that younger nations in the West and the East come to challenge against such spoliation by entering into axis relations with each other.
3) Unfortunately the Manchurian Incident and the China Incident broke out in the process of bringing into existence the new order of the world. However, as the new orders in the West and the East --- International Neo-Totalitarianism --- develop, all the peoples in the Orient will come to support the New Order of East Asia. At the same time it is hoped that the advanced nations in the West will not perish in their pursuance of conservatism and anachronism.

The cardinal points of our economic policy, however, are still various forms of control of distribution or consumption of materials. (Responsible Publishers - NAGATA, Hidejiro, YAMAGUCHI, Shozo)

Title - Inevitable Sino-Japanese Complict.

Gist - (1) Main cause of the Sino-Japanese Conflict.
The Nanking Government has been trying to awake and heighten the national consciousness of the people by means of anti-Japanese and resist-Japan policy. Therefore it can be said that the Nanking Government still exists only because of its anti-Japanese and resist Japan policy. Consequently it is absolutely impossible for the Nanking Government to alter its anti-Japanese, resist Japan policy.

(2) Japan will try, naturally enough, to readjust her relations with China on the status quo - that is, without forfeiting her present predominant position in Manchukuo. The Chinese nationalism, on the other hand, will inevitably try to recapture Manchuria after establishing herself firmly in North China. Therefore the conflict between Japan and China is inevitable.

TOYO BUNKA KYOKAI

(3) The present conflict is that of annihilation in which either we conquer her or we will be conquered by her. Otherwise, the war of similar nature will naturally arise in several years' time. In that case, the sacrifices accruing from the said conflict will be much greater. Therefore we might be justified by saying that the present conflict has a sort of inevitability, and that resorting to war, there would be no hope of Sino-Japanese relations being readjusted and all effort of peaceful settlement is just vain.

We should surmount every kind of difficulties to accomplish this great mission of historical significance. Hitherto much has been talked of the manifold races of the Eastern population, each nation's special conditions, economic frictions between nation, the difference of the level of calture of peoples etc. Ethnologically, speaking, however, there is found little difference among each of the Eastern peoples. Geographically, the topographical aspects in East Asia abound in elements conductive to regional connection between the inhabitants on different lands. The culture is also fairly homogeneous. Furthermore by establishing one extensive economic sphere on the whole areas of East Asia, the industries of each people will prosper, thus resulting in the elevation of their living standard. From the above viewpoints, I am convinced that it is not impossible to solve difficult problems of nation in East Asia.

	Name - The Recent Stage of World History viewed in the Light of the Relation between State and Society
	Writer - SUGIMORI, Kojiro
	Gist - The establishment of New East Asia is never an isolated phenomenon in the world history. It is one materialization of progressive trend in the present stage of the world history. Under the present circumstances that progressive trend necessarily takes the form of international regionalism. In the process of the materialization of regionalism, the distinction between leaders and followers seems to be predetermined in each problem or case. It is the inevitability caused by the difference of power between each member, and it is not by itself deplorable. From the viewpoint of evolutionistic history, the development of the position attaching importance to function instead of power is desirable. --- The inherent object of war is to win the war; the purpose for which the war is fought is another question. To win, high degree of regimentation is required. In this sense, totalitarianism is more or less war time system. In this respect, it is one expediency to cope with national emergency.

Name - The Establishment of Greater East Asia Co-Prosperity Sphere

Writer - ADACHI, Iwao

Gist - The United States is condemning our attempt to establish the the Greater East Asia Co-Prosperity Sphere as imperistic aggression and is tightening the encirclement line against Japan. At home, influential businessmen are opposed to the programme of the new economic system formulated by the Planning Board. To crush the above oppositions at home and abroad must be the historical tusk devolving upon the present day Japanese people, and the means for performing this national task is to establish the synthetic and highly militaristic state structures. --- The establishment of the Greater East Asia Co-Prosperity Sphere with Japan as its leader is imperative. Those who stand in the way of the accomplishment of the common front of East Asiatic peoples are such nations as Britain and America which desire to preserve the old order of the world. We have to demonstrate our unflinching will to reject their oppositions.

Gist- We expect the Japanese sport circles to wipe out all spirits and actions prejudicial to the realization of the national object. It means to establish the Japanese sportmenship free from liberalistic or jewish ideas of sport. It should aim to indoctrinate the nation with a definite phylosophical doctrine in the process of nationalization of sport. ------
Sports which serve directly for the purpose of national defence should be highly valued, while sports enjoyed by a limited circle of persons should be rejected. Not before the above is realized, there will appear the sports and exercises suited for the highly militaristic nation, which are to be enjoyed by the whole nation and promise great effect on the constitution and health of the people. Upon the occasion of the 4th anniversary of the outbreak of the China Incident, we should renew and strengthen our determination to realize the above objects by all means.

But optimistic views entertained by Pro-American elements is based on the lack of understanding of current situation, for the strategy of America is to defeat germany first, while economically suppressing Japan, and to beat down Japan next. Japan has to be prepared for the armed warfare to extend her sway to Malaya. Once the war breaks out, the first to be disposed of is Hongkong, and next come Singapore, the Phillipines, Malaya and the Dutch East Indies in turn. This war is bound to be dragged into 10 years' war, so we have to complete the preparations for it within two years, by establishing the domestic war time system.
