

"Hello! I'm Drake. I am here to help Jack off the floor" said Drake

How to Use Quotation Marks

Can you spot the mistakes?

1. There should be some form of punctuation between the end of the sentence and the quotation mark.
2. The second quotation mark should be a double quotation mark. Singles should be used for a quote within a quote.
3. There should be punctuation after "said Drake".

1. For direct quotes simply put the quote in quotation marks, with a comma before the end mark. Then, convey who is speaking with a period at the very end.

2. The speaker can be conveyed in the middle of their quote. It doesn't always have to be at the beginning or the end of the quote.

3. Single quotation marks can be used to show a quote within a quote.

"I have fallen," cried Jack.

"Jack fell," Tuck said, "I'm worried about a head injury!"

"Jack fell on the ground and said, 'I have fallen,'" said James.
