Report Of Independent Certified Public Accountants

Board of Trustees
Wikimedia Foundation, Inc.

We have audited the accompanying statements of financial position of Wikimedia Foundation, Inc. (a non profit organization) as of June 30, 2007 and 2006, and the related statements of activities and cash flows for the years then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Organization's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audits to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Wikimedia Foundation, Inc. as of June 30, 2007 and 2006, and the changes in its net assets and its cash flows for the years then ended, in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Notes To Financial Statements

June 30, 2007 And 2006

Note A - Organization and Summary Of Significant Accounting Policies

Organization And Purpose

Wikimedia Foundation, Inc., (the Organization) is a Florida not-for-profit organization which hosts several free-content projects on the Internet such as Wikipedia, the award-winning multilingual encyclopedia. Other online projects include: Wikibooks, free, open-content textbooks; Wikinews, a free news source; Wikiquote, a free compendium of quotations; Wikisource, a free library; Wikispecies, an open, free directory of species; Wiktionary, a free multilingual dictionary; and Wikiversity, a free curriculum development. The Organization was chartered to develop and maintain the necessary infrastructure for the growing online projects. Independent local chapters have been set up in several countries to support and promote the projects on an international level. The Organization operates with predominantly volunteer staff and relies on public contributions and grants to fund its mission of providing free knowledge to every person in the world.

Income Taxes

The Organization is exempt from federal income tax under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code and from state income tax under Chapter 220.13 of the Florida Statutes. The Internal Revenue Service has determined that the Organization is not a private foundation and contributions to it qualify as charitable contribution deductions. There was no unrelated business income tax for the years ended June 30, 2007 and 2006.

Financial Statement Presentation

The Organization reports information regarding its financial position and activities based on the existence or absence of donor-imposed restrictions in accordance with Statement of Financial Accounting Standards (SFAS) No. 117, Financial Statements of Not-for-Profit Organizations. Accordingly, the Organization has classified its net assets and changes therein as unrestricted (net assets that are not subject to donor-imposed stipulations) and permanently or temporarily restricted net assets, as required.

Restricted And Unrestricted Contributions

The Organization accounts for contributions in accordance with SFAS No. 116, Accounting for Contributions Received and Contributions Made. Accordingly, contributions received are recorded as unrestricted, temporarily restricted, or permanently restricted support depending on the existence and/or nature of any donor restrictions.

Contributions that are restricted by the donor are reported as an increase in unrestricted net assets if the restriction expires in the reporting period in which the contributions are received.

All other donor-restricted contributions are reported as an increase in temporarily or permanently restricted net assets, depending on the nature of the restriction. When a restriction expires (that is, when a stipulated time restriction ends or the purpose of the restriction is accomplished), temporarily restricted contributions are reclassified and reported in the statement of activities as net assets released from restrictions.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

The Organization considers all highly liquid investments with an original maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

Accounts Receivable

Accounts receivable is comprised of contributions, commissions, related party receivables (see Note E) and fees charged for online services performed. Contributions represent amounts from various entities which are occasionally directed at specific activities. Commissions represent payment from a third party which sells merchandise with the Organization's logo. Service provider fees represent fees charged to websites for live feed access to Wikipedia. All receivables are non interest bearing. Management periodically reviews receivables for past due amounts based on payment history and adjusts for uncollectible amounts as necessary. The allowance for uncollectible accounts is $3,817 and $0 at June 30, 2007 and 2006, respectively.

Investments

At June 30, 2006, the Organization's investments are comprised of 187 shares of Google common stock which are carried at fair value using quoted market prices in accordance with SFAS No. 124, Accounting for Certain Investments Held by Not-for-Profit Organizations. During the year ended June 30, 2007, the Organization received a donation of additional 681 shares of Google common stock. The Organization sold all of its shares of donated Google common stock during the year ended June 30, 2007. Included in investment income in the statement of activities for the year ended June 30, 2007 are realized gains of $11,405 and interest income of $27,581. Included in investment income in the statement of activities for the year ended June 30, 2006 are unrealized gains of $8,065 and interest income of $8,224.

Computer Equipment And Software

All expenditures for computer equipment and software with useful lives of one year or more are capitalized and recorded at cost. Donated computer equipment and software is recorded at the fair value of the items at the time of the donation and is deemed an unrestricted contribution in the year in which it was received. Depreciation is provided for in amounts sufficient to relate the cost of depreciable assets to operations over their estimated service lives, using the double-declining balance method to a maximum of three years. Repairs and maintenance of equipment are charged to operations. Upon retirement, sale, or other disposition of computer equipment and software, costs and accumulated depreciation are eliminated from the accounts and any resulting gain or loss is included in operations.

Non Cash Contributions

A substantial number of volunteers make significant contributions of their time in the furtherance of the Organization's projects. The value of this contributed time is not reflected in the accompanying financial statements, since it is not susceptible to objective measurement. Certain contributed services requiring specialized skills are recorded as support and expenses at fair value when determinable, or otherwise at values indicated by the donor.

Contributed services are reported at fair value in the financial statements for voluntary donations of services when those services (1) create or enhance non-financial assets or (2) require specialized skills provided by individuals possessing those skills and are services which would be typically purchased if not provided by the donation, and (3) the services are professional in nature, and have been explicitly agreed to in advance.

In-kind revenue and expenses recorded on the statements of activities consist of contributed legal and public relations services, Internet hosting, and office space. The amount of specialized contributed legal and public relations services recognized as revenue and expenses was approximately $80,000 and $83,000 for the years ended June 30, 2007 and 2006, respectively. The value of contributed Internet hosting services for the years ended June 30, 2007 and 2006 was approximately $236,000 and $25,000, respectively.

Included in the 2007 amount are donated hosting services and bandwidth from two companies, Yahoo! and Kennisnet. In 2006, the value of donated services and bandwidth from these two entities could not be reasonably estimated. Therefore no related amounts are recorded in the accompanying statement of activities for 2006.

Contributions of investments are recorded as support at fair value at the date of donation.

Use Of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect certain reported amounts and disclosures. Accordingly, actual results could differ from those estimates.

Reclassification

Certain amounts in the 2006 financial statements were reclassified to conform to the 2007 presentation. These reclassifications have no effect on previously reported net assets or the increase in net assets for 2006.

Note B - Net Assets

Temporarily restricted net assets are comprised of cash and cash equivalents and are available for the following purposes at June 30:

	2007	2006
Wikimania conference	$ 27,000	$ 30,000

There were no amounts classified as permanently restricted at June 30, 2007 and 2006.

Note C - Contingencies

In the normal course of business, the Organization receives various threats of litigation on a regular basis. In the opinion of management, the outcome of the pending lawsuits will not materially affect present operations or the financial stability of the Organization.

Note D - Functional Allocation Of Expenses

Costs of providing the Organization's various projects are summarized below on a functional basis. Accordingly, certain costs have been allocated among the projects benefited and supporting services.

Note E - Related Party Transactions

The Organization shares hosting and bandwidth costs with Wikia, Inc., a for-profit company founded by the same founder as Wikimedia Foundation, Inc. Included in accounts receivable at June 30, 2007 is $6,000 due from Wikia, Inc. for these costs. The Organization received some donated office space from Wikia Inc. during the year ended June 30, 2006 valued at $6,000. No donation of the office space occurred in 2007.

Through June 30, 2007, two members of the Organization's board of directors also serve as employees, officers, or directors of Wikia, Inc.

Note F - Significant Concentrations of Credit Risk

The Organization maintains cash balances at several financial institutions. Cash accounts are insured by the Federal Depository Insurance Corporation up to $100,000. From time to time, cash balances exceed federally insured limits.
