

Prodigious Sacrifices Of E.A. Indians For Freedom Struggle Can't Go In Vain

Independence Movement Set With Noble Mission Of Political Salvation & World Peace

(By H.E. N. RAGHAVAN)

F to-day, there is a spirit of despondency abroad, it is entirely un-Indian. India's sons and daughters are made of sterner stuff. Freedom has never been won by the chickenhearted; it is the prize of the brave. If we feel we have been defeated, we can as well write off our usefulness to India. Neither Imphal nor Rangoon can seal the fate of Hindustan. on the other hand, the events of the last two years and more shall brace us to greater efforts than hitherto. The History of the Indian Freedom Movement is not devoid of setbacks and opstacles, which India converted into stepping stones. In East Asia, the political achievements of the last two years cannot but instill into us the fullest faith and confidence in our Mission. The conversion of our Movement from an ordinary political undertaking into a fighting organisation, capable of handling the great task we have set out to perform, the unification into one whole, one solid brotherhood and under one banner, the far-flung Indian communities of East Asia, the awakening of the masses, men, women, and children alike, the infusion of an unquenchable thirst for freedom into their hearts, the faith and enthusiasm which they have spontaneously displayed in the Cause of our Motherland, the prodigious sacrifices they have made at her call-all these cannot but indicate that we are on the eve of a great Revolution with Indian liberation as its immediate goal. All these cannot go in vain. Every action has a re-action; and nothing good transpires, without its results. The spirit with which Indians all over East Asia, from Manchoukuo to Djawa and from Burma to Philippines, came forward to place their all at the Altar of their country's Freedom, cannot die merely because British Imperjalism is once again making some headway here or there. During the last two years Indians have made themselves not only heard, but felt. They have risen to unprecedented heights in the service of their country and in the estimation of the world. Indian Independence can no longer be in doubt. The events in Burma which neces-sitated the withdrawal for the time being, of the Provisional Government of Free India from Rangoon, cannot make any difference to the success of our objective. When the Indian Independence Movement was originally launched in East Asia, there was no question of besieging Imphal or holding up the British on the banks of the Irrawaddy. They were but later developments in our battle for Freedom. A capable commander thinks out various plans to bring (Continued on page 3)

NETAJI'S MESSAGE TO INDIAN

Two years have elapsed since a new life was infused into our countrymen in East Asia. It is necessary for us to take stock of our past achievements and failures and tighten our belts in order to face the responsibilities of the future. A long and bitter struggle lies ahead of us At home and abroad, some of our countrymen, being over-whelmed by difficulties, have begun to lose heart and are thinking of how to compromise with our enemies. For those ward are stout-hearted, brave and unflinching, the task has, therefore, become more arduous. We now need another gigantic moral effort to overcome despon-dency and weakness in every form and rise to greater dency and weakness in every form and rise to greater heights of courage and self-sacrifice.

During the last twenty-four months we have made much progress towards our goal, but we have also suffered some reverses, as in recent months. But no setbacks can undo our positive achievements. The Indian people have now a Government and an Army of their own and under the aegis of that Government, the armed struggle for India's independence was 'aunched by the Azad Hind Fauj on the 4th February, 1944. So long as India remains enslaved, that struggle will go on. The Azad Hind Fauj will fight to the last man and to the last round. Standing on the threshold of another year of intense activity and sacrifice, I want to remind my countrymen in East Asia that if we are true revolutionaries, we can never be disheartened or depressed. If we continue to work in the spirit of true revolutionaries, we shall never fail, and victory will be ours in the end. The roads to Delhi are many and Delhi remains our goal. "Chalo Delhi" will be our slogan, so long as India is not free. And "total mobilization" remains our pro-gramme for the future. I want from my countrymen in East Asia more men, more money and more materials must fight.

Azad Hind Fauj Blaze Trail Across Indo-Burma Border With Their Blood

East Asia Indians Made History By Sheer Heroism & Sacrifice For Country's Freedom

(By H.E. Major-General M. Z. Kiani) NDIANS in East Asia are today celebrating the Second Anniversary of the most eventful day in their history. Two years ago, today, our beloved Netaji Subhas Chandra Bose set foot on this island and assumed the active leadership of three millions of our countrymen in East Asia. Since then epoch-making events have followed each other in rapid succession.

For the first time in modern history a Government of Free India was established and recognised by nine friendly Powers. A national army, several thousands strong, armed with modern weapons, trained and officered entirely by Indians was formed and recognised as an army of Free India. War was declared on India's oppressors, the British and their allies, the Americans. Netaji's philosophy of militant nationalism, backed by the nation's total mobilisation programme was put into action.

The Rani of Jhansi Regiment, the only fighting unit composed entirely of women, was raised and part of it sent to the Burma front. The Indian National Army, morally and materially supported by the three million East Asia Indians, went into action against India's enemies and with their blood blazed the trail for all Indians to follow. The blood that has flowed from the wounds of our heroes of the Azad Hind Fauj, on the hills and in the valleys of the Arakans. Manipur and Assam has finally cemented the bond of unity and brotherhood between all classes and creeds of Indjans.

We may well be proud of these achievements although we have not yet reached our goal, but we have already made history. How has this been possible? Firstly, because our cause is just. It can be said without any exaggeration that in the world today there is no other cause as We are a nation of 388 million during the next twelve months. Our losses in men and money have to be replenished. By our deeds and by our valour and tenacity, we have to put heart into those who are now disheartened and depressed. And above all, we have to continue the armed struggle for India's liberation, under all circumstances, until the Indian masses are roused and the long-expected revolution breaks out inside India. Only when the awakened masses of India take up the fight and march with us to Delhi-and only when our tri-colour national flag flies over the Viceroy's House in New Delhi-will our task be over. Till then, we must labour and we

TODAY, two years ago, there arrived at the Air Port of Kallang, in Syonan, that undaunted patriot, flery leader and Idoi of the youth of India, Netaji Subhas Chandra Bose, who had with indomitable courage grimly determined to wrench the freedom of India from the most infamous, unjust and perfidious clutches of the British, come what may, during a will, there is always a way.' the course of the current global Subsequent to his return to war. Then and then only were India, Netaji Subhas Chandra cleared all the misapprehensions of doubting jacks in Syonan, despite the announcement to that effect during the closing phase of the corference of the Committee of Representatives of the movement held in Syonan them think on his own lines towards the end of April, 2603, by the late Srijut Rash Behari Eventually, he set his mind on Bose, that veteran revolutionary the fulfilment of his mission and ardent and sincere patriot and accordingly worked his way of India, who was the father of the Indian Independence Movement in East Asia,

A Shrewd Politician

Netaji Subhas Chandra Bose placed nearest to his heart his country and the freedom of his people before everything else; accordingly he gave up his lucrative career in the Indian Civil Service, after having very creditably qualified for the same. During the last global war, he studied the international political situation with reference to India's freedom and, as a shrewd and farsighted politician, he had judged quite correctly all the coming events of the future. Because of the glaring injustice of the Treaty of Versailles, Netaji knew that another World War is bound to break out within a decade or two; and he set his mind even then that help must be obtained for India's freedom from Britain's enemies.

Prior to the advent of the current World War, he accordingly revisited the European Continent in order to set the pattern and prepare the plan of action for the achievement of his object for the ultimate attainment of the freedom of India, based on the then inter-national political and military

To the lands and people of Britain's enemies, Netaji went in order to achieve his avowed mission, not as a suppliant mendicant currying favour like the British did all over the world, but as a convinced statesman and determined soldier in order to plead for and demand justice in the cause for India's freedom, the birthright of 388 millions of Indians, constituting a fifth of the human population in the World. Subsequent to the organisation of the essential features of the Indian Independence Movement Europe, Netaji arranged through diplomatic channels for the settlement of the fundamental points in regard to the propagation of the movement in East Asia. Thereafter he effected his hazardous journey Thereafter he to Nippon through risky and dargerous paths. and Sacrifice. We cannot fail. Our struggle is part of a world struggle against Imperialism. If India wins, the world wins. Exploitation of the weak has for long been the order of the day. Almost every European War during the last two hundred years and more had been fought for the 'rights' of exploitation of weaker nations by the strong. When they talked of the estab-lishment of Freedom and Democracy, they always meant the perpetuation of exploitation and slavery. The policy and programme of the Provisional Government of Azad Hind are to put an end to such exploitation. If it succeeds, we shall bring everlasting peace, not only to India but to Asia and to the world. If it fails, the world loses. Britain is the greatest protagonist of Imperialismunvarrished and unadulterated exploitation-and India is the keystone of her arch. The Liberation of India will collapse the arch and crumble the mighty edifice of Imperialism that Britain has built. It shall inaugurate a new era. Indian Freedom means, world liberation.

India's Contribution

In centuries gone by, India gave a world, half civilised and half barbarous, civilisation and culture. She led the way to spiritual salvation. To-day, she is engaged in guiding a world, alf free and half slave, to colitical salvation and Peace. Fo this great end the Indian Independence Movement is striving in its own humble way. pressure on an enemy. Differ- liberation is therefore not

Thus, it is a grim struggle, but a noble mission that the Indian Independence Movement has set out to perform. Can any one seriously visualise failure in such a task? Hope and Courage, born out of conviction in the justice of our cause, shall carry us forward, come what may.

Imperialism carries within it. the seeds of its own destruction In its policy of exploitation, it was British Imperialism that brought Indians from their Homeland to East Asia; and it is at present the role of these very Indians of East Asia to be in the forefront of the world struggle against imperialism. They have seen and known, both at home and abroad, how the wheel turns, and how the relentless machine works; and they shall not rest content until Hindustan is free—completely free—and Freedom and Peace reign supreme in the Councils of the World. The fruits of the free spirit of Man do not thrive in the stifling atmosphere of bondage and, subjection.

In the world of to-day, not only in subject countries but elsewhere, great forces have been let loose for the destruction of imperialist exploitation. In our onward march, we shall join hands with all those forces. There are enough men and women left in the world to-day who, out of sympathy and suffering at least, will concede that peace on earth shall be dependent on good-will among dependent on good-will among men. Imperialism, it is true, will not yield without the grimmest struggle, in History. Power and Wealth will not divert themselves through divest themselves through altruism. In every Imperialist stronghold to-day, there are no doubt heart-searchings with a view not to self-extinction, but to camouflage its stranglehold Various devices are at work as to how to perpetuate the unholy system without giving up Power and Wealth; with what kind of velvet gloves, mailed fists should be covered?

But we have not yet finished our work. Let those who may have relaxed in their efforts. gird up their loins once again with the zest and determination of pioneers and revolutionaries. Our recent reverses in Burma should be an eye-opener to all Indians in East Asja. Our fight. as Netaji has always told us, is going to be a long and hard one. If we did not succeed in our last offersive we must redouble our efforts everywhere to succeed the next time. But suc-ceed we must. India's destiny is at stake. It is now or never for India if she is to be a great independent country. Never again will Indians find such a Never suitable world situation. The sympathies of the whole world are with India today. Our mies, despite tneir recen successes are exhausted and because of their "success" in Europe they find themselves more and more entangled there. I the Pacific too, decisive battles have yet to be fought and our valiant allies, the Nipponese. are determined, as ever before, never to lay down their arms until final victory is achieved. The Provisional Government of Free India, with the corsent and support of Indians in East Asja, declared war on Britain and America. This is a very solemn undertaking. We are at war with the two most power-ful empires in the world. The

Thirdly, a very favourable situation for Indians was creat-ed by the Ninponese by their -the achievement of India's liberation at any cost.

Netaji Bose had been in Syonan hardly four or five days having become the pioneers of an armed struggle for the liberation of their motherland, India's honour is in their hands and they will be judged by the rest of the world not only by their actions but also by their achievements. Therelet there be fore no relaxation in the programme of Total Mobilisation. Men die but actions and ideas remain. We win or we perish in the attempt.

The sacrifice, the supreme sacrifice, made by hundreds of Indian youths in the battlefield. the sacrifice of wealth freely made by civilians at the "Home Front" have raised the dignity and pride of our courtrymen throughout the world, especially in East Asia. Today, we can hold our heads erect, we are no longer slaves. We are free men and free women, and rever again will we be enslaved. With this God-given opportunity. we Indians in East Asia, with ab-solute faith in our leader and in the justice of our cause will go on sacrificing our all for the noble Ideal of Indian Independence and remain the vanguard of Indian Nationalism until such time as India is completely free from foreign domination.

Millions of dollars were collected in no time, and not a few gave away their all for their dear country's sake. Never among Indians in this part of the world had there been anything like the spirit of patriotism that swept our ranks from end to number of allies, including end, as the result of Netaji's mighty Nippon. The revolucoming into our midst. Because he spoke from his heart, his words went to our hearts. Even more eloquent than his words was his life of suffering, toil and self-sacrifice.

"Do or Die" Passion

The desire to 'do or die' for India's emancipation became such a burning passion with us that even our womenfolk came forward, asking to be enlisted as soldiers in the Army of Liberation. So, a special regiment known as the Rani of Jhansi Regiment had to be formed, which was named after the illustrious queen who played a heroic part in the First War of Independence in 1857. The members of this Corps have un-dergone full military training. and car give as good an account of themselves in an armed fight. as their brothers in arms.

The Azad Hind Fauj had another subsidiary organisation, called the Balak Sena. Thou-sands of our boys and girls from eight years upwards, joined this body. The spirit of sacrifice and comradeship that characterise them augurs well for our cause and for the future of the Indian nation.

Netaji, however, was not con-tent with giving his attention to military matters. He took far-reaching steps in other in our uncompromising struggle directions, as well. He brought against our enemies, no matter about the establishment of a Provis onal Government of Azad

Fortunately Placed

Thanks to Netaji, we have now a Government of our own and an Army of our own. Besides, we are being backed by a tionaries in India are not so fortunately circumstanced as we are. But our more fortunate circumstances entail greater obligation. It is not for us to toy with any idea of compromise with Britain. A compromise with British Imperialism will be a compromise with slavery. We know what we have been able to achieve during the last two years, by loyally following our leader, Netaji Bose. We are a compact community, recognised everywhere as the spear-head of the Indian revolution. We have proved our mettle on the field of battle and in the presence of Death. True, we have had some reverses, but reverses for a people fighting for the noblest of causes, the emancipation of their country, are only stepping-stones to ultimate victory. Mark you, we are not alone in fighting British Imperialism. British Imperia-lism is row facing a long and exhausting war against powerful Nippon. And even Russia, Britain's apparent ally, is steadily undermining her influence in Europe and in Asia and also in India, according to all objec-tive observers. In view of all these facts, Netaji is convinced beyond any doubt that if we Indians in East Asia persevere ic our uncompromising struggle what patched-up truce the Bri-(Continued at foot of next column)

Labour Unrest & Strikes Tear American Homefront

July 2 (Domei)-An Lisbon, -American dispatch yesterday reported an oil refinery strike in Texas, a rubber workers' walk-out in Ohio and a strike of New York City's newspaper delivery employees, indicating the instability of the American home-front. The United States Government vesterday was said to have seized a big refinery at Port Arthur, Texas, where 175 workers went on strike on Friday, in order to safeguard the supply of the armed services. The refinery in question produces 135,000 barrels of oil daily of which 56,000 go directly to meet military requirements.

In Akron, Oh'o, 15,000 Firestone Tyre and Rubber Company rubber workers yesterday were reported to have struck in sympathy with 16,000-Goodyear employees, who walked-out several days ago.

A strike of delivery workers who distribute all of the big New York newspapers except the "P.M." and Brooklyn Eagle" on Sunday left New York's newspaper readers without Sunday papers.

Mayor Fiorello LaGuard'a of New York, in a weekly radio broadcast, was reported to have read the comic section of papers to New York's boys and girls and promised to continue until the strike is over.
