ART IN MARBLE CARVING IS PORTRAYED

All Kinds of Work Done by Expert Craftsmen in Local Plant

Shapely slabs and blocks of marble become graceful objects of art, skillfully designed and executed, under the hands of experts at the American Marble and Mosaic Company's plant in South San Francisco. Wherever marble is used, on soft drink fountains and bank buildings, the chances are it was cut at the works here.

For Private Home
 J. A. Mackenzie, prominent San Francisco lawyer, whose palatial residence at Pebble Beach, near Monterey, is under construction, will have a living room 35 feet by 12 feet in size, of which the walls and floor will be of Roman travertine stone, which is being prepared in the South San Francisco establishment. The stone was obtained from quarries on the banks of a river tributary to the Tiber, near Rome.

Other work being done in travertine stone is that for the interior of the San Francisco public library, the postoffice at Portland and the Santa Fe building in San Francisco, Second and Market streets.

The exterior of many of the buildings at the Panama Pacific International Exposition in 1915 was made in imitation of travertine stone.

Work Just Finished
 Work recently completed by the American Marble and Mosaic Company includes the following jobs:
 Vestibule, lobby and stairways of the California State Life Insurance building in Sacramento, made of Hauteville marble from France. The upstairs, corridor, wainscoting, etc., are made of California and Vermont marble.
 Vestibule, lobby, stairway, exterior, doorway, etc., of the office building for William M. Garland, Los Angeles, made of Hauteville stone from Arkansas. The corridors, etc., upstairs are of Columbia marble from Tuolumne county, California.

MAYROSE BUTTERS BEAT WOODMEN BY 8 TO 11

Game With Palo Alto Cancelled; Welte Is in Good Form

Through an error in looking the game scheduled for last Sunday between the Mayrose Butters, composed of baseball players of the Western Meat Company and the U. S. Veterans' Hospital at Palo Alto had to be cancelled. Instead, the Butters journeyed to Burlingame, where they crossed bats with and defeated the Woodmen of the World. The score was 8 to 6.

"Jazz" Welte was on the mound for the Mayrose team and pitched one of the best games so far this season. He was in rare form, allowing but five scattered hits, and striking out eight. Up to the fifth inning but one hit had been made off his delivery.

Pitted against Welte was Gunlee, well known to South San Francisco fans, having pitched for the South City Bears about five years ago. By the time the smoke had cleared away 12 hits had been garnered from him for a total of 8 runs. The run-making started in the second inning. Kellenberger, first man up, drove out a two-bagger and came home on a drive by Raddatz over second. Raddatz advanced to third, when Wallace was caught at second trying to stretch a two-base hit, and came home on Sullivan's infield hit.

One more run was registered in the third when Murray hit safely and came home on Kellenberger's two-base hit, his second for the day. He took third on Hughes error.

A fast double play, Bierne to Wallace to Raddatz, shut off any chance of the Woodmen scoring in the third. One more run was scored in the fifth when Bollari hit safely, followed by Creeley's hit and Murray's sacrifice.

In the fifth, Bierne made a wonderful running catch of Lee's Texas leaguer. Spectacular catches by Wallace and Murray also were noticed. Two more runs were made by the Butters in the eighth and ninth.

To the commuters who are employed in plants in South San Francisco, but who do not live in this city—this message is directed:

Catch It!

Catch the car to work—catch the train for home—that is the commuter's daily bugaboo. Hurry, run—there is always a chance of being late. Day in and day out constant expenditure of effort (and no small amount of worry) is the price paid for commuting.

True—many have their own machines in which to ride to and from work. But the RUSH is there just the same. The natural desire to spend more hours at home leads to a constant fight to overcome time and space.

When the day's work is done leisure is due the worker. Wouldn't it be better to live near your work and enjoy the full measure of justly earned rest hours?

Laying of Hetch Hetchy Pipe, Made in South S. F., Great Engineering Feat

Laying of the pipe made by the Western Pipe and Steel Company of South San Francisco for the Hetch Hetchy aqueduct is described in an interesting article prepared for publication in the Spring Valley Water Company's bulletin, "San Francisco Water."

The article follows: "The bay division of the Hetch Hetchy aqueduct, now being constructed by the city of San Francisco under the direction of M. M. O'Shaughnessy, city engineer, begins near the town of Irvington in Alameda county and ends at the south end of Crystal Springs reservoir in San Mateo county, at a point directly west of Redwood City."

"Beginning at the Irvington end with a riveted steel pipe five feet in diameter and a thickness of from 5 to 7-16 of an inch, depending upon the pressure, the line extends in a direction a little south of west through Newark to Dumbarton Point on the bay shore. From Newark to Dumbarton the pipe will be supported on a trestle over the marsh and tide lands for a distance of about three and one-half miles.

"It is necessary to cross the bay with the line, and a crossing has been selected just north of the railroad bridge, where the width is about 8,000 feet. For over half of this distance the water is comparatively shallow, and work has been commenced upon a steel and concrete bridge which will be of sufficient size to carry two pipes, so the conduit capacity may be increased when needed. Heavy concrete piers spaced 107 1/2 feet apart are under construction at the present time. These piers will support a steel superstructure which in turn will carry the pipe.

"For a distance of about half a mile the depth of the bay precludes bridge work, and it will be necessary to carry the supply across this stretch in submarine pipes laid on the bottom of the bay. The submarine pipe will be what is known as the flexible-joint pipe, the lengths being connected with a ball-and-socket joint similar to the human hip joint. This allows a certain amount of movement between the individual pipe lengths without leakage of water. Although the bottom of the bay will be smoothed off by dredging before the pipe line is laid, irregularities in contour necessarily are present, and the movable joints enable the pipe to accommodate itself to these without excessive strain or leakage.

"The pipe is laid from a barge, which moves forward as each joint is completed, allowing the finished line to find its bed on the bay bottom. The practicability of this type of under-water crossing has been demonstrated by long use in various water works, a notable instance being the four submarine pipes now used by the water company, two of which were laid in 1888, in the vicinity of the location used by the city.

"Work is now actively under way on both sides of the bay, where large crews of men are engaged in laying the five-foot riveted pipe. The trench is being excavated by a dragline scraper that does the work of a large number of men. The bottom of the trench is leveled off by hand so as to provide a secure foundation for the line. The 31-foot lengths of five-foot pipe that have previously been delivered by auto truck, one length making a truckload, are picked up by a movable steam-operated derrick and placed in the trench ready for the riveters and caulkers to make the joints. Portable air compressors supply air to operate the rivet hammers. As much as 600 feet of pipe is laid per day with one outfit. At the present time 10 miles of pipe line has been completed.

"In the hills west of Redwood City the Pulgas tunnel, 8,675 feet long, has been driven through the ridge east of Crystal Springs reservoir, has just been lined with concrete and will be ready for use in a few months. The pipe will deliver the water to Crystal Springs reservoir through this tunnel, which has a capacity of 200,000,000 gallons of water a day. Like the bridge crossing the bay, the tunnel has been constructed to carry more water than the pipe, because it is always more economical to build permanent structures sufficiently large to anticipate a reasonable increased future use. The cost of duplicating pipe lines is not as disproportionate to their capacity as would be the case with a

RICE MILL HERE HAS BIG PART IN EXPORTS

California's Shipments to Japan in 1923 Worth $3,566,111

Japan paid $3,566,111 for California rice in 1923, according to figures supplied by the South San Francisco Chamber of Commerce. The Growers' Rice Milling Company, Inc., of South San Francisco, produced rice valued at approximately $1,446,440 last year, most of which went to Japan, according to the chamber's figures. In other words, a South San Francisco industry exported about one-third of the rice shipped to the Orient from California last year.

The plant here employs 50 men on the average, nearly all of whom live in South San Francisco.

The opening of this Oriental market, together with home consumption, has placed rice among one of the principal products of California. Though Texas, Louisiana and Arkansas have greater acreage, California ranks second in production, and produces the only rice grown on the American continent which is acceptable to the Orient.

There were 106,000 acres in California under rice cultivation in 1923, which yielded 5,470,000 bushels, valued at $6,126,000.

The two factors that enable California to sell rice to Japan in face of the competition of foreign countries located closer to that empire, which have an extensive cheap labor supply, are, first, the quality of California rice more closely resembling the Japanese home-grown product than that of any foreign rice, and, second, the extensive utilization of farm machinery in the rice fields of California tends to a low production cost, allowing California rice growers to compete successfully in the Japanese market on a price basis.

Where Sheets—The Steel Kind—Are Manufactured

The new six-mill plant of the Pacific Sheet Steel Corporation which has just been put in operation in South San Francisco. From 25,000 to 30,000 tons of sheet steel will be produced yearly.

Production of Sheet Steel Begins at Big New South S. F. Plant

The wheels of industry are turning in South San Francisco's newest manufacturing establishment—the six mill plant of the Pacific Sheet Steel Corporation. This week, for the first time, production was started on a small scale. It will be several weeks, however, before the mill is operated to capacity, according to information sent out from the executive office, and until that time visitors will not be encouraged.

The mills, located near the Metal & Thermit Corporation's plant, are in two huge buildings, the largest of which is 130 feet by 675 feet, while the smaller, used for the galvanizing department, is 110 feet by 500 feet in size. The buildings are made of tile and steel. Ample space for the admission of light and air has been provided.

The plant will produce black galvanized and blue annealed open-hearth steel sheets, which will be used principally for building purposes. Approximately 200 men will be employed and the annual production is estimated at 25,000 or 30,000 tons of sheet steel.

The manufacturing of black galvanized steel sheets is a new enterprise on the Pacific Coast. The Pacific Sheet Steel Corporation, Cal., are the only two places west of the Mississippi river where such work is done, it is said.

During the past two weeks skilled workmen who are to be employed in the plant here have been arriving from the steel centers of the East. The Chamber of

WESTERN PIPE TEAM DEFEATS VIRDEN NINE

By the top-sided score of 12 to 5 the Western Pipe and Steel Company's baseball team defeated the Virden Packing Company on the former's diamond Sunday morning. Miller, the Western Pipe pitcher, fanned 18 opponents and gave four men passes via the walkout route. "Red" Kendon, twirler for the packers, struck out 14 men and let four go free.

The line-ups:
Western Pipe — Duncan, ss; Thompson, rf; Rowe, 2b; "Red" Hughes, cf; Vinther, 1b; "Chick" Hughes, 3b; Adams, lf; Byron, c; Miller, p; Ed Ming, Frey and McDonald, utility.

Virden—Ted Fischer, 1b; Lundell, rf; Schmidt, c; Skiff, 2b; McDonald, 3b; McCormick, ss; Fische, lf; "Red" Kendon, p; Costello, cf, and Moran, utility.

An attempt is being made to arrange a game for next Sunday with the Young Men's Institute of San Bruno.

On April 6 the pipe company's nine defeated the Metal and Thermit Corporation, 25 to 4. Miller and Byron were the battery for the Western Pipe, while Lederman, Edwards and Dixon did the work for the M. and T.

BENEFITS PAID BY EMPLOYEES' ASS'N

NOW THAT IT'S OVER

Interest Concerning the Outcome of the Election Is Changed to Speculation on Possible Policies.

Two classes of people are concerned with politics—those who are on the outside looking in, and those who are on the inside looking out.

The three candidates who were elected to membership on the South San Francisco Board of Trustees Monday are now inside, looking out. They will have the opportunity of testing theories and of trying out ideas which the lack of authority denied them heretofore.

Great interest is being shown in the forthcoming session of the Board of Trustees, to be held in the City Hall Monday night. The newly elected officials take over the reins of the city's government then, and many citizens have expressed the intention of being present to "see the fun."

At least one of the trustees-elect has declared himself in favor of public parks and playgrounds. Probably both of the other new members feel the same way. The present board of trustees took a long stride towards the securing of a park site at its last meeting, and plans made at that time will, undoubtedly be pushed to a successful conclusion.

The large complimentary vote paid City Clerk Daniel McSweeney and City Treasurer Edward Kaufmann was a feature of the election. The voters evidently wished to show that they heartily endorsed the manner in which the affairs of the two offices have been handled.

The new members of the board will have no difficulty because of their newness. They have been following the affairs of the city closely and have quite definite ideas, probably, as to what they want to do, now that they are in a position of public trust.

THE CITY'S NEW INDUSTRY

South San Francisco welcomes the new plant of the Pacific Sheet Steel Corporation and its employees. Proud of all her industries, the city can well afford to point with special satisfaction to the huge establishment which is to produce thousands of tons of sheet steel annually.

EASTER SERVICES

A man may be an unbeliever of things religious, but he cannot escape the something-akin-to-awe that Easter brings. To the reverent man, woman and child the week of Easter is perhaps the most important of any on the church calendar.

South San Francisco churches have made all necessary arrangements for the observance of Easter Sunday and other special days of Easter week. Persons not in the habit of attending church will be especially welcome at these services.

AN INSTANCE OF PROOF

Threatened Emigration of Japanese in Blocks of Thousands Emphasizes Their Non-Assimilability.

According to a news dispatch from Mexico City, 32,000 Japanese agriculturists are ready to emigrate from California to Mexico, in view of the impending exclusion policy of the United States. Similar statements have been made before when the matter of restricting immigration has been under serious discussion. Whether the statement is true, we do not know. But should that move eventuate the instance would be a graphic proof of a contention that is the basic factor in promoting anti-Japanese legislation, namely the non-assimilability of the Orientals.

The Japanese come to this country Japanese; they live the lives of Japanese, think the thoughts of Japanese, remain Japanese, in every particular. Upon a moment's notice they can become just as good Mexicans as they ever were Americans. Is it not obvious that there is potential danger in allowing our country to become too thickly colonized by people having so inalienable a loyalty for their mother country?

FISHERMEN IN PUBLIC LIFE

Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, in a very quiet way preached a whole sermon in a few words in the course of an address to the Isak Walton League of America, gathered in annual convention in Chicago Saturday. He was telling these devotees of angling about the conservation and propagation of fish for commercial and game uses under the powers of his department primarily, but he said a few words also about the temperament of a good fisherman, and then he made a brief application to affairs in the national legislature.

"A good fisherman," he said, "must be of contemplative mind, for it often is a long time between bites. No one can catch fish in anger or in malice. A fisherman is by nature possessed of faith, hope and even optimism, or he would not fish." Then he added that in Washington "this spirit does not always exist—in matters of fish and also other questions that you know of."

It does not, indeed. But a fisherman is willing to be patient and quiet and, if necessary, wait a long time between bites, and, once he gets a bite, to bend all his energies to landing it, though still refraining from unnecessary racket, because he really wants to catch a fish. There is great need of good fishermen in Washington, but the men who ought to be fishing, far from eschewing excitement, anger and malice, are deliberately cultivating and displaying those qualities. They won't catch so many fish, but they figure that they will attract a good deal more attention to themselves for their own purposes at this particular open season in politics.

And so they will, but in the end the spectators whom they want to impress with their prowess are going to be completely disgusted with their methods, as they are to a considerable degree already, and wholly weary of the racket, as they are very obviously beginning to be now. And so we shall have a demonstration of very muddy water, with some big and little fish gasping on the bank to which they have leaped, and our suspicions that there may have been some in the stream that should have been caught but go away—and our suspicions that there was a deal of clubbing of the waters where there really were no fish at all.

FRESHMEN NOT WHOLLY RUINED

A Stanford freshman track team defeated one from the University of California for the first time in history Saturday. This is not the first time that this first-year group at Stanford has given a good account of itself; it seems to be a group of which the university has cause to be rather proud, which is a pleasing answer to the doubts with which many earnest students of older classes looked forward at the beginning of the year to the results of the experiment of letting the freshmen manage their own affairs without the benefit of "freshman discipline." "It is a gratifying fulfillment of the prophecy of those who dared to hope that if a freshman were put on his own responsibility at the beginning of his college career and allowed to work out his own destiny without interference he would develop very quickly into a satisfactory sort of "Stanford man."

The old idea of "freshman discipline," which had become very firmly implanted in Stanford students' minds already is remote enough in history to appear the absurdity that it always was. The idea was that without the repressive influence of an older generation of students the freshmen would become "cocky," and would lack the basis of character established through a year of proper humility on which to build the sound characteristics of solid Stanford mettle.

The experiment—as it seemed to the present generation, though it was merely a return to the normal Stanford idea of freedom and initiative—seems to have proved beneficial in a brief time. Stanford freshmen have lived together this year; they have come to know each other and to know how to work together, standing on their own feet; they have been less distracted than in former years by other interests in college; they have worked their own way and chosen their own paths, without any sophomore to curb them or any fraternity groups to push them into activities which they would not naturally seek. They have sized themselves up, instead of having somebody else determine what they should do and should not do. They have been permitted to go straight ahead from their first day at Stanford instead of waiting a year. They have learned to be unafraid of anything in Stanford and, consequently, are not afraid of anything outside Stanford. In their first year at Stanford they have begun winning what they go after, which has not always been the custom in recent years. They are one year's jump ahead of where they would have been if they had been interfered with, held back and repressed up to now. They give promise of being a pretty good lot by the time they have rounded out their course at Stanford.

ITALY HAS FLOATING FAIR

Italy has sent out a "floating fair" in the steamship Italia, which will travel 23,000 miles, principally to South American ports, the ship serving both as a commercial exhibit and as a means for propaganda in behalf of Italy and Italians. The vessel will make a complete circumnavigation of South America, visiting all the important ports. The lengths of stay will range from 10 days at Buenos Aires to one at Puntas Arenas. The liner, of about 15,000 tons displacement, has been donated by the Italian government and is manned by Italian naval officers and crew, whose subsistence will be paid by the ministry of marine.

The cost of equipping the ship with the exhibits, Commercial Attache MacLean says in a report to the Department of Commerce, is about 5,000,000 lire. The decorations are very elaborate, displaying the best Italy can supply in the way of wood carvings, paintings, stained glass, hangings, mosaic pavements and marble staircases. The exhibits themselves dependent absence during the three cover the whole range of Italian ore suddetto.

production from large automobiles to dainty handicraft. Each exhibit has a representative to display the wares and take orders. The expenses of the voyage are to be divided among the participants, being estimated at about 15,000 lire per unit of space and 25,000 lire per person for passage during the entire cruise.

Il vapore nel suo giro di circumnavigazione sosterra da dieci giorni a Buenos Aires a un giorno a Puntas Arenas. L'enorme vascello che stazza 15,000 tonnellate e' stato donato dal Governo Italiano ed equipaggiato da Ufficiali della Regia Marina Italiana e marinai cui sussistenza verra' pagata dal Ministero della Marina. Il costo dell'intero equipaggiamento del vapore con le varie mostre e' di circa cinque milioni di lire, come stima l'Attache' Commerciale Signor McLean in un rapporto al Dipartimento Commerciale. Le decorazioni sono elaborate, mostrando il meglio che l'Italia abbia mai esibito in lavori di trafeoro, pittura, vetri dipinti, arazzi, pavimenti di mosaico e scale di marmo. The widow of the dead man refused to prosecute the charge and Anselmi was held by police on a charge of abandoning a victim. Helping Her Husband Get Ahead.

He was an ambitious fellow. Hard worker. Good earner. But the family just couldn't seem to get ahead. Wife meant well. Tried to buy carefully. Was not intentionally extravagant. But some way the income all went. Then someone suggested a checking account. Wife liked the idea. Adopted it. Deposited husband's pay check regularly and paid bills by check. And the family began to get ahead at once.

The plan kept wife informed. Gave her the exact facts about income and expenditures all the time. Enabled her to check and compare expenses in various lines—and inspired her to greater care. She now really keeps books for the family—but the bank does the bookkeeping! We'll be glad to explain the advantages of a checking account to all housewives who are interested.

WOMEN LIKE DODGE COUPE

As more and more of the new four-passenger coupes are making their appearance on the streets of San Francisco, women who drive their own cars are becoming increasingly interested in the new line of Dodge Brothers cars, according to Dressing Bros., dealers for this territory.

Four-passenger coupes have always appealed to women who drive, because of their ease of handling and the chummy and cozy seating arrangement. They afford plenty of space for the disposition of parcels on shopping trips, and without interfering with the seating capacity of the automobile.

The two four-passenger coupes now included in the Dodge Brothers line have an instant appeal to women seeking cars of this type, so dealers say. In seating arrangement, trimming, painting, interior hardware, door locks, luggage compartments and miscellaneous equipment, the cars present features that make them distinctive.

The driver's seat is far enough behind the wheel to give ample room and has a width of 16 1/2 inches. To the right of the driver's seat and to the rear is a seat 33 inches wide, capable of accommodating two passengers very comfortably. In front to this is a folding seat 14 inches wide.

The body, which is of composite construction by Fisher, is painted a deep blue with a yellow stripe to emphasize the lines of the car. Hood, fender and radiator are black.

Window regulator handles and inside door handles are finished in oxidized silver. Window regulators are provided for both doors and also for the rear quarter windows.

The rear deck is fitted with a lid lock which can be operated only from inside the car, while the right door is fitted with a Yale key lock.

The rear luggage compartment is 28x44 inches and a smaller compartment, 11x20 inches, with upholstered lid, is situated back of the driver's seat, within the car.

The special four-passenger coupe differs from the standard model in that it is equipped with front and rear bumpers, cow lights, automatic windshield wiper, nicked radiator, scuff plates, special stripping on the hood louvers, small disc wheels and five balloon tires.

Despite that Chinese like their old-time footwear, 20,000,000 shoe buttons were sold in Hongkong last year.

Proud Owners Make Safe Drivers of Automobiles; Careful With Their Cars

"Fussiness" in car ownership apparently has come to its own as an important but neglected factor in accident prevention, according to Motor Land, the magazine published by the California State Automobile Association.

The discovery of students of traffic and accident problems that proud owners make safe drivers, and that the rough-and-ready idea in automobiles must be curbed, for safety's sake has brought the fussy car owner to the front, Motor Land says.

The motoring magazine points out that the owner who is proud of his car is not as prone to take a chance in traffic as the owner of a dilapidated car with three fenders already decorated and no worry if the fourth is lost. Your mental attitude toward your car has much to do with the trouble you get into, and the magazine states that with public safety at the forefront the fussy car owner is now being regarded as an asset in accident prevention.

CITIES MAY SHARE AUTO AND GAS TAX FUNDS

Initiative Measure Is Proposed for Next State Ballot

Members of the South San Francisco Board of Trustees are considering the query from the League of Municipalities as to whether the local board could be depended upon to procure its share of the signatures necessary to place on the State ballot an initiative measure which would give the cities a share in the motor vehicle fund and the gasoline tax fund.

A resolution favoring this step was passed at a recent conference of city officials in Sacramento.

As the law now stands the proceeds from those sources are divided half and half between the State and counties. The initiative measure would divide them one-half to the State, and one-half to the cities and counties in proportion to their assessed valuations. It is estimated that these funds aggregate $19,000,000 annually.

The League of California Municipalities presents the following arguments in support of the proposal:

- 1. Most of the gasoline tax is paid by city taxpayers for the use of gasoline to propel them over the streets of their own city.
2. The State and county highway systems have been made possible by city taxpayers, yet their construction has usually been stopped at the city limits.
3. The motor vehicle fund, gasoline tax fund, and motor bus fund are now distributed to the counties and the State exclusively.
4. The motor bus companies may now use the streets of a city without its consent and without being subject to its regulations, and the 4 per cent tax which they pay for this privilege goes entirely to the counties and the State.
5. In many counties, besides using the county road tax, the supervisors also use the general fund for road work, thus imposing a double burden on the city taxpayer.

and claims in and to said property, and every part thereof, whether the same be legal or equitable, present or future, vested or contingent, or whether the same consist of mortgages or liens of any description.

2nd.—Establishing and determining the title of plaintiff to said property and that plaintiff be adjudged and decreed to be the owner in fee simple absolute of all of said property.

3rd.—For such other and further relief as to the Court may seem just.

Witness my hand and the seal of said Court this 15th day of February, 1924.

MARCH WAS RECORD MONTH FOR FORD; DELIVERIES BOOM

Retail deliveries of Ford cars and trucks in the United States during the month of March reached the record breaking total of 205,735, it was announced by the Ford Motor Company.

Nothing in the history of the automobile industry compares with this remarkable record.

A significant feature developed during the last ten days of the month when sales averaged 10,804 cars and trucks a day, indicating that the spring buying rush has begun and under this enormous demand production of the company will be taxed to the limit in an endeavor to meet the heavy flood of orders.

MANY INQUIRIES ABOUT CHRYSLER SIX MADE HERE

Chrysler Six engineers have taken tried and proven principles of motor car design, declare DuPont & Nolan, Chrysler and Maxwell dealers in South San Francisco. "They have so applied and developed these principles as to achieve unprecedented results," the dealers state, continuing as follows: "They have built an automobile truly revolutionary in the way it performs, a car that marks a turning point in the history of the industry as decisive as the very invention of the automobile itself."

Since the demonstration of the Chrysler Six here last week numerous inquiries concerning price, delivery and other features of the car have been made.

SAYS CHEVROLET AID TO HEALTH

Without counting the daily utility of a Chevrolet for going back and forth to work, shopping or taking the children to school, its value in saving doctor's bills, broadening your mental horizon and keeping the whole family physically fit, amounts to more than the cost of the car and its upkeep, says Edgar H. Lewis, local dealer.

"It is more of an essential to the modern family than anything else but a home," Lewis declares. "Chevrolet meets the requirements of the modern family because it is economical to buy and maintain, because of its excellent appearance and riding comfort, because it can be depended upon, and because it is so easy to drive that any member of the family can use it."

YOSEMITE RESORT GETTING READY FOR TOURISTS

Robert T. Williams, Camp Curry manager, arrived in the Yosemite Valley recently to assume direction of the annual spring "set-up" of the famous Yosemite resort. Camp Curry will open April 26 this season, and Williams plans to have many important improvements effected and in working order by that date.

Platforms are being constructed for 150 additional tents, which have been shipped to Camp Curry. This will increase Camp Curry's capacity to about 1450 guests for 1924. Last season for over six weeks the camp housed 1150 guests each night, and Williams anticipates even more visitors to Yosemite this year. Travel will start earlier than usual this season, he believes.

Manager Don Tressler is now in Los Angeles perfecting plans for the annual economy run from Los Angeles to Camp Curry. A. C. Waters, Camp Curry's southern California representative, will again act as manager of the run.

The end of the Rainbow

THERE'S a pot of gold at the end of the rainbow," we used to be told as children. What a fascinating thought it was. How eagerly we waited until the beautiful phenomenon showed itself athwart the sky, and how we speculated on how far away the end of it might be, with a secret intention of setting out and securing the much-desired treasure before any of our companions might find it.

THERE'S a pot of gold at the end of the rainbow," we used to be told as children. What a fascinating thought it was. How eagerly we waited until the beautiful phenomenon showed itself athwart the sky, and how we speculated on how far away the end of it might be, with a secret intention of setting out and securing the much-desired treasure before any of our companions might find it.

What boy or girl is there who has not at some time started down the road or across the fields with the desire to reach the rainbow's end? But no matter how far we traveled, the end of the rainbow seemed just as far away; and suddenly the extremities had disappeared from view and soon afterward the whole beautiful symbol faded from our sight.

As we grow older we come to realize that the story of the pot of gold at the rainbow's end is a parable of life; that beauty, grandeur, everything is a reality in the making, needing only persevering, insistent, intelligent application on our part to transform our desires into happiness, contentment, and that most valuable of all possessions—a HOME.

Let's look at this matter for a moment. You are now paying rent—so much a month. At the end of a decade you may have preserved your 120 rent receipts, but you do not rent a safe deposit box in order to keep them safely. They are of no value to you—they represent only lost efforts. Suppose you had put the same amount monthly into the purchase of a little home. You would now have your deed to the property.

Now is a good time for YOU to make the start on the real journey to the end of the rainbow—not the childish conception of what proved a fairy tale, but the enterprise which inevitably brings success.

WE WANT TO HELP YOU acquire the home you should have, the home you have been dreaming of and planning for. Consult us at any time—you need not feel under any obligation for services rendered.

An augmented choir will sing hymns and two Easter Anthems. Judge Walker will sing, as he does so well, that great song, "Calvary." There will be a piano voluntary by Robert Reed and special violin numbers by Mr. Hargreaves. Several children will be baptized, and a number of persons will be welcomed as new members of the church. The public is invited. There will be a nursery, where babies will be cared for during the service.

On Sunday night at 7:30 there will be a special and most interesting Easter program given by the Sunday school.
