Australian Cotton.
 POSSIBILITIES OF THE INDUSTRY.
 AN INTERESTING INTERVIEW.
 The necessitous are clad in cotton, the prosperous in wool, and the luxurious in silk, but cotton is used by all. In the production of wool, Australia for half a century has "licked creation." "Why should the process not be repeated with cotton?"
 This is the question Mr. J. A. Pantton interestingly treated at the meeting of the Royal Geographical Society last night. This, too, is the question which Mr. Wilkinson, M.H.R., of Moreton Downs, Queensland, proposed to be put to what

It is to hand that the Agricultural and Progression have in mind the erection of a butter-making plant in Nambour. The Secretary, (Mr. A. Pearson), has, we are given to understand, put himself in communication with some of the American firms regarding the price a plant could be obtained. It is a conceded fact that the city of thirty miles of Nambour is quite sufficient on which to start. It is said that an acre of 3 tons of cream per produced in the district, a part of which is either sent to Brisbane or Gympie present time.

Correspondence.
 I hereby invite correspondence on all matters of importance to the community, in no instance do we hold ourselves responsible for the opinions expressed in this column. In all cases the name and address must be given to the manager, not necessarily published but as an act of good will.

To the Editor.
 Sir: Perhaps you will think me a pretty customer in trying to seek admission in the columns of your first issue, but I think you will agree with me that the question which I am desirous of bringing under the public's notice is one of great importance to the people of Nambour and district. There are a few persons who are desirous of trading our streets in weather such as we have been used to of late, but what would gladly welcome the erection of three or more lamp-posts along our thoroughfare.

The method of lighting I will not go into at present. The cost need not be much, as the lamps would only need lighting on dark nights, and the work of keeping clean and lighting could be let to one of our aged residents at a small sum per annum. Another improvement that could be carried out is the planting of shade trees at suitable distances along the street. It is this that gives Toowoomba the bright appearance it has, and I do not think it a bit too soon to follow her footsteps. I did hear that Councillor Mitchell one time promised the necessary timber for this work would be done, and I think Councillor Mitchell would, even now, prove a man to his promise.
 Yours, &c.,

Annual Dedication Festival.

WOOMBYE.
 The first instalment of the Annual Dedication Festival in connection with the St. Margaret's Church (Church of England), took the form of a picnic for those attendant at the Sunday School. The day was an ideal one, the sun shining forth in all its warmth and splendour, quite a contrast to the day preceding it. What has not lived in a home where the children are expectant of their mother's fun and will picture these children with glad hearts as they peep forth to see what sort of day they are given, and the excitement rises in them as they call "Mamma" here, and "Mamma" there, to find something which they require to wear. There were upwards of 100 persons present, including the children, and during the day various games were under way for the amusement of those present. Races were run off among the children, the prizes consisting of toys of all descriptions. Two races were run off for the adults, the following being the results:
Ladies' Race: about 50 yards.
 1st. Miss. B. Patterson
 2nd. Miss. M. Aird.
 3rd. Miss. Wilson.
 It was a little difficult to discern who was first, but the prizes were awarded as above.
Gent's Race: about 120 yards up the day school paddock.
 1st prize, six months subscription to the CHRONICLE.
 1st. Rev. A. Higgins
 2nd. M. Kitson.
 Won by 5 yards.
 Refreshments were provided by the lady friends and gentlemen and partaken of at intervals during the day. The Rev. A. Higgins and Miss. T. Wilson (Superintendent of the Sunday School), did much towards making the day the success that it was.

THE CONCERT.

In the evening a concert was held in the School of Arts, the hall being three-parts full of an appreciative audience. The opening piece was a teatime by Master Norman Barber, Miss. M. Aird, and Miss. Fretwell, representing "The Sculptor". The effect under the coloured lights was good, and brought forth rounds of applause. A duet, "All's Well," by Lizzie Aird and Norman Barber, was very well given, both taking their parts in a manner that would do older heads credit. Percy Fretwell recited "It's no joke to be a baby" in costume, and received a deserved applause. Florrie Burdett, in her rendition of "The Psalm of David," appeared to be a little timid at the start, but gained confidence as she went on, and at the close received due encouragement. "The Little Guessers" was the title to a dialogue given, the various parts being well sustained by Florrie Burdett, Daisy Hooper, Lizzie Aird, Lily Aird, Mary Taylor, Mr. Aird, and Maggie Parslow. The parts were splendidly executed, and the applause which followed was indeed well earned. Fourteen of the children sang "The Cat and the Dog," and "Little How Deep" and received due appreciation. "Don't you come any more," was splendidly recited by Daisy Hooper, being assisted in the choruses by five other children. More, we think, will be heard of this little singer in the future. "Errand Boys' Yarn" dialogue, was appropriately given by Norman Barber, Bert Lowman, Percy Fretwell and Morris Taylor. The final to the first portion of the programme was a tableaus representing a boy in standing position fast asleep with mouth wide open, and another, but smaller, holding a cob of corn to the mouth of the sleeping boy. After a short interval, the Rev. A. Higgins gave a lantern exhibition of the first series being the illustrated story of "Jane Conquest" a pathetic reading connected therewith undertaken by Mr. J. W. Wilson. The other slides shown were of scenes in India and Japan. Altogether the lantern portion of the entertainment was much appreciated. The hall was then cleared and a few hours dancing indulged in. Much praise is due to Miss. T. Wilson, as most of the labour involved in making the concert a success fell to the lot of that lady. Mrs. Fretwell played the accompaniment during the evening.

Poetry.

"WAIT A LITTLE LONGER."
 [BY CHARLES MACKAY, LL.D.]
 There's a good time coming, boys,
 A good time coming.
 We may not live to see the day,
 But earth shall glisten in the ray
 Of the good time coming.
 Cannon balls may aid the truth,
 But thoughts is a weapon stronger;
 We'll win our battle by its aid;
 Wait a little longer.
 There's a good time coming, boys,
 A good time coming;
 The pen shall supersede the sword,
 And Right, not Might, shall be the lord.
 In the good time coming,
 Worth, not Birth, shall rule mankind,
 And be acknowledged stronger;
 The proper impulse has been given;
 Wait a little longer.
 There's a good time coming, boys,
 A good time coming;
 War in all men's eyes shall be
 A monster of iniquity.
 In the good time coming,
 Nations shall not quarrel then,
 To prove which is the stronger;
 Nor slaughter men for glory's sake;
 Wait a little longer.
 There's a good time coming, boys,
 A good time coming;
 Hatred rivalries of creed
 Shall not make their martyrs bleed.
 In the good time coming,
 Religion shall be shorn of pride,
 And flourish all the stronger;
 And Charity shall trim her lamp;
 Wait a little longer.
 There's a good time coming, boys,
 A good time coming;
 And a poor man's family
 Shall not be his misery.
 In the good time coming,
 Every child shall be a help.
 To make his right arm stronger;
 The happier he, the more he has;
 Wait a little longer.
 There's a good time coming, boys,
 A good time coming;
 Little children shall not toil,
 Under, or above, the soil.
 In the good time coming,
 But shall play in beautiful fields,
 Till limbs and mind grow stronger;
 And every one shall read and write;
 Wait a little longer.
 There's a good time coming, boys,
 A good time coming;
 "Be people shall be temperate,
 shall love instead of hate,
 in the good time coming,
 They shall use, and not abuse,
 And make all virtue stronger.
 The reformation has begun;
 Wait a little longer.
 There's a good time coming, boys,
 A good time coming;
 Let us aid it all we can,
 Every woman, every man,
 The good time coming,
 Smallest helps, if rightly given,
 Make the impulse stronger,
 'Twill be strong enough one day;
 Wait a little longer.

Household

A TASTY STEW.
 Take two pounds of leg yeast, cut it into outlets, brown well in a very hot dry fryingpan. Fry an onion, a carrot and a little sliced apple, and add to the meat in a stewpan, cover with a little stock, and simmer slowly for an hour. Then add a pint of green peas and let it simmer till the vegetables cook. Arrange the meat on a long dish, strain off the peas, and pile at each end and keep hot. Return the gravy to a saucepan, thicken, season, and colour it and pour round the meat. Cold cooked veal may be used for this dish, but it will need to be added to the peas when nearly cooked only, after having been fried a good brown.
CREAM OF TARTAR YEAST.
 Half a teaspoonful of cream of tartar, 2 tablespoonfuls of sugar, 3 tablespoonfuls of flour, 1 1/2 cups lukewarm water, stir well together and bottle and keep in a warm place. When putting into a new bottle it requires to be made 24 hours before using, as it takes longer to ferment. Set a sponge-sauce as with hop yeast and let it rise for about 6 hours, then add more water and knead into a loaf and let rise till it comes to the top of dish, work into loaves and put in baking dish, leave to rise again and put in quick and well heated oven. Bake 1 hour. This recipe has been contributed by a subscriber, who has always had excellent results from it.
GINGER BEER.
 Ingredients required:—One ounce of ground ginger, six lemons, two pounds of Demerara sugar, one ounce of tartaric acid, six quarts of boiling water one tablespoonful of yeast, two tablespoonfuls of honey.
 Have ready a clean stone vessel; put into it the sugar, sliced lemon, and the ginger powder; pour the boiling water over it and stir well for ten minutes; then leave to settle. When nearly cold (lukewarm), spread a piece of toast with the honey, pour over it the barn or yeast, and set it upon the liquor, leaving until the next day to settle. Add the tartaric acid, then bottle; stop with good corks and tie tightly.
 The beer will be ready to drink.

Most of these lands have well drained, and in a permanent manner, nearly 500 having expended in the work. There is no engineering difficulties in way of building a line on either side of the creek, so that the Government will have to incur little expense beyond the price of the land and this outlay could be refunded to them from the first seasons as the mill in receiving this additional quantity of cane would be enabled to work a double shift, thus paying working expenses. Mr. James Clark, the lessee of oyster beds, is about to import them soon because the double harvesting purchased the right to foreshore from Mr. Keil.
