

THE NEW-ORLEANS BEE.

Office, 73 Chartres street.

NEW ORLEANS, MONDAY MORNING, SEPTEMBER 29, 1862.

Vol. XVII—New Series, Vol. XXXVI.—Whole No. 12,494.

NEW ORLEANS:
MONDAY MORNING, SEPT. 29, 1862.

Sales at Auction To-Day.

By R. B. HUBER, at 10 o'clock, at No. 29 Magazine street, potatoes.
By R. GUTHRIE, at 4 o'clock, at the corner of Coliseum and Claiborne streets, furniture.
By R. T. MONTGOMERY, at 6 o'clock, at No. 29 Magazine street; also at 8 o'clock, at Post 21, First Street, bay at 9th; also at 11 Chartres street; also at 10th, at Post 25, Second District; corn; at 11 o'clock, at 39 Perdido street, between Basin, bacon, coffee, candles, soap, tea, &c.; at 4 o'clock, between the Bee Mart and the Red Stores, meat and dry goods.
By McCAVEN & LANDRY, at 11 o'clock, at the intersection of Chartres and Tchoupitoulas streets, horses and mules.

ARRIVAL OF THE POTOMAC.—Capt. Fletcher, of the steamship Potomac, will please accept our thanks for files of late Northern papers.

PATRIOTS' BANNO.—Many instances of errors committed by printers, and overlooked by校正ors are on record. We know of none of more importance and as such more irritating to us than one presented to the readers of the Bee on Friday morning last, when we were made to say that the case of Messrs. B. W. Head and G. de Ferri, for robbing Mr. Hubbard had been postponed. Among our Creole and French population these gentlemen are well known, as we hope is also the fact that we have been accustomed to rank them among our very best friends. The accusation under which they have been arrested is worded on the books of the Court as mobbing Mr. Hubbard, and all their acquaintances were well aware of it. This correction is only made for such persons as may not have known these facts, and to clear our selves from any share in the imputation so groundlessly cast by our types.

B. T. Montgomery will commence the sales of the week on Monday, the 29th inst., with the largest, most attractive and varied list of produce and other goods that has yet been offered to the trade in a single day. At 9 o'clock, at Post 25, First District, will be sold 120 barrels of hay, slightly damaged, at 9th; at 4 o'clock, at 11 Chartres street, 1000 sacks of corn. At a quarter past 10, at Post 25, Second District, 1000 sacks corn. At 11 o'clock, at Gothic Warehouse, No. 39 Perdido street, the largest and most attractive list of flour, bacon, codfish, soap, tea, &c., the most important sale of the season, and should attract a large crowd and ensure competition. Also, at 11 o'clock, at 265 Rampart street, the entire contents of said dwelling, consisting of very elegant and costly furniture, splendid carpets, mirrors, &c. At 4 o'clock, from the bark Morning Light, between the Beef Market and the Red Stores, a large lot of oats in bulk, and hay, damaged. These sales will be made without regard to weather. See advertisements.

JULIAN NOVEMBER sells this day, at the Government stables, corner of Jackson and Tchoupitoulas streets, six horses, mares and geldings, some of the mares with foals. To be sold without reserve, offering an opportunity to purchase, milkmen and others to purchase cheap stock.

FURNITURE AT AUCTION.—Our friends McCracken & Landry sell at auction, at their Auction Mart, this day, at 11 o'clock, an extensive assortment of furniture of every description—curtains, cooking-stoves, &c. See their advertisement.

Later from the North.

By the arrival yesterday afternoon at the steamship Potomac, from New York on the 18th, we are put in possession of seven days' later intelligence from the North.

OPERATION OF HAGERSTOWN BY THE ENEMY.—The Advance of Gen. McClellan's Army to Damascus.

We present below a summary of the most important news from our Northern exchanges, giving it in the order of date. The New York Times of the 12th, in its article "News of the Day," says:

There latest accounts, through private channels, from Maryland, represent the rebels in retreat westward, and our troops in rapid pursuit. It is believed that a conflict has taken place at Harper's Ferry, and that a rebel force has been driven from the city, and captured by the rebels.

The forces of General Frémont, Friday afternoon, between 4 and 5 o'clock, encountering the rebel cavalry under Philbrick L. O., about three miles from the city, and attacking them with great impetuosity so that at once broke and the rebels attempted to rally in the town.

About 400 of their sick and wounded were left behind.

The rebels are described as being mere skeletons. The rebels were strewn with old shoes and clothes, which the rebels had cast off and left.

The office of the Union paper, the Examiner, was captured.

The reception of our troops was most enthusiastic. Ladies wore the national colors, and children were decked with miniature Union flags.

It appears that the rebels did not receive much encouragement there, and were somewhat disappointed, after having been invited over, and assured that the whole State would have them received as friends. The number of recruits furnished by Frederick county was only about 70. Full half of the rebel troops there are said to have been foreigners.

The rebels were about 2,000 cavalry in the command, all of whom, but about 40, escaped to Harper's Ferry Sunday night, and cut their way through to Gettysburg, with but little loss. This followed the retreat of the rebels from six to eight miles, and their capture by Gen. White's command from Martinsburg, all surrendered.

General Howe captured an aid of General Lee, who was making his way to Harper's Ferry.

Washington, Sunday, September 14, 1862.—The fight has been progressing in the vicinity of Harper's Ferry, success beyond question, and the rebels are now in full retreat.

The news thus far, received through private sources, gives every prospect of successful results to the Union cause, and has accordingly elated the spirits of all loyal men.

Mail communication with Frederick will be resumed to-morrow.

The Times of the 16th contains the series of dispatches from Gen. McClellan to Gen. Hooker, already published by us, referring to the events of the 14th. The following dispatches occur in the Times of the 16th:

REPORT RECEIVED IN CHAMBERSBURG.

Chambersburg, Sunday, September 14, 2 P.M.—Particulars arriving here to-day from the neighborhood of Williamsport, report a portion of our army under Gen. Meade, marching through for the purpose of capturing Col. White and his command, but he had evacuated the place two hours previously, and succeeded in reaching Harper's Ferry to safety.

The rebels were about 2,000 cavalry in the command, all of whom, but about 40, escaped to Harper's Ferry.

Washington, Tuesday, September 16, 11.12 P.M.—The fighting in Washington to-day has been anxious and suspending, in view of the fate of Harper's Ferry, the uncertainty in regard to the movements of the rebels, and the imminent silence of the government. The fight is much more cheerful. The apparent desire of the rebels to escape into Virginia relieves the apprehensions of those who feared that they were in strength to continue the offensive.

The Times of the 18th publishes the following log:

THE BATTLE OF TUESDAY.

Washington, Wednesday, September 17.—It is credits here that a battle commenced yesterday afternoon in the vicinity of Shadrackburg, continuing until 9 P.M.

Our army rested for the night where the last of yesterday's fight ended, and expected to renew the engagement at daylight this morning.

The above facts are gathered from non official sources.

Harrisburg, Penn., Wednesday, September 17.—The battle fought yesterday between Shadrackburg and Middlefield closed without a decisive result.

No firing has been heard from Hagerstown since 4 o'clock yesterday.

Stragglers coming into Hagerstown report that the rebels suffered great loss, and that the rebels had been surrounded.

The stragglers also say that the ammunitio and provisions of the rebels have been completely exhausted.

THE BATTLE OF TUESDAY.

Washington, Wednesday, September 17.—A general alarm was given to the people of the city, and the rebels retreated to the Potowomotoway, and Middlefield, and were surrounded by Federal troops.

The rebels were driven back to Harper's Ferry, and captured.

It is reported that the rebels are making a slow retreat, and are endeavoring to reach Williamsport.

Washington, Wednesday, September 17.—A general alarm was given to the people of the city, and the rebels retreated to the Potowomotoway, and Middlefield, and were surrounded by Federal troops.

The rebels were driven back to Harper's Ferry, and captured.

It is reported that the rebels are making a slow retreat, and are endeavoring to reach Williamsport.

Washington, Wednesday, September 17.—A general alarm was given to the people of the city, and the rebels retreated to the Potowomotoway, and Middlefield, and were surrounded by Federal troops.

The rebels were driven back to Harper's Ferry, and captured.

It is reported that the rebels are making a slow retreat, and are endeavoring to reach Williamsport.

Washington, Wednesday, September 17.—A general alarm was given to the people of the city, and the rebels retreated to the Potowomotoway, and Middlefield, and were surrounded by Federal troops.

The rebels were driven back to Harper's Ferry, and captured.

It is reported that the rebels are making a slow retreat, and are endeavoring to reach Williamsport.

Washington, Wednesday, September 17.—A general alarm was given to the people of the city, and the rebels retreated to the Potowomotoway, and Middlefield, and were surrounded by Federal troops.

The rebels were driven back to Harper's Ferry, and captured.

It is reported that the rebels are making a slow retreat, and are endeavoring to reach Williamsport.

Washington, Wednesday, September 17.—A general alarm was given to the people of the city, and the rebels retreated to the Potowomotoway, and Middlefield, and were surrounded by Federal troops.

The rebels were driven back to Harper's Ferry, and captured.

It is reported that the rebels are making a slow retreat, and are endeavoring to reach Williamsport.

Washington, Wednesday, September 17.—A general alarm was given to the people of the city, and the rebels retreated to the Potowomotoway, and Middlefield, and were surrounded by Federal troops.

The rebels were driven back to Harper's Ferry, and captured.

It is reported that the rebels are making a slow retreat, and are endeavoring to reach Williamsport.

Washington, Wednesday, September 17.—A general alarm was given to the people of the city, and the rebels retreated to the Potowomotoway, and Middlefield, and were surrounded by Federal troops.

The rebels were driven back to Harper's Ferry, and captured.

It is reported that the rebels are making a slow retreat, and are endeavoring to reach Williamsport.

Washington, Wednesday, September 17.—A general alarm was given to the people of the city, and the rebels retreated to the Potowomotoway, and Middlefield, and were surrounded by Federal troops.

The rebels were driven back to Harper's Ferry, and captured.

It is reported that the rebels are making a slow retreat, and are endeavoring to reach Williamsport.

Washington, Wednesday, September 17.—A general alarm was given to the people of the city, and the rebels retreated to the Potowomotoway, and Middlefield, and were surrounded by Federal troops.

The rebels were driven back to Harper's Ferry, and captured.

It is reported that the rebels are making a slow retreat, and are endeavoring to reach Williamsport.

Washington, Wednesday, September 17.—A general alarm was given to the people of the city, and the rebels retreated to the Potowomotoway, and Middlefield, and were surrounded by Federal troops.

The rebels were driven back to Harper's Ferry, and captured.

It is reported that the rebels are making a slow retreat, and are endeavoring to reach Williamsport.

Washington, Wednesday, September 17.—A general alarm was given to the people of the city, and the rebels retreated to the Potowomotoway, and Middlefield, and were surrounded by Federal troops.

The rebels were driven back to Harper's Ferry, and captured.

It is reported that the rebels are making a slow retreat, and are endeavoring to reach Williamsport.

Washington, Wednesday, September 17.—A general alarm was given to the people of the city, and the rebels retreated to the Potowomotoway, and Middlefield, and were surrounded by Federal troops.

The rebels were driven back to Harper's Ferry, and captured.

It is reported that the rebels are making a slow retreat, and are endeavoring to reach Williamsport.

Washington, Wednesday, September 17.—A general alarm was given to the people of the city, and the rebels retreated to the Potowomotoway, and Middlefield, and were surrounded by Federal troops.

The rebels were driven back to Harper's Ferry, and captured.

It is reported that the rebels are making a slow retreat, and are endeavoring to reach Williamsport.

Washington, Wednesday, September 17.—A general alarm was given to the people of the city, and the rebels retreated to the Potowomotoway, and Middlefield, and were surrounded by Federal troops.

The rebels were driven back to Harper's Ferry, and captured.

It is reported that the rebels are making a slow retreat, and are endeavoring to reach Williamsport.

Washington, Wednesday, September 17.—A general alarm was given to the people of the city, and the rebels retreated to the Potowomotoway, and Middlefield, and were surrounded by Federal troops.

The rebels were driven back to Harper's Ferry, and captured.

It is reported that the rebels are making a slow retreat, and are endeavoring to reach Williamsport.

Washington, Wednesday, September 17.—A general alarm was given to the people of the city, and the rebels retreated to the Potowomotoway, and Middlefield, and were surrounded by Federal troops.

The rebels were driven back to Harper's Ferry, and captured.

It is reported that the rebels are making a slow retreat, and are endeavoring to reach Williamsport.

Washington, Wednesday, September 17.—A general alarm was given to the people of the city, and the rebels retreated to the Potowomotoway, and Middlefield, and were surrounded by Federal troops.

The rebels were driven back to Harper's Ferry, and captured.

It is reported that the rebels are making a slow retreat, and are endeavoring to reach Williamsport.

Washington, Wednesday, September 17.—A general alarm was given to the people of the city, and the rebels retreated to the Potowomotoway, and Middlefield, and were surrounded by Federal troops.

The rebels were driven back to Harper's Ferry, and captured.

It is reported that the rebels are making a slow retreat, and are endeavoring to reach Williamsport.

Washington, Wednesday, September 17.—A general alarm was given to the people of the city, and the rebels retreated to the Potowomotoway, and Middlefield, and were surrounded by Federal troops.

The rebels were driven back to Harper's Ferry, and captured.

It is reported that the rebels are making a slow retreat, and are endeavoring to reach Williamsport.

Washington, Wednesday, September 17.—A general alarm was given to the people of the city, and the rebels retreated to the Potowomotoway, and Middlefield, and were surrounded by Federal troops.

The rebels were driven back to Harper's Ferry, and captured.

It is reported that the rebels are making a slow retreat, and are endeavoring to reach Williamsport.

Washington, Wednesday, September 17.—A general alarm was given to the people of the city, and the rebels retreated to the Potowomotoway, and Middlefield, and were surrounded by Federal troops.

The rebels were driven back to Harper's Ferry, and captured.

It is reported that the rebels are making a slow retreat, and are endeavoring to reach Williamsport.

Washington, Wednesday, September 17.—A general alarm was given to the people of the city, and the rebels retreated to the Potowomotoway, and Middlefield, and were surrounded by Federal troops.

The rebels were driven back to Harper's Ferry, and captured.

It is reported that the rebels are making a slow retreat, and are endeavoring to reach Williamsport.

Washington, Wednesday, September 17.—A general alarm was given to the people of the city, and the rebels retreated to the Potowomotoway, and Middlefield, and were surrounded by Federal troops.

The rebels were driven back to Harper's Ferry, and captured.

It is reported that the rebels are making a slow retreat, and are endeavoring to reach Williamsport.

Washington, Wednesday, September 17.—A general alarm was given to the people of the city, and the rebels retreated