HIGH SCHOOL

JUNIORS ROYALLY ENTERTAIN SENIORS AT THE MASONIC TEMPLE

Amidst flowery embankments, wonderful arrays of Shasta daisies, twining ivy and tropical plants; with music, laughter, song and dance, the Junior class of the high school launched the Seniors on their way to the world last night. The large assembly room of the Masonic Temple was a scene of light and merriment; a vast assortment of silver, cut glass and flowers glistened and sparkled on the tables, which were arranged in the form of an immense oblong, occupying three sides of the room.

Blue and white, the Senior colors were everywhere. They shone first in the favors; they looked out cunningly from the monogram place cards; they emphasized the occasion in the shape of large epergnes containing Shasta daisies under blue veils.

The young ladies of the place card committee, Katherine Green and Aldine Norton, deserve great credit for their work. Under the able direction of the general committee, Carol Willisford, president of the Junior class and chairman of the committee; Lola East, James Shea, Robert Kolts, Grace Beach, Mary Jane Evans and Lisle Johnson, everything went without a hitch and the smoothness of the arrangements would have done credit to a committee of large experience.

The committee had not been sparing in its use of flowers: Every window showed its large vase of Shasta daisies draped in blue tulle. The platform at the east of the room was a perfect maze of rubber plants, hydrangeas, ferns and palms. In the center of the room was another platform with a beautiful bed of ferns. Here, too, stood a special table on which was placed the Senior cake, a large creation of the confectioner's art, decorated in blue and white, with the words "Senior Class—1915," conspicuously adorning it.

All day yesterday the decoration committee: Mary Hunt, chairman; Margaret McPherson, Grace Beach, Rachel McClure, Tom Phillips, Willard Learned, Walter Hawkins and Mervyn Mills, labored with praiseworthy diligence and their labors transformed the great hall into a veritable fairyland of beauty and fragrance.

It was doubtless owing to the experience and supervision and assistance of the mothers' committee: Mrs. W. A. Huff, chairman; Mrs. A. W. Beach, Mrs. A. M. Hunt, Mrs. A. N. Lord, Mrs. D. T. Gregg, Mrs. J. J. Phillip, Mrs. H. E. Willisford and Mrs. Martha McClure, that the appointments of the table were so complete and that the menu was chosen with a rare sense of delicacy and yet was substantial enough to please every one. Ripe olives, rolls and jelly; supreme of chicken, ala Junior; potatoes and garden peas, iced cucumbers, brick ice cream, assorted cakes, coffee and mints—what more could heart desire.

All this fine array of delicacies was served with promptitude and grace by the Freshman girls' committee, who moved like ministering angels through the vast hall and saw that the 200 guests had their wants supplied. The committee was: Mary Ellen O'Leary, Lucille Barnes, Margaret Gregg, Margaret Lusby, Jane Snyder, Olive Pitman, Marcella Orths, Christina Ferris, Louise Ferris, Aileen Preeman, Teloise Preeman, Blanche Kramer, Muriel Turner, Katherine Lord, Helen McMullin and Merle Frantz.

Among the guests at the table were the members of the faculty, Principal and Mrs. Moyses, Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Howe, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Root, Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Morris, Mr. and Mrs. George F. Taylor, Miss Helen M. Darsie, Miss May M. Donichy, Miss Bessie I. Field, Miss Ethel H. Flood, Miss Helen Goldthwaite, Mrs. Dora L. Gibson, Miss Ellen J. Hanson, Miss Vera E. Holloway, Miss Margaret Knepper, Miss M. Irene Muller, Miss Dorothy B. Poppy, Miss Nellie B. Shepard, Miss E. Maud Sopher, Miss Abbie C. Terry, Miss Katherine M. Turner, Mr. A. L. Ferguson, Mr. Walter I. Hildebrand, Mr. C. E. Houdyshel, Mr. Arthur R. Oliver.

The trustees of the school were also present with their wives as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Young, Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Bryant.

Carol Willisford, who presided as toastmistress, discharged the duties of her office with grace and dignity. George Dyer's toast to the Senior class was witty throughout, varied by touches of clever humor and was received with great appreciation. Hastings Bidwell, president of the Senior class, showed good taste and

A LATE HARVEST

MONTHLY BULLETIN ISSUED BY CALIFORNIA DEVELOPMENT BOARD

May, 1915, was an unusually wet and cold month with much less than the usual number of sunny days. The rainfall was well distributed throughout the first and second decade of the month, and during that period there were but few days with bright sunshine. The last week of the month was mostly fair and the weather was more like that of the average May. The damp, rainy weather caused a large amount of damage to early cherries, strawberries and cut hay, and in some sections damaged apricots and caused rust on the early-sown wheat. Late-sown wheat made excellent growth and promises a large crop. The cold, damp weather has greatly delayed the maturing of all crops and the harvest season will be late in all sections of the state.

The United States food inspectors have officially ruled that the so-called Manchurian, Korean and Japanese limas are merely varieties of the common bean and much inferior for table use. It will hereafter be illegal to market the imported beans as limas, which makes Ventura county smile.

The Sacramento Union announces that the Santa Fe has about completed arrangements for a fruit train to run from Stockton to Chicago on a schedule which will deliver ripe fruit and fresh vegetables in Chicago 18 hours earlier than at present.

Detailed figures from San Diego county show that 25,607 young citrus trees and 59,088 deciduous trees have been planted in that county since October 1st last. These figures do not include the plantings from home-grown stock.

Kindly feeling in his toast to the Juniors, Rachel McClure welcomed the guests in chaste and appropriate language. Purman Bennett showed that his oratorical powers were not the least impaired by his recent contests and toasted the faculty with just the proper shade of feeling.

Miss Terry excelled herself in the reading she gave; Alice Grey Beach showed her skill as a pianist in a pleasing solo; Hazel Whately sang with sustained power and sweetness. James' orchestra discoursed most excellent music throughout the evening.

The speech of the evening was naturally that of Principal Moyses, whose labors in behalf of the school have endeared him to parents and scholars alike. Mr. Moyses said: "The toast assigned me is 'To the School,' and it will be appropriate for me to tell you something of what the school has gone through before it attained its present excellent condition. Thirteen years ago the rest of the faculty and myself were teaching the high school in a suite of four rooms rented from the old hotel, which is now the Glendale sanitarium. The school was limited in every way. We could not even play a ball game, much less give an elaborate banquet such as this which we are enjoying tonight.

"After much labor and debate we were able to get the old yellow building built on the corner of Broadway and Brand, where the First National bank now stands. The high school spent some six years in that old building. Meantime, the city was growing at such a rate that in 1908 the commencement exercises had to be held in a specially built hall, temporarily erected on the tennis courts.

"At last the district voted to sell the old yellow building, lot and all. It was not easy to get that measure through, but it was accomplished. The district voted to buy new grounds and to erect what is now the administration building. The election occasioned much excitement. The high school girls showed their activity and enterprise by serving lemonade to the voters. That election was won by a very narrow margin.

"Finally we got into our new building only to find that the school had outgrown even the new accommodation. Two new buildings were added and yet so rapid is the increase of Glendale that this year at commencement we have hardly room to seat the immediate relatives of the pupils."

Mr. Moyses' address was listened to with much interest and loudly applauded. In the course of it he paid a very graceful tribute to the teachers, who had worked along with him and had so faithfully served the interests of the school. He also said nothing would be lacking that was in his power to advance the interests of the school and to keep it in the high position it had attained in the scholastic world.

All voted at the conclusion of the merry evening that never had a Junior class entertained a Senior at so original a banquet or with so great hospitality.

PUBLIC PLAYGROUND

FOR ALL THE CHILDREN OF THIS CITY IS BEING PLANNED BY THE P. T. A.

There was a called meeting of the Parent-Teacher association of the Pacific avenue school Thursday evening at the school building. Mrs. Ella W. Richardson, president, presiding. The object of the meeting was to discuss the desirability of equipping a playground at that school for the use of all of the children of Glendale.

The grounds surrounding the Pacific avenue school are in such excellent condition and require but little preparation for immediate use, that it was decided to hold clean-up day Wednesday, June 16. There are weeds, stones and small depressions that are quite unsightly on the playgrounds and these will receive proper attention at the hands of all the willing workers who will be on hand Wednesday morning with hoes, rakes and spades to aid in the good work.

An earnest appeal is made to the parents of the children of Glendale, as well as to the boys and girls, to come to the Pacific avenue school grounds at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning.

It is requested that each one bring a lunch, the ladies of the association to furnish free ice cold lemonade for all. The members of the association have decided to hold weekly meetings each Thursday night at the Pacific avenue school building.

There is a subscription list at the Bank of Glendale, where the president, F. H. Vesper, is interesting not only the many patrons of the bank, but all of the citizens in swelling the funds for this worthy cause.

Miss Ruby Dale has offered to give her symphony for the benefit of the playground funds. Another public spirited citizen has offered to give a most excellent program for the funds, the tickets selling for fifteen cents each. Mrs. Richardson is anxious that each organization, society and club of Glendale send one active and interested representative to the weekly meeting. Do the citizens and parents realize what this playground really means to their children, especially during the long vacation days? Some children may be fortunate this summer in spending their vacations in the mountains beside babbling brooks, beneath fragrant pines, or at the seashore, where the cool ocean breezes render life such a pleasure, but the majority will be obliged to remain at home, and what a boon this playground will be to parents and children alike.

"How far that little candle sheds its light; so shines a good deed in a naughty world."

TROPICO

Officers and members of the Kensington club enjoyed a most delightful day as the guests of Mrs. George W. Sanford at her beautiful ranch home in Sycamore canyon Wednesday. The ladies were conveyed to their hostess' home in an auto truck all enjoying the drive up the beautiful canyon. On the cool and shady veranda the luncheon was served. The afternoon was spent in chatting, sewing for the Florence Crittendon home and walking over the ranch and into Paradise park. Mr. Sanford, who is an author and poet, read several of his poems by request during the luncheon. When the shadows began to grow long and the crickets began their chirping, the guests then turned homeward bearing pleasant memories of a day most delightfully enjoyed.

A most delightful outing is planned for tomorrow by Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Appenfelder, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Porter of Glendale, Mrs. Louise Purnell, Mrs. Elizabeth Kasseall, Dr. and Mrs. Samuel A. Pollock and Allen Pollock, who will leave in the early morning hours in their touring cars for Santa Monica. From there they will visit Topanga canyon and then over into the interesting Malibu country.

Sir Francis and Mrs. Booth entertained with a daintily appointed dinner party at their home on Gardena avenue Thursday evening complimentary to Miss Margaret Weatherby, supervisor of music in the Tropic schools, and her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Weatherby of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Eva M. Blain of Los Angeles, who attended the banquet given by Glen Eyrre chapter, O. E. S., Thursday evening, complimentary to Miss Cora Hickman, district deputy grand matron, was the guest of Miss Hickman Friday.

The youth of our nation should not be reared with the idea that it is glorious to slay their fellow-men in warfare.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

HOLDS REGULAR MEETING AND LISTENS TO REPORTS OF COMMITTEES

The regular monthly meeting of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce was held at the fire station, Friday evening, June 11, J. W. Usilton, president of the Chamber, presiding and J. F. Lilly, secretary, performing the duties of his office. After the reading of the minutes of the preceding meeting the president delivered his usual monthly message to the members. It is as follows:

To the Chamber of Commerce. Gentlemen: I wish to congratulate and thank the committees on the parade recently held in this city. There was unanimity of effort that brought results. Many were active and we cannot name those that deserve commendation lest some would be overlooked.

Your committee to locate an industrial site is working on the problem. It must be borne in mind that there are many details to be adjusted and it is a knotty problem it is asked to solve. It is urged that their report be made as expeditiously as possible. As soon as the location is determined a special committee should be selected to induce industries to locate here.

A proposed public playground at Pacific Avenue grammar school is among the latest rumors. An athletic field would add much to the city and be a source of profitable pleasure to the athletically inclined.

This city for the past few years has pursued a policy of quiet and peacefulness that has induced but few visitors. It is thought a few parades, fiestas and flower shows will liven the city, and induce desirable citizens to visit us, and will aid us in obtaining an influx of population that will redound to the benefit of Glendale.

The road improvements in various sections of the city, and particularly west of Central avenue, should be noted and due credit given to the city manager for the improvement. Maryland avenue residents are complaining justly about the condition of that street. Commendation should be given when deserved, as well as to call attention where neglect is evident.

A letter of thanks should be forwarded by the secretary to the Glendale News and Glendale Press and to each of the Los Angeles city papers for the liberal amount of publicity for Glendale in the Fruits and Flower Festival recently given by the Tuesday Afternoon club. The women of that club also deserve a vote of thanks from this body for their energy and hard work in that connection, as it all benefits Glendale beyond calculation.

To thoroughly appreciate the changes in the city hall made by Manager Harry Lynch for the convenience of the public utilities department a visit of inspection is necessary. The result should be increased efficiency and economy in the detail work of that branch of the city service.

And let's remember, "A booster helps the city; a knocker retards its progress." Which will it be?

F. H. Vesper, the treasurer of the Chamber, being absent, the secretary was called upon to give a financial report. He stated that since he had taken up the duties of secretary he had collected $89.75 and there was about $17 in the treasury when he took the office. Bills have been paid to the amount of $50, so there remains in the treasurer's hands now rather more than $50. The secretary stated that the verbal report just submitted did not include the collection of subscription money for prizes awarded in the parade at the time of the Festival of Fruits and Flowers.

Rev. W. E. Edmonds, chairman of the railroad committee, could not be present, but sent a communication that he had no progress to report as to the extension of the P. E. road in parts of East Glendale.

Prof. A. M. Brooks, who some months ago had been appointed as a member of the Brand boulevard extension committee, made a very exhaustive report. He said several well attended meetings had recently been held in Tropic at which were present representatives from Los Angeles, Tropic, Glendale, Atwater and other communities in the San Fernando valley. The course of this road as planned is to continue from the present terminus of Brand boulevard in Tropic south and across the Los Angeles river about 150 feet west of the bridge, continue south just west of the power house at Ivanhoe and from there take the most direct course to Los Angeles. Mr. Brooks said that there is an effort being made by Los Angeles citizens to have the proposed boulevard named Glendale.

NEW OFFICERS

FEDERATION AND ASSOCIATION OFFICERS FOR NEW YEAR ASSUME OFFICE

On Wednesday last, two score of the most active workers of the local Parent-Teacher associations met before noontime to have luncheon under the shade of La Ramada. For an hour and more, social chat and luncheon were in order, then at 2 o'clock the serious part of the program began, when Mrs. Chas. H. Toll, retiring president of the Federation, called the meeting to order. A few matters of business being disposed of, the work of installation was taken up. The following officers had previously been elected unanimously and made appropriate remarks upon being presented to the federation as the new officers:

President, Mrs. Chas. E. Hutchinson. Vice-President, Mrs. T. W. Preston. Recording Secretary, Mrs. Richardson D. White. Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. W. A. Burns. Treasurer, Mrs. Fred W. Myton. Historian, Mrs. George E. Adams. Parliamentary, Mrs. P. S. McNutt.

The federation is fortunate in having secured as its chief officer one who brings the experience, the love for and interest in the work, and the ability which the new president, Mrs. Hutchinson, possesses. There are few, if any, of the workers in Glendale who have been identified for so long a time with the activities of the Parent-Teacher associations, and know the spirit and history of the work so thoroughly as does Mrs. Hutchinson. The federation is closing a very prosperous and harmonious year, with two new associations organized this year, 500 active members, treasuries comfortably filled, and a year full of accomplishment along many lines of child welfare work to look upon in retrospect. It is confidently expected that, with the work in such excellent shape and with the corps of new officers, the federation will proceed next year to still greater achievement.

The following officers were installed for the various associations:

For the High School
President, Mrs. F. E. Hagin. Vice-President, Mrs. T. W. Preston. Recording Secretary, Mrs. B. H. Nichols. Corresponding Secretary and Historian, Mrs. A. N. Lord. Treasurer, Mrs. J. B. McClellan.

EQUAL CHANCE FOR ALL

A FINE AUTO OR HIGH-GRADE PIANO MAY BE YOURS IF YOU WISH

One of this country's richest men once said, "There's mighty little difference between a millionaire and a poor bank clerk. Both may have started with the same education, the same chances in life, but one had the initiative and the courage to grasp opportunity and rise to success, while the other floated along the 'stream of indifference' and stayed in a rut."

The same truth holds good in the Evening News' great contest. A dozen candidates may start next week with the same chances, the same opportunity, and three of the contestants through aggressive solicitation of their friends will forge in the lead.

Many people, also, are interested, but take this view: "I would like to win an auto, but I probably would not get it anyway."

"Faint heart never won fair lady," neither will the people that never start win a prize.

Get in and win. Your chance is as good as any. The prizes are going to be awarded to some one, and that some one might just as well be you. The contest doesn't even start until Monday, and you have the best kind of an opportunity to be among the first to start.

Sit down tonight or tomorrow and make out a list of all your friends, and make up your mind to call on at least several of them Monday; without doubt they'll help you.

The prizes are well worth anyone's effort. The $850.00 Maxwell is fully equipped and the machines sold at the local Maxwell agency have made good, and a real auto in every sense of the word.

The Schiller piano is well known all over the country and is an instrument of inherent worth and would certainly make a welcome addition to almost any home. Then there are trips to either of the expositions, three $75.00 scholarships to the Isaacs-Woodbury Business college, a $50.00 bank deposit at the First National bank of Glendale, and two other $50.00 prizes and three $25.00 prizes to be announced later. Also a commission of ten per cent will be paid on new subscriptions to all who do not win a prize.

Every person residing in The News' territory is invited to become a candidate. All there is to do is to secure new subscriptions or renewals and clip the coupons from the paper.

In a few days the later nominations will have obstacles to overcome in passing the lead of those who have been spending their time fruitfully. Those who send in their nominations now start on an equal basis with every other person taking part in the campaign. Isn't it wise, then, to make your start now? Of course, nominations will be accepted for some time yet, but it is the early start that gives the advantage. Remember, that the nomination ballot will start you well away with 5000 free votes. The rest will come easy, providing you put your energy and industry to use.

SEA WATER BAPTISM

What is not a common medium for the sacrament of baptism was made use of last Sunday in the First Methodist Episcopal church, when James Francis, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Vivrett, 1559 Vine street, was baptized by the Rev. Bede A. Johnson. Before coming to Glendale Mr. Vivrett, who was born in Tennessee, and his wife, who was born in Illinois, had never seen the ocean. So charmed have they been with the majesty, beauty and many wonders of the great sea that they determined that their infant should be baptized with salt water. Just before the baptismal ceremony, the parents went to Long Beach and procured a quantity of sea water, which was used in the sacrament, which was administered in the First Methodist Episcopal church.

Packer. Secretary, Mrs. Anna W. Miller. Treasurer, Mrs. C. H. Woolsey. Historian, Mrs. Lucy W. Durham. After installation the matter of summer playgrounds was introduced by Dr. E. H. Willisford, and after much discussion it was decided to form a committee with power to act in opening the way, if possible, for the location of such playgrounds as are available and sufficiently roomy this summer. The committee appointed were: E. H. Willisford, chairman; Mr. R. D. White, Mmes. Chas. E. Hutchinson, Chas. H. Toll and Ella W. Richardson. This was the first joint installation ever held in the federation, but it is hoped this may become an annual affair, as those present thoroughly enjoyed the occasion.

DRINKING FOUNTAINS NEEDED AT ONCE

It was a good idea that struck the Chamber of Commerce Friday night to urge the city trustees to instruct the manager of the public service department to install drinking fountains at the corner of Brand and Broadway and also at the corner of Glendale avenue and Broadway. The request is not new. The city has been asked before to attend to this urgent matter of public service. Either the request has not been emphatic or the city from mistaken motives of economy has laid the matter on the table.

This is a matter that concerns every citizen. It is vital to the city's reputation that visitors should not go away with the impression that Glendale is too careless or too niggardly to attend to this service, which, in a climate like this, is a matter of necessity. Glendale has been several years without service of this kind and if its installation be delayed now, the city is likely to be another year or more in its present parched condition. The Glendale Evening News hopes that this matter will receive prompt attention and that it will not be sidetracked as it has been in the past.

IMPORTANCE OF MUNITIONS

Not long ago an official report from the United States war department revealed the fact that in the matter of munitions this country is not only far behind others, but that it has barely enough ammunition to suffice for a very brief campaign and only enough field artillery ammunition on hand to last for about one day at the rate at which ammunition is used up in these days. The lesson of Europe should be taken to heart. "Defense not defiance" may be the motto of our land; but there can be no defense where there has been no preparation.

How true this is can be seen in what is happening in Europe at present. In the beginning of the war Germany had 75,000 skilled workers making ammunition at the famous Essen works. Immediately that the war broke out, that number was increased to 120,000. It is this foresight that is enabling Germany at the present time to hold in check both the French and British in the West and to drive the Russians back in the East. The expenditure of ammunition that preceded the recent downfall of Przemysl would probably sorely tax the manufacturing powers of all the United States factories for several months.

France has never been backward in its manufactures and in munitions of war it should have had a supremacy over Germany had not some one blundered. It was stated in the French house of representatives two days ago that some of the civilian directors of affairs had denuded the ammunition factories of their best workmen and sent them to the front, supplying their places with women, to the serious handicapping of the French army. This blunder was not much remedied when orders were given to send back the workmen to the factories. Along with the real workmen came a great number who under pretense of being skilled in ammunition work, got relief from the trenches.

It is singular that France should have intrusted her destinies in this important matter to men who were utterly incapable by past training to comprehend the needs of the army at the front. The same mistake, it appears, was made in connection with other skilled workmen who should have been permitted to remain at their trades as engineers and in other positions where skill is required, but who were drafted to the fighting line.

In England, also, Sir William Robertson Nicoll, editor and proprietor of The British Weekly, urges an immediate and thorough attempt to furnish the army at the front with sufficient ammunition. It appears that no advance is possible at present because of the superiority of the Germans in this particular.

There have been two crises in the war, according to The British Weekly. One of these has already been passed—that when Britain was suffering from a lack of men. The second is now confronting that country—a lack of munitions of war. Without sufficient ammunition—rifles, machine guns, field artillery and other accessories—it looks as though the allies would never be able to put an end to the war, which might even end in favor of Germany. Should it so end, that consummation would have been brought about by the negligence of the British war office to provide sufficient munitions of war.

The lesson is patent to ourselves. If the United States is to uphold the dignity of its international interests; if its presidential notes to countries like Germany are to pass current, they must be backed by something more substantial than words. There are probably few loyal Americans who desire to see this country involved in war, yet that is exactly what they may see when the helpless state of the land comes in line with the opportunity of some exploiting state that is armed to the teeth.

WILSON'S REPLY TO GERMANY

Scrutinizing President Wilson's reply to Germany, it is difficult to see what there is in it that could have justified Secretary Bryan in making it a reason for leaving the cabinet. The reply is dignified, statesman-like and there is in it not a word that could be conceived as provocative of any hard feelings on the part of the German government. If Bryan was able to tolerate and to sign the reply that preceded this one, he had need to stretch his imagination to find ground for offense here.

Perfectly firm and dignified, the present document reiterates President Wilson's former statements and enunciates the position of the United States with absolute clearness. There can be no mistake on Germany's part that this country is determined not to tolerate the killing of unarmed and defenseless Americans on any pretense.

That the most recent reply is innocuous as far as its war-provoking qualities are concerned, may readily be gathered from the tone of the German-American press. Almost without exception the German-American newspapers approve the note. In Germany, itself, the note appears to have elicited no surprise nor antagonism; whereas Bryan's resignation seems to be fraught with considerable significance to the leading German authorities.

This would be almost laughable were it not the case that the American press has often made similar miscalculations regarding German events. The Tages Zeitung, a government organ, or semi-official paper, says that Germany cannot recede from her former position. The Vorwaerts, the Socialist organ, thinks that Bryan's resignation means that Wilson's reply is in the shape of an ultimatum. All that shows how difficult it is for one country to judge another.

If there were no suspicion that Bryan, however sincere in his desire for peace at any price, has still further been actuated by other motives, the secretary of state's attitude toward peace might make a name for him. There is, however, the underlying suspicion in the light of President Wilson's careful and considerate reply to Germany, that Bryan could not resist the opportunity to play politics. The presidential election is coming on and an appeal to the people must be made if Bryan is ever to realize his long-cherished presidential aspirations.

Bryan has taken his first step toward making that appeal. The American people will undoubtedly stamp his action with their disapproval. In the hour of crisis, in the moment when the president's hands needed strengthening, Bryan has deserted his post, and of all things in this world the real American people detest a quitter.

dale boulevard—just whether that would mean the changing the name in Tropic and Glendale would be left to the people and the city officials of these cities to decide. Mr. Brooks also stated that a committee is at work to persuade the board of supervisors to appropriate a portion of the money required for building a bridge across the Los Angeles river.

M. P. Harrison in speaking of the question of the extension of Brand boulevard said that he is interested in the project and that he knows of many others who are interested and he would like to know in what way individual citizens may assist in furthering the extension. Mr. Brooks replied that he knew of no better way than for those favoring it to speak a good word for it whenever possible and to keep up the enthusiasm for a direct boulevard to Los Angeles. Considerable time was spent in discussing the wisdom of changing the name of Brand boulevard to Glendale boulevard. Those speaking on this subject were: J. F. Lilley and O. A. Lane. John R. Barrows put a stop to this discussion by stating that in his opinion there is no need of giving concern about the name until we are sure to get the road; the first thing is to negotiate with the proper parties for the opening of a road and then when all of that work is completed it will be in place to give the naming of the road consideration. One speaker suggested that the citizens of Tropic and Glendale should get busy and form an assessment district by which money might be raised to finance the part of the cost not borne by the city of Los Angeles. Another speaker is of the opinion that since the road is entirely within the city of Los Angeles, the expense should be borne by that city just the same as any other street improvement. T. W. Watson suggested that the city attorney of Glendale be requested to inquire into the plan of procedure as to forming an assessment district if such should be advisable.

J. F. Lilly said he had been interviewed by a committee of fifty from Pasadena concerning a boulevard they propose constructing connecting Los Angeles with the San Fernando road near the Verdugo road. The opinion of those present is that Pasadena will take care of their own boulevard needs independent of Glendale.

A very animated discussion was engaged in concerning the need of drinking fountains on Brand boulevard and Broadway. Facts were made known that almost a year ago the request had been made that drinking fountains be installed for public use, but for reasons only known to those who have been dilatory in carrying out the request, the fountains were not installed. A motion prevailed that the city trustees be requested to instruct the manager of the Public Service department to provide drinking fountains, one at Brand and Broadway and the other at Broadway and Glendale avenue. The question of providing public comfort stations also came up for discussion and after considerable discussion a motion prevailed that the city officials request the P. E. company to put in better condition the comfort stations in their depot at Glendale and that in case the Pacific Electric company gives no heed to the request, an appeal is to be made to the state railroad commission to advise the P. E. company to comply with the laws concerning providing properly equipped comfort stations for the traveling public.

On motion, Samuel Parker, who was present at this meeting, was elected an honorary life member with dues paid up. Mr. Parker replied by stating that some are born with honors and others have honors thrust upon them, this being a case of the latter. Mr. Parker's further remarks gave evidence that he is one of Glendale's most loyal citizens, and although 86 years of age, is always ready to use his efforts for the upbuilding of Glendale.

T. W. Watson, city manager, suggested that the Chamber of Commerce take some action as to the needed improvements on Glendale avenue from First street to Verdugo road. He said that the Salt Lake railroad company has been slow in favoring the improvement of their property which comprises considerable of this road and he is of the opinion that a resolution from the Chamber of Commerce to the Board of Trustees favoring such an improvement will be in place at this time. The resolution was adopted by a unanimous vote.

A communication was read from W. E. Hewitt, manager of the Glendale laundry, in which he extended thanks to the Chamber of Commerce for the consideration he received in the parade at the Festival of Fruits and Flowers, and he expressed himself as always being willing to aid in any project that is for the upbuilding of Glendale.

J. F. Lilly, who has served very faithfully as secretary of the Chamber since the latter part of January, tendered his resignation, asking that the same take effect at once, at the same time assuring the members of the Chamber of Commerce that he is not taking this step on account of any feeling of dissatisfaction, but because he is unable to give the required attention to the duties of the office. Mr. Lilly's resignation was accepted with regrets and R. M. Jackson, a member of the Chamber, was elected to fill to vacancy made by Mr. Lilly's resignation.

Mr. Jackson thanked the members for their kindly consideration and said he had been recently elected secretary of the Merchants' association, and would accept the position of secretary of the Chamber, providing the Merchants' association does not offer objections. (Adjourned.)

HARRY TATE AT PANTAGES NEXT WEEK

Harry Tate's comedy company will present "Motoring" at Pantages and next week's show needs little else to recommend it. This act is the champion gloom-chaser and joy-coaxer and its appearance always means crowded houses and happy audiences. Tate writes to Manager Carl Walker that the 1916 model is now out and will be shown in Los Angeles for the first time. The act is now self starting, electric lighted, eight-cylinder, fully equipped with tire pump, electric gear shift, forced lubrication and the local agency is ready to accept orders for immediate delivery.

Three men, Johnson, Howard and Listette, all comedians, introduce numerous acrobatic novelties which are both laughable and thrilling.

Bert Von Klein and Grace Gibson specialize in comedy songs, patter and dances. This is one of the snappiest new acts of the season.

Earl Taylor and Ethel Arnold have been absent only six months, but that time has sufficed for them to acquire an entire new repertoire of songs and comedy.

Nolan and Nolan, man and woman, open the show with hat juggling and other comedy specialties.

The Misses Curtis and Hebbard, two presentable young women, add a pleasing feminine touch to the show. New songs and clever costumes make their offering effective.

THE PALACE GRAND WILL AGAIN SHOW HIGH-CLASS FEATURE PICTURES ON SUNDAY

Clara Kimball Young in "The Deep Purple" will be the attraction at the Palace Grand theater Sunday, both matinee and night. Lovers of the strongly dramatic in motion picture form will find that the story of this photoplay will provide them with plenty of excitement and the opportunity of studying some familiar types interpreted by an efficient cast of players. Into a peaceful country town goes Harry Leland, one of the vicious band of crooks operating in New York. These people, inter alia, profess to supply country churches with organs and Harry's mission is to secure a handsome deposit from the confiding clergymen and their congregations. Of course the crooks divide the plunder and the organ is never delivered.

Arrived at the scene of operations, Harry fools clergyman and congregation; gets the money; makes love to pretty Doris Moore, the clergyman's daughter, and lures her down to New York by a specious stratagem all the more effective because he has received a wire from the gang that William Lake, a successful western miner, is on his way east, "a pigeon to be plucked."

This slick fellow, Harry Leland, is an exponent of the badger game. Frisco Kate keeps a lodging house in New York City, resorted to by the gang of crooks. When Doris Moore is safely landed there, it is found out by one of the gang that William Lake, the western mining engineer, is staying with his mother and sister at a nearby hotel. Doris is persuaded by Harry Leland and the other crooks to attract Lake to Frisco Kate's house under the plea that Harry is in trouble about his western Goldfield speculations and needs good and disinterested advice. The gang succeed in bringing Doris and Lake together in a room and at a prearranged moment they break into that room, and Harry Leland demands to know of Lake what he is doing alone in a room with his (Leland's) wife. But innocent Doris denies that she is Leland's wife. Nevertheless, the gang demands money of Lake, who resists. There is a scuffle and a fight; Lake is robbed and wounded; they (the crooks) get away and Doris is put out of sight.

Frisco Kate proves the good genius of the tumult. She keeps the boarding house in which Harry Leland has pulled the badger game by means of Lake and Doris. Out west Kate has been a disreputable woman, but now she is determined to be on the level. She has pitied Doris and is shocked at her mistreatment. Getting in touch with police headquarters, Kate secures the arrest of the gang of crooks and Doris' freedom.

Meanwhile, the Rev. Mr. Moore has arrived in New York to reclaim his daughter, and she is restored to her father by William Lake. The latter presents the clergyman with an organ for his church and falls in love with the organist, who of course is Doris, and so a happy ending rounds off a crook drama of intense interest.

EIGHT YEARS OLD

A very pretty and dainty party was given Thursday afternoon by Mrs. L. Linkogel at her home, 231 South Central avenue, to commemorate the eighth birthday anniversary of her daughter, Eula Linkogel. Mrs. Linkogel, who so charmingly entertained for her daughter, was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Addie Allen, and her sister, Mrs. Roy V. Hogue. ### Seed Notes

Our Lord himself was a young man. He understood what it meant to be full of energy, dash and the heroic. No human character has so masterfully appealed to the young man like the Lord Jesus Christ. The best, noblest, bravest and purest in the young man, the Lord Jesus calls out into action of splendid deeds. And this cannot be brought into prominence in the life of any young man unless there is attention given to the demands of God and men.

Thousands of young men today are bent on making a living; they want to make money; they desire to succeed, but fail to reckon the making of a life is of far more importance both for time and eternity. And no young man can give of his best, to lift the world nearer God and righteousness whose heart is not inclined toward God and good. It has always proved, the power of Christ upon the heart and life of any young man has brought him from obscurity into the limelight.

Now the Lord Jesus needs our busy young men. The young men who put zeal and ambition into their business. For anyone who can succeed in material things can make a success of spiritual.

That the young man has forged so far to the front in all lines of business, giving it freshness, tone and spirit, is the reason his prominence in church life is demanded that it may be saved from the conservatism of deadness and inactivity. The reality of faith and religion appeal to the heroic in the young man. Hence, the thing his practical turn takes will put vim, religious ginger and "go" in it.

So promising as the young man is, full of hope, buoyancy and faith, his obedience to the call of Christ to his service puts him in line with the truest success, because it brings upon him the blessing of God that maketh rich, adding no sorrow with it.

The call of Christ comes through men, sermons, books, articles in papers, Christian conversation, nature, the Holy Word. And when it is heeded, it will lead on to usefulness and beautiful service for him. This will always bring the joy of happiness, for Christ's service has many places where the young man can do a telling work for him. In his blessed army of noble workers the young man is needed to save life and make it better rather than be shot down in such cruel and inexcusable warfare as is now going on. God wants the best men, the purest, the noblest, most gifted, most promising, brightest. It is not always the ministry Christ has in view in calling young men, but to better and higher manhood, nobler impulses, purest character, which can be lived in the more humble callings and must be to elevate them. Wherever there is need, a sorrow, a tear-bedimmed eye, an orphan, hungry children, sin cursing the life, sympathy needed, there the young man becomes God's blessing and a power for good.

FLAG DAY AT B. P. O. E.

The Elks have two great public ceremonial days in the year—Memorial Day and Flag Day. The public is always welcome to witness the impressive ceremonies of the day on which the honored dead are remembered and the interesting services on that occasion usually attract very large crowds. Not less interesting and impressive are the ceremonies of Flag Day, when the Elks manifest their patriotism by an appreciation of the American flag.

Flag Day will be held Monday, June 14. The local lodge will hold the ceremonies in the lodge room on Broadway. The public is invited. The exercises will begin at 8 p. m. and will consist of a varied program of addresses, recitations and music.

Past Exalted Ruler Henry W. Brown of Santa Monica will deliver the principal address of the evening, which will be of a patriotic nature. Captain W. C. Wattles will give a dramatic resume of the great events connected with the American flag—"The Flag Record." Then will come the "Elks' Tribute to the Flag" given by Albert D. Pearce. Altogether, this will be an unique and highly instructive, as well as entertaining, occasion.

Let us neither borrow trouble nor lend it.
