POSTAL EMPLOYEES SEEK WAGE INCREASE THROUGH MEASURE IN CONGRESS

Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson, E. F. Sanders, Chamber of Commerce Secretary, Pledge Their Support in National Movement

By H. THOMPSON RICH
Of The Evening News Staff.
Determination to gain from the sixty-eighth congress the much needed wage increases provided in the Kelly bill now before that body marked Saturday night's installation of 1924 officers in Branch No. 1983, National Association of Letter Carriers, held at the Knights of Pythias' hall, corner of South Brand boulevard and Park avenue.

In this the local carriers were staunchly supported by their postmaster, D. Ripley Jackson, and were told in ringing terms that the Glendale Chamber of Commerce was behind them by its secretary, E. F. Sanders, who said that the same type of organization and cooperation that brought the recent sewer bond victory would bring victory to the postmen, and suggested that every chapter of the national association cooperate with its local Chamber of Commerce, that the National Chamber of Commerce might compel the desired legislation by the preponderance of its weight at Washington.

Install New Officers
The new officers were installed by Carrier William Newman of Los Angeles, president of the California Letter Carriers' association, assisted by Foreman W. W. Hunt of the Glendale office, former president of the local branch. Following are the officers duly placed in office:

Calvin S. Nicholson, president; David Sullivan, vice president; Frank C. Davis, recording secretary; Fred E. Blodgett, financial secretary; Edward Bielefeldt, treasurer; Paul Irmisher, sergeant at arms; O. W. Wright, retiring president, trustee, serving with W. A. Standley and John Hague; George P. Brady, sick benefit collector; F. S. Bohner, mutual benefit collector; and a service relations committee comprising, in addition to President Nicholson, David Sullivan and Sylvester Wood.

Auxiliary Officers
The following auxiliary officers of Branch 1983 were also installed in office Saturday night:

Mrs. Newton Clark, president; Mrs. William Standley, vice president; Mrs. Charles Love, secretary treasurer, and Mrs. Paul Irmisher, mistress at arms. Entertainment of a high order was furnished by Miss Lillian Martin of Los Angeles, a well known producer and manager of vaudeville concerts, under whose direction the following artists appeared: Estelle Dilthey, xylophone; Bigwood Twins, songs and dances; and Jeanette Rubin, pianist.

Present indications point to a record attendance at the annual dinner of the organization, when matters of vital interest to members of the profession will be discussed by some of the men most prominent in state and national realty circles.

Commenting on the situation, Clarence A. Redmond, district passenger agent of the Union Pacific lines, states:

"Because the time when the Glendale and Montrose cars will be operating over this line is so near at hand, the officials of the Union Pacific system thought it best not to include the run in their new schedules. Until the electrification can be completed and the G. & M. cars put in operation as planned, we will run specials out to Glendale along this track."

Divorces Lead In Reno 2 to 1 Over Marriages, Report

RENO, Nev., Jan. 14.—Divorces outnumbered marriages in Reno in 1923 almost two to one. Statistics compiled today show that the two district courts of Washoe county last year granted 780 divorces. The divorce decrees outnumbered the marriage licenses during the year by 328. In July when Dan Cupid made his best showing there were forty-six marriage licenses and sixty-eight divorces.

Gigantic Corporation To Operate Lines Plan By Norris of Nebraska

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—The Progressive insurgents today exploded their heaviest bombshell in congress, a flat proposal for government ownership of railroads.

Creation of a gigantic corporation to operate two transcontinental trunk lines north and south and east and west was proposed by Senator George W. Norris, Republican, of Nebraska, Progressive leader, in a Senate bill. The corporation, with a maximum capitalization of $5,000,000,000, could condemn, purchase or seize such privately owned railroads as found necessary to create the two federal trunk lines. It would also have power to acquire and operate power plants and coal mines necessary to supply fuel.

TOURISTS FLOOD SOUTHLAND

Realty Market Is Lively For Glendale Dealers; Hotels Are Needed

By GIL A. COWAN Of The Evening News Staff. Activity in the realty market here has been most noticeable during the past week and particularly over the week-end.

With the sewer bond issue settled Tuesday in favor of the immediate sanitary improvement, much business frontage has been reported sold at prices revised and some pieces of property withdrawn from the market.

However, it is the inclination of investors to sell to builders, or plant buildings themselves in order that Glendale may go full speed ahead.

In addition to a large demand for houses and lots in Glendale, the subdivisions within the city limits, as well as those in Burbank, Montrose and La Crescenta districts have shown renewed vitality in the matter of sales.

Optimism Prevails. The optimistic reports of the real estate brokers is based, however, on something more than mere "boom" as they call it, for the buyers are flocking here from the east by the hundreds.

In the last few days thousands of tourists have arrived in the southland, and most of them have come to stay.

They are bringing their money with them to establish new industries and stores and offices. A larger part of the newcomers are well able to retire on fortunes they have made in eastern states, although they are looking for desirable investment close to home.

Alhambra, Burbank and Lancaster are among the suburbs in which great activity is noted, and Glendale will continue to lead them all, the writer believes.

Effort is going to take concerted effort in advertising and community development to attract tourists and apartments to care for the increasing number of winter tourists.

With the assurance of sewerage several should be built at once. The lack of accommodations for visitors is Glendale's one great fault. HOTELS MUST BE BUILT.

That is not all, but it is enough for a starter this year.

British makes of commercial automobiles number forty-three, and those imported from America are from twelve different concerns.

Ancient Relics Found In Buried Pompeii Intrigue Interest of Kirk Party

"Pompeii, the Buried City," is being described by W. B. Kirk, and in his last letter and the letter published herewith he gives Glendaleans a picture of the great historical city through the columns of The Glendale Evening News.

W. B. KIRK

He writes: "Apparently there were no vacant lots, but the city was solidly built. The business section is well defined and the character of some of the shops can be known. There were seventeen wine shops in the city. The large earthen jars are still left in some of them. A chemist, or druggist, as we say, was known by a large serpent, in colors, frescoed on the outer wall, as his sign. We saw two or three of such signs.

"Many of the houses were two stories, and some of them are well restored. One, built around a patio, has been uncovered, which preserves the spouts on the roof, whence the rain flowed into a large square depression below. A well known one, called 'House of the Wetti,' contains marvelous and very beautiful frescoes, in colors, splendidly preserved. Beautiful postcards of these are sold, and I have mailed a few.

"At the entrances to some of the houses are finely preserved mosaics of animals. The 'Beware the Dog' one is well known. The dog really looks fierce. A wild boar is another, located on a street called 'Abundance' because of the cornucopia on a statue there.

"There is a beautiful little statue in the 'House of the Faun.' Three large baths have been unearthed, one having four large circular niches around the walls, where the bather could rest. The plunge is almost large enough to swim in. The 'Stabian' baths have about twenty lockers, in stone. The large alabaster marble basins in some of the courts are beautiful, likewise the bronze statuary.

Temples Still Stand. "The remains of two or three temples have been found. The largest, open space in the city was the 'Largo Forum,' supposed to have been for hucksters and small traders. Another forum, not so large, is called the 'Triangular.' "To show you how far advanced they were, we saw iron grating, lead drain pipes and a large six-inch iron pipe. They had a large amphitheater, probably for gladiatorial sports. They had a number of large gates to the city, the largest called the 'Herculeum,' and another called the 'Marine,' because it was closest to the bay. The latter was then only a third of a mile distant, but is now about one and a half miles away.

"Some of the best finds in statues, etc., are now in the National Museum in Naples, but in one house are still kept six or eight of the bodies found in the ruins, one of a man with a fowl well preserved; another with the skull and teeth perfect; another of a woman lying on her face; and one of a child.

"Charged pieces of cloth, many cooking utensils in bronze and iron, wine bottles, terra cotta lamps, crochet needles, etc., are shown in profusion.

Interesting City. "All in all, Pompeii is one of the most interesting sights we have seen in Europe. It is the chief attraction for tourists to Naples, although a trip to the island of Capri and a drive around Amalfi are also very fine trips, which we were not privileged to take because of the condition of the weather.

"The day we went to Pompeii was the only decent one out of four which we had there. After we returned to Naples that evening it began to rain and the gale arose, which I have mentioned, and lasted for two days. It rattled our windows and lashed the waves so that they came into the breakwater strong and high.

"Friday it had spent most of its force and we were able to get out, do a little shopping and see a little more of Naples. They (Continued on Page 4)

COLLECTOR TELLS FILING METHODS

Rex B. Goodcell Points Out Important Factors in Income Tax Law

By REX B. GOODCELL Collector of Internal Revenue. Am I required to render a personal income tax return for 1923? Yes; if unmarried or if married and not living with husband or wife, and your net income for that year equals or exceeds $1,000, or if you were married and living with husband or wife and your net income equals or exceeds $2,000 for that year.

If you act as the guardian of a minor or incompetent person, or as the administrator, executor or trustee of an estate or trust, a return will be required of you for and in behalf of your ward, or the estate or trust for which you act, if the conditions outlined under the head of "Fiduciaries," as requiring a return, are present in your case.

What is meant by the taxable year 1923? The taxable year 1923 means the calendar year 1923 or any fiscal year ending during the calendar year 1923.

What does the term "fiscal year" mean? The term "fiscal year" means an accounting period of twelve months ending on the last day of any month other than December.

Upon what period of time shall my 1923 income tax return be based? Your 1923 return should be rendered upon the basis of your annual accounting period (fiscal year or calendar year, as the case may be). If your annual accounting period is other than a fiscal year as defined above, or if you have no annual accounting period or do not keep books, you should render your return upon the basis of the calendar year.

Where to File Returns. Where should my personal return for the year 1923 be filed? The revenue act of 1921 provides that your return shall be filed with the collector of internal revenue for the district in which you have your legal residence or principal place of business. If your legal residence is located in one collection district and your principal place of business is in another, it is optional with which collector your return shall be filed; but for administrative reasons the commissioner of internal revenue desires that it be filed with the collector of the district in which your legal residence is located.

When may my 1923 return be filed with the collector of internal revenue? If you make return on a calendar year basis, on any day after December 31, 1923, but not later than the 15th day of the month following the close of the fiscal year. If you make your return on a fiscal year basis, it must be filed not later than the 15th day of the third month following the close of the fiscal year. File today and avoid the rush.

An extension of time beyond March 15, 1924, be obtained for the filing of my 1923 return? Yes; if on account of sickness or absence from home you are unable to render your return within the time prescribed by law, you may obtain an extension of thirty days, a request therefor is filed with the collector of your district. In this request you must state the reason why the return cannot be filed within the time prescribed by law.

Would a personal return rendered by an agent, for and in my behalf, be accepted? If by reason of illness, absence or non-residence a taxpayer is unable personally to render his return he may appoint an agent to act for him and the return executed by the agent will be accepted if he makes affidavit that he has sufficient knowledge to make a complete and accurate return for his principal. Such agent assumes responsibility for making the return, and incurs liability to the specific penalties provided for erroneous, false or fraudulent returns.

Is a married man who is entitled to a personal exemption of $2,500 and $800 additional exemption on account of two dependent children, and whose total net income does not exceed $2,400, but does equal or exceed $2,000, required to make a return? Yes; although he is not required to pay an income tax, he is required to make a return.

Apply for Blank Form. Where can I get a blank form upon which to make my return? From the collector of internal revenue. The collector will endeavor to have the form sent to you, but, failing to receive one, it is your duty to request one of the collector.

I own stock in a corporation which, in 1923, assessed each of its stockholders $50 on each share held. May the amount paid by me be claimed as a deduction? No; assessments made by a corporation on its capital stock are regarded as further investments of capital and do not constitute an allowable deduction. The amount so paid should be added to the original cost of the shares of stock in computing gain or loss from the subsequent sale thereof.

In California and other states fruit growers, ranchers and farmers are shareholders in irrigation companies which are mutual in character, and they are often assessed in proportion to their holdings of stock, for sufficient amounts to make repairs to the irrigation system, cleaning out of pipes, laterals, etc. May such assessments (Continued on Page 4)

INDUSTRIAL SITES HERE PURCHASED

T. W. Watson Company Sells Subdivision Properties to E. T. Jenney

The entire West Glendale industrial subdivision has been sold by T. W. Watson company to E. T. Jenney of the Jenney Realty company, 409 Pacific Finance building, Los Angeles. Mr. Jenney is acting for parties who will use a portion of the ground upon which to establish a manufacturing industry and will sell the balance as industrial sites.

This property comprises what is generally known as the Peverly property, consisting of forty acres lying just west of the Southern Pacific tracks and north of the railroad tracks adjacent to the city lines of Glendale, but located in the city of Los Angeles.

This property was purchased through the agency of T. W. Watson about a year ago by W. L. Tracy, Harry E. Hall, Campbell, H. G. MacBain and T. W. Watson, who intended to place it on the market as an industrial subdivision as soon as engineering and improvement details could be completed. Mr. Watson has had charge of these matters and all such arrangements are practically completed.

Laid Out In 21 Sites. The property has been laid out into twenty-one sites of various sizes, with streets and rights-of-way for railroad tracks extending through it. An appropriation of $25,000 has been set aside by the Southern Pacific to lay the main drill tracks, which they are planning to install within the next sixty days. The new purchasers contemplate expending $25,000 in addition for other improvements.

This property is ideally situated for industrial purposes and when improved as contemplated will have access to San Fernando road, railroad facilities, water, gas, electricity and natural gas available. With these advantages this property should be in demand immediately for industrial sites as soon as the railroad tracks are laid. The development of this property should mean a great deal to the city of Glendale inasmuch as there is room for the establishment thereon of twenty or even more large industrial concerns, whose payrolls should run into many thousands of dollars every year.

Close In Location. The property is located within less than a mile of the main business center of Glendale, easily accessible thereto by improved roads and Pacific Electric local bus service connecting with the main line.

It has taken a great deal of time to work out all of the details in connection with this subdivision, but they are all now practically completed. Mr. Watson will remain on the job, however, and assist the new owners in completing all of these matters.

Wealthy Executive Pays Taxes In Full

One of Los Angeles' $25,000 per year salaried men walked into Collector of Internal Revenue Rex B. Goodcell's office Saturday filed his 1923 return and paid his tax of $3,037 in full. "Last year," said this high-priced executive, "I waited until the last minute, hastily prepared my return, and filed it at the eleventh hour.

"The result was that my return was inaccurate and it caused me endless trouble and loss of time. I was summoned to the revenue office on two occasions and finally got matters straightened out.

"It was entirely my own fault, but it taught me a valuable lesson. This year I prepared my return properly, with assistance from Collector Goodcell's deputies, before the rush started. It is now off my mind. I advise others to follow in my footsteps and keep out of that February rush."

T. H. Crosland Urges Care For Shade Trees

Thomas H. Crosland of 475 Burchett street writes The Glendale Evening News as follows: "Where ever I take my walks abroad how many poor trees and shrubs I see. Household new and old should be encouraged steadily to cultivate and water their plants and flowers, both in the front and back yards. Remembering these duties helps to beautify their homes and also enhances their property values.

"Years ago I remember the city of Glendale planted hundreds of camphor trees between the sidewalks and curbs, but how few, very few were fostered to rear their heads aloft and spread their shade for the comfort of the passerby."

Wealth of Oriental Lore Contained in 29 Volumes At Congressional Library

By H. K. REYNOLDS For International News Service. WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—What was the most important event of the year just past? There are about as many answers to that question as there are persons in the world.

If you should wander into the Oriental division of the Congressional Library here and put that question to one of the attendants, the answer would be: "The acquisition of 29 volumes of the famous Yung Lo-tai-tien, the world's largest and in many ways most valuable book."

Twenty-nine volumes does not seem such a large number when it is pointed out that this great Chinese work, compiled from 1403 to 1409 A. D., originally had 11,095 volumes, containing 22,937 books, but Walter T. Swingle, one of the government's experts in Oriental literature, declares that only one library in the world has more volumes of the Congressional Library. The largest set is possessed by the Ministry of Education in Peking, which boasts of a total of 60 volumes. The Congressional Library already owned four volumes, so it now has 33, which is a great many more than any other library in Europe or the Orient.

The Yung Lo-tai-tien is an encyclopedia dictionary which was compiled by order of the military despot, Yung Lo, the third Ming emperor of China. Describing this voluminous work of 11,095 volumes, which was never printed because of its great bulk, Dr. Swingle, in the annual report of the Librarian of Congress, says: "It is the most extensive literary monument ever made by man, being at once the largest and best dictionary of the incredibly rich Chinese language, the largest and best collection of reprints of Chinese works in all fields of human endeavor, and this, too, in a country famous for its comprehensive novels and voluminous encyclopedias and all-inclusive collection of reprints. In each of these fields it exceeds in bulk and excels in quality all other similar Chinese works. It is, in truth, a universal compendium of all existing Chinese history, ethics, science, industry, geography, administration, religion, divination—in a word, all of human knowledge among the Chinese up to 1400 A. D. The Yung Lo-tai-tien combined all existing Chinese books that were available to the all powerful despot, Yung Lo, excepting only novels and plays not considered as falling within the scope of a serious work of this class. As a dictionary it is of priceless value. It is also at one and the same time a geographical gazetteer, a biographical gazetteer, and a compendium of Chinese literature, philosophy, history, art, religion and astrology of unrivaled amplitude."

Founder of Peking. Yung Lo, who is chiefly responsible for the compilation of the Ta-tien, is known as the founder of the city administration, religion, divination—in a word, all of human knowledge among the Chinese up to 1400 A. D. The Yung Lo-tai-tien combined all existing Chinese books that were available to the all powerful despot, Yung Lo, excepting only novels and plays not considered as falling within the scope of a serious work of this class. As a dictionary it is of priceless value. It is also at one and the same time a geographical gazetteer, a biographical gazetteer, and a compendium of Chinese literature, philosophy, history, art, religion and astrology of unrivaled amplitude."

Many Volumes Lost. While hundreds of volumes of the Ta-tien have been lost and many were destroyed in the burning of Hanlin college during the Boxer rebellion in 1900, Dr. Swingle is of the opinion that there is still a possibility that the now scattered volumes of the work may yet be found in China and brought together, although many Chinese believe that a large number of the volumes have been carried off to Europe.

FRUIT MEN MAY QUIT MARKETING

Green Fruit Handling Needs Re-organization Today, Claims Official. SAN JOSE, Jan. 14.—Dissolution of the Fruit Growers of California Inc., will eventuate today unless the growers rally to its support, according to R. P. Van Orden, president.

The Fruit Growers of California was organized a few years ago to market green fruit. While not connected with the Prune and Apricot Growers' association, officials of the latter body have always lent their support to the green fruit association.

Secretary R. V. Garrod declared that not enough growers had signed new contracts to make it worth while to continue. "We have levied an assessment of $3 per acre to pay our debts, so if we quit we won't owe anybody," said Garrod.

"Our contracts have expired," explained President Van Orden. "We had about 60 per cent of the canning apricots of this district and also handled cherries and peaches. If we are to continue, our contracts must be renewed and new acreage obtained."

CLUBWOMEN HOLD BIRTHDAY PARTY

College Alumnae Celebrate First Anniversary of Organization

With all the enthusiasm and hopeful promise that always attends a first birthday, over sixty members and guests of the Glendale College Women's club met Saturday afternoon at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse for an informal tea, celebrating the first anniversary of the organization of the club. On Saturday afternoon, January 20, 1923, there were sixty-five university and college women who met at the home of Mrs. Warren Roberts on East Elk avenue to participate in the organization, and through the year since, the club has come to share honors with the Tuesday Afternoon club in leading activities of Glendale clubdom.

Saturday's meeting of the club will be a memorable one in club history, not alone because it was the first birthday, but because it was featured by a decision to affiliate with the Los Angeles University Women's club, and by an offering of over $20 to stand as a nucleus for the club's scholarship fund.

The club meeting and program early in the afternoon was held in the club court, with Mrs. A. L. Ferguson, president, in charge. Of special interest to the club members was the announcement of the appointment of three new members to the board of directors. When the club by-laws were amended recently, provision was made for these three new members and Mrs. Ferguson announced that the following had been selected: Miss Ida Myers, corresponding secretary; Mrs. R. L. Holland, chairman of courtesy; Miss Hazel White, chairman of hospitality.

The decision to become affiliated with the Los Angeles University Women's club was made unanimously. The Los Angeles club solicits memberships from any like organization. Such a membership entitles a club to send representatives to the various meetings and other affairs.

Special Program. In view of the fact that Saturday's meeting was a birthday affair, Mrs. D. F. Reichard, program chairman, arranged a program featuring members of the club.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.
Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

DAILY FOUNDATION REDUCING DIET—No. 1

What foods are fattening? All foods are fattening. Lettuce is fattening, cucumbers are fattening, turnips are fattening—ANY food is fattening, or may be an irritant, if it happens to be more than the system needs.

Some foods are much more fattening than others. Ah, yes! The concentrated foods, such as sugar and fats, are very much more fattening than the watery foods, such as vegetables and fruits; but, measured by their energy values, 100 C. of lettuce (approximately 16 ounces) is just as fattening as 100 C. of butter (approximately one-half ounce). The reason we have to have a standard unit such as the calorie for measuring the energy value of foods, is because we cannot measure that value in bulk or weight.

What combinations of food are fattening? Any combination of food is fattening if it happens to be more than the system needs. You have often read, in the advertisements of a certain system of reducing, the following statement: "A noted scientist has made the wonderful discovery that certain foods in combination with certain other foods will produce fat, and these same foods in combination with other foods will actually consume fat!" The statement is false. There are no combinations of food that will "actually consume fat." I wish there were! It's too good to be true, if anything was ever too good to be true. Certain combinations are more fattening than others, yes, but simply because the foods combined are more fattening.

You could reduce on a diet of white bread, fats and sugar. Compared to other foods, they are high in calories and justly have the reputation of being fattening foods. However, if on a diet like this you did not secure enough calories during the day for your energy and heat needs, you would reduce on it. But, of course, such a diet would be unwholesome both for reducing and for general use, because it is deficient in mineral salts, vitamins and protein.

In reducing your weight it is highly important to reduce excess fat only, for the excess fat is the only tissue that you can spare. Therefore, in your reducing diet you must supply vitamins, mineral elements, proteins and part of your energy needs.

PICTORIAL REVIEW

Each of the models pictured here is a charming version of youthful simplicity. The first consists of a plaited skirt of tan French flannel, accompanied by a smart little jacket of check serge. The skirt is attached to a back-closing under-waist and the material used for its development supplies the decorative note for collar and sleeves. This is an ideal design for school or dress wear. Medium size requires 1 1/2 yards 54-inch check and 2 yards 54-inch plain material.

Second model: Dress No. 1511. Sizes 6 to 17 years. Price 30 cents.

BEAUTY CHATS

HINTS FOR THE SPORTS GIRL

The girl who goes in much for outdoor sports has a good complexion as a rule, because, generally speaking, she is healthy. Her skin becomes used to exposure and loses none of its fineness, because it is strong enough or tough enough to resist cold air or hot sun. The girl whose complexion suffers from outdoor sports is the one who goes in for it intermittently, who spends the day skating, for instance, when her skin has been used for weeks to a warm, dry room.

If the palms of the hands get hard from tennis or golf, for instance, rub them now and then with vaseline. It should be rubbed in for two or three minutes, and the best time to do so, of course, is at night after the hands have been washed with hot water and soap. If there is a great deal of discomfort from perspiring hands, a powder made of one part powdered borax and one part talcum is very effective.

If the face perspires freely, wipe it over with a lotion made by adding one heaping teaspoonful of powdered borax to one cupful of any scented toilet water, or even plain rose-water. This is rather drying, but if the skin is oily (and most skins that perspire freely are) it is not harmful. If the skin is dry, use cold cream on it at night.

The sports girl is often troubled with blisters and the greatest care must always be taken of these. They should be drained by inserting a needle just under the skin a little way from the blister, running the point into it underneath the skin. This makes a little channel to drain off the water. In half an hour it must be drained off again, then a pad of cotton should be put over it so nothing can rub against it.

Corns should be treated as soon as they appear and kept shaved smooth so they will not make the feet ache. But as a sports girl usually wears low heeled shoes with a decent amount of toe space she is not so apt to suffer.

Betty:—The dark circle around your mouth comes from a sluggish liver, the pimples on your chin from the same cause, though your complexion is otherwise perfect.

This is supposed to be new but so are most eggs. It's one about a so-called "master of the house" who returned from business somewhat early. He did not find his wife about, and so called downstairs to the cook. "Bridget (or Hilda or Liza) do you know anything about my wife's whereabouts?"

"I don't know, sor," Bridget replied, "if they ain't in her wardrobe, I'm thinking they must be in the wash."

Pot Roast: Two pounds of beef from round, two tablespoons of butter and two also of drippings, one diced carrot, one chopped onion, one diced turnip, one pint of hot water, one teaspoon of salt, one-half teaspoon of pepper and four tablespoons of flour.

Puree of Vegetables: This is made of left-over cooked vegetables. For instance, the menu printed above calls for onions and carrots in the pot-roast and canned peas. Tomorrow the printed menu will call for string beans. Take a small quantity of these four vegetables (although any mixture of vegetables may be used) and pass them through a sieve together. Use this pulp by adding to it twice its amount of the following white sauce: Melt one heaping tablespoon of butter, stir into it one level teaspoon of flour, and cook till smooth, stirring constantly; then add one cup of sweet milk gradually, one-fourth teaspoon of salt and a pinch of pepper. When this sauce is thickened, it is ready to be combined with the vegetable pulp. Two or three tablespoons of cream or rich top-milk may be added also. Note: The canned evaporated milk or ing seeds from three medium-sized green sweet peppers; cook them in boiling water for ten minutes, then drain. Cut into thin slices and sprinkle a few of these in the bottom of a baking dish; add a layer of the meat also thinly sliced. Cover the meat-layer with fine bread crumbs, moisten with a little of the left-over pot-roast gravy, and repeat these three layers till the dish is almost full. Open a can of tomatoes and use the more solid parts of the tomatoes for a top layer in the baking dish. Cover lightly with a few more bread crumbs and bake in a moderate oven for 30 minutes, keeping the dish covered during the first ten minutes of baking. Serve hot.

Heart and Home Problems

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

HUSBAND PLAYS "HOOKEY"

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Please give me a little advice about my husband. He has the habit of walking off when ever he feels like it. Before my third baby was born he went away and left me, and two weeks after he was born he came home. I told him we could not live together any longer as he had left me once too often. He cried and asked me to give him one more chance.

I knew he was the father of my children, and every baby should know and love its father, and so I gave him a chance again. He stayed and worked, but very little of his money came to us. It all went for gambling and things we needed we did not get.

Then I expected another baby and he said all I was good for was to have children. That hurt me, as I could not help it. About five months ago I gave birth to twins. Now he has gone away again. He sent me $12 in two weeks. He always goes to his people. I do not go out and I love him. No one else can take his place with me, but I can't stand to have him treat me this way all the time. He has never left me in a good position when he has left! He always goes with a couple of months rent to pay and a lot of bills.

I am the mother of six children, three boys and three girls. I never get out. Please tell me what to do. THANK YOU.

My dear woman, your husband's cream is splendid to use for cream soups.)

LOVE AT FIRST SIGHT

Dear Mrs. Thompson: One day last week I went to a party and met a very nice young man. He seemed to like me from the start and told me later in the evening that I was the "only girl for him." He told me lots of other things, too. Among which was that he had never loved a girl before.

I liked him and wanted to believe him, but he had such a good line that I am afraid he has had a good bit of practice. Can a person fall in love with one at first sight? How can I tell whether he really means what he says or not?

DOUBTING PEGGY.

There is no way to tell whether "he really means what he says" except by instinct or feminine intuition, or whatever you want to call it, and even that cannot always be relied upon. Sad to say it is almost as often wrong as right. However, time will tell and the safest way is to wait and see. Love at first sight is a very dangerous thing. I believe that there is such a thing but I also believe that it turns out oftener to be a mistake than to be the real thing. You know Father Time and Cupid are very good friends. Time makes love—the real thing—grow, not diminish, so do not be afraid to wait.

Your Dollars Are Helping To Build a Greater Glendale

All citizens must unite for Community development. Leaders are necessary but of themselves they can accomplish nothing. Everyone in Glendale is proud of the city, the remarkable records it has made and the institutions it has fostered.

Let us not be impersonal in our Community Pride and Loyalty. Let us each do what we can and then give ourselves credit for what we have done. Let us not say: "They did so and so," or "They should do this and that." Let us each assume our share of the responsibility that belongs to all of us.

As we said, leaders are necessary. We can't all plan the big things or do them, but there are duties which the humblest of us may and should assume that are of great consequence to the well-being of Glendale.

Fifty thousand people claim Glendale as their home. How much money these people spend in a day, a week or a month it is impossible to compute, but we know it is an enormous sum. Much of this money is spent in Glendale, but some of it goes out of town.

You do your trading in Glendale and you see the results in a bigger and a better Glendale. You cannot, of course, trace your money or know the things that it accomplishes for Glendale, but without your dollars and those of your neighbors and fellow citizens, Glendale's constant and steady growth would be impossible.

If you are doing your trading in Glendale don't hesitate to take your share of credit for what is being accomplished in Community development. Say: "We did so and so," and "We are going to do this and that."

The advertisers who sponsor this page are doing what they can for the community by catering to your desires to the best of their ability and by trying to instill the idea of Community Loyalty in all Glendaleans. You have helped wonderfully in this campaign by spending your money in Glendale where it has worked and is working for all of us.

Reichard, vocalists, and Mrs. H. W. Schroeder, pianist. The entire sketch was given from behind a screen and the names of the performers not announced until the final number.

This song cycle is arranged under the title "On Jhelm River" and before the songs were given Mrs. Reichard gave a short prologue sketching the East Indian setting.

The first song was a duet "On Jhelm River" by Mrs. Reichard, soprano, and Mrs. Penland, contralto. Miss Hughes, soprano, then gave "The Song of the Bride." Mrs. Penland sang the solo "Will the Red Sun Never Set" and Mrs. Reichard gave "Ashoo at Her Lattice."

Another solo by Mrs. Penland was "Only a Rose" and the final number was a duet by her and Miss Hughes, "Kingfisher Blue."

It had been planned as the surprise number of the program, and was truly worthy of the hearty applause that followed the final song.

Next, a group of well-known Glendale women and members of the club, were introduced and gave brief talks on subjects of interest to the club women. Mrs. George U. Moyle, vice-principal of the Glendale Union High school, spoke most interestingly on education. Mrs. A. A. Barton, a member of the nationally known reading circle work, begun in Glendale by Mrs. Charles H. Toll, who organized the Mutual Benefit Reading circle; Dr. Margaret York, practicing physician, told of the formation of the mental hygiene clinic in Los Angeles; and Mrs. Charles Barker, who graduated from Wellesley college in 1880, gave a most fascinating sketch of "The College Girls of Yesterday."

Cut Birthday Cake

From the palm room the company went to the Italian tea room, where a beautiful pink and white birthday cake, bearing one tall candle, and cut by Mrs. Ferguson, was served.

Each club member had been asked to bring as many pennies as she was years old as a birthday gift to the scholarship fund, and over $20 was received. In making her gift to the fund Miss Ruth Windrem presented ninety-nine pennies in a bag bearing a clever, poetical note, read to those present by Mrs. Ferguson.

The next meeting of the club will be a luncheon and program the second Saturday in February, and will be "Stanford University Day." Stanford women will have full charge of the affair and present the program. All Stanford women in Glendale, whether they are members of the club or not, will be invited to attend.

COMMENT That's All

Prize Peace Plan Weak News Classified Ads Best People Read the Paper Thrifty Ben Franklin

—By Gil A. Cowan—

When this writer essayed to criticize the Bok peace plan prize award last week it was presumed we would be in the same category as those who dared to oppose the publicists' campaign conducted on behalf of the World Court and League of Nations.

However, our conclusions are the same as others, we find. The National Republican of last week, issued at Washington and spokesman for the party, proceeded to say many uncomplimentary things about the Bok scheme. And thinking that the viewpoint was only partisan we turned to other sheets of Democratic persuasion. They do not want the Bok plan foisted on this nation, either. So it seems unanimous unless the country precincts are to be heard from.

If the country editors look at the Bok plan in the same light as Wallace Morgan, editor of the Record-Ledger of the Verdugo Hills, published at Tujunga, there is no doubt as to how the referendum of the people will result. He says, in part:

"A mountain has labored and brought forth a mouse. Not a virile, aggressive, high-spirited mouse that dares climb up on the kitchen table and nibble a piece of cheese while the cat is asleep on the doorstep, but a weak, anemic, apologetic mouse that sips sidewise out of an anonymous hole and tries to find a clever reception by proclaiming the fact that its teeth have been extracted and its claws clipped off."

"Condensed to its essential factors, the plan which has won the approval of the jury in the American peace award is merely a proposal to accept the League of Nations 'as an instrument of mutual counsel,' with a long list of restrictions, exceptions and eliminations plainly designed to meet the objections that have wrecked the various plans for American participation in the league heretofore, and so on."

"The whole affair," continues the Record's editorial, "appears to be an elaborate but none too skillful effort to lead the American people over to the threshold of the League of Nations with the safe assurance that it is nothing but a friendly debating society, incapable of harm and a possible source of good."

The classified advertising columns of The Glendale Evening News are the greatest little business getters we know of. They are silent and effective salesmen, their splendid work being known to every real estate dealer in the community.

It is a vote of confidence to see the columns of classified advertising coming into this office each day. It is proof positive that advertising in The Glendale Evening News pays and pays big.

The merchants of this city might well take heed of the fact that The Glendale Evening News carries more classified advertising about Glendale property than all the other papers put together. The Los Angeles papers have their solicitors here, but the advertisers know where they get results.

When you advertise in The Glendale Evening News you get into the homes of this community and this paper does not serve as a wrapper for Los Angeles department store advertising, either, Mr. Merchant.

People subscribe for and read The Glendale Evening News because it is the Glendale news they want—there is no question about that. At the same time they get later telegraphic reports and better features than they find elsewhere. And of this is beneficial to the local advertiser who uses The Glendale Evening News.

When you read The Glendale Evening News you are assured of reliable and accurate news. The slogan of the International News Service leased wire is "Get It First, but First Get It Right." The reporters of this paper are particularly cautioned to exercise judgment. Those who do not comply with The Glendale Evening News standards are dismissed.

The features used by The Glendale Evening News are the best money can buy, coming from the George Matthew Adams service and the Central Press Association, as well as the McClure Newspaper Syndicate. It is quality all the way through this newspaper.

At the same time the trivial price of two cents per copy is charged readers who want the greatest possible bona-fide circulation list in the city of Glendale.

"How Franklin Loaned Money" is the title of an interesting editorial in the San Francisco Journal which we pass on to readers of The Glendale Evening News. It follows:

The approach of Franklin's birthday and the recurrence of Thrift Week, associated as it is with his name, reminds us that before Roosevelt coined the phrase, "Thrift is the wise expenditure of money," Franklin exemplified that principle. "Poor Richard" was not a miser nor a kill-joy. He taught men to value time and to value money. He left a small bit of money to a technical school in Philadelphia, which was to remain in interest for a century, in order to startle mankind by the magnitude of small savings safely invested and un-

EAGLE ROCK CHURCH MEMBERS IN ANNUAL MEET

Ground for New Building Is Broken at Banquet in Social Hall

Ground was broken for the new Congregational church at the annual dinner held last Wednesday night in the church social hall.

In the evening a program was enjoyed, headed by Rev. Robert Renison of Eagle Rock. Prayer was offered by Dr. Sinclair Smith, who has lately come to this section of Los Angeles to live.

George D. Hale, chairman of the board of trustees, talked briefly on the affairs of the church. A number of selections were rendered by the choir, under the direction of Mrs. Paul Elderkin.

Among the many Eagle Rock homes burglarized within the last few days are those of F. H. Case, 5297 Ellenwood drive, and J. L. McDaniels, 1431 Saginaw avenue. No damage was done to either house, but such articles as overcoats, rugs, suitcases, automobile tires, a camp stove and plumbing supplies were stolen.

In all, ten burglaries in Eagle Rock within the last two weeks are listed by the local police, who would very much like to lay hands on the thief or thieves who seem to be conducting a systematic pilage of the community.

The thieves show cleverness, which leads the police to believe they are not amateurs. They leave behind articles that might be difficult to dispose of or tend to incriminate them, and are careful to cover up all tracks.

The department requests the co-operation of the public in running these thieves to cover.

Three Club Meetings

Three meetings took place at the Women's Twentieth Century Clubhouse Saturday afternoon, January 12. At 3 o'clock a Junior Auxiliary was formed for girls from 15 to 22, under the guidance of Mrs. Edward Thompson. At 3 o'clock also the Juvenile Music Club met at the clubhouse, the following taking part in the program: Helen Moire, Margaret Hayden, Wathenia Crilly, Charles Harsh, Marjorie Jarvis, Fay Carr and Harry Carr.

At 4 o'clock the Junior Music Club held its meeting there, when reports were made by numerous committees.

Saturday evening, at the home of Miss Ruth Clausen on Hill drive, a stunt party was given, members of the Junior Music Club coming in costume, with the privilege of bringing three guests each, a privilege largely exercised and which made for a jolly evening.

Fine Program on Thursday

The luncheon speaker at last Thursday's meeting of the Women's Twentieth Century Club was L. M. Powers, Los Angeles health commissioner. In the afternoon a musical program was given, in charge of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Vandergrift of Hollywood. The following appeared on the program: Suzanne Joyce Spear of Hollywood; Margaret M. Kennedy, soprano; Irene Wakelung, whistler; Madeline Shirley and her little daughter, Constance Jeanette, pianists, of Eagle Rock; Maria Boogar, piano readings.

There were also two artists from the Davis Music College.

touched through the years.

But one of the most interesting characteristics of the great Franklin was his method of lending small sums of money, and the terms under which these loans were to be repaid. Learn of it from his own words:

"I lend you herewith a bill for ten louis d'ors. I do not pretend to give you such a sum; I only lend it to you. You cannot fail of getting into some business that will in time enable you to pay all your debts. In that case, when you meet with another honest man in similar distress, you must pay me by lending this sum to him; enjoining him to discharge the debt by a like operation, when he shall be able, and shall meet with such another opportunity. I hope it may thus go through many hands, before it meets with a knave that will stop its progress."

This method of lending money in small amounts was a device of Franklin's for making much of little. Others have thought of this gentle art of lending, and have probably resorted to it many times. All of us, in the ordinary course of life, incur debts that we are never permitted to repay. These are not always expressed in terms of money. More often it is a good deed done in time of need or a friend's bit of advice. The benefactor himself is in such a position that it is almost impossible to repay him. There is nothing we can give that he does not already possess, save our gratitude.

But, like Franklin's beneficiary, we can pass the deed or the loan along to some other in similar straits. We can forge the first links of an endless chain of kindness.

have a 'New Castle' there, which is only 700 years old. The reason they call it 'New Castle' is because it displaced a really old one.

"The big two-wheeled carts are as conspicuous as in Rome, and the people in the poorer quarters more typically Italian. To look down the street and see the washing hanging out on lines stretched from one side of the street to the other at the upper stories, is surely funny.

Use Odd Palaces

"The old emperors' palaces are now used for more useful purposes. They have a fine aquarium, with some very strange denizens of the deep and the largest octopus I have ever seen. The national gallery and museum contains much of great value and interest, especially the relics from the ruins of Pompeii.

"While I have been writing the above, and since then, I have been meditating on the fact that we are now entering upon the 'real old world,' and are to view the ruins of the most ancient civilizations, that exist. As we passed the island of Crete and while we were in Rome and Italy my mind reverted to Paul, perhaps, next Christ, the greatest teacher of the world.

"The account by Luke, in Acts 27, of the great storm and shipwreck in which the island of Crete is mentioned, caused us to view its hilly outline, which was in view all afternoon, with interest and reverence. These blue waters through which we are slowly ploughing are those which were crossed by the earliest navigators of history, and Alexandria, where we land in the morning, has been a great port since the earliest dawn of civilization."

Nearing Climax

"Our travels for the next month should be the climax of our long trip. Old Cairo, in itself, is worth a long trip, but we expect to go up to Luxor and view the ruins of Karnak and Thebes and, if possible, see something of the tomb of 'Tutankhamen.' If time and money were not so limited we would spend a longer time and see more of the ruins of the ancient world, which lie scattered along the Nile.

"In these modern days, it requires a well-filled pocketbook to take in all of the desired trips, which are close at hand in the course of a journey as extensive as ours. So we will probably go up the Nile by train and from Cairo to Jerusalem in the same way.

"We plan to reach Jerusalem about the 22nd, so as to be there during the Christmas season. We have had our hearts set on being in Bethlehem on Christmas Eve. With us you will be interested in seeing how much of this we will be able to work out. Soon after January 1, we expect to go to the old city of Damascus, reaching the coast again at Beirut, whence we will make our way seems best, to Constantinople, Athens and back to Italy, spending the last month of our stay in the Riviera and France.

"In the meantime, we are thinking of you all at home, as Christmas approaches, and of your reunions and happiness at that glad season, but we don't envy you the pushing and crowding

MONTROSE PROVIDE POLICE AND FIRE GUARDS

Business Men Pledge Support to Protective System for Montrose

With over $1600 pledged by business men of the community to its support the Montrose Burglary and Fire Protection association has been formed. The purpose of the organization is to provide adequate police and fire protection for the rapidly growing business district and residence section.

An electric siren is being installed in a central location and W. T. Kinsey has been employed as night watchman to make regular rounds of inspection. Twenty-seven business firms subscribed to the fund. A time clock has been purchased by the Beltingen and the Johnson-Anawait Lumber Companies to be used by the watchman.

The organization elected officers to serve the first year as follows: Theo. Belanger, president; A. E. Sullivan, secretary; C. A. Haskins, treasurer; C. J. Reinhard and C. L. Mead, directors.

Want Fire Truck

At the last meeting of the Montrose Chamber of Commerce a committee was appointed to secure information regarding the immediate location of a fire truck in Montrose. C. L. Mead of the chamber stated that such a truck could be secured at once if a suitable housing arrangement could be made and a man employed to look after the truck and equipment. In the ordinary course of events this equipment will not be available through the jams as you try to make your "remembrance" purchases. Our next mail address is Genoa, Italy, care of the American Express company.
