STEDHAM GIVEN THE SEA WALL JOB

WINS OUT THROUGH MUCH OPPOSITION

Mayor Morley Declines to Accept Any Responsibility— Some Hard Talking

As forecasted in the Times yesterday the contract for the construction of the Ross Bay sea wall was awarded last night to Thomas Stedham, who put in the lowest bid on the plans and specifications as drawn by Cecil B. Case, the English engineer. Stedham, who was formerly a member of the Pacific Coast Construction Company, which is at present building the Dallas Road sea wall, figured on the contract at the exceedingly low figure of $93,291. The condition attaching to the ratification of the contract is that Stedham puts up $20,000 bonds within five days, in default of which the contract will go to the next lowest bidder, J. Haggerty & Company.

Although the recommendation of the committee, consisting of Aldermen Langley and Feden, the city engineer and the city assessor, was finally adopted, it was not before considerable criticism had been offered not only to the recommendation of the committee but of the plans of Mr. Case. In fact, it was moved and seconded that new tenders be called for on account of the fact that extra would have to be allowed, and the matter was taken to a division before Stedham could shake hands with himself on the award of a contract involving one of the most important works the city has yet undertaken.

In view of the prospect of the award being made last night there was a large attendance of contractors and others interested in the transaction. Before the report of the committee was read a communication from one of the tendering companies was submitted. It attempted to show that its particular bid was the one and only bid worth considering, all of which advice was tendered gratuitously.

Ald. Langley did the only feasible thing under the circumstances. He moved that the communication be received and filed and that the writers be thanked for their advice as to how to conduct the city's business.

The report of the committee showed the various bidders in the following form:

Angus Smith, city engineer, $85,840.
C. Hoard, Pemberton Bldg., $87,845.
Messrs. Chase & Board, Seattle, $85,620.
Pacific Coast Construction Co., city, $107,500.
Thomas Stedham, city, $93,291.

SAYS COUNTRY FAVORS RECIPROCITY

RETURN OF LIBERAL GOVERNMENT PREDICTED

C. E. Brown of Vancouver Declares the Measure Will Be Passed

Minneapolis, Aug. 5.—That the reciprocity measure will pass the Canadian parliament is the opinion of Charles E. Brown of Vancouver, a guest at the Radisson hotel. "Because the Government has dissolved parliament and called a general election many people this side of the line jump to the conclusion that there is to be a hard fight in Canada on the measure," said Mr. Brown. "Some even think a new election is to be held because there was a doubt as to whether or not the measure would pass at Ottawa under present conditions. These are entirely incorrect. The Government realizes that the reciprocity agreement is one of the most important measures that has arisen in Canada in many years and does not wish to lay itself open to the charge of passing a measure which is not sanctioned by public opinion.

"At the election the voice of the people will return a verdict from the Atlantic to the Pacific in favor of reciprocity."

MEAT PRICES ADVANCE.

Strike of Dockers Results in Shortage in London.

London, Aug. 5.—Beef threatens to become a luxury in London if the strike on the docks continues. The shortage in both beef and mutton which the companies have been unable to unload has already inconvenienced the Smithfield market dealers. Prices in the retail markets have advanced four cents a pound.

TWO PERISH.

New York, Aug. 5.—Robert Stephenson of this city dived in two feet of water covering a submerged rock off the Brooklyn waterfront last night and broke his neck in an attempted rescue of a 14-year-old boy named John Duffey, who lost his supporting water-wings in deep water and went down in the East River. Stephenson died almost instantly, and young Duffey was drowned.

WARM AT OTTAWA.

Ottawa, Aug. 5.—People here are suffering much from stifling heat which has prevailed for several days past.

Hon. R. McBride and Hon. R. Rogers do not dare to risk a trip in this "aerodrome" of wondrous construction, but they have contracted to supply something they guarantee to be just as good a fuel as gasoline.

PROSPECTORS BUSY IN KOOTENAY

RECENT DISCOVERY CAUSES EXCITEMENT

Many Claims Staked as Result of Finding of Rare Metals

Nelson, B. C., Aug. 5.—Not for many years has there been so much excitement in the Kootenay over a mining discovery, as that which has followed the announcement by A. Gordon French that platinum and other almost priceless metals of the same group had been found in paying quantities at the Granite Poorman mine. For the past month a few local men who had heard of the discovery have been staking all of the available ground lying in the vicinity of the dyke in which the chief values were found and which extends for many miles in the direction of Eagle and Forty-Nine creeks, and many scores of claims have been recorded at the government offices.

Since the news became public every morning scores of prospectors have left the city, returning at intervals to present their claims. The result is that at present there is believed to be hardly a foot of unstaked ground in the territory supposed to be traversed by the dyke, which has been proved, at and near the Granite Poorman to contain vast quantities of high-priced metals.

Many of the claims first staked have been recorded in the names of J. P. Swedeberger, A. Gordon French, Thos. Gough, Mrs. Ida E. Wilson, Dr. W. X. Wilson, J. G. Devlin, and E. E. Gullie, but dozens of others are ready to be recorded.

That the discovery was known and kept a secret for some weeks is indicated by the fact that samples were sent for assay to Butte and Ottawa in order to make absolutely sure that no mistake had been made as to the existence of the group of five metals, platinum, iridium, palladium, rhodium, and osmium. The result was that answers came back giving returns which, especially considering the low cost of mining ore from the dyke and cost of treating, make the operation of the properties upon which minerals exist amazingly profitable.

NO BLACK RUST IN MANITOBA WHEAT

Western Traffic Manager of C. P. R. Denies Reports Published in East

Montreal, Aug. 5.—G. M. Bosworth, vice-president of the C. P. R., to-day wired W. B. Lanigan, assistant freight traffic manager of the western lines, Winnipeg, as follows:

"Any truth in newspaper reports this morning regarding black rust in Manitoba?"

To which Mr. Lanigan replied: "No truth in newspaper reports regarding black rust in Manitoba."

Enthusiastic Over Outlook.

Toronto, Aug. 5.—J. Hunt of London, Ont., a director of the Maple Leaf Milling Co. and a prominent grain man, who has just returned from his annual inspection of crops in Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, is very enthusiastic over the prospects. He says the yield of wheat will be from 200,000,000 to 225,000,000 bushels. Some fields of wheat in Alberta, he says, will show 46 bushels to the acre. No trace of rust did he see.

CANADIAN SHOTS BACK FROM BISLEY

Complain of Actions of Range Officers at the Big Meet

Montreal, Aug. 5.—The first contingent of the Canadian Bisley team arrived here this morning on the Allan liner Tunisian. Seven members made up the party but only four, Lieut. A. J. Melkijohn, Lieut. C. D. Spittal, Lieut. J. P. White and Sergt. T. Bayles came to Montreal, the other three, Lieut. C. W. Russell, Lieut. F. H. Morris and Corp. G. Mortimore disembarking at Quebec. The boys were in good health, proud of their shooting at the ranges but glad to get back to Canada.

The team all complained of the range officers. Private Clifford, the winner of the King's Prize, came in for the most interference at the hands of the officers. The trouble all arose over the low position shooting and at private Clifford so much that his teammates were surprised that he won the prize.

STRIKE RIOTS AT DES MOINES

FIVE MEN INJURED DURING FIGHTING

Trouble Follows Attempt of Street Railway Company to Run Cars

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 5.—The first attempt of the Des Moines City Railway to take cars from its second street barn at 8 o'clock this morning failed, when the strikers and sympathizers threatened to attack the strike-breakers. The latter retreated to places of safety while the crowd jeered. Two strikers were jailed, charged with carrying concealed weapons.

Rioting in the downtown streets, the burning in effigy of Manager J. R. Harman, and a demonstration against strike-breakers, and Louis B. Christianson of Chicago, their leader, attended the inauguration of the strike of nearly 500 employees of the railway.

Five men, including a detective and a police officer, sustained injuries during the rioting. Traffic has been suspended on every line in the city, not a car having been moved since 1:15 o'clock this morning, when the union men walked out.

There was no official car service last night, and thousands of persons walked miles to their homes.

At 4 o'clock union sympathizers attacked the Twenty-fourth street car barn and wrecked a car inside. Windows were smashed and ashes and doors dragged from their frames. R. W. Allen, a local employee, was seriously hurt. The police finally dispersed the crowd.

A city detective, Thomas Denholm, was seriously hurt with a brick while trying to disperse the crowd at the Kirkwood hotel this morning. An effort was being made to locate Louis J. Christiansen, the strike-breakers' leader, who is registered at the hotel, but the mob swarmed into the lobby and up to the upper floors. Two platoons of police arrived in automobiles, and the crowd left hurriedly, later to attempt to throw a street car into the river. Cries of "down with Harman," "beat up the strike-breakers" and "stick to the union" were heard on every hand as the mob surged in the streets. The effigy of manager Harman was burned in front of the street car waiting rooms.

HEAT CAUSES OVER THOUSAND DEATHS

NO RELIEF FROM HOT WAVE IN GERMANY

Water Famine in Many Cities— Warmer Weather Predicted

Berlin, Aug. 5.—Over 1,000 deaths have occurred here from sunstroke during the past ten days of the heat wave, as well as many more from heart failure during bathing, and some others from gastritis and typhus, caused by lack of water.

An epidemic has broken out in Mosell Valley, caused by despoiling fish, netted in shoals. Vast quantities have been handed to the public authorities for destruction. The fish were suffering from a kind of scrofula, owing to overheated water.

In many German cities the water-works supply water for only two hours daily. The police have had to issue orders that no water from the ordinary city supply pipes can be used except for drinking. Even in Berlin the authorities have suspended street watering except in the main avenues, as fears are entertained that the supply may run short.

In the South German states almost all the governments have suspended work in the public departments, except for a few hours in the early morning, as the sickness resulting from heat has so decimated the staffs.

Schools will not be reopened in the middle of August, as usual, because the doctors declare that only strong children would be able to endure brain work in the intense heat.

Meteorological authorities say the weather must get hotter before the heat wave passes.

Americans declare that the heat is more intense in Berlin than in New York, but not so deadly.

Ice supplies are running short and chemists who are ordinarily bound to supply ice from the distilled water will only sell it now on doctors' certificates.

UNIONIST PEERS AND VETO BILL

No Attempt Will Be Made to Take Organized Action in Voting

London, Aug. 5.—The passage of the veto bill toward the crisis next week is now coming into clearer light. Viscount Morley published yesterday a list of 55 Liberal peers, who have promised to support the government in passing the measure.

A meeting yesterday of the Unionist peers who favor the measure and who favor supporting the government, presided over by Viscount St. Aldwyn, formerly Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, decided that it would not be advisable to take organized action in voting, but to leave each peer to act on his own discretion.

This may add ten or more voters to the government's strength, making 66 in favor of the measure.

The only list of names that no more voters of the Early of Halsbury have published gives sixty-eight, making a majority of between ten and twenty for the measure.

The insurgents held crowded meetings last night at Holbrook and Chelsea. Resolutions pledging a "no surrender" policy were carried amid scenes of intense enthusiasm.

MUCH GLASS BROKEN.

Montreal, Aug. 5.—It is rumored that the harbor commissioners will shortly make the announcement that no more grain will be accepted in their elevators for storage purposes, even should the low charge which is being made to-day be increased indefinitely. Most of the grain men and practically all of the shipping interests are agreed that such a ruling would prove in the long run to be the best interest, not only of the port, but also of the grain carrying vessels and their owners.

ARBITRATION TREATIES.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 5.—The senate to-day referred the general arbitration treaties with Great Britain and France to the foreign relations committee. Chairman Cullum promised early consideration.

Ottawa, Aug. 5.—A general scattering of ministers has commenced. Today Sir Wilfrid Laurier goes to Montreal, Hon. Mackenzie King left last night for Berlin, and Hon. W. Templeman for Victoria; Hon. F. Oliver expects to leave for Edmonton, and Hon. W. Pugsley for New Brunswick. There will be a quorum of the cabinet in the Capital all next week, after which a full meeting will follow after the elections.

Hon. Mr. Templeman was accompanied by his private secretary, B. C. Nicholas, and Ralph Smith. Wm. Sloan, ex-M. P., who has been in England, will return to Canada in a week and will take part in British Columbia elections.

The registration of new voters in the Federal elections will start next Thursday morning and continue Friday and Saturday.

Brantford Liberals.
Brantford, Ont., Aug. 5.—A convention of Brantford Liberals to nominate their candidate has been called for August 12. The nomination will probably be offered by Lloyd Harris, the sitting member.

London, Ont., Aug. 5.—A convention of London Liberals to nominate their candidate has been called for August 14.

Will Run Again.
Windsor, Ont., Aug. 5.—A. H. Clarke, who since 1904 has represented South Essex, last night accepted nomination for re-election. Dr. Fred Parks is the Conservative candidate.

Campaign in Quebec.
Sherbrooke, Que., Aug. 5.—Dates for the party conventions have now been fixed by the Conservative workers for all the counties of the eastern townships with the exception of Bromfield. After the first convention in Richmond on Tuesday the Megantic delegates will make their formal choice of a Conservative candidate on Wednesday. Then the scene will shift to Sherbrooke on Thursday, while the Shefford delegates will meet in Waterloo on August 14 and the Stanstead delegates in Coaticook on the 17th.

In the ranks of both parties the choice of candidates is still somewhat unsettled, Richmond and Megantic being the only ones practically decided upon by the Conservatives.

It is announced that R. L. Borden will probably tour the Townships during the last few days of this month, but plans are not yet definitely settled. Sir Wilfrid Laurier is also announced to address one meeting in the Townships.

NECESSITY OF MILITARY TRAINING

Lord Roberts Hopes Mother Country Will Adopt Com- pulsory Service

London, Aug. 5.—Lord Roberts, addressing the coronation contingent of the New South Wales cadets at Crystal Palace yesterday, said he rejoiced at seeing the boys from the land of universal military training and hoped that the home land would soon emulate the example of the Dominions. He said it was a disgrace to England that she had not got a compulsory service already, but that it would not be long before the Mother Country would wake up to the necessity of training boys and young men so that they were able to stand their places in the ranks if danger was threatened. He trusted the Australian cadets would return in future years and find the system adopted.

CONFESSES HE

KILLED HIS FATHER

Youth Tries to Blacken Memory of Dead Man—Tragedy Follows Quarrel

Chicago, Aug. 5.—Joseph Vacek, Jr., 17 years old, confessed last night that he shot and killed his father, a wealthy contractor, early yesterday morning and then sought to blacken the memory of the dead man by means of a "Black Hand" note pinned to the clothing of the corpse.

He is said to have slain his father after a demand for money, and after the elder Vacek had reprimanded him for not working. The father's body was found in his room shortly after noon. On the clothing was pinned a note addressed to the victim's wife and reading as follows:

"Your husband is now where he wanted you to be. He told us if we killed you he would give us $500 and we failed. We asked him for the coin anyway, and he did not give it to us. So we got even. He deserved it. I am a perfect gentleman and a friend of yours; do not mourn for this guy, as he is a coward."

The sheet on which this was written was crudely decorated with a number of coffins and daggers drawn in pencil. In his confession young Vacek declared that when he went to his father for money the elder man tried to induce him to murder his mother, offering to pay him well for it. He went to his father about 8 o'clock in the morning, he said, while Mrs. Vacek was away. He drew his revolver and attempted to shoot over his father's head. He missed the aim and the bullet struck his father and killed him.

The police scout the story. A revolver with three empty chambers was found buried under the railroad tracks, to which the youth led the police.

CITY GETS WARNING AGAINST CONFLICT

Trades and Labor Council Protests Against Civic Action and Foresees Trouble

In a letter to the city council last night the Victoria Trades and Labor Council protested against the action of the municipal body "in placing extraordinary powers in the hands of the chief of police" in regard to the arresting of persons using the streets for propaganda purposes, and endeavored to sound a note of warning against some prospective conflict between labor and capital. On reading the letter it was thought that the Trades and Labor Council had misunderstood the action of the council, and it was decided to send them a copy of the resolutions covering its actions upon the point in question. The letter, signed by G. Sivertz, secretary of the council, was in the following terms:

On Sunday, the third day of July last, a number of workmen were arrested in the act of addressing their fellow workers on the class struggle now taking place on this continent between themselves and employers:

And whereas, the practice of preventing the expression of discontent has been tried in other cities and is recognized as part of the plan to defeat the workers in bettering their condition; and whereas, a sharp line has been drawn by the mayor and council in placing extraordinary powers in the hands of the chief of police, and in privileging religious orders in the use of the streets to the exclusion of those who seek the betterment of humanity through economic measures;

And whereas, in this province the relation of employer and employee is the reverse of what should exist, and at any movement a conflict between labor and capital may end the present period of prosperity by plunging the province into one of the bitterest fights in the annals of history;

With such a possibility we consider that the mayor and aldermen acted unwisely in provoking the arrest and imprisonment of our fellow workers, and we now request the same privilege in use of the streets that has been given other organizations; failing this, that street speaking be abolished altogether. We call the attention of your honorable body to the fact that redress by law is at all times in the hands of the authorities against the utterances of the individual; that no excuse exists for the limitation imposed or the possibilities that follow this action.

SON OF ACTOR EARL HERE.

Visit of Titled Son Recalls Romantic Career of Father.

Francis Edward Scudamore St. Clair Erskine, Lord Loughborough, who is nineteen years of age, and the only son of the Earl of Rosslyn, accompanied by E. P. Ward, of London, is staying at the Empress, where he arrived yesterday in the course of a pleasure tour.

His father, the Earl of Rosslyn, is a man who, in more ways than one, has had an extremely varied career. Of an artistic and literary disposition he has spent most of the leisure of the last twenty years in the romantic role of an actor, and has been associated, not always successfully financially, with many productions on the English stage.

Under the stage name of James Erskine he has acted in many plays, and been instrumental in producing many others, and his matrimonial ventures, like to some of his theatrical experiences, have not been free of trouble, his present wife being his third. His ancestor, the sixth baronet, received the title from his uncle Alexander Wedderburn, Lord High Chancellor in 1743, who was the first Earl of Rosslyn. The present Earl served at the relief of Ladysmith, and acted as a war correspondent for the Daily Mail during the time of the Boer War. At the present time he is engaged in literary work in Scotland.

Strike in Brooklyn.

New York, Aug. 5.—There was a strike to-day of motormen and conductors on three trolley lines in Brooklyn, operated by the Coney Island and Brooklyn Street Car Company, for an increase of wages. The trouble dates back more than a month.

The company says it will hire strike-breakers. Police are guarding the power houses.

On the three lines affected the employees are affiliated with the Amalgamated Association Street and Electric Employees of America. Employees of the DeKalb avenue line, which is operated by the same company, are affiliated with the Knights of Labor, and they are still at work.

JOINS MUSEUM STAFF.

Ottawa, Aug. 5.—An important appointment has been made to the staff of the Victoria Museum in the person of Mr. Harlan I. Smith of the American Museum of Natural History of New York. Mr. Smith becomes archaeologist of the new museum and has already started work. He is one of the best known archaeologists of the continent and his work is very well known in Canada, particularly in British Columbia. His archaeological travels on the Pacific Province is regarded as one of the most valuable additions to the literature of outdoor things of Canada.

HIGHWAY ALONG PACIFIC COAST

President of Convention at Portland Urges United Action

Portland, Ore., Aug. 5.—Comparatively few in numbers, but strong in enthusiasm for a good road to extend from the extreme southern line of the United States to the line between Alaska and Canada, members of the Pacific Highway Association opened their annual meeting at the convention hall of the Commercial Club yesterday, with Judge J. E. Ronald of Seattle, presiding.

In a short speech of welcome Judge Ronald outlined the plans and purpose of the association and urged that an effort be made at the present convention to effect a more formal organization.

"The Pacific Highway Association," Judge Ronald said, "should place itself in a position to be an independent force on obtaining good roads in the west, and should be able to influence the makers of the laws in all honorable ways to enact statutes and make appropriations for the improvements."

A. E. Todd, a delegate from Victoria, briefly outlined the work that has been accomplished in British Columbia. It was begun two years ago, and has been carried on through an appropriation from the provincial government. Last year more than $5,000,000 was spent in improving the highways, and the British Columbians expect to have the same amount available for work in the coming year.

MURDERER EXECUTED.

San Quentin, Cal., Aug. 5.—Demetri Treschenko, a Russian, was executed in the state prison here yesterday for the murder of Dorothy Milakoff, a ten-year-old girl of the same nationality, in San Francisco on February 12, 1909. He walked calmly to the gallows and said nothing before the trap was sprung. In four minutes he was pronounced dead.

Treschenko, who was 52 years of age, was infatuated with his child victim, who resented his attentions. He lay in wait for her as she came from school and shot her dead in the street.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 5.—Five were seriously hurt and twenty received lesser injuries yesterday when train 22 of the Southern railway was derailed six miles west of Salisbury, N. C. The engine and all of the coaches left the track and a chair car went down a 25-foot embankment.

CAMORRISTS' TRIAL BECOMES FARCE

Prisoners Frequently Interrupt Proceedings by Jeering State Witness

Viterbo, Italy, Aug. 5.—If a trial for murder can be in any sense funny, the description fits yesterday's proceedings in the Camorra case. The prisoners themselves were responsible for the diversion. From the start they have not failed to use every means to confuse the state's witnesses, usually hurling angry invectives. Yesterday they adopted the more potent weapon of ridicule—and mercilessly jeered Marshal Farris to the undisguised amusement of everyone else.

Farris is the third of the famous trio of detectives to be heard against the Camorristi. He assumed the delivery of a preacher. The effect was accentuated by an unfortunate nasal twang.

The prisoners were not slow to see their opportunity and before the witness had proceeded far there was a groan from the great steel cage, followed by sighs and sobs, first half-suppressed and then seemingly uncontrollable as the prisoners pretended to be greatly affected by what was heard.

This mockery continued, the witness being frequently interrupted with familiar quotations from the church service.

"A certain man named Guzzi purchased a beautiful girl," groaned the witness. "Amey" shouted the prisoner, and a chorus of "Amens" drowned his voice.

"I purchased her through the Camorra," said the detective.

"Oro Pro Nobis" (pray for us) chanted the prisoners. So the interrogation proceeded.

Farris, illustrating the power of the Camorra particularly over certain classes of women, told how Guzzi had bought Signorina Lombardi through the Camorra which, however, constantly blackmailed him thereafter.

Hoping to escape them he took the girl to New York, where he fell into the hands of the American associates of the Italian criminals and the persecution was continued. Finally he gave the girl a cheque for $2,000 and a ticket for her return from New York to Naples.

On arriving at Naples, the witness said, Signorina Lombardi was met by Camorristi, including some of the defendants, who exacted from her the money which had been given her.

MOUNTAIN CLIMBERS KILLED IN ALPS

Twenty-Six Tourists Have Met Death So Far This Season

Paris, Aug. 5.—Although the climbing season in the Alps has only begun, 26 tourists have been killed and an unknown number injured. If this rate continues until the close of the season, September 15, the death rate will be the greatest on record. Death in nearly every case thus far has been the result of foolhardiness, and has frequently been due to tourists going up alone, which is a violation of the first rule of mountain climbing.

TOGO IN ENGINE CAB

Takes Great Interest in Big Power Motor—Arrival at Washington.

New York, Aug. 5.—Admiral Togo left New York yesterday. He left the city in the cab of a big electric engine drawing a heavy Pennsylvania train for the capital city. Although the private car Olivette, which the government had provided for him, was attached to the train, the naval hero elected to sit by the engine's side and watch him operate the four thousand horse-power motor.

"I am intensely interested in your world pre-eminence in electrical engineering and railroading," the admiral said through his interpreter, "and I wish to avail myself of this opportunity closely to observe both. Therefore I will ride with the engineer."

The admiral rode in the cab to the limit of the electric zone at Harrison, N. J., and there entered his car. He asked many questions of the engineer, and displayed more interest in this incident of his visit than anything else.

It had been agreed by Commander Tanaguchi and Chandler Hale, third assistant secretary of state, that the newspaper reporters would be permitted to interview the admiral briefly, but not on politics. But as soon as they had reached the Anglo-French-American arbitration treaties, some of the reporters asked questions concerning Japan's attitude toward Russia and the Moroccan affair. Admiral Togo replied briefly that he would not discuss politics, but the reporters persisted.

Mr. Hale and Mr. Tanaguchi eventually terminated the interview, but the admiral's face did not change its placid expression.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 5.—Admiral Togo and his party reached the national capital last evening. President Taft had sent one of the White House automobiles, and Admiral Togo went immediately to a hotel and retired for the night.

We may have to have a broad trust after all, if the following story is correctly reported:

Customer (in bakery)—"Is this bread to-day's?"

Counter Girl—"Yes'm."

Customer—"The reason I ask is because the bread I got here yesterday wasn't."

The most dangerous brand of flattery is the one we ladle out to ourselves.

THINKING THEMES BY DR. FRANK CRANE

The larger part of any imagination is supplied by the imagination. What we think we see is more than what we see.

No two people ever agree upon the apparent size of the moon; one will say it is like a saucer, another like a dinner-plate, another like a barrel-head; because they cannot unmix their fancies, notions and preconceptions of the moon from the actual visual image.

We make the same sort of error in judging ourselves.

Dr. Holmes said, for instance, that there are many Johns; there is the John that John thinks he is, the John that John thinks others think he is, the John others do think he is, and so on; and who shall say what John really is?

When you are close to me you are five-feet high; when you are some hundred feet away you are but one foot high; and at a great distance you are but a speck, which is your real size. Why should you claim that your size close by is more actual than your size a mile away?

To be too near a thing is as deceptive as to be too far from it. It is not right to look at a beauty's cheek with a microscope; then it is far from handsome. Emerson says that if we could get a thing at the right perspective it is always beautiful; even disaster and death, at the proper distance, seem noble and touching.

Let us not be too cock-sure, therefore, of "the evidence of our senses"; but remember that the brain-concept is made up, not only of the actual image brought by the eye, but also by our imagination, and by our preconceived notions of how the thing ought to look; and that also all depends upon perspective.

PUBLISHER INDICTED AT LOS ANGELES

Accused of Disclosing the Contents of Intercepted Wireless Message

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 5.—Edwin T. Earl, owner and publisher of two Los Angeles papers, the Express and the Tribune, was indicted by the grand jury late yesterday afternoon on a charge of disclosing the contents of an intercepted wireless message. A bench warrant was issued as a matter of form, but Mr. Earl was allowed to go on his own recognizance.

The indictment was the latest and most spectacular phase of a bitter editorial controversy between Mr. Earl's papers on the one side, and on the other the Times, owned by General Harrison G. Otis, the Herald, commonly reputed to be owned by Otis, and the Examiner, a Hearst paper.

The message, which was intercepted by three young amateur wireless operators, Kenneth Ormiston, Harry Rooms and David Smith, was printed in the Tribune on Monday morning, and in the Express yesterday afternoon, and is as follows:

"To F. S. Peard, Avalon: "General suggests over phone that we make reproduction of Examiner-Earl expose in Herald this morning. Suggestion sounds good to me, and will follow it unless you wire to the contrary. Both phone ordinances passed by council and signed by mayor this afternoon. Now is the opportune time for reprint."

Peard is the business manager of the Herald, and Feiner Webb the managing editor.

The newspaper war had its inception little more than a month ago. The Herald, which had been aligned politically with the Express as an organ of the good government movement in municipal affairs under the editorship of Thomas E. Gibbons, was relinquished by Gibbons several months ago, and Feiner assumed control. Following rumors two months ago that the Herald was to be turned into a Liberal afternoon paper, Earl announced that if the deal was consummated he would establish a morning paper. The Tribune appeared on the morning of July 4. The Herald, however, remained a morning paper.

The crisis of the warfare between Earl and the Times, Herald and Examiner was reached when they lined up on opposite sides in the yearly adjustment of telephone rates in this city. Mr. Earl, in a statement last night, blames his indictment on the personal animosity of the prosecuting officials, who are his political opponents.

BEATEN AND ROBBED.

Clergyman Assaulted and Relieved of Jewelry and Money in San Francisco.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 4.—Rev. E. K. Severance, formerly curate of St. John's church of Los Angeles, was picked up in the "South of Market district" this morning, badly beaten up and with his coat, vest, watch, jewelry and money gone. He was taken to the Central Emergency hospital for treatment for his bruises and broken nose.

Rev. Mr. Severance arrived here yesterday from Los Angeles on the steamer Bear, with his mother. He said that he went out last night to visit friends and was set upon by robbers. It was his intention to spend some time at Camp Meeker on the Russian river, and then take charge of a curacy in that section.

Remaining Stock of Summer Parasols at Half Price

Coats, Suits and Skirts at $2.50

THESE figures speak with far greater eloquence than any emphasis you might attempt in commenting on the values. And while considering the remarkable low price of these garments, bear in mind that they are the most desirable styles of our stock, reduced to make way for incoming Fall fashions.

We correctly term this event a climax in COTTON GARMENT VALUES—the price reductions seem almost incredible, and more so when you see the garments. This store never tolerates price manipulations in order to make reductions seem greater than they really are. Every price reduction as quoted below is absolutely true and genuine.

- 9 COTTON SUITS (coat and skirt) in tan, black, blue and old rose. Regular price $6 to $16. MONDAY $2.50
- 8 LINEN COATS, white and natural, which we marked to sell up to $12.50. MONDAY, for $2.50
- 3 LACE COATS, very handsome models indeed. Regular prices up to $17.50. MONDAY $2.50
- 9 BLACK COTTON REP SKIRTS, which have been selling extensively for up to $4.50. MONDAY $2.50

MORE NEW GOODS

We have not forgotten to carry a full line of outside sizes. We would also mention that we carry the improved and approved maternity skirts, in black, blue and grey. Prices $8.25 to $6.75.

ATTORNEY MUST

PAY BIG FINE

Legal Representative of Wire Manufacturers is Fined $45,000

New York, Aug. 5.—The succession of fines which has marked the progress of the government's successful campaign indicted for forming pools in alleged violation of the anti-trust laws, reached a climax yesterday when Edwin E. Jackson, Jr., the New York attorney, whom the federal attorney terms the "head and brains of the trust," was sentenced to pay $45,000. This is by far the heaviest fine inflicted upon any of the 73 wire manufacturers who have pleaded nolle contendere, but it did not satisfy United States Attorney Wise. He pleaded with Judge Archibald to send the wire trust attorney to jail. He declared last night that he would apply for Mr. Jackson's disbarment.

RETURNING TO COAST.

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 5.—A. B. Calder, for eight years general agent of the C. P. R. in this city, who was promoted a year ago to a similar position with the same company in Chicago, will arrive in Seattle with his family to-day, and expects to remain on the Pacific coast.

Both he and Mrs. Calder did not like the Chicago climate, and prefer to be once more with friends in the west. Mr. Calder's plans are not disclosed, but it is stated by close friends that he resigned from the C. P. R. and that he may join the forces of the Canadian Northern either at Vancouver or Seattle.

BLACKGUARDLY CRITICISMS.

Copies of Hansard with the report of the proceedings of the House of Commons and the debate following the laying on the table of the report of Hon. Commissioner Murphy respecting infractions of the Customs Act at British Columbia ports, in the matter of their entry of Chinese are at hand.

It might have been tolerable had a member of the House resorted to such remarkable procedure previous to an investigation. He might have been moved to this course by hearsay and his hearsay might, to himself, have justified the raucous croaking of Mr. Taylor, but with the whole report before him there can be no epithet applied to the attack of the member for New Westminster other than that it was most contemptible.

Hon. Mr. Templeman: "I regret very much that my hon. friend has given so much attention to the personal aspect of the evidence. I would have preferred if he had gone into the merits of the question, which, however, he has absolutely not done. I am not here to say that there has been no fraud committed under the Chinese Immigration Act. I believe that so long as we have had Chinese coming into the country, and so long as there has been a $500 head tax, there have been Chinamen coming in without paying that head tax. Smuggling in Chinamen without paying the head tax is a very profitable business indeed. I would not be surprised to learn that the practice was not uncommon, and not only common on the Pacific coast, but not uncommon on the Atlantic coast; relatively to the numbers coming into the country, just as common on the Atlantic coast as on the Pacific coast. My hon. friend has thought well to try and identify me personally in some way or other with a conspiracy on the part of certain Liberals in Vancouver, a conspiracy between them and the Chinese interpreter to evade this head tax in some way or other, and he intimates that the Liberal party in the city of Vancouver have profited thereby. The other day, in speaking on this very question, when he was reading this voluminous evidence to the House, my hon. friend, in reply to a protest, I think, made by the hon. the Premier, said that hon. members on this side of the House were the beneficiaries of a fund of a million dollars corruptly obtained by smuggling Chinamen into this country."

can be based; there is not one statement of any witness whatever implicating any man in the city of Vancouver, any white man, in any respect whatever. I say it is unfair, it is de-liberately unfair, it is untrue to make a statement to the House and convey the idea that any member of the Liberal party in the city of Vancouver, or that I myself in the remotest degree, was connected with any plot or plan that would lead to these results. I say it is a monstrous thing. But it is in line with the Hon. gentleman's remarks in the House, the insinuations he has conveyed, the manner in which he read the testimony, and the arguments and conclusions he deduced therefrom—just as unfair and just as untruthful as some of the evidence given before the commissioner by my old friend Mr. Joseph Martin, and by Mr. Norman McLennan. These men gave their opinion of the members of the Liberal party, of the Premier and others, but they had nothing to say, and knew nothing whatever, about the alleged irregularities with respect to Chinese immigration."

It may be said that Mr. Taylor has a penchant for scavenging; he delights in the odiferous rumors of political scandal and he is altogether satisfied when he can find some excuse for attacking the personal character and impugning the motives of his political opponents. When the celebrated escape of Bill Miner from the Westminster penitentiary occurred Mr. Taylor affected to believe that federal ministers were cognizant of and parties to his plan of escape. As a trader of the reputations of other men, when they happen to sit on the opposite side of the House, Mr. Taylor has few equals in the federal parliament. He would much rather believe evil of a political opponent than believe good of an archangel and he would, at any time, prefer to slander a Liberal than slander the devil. A disappointed opportunist, he takes revenge in spite. We do not know if Mr. Taylor is a product of his constituency, but we should loathe to believe that he is. There are many Conservatives in New Westminster who despise his virulent attacks in the House and the more so because of the reputation which he bears in his own city.

We are not so much concerned with him as with the fact that when the chief Conservative whips require a particularly dastardly piece of unsavory work done in the House they appear always to be able to depend on one of the elect from this province to perform the task. Perhaps the Conservative members from the Coast are only too glad to get the floor of the House and the ear of the Speaker even at the cost of the contempt of more respectable members who would scorn to resort to such malign manifestations of political hate. The Times apologizes for handling so unsavory a matter in its columns. It is only one of the necessities to show thinking people of British Columbia the sort of characterless representatives who misrepresent them in the House. The vastly preponderating electorate of the province has nothing but contempt for these slanderers.

OUR CLAIRVOYANT PREMIER.

Premier McBride has added to his many personal charms the gift of clairvoyance. He landed at Quebec less than a week ago after having spent nearly three months in England and immediately announced that Canada is overwhelmingly opposed to reciprocity. He repeated the statement at Winnipeg and again at Golden, Vancouver and on his arrival at the capital. One is compelled to imagine the premier physically breathing the atmosphere of this opposition as he gaily swooped across the continent in his private car. A healthy optimism is a good asset at all times, but we think the premier is slightly overdoing it. Having added this second sight to his other personal virtues, however, there can no longer be any mistake in the people of British Columbia idolizing the man "upon whose striking features high destiny has set its seal." Still we think he was slightly over-stating things.

Was it because the country is overwhelmingly opposed to reciprocity that Mr. Borden obstructed parliament and forced an election? Why then do his organs cry out against the government for going to the country for the mandate upon the question? Surely, if the premier is right, Mr. Borden should welcome the early accession to power which is sure to result from the appeal to the people. Yet the opposition papers all the way across the continent complain that the government is responsible and seek to exempt Mr. Borden from the blame of forcing an election. If the Dominion is solid against reciprocity, it should be Borden's glory to have forced the government to an appeal. He would be the savior of his country, but it appears that he does not relish the prospect.

Time was when the proverb "Politics make strange bedfellows" was common. It must on this occasion be revised to read that politics make added the brains of otherwise capable reasoners.

There are perhaps 1,000 people in British Columbia growing fruit. They do not now grow enough nor ever will grow enough to supply the provincial and prairie markets. Yet there are 200,000 people in British Columbia who eat fruit. When they have to import it they must pay an average of 15 per cent. duty. No appreciable quantity of fruit grown in domestic varieties is imported when there is any locally grown fruit in the market. Because 1,000 people cannot grow enough fruit to supply 200,000 people, 190,000 people must pay 15 per cent. more for fruit than is necessary. Sir Wilfrid Laurier would end this state of affairs, but Mr. Borden says he must continue. Figure it out for yourself.

The prevalence of drowning accidents as reported daily in the press of the nation is alarming. One might almost say drowning by accident is epidemic, though we admit the new application of the term. Not only as a result of faulty navigation in the case of ships, but apparent recklessness in pleasure boating and even insane risks in swimming and diving result in a large addition to the catalogue of daily deaths. Railway accidents, too, with increasing fatality lists, are a common occurrence. Fifty years ago, or even less, such a list of madcap follies and employees' carelessness would have presaged the end of the world. And even as it is the earth is being rapidly depopulated. We cannot think of any moral. Each must make his own.

With Detroit and Chicago buyers offering the Ontario farmers 47 per ton more for hay than the Toronto prices, there should be something done. Give the farmer reciprocity, take off the United States embargo of 44 per long ton and 5 tons of hay will pay the farmer's taxes every year. No Ontario farmer need fear competition in the stock market while he can get $12 per ton for his hay. Less handling, less worry, more money.

The Calgary Herald (Conservative) says: "Out with a prime minister who dared to suggest that the Dominion might be cowardly enough to remain neutral when the mother country was at war." The fact that the prime minister never said such a thing puts a boomerang effect on this piece of charlatan journalism. The only people who have ever said that are the Tory press.

We are vastly grateful for our morning content, for instruction as to the proper methods of using red herring. Not being experienced or skilled in such matters ourselves, we gratefully accept any little courtesies of the kind that our neighbor may see fit, out of its long experience, to tip us off with. Inside information is always valuable.

Montreal Witness: "It (reciprocity) is a business proposition, and those who raise the bogey of future annexation are either weak in faith as far as the genuineness of Canadian loyalty or but little acquainted with our history."

Says the Saskatchewan Phoenix: "When Borden and his followers talk loyalty the proper retort is: What about the British preference? That will hold a lot of loose talkers."

While on the subject of imperialism will the Borden papers please inform the public when that party ever made a proposal of giving the Motherland a preference in the markets of Canada.

The Liberal party is always willing to trust the people, and the government, therefore, had no hesitation in appealing to the country—Halifax Chronicle.

Reciprocity is a business proposition. It means free trade in the products of the forest, the farm, the sea and the mines. On manufactured articles the United States reduces its tariff to make it equal our own. A square deal. Equal rights on both sides of the line.

FIRE FIGHTER DYING. Fatally Burned While Fighting Flames on San Bernardino Mountains.

San Bernardino, Cal., Aug. 5.—An unidentified fire fighter was found by a patrol to-day fatally burned and lying where he had fallen exhausted on the San Bernardino mountains fire line. As the government refuses to allow claims for expenses in caring for injured fire fighters, a collection was taken up to procure medical aid for the dying man.

At least 100 sick and disabled fire fighters, their shoes burned from their feet and their clothing in rags, are stranded here. It will be weeks before they are paid off.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH GETS NEW SITE

Old Property Sold at Large Profit—Corner Quadra is New Location

Although nothing definite has yet been announced there is a strong possibility that a new site for the First Presbyterian church, of which Rev. John Campbell, M.A., Ph.D., has been pastor for nineteen years, will be found on the ground of the old Partridge estate, northeast corner of Quadra and North Park streets, as it is understood that agents acting for the congregation of the church have acquired the site at a price of about $27,000.

This deal has been brought about by the fact that negotiations are all but completed for the sale of the present church property, situated at the corner of Pandora avenue and Blanchard street, and extending in the rear to Mason street, the consideration being roughly $30,000. As this site was secured in 1902 for only $1,000, and has now become a very valuable business locality, the transfer may be as mutually satisfactory for the church as for the four local investors who are understood to have acquired it. The extent of ground is 90 x 120.

It is just fifty years ago since Alex. Wilson, who is still living in the city, attended the meeting in Moore's hall, on Government street, when steps were taken for the organization of the First church, and the present edifice is one of the oldest in Victoria. The corner stone was laid in March, 1863 by Chief Justice Cameron, and the formal dedication took place some few months afterwards. For a number of years after 1866 the church was closed as a result of litigation which arose over the property and which resulted in the resignation and withdrawal of the pastor, Rev. Thomas Somerville. With him resigned a considerable part of the congregation and together they organized the Anderson church. It is only a couple of Sundays ago that First church congregation celebrated its jubilee.

A STRIKING CONTRAST

Some eastern papers have been commenting strongly upon the action of a prominent stock life insurance company in voting a bonus of half a million dollars to its stockholders, every dollar of which came from the earnings of the policy-holders' money.

In striking contrast to this, The Mutual Life of Canada last year earned over half a million dollars in profits, every dollar of which goes to the policy-holders, who alone receive all profits.

The insuring public are becoming more and more alive to the importance of investing their money in a company which has no interest to consider, or care for except that of its policy-holders—a company in which the policy-holders own everything, control everything and get everything; such a company is The Mutual Life of Canada, one of the oldest and strongest companies, and the only company of its kind in Canada. ABOUT BASEBALL

F. Stoenbeck left the other day on an automobile tour of the island. He will be back Monday in time for the first game with Tacoma. The strain was evidently too much for T. P. and after the third defeat he departed to while away the time as pleasantly as possible where there was no offending score board to sour his disposition.

If the result of this week's games is anything to go by Portus Baxter was right when he said Brennan was the making of Victoria. Victoria's string of defeats this week are not due to poor pitching but to faulty fielding almost altogether. That does not mean that with Brennan the team would have won all the games, but it might have grabbed a couple.

The standing of the Northwestern league teams is as follows:

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Vancouver	67	49	.609
Tacoma	62	47	.568
Spokane	59	51	.536
Seattle	56	51	.524
Portland	53	54	.495
Victoria	29	80	.266

There is no getting around it that Brennan's absence has sent the whole team up in the air. The recruit from the Twilight league may not have been a wonder, but he was a good average shortstop and as it happens Victoria has not got a good utility man to put in. Houston was a failure and so was Ward, who played short yesterday. It just looks like putting a pitcher in the outfield and dragging along as well as possible until Brennan recovers.

The Tigers come here next week. Portland goes to Seattle and Spokane to Vancouver.

Philadelphia took the American league leadership yesterday by a double defeat of the St. Louis tall-enders. The percentage table is now: Philadelphia won 63, lost 34, percentage .650; Detroit won 53, lost 35, percentage .604.

Chicago still holds the lead in the National league by 24 points.

The Spokane Indians cannot get a grip. They are sliding all the time and yet the real reason for their slump is hard to discover. Yesterday they hit the ball harder than the Giants and fielded well, but lost out.

Jockey Ward has secured six hits in five days this week, two three-baggers, two doubles and a couple of singles.

It is reported that Houston, who substituted for Victoria for two or three days, is a Portland amateur.

Moosejaw has such a big lead in the Twilight league that the other teams are threatening to quit.

In an interesting but one-sided game the young Islanders last evening defeated their opponents, the Yates Street team, by a score of 20 to 2. The batteries: Islanders, D. McDonald and H. Curtis; Yates street, J. McFadden, Percy F. Johnson and G. Goodman.

LAKE'S SUPPORT WAS ROCKY IN PINCHES

Victoria's New Pitcher Worked Well Generally but Was Wild at Times

Maxmeyer allowed the Islanders four barulose hits at Portland yesterday and walked but two men. Not a Victorian passed second. While Lake pitched a generally good game, his work was spoiled by wildness and his support was extremely rocky in the pinches. The score:

SPORT NOTES

Quite a party of local swimmers left on the boat last evening to compete in the first half of the B. C. championshipship at Vancouver. It is expected that the local men, among whom are Crompton, McNeill, Muir and other well-known aquatic athletes, will bring home a goodly share of the prizes. The second half of the championships will be held here next Saturday.

Joskey Keogh has the honor of being first on the list of winning jockeys at Minerva this summer, with 34 firsts, 19 seconds and 28 thirds. Riddle is second with 32 firsts, 20 seconds and 25 thirds. A three days' suspension set

CRICKET

The following letter from Fred M. Starkey, Nelson, contains the good news hoped for by the P.C.C.A., that Kootenay will be in the tournament and ten teams will compete:

"Replying to your favor of the 26th re a Kootenay team entering for the tournament, to be held in Victoria, I feel it safe to say you may enter one from the Kootenays. I have not yet had time to meet the Nelson club. Knowing we have many good cricketers in and around the city of Nelson, we should certainly be represented in the tournament, therefore you may expect me to do the best possible, to have a good team present."

Regarding the general display idea for cricket, David Spencer, Limited, offers to assist in carrying out any suggestions, the committee might make. Such an offer, and it may be said several others of a similar nature have been received, will be accepted in the same spirit of generous co-operation in which it is made.

It is hoped that no misunderstanding will arise from this publication. Cricketers do not wish to fold their arms in innocent pastime upon the long-suffering public, or inconvenience anyone on their account, but are not so callous to the personal advantages or interests of others as to withhold any assistance they may be able to give in this or any other line.

SAYS BRITAIN NEEDS MORE AEROPLANES

Writer Says Comparison With Other Nations Shows Indifference

The danger of England's apathy in the matter of keeping up with the leading European nations in providing aeroplanes for war purposes is the subject of an article in the August Strand magazine, and is particularly interesting at this juncture when England, Germany and France are so seriously involved. Claude Grahame-White, one of the foremost of English aviators, is the author, and speaks from experience as a flying man and as a well posted observer of what other nations have been doing. He says in part:

"A year or so ago, when the first crude aeroplanes were flying yards instead of miles, and when no flight of any kind was possible unless there was practically a dead calm, there were clever men who smiled when aircraft were spoken of as possible weapons in time of war. Now, in 1911, a man whips through the air at sixty-three miles an hour, lunching in London and having tea in Paris, and amazing the whole world, by bridging the distance between the two capitals in a monoplane in three hours less time than it takes by the fastest train or the quickest turbine steamer."

"Why are other countries devoting time and money, unspittingly, to strengthen their air-corps, increasing the size of their armies, and perfecting their aerial organization? And why is it that in England sums which can only be described as paltry are set aside for war aeroplanes and men, and that permeating the official at-presented also by extraordinary important pioneer work."

"The writer describes at length the value of aeroplanes for scouting purposes as well as for carrying explosives, and points out how it would be possible for aeroplanes to create havoc in London. He asks:

"Are such facts as these properly realized in England? Can it be that they cannot be, or there would be far greater interest in this question of aerial warfare. Have we any plans for dealing with such a form of attack? I have certainly heard of none. It is not as though the war aeroplanes were now at the point of highest development. Quite the reverse is the case. As it exists today, wonderful instrument though it has become, it is little more than a crude, experimental machine. It is, indeed, merely upon the threshold of its real development for military purposes.

"The aeroplane is not an expensive weapon. From the military point of view, such a statement as this has great importance. Let me take a practical example to illustrate what I mean. A Dreadnought costs, let us say a million and a quarter. For an expenditure of this amount any country could provide itself with a couple of thousand aeroplanes!

OIL FUEL FOR G. N. RAILWAY AT SEATTLE MANY COME NORTH ON THE UMATILLA

Fifteen New Plates Required on Spokane-Bent Frames Must Be Replaced

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 5.—Bringing 25,000 barrels of fuel oil from the California fields, the oil tanker William F. Herrin will arrive on Puget Sound tomorrow and begin discharging its first cargo for the Great Northern railway for use on its oil-burning locomotives. Regular sailings three times a month will hereafter be made between the Puget Sound and the oil fields ports. Practically all the Great Northern locomotives, 163 in number, operated on the Pacific coast, have been converted from coal to oil burners, and both freight and passenger trains will be hauled, beginning next week, with power furnished by the new fuel.

The Great Northern oil supply will come from the Union Oil Company and the tanker Herrin has been engaged for a time charter to bring the oil to the Sound exclusively for the Great Northern.

Repairs to the steamship Spokane, of the Pacific Coast Company, which was wrecked in Seymour Narrows recently, are progressing rapidly at the Moran shipbuilding yards. Seven of

With Freight From San Francisco, Pacific Coast Steamer Arrived Yesterday

The Pacific Coast Company steamer Umatilla, Capt. G. A. Harris, arrived at the Outer Wharf from San Francisco last night at 6 o'clock, discharging here a quantity of freight for Victoria merchants, and bringing a large number of passengers. Twenty one in the saloon and 5 second cabin passengers being landed at Victoria.

MARINE NOTES

Capt. Nicholson, superintendent of the G. T. P. S. S. Co., left last night for Vancouver.

The U. S. S. West Virginia, which is making Vancouver Island coal tests, will change commanders to-day. Capt. Holstead, U. S. N., succeeds Commodore Orchard.

The Canadian Gazette contains the announcement of the appointment of J. W. Davies, of Bowen Island, to be harbor master for the Port of Snug Harbor, Bowen Island.

The O. S. K. Mexico Maru sailed from the outer wharf for the Orient this morning at 11 o'clock with freight and passengers taken aboard on the Sound. At Victoria Capt. G. L. Harrison embarked for Shanghai. There was no Victoria freight.

The G. T. P. steamer Prince Rupert, from Prince Rupert, is due and on time at 7 a.m. tomorrow. She brings some freight for Victoria and a full list of passengers. She will leave for Seattle at 11 a.m. tomorrow and sail again for Prince Rupert from Victoria Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

Mediterranean fly had infected over a ton of rull from Hawaii received on the coast by the liner Chiyu Maru last week. U. S. quarantine officers caused the infected fruit to be boiled for an hour before finally dumping it overboard. Pacific Coast steamship companies have agreed to take active measures to keep the pest fly out of the importations.

The schooner Espada is reported to have arrived at Sydney, N.S.W., Wednesday from Puget Sound in a wrecked condition, having been 165 days on the voyage. Fierce gales were met with on passing Samoa. High seas swept the decks and the masts were broken off short by the violence of the wind. She met a second storm, and then became becalmed. Finally a passing tug took her in tow. The Espada was loaded with lumber on Puget Sound, and it is believed that the lumber kept her afloat.

Port Townsend, Aug. 5.—Collector of Customs F. C. Harper has been notified by the inspectors of hulls and boilers at Seattle that the fine of $500 recently levied against the tug Defender for running one day without licensed mates will not be remitted and must be paid in full. He is also notified that Capt. John Hanson, of the tug, who permitted the law violation, has his license suspended for thirty days. In most cases fines such as this are remitted, but the inspectors regarded the Defender's case as inexcusable.

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 5.—Only meagre reports of the condition of the barge

Big Bonanza, which is in distress at Oyster Bay, to the north of Cape Mudge, were received at the office of the Alaska Barge Company yesterday. W. F. Swan, assistant manager of the company, was unable to give any additional information, although he sent wireless messages to the vessels passing through Seymour Narrows. The tug Lorne has gone to the assistance of the Big Bonanza with pumps, and an effort will be made to prevent her from sinking. The vessel is reported to have seven feet of water in her hold and badly waterlogged.

The Alaska-Pacific Steamship Company has increased its fleet by the purchase of the steamer Admiral Farragut on the Atlantic. The vessel will be overhauled and sent to this coast next fall. She will probably be operated between San Francisco and Puget Sound ports or be placed on the Southeastern Alaska run in the service of the Alaska Steamship Company, which is an adjunct of the Alaska-Pacific Company. The Admiral Farragut is said to be similar to the Admiral Sampson, which the company purchased on the East Coast two years ago and which has been giving excellent service on the coast and on the Alaskan run, where she is at present.

PRINCE JOHN OUT BOUND FOR NORTH

Capt. C. W. Wearmouth Took New Grand Trunk Vessel From Dock This Morning

Carrying portion of her first cargo, and with her new captain, C. W. Wearmouth, in command, the G. T. P. steamer Prince John, less than two weeks out from her builders, steamed from the G. T. P. dock this morning at 10 o'clock en route to Prince Rupert where she will go on the Prince Rupert, Queen Charlotte run in place of the G. T. P. boat Prince Albert which has till now been engaged in that trade.

Capt. Wearmouth will take the Prince John from here to Vancouver and remain in that port until Wednesday next prior to sailing for Prince Rupert.

Capt. Nicholson, superintendent of the G. T. P. has arranged for the Prince John to lay at Vancouver, open for inspection by the public, tomorrow, the same as she has been here since her arrival from England. At Vancouver the Prince John is to complete loading a full cargo for Prince Rupert.

The Prince John is the first vessel of the G. T. P. fleet to be registered at Prince Rupert. The Prince Albert, replaced by the Prince John, leaves Prince Rupert to-day on her journey south. On arrival here she will go to Esquimalt for overhaul before being placed on the run between Victoria, Vancouver and Northern coast points in alternating service with the Henrietta.

Capt. Wearmouth has been master of the Prince Albert ever since she went on the northern run, and his appointment to the new boat comes as a matter of course. His officers on the Prince John are: Chief officer, Mr. H. McClelland, formerly first officer on the Prince Rupert; first officer, Mr. Griffiths, formerly first officer on the Prince Albert; second officer, Mr. Kerman, who is the only officer who is to remain on the vessel of those who came out on her; purser and wireless operator, J. S. Durago; chief engineer, T. Anderson, formerly in the same position on the Henrietta; chief steward, J. W. Shiel, ex-Prince Albert. Mr. McKenzie will succeed Mr. McClelland as first officer on the Prince Rupert.

Capt. Duncan McKenzie of the Rupert city has command of the Prince Albert.

Prince Rupert, B. C., Aug. 5.—While under the influence of liquor, John Hallerhan, a deckhand on the steamer Vado, fell overboard early this morning and was drowned. His body was found to-day. Deceased was a native of Newfoundland, 33 years old and unmarried.

CAPT. C. W. WEARMOUTH
Master of G. T. P. steamer Prince John, leaving to-day for Prince Rupert—Queen Charlotte run.

the vessel's damaged plates had been taken off yesterday and it is estimated that eight more will have to be removed before she can be placed in seaworthy condition.

Not only will new plates be used on the starboard side, where the damage was done, but a large number of frames, which are bent and broken, must be replaced.

That the vessel struck with great force on a jagged rock is shown by one of the plates, in which a great triangular hole was cut, allowing an enormous amount of water to enter the vessel. In addition to the damage done to the steamship's hull, her furnishings were ruined and she will require painting and re-decorating throughout. The cost of the work is estimated at $75,000, and will require so much time that the vessel will not be able to re-enter the Alaska service this season.

OWNERS OF EDRIE GO TO COURT OF APPEAL

Schooner Seized for Fishing Within Territorial Waters Subject of Lawsuit

The schooner Edrie, seized for fishing within territorial waters, and held at the Sapperton wharf since the court upheld the legality of detention, is hardly likely to be sold by auction yet, as the owners, the Choppe Fish Company, of Seattle, have given notice of appeal, and this will probably come on at the sittings of the court of appeal here November next.

The necessary period had almost elapsed, and instructions for the auction had been issued to Macdonnell, Kilham & Farris, of Vancouver, from the department of justice before definite announcement has been made that the decision of the judge in April would be tested in a higher court.

As the boat is in excellent condition, and particularly suitable for the halibut fisheries, a number of inquiries have already been made as to the date of the projected sale.

Lever Brothers, Toronto, will send you a case of their famous Florida Ketch soap, if you mention this paper.

TACOMA EXPECTING WHEAT THIS MONTH

No Advance Chartering Necessary to Handle Grain Export Trade From Sound

Tacoma, Aug. 5.—Toward the middle of the month wheat for shipment to the European markets is expected to be arriving from the interior in large quantities. Exporters say that at least one cargo of the new-crop wheat will be set afloat for the United Kingdom this month despite the fact that harvesting operations are about a week later than usual.

In September it is predicted that a number of grain carriers will clear for offshore ports, and from that time on shipping will be lively until late in the spring. The shippers anticipate no difficulty in securing ample tonnage for handling the surplus crop. Already a rather large fleet has been engaged. These are mostly windjammers, several of which will be putting in an appearance almost any day. One of them is enroute from Glasgow and two or three ought to be showing up soon from Newcastle, N. S. W. But as was the case last season, the great bulk of the offshore traffic is expected to be taken care of by tramp steamers.

In past seasons October and November months have been the banner months in the matter of witnessing a large movement of wheat to the markets of the world. If these periods should prove the height of the present season it is declared that all of the tonnage for forwarding the cereal can be picked up as needed. At that time a formidable fleet of colliers, open for grain charters, will be around from the Atlantic coast. Practically none of them so far has been engaged for the outward trip. At all events it is declared that there will be no necessity to charter any great number of vessels in advance, a practice which has been indulged in with unsatisfactory results in times past.

No labor troubles are looked for and it is anticipated that the season will be one of the best in the history of the port. No formal agreement has been reached with the Grainhandlers' Union as yet, but it is claimed that an amicable understanding undoubtedly will be reached with the men.

CONSTABLE M'GANN IS SENT UP FOR TRIAL

Magistrate Jay Decided that the Case Was Not Within His Jurisdiction

Yesterday afternoon, when the hearing of the case against Constable John McGann was resumed, Magistrate Jay decided, immediately the case for the prosecution had closed, that the prisoner would have to be remitted to a higher court.

In view of this action on the part of the magistrate the defence evidence was reserved.

Whether McGann will elect for a speedy trial or will wait for the assizes was not divulged.

OIL KING VISITS VANCOUVER.

Vancouver, Aug. 5.—John D. Rockefeller was a visitor to the city yesterday and to-day. He left at noon today on a special train of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway over the Great Northern for Seattle.

Mr. Rockefeller was very quiet during his stay in the city and his leaving was quite without ostentation. He arrived at the station in an automobile a few minutes before the train left and strolled around unconcernedly. If there were any guards looking after his safety or protecting him from annoyance, they were not in evidence to the casual onlooker.

GIVES DECIDED DENIAL AS TO ASIATIC LABOR

T. G. Holt Says C. N. R. Has No Wish, Intention or Power to Do So

T. G. Holt, of the Canadian Northern railway, who arrived at the Empress yesterday, stated this morning that he knew nothing about the alleged scarcity of men for the company's railway labor referred to by the Colonist this morning, nor of any agitation by two thousand men along the C. N. R.'s main line works for a higher standard of wage.

Mr. Holt said he did not know where the paper got its information from, but he gave the statement an unqualified denial. For one thing, the C. N. R. did not have any wish to introduce Asiatic labor, much preferring the work of white men, and for another thing the company could not introduce such labor, even if it was available and they wished to do so, as it would be entirely against their charter and contract. There was absolutely no truth in the report, Mr. Holt said.

As evidence that the suggestion was quite groundless, he stated that the company had not experienced any lack of labor either on the Island or on the Mainland, and he was confident there would be no want of labor this year. All the undertakings of the company in the province were progressing satisfactorily and smoothly.

In regard to the proposed conference which is to take place between the government, the city and the various railway companies with reference to the proposed terminals at Victoria, he had not yet heard anything as to the fixing of a date to go jointly into the matter.

INFRACTION OF ALIEN LABOR ACT

Smith Little, of Pacific Sheet Metal Works, Convicted and Fined $100

Being found guilty of an offence under the Alien Labor Act in the police court yesterday afternoon, Smith Little, partner in the Victoria Sheet Metal Works, was fined $100. This represented the first case of the kind to be tried in the city. A second one which has already been called on he heard next week.

The specific charge against Little was that he "knowingly encouraged" Harry Claus of Seattle, to come here under a contract made previous to his immigration to become a sheet metal worker in the employ of accused's firm. It was announced by the prosecution, which was conducted by J. A. Alkman, that the Attorney-General had sanctioned the proceeding of the charge.

Claus himself gave evidence for the prosecution, admitting that when he came over at the instigation of the accused he was given a sum of money to tide over any temporary difficulties he might encounter.

F. C. Webb, of the Building Trades Council, upon whose information the charge was laid, also gave evidence. On being asked if he expected to get something out of the transaction, Webb firmly replied that he was an officer of the Building Trades Union and it was his duty to report all such cases. Getting anything out of it was never in his mind.

Little, when placed in the witness box, admitted that he had given instructions to one of his agents to go to Seattle to inform the sheet metal workers of that city that there was plenty of work here, but he denied that he gave him any authority to bring anyone back with him.

In summing up the case the Magistrate stated that he had not the slightest doubt that the act had been violated, and willfully violated at that. The method of procedure proved to his mind that the accused was well aware of the nature of the offence. An attempt had been made to bring men over to work in the foundries here. He therefore imposed the $100 fine, which has to be paid in four days.

N. D. Chetham, Vancouver, $127,724. Zindorf & Elliott, Seattle, $44,506. C. F. Graft, Seattle, $89,904. John Haggerty & Co., city, $73,963. Joffer & Butten, Portland, $105,820. Westholme Lumber Co., Ltd., city, $76,147. Moore & Pethick, city, $103,600.

In addition alternative bids permitted upon plans supplied by the bidders were received from the following: Westholme Lumber Co., Ltd., city, $110,260. Westholme Lumber Co., Ltd., city, $54,094. Moore & Pethick, $111,000. Moore & Pethick, $148,000.

The report also stated that while the consideration of the alternative plans had proved interesting and instructive the committee had come to the conclusion that the best way for it to deal with the question was to make the recommendation on the straight issue of the case plans. All the bids tendered on that basis had complied with the regulations. In considering the plans, however, the committee had been advised that it would be necessary to add a few details, such as installation of a few plugs. These would be added to the plans and the extra cost fixed so that no difficulty could possibly arise in relation to it. It was estimated that the total cost of these extras would not exceed $3,000.

The first attack upon the award of the contract was made from the flank on which the "extras" stood guard. Ald. Moresby would have none of them. "They had all had enough of extras," he said, and he thought it had surely gained sufficient wisdom to keep it from committing itself to a policy that had proved so expensive and so inconvenient in the past.

Ald. H. M. Fullerton went further. If extras were to cut any figure in the contract then he thought that new tenders should be immediately called for with the "extras" included. He moved accordingly and found a second in Ald. Bishop, who, for justification of his attitude, referred to the trouble which the city had had in connection with the extras at the Dallas road sea wall.

Ald. Langley and the city engineer pointed out to the objectors that no trouble could possibly arise on this occasion as the extras would be part of the contract. Immediately that obstacle had been negotiated, however, Ald. H. M. Fullerton rose with another to the effect that if the reinforcement idea was carried through it would mean an infringement of the patent rights of the Foreshore Protection Company of London, England.

"A pipe dream" was the caustic manner in which Ald. Langley disposed of this new attack. He stated that they had been hearing a little of that talk from the representative of the company but he was not going to worry himself about so paltry and pointless an objection. If the London company had patent rights on reinforcement over the construction of the Dallas road sea wall which was reinforced from end to end.

Ald. Humber then moved that the plans of Mr. Case did not appeal to him as affording adequate protection, and, although he had to admit that he was not an engineer, he was bound to oppose the letting of the contract until he was satisfied by the substitution of another plan.

Ald. H. M. Fullerton then relieved the situation a trifle by withdrawing his amendment to the motion that Stedham be awarded the contract and that the report of the committee be adopted.

Up to this the mayor had not expressed himself on the question, but when Ald. Humber invited him to address the council with "come on, Mr. Mayor, let us have your opinion; you are an engineer," which caused a ripple of laughter among his colleagues, the mayor very readily complied. He pointed out that the work on the plans was started before he was cognizant of the fact, and said he had no desire to be mixed up in a matter that had been got through in that way. He declared that those responsible for the plans had not gone about the matter in the proper way. It had been recommended that before the contract was awarded an independent opinion should be obtained as to their merits, so as to protect the city engineer, who would be finally responsible. That had not been done, and he asserted that if the contract was awarded now it would be without his authority.

Ald. H. M. Fullerton was the first to retort to this side issue of the question. He claimed that the remarks of the mayor did not give a square deal to the city engineer and the aldermen who had been connected with the matter, and who had succeeded in bringing it to its present practical shape. Alderman Langley at once relieved the mayor of any responsibility in the matter. He was perfectly willing to accept it all.

Ald. Peden expressed his willingness to shoulder the responsibility also. In further rebuttal of the mayor's attitude Ald. Peden claimed that the city engineer had been explicitly instructed to have plans and reports made of the proposed work. He had done so with the assistance of Mr. Case. There was no question of the city engineer having the right to engage Mr. Case in that work. The city accorded him that right. It was not necessary for the engineer to consult the council in the matter of appointments to his department.

The mayor came back with the statement that the city engineer was not prepared to back up the plans of Mr. Case without the approved opinion of an outside expert, whereupon Ald. Peden retorted that the city engineer had expressed his approval of the plans of Mr. Case, and was prepared to back them up. Other notable engineers in the city had also expressed entire satisfaction with the plans.

Before the vote was taken Ald. H. M. Fullerton pointed out that the mayor was originally against the by-law being submitted to the people, and now that the by-law was passed he was against the wishes of the people being carried out. He for one wanted to see the wall built. He had to live out there and he did not want a repetition this winter of last winter's orgies when the bodies of the dead were washed from the streets.

The division on the motion resulted as follows: For the adoption of the report and the acceptance of Stedham's bid—H. M. Fullerton, Langley, Peden, W. E. Fullerton, Ross and Okell—5.

Contrary—Mayor Moresby, Gleason, Moresby, Bishop and Humber—5. The bids for the sale of rock on the city streets were considered on the report of the committee, and after some discussion it was decided to award the contract to Worswick Bros., on terms of the recommendation.

The contract for the supply of fourteen miles of wire for the by-law service was granted to the Northern Electrical Manufacturing Co. Messrs. Hutchison Bros. were awarded the contract for the supply of 500 arc lamps at $3.35 each.

WILL BUILD HIGH FENCE.

Wealthy New York Banker Determined to Protect Privacy of His Home.

New York, Aug. 5.—Plans for a fence 150 feet high have been filed with the New York city building department by J. M. Franchina, a wealthy banker, who expects this to maintain a privacy of his uptown residence despite the encroachments of apartment houses in the neighborhood.

"I learned a few days ago," said the banker in explaining his statement, "that a nine-story apartment house was going up shortly on the lot to the west of my house. Already a tall building blocks me to the east. I decided to protect the privacy of my home, which my family has occupied for more than seven years, and there will be no other way that I could conceive than a fence high enough to shut off all the curious apartment house neighbors. The fence will be of ordinary brick and as artistic as possible under the circumstances."

CHINESE PREMIER RESIGNS.

Complains of Treatment of Son Who Attended Coronation of King George.

London, Aug. 5.—The Times' Pekin correspondent in a dispatch printed this morning refers to the resignation of Prince Ching from the premiership. According to newspaper reports Prince Ching applied for leave of absence on account of feeble health and because of the visit of his son to London as a delegate to the coronation of King George.

George had shown him that foreigners feel an increasing contempt for China. It appears, the Times adds, that the Chinese press complains that Prince Ching, the premier's son, was allowed an undignified position in the coronation procession.

Not the least among Victoria's attractions is the fact, oft-mentioned, that it is a twelve-month theatrical city. Road companies keep on coming here months after the theatres in the east have closed, and generally begin a new season some weeks before the eastern openings.

In addition to this theatre-goers are now offered the opportunity, during the two months when there will be no attractions in the "legitimate" line, of attending the performances of a very capable stock company under the management of David Williams, himself a comedian of parts.

The A. O. U. W. hall has been transformed into a very cosy family theatre, which has been occupied, at popular prices, by gratified audiences all week at the productions of "Friends," "Manager Williams has given earnest of his intention to present attractions of a high class and should receive the support of Victoria play-goers in his enterprise.

given by the Gorge orchestra at the park to-morrow afternoon, and will sing every evening, accompanied by the orchestra. Madame Bennett is a contralto of great dramatic ability, having won considerable success in the United Kingdom, where she sang a number of roles as a member of the famous Carl Rosa Opera Company.

Madame Bennett is to be an extra attraction at the Gorge park, which has developed into a most popular place of amusement, and hundreds of Victorians spend their evenings there. The moving picture show is proving an enjoyable feature, and with the pictures, the Gorge orchestra, the dining pavilion and other attractions, there is considerable pleasure to be found in an evening spent at the Gorge park.

THE ADVANCE MAN
Empress Theatre.

Albini, who appears at the Empress on Monday, has been known so long and so generally as the master of all the world's illusions, past and present, that he requires no extended introduction. He was over the Sullivan & Considine tour a little more than a year ago and showed then a box of mysteries over which many of those who saw him still speculate. Since then he has made his annual pilgrimage to Indian and up through the Levantine countries, and brought home with him even more remarkable illusions than those he has previously presented.

Greatest of all of his new ones is "Astra," an illusion which has been subjected to the closest scrutiny of scientists as well as of expert showmen and competitors in Mr. Albini's own profession, and yet comes off with its secrets undiscovered. In "Astra," it would appear, Albini has the "mystery of the century," a mystery which has been one of the most beautiful and pleasing of illusions.

H. W. SAVAGE'S PLANS

Henry W. Savage, who has just returned to New York from Europe, will have fourteen attractions next season, so far as his present plans indicate. The work of production on these shows is scheduled for production first are: "The Million," "The Boy Blue," and "The Girl of the Golden West."

There will be three companies of "Excuse Me," two of "Everywoman," "The Prince of Denmark," "The Name," "The Divorce Fund," "The Grace Girl" and "The Lieutenant's Ward," in addition to those already named. "The Divorce Fund," "The Lieutenant's Ward" and "The Grace Girl" are to be produced for the first time on this continent. "The Name" is the principal tenor last season in Genoa, and had the leading tenor roles in Berlin, and at La Scala in Milan. He was born on the island of Corfu, of British parentage, and speaks English perfectly. I have also engaged Harry Lion as an alternate for the role of Johnson. Mr. Lion is a Swedish tenor from the Royal Opera in Stockholm and comes from one of the famous Swedish musical families. In Leon de Souza I have another tenor of rare personality and vocal qualifications.

"For the role of the Sheriff, I have engaged William Beck, last season specially engaged for the Paris opera. Beck is a baritone with a voice of wonderful power and range, a Hungarian by birth, but sings with equal ease and diction in English as in foreign languages. He was formerly with the Covent Garden Company in London. "In 'College Chums' I engaged Irma Delossy, a wonderful dramatic soprano, full of temperament, with a voice of exceptional range, covering nearly three octaves. Mme. Delossy will alternate the role of Minnie with Edna Blanche Showalter and Mme. Luisa Villani, whom I engaged on this side before coming. Another of my important grand opera engagements is Mme. Dina Pughlia for the character part of Wokwie, the Indian woman. From a musical standpoint, probably the most important of my contracts is the engagement of Maestro Giorgio Polacco as my first conductor, the personal choice of Puccini himself.

Puccini is intensely interested in the presentation in the United States and Canada of "The Girl of the Golden West" in English, not only on account of the success of "Madam Butterfly" in English, but chiefly because the story and the traditions of the theme being entirely of this continent, the motifs of his music can be more clearly appreciated when accompanied by a libretto so frankly appealing to people over here."

In addition to the Puccini opera, the most important of Mr. Savage's musical attractions next season is "Little Boy Blue," a musical comedy adapted from the German of Rudolph Schaner and Karl Lindau, with music by Henri Bereny. It was produced in Berlin and Vienna under the title of "Lord Piccolo." The scenes are laid in the Palatinate and in a baronial hall on the Scottish moors. The Palatinate scenes are to feature more elaborate pictorial embellishment than did the famous Maxlin's scene in "The Merry Widow."

One of the most important of Mr. Savage's early productions will be "Le Million," a new light comedy—that achieved a striking hit at the Palais Royal, Paris, last year. In some respects it follows the lines of Sardou's "A Scrap of Paper." The American adaptation has been made by Leo Dietrichstein. The piece is a farce pure and simple.

Another novelty which Mr. Savage has arranged for an early production of is a fantastical musical comedy entitled "Remember Eliza," by Avery Lovewood, author of "Nobody's Widow" and "Seven Days." Others of Mr. Savage's early productions will be "The Great Girl," a romantic musical comedy of the French champagne country, with libretto and lyrics by August Clarence Harvey, and score by Gustav Luders; and "The Prince's Child," a new operetta by Franz Lehar and his collaborators in "The Merry Widow." This piece has the record of 200 nights run in Vienna.

In addition to these musical attractions, Mr. Savage brought with him the manuscripts of "Baron Good-for-nothing," a German comedy success from Berlin, by Heinrich Schrottenbach, and "The Lieutenant's Ward" ("Das Leutnantsmädchen"); another Berlin comedy hit by Leo Walther Stein, "The Summer Folly" ("Sommerfollie"); a German comedy on the lines of Old Heidelberg, and during the past season one of the returning successes in Berlin. Another Berlin success to which Mr. Savage has secured the rights is called "Weeping Josephine," from the German of Julius Single. The heroine is a sort of Cinderella, who sees some association in even cheerful things to bring back sad memories.

Walter Browne's allegorical morality "Everywoman," will occupy a very important place in the roster of Mr. Savage's next season's attractions. The play will be revived at the Lyric Theatre, New York, in the latter part of August, with the same splendid company of artists that assisted it to fame and success last season. A western company has also been engaged, which will include in the cast Frederick Wards, Marie Walmsworth, Jane Oaker and a number of other well-known players. It is Mr. Savage's plan to send the New York company to Boston following the termination of its preliminary autumn season, and the western company is scheduled to open in Chicago the latter part of October and play through the winter.

W. W. Wisner has been appointed manager of the Empress theatre. Geo. Trombull, manager for the last seven months, having been called back to Seattle by the firm of Sullivan & Considine. Mr. Wisner took charge this week. He was formerly with the Orpheum circuit and then manager of the Madison Star musical comedy theatre, Madison street, Seattle, and later was appointed to the general office of the firm of Sullivan & Considine at Seattle. He was recently manager of the Empress (formerly the Majestic) theatre of the S. & C. Company in Seattle, and was this week appointed to the management of the popular Government street home of vaudeville.

On account of the record business being done at the Chicago opera house by Nora Bayes and Jack Norworth in "Little Miss Fix-It," which is the only musical show to outlive the extreme heat, the stars decided to forego their vacation, and will continue their tour throughout the balance of the summer, leaving direct from Chicago for a four

The first performance of "Kindling," the play in which Margaret Illington (Mrs. Edward Bowes of Tacoma) is to star for the season of 1911-12, was given on Sunday evening in Los Angeles, and the manner in which it was received by the large audience of critical first-nighters who attended made certain of the hopes of the star and the author, Charles Kenyon, that the offering would be a success. Dispatches state that from the rise of the curtain until the final fall the piece presents a series of new and strong situations, strung on a thread of plot of the necessary strength and tension to carry it on to success.

Miss Illington has been appearing in Los Angeles in "The Thief," the greatest of her old successes, and Charles Klein's "The Lion and the Mouse." She will continue in "Kindling" in that city until the piece has been given a thorough try-out, and the enthusiasm attending the first-night performance leads to the belief that she will be able to sufficiently to allow of the Commencing Monday the company will present "College Chums," an amusing comedy; just the thing for summer weather, with its jolly college boys and girls. Manager Williams promises his patrons a real treat in this production, and he has shown that he can make good.

Seats can be reserved for any performance at the store of Dean & Hiscocks, corner Yates and Broad streets. Popular prices prevail at all performances.

"The Great Name," a comedy of sentiment by James Clarence Harvey from the German of Victor Leon and Leo Feld, which attained distinctive success during its run of fourteen weeks at the Cort theatre, Chicago, last season, with Henry Kolker as the star, will be given its Broadway premiere in October. In "The Great Name" Mr. Kolker will be supported by an exceptional cast of players, including Russ Whytal, Lizzie-Hudson-Collier, Ruth Chatterton, and a number of others.

The Rupert Hughes farce, "Excuse Me," with a record of a last season at the Gaiety theatre, will be reproduced in Mr. Savage's next season's attractions with three companies. Mr. Hughes is also engaged on a new farce for Mr. Savage, and expects to deliver to him the completed manuscript by November. "The Divorce Fund," a new satirical comedy by A. E. Thomas, treating of present-day social conditions, is also scheduled for an early production by Mr. Savage. Mr. Savage will have but one company playing "Madame X" the coming season. The organization has been especially selected from the three companies. Miss Doolittle Dunlap will again play the role of Jaqueline. As a starring vehicle for Dorothy Donnelly Mr. Savage has under consideration two plays by American authors, one of which he is very enthusiastic over.

A Page for Misses

THE number of frocks to be included in the summer wardrobe of the young girl this year must be regulated in some degree by where the vacation is to be spent. If at the seashore, then must the bathing costume receive attention; if in the mountains, then must there be heavier clothing and a more rough and ready style of dress.

Being suits of this season are more attractive than ever, and the time has gone by, fortunately, when the bathing suit was treated with scant attention, and when, if it was made of a material that "shed the water" and was also warm, nothing else was required of it. Coarse, heavy serge and flannel are no longer considered desirable or even practical, while the girl who does not make every effort to have her bathing dress well cut and carefully fitted is thought lacking in both good sense and good taste.

Skirts are short, reach just below the knee, long enough only to cover the knickerbockers or tights that in their turn cover the knee. Straight lines are the most fashionable for the street skirt, but too scant a skirt is most unfashionable. A blouse, sailor waist, also with fullness enough to prevent any appearance of being too scant, open a little at the throat and with sailor collar, is the smartest, and in spite of its simplicity such a dress if well made is noticeably smart, while the sailor collar and cuffs of white or contrasting color are becoming. Black is the most popular color, but there are many attractive models in pale blue, mauve and red. Satin, taffeta silk, mohair and all the new silk finished fabrics are in great demand, and there is a great variety both of color and weight to choose from. Some of the dresses are trimmed with rows of braid or bias folds of silk, but the absolutely plain are so smart and becoming that they are as a rule selected. Lingerie and lace turn down collars are used to lighten the too sombre effect, while the silk bonnet or handkerchief of bright color also lightens up the blackness. Striped silks and mohairs are among the novelties, but care must be taken never to allow the note of eccentricity to be prominent.

WHETHER the summer holidays are spent by the seashore or in the mountains, the long coat is essential, for there is always some occasion when it is required. This season there are several styles of long coats. The blanket coat and the polo coat are more fashionable than ever, and the materials of which they are made are in all colors, and also are plain or figured. The imported chevrons and rough materials are so light in weight and at the same time so warm that they are in great demand, but are almost always expensive. The plain colors are at the moment the smartest, but when the term plain is used often it means in these fabrics a plain color with an invisible hair line of a contrasting color or lighter shade.

The lighter weight, smooth finish materials make coats on a more elaborate order. The model chosen may have the same lines, but the material itself is the sort that is always used for more elaborate coats. Light tan, pale blue, pink or deep cerise, one and all are charmingly effective, and with a collar facing and cuffs of black, a darker or a lighter shade of satin or velvet a coat can be made that will be becoming, smart and not too expensive.

ONE piece frocks have certainly taken the country by storm, and linen, pongee, foulard and cloth are all utilized for this fashion. These frocks are extremely simple in design, the straight skirt with folds or double skirt effect, the waist slightly bloused, with sailor collar and cuffs, a narrow belt or a fold of black outlining the waist line, which is placed high, but not exaggeratedly Empire. The sailor collar and the turn back cuffs are in great favor this season, and one of the newest styles is having them made of chiffon, doubled and finished with trimmings of bright green in smart and becoming and can be even smarter if green stockings and low green shoes be added. The blouse waist of this frock is in Y shape, but with it is worn a collarless gimp of fine lingerie with a wide, lingerie ruffle edged with lace. A girl who is clever with her fingers can this season, by having several sets of collars and cuffs, economize on the number of frocks she buys, for these accessories completely change the appearance of the frock.

Cotton voile frocks are a boon this season for the girl who has a small allowance for dress. The material is inexpensive, wears well (considering the price) and there is a wide range of design and color. Stripes are extremely fashionable, cerise and white the most, but black and white is worn even by young girls, and then the touch of color to make the contrast can easily be added. The more expensive qualities of voile wear a long time and certainly are more desirable when money is no object, but as has been said, the cheaper cotton voile is a good investment.

front of waist and skirt is a favorite style, while the band around the lower skirt and then a second band as finish to the upper skirt is another smart fashion.

For hot weather pongees and foulard are most practical materials for the young girl, as well as for older women, but the latter wear them in the more elaborate afternoon gowns as well as for travelling, while young girls wear them only for travelling, and muslins, linens and voiles are more often their choice.

The girl who plays tennis and golf pays more attention to the frocks suitable for these sports than to anything else in her wardrobe, the plainer the style of dress the smarter it is. White duck, white linen and white pique are the most fashionable materials. The pique is of the finest and, light in weight, launders well and consequently is most popular. There is not much variety in the styles for golf and tennis frocks; the straight skirt and sailor blouse waist is the smartest, and it is quite remarkable how much variety can be obtained, as they are all on quite the same lines after all. The skirts are not too scant to allow of running or taking long steps, are quite short and fit perfectly; the plain habit back, the skirt opening at the side of the front breadth and buttons on either side of the front breadth, is one of what may be called the regulation models. Either a waist of the same material as the skirt or a severely plain shirt waist of light weight linen is fashionable. There are also the regulation sailor frocks, with trimmings of color, and white is the smartest for this style of frock. There is every weight of linen worn for the skirt, and quite a sheer linen finished with a deep hem is popular for the warmest of warm days, while the lighter and finer quality of linen duck never goes out of fashion.

It is not smart to have frocks intended for out of door sports made in fancy design or material, and there are just as many cast iron rules and regulations as to the general effect as are to be met with in the best style of riding habit. The girl with a talent for dressmaking can, however, make her own tennis frocks, while a riding habit would be beyond her skill.

Trifles of Interest to the Young Girl.

FOR A GIRL'S WINDOW.

MAKING things for one's own room is generally worth while and in all ways sure to give it far more originality than when one buys the various decorations all ready to use. A girl with good taste will make her room attractive anyway, but the one who is willing to do some work will go much further. One of the ways in which few girls think of using their own skill is in the making of curtains, and yet this is a place where originality is especially well shown.

Very charming curtains for the windows of a girl's room can be made by buying a strong white or cream net (either plain or dotted) and applying on it a border of flowers cut out of cretonne. The cretonne must be chosen to match the general color scheme of the room and the more delicate flowers are best to use on the net. Wistaria is lovely, or sweet peas or will roses. The border may be made of single sprays of flowers or in a running border with a ribbon design. A girl who prefers an "allover" curtain can apply single sprays of the flowers over the whole thing (with no border), but they should be rather small sprays.

Another effective way to use a flower design on curtains is by stencilling on scribbles on a close woven net. This is especially delicate, as it does not interfere with the transparent quality of the material. Stencilling can also be done in conventional designs, and when the other decorations of the room have not a flower motive these effects are sometimes better.

Any design (either flowers or the conventional effects) can also be carried out in darned work on a plain background. This kind of curtain takes more work than the others, but it is fascinating work and the finished curtains are often very beautiful. It is better to work over a cardboard or muslin pattern than to have the design stamped, for the lines of stamping will sometimes show as the light shines through a thin material. One of the most effective designs for darning is the fleur-de-lys. Conventionalized oak leaves are particularly good for a border.

A GIRL'S OUTFIT.

WITH the increased interest in camping out as a part of summer life there are probably few girls who have not tried it and many to whom it is a regular feature of each year's pleasure.

It is only the inveterate camper who does not make mistakes in the matter of what it is best to take on a trip of this kind. And the question of clothes has a great deal to do with one's enjoyment. With the right clothes there is little need to think of them at all, but with the wrong kind one is constantly hampered.

Of paramount importance is the question of washing, and its principal rule is, take nothing that needs ironing. White cotton crepe shirt waists are good for warm days, because a girl can wash her own, shake it out and hang it up to dry, and it will be as good as new. Aside from this, take only woollen clothes and no light colored ones that will be easily soiled. Mixed woollen skirts and coats are the best, and flannel shirt waists with a sailor collar. One cannot expect to wear very pretty or fancy clothes and enjoy the free and easy life of a camp.

Even the underclothes must follow the rule of common sense and usefulness, the daintiness of home being left behind. Union suits and woven corset covers are the kind to wear. They can be washed by one's own hands very easily. And especially will the wise girl keep in mind that her usual delicate and pretty night gowns are entirely out of place in a camp. Outing flannel night gowns are the only kind to take, and very glad will the girl be who remembers this rule when she finds how cold it is at night in a tent.

TO HOLD HATPINS.

STICKING one's hatpins into the cushion generally results in the ruin of a dainty cover and very much detracts also from the attractive and harmonious effect of the dressing table. It is much wiser to have a special receptacle for them.

A very pretty and useful hatpin holder can be made by covering a glass tube with ribbon. These tubes can be bought at many of the large shops. They are just long enough to hold the hatpins, are closed at the bottom and finished at the top with a little liplike rim. After buying the glass buy ribbon to match the decorations of your room just wide enough to make a cover for the glass by sewing two pieces together. The cover may be either the length of the tube and put on smooth, or it may be longer and shirred on each side. The latter way is prettier, but it will catch dust and must be frequently brushed out.

At the bottom of the case the ribbon is gathered together tightly, and either a tassel sewed on or a bunch of bows of baby ribbon. At the top it is finished by hemming each piece of ribbon separately, not sewing the pieces together. The hem must be wide enough to come out beyond the rim of the glass. A long loop of the baby ribbon is sewed at the top of each seam to hang the case up or one piece of ribbon may be used, and sewed at each side. In either case a small bunch of bows is used as a finish where the ribbon is sewed.

When the ribbon case is finished slip it in the tube, which should be a close fit. If there is nothing in the room that seems convenient to hang the case on it is a good plan to buy a brass hook at a hardware shop and screw it into any appropriate place, such as a door or window frame. An important point to be remembered is always to put your hatpins in the case when taking them out of your hat. You will then never have to hunt for the right pins for a certain hat.

Practical Talks by the April Grandmother.

IMITATE a bird and turn only the neck when you wish to see what is happening behind you," advised the April Grandmother as her eldest grand daughter swung her body half way round in order to look after a swiftly travelling four-in-hand. "Because a bird makes its neck do so much hard work, that organ remains slim and flexible. Clumsy creatures like elephants and rhinoceros and overfed full grown bipeds impress the casual observer as having always been old because they invariably hold their thick necks stiffly, while to all persons save naturalists the ostrich and swan and sparrow appear to be perennially young because they are constantly moving their slender necks from side to side or throwing their heads far backward.

"A bird's throat never gets stiff and old looking because of its incessant activity and the same rule applies equally to the human throat. If a girl would keep her neck slender and youthful she must make it work hard. I do not mean," there was a note of dismay in the April Grandmother's voice as her auditor's head began to move like a pendulum, "that you are to wriggle and twist your neck during every moment of your waking hours, but only that you shall make it perform its just amount of labor at all times and at night and morning devote five minutes to special exercises. Unless a girl can easily rest her chin upon the outer edge of her shoulder and throw back her head so that it will lie without discomfort against the nape of the neck, her throat is not flexible, and it probably is too fat."

"Do not labor under the delusion that plumpness makes a throat pretty," continued the April Grandmother. "A too plump throat is as great a misfortune as an angular one, and it is not even so graceful or aesthetically. Choice exotics are supported by fragile stems and vegetables are upheld by sturdy stalks. The ideal type of throat is delicately round and is oftenest the possession of the girl in her teens. Nature provides precisely the right degree of roundness—just once in a lifetime. The throat which has been carelessly permitted to take on extra flesh may be reduced by means of exercise and cold compresses to its former dimensions, but it will not regain the soft roundness of its first development and will be simply a thin, unlovely affair. The same is true of the throat which gets too thin. Its original size may be restored with cold cream massage aided by a sugar diet, but the plumpness will not be that of first youth and the organ will not have a really girlish look."

"The ounce of prevention maxim applies particularly to the throat," went on the April Grandmother. "Of course, the evils to which it is subject may be cured at the cost of time, trouble and money, but the expenditure of a little forethought is infinitely better. For instance, there really is no reason why the throat should become withered looking. Withering comes not from age, but from allowing wrinkles and lines to remain in the neck long enough to become imbedded in it. If the skin of the throat is pushed upward and out of its place by a tight band, a line or several puckers are formed which may be smoothed out if cold cream or cold water is instantly applied. The trouble is that the eradicating treatment is forgotten or delayed, and in time the wrinkles and lines become deeply set and the throat, instead of remaining smooth as the stem of a fresh flower, begins to look like a withered cornstalk.

"White throats are an attribute of youth which might equally well belong to age if the girl in her teens would resolve never to part with the ivory hue which Mother Nature nearly always bestows—once. For at least six months of each year the throat is necessarily protected from the sun and wind by some sort of neckwear, but during the season of out of door sports and diversions the article gets positively cooked to the deep brown shade so desirable in a roast of beef and so out of place in a land opposed to cannibalism.

"Yet to keep the beauty of the ivory hue exploited by poets, beauty specialists and artists it is only necessary to rub cold cream liberally into its cuticle and then coat it thickly with rice powder just before starting for the tennis court, the golf links or the yacht. This precaution is too obviously a sunburn preventative to be mistaken for a vulgar make up, but immediately after reaching home it should be taken off with melted cold cream and a final sponging of the throat with witch hazel."

"No physical attribute of a very young girl is more charming than her throat," concluded the April Grandmother, "and it is well worth cherishing, since, like the nose, once lost it can never be restored."

The Evening Chit-Chat

By Ruth Cameron

"Why, I'm ever so much more careful of my clothes since I earned my own money. I make these just about twice as long."

So a young woman who has had her first experience in wage earning this past winter commented on one effect of that experience. She is the daughter of people of very moderate means. She never in all her life has had a fixed allowance. Her father said he could not afford to give her one. Instead he has given her money whenever she asked for it, if he possibly could.

Now this girl has always been extremely careless about her clothes. Her gowns have a way of getting torn and soiled in half the time one would expect and her hats become dilapidated and her shoes scratched and old looking in a few weeks. She said she just couldn't help it, that she was unlucky. I always wondered if her father had not handed her over the money to buy new things to replace the prematurely destroyed ones, if she would have been quite so "unlucky."

And now the question is answered. She has bought her own clothes for a year. She has had a definite sum to buy them with, not a vague, indefinite, haphazard supply which the plea of a torn gown or ruined hat would probably make elastic.

It has been a case of learn to be careful or do without. And she has learned to be more careful. Which is a lesson she would have learned years and years ago if her father had given her a fixed and absolutely inelastic tendency.

Of course, even then, she would not have had quite as much respect for the money as if she had earned it herself, but she would have found out what it could and could not do, and would have proceeded to help it do its best by taking due care of her clothes.

He said he couldn't afford to give her an allowance, because he was a poor man. As a matter of fact, he couldn't afford not to give her one for just that reason.

It is often the child of poorer parents who has absolutely no conception of the value of money because she never has the handling of any; while the wealthier girl, who has a definite allowance, learns thrift and economy.

I believe that just as soon as a child realizes that pennies have other uses besides being put in his mouth or rolled across the floor, he should have an allowance.

At first this would be only a very little for spending money, but as the child grows older I think that more and more of the money spent upon him should be put into his own hands until the boy or girl of fourteen or fifteen is given an allowance that covers all his personal needs. Mother or

Mr. and Mrs. James Denny have returned from a visit to London, where they were the guests of George Denny, of the Associated Press, formerly city editor of the Colonist.

Among those knighted at the coronation was George M. Paul, deputy keeper of His Majesty's Signet, Edinburgh; Sir George Paul, the elder brother of Dr. Edward B. Paul, superintendent of Victoria schools.

In recent militia general orders it is announced that Captain H. H. Woodson and Capt. P. T. Stern, of the Fifth Regiment, have been granted certificates of qualification as field officers.

Mrs. Allison, wife of the government agent at Hazelton, and her mother, Mrs. McBride, New Westminster, have come over from the mainland to meet Premier McBride on his return from Europe. Mrs. Allison is Mr. McBride's sister.

On his departure from Revelstoke to enter the provincial public service in Victoria the employees of the city met to bid farewell to their associate of the past sixteen years, C. J. Aman, and to wish him all sorts of good-luck in his new home and position in Victoria. On behalf of the staff B. A. Lawson, clerk, presented Mr. Aman with a handsome leather case containing four pipes and a tobacco pouch, accompanied with a well-worded address. In reply the recipient thanked the donors for their kind remarks, and expressed regret that he was leaving such pleasant associates, with whom he had been working in perfect harmony for many years. Mr. Aman, with Mrs. Aman and their two children, are at the Dominion.

COMMISSIONER SEEKS LEGAL OPINION
Question of Sending Prisoners to Work on Rock Piles—Sanitary Streets

Vancouver, Aug. 4.—The police commissioners are of the opinion that it is inadvisable to make public works at their deliberations. At the regular meeting Commissioner Evans said that he had something to deal with in private with his colleagues and, under the circumstances, the members of the press had to retire. Further than this, the commissioners admit that other meetings in which strict privacy has been observed, have been held.

The news available at the regular meetings was little better than the mere routine of receiving reports with a couple of delegations attending to voice opinions on questions which have been before the board for some months. The chief subject to come under review was that of expediting on sidewalks, but this matter has come up almost at every meeting of the board during the past few months. Mrs. L. G. McPhillips and Dr. A. P. Procter attended and urged that a most determined way should be waged by the police against the practice. Dr. Procter explained that the indiscriminate expectation taking place was, perhaps, the chief factor in spreading the dread disease of tuberculosis, and he therefore appealed to the board to instruct that the most advanced steps be taken to see if the habit could be stopped.

Mayor Taylor, speaking on behalf of the board, said that they realized the seriousness of the situation, and remarked that it would be in the best interests to start an aggressive campaign against those continuing to pursue a habit so detrimental and injurious to the general community.

Chief Chamberlain made the suggestion that perhaps it would be well for the street cleaners to turn the hose on the sidewalks every night, especially on Granville and Hastings streets, and with this view Dr. Procter agreed. The matter will be discussed at the next meeting, which will be held on Thursday evening next, at the city auditorium, where the city auditor will be present to assist in benefiting the public.

The knotty problem as to whether the board has the right, according to law, to send persons convicted of being drunk and disorderly to work on the rock piles at the new jail proposed to be built at Barnet, again came up for discussion, but there was no solution afforded, and the matter was allowed to lie in abeyance pending the city auditor pronouncing his legal opinion.

PRINCE RUPERT PIONEER CLUB

Prince Rupert, Aug. 4.—The Pioneer club of this city, which has the honor of being what the name implies, the first organized in the city, is now in permanent quarters. The residence of J. H. Bacon, which occupies such a commanding position on Fourth Avenue, has been taken over by the club by purchase and is now in possession of the organization. The furniture has also become the property of the Pioneers, so that the organization starts off with first class quarters, adapted in every way to the needs of a club.

In connection with it there is a dining room maintained for the convenience of the members.

BLAMES STRIKE FOR TROUBLE

Vancouver, Aug. 4.—Two years' imprisonment was the sentence meted out to John William Jones, of North Vancouver, by Judge McInnes. Jones pleaded guilty to seven charges of housebreaking and theft. He informed the court that he was only 18 years of age, and had been in the country about three and a half years "I would never have been in trouble if the strike had not broken out," he said, "it was thrown out of work with the rest of the strikers, and had no money, and could get no work."

NANAIMO TRAMWAY PROPOSAL

Nanaimo, Aug. 4.—At the weekly meeting of the city council a letter was received from Messrs. Stewart and Rogers, who wrote declining to accept the amendments to their tramway proposal as made by the council. The clerk was instructed to write them to the effect that the council would stand firm on its proposals, and unless the company was prepared to accept the amendments, the proposed deal would be called off.

WHAT I WENT THROUGH

Before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Natick, Mass.—"I cannot express what I went through during the change of life before I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was in such a nervous condition I could not keep still. My limbs were cold, I had creepy sensations, and I could not sleep nights. I was finally told by two physicians that I also had a tumor. I read one day of the wonderful cure known by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it, and it has made me a well woman. My neighbors and friends declare it had worked a miracle for me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth its weight in gold for women during this period of life. If it will help others you may publish my letter."—Mrs. NATHAN B. GREATON, 61 N. Main Street, Natick, Mass.

The Change of Life is the most critical period of a woman's existence. Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to medicine that will so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

CHINAMAN'S SUICIDE
Drowns Himself Rather Than Live a Confirmed Invalid

Vancouver, Aug. 4.—A story that emphasizes in a remarkable degree the true eastern disregard for death and philosophical acceptance of the decrees of fate, was unfolded to Coroner Jeffs here.

The tale centered around the death of Ma Mee Lew, a Chinaman, who was drowned in False Creek last Sunday. Lew had been ill for some time and had gone to the Chinese hospital in the city for treatment. He was told by a woman employed as a help in the establishment, that he would never regain his strength, but would be an invalid for the rest of his life. Accepting the decree without a murmur, Lew made all preparations and as soon as he had obtained the necessary clothes escaped from the institution. He went straight to False Creek and there took some means of escaping from an existence that doomed him, he believed, to continual suffering.

The story was told to Dr. Jeffs by an old Chinese woman employed at the hospital and corroborated by the janitor of the establishment. After hearing the witnesses the coroner decided that an inquest was not necessary.

FOUND DROWNED
Kamloops, Aug. 4.—Dominic Botta, a well known member of the Italian colony in this city was found drowned in the South Thompson river. There was some suspicion that the death was not an accidental one, justified by the fact that he had sold his ranch about a week ago and was supposed to have the purchase price upon his person. A De Marchi with whom the deceased was living since he came down from the Back Valley says that ever since he came to town he had been in a melancholic mood "crying and mourning the fact that he had sold the ranch." De Marchi is sure that this was what caused him to do away with himself. The body of the deceased was found in the river about a mile east of the town. From the evidence of the doctor death was due to drowning.

TRAM JUMPED TRACK
New Westminster, Aug. 4.—A serious accident was narrowly averted on the Vancouver line of the B. C. E. R. Co., when a car leaving New Westminster left the rails near Twelfth Street. There were four ladies in the front compartment and several men in the smoking section, all of whom were badly shaken up. Beyond a broken window little damage was done to the car.

NELSON REDEEMS MORE DEBENTURES
Forty Thousand Dollars Worth Are Purchased—Report on Water Supply

Nelson, Aug. 4.—That the city had purchased an additional $40,000 worth of its own debentures, making the total redeemed for the present year $70,000, was the announcement made at the last council meeting. This block was offered a few days ago at a premium of one-half of one per cent, and eagerly snapped up in a telegram sent by the mayor and the chairman of the finance committee. These debentures were part of an issue of $60,000 for sewers, electric light and waterworks, and were, under ordinary circumstances, not redeemable until 1913.

By the transaction confirmed by the council on motion of Ald. Hunt and carried by a vote of 10 to 2, the city effected a saving by buying back these bonds of approximately $20,000. The block purchased a few months ago were obtained for two and a half per cent premium, saving the city about $10,000. The money for the redemption of debentures is, of course, obtained from the sinking fund provided for that purpose.

The city engineer reported that he had had an examination of both Whitewater and Anderson creeks, and had found that there was an abundant supply to be obtained from both whenever the city should be in a position to build the necessary tunnel or pipe to the reservoir. Mr. Mackay stated that a man had been employed to see that the sprinkling regulations were not broken, with the result that it had been discovered that in several places defective plumbing which caused a loss of water. In these cases the loss of the property concerned had been notified that they must have the plumbing repaired before a certain date or the supply would be cut off.

PAVING COMPANY COMES OUT SQUARE

Lose Out on Binder Specifications but Record a Win on the Team Question

Although the proposition had been turned down cold not more than a week, and although Alderman Humber had in the interval changed his mind from a negative to an affirmative point of view, the desirability of substituting pea gravel for crushed rock in the binder for the paving of the city streets, on the part of the Canadian Mineral Rubber Company, which organization is carrying out the work, was tabled again last night, and after being discussed at some length by courtesy was again defeated on a vote of seven to five on each side. The votes are negative.

When the project was last discussed the great amount of rock on the city streets was cited as an argument against the company being allowed to change the specifications, but last night this argument had to be passed up for the simple reason that prior to the discussion a considerable portion of that rock had been sold. On the general principle, however, the idea failed to obtain the necessary support. Unless it was going to prove beneficial to the city, Ald. Moresby was opposed to altering the specifications. From his own experience and the knowledge of others who were acquainted with the technicalities of the case he declared that crushed rock would make a better binder. Alderman Ross took the view that unless some good reason could be shown for the change he would not give it his support. Ald. Okell also opposed the change.

Alderman Gleason and the mayor favored the scheme, as also did Alderman Humber, who, in explanation of his change of position, stated that his former position was based upon a misunderstanding. He thought the alteration proposed referred to the concrete base and not to the "cushion." When the question came to a vote the result was as indicated above.

The paving company's fall in the matter of the binder was perhaps somewhat compensated for by the acting city solicitor's opinion in regard to the company's position upon the question of employing local labor. That opinion, which was adopted by the council, was attacked by the city solicitor himself. By virtue of its phraseology the paving company scores a distinct victory. The report was in the following terms:

"Having considered the contract and specifications, and the effect of the labor clause contained in the latter, which are an integral part of the contract, the assistant city solicitor is of the opinion that the council committee composed of Alderman W. F. Fullerton, the city solicitor and city engineer, who had charge of the drafting of the labor provision referred to, had in mind the protection of local laboring men so far as was consistent with the best interests of the city, and that the provision made affords ample protection. But the assistant solicitor finds no provision as to teaming work or the hiring of teams as such a question would scarcely occur in the matter of hiring labor. The company having tendered upon certain specifications, and having entered into a contract on the basis of these specifications, should not be unduly dictated to outside the lines of the contract, as would appear to be the case in the matter of teaming and teaming. If the company is so dictated to there is risk of its being involved in serious labor troubles leading to possible damage actions by the company against the city, which the legal department would have considerable difficulty in defending."

THINK TELEPHONE CO. WANTS TOO MUCH

Agreement Over Conduit Rights Creates Objection Among Property Owners

A report regarding considerable interest over the proposed extension of the business section of the city was submitted to the city council last night by the city solicitor in regard to the attitude adopted by the B. C. Telephone Company relative to the installation of the conduit system.

The report was brought in as a result of the complaint of Elliot, McLean & Shandley, solicitors for the owner of the Sayward block, who had refused to sign the agreement tendered them by the company on the ground that the rights and privileges demanded by that agreement were exorbitant. When the complaint was first heard it was recommended that the city should withhold $100,000 from the company until such time as the matter was amicably settled. The agreement which some people have refused to sign is a weapon which has been fashioned solely by the company and is alleged to be such that no owner could subscribe to it without bartering away important and valuable rights.

The report of the solicitor pointed out that the agreement as drawn by the telephone company had been first submitted to him, and while he was of the opinion that it was considerably wider than the telephone company needed, he had passed it as a matter in which the city had no particular interest. The first clause of the agreement between the city and company provides that where the company is unable to secure such easements as it deems necessary and should it not be able to secure the same without payment, the city would provide the same under the expropriation rights contained in the Municipal Clauses Act.

The rights which the company wants are clear and distinct. The company has made definite demands as to what it wants in the way of poles, cables, wires, etc., and the solicitor is of the opinion that the city should only be called upon to expropriate the property owners the very rights which the company will need in its business, and should not be called upon to expropriate a blanket easement for all purposes such as is contained in the agreement submitted to Mr. Sayward.

The solicitor also stated in his communication that the company has agreed to supply him with blue prints showing each case where the city will be called upon to expropriate right of various blocks, just what the company requires, and when these prints are supplied he will report on each case to the council. The report was adopted.

ENGINEER SMITH TAKES THE SEWERS

Day Labor Tender Accepted in Preference to Those of Six Contracting Firms

City Engineer Angus Smith put one over the contractors who tendered bids for the first stage of the great sewerage system which the city has adopted by quoting the lowest figure and carrying off the contract in the teeth of considerable opposition.

In the list of bidders were six contracting firms, but the committee which investigated the respective merits of the tenders came to the unanimous finding that the city engineer's quotation on vitrified pipe should be given the favorable consideration of the council. After some discussion, in the course of which the question was raised as to whether the engineer would be able to do the work as expeditiously as a contractor, it was finally decided to adopt the committee's recommendation.

Ald. H. M. Fullerton thought the work should be let by contract, and moved accordingly. He stated that a great deal of public money was being wasted in the sewer department. They were not doing their work as it ought to be done. They might do it well enough, but they were much too slow about it.

Ald. Bishop seconded Ald. Fullerton's motion. In rebutting the arguments of Ald. Fullerton, Ald. Moresby claimed that the sewer work was being done satisfactorily, and Ald. Okell saw no reason why the city engineer could not do the work as well and as quickly as any contractor. He took the opportunity of asking the city engineer, who was present, if he knew of anything that would delay the execution of the work.

The city engineer replied that there was no reason. He would undertake to do the work as well and as quickly as anyone. This assurance went a long way toward the victory of the city engineer and day labor. Ald. Fullerton's motion was defeated.

The report of the committee on the various bids and recommending the acceptance of the engineer's bid was as follows:

The work consists of the construction of approximately 9,000 feet of egg-shaped brick or concrete sewer and approximately 12,500 feet of cement or vitrified circular sewer pipe, ranging from 14 to 24 inches in diameter, with necessary man-holes, lamp-holes, putfalls chamber and pumping station, including approximately 22,500 cubic yards of excavation. The work will provide main sewers for the northeast and northwest districts of the city. Bidders could figure on either the brick or concrete sewer and on either a cement or vitrified sewer pipe. The bids were as follows:

Jeffery & Burton, the whole work of either material, $99,831.50.
City Engineer, brick sewer with vitrified pipe, $99,860.25; brick sewer with cement pipe, $83,453.

James McDonald, concrete or brick sewer with cement pipe, $96,382.72; with vitrified pipe, $102,382.72.

Westholm Lumber Company, brick or concrete sewer with either cement or vitrified pipe, $128,550.

Lee & Blake, brick or concrete sewer and either cement or vitrified pipe, $126,990.50.

Pacific Coast Construction Company, concrete sewer and cement pipe, $150,301; brick sewer and vitrified pipe, $182,771.

Hugh McDonald, brick or concrete sewer, cement pipe, $142,000.00.

LABOR BUREAUS GET A SLATING

Diplomatic Language Condemns a Loose System and Urges Better Regulation

The labor bureau system in vogue in the city of Victoria came in for a "grand slam" at the meeting of the city council last night, as a result of a report on the subject called for by the complaints of the Victoria Laborers Protective Union.

Ald. Langley, who prepared the report after investigating the circumstances of the case, indicated the necessity for regulation and the imposition of a larger fee for the operation of a bureau in order to ensure its integrity. In his report the Alderman states that while the secretary of the union was unable to give him any specific instances of the acts complained of yet there was reason to believe that the employment agencies carried on business in a more or less loose fashion, tending to cause financial loss and inconvenience to men in search of employment.

This diplomatic language was intended to cover a multitude of sins on the part of these agencies was generally understood by the members of the city council, and that lack of specific knowledge actuated the reporting alderman in being delicate in his statement of a subject which had apparently aroused his suspicions. He went on to say that at the present time the agencies are charged a licence fee of $5 for every six months. He therefore suggested a higher licence fee, and a better system of regulation, both of which points were referred to the city solicitor for arrangement.

The much-talked-of Pandora avenue widening scheme came up for discussion last night on the resolution recently passed by the city council in regard to the matter. It may be remembered that the property owners were in favor of making the street one hundred feet wide but were only willing to contribute to the cost of the eighty-foot widening, the city being left to make good the difference. After briefly discussing the situation it was decided to refer the matter to the city assessor for a report on the cost of the respective widths, and the amount which the city would be called upon to pay in the event of the resolution of the property-owners being adopted by the council.

Important additions to the cluster light system of city illumination were passed last night on the report and recommendation of the parks superintendent. Thirteen lights of the cluster type will be installed around the North Ward Park for lighting and ornamental purposes; and the lighting in the neighborhood will be improved by an addition to the present number of arc lights. The cost of the former illumination will be $2,700 and of the latter $1,100, all of which will come out of the parks appropriation.

The land-grabbing instincts of western city municipalities were further exemplified in a report of the city engineer dealing with the number of property owners in the vicinity of Beacon Hill park extending their fences and demarcation lines so as to embrace a few feet of city property. In several cases the matter does not amount to more than a few inches but in others it has gone as far as from ten to twenty feet. Notice will be served upon the "encroachers" and if they do not move back legal action will be taken to recover the land thus slipping away.

In addition to the foregoing the city engineer submitted a report showing the cost of the improvements that have been completed, and indicating where the actual cost exceeded or was less than the estimate. The report was as follows:

Macadam pavement on Foul Bay road, actual cost $8,241.37, being $4,841.63 less than estimated; Howe street sidewalks, draining and grading, actual cost $11,896.53, being $4,354.47 less than estimated; View street extension expropriation, actual cost $327,634.80, being $79,182.76 more than estimated; Port street widening by expropriation from Douglas street to Cook street, actual cost $169,334.26, being 7,537.37 more than estimated; Yates street wood block pavement, Douglas street to Blanchard street;

MILK QUESTION.

To the Editor:—As a Victoria citizen, a householder, and naturally a milk consumer, I read your interesting article in Wednesday's Times with keen appreciation. As one of the people I endorse every word you say and feel that the suggestion of our Chicago friend to "boycott the milk venders for a time" would probe the solution of the difficulty and result in "fair play." To live on condensed milk for a time could not hurt any one and would certainly be preferable to some of the so-called "fresh milk." If the milk combine lately brought into existence in this city is to follow "its own sweet-will." What is to become of poor people with little children who depend chiefly on a milk diet?

TRIED TWO DOCTORS WITH NO BENEFIT

Then Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Wrought a Lasting Cure

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have made so many remarkable cures in serious cases that people are liable to overlook their value as a tonic for the blood and nerves in debility and general run-down conditions. That such conditions are the cause of much misery and unhappiness is fully known to those who suffer from them and the need of curing them is as vital as is relief from disease with higher sounding names. We commend the following statement to any one suffering from weak, thin blood or shattered nerves. Mrs. Mae Macabe, Gleichen, Alta., says: "A few years ago I became run down, not seriously ill, but just tired and weak all the time. I consulted our family doctor, who gave me tonic after tonic with no effect. I gradually got weaker and weaker until I could not do my work. Then I went to another doctor, who pronounced my case one of declining, and recommended a warmer climate with complete rest. This I could not afford and I began to worry and fret, until I became a complete nervous wreck. One day while visiting a neighbor an old gentleman who was taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for partial paralysis recommended them to me. I sent out and got three boxes, but with out much faith that they would help me, but before they were gone I noticed an improvement and I continued taking the pills, constantly growing stronger until I had taken seven or eight boxes, when I was completely cured. I could do my work as easily as ever I had done in my life, and the doctor told me that he could scarcely believe the change in me, as he had not had the least hope that I would be strong again. Now I always keep the pills on hand and if I feel fatigued or weary take them for three or four days so as not to get run down."

SHOT AFTER DANCE

Young Woman Wounded—Would-Be Murder Attempts to Commit Suicide.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 5.—Sophia Page, 21 years old, was shot and probably fatally wounded yesterday morning by Harry Dunphy, a teamster, as she was leaving Finley's dancing academy. Dunphy fired three bullets into Miss Page's body and then attempted to shoot himself through the head. The bullet glanced from the skull, inflicting a slight wound. Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the shooting.

SURPRISE FOR CONGREGATION

Denver, Colo., Aug. 5.—"The time for a young American to take a bride," said Rev. W. Kendrick Roberts, pastor of the Welsh Presbyterian church here, at a prayer meeting, "and the time for every unmarried man to take a bride is right now, and to show you my willingness to practice what I preach, I shall do so."

It was that the pastor stepped from the pulpit and met Miss Emma Evans, the church organist, who arose from her place at the organ.

They were joined by a fellow-clergyman of Mr. Roberts's, the only outsider who had been let into the secret, and were married before the astonished congregation was quite aware of what was taking place.

"How is your mother this morning?" asked Mrs. Grey, of the small boy who came with the milk. "She's better," he answered, "she sits up." "When?" "Mrs. Grey. "No," answered the literal youngster. "She sits down, but she stands up."—Woman's Home Companion.

"A Most Valuable Food" At a time when the preparation of artificial foodstuffs is receiving more attention than ever before, and when new forms of easily assimilable fat to take the place of cod liver oil are being frequently brought to the notice of the medical profession, it is desirable that some of the older forms of administering natural fats should not be lost sight of. Among natural fats, butter easily takes first place for nutritive value, and when combined with a suitable soluble carbohydrate, a most valuable food is produced. The BUTTER SCOTCH which Messrs. Callard & Bower (Duke's Road, Euston Road, W. C.) have prepared for fifty years, is such an article, which has the great advantage of being palatable, so palatable, in fact, that children are more likely to need restraining from excess than any persuing to take it. This BUTTER SCOTCH is stated to contain 11.7 per cent of fat and 79.2 per cent of sugar, and the results of an analysis which we have made recently of a specimen substantially confirm these figures; further chemical examination of the fat extracted showed it to be genuine butter fat. This confection can therefore be recommended, not only as a harmless sweetmeat, but also as a very useful addition to the diet in suitable cases. In all the Principal candy stores in Victoria.

Two Thrilling Escapades In An Hour

Although I am inclined to think I am neither constitutionally nervous nor naturally bashful, yet I am afraid I am fast becoming very susceptible to these "slight turns" which may be classed under the heading of "surprises" not the surprise one gets when one's friends call after breakfast, but the surprise one gets when one's friends call after breakfast, but the surprise one gets when one's friends call after breakfast...

bad luck, for I picked up a car ticket— a real green one, I believe, although it looked as if the Canadian Mineral Rubber Company had been experimenting on it on a larger scale, for the purpose of showing our worthy mayor and aldermen that pea gravel is a better asphalt binder, in street paving, than crushed rock.

Eczema on Leg for 25 Years

I have been treated by doctors for twenty-five years for a bad case of eczema on my leg. They did their best but failed to cure it. My own doctor had advised me to use Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I bought a box of Cuticura Soap and a bottle of Cuticura Ointment. After the first two treatments the swelling went down and in two months' use the skin grew new. The doctor could not believe his own eyes when he saw that Cuticura had cured me and said that he would use Cuticura for his own patients.

that people have to go to all this trouble in trying to make other people honest?"

"I can scarcely venture an opinion on that particular point," I said, "but I have no doubt in saying that if the reclamation of your neighbors is your chief object in this instance you have a very lady friend may be found in the following 'milk and water' production: Never more pour sharp reproaches in the milkman's kindly jug. When the water scheme encroaches on the contents of the jug; For intention pure attacks him And he means not you to blink. When he sticks close to this maxim: 'Take more water with your milk.'" ada are also seen in historic groupings of its Scottish pioneers—this happy idea bringing together the luminous of the Scottish heart. Here is shown Ogilvie, of Yukon fame; McLeod, of the pioneer N. W. M. Police Force; Macdonnell, of Glenagarry; Sir George Simpson, pioneer governor of the Hudson's Bay Company; "Donald" driving the last spike of Canada's great transcontinental railway, and such like scenes; together with great wheat fields of the prairie west, and a pulsing picture of a C. P. R. transcontinental train crossing the prairie in an appropriate framework of yellow grains shown in the straw. The pavilion is lighted by dome lights, and a rich-pictured border of Canadian views, with Indian canoe, and the heads of wild animals, of mountain and plain—A street-cabinet-of-interest proportions, shows a finished design of one of the large greyhounds of the Atlantic route, and a table with "Take One" texts is strewn with a rich and varied collection of illustrated booklets on Canada, East and West, open to the passerby.

These are just samples of letters we are receiving every day from grateful patients all over the country. "Worth its weight in gold." "All my pimples washed away by D. D. D." "I found instant relief." "D. D. D. is little short of miraculous." These are the words of others in describing the great skin remedy, D. D. D.

My loquacious friend did not tell me his name, nor did I ask him what it was, but, for the purposes of this narrative, I will call him "Peter."

"Peter" spun a long yarn about his political and financial martyrdom at the hands of the Nanaimo Socialists. He was, he said, their secretary, or president, or something of the kind, and he had been "jugged" for sticking up for them; but now that his martyrdom is over, they turn him down for a comparative nobody. He says they won't give him a job and they threaten to "fire" him if he goes even within their civic limits. Such was the substance of "Peter's" theories and when he had finished up, he sternly demanded "What d'ye think of that?"

DRUGGIST PRAISES D. D. D.

"Your D. D. D. Prescription for Eczema is the best thing we have ever handled, and is giving good satisfaction with our customers." Spur Stevenson, Druggist, Blythe, Man.

"I have had Eczema on and off for about three years, and nothing I tried has done so much good as D. D. D. It will stop that irritation in a few minutes. I can do my washing and if I have D. D. D. on hand it will ease it at once," writes Mrs. A. J. Squires, Coleman, Ont.

WOMEN IN POLITICS.

Active and Personal Influence Discussed in Recent Volume.

Women's part and interest in British politics are discernible in the last half of the eighteenth century when quite a number of women of wealth or high degree nominated members to the House of Commons, and when Fox was quite willing to accept this kind of hospitality from the Countess of Ruthven, who controlled the election of a member from Kirkwall Burghs.

"I found the gentleman now in question in his office, and after hearing in absolute silence and with a downcast countenance, all I had to say, he looked me straight in the face and gravely remarked:

"If you have come to me in the hope of my aiding you to cut off or even curtail our water supply in this city, I must, in the first place, point out to you that you were badly advised. (Oh, what a wicked boy, my living—nay, my very existence—depends on my maintaining not only a plentiful but even a high pressure supply of water, and when I can't get fresh water in sufficient quantities, I use salt water, and no small quantity of that either."

CANADA AT GLASGOW FAIR.

What the C. P. R. is Doing to Advise the Dominion.

Canada is very much to the fore just now over in Glasgow. The great exhibition is on, and crowds extraordinary are daily demanding entrance at some seven different gates, where a shilling entry fee lets in to all the delights of the old world and many of the new.

John Russell, gives some account of her tender vigilance sustained and prolonged his years."

Mr. Montpenney, as the first volume shows, is planning his life of Beaconsfield in a spirit and on a scale that insure some attention to the Countess of Beaconsfield. But the tributes to the wives of prime ministers in the pages of Walpole, Ashley and Morley were about all in English political biography until the memoir of Lady John Russell came from the press. Up to this time, moreover, there were not more than three or four volumes in which the continuous interest of English women in politics could be fully traced.

"I rather he'd swipe some of them to Hillside avenue," I said, "but where I find him?"

"Just cross the street there," and he pointed to an office on the opposite side.

"I found the gentleman now in question in his office, and after hearing in absolute silence and with a downcast countenance, all I had to say, he looked me straight in the face and gravely remarked:

ESCAPED EVILS OF PROTECTION

How Britain Demonstrates Wealth Comes Best by Efficiency

It is the difficulty of imposing any limits to the tyranny when once a State comes under its sway that renders the proposal of temporary protection for young industries in new colonies so dangerous, says an exchange.

The protection so begun never is temporary; it becomes permanent, and the fostered industries always remain infants in the sense that they continue to require protection.

This plea introduced protection into our colonies, and they cannot rid themselves of the incubus; too many of the colonists are interested in its continuance.

They embarked on industries which would suffer if the duties were removed, and those committed to them strive in the political arena to maintain the position. Meanwhile other colonists, other traders, and all consumers suffer from the high charges and the economic loss, viz. the reduction of efficiency and the diminution of commerce which follows on adopting a policy which directs industry into channels so little suited to the circumstances that they cannot be maintained if the crutches of protection are removed, and they are to be treated as grown-up industries; the result is that the tariff grows higher and higher.

J. S. Mill gave the countenance of his name to this infant industry argument, which is no doubt perfectly valid if the conditions he attached to its application were fulfilled. The protection was to be strictly limited to industries which were certain to thrive without its aid when once established, and it was to be rightly limited to a few years. But Mill asked for much of human nature, and was disappointed. In his letters, recently published, we have his admission (made in 1869) that it was a mistake, and that "experience had proved its danger of perpetuating itself by the creation of private interests enlisted in its maintenance and defence."

Few countries have escaped the evils of protection. Great Britain suffered long. The system originated in early methods of levying tolls upon goods passing a frontier. In early and simpler times this was an easy way of asserting authority while raising some revenue from foreigners, who doubtless recovered it with interest by the sale of their merchandise. By degrees some industries grew up which were protected under this system, and a policy of fostering certain industries was adopted. Later, in the seventeenth century, a theory of trade, since called mercantilism, was put forward for excluding imports and assisting exports in order to secure a balance of trade in money; it was then erroneously thought desirable to attract gold and silver into the country by artificial aids. Still later, Continental wars assailed commerce, and the enmity of nations developed barriers to trade. By these various means protection was established, and afterwards deliberately encouraged. In the first half of the nineteenth century great suffering was produced in this country by the protection of food and its consequent high price and scarcity. Adam Smith and his followers had already demonstrated the true and beneficial nature of trade, and its real inwardness had begun to be realized. In 1846, under pressure of great scarcity, the system of exclusion of food was thrown over, and free trade practically established. After sixty years of great prosperity the country is again urged to return to the old and mischievous fallacies of 200 years ago by those who speak of free trade as an antiquated fetish. But hard names are not arguments; they are often the refuge of those who lack valid arguments.

The crux of the whole matter is in the principle of comparative cost, the theory which expounds the advantage of expending energy upon the occupations which are economically the most productive in the circumstances existing, and of purchasing with the products other desirable things in the best market, wherever that may be. This is exchange of products; this is free-trading by the country which adopts it. This solid basis of free trade has not been shaken, and until it is disproved the various minor modes of attack are futile. Plausible objections are raised which may appear to be arguments for interference. They will be found on examination to ignore the larger view of the problem, viz. their ultimate effect upon the country as a whole, and to put forth grounds for interference on behalf of special interests, and to appeal to particular interests. Many of these proposals are mutually destructive. Some consist of appeals to sentiment and of suggestions that protection affords a remedy for ills which depend upon ascertainable causes of a kind quite distinct from and foreign to the principles involved in this problem; of this class unemployment is a frequent instance.

It would be impossible in anything short of a volume to deal with the whole of these fallacious views. The essence of the problem consists of a few elementary and fundamental facts; that it is a high factor in efficiency to be doing by preference that which we can do well instead of that which we can do indifferently; that free exchange, free trade, unfettered commerce will then secure the best that can be purchased with the results of this highly productive labor.

MEDICAL DISCOVERY

It has been discovered that if a human being dies after an ordinary illness and not a violent death, he does not die all over and all at once. He may have a diseased liver, heart or lung, and this may be the cause of his death; but it has been found that, if the diseased organ could have been replaced by a healthy one, life might have been maintained indefinitely. This is no imagination or speculation. It has been confirmed by the most careful experiments by the ablest medical scientists in the country.—Ladies'

HINDU LOVE STORY.

Touching Devotion Described in Literature 1,000 Years Old.

One of the most beautiful and tenderly human of all the world's tales of the Great Lovers has long been buried in the ancient books of the Hindus. The Ramayana is a strange old sacred poem built up of fragments from many wandering bards, who sang from camp to barbaric gold decked court of India. It finally assumed a permanent form in 200 B. C. Professor Ian C. Hannah, in his new "Eastern Asia: A History," recently published by Frederick A. Stokes Company, picks out this ancient poem as one of the most beautiful things in the great Hindu literature; and from it Professor Hannah chose the story of Rama and Sita as a master love story, to be preserved in exquisite books with the tales of Alcibiades and Nicolette, that lingering sweet love tale of Old France; with the tales of Palou Francisca, or Hamlet and Juliet.

Rama, a prince of the Solar Dynasty of Oudh, in his concluding but interesting account of the old Hindu tale, was a valiant prince of the Solar Dynasty of Oudh. He alone of all the authors of the peerless Sita could string a certain great bow, and so he won her. They ruled happily till Rama was banished, when Sita resolved to follow him.

"For the faithful woman follows where her wedded lord may lead. In the banishment of Rama, Sita's exile is decreed."

Professor Hannah appears as one of the most touching passages in world literature the lines in which Sita declares her deathless devotion:

"Thou art my king, my guide, my only refuge, my divinity. It is my axed resolve to follow thee. If thou must wander forth Through thorny tracks, forests, I will go before thee, treading down The prickly brambles to make smooth thy path. I shall feel no weariness, the forest thorns will seem like silken robes. The bed of leaves a couch of down. To me the shelter of thy presence is better far than stately palaces, and paradise itself. Protected by thy arm, gods, demons, men shall have no power to harm me. Roaming with thee in desert wastes, a thousand years will be a day; Dwelling with thee, e'en hell itself would be to me a heaven of bliss."

During their wanderings, Sita was carried off by Itavasi, the Demon King of Lanka, with a whole army of the black fiends a his grim back, relates Professor Hannah. But Rama had allies, the clever ape-people, who flew nighly through the air, bearing cranes which they had wrenched from the Himalayas. They made a great bridge, and over it Rama came to rescue her—a great sky-painted scene of which Wagner would have made triumphant opera. Finally the couple return to Oudh, for a long and glorious reign.

PRISONERS SCORE LAWYER

Vitro, Italy, Aug. 4.—Marshall Capluittl concluded his testimony at the Camorrista trial yesterday, explaining why he was convicted that Genarro Cuoco and his wife were murdered by the Camorra. He said that he recognized the ring taken from the home of one of the prisoners as having belonged to Cuoco.

Here Lawyer Loy, whose interruptions started a quarrel that caused a suspension of the sitting a few days ago, broke in, halting the testimony. The lawyer was scored for this by his clients, the prisoners, who asserted that Loy put the defendants in an unsympathetic light by his conduct and caused the trial to be dragged out eternally.

It is only by labor that thought can be made healthy, and only by thought that labor can be made happy; and the two cannot be separated with impunity.—Ruskin.

5 Minutes Walk from Car Line

7 1-2 ACRES
4-Room House
$4,500

1-3 Cash. Balance 1, 2 and 3 Years

This property is situated in Strawberry Vale on the Wilkerson Road, about five minutes' walk from the Saanich car line where the power poles are already erected.

The plot contains 7 1/2 acres and is nearly square, thus ensuring an easy subdivision to the purchaser who wishes to sell a part of it. The front portion is a beautiful slope of ground with a splendid grove of evergreens and immediately at the rear of the grove is a level spot for building. The rear portion is almost free from rock and is at present under cultivation. Over six acres of this property may be cultivated, while the balance shows outcroppings of rock. The house is worth about $600 and poultry houses, fenced runs, etc., are worth about $150.

The plot across the road without anything like as good a view to be obtained from it, and not nearly so desirable for a home, sold for $1,000 per acre.

The owner has previously refused the price asked, but on account of sickness is now obliged to sell.

This acreage at $600 per acre is a positive snap.

HOW TO DEVELOP CLEVER CHILDREN

Results of Experiment and Observation From Sane Method of Culture

A year or so ago public attention was directed to the case of a youth named Sidis, who, at the ripe age of eleven, entered Harvard University with an advanced standing, says the Toronto Mail. Newspaper reporters found on investigation that young Sidis was not so much a freak as he was the embodiment of a special course of training to which his father, Dr. Boris Sidis, a man of large culture, had certain very definite theories on the subject of education and had applied them to his son's training. The idea was that his son, and the son of everyone else, had more brain power than ever he would be able to get into action, and that it was no hardship to make demands on that power while the lad was still a small child. The brilliant career of the lad seemed proof enough of the theory, for young Sidis was a thoroughly healthy, boyish lad, knowing not more, perhaps, than thousands of other lads, but knowing things not commonly learned by others so young. The Sidis idea was summed up in the statement that precocity is not inherited; it is the result of training.

Some recent corroborations of this theory have recently come to light, and are discussed in the American Magazine by Mr. H. Addington Bruce. He mentions the system adopted by Prof. Leo Wiener, whose son Norbert was graduated from Tufts College at the age of fourteen, and whose younger children bid fair to be equally brilliant scholars. Norbert, it appears, showed some curiosity about the letters of the alphabet when he was eighteen months old, and two days later had learned them. Prof. Wiener says that his method consisted in a number of children to their own devices, or repressing them, but in encouraging them to think for themselves and to come as close as they could to the intellectual level of their parents. In other words, the parents who wish their children to make the most rapid advancement must surround them from babyhood with an intellect-stimulating environment, that is to say, they must utilize the power of suggestion as an aid in their development.

Thus Norbert's training began, and was continued with such good effect that at the age of six he was acquainted with a number of excellent books, having learned to spell three years earlier. He did not understand everything he read, but his father encouraged him to be an indefatigable asker of questions. He welcomed what many other parents consider a nuisance, and never put the boy off with careless answers, but always endeavored to explain things to him. At the same time he tried to make Norbert think for himself, for the faculty of thinking is considered by Prof. Wiener the apex point in training a child. He believes that modern educational systems starve this faculty, and develop at its expense the ability to remember. Another father of a so-called prodigy, Dr. A. A. Berle, adopts the same method, and agrees with Dr. Boris Sidis and Prof. Wiener that any normal child can do what these phenomenal children have done, if their parents are capable of teaching them, and accept the task as a solemn duty.

Another prodigious child who was developed by the same methods is Winifred Sackville, whose training was begun by her mother almost as soon as the child was born. She fitted up a nursery, on whose walls were hung copies of great paintings, while around the room were scattered beautiful models of sculpture, so that the child's artistic sense

Are Your Kidneys Working Properly?

It Will Pay You Well to Make Sure There's been a lot of "gossiping" about rheumatism and rheumatic pains generally, but you can be sure that little pain across your back came from decreased kidney action.

The kidney's duty is to filter the blood—take out the impurities collected by the returning blood stream—it is just like absorbent cotton in a funnel filters the impurities from polluted water. When the kidneys are not working you are bound for one of two courses—Diabetes and Bright's Disease or Rheumatism, Lumbago and Sciatica. The former course is usually fatal, and the latter always painful, but you need not have either, as they both can be easily prevented.

The very best prescription for all kidney troubles is Nyal's Stone Root Compound. It is no "patent" medicine, but a scientific prescription composed of Stone-root, Huckleberry and other remedies of proved value. More than that, it has been proved by thousands who have had relief from its use.

There's nothing quite so miserable as the dragging results of sick kidneys. You are tripping with your own feeture when you neglect so simple a precaution, and pleasant home treatment with Nyal's Stone Root Compound when results are so certain.

It soothes bladder irritation, gives you rest and comfort at night, and makes life once more enjoyable. The kidney, liver and bladder are all dependent upon one another, and Nyal's Stone Root Compound is particularly designed to help them all.

was educated from the beginning. At night, instead of having the old nursery rhymes recited to her, the crooning took the form of selected passages from Virgil and other classical authors. While her little neighbors were memorizing, "This little pig went to market," Winifred Sackville was liping, "Twilight and evening star," and "To be or not to be." The result was that when the child was old enough to talk, she could recite some notable poems, so that at the age of three she undertook to compose poems of her own. At this age she learned to run a typewriter; at five she composed a play and at seven became eligible for membership in the Authors' Club, through the publication of a book containing a hundred jingles.

One of them is worth quoting:—

"One day I saw a bumble bee bumbling on a rose, And as I stood admiring him he stung me on the nose; My nose in pain it swelled so large it looked like a potato, So Daddy said; though Mother thought 'twas more like a tomato. And now, dear children, this advice I hope you'll take from me, And when you see a bumble bee, just let that bumble be."

Many grown persons have been proud of much worse work. The point that remains for the future to prove is whether these prodigies will be overtaken later in life by children brought up in the old-fashioned way.

PEOPLE WILL VOTE FOR RECIPROCITY WHEN THEY KNOW WHAT ISSUE REALLY MEANS

Says J. H. Senkler, K. C., Liberal Candidate for Vancouver, Who is in City

A man who plays cricket is invariably a good sportsman, and the game is a fine training for fights other than the cricket field. To play cricket here to-day came yesterday by the evening boat J. H. Senkler, K. C., the candidate unanimously selected to battle in the Liberal interests at the forthcoming election in the city of Vancouver.

Seen at the Empress this morning the bluff, hearty, and genial leader of the Vancouver Liberals, clad in cricketer's flannels, was just off to the cricket ground to take part in the match against Victoria. He spared a few minutes for the Times.

The meeting was held last Thursday night at the Pender hall in Vancouver to select a parliamentary candidate was the most successful convention of the Liberal party ever held in the city," said Mr. Senkler. "It included representatives from all the six wards of the city proper, and also representatives from South Vancouver, North Vancouver, and Point Grey, and there were easily over two hundred delegates present, besides a very large attendance of the general public. It was a very enthusiastic meeting.

Mr. H. B. Gillmore, who had been suggested as a candidate, found that on account of the strong objection entertained by his wife to the idea of his going into active politics, he preferred to withdraw his name. I may therefore say that my selection was unanimous, and I am assured of Mr. Gillmore's cordial and hearty support in every possible way during the coming contest. The meeting heard the speeches of Senator Bostock, Dr. Elliott Rowe, and others with the greatest interest and attention.

"I'm very sure we have at last consolidated all the warring elements we have had in Vancouver during the last ten years, and therefore it is impossible to over-estimate the prospects of success. The prospects are first-class, they could hardly be better, and I think we have a first-class chance of redeeming the seat. Of course there is a great deal of preparatory work to be done before the real start, and we are going to have a meeting on Tuesday night to arrange the program, appoint managers, and so on. Amongst the local speakers we are already sure of Mr. Taylor, K. C.; George E. Powell, Dr. Elliott Rowe, John Oliver, Stuart Henderson, and I hope F. C. Wade, K. C.

"And who is going to be the Conservative candidate?"

"I suppose George H. Cowan will be the man."

"But it has been suggested that Mr. Cowan would not seek re-election?"

"Well," said Mr. Senkler, "that remains to be seen. I think he will be the Conservative candidate if he wants to be, and I suppose, therefore, that it is very likely that he will be the candidate. The Conservative party in Vancouver are very well organized, but then you must bear in mind that organization does not always count for everything. If we can get public sentiment going the right way, that is, if we clearly bring home to the people, and the people clearly understand, what reciprocity really means, then that is not the shadow of a doubt that the Liberals will get their hearty support. Reciprocity is not free trade. It is simply reciprocal relations with our neighbors and our best markets. As soon as the people get to know what the real issue is there will be no doubt about the result."

Of course Vancouver will be a very important seat, and Mr. Senkler pointed out that, including South Vancouver, North Vancouver and Point Grey the voters' lists would, he thought, show at least a total of 25,000, representing over 150,000 of population. This number, he said, was probably the largest single constituency in the Dominion, and he did not think that Toronto, which has four representatives, or Montreal, with seven, could show anything like it.

The Vancouver cricket team which has come here to-day to play Victoria may not win their match, but Mr. Senkler, cricketer and politician, has no doubt but that the party of the people will win the Vancouver election.

Those present were: A. Lockstep, chairman of the registration committee; Leo Sweeney, Association; Stan. Okell, V. W. A. A.; D. O'Sullivan, J. B. A. A.; and W. Winslow, 5th Regiment; and A. J. Brace, Y. M. C. A.

MISS GILLESPIE AND DICKSON CHAMPIONS

Won in Mixed Doubles—Mrs. Talbot and Miss Bell in Singles Final

By defeating Mr. Ryall and Mrs. Smith in two fast sets, 6-4, 3-4, in which the winners showed themselves masters of the game, Mr. Dickson and Miss Gillespie, both of this city, won the British Columbia championship in the mixed doubles. This was the only final completed this morning.

Mrs. Talbot and Miss Bell qualified this forenoon to meet in the finals of the ladies' singles this afternoon the former beating Miss Rickaby easily, 6-1, 6-1, and the latter scoring a victory against Miss Kennedy after a hard struggle, 6-1, 4-6, 6-1.

In the consolation semi-finals, Mr. Ryall beat Mr. Green and Mr. Gilliat beat Harold Eberly, Mr. Ryall and Mr. Gilliat meet in the first this afternoon.

Several business houses in Victoria have recently received bundles of anti-reciprocity literature, under covering letters from Arthur Hawkes, Toronto, secretary of the Canadian National League. The bundle includes reprints of a number of Toronto News editorials and articles, articles by Mr. Hawkes and leaders which would appear to be issued by the Anti-Reciprocity League in Montreal.

The whole is enclosed in envelopes presumably supplied from the Canadian National League offices in Toronto, but the post-mark on several that the Times has seen is "House of Commons, Canada, July 13, 1911."

The necessary authorization to the postal authorities to transmit this literature from private sources at the expense of the country is contained in the initials "C. S. M. P." in one corner. Given there more than one member in the House with these initials, which there is not, no one who has ever seen his writing could mistake the hand of the former minister of the interior, Hon. Clifford Sifton.

REAL ESTATE MARKET
Although in the opinion of the majority of the dealers real estate has been quieter during the last few days than it has been for some time, property still continues to change hands at a fairly brisk rate, the principal business being done in lots.

Heisterman, Forman & Co, disposed of three lots and five houses on Rock Bay avenue for $15,000 during the last two or three days; a house and lot on David street, Rock Bay, for $4,750, and three lots on Reservoir Hill for $800 each.

Monk & Monteith sold a lot on Southgate street for $1,400, and three lots in Government House place for $900 each.

McPherson & Fullerton report a steady business in lots, and have put through the following deals within the past week: Two lots on Beechwood avenue, Foul Bay, $1,500; two lots on Rose street, Quadra Heights, $1,500; two lots on Asquith street, $1,500; house and lot on Heath street, $2,000; lot on the George waterfront to Herbert Lees, $5,000; house and lot on Princess avenue to Mr. Heineke for $2,000; two lots on Jasmine avenue, $1,200; four lots on Cecil street, $2,400; lot on Haultain street, $750.

The Empire Realty Company sold a lot in British Columbia for $1,100. Moore & Johnson disposed of a house and lot on Quadra street for $2,500.

Currie & Power have completed the following sales within the last week: Lot on corner of Cook and Empress; two lots on Prior street; lot on Howe street; two lots at the gorge on Albina street; two lots in the Gold Linka park; three lots on Hillside avenue; three lots in the Burleigh subdivision.

INVESTIGATING MILK SUPPLY.
Dr. Fagan Will Examine Dairies on Lower Mainland.

Vancouver, Aug. 5.—With a view to improving the quality of the milk supply of New Westminster and Vancouver, Dr. Fagan, provincial health officer and secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, will next week commence a systematic examination of the dairies on the lower mainland.

He is acting under instructions from the executive to which he will submit a detailed report. It is understood that the government will then take steps to secure the necessary authority from the Dominion authorities to legislate on the question of the milk supply in British Columbia. According to legal opinion the powers of the province in regard to this question are not clearly defined.

Dr. Fagan has already visited and inspected the dairy farms in the vicinity of Victoria.

It has been a matter of common report that many of the herds on the lower mainland are afflicted with tuberculosis and other diseases, and that large quantities of milk from diseased animals are shipped into this city, thus endangering the lives of adults and children; in fact the large infant mortality during the summer months is ascribed in a large measure to the impure and adulterated milk. In conjunction with Dr. Fagan's mission, the herds will be examined by a veterinary surgeon.

WOUNDED BY GUARDS.
Vancouver, Aug. 5.—Refusing to stop when called upon to do so by two armed men, guards from the New Westminster penitentiary on the lookout for an escaped convict, Charles E. Legg, a gardener who was returning to his home in Burnaby, was shot in the leg and severely wounded. Legg took the guards for holdup men and ran away, and the guards declare the riot was not aimed at him but at the road-way with the object of frightening him into complying with their demand to halt.

STRIKE-BREAKERS BEIEGIED IN HOTEL

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 5.—A mob has surrounded the Iowa hotel, in which nearly a hundred strike-breakers are under guard of four platoons of police and en route to the depot, were obliged to take refuge. The mob is demanding that the strike-breakers be turned over to them and the police are defending the hotel.

Another call for police has been sent in from the Iowa hotel. The crowd is still clamoring for a sight of the strike-breakers.

Another crowd has collected in front of the Red hotel on Walnut street, where about fifty strike-breakers are assembled in the lobby waiting for a chance to get to the train.

ACCUSED OF MURDER

Warrant Issued for Arrest of Seattle Pasting Specialist.
Seattle, Wash., Aug. 5.—Accused of murdering Claire Williamson, a wealthy English woman, to death under the guise of medical treatment at the Hazard Institute of Natural Therapeutics, Dr. Linda Burfield-Hazard, a fasting specialist who has practiced five years in this city, is the person named in a warrant charging first degree murder signed this morning by Judge John B. Yakey, at Port Orchard.

Deputy Sheriff George Posse of Kitsap county left immediately on the issuance of the warrant at 11 o'clock to arrest Dr. Hazard at Otalia. Unless she can put up a bond of $10,000 she is to be brought to the King county jail.

The prompt action by the authorities was incited by the news that Dr. Hazard was planning to go to New York or Hongkong.

Dr. Hazard told the reporter that she intended to return to Seattle, and this was to be her permanent abode.

But after reading the article in a Seattle newspaper, C. E. Lucian Agassiz, the British vice-consul in Tacoma, and Frank H. Kelly, his attorney, decided to visit Thomas Stevenson, prosecuting attorney of Kitsap county, yesterday, and after a lengthy session induced him to agree to file an information of murder in the first degree this morning.

This morning it was ascertained that Dr. Hazard, who has been in the habit of spending Saturday and Sunday in Otalia, intended to return to-morrow to her apartments at the Waldorf, this city. This news lending strong color to the theory that Dr. Hazard might be preparing to flee, further alarmed Agassiz and Kelly, and was presented to Judge Yakey before he signed the warrant.

R. MARPOLE RETURNS.
Vice-President of E. and N. Railway Back To-day From Alberni.

R. Marpole, vice-president of the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway, returned at noon to-day from his four days tour into the interior of the Island. The vice-president went as far as Alberni, and although it was really a pleasure trip he could not escape from business, and when at Alberni was interviewed by the board of trade, which is keenly interested in the proposed new station and round-house at the Alberni terminal—the contract for which will, probably, be given out in a day or two—and the considerable development which is sure to take place on its early completion. All the work on the line is progressing most satisfactorily.

RILEY MUST NOT BOX.
B. C. A. A. U. Makes a Bulling—Stan. Okell's Standing Unimpaired.

Jockey Riley will not be permitted to take part in the boxing bouts which are to be held under the auspices of the Victoria West Athletic Association. This was decided at the meeting of the B. C. A. A. U. last evening. The union declared that Riley had injured his standing as an amateur by giving exhibitions for which he received money. The other seven competitors, whose names were submitted, were given sanction.

The case of S. Youson, V. W. A. A., who applied for reinstatement, was referred to the annual meeting.

Sanctions were granted to the J. B. A. A. for its track meet on August 19, and to the V. W. A. A. for the boxing tournaments on Wednesday.

A letter was received from the Vancouver Amateur Lacrosse Association questioning the standing of Stan. Okell, who refereed a professional game in Vancouver recently. Okell, who was present, stated that he had received no money for his services, and said there was nothing in the constitution nor in the definition of an amateur to prevent a man from refereeing a professional game under such conditions.

The chair declared that his standing was unimpaired, but added that the union was opposed in principle to the practice of letting an amateur referee a professional game under any circumstances whatever.

Those present were: A. Lockstep, chairman of the registration committee; Leo Sweeney, Lacrosse Association; Stan. Okell, V. W. A. A.; D. O'Sullivan, J. B. A. A.; and W. Winslow, 5th Regiment; and A. J. Brace, Y. M. C. A.

She was of a kindly and benevolent nature and her death will be regretted throughout the entire city. She was a widow, her husband having predeceased her by many years. Two sons, Fred Davey, M.P.P., and F. W. Davey, of 125 South Turner street; and three daughters, Mrs. Easton, Vancouver; Mrs. T. Deaville, Gorge road; and Miss Lucy Davey, living at home, survive. The funeral has been arranged to take place from the house on Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. A. Henderson officiating. Interment will be made in the family plot, Ross Bay cemetery.

COL. GREENE DEAD.
Former Copper Magnate—Dies As Result of Injuries Sustained in Runaway Accident.

Cananea, Mexico, Aug. 5.—Col. W. C. Greene, the former copper magnate, died at 5 o'clock this morning. He succumbed to acute pneumonia which developed as a result of injuries he sustained in a runaway accident here last Monday.

Death came to Col. Greene shortly after the arrival of a corps of physicians and nurses, who were rushed here by special train and automobiles from El Paso. They brought supplies of oxygen and spent the last few hours striving to stave off the end, but the stricken man never rallied and passed away in the presence of his wife and children, who had been constantly at his bedside.

Last Monday Col. Greene was thrown from his carriage when his team of horses ran away. His collar bone and two of his ribs were fractured. On Thursday the acute pneumonia condition developed in his lungs.

Col. Greene was the most picturesque and one of the best known of the group of copper magnates who have operated in the southwest because of his meteoric rise from the position of a penniless prospector to director

The Outlook.
Bible in Korea—A noted feature of the wonderful religious awakening still in progress in Korea is the phenomenal sale of Bibles. Since Japanese control over Korea became an established fact, the number of Japanese immigrants have greatly increased, and the Korean Christians have found in this new field of effort for their missionary zeal.

Theological Conference.—The pastors of the city whose privilege it was to attend the theological conference in Vancouver speak of it in the highest terms. The Rev. Dr. Garvie of London, England, fully met the expectations of all. His thorough treatment of the Gospel of Paul came in for the highest plaudits. Dr. Stalker of Aberdeen disappointed his hearers in that he did not follow his advertised programme and instead of speaking daily or "Conversation" his lectures were upon "Puritanism." These lectures were appreciated to the full, but much interest had been felt in his announced topic, and even though his admirable lectures on Puritanism were almost a surfeit of excellence, yet there was the sense of hunger for "what might have been."

Y. W. C. A.—Among the many deserving institutions in this city few are more entitled to the sympathetic and energetic support of Victorians than the Y. W. C. A., which for a number of years has been doing its best in a small way to grapple with the important problem of caring for young women and girls in this city. It is six months now since the association moved its headquarters from Pandora avenue to 756 Courtenay street, and although the new building is to many ways a great improvement on the old, it is quite inadequate to meet the demands made upon it. The result of this is that many women and girls whom the association might otherwise have materially benefited have to be turned away owing to lack of accommodation. The present building is so small that it can only accommodate about thirty visitors. The chief claim of the association to the sympathy and aid of the community lies in the really splendid work it carries on in connection with its Travelers' Aid department. Thanks to the kindly assistance of the girl who climbs into the train at Montreal to begin the long journey across the continent feels no timidity at the thought of arriving in a strange city at the other end, for she knows that the Travelers' Aid worker will be on the lookout for her with a welcome and warm attention. But such an admirable work needs funds if it is to be carried out properly, and at present the Victoria association does need subscriptions so that at no very distant date the workers may look forward to the enlarging of the premises.

Death of J. W. Winslow.—Many Methodist friends will be sorry to learn of the decease of the Rev. J. W. Winslow. Mr. Winslow had returned to his home in Vancouver with hopes of recovery. He has been suffering however with his eyes, and after reading a hopeful letter to the Western Methodist Association, his death came as a shock. The deepest sympathy of all Methodist friends are with the family.

ANGLICAN.
St. Saviour's.—The twentieth anniversary celebration of the consecration of St. Saviour's church, Victoria West, was held in St. Joseph's hall, Victoria West, on Thursday evening, when the hall was filled to the doors. The chair was taken by the rector, Rev. R. Connell, who addressed the meeting with a few fitting remarks. Bishop Perrin then gave a brief outline of the work done since the founding of the parish and spoke of the splendid services rendered by the three rectors who have been in charge, two of whom now have parishes in England. Musical selections were rendered by Mr. and Mrs. German, Miss Redfern and Messrs. Mackenzie, Frame, Moxon and Roberts, which were greatly appreciated, and added in no small degree to the success of the evening. Refreshments were served by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the church, the tables being decorated with large Shasta daisies, which presented a very pretty appearance, and great credit is due to all those who took part for the success of the evening. Beaumont Rogers moved a vote of thanks to the bishop, and all those who had taken part in making the evening such a pleasant one. One of the most notable features of the evening was the presence of so many of the city clergy.

PRESBYTERIAN.
St. Andrew's.—The choir of St. Andrew's church held their annual picnic yesterday at the Willows beach. A large number left by an early morning car, putting in a full day in a festive manner, while others followed at various intervals throughout the day.

Methodist.
Metropolitan.—Pastor's Official Visit.—An announced last week Rev. T. E. Holling paid an official visit to the Shawigan Lake Mission last Saturday and Sunday. Each appointment was visited and services held. Mr. Holling reports the work of the mission to be in a flourishing condition, under the pastorate of Rev. H. Black.

Missionary From China.—Large and appreciative congregations listened to Rev. W. A. Cornaby, a veteran Wesleyan Missionary from China, and to Rev. J. C. Switzer, of Wesley Church, Vancouver, last Sunday morning and evening. Both services were eminently enjoyed by the congregation and an announcement of a return visit of either of the rev. gentlemen will be received with all cordiality.

Tomorrow's services.—Tomorrow at both services the pastor will preach and administer the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper. A reception service at which all new members of the church will receive the right hand of fellowship, will be conducted in conjunction with the morning sacramental service.

Official Board.—Next Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock the monthly official board meeting will be held when all members are requested to be present.

Ladies' Guild.—Yesterday the Ladies' Guild enjoyed an annual outing at the George Park. Several ladies of the congregation joined them and added to the pleasure of all present.

James Bay.
Pastor Away.—Last Sabbath the Rev. A. N. Miller (pastor) occupied the pulpit on the Sidney circuit and spent a thoroughly enjoyable interlude. The James Bay pulpit was occupied in the pastor's absence, by Rev. Dr. Spencer, Local Option Superintendent, in the morning and by Mr. Currie in the evening.

Epworth League.—The Epworth League are putting in a double time this summer, weather, instead of closing down for season. Last Monday evening a very interesting and choice paper was read by Rev. B. Black pastor in charge of the Shawigan mission. On Tuesday evening a visit was paid for social purposes to Horae Shoe Bay where a very happy time was indulged in.

Sunday School.—The Sunday school committee of management, took the open air for its session last Wednesday when they visited the beach and while there, transacted a good deal of routine business. An adjourned meeting of the committee was held on Wednesday when Mr. Patrick, who has been a visitor to the world's Sunday School Convention in San Francisco, will give a brief address and review of the convention. Such conventions have always proved a great stimulus to those attending, and it will prove well if the Sunday school committee catch the inspiration Mr. Patrick received, if it is but second hand. The contest inaugurated to maintain the attendance at school during hot weather is proving much rivalry, and last Sunday found the feminine order of the school in the majority, for first time since contest began. "Cheery ladies." "The race is not to the swift."

Boy Scouts.—Troop No. 12 of the Boy Scouts, which meets in connection with the Sunday school, have just returned from a week's camp in vicinity of North Saanich. Last Sunday divine service was attended in the morning, and in the afternoon Sunday school was conducted right in camp, as well as a long service in the evening. The boys are feeling much better for their outing and were sorry to break camp.

Victoria West.
Epworth League.—Every member of the league pronounced last week's lawn social an unqualified success. Games, refreshments and contests were the order of the evening. The contests were especially interesting, the fortunate winner being Miss E. Brown.

Q. O. B.—The quarterly official board held its first meeting of the year last Tuesday evening and among other items of business, found time to vote their pastor a month's holiday.

Sunday Services.—To-morrow the pastor will preach in the morning on the "Outpouring of the Holy Spirit," while in the evening the "Crucifixion" will be the topic, after which the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be conducted.

Ministerial Union.—Rev. J. A. Wood, ex secretary of the Methodist Ministerial Union, announces the regular meeting for Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The Japanese tea garden will be the rendezvous and every member of the union is urged to be present and to bring refreshments.

Strawberry Vale.
W. M. S.—The local branch of the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist church are prosecuting a vigorous campaign for new members and are meeting with phenomenal success. A different meeting place is arranged each month and as fresh localities are visited new members are added to the roll. Last Wednesday Arbutus Hill, the home of the Rev. Dr. Deley on the West Saanich road, was the meeting place. Mrs. Frank Adams, district organizer, was a welcome visitor and gave a short account of her work, and the methods and aims of mission circles and bands. Rev. B. Wilkinson gave a short address on systematic giving which was much appreciated. Fifty-two members were enlisted. Mrs. S. Jones is the general president for several times in succession and is a great asset to the society.

Equimatt.
Sabbath Services.—The attendance at the Sabbath services has been steadily maintained during the warm weather, last Sunday seeing almost a record attendance.

Methodist School.—The regular business meeting of the committee of management of the Methodist school, everything was found in satisfactory order. A discussion upon the adoption of the graded-lesson system resulted in the pastor being asked to be a committee member to obtain all necessary data as to the advisability of its adoption, and to report to next meeting.
