

Wikipedia Asian Month

Rules

The article should be about any topic concerning an Asian country. The article is newly created by you (i.e. not expanding stubs) between November 1, 2020 0:00 and November 30, 2020 23:59 (UTC).

Wikipedia Asian Month

Rules

The article should be at least 3,000 bytes and at least 300 words (or characters in some language) in length. (excluding infobox, templates, etc.)

Wikipedia Asian Month

Rules

The article must fulfill the notability criteria. The article must have decent references; doubtful or controversial statements in the article should be verifiable by the citation(s) listed in that article.

Wikipedia Asian Month

Rules

The article should not be a list, but creating a list that becomes a featured list counts. (Only applies in Wikipedias that have featured lists)

Wikipedia Asian Month

Rules

The article must not be purely machine translated and should be properly copy edited. There must be no major issues with the article (no copyright violations, questions of notability, etc.)

Wikipedia Asian Month

Rules

In a nutshell: Create new articles relating to Asia (people, places, culture, etc.), 3,000 bytes and 300 words minimum, with sources, during November 2020. Lists do not qualify.