ADVERTISEMENT.

IT IS believed that these photographs of persons prominent in the Civil War period will be interesting to publishers, historical societies and libraries, collectors of Americana, extra-illustrators and students.

Although for the most part from the original life negatives, the few prints made from negatives of photographs, drawings, etc., are of almost equal interest.

In many cases there are several negatives of the same title made at different times.

The negatives, unless otherwise mentioned, are about  $2\frac{1}{4} \times 3\frac{1}{4}$  inches in size.

Excellent enlargements may be made from most of the negatives, even up to 20 x 24 inches.

Although made so many years ago they are in remarkably perfect condition, but where imperfections exist no attempt is made to retouch or in any way to alter the original plates.

Only a part of the collection is here listed and inquiry for names not appearing is solicited.

Specimen prints, and prices with special discounts for direct prints and enlargements in quantity, will be sent on application.

ABOUT THE NEGATIVES.

BEFORE, during and for a number of years after the war of 1861-1865 Mr. M. B. Brady was the best known photographer of New York and Washington. His appointment during the war as Government Photographer gave his work and name a wide public recognition. It was the fashion of the day to visit Brady and sit for a picture, and he made many negatives of persons who were and who became a part of the history of the United States. Several thousand of the negatives from his studios after being in storage for years are now a part of my collection of Americana. The series of portraits present an exact pictorial history of unequalled value, and it is intended to make it possible for collectors and students to acquire part or all of the series of prints at a moderate cost. The prominence of most of the persons listed <sup>has</sup> ~~have~~ made it unnecessary to print more than a catalogue of names.

F. H. MESERVE.

VIEWS OF NEW YORK.

There are in the collection many very interesting negatives of New York City, made long before any high buildings were built, or the Brooklyn Bridge was finished. Exact date unknown. Further particulars and prices of prints upon application. A few are mentioned :—

Broadway, looking north from site of Barnum's Museum, corner Ann St.; showing Army Barracks on site of present Post Office. (This was made during the War.)

Broadway, looking north, showing Astor House and Post Office before tracks were laid on Broadway.

Broadway, at Union Square, west.

Columbia College, 50th Street and Madison Avenue.

Park Row, from Post Office, showing "Tribune" building, old "Times" building, French's Hotel, "Statts Zeitung" building and Hall of Records, before Third Avenue Elevated was erected.

Old Tombs Prison from Center St.

Brooklyn Bridge, during construction. Shown from both sides of the river from several points.

Old Clinton Hall, Astor Place.

St. Patrick's Cathedral during construction.

Western Union Building before destroyed by fire and rebuilt.

Broadway, looking south from Cedar Street.

The Elevated Road, when first built, from various points.

New York City, from East River, south of Fulton Ferry, a very interesting photograph showing the old sky line.
