Some friends, whose parents have lately passed away, have left a great quantity of money for the support of a widow, and the children in her care, and the whole family. The funds are to be invested in the purchase of property, and the income is to be used for the support of the widow and the children.

The widow, however, has a very narrow mind, and will not allow her children to have any more education than is necessary to enable them to earn a living. She believes that all education is a waste of time, and that the children should be kept as simple as possible.

A certain gentleman, who is a friend of the widow and her children, has a plan for improving the situation. He suggests that the children should be sent to a college, where they can receive a proper education, and become useful members of society.

The widow, however, is not convinced by this plan. She believes that the children are better off where they are, and that they should be kept under her strict control.

The friends, who have left the money for the support of the widow and her children, are very disappointed with the situation. They had hoped that the children would receive a proper education and become useful members of society, but they see that this is not going to happen.

The friends decide to take action. They meet with the widow, and explain to her the plan for improving the situation. They also present her with a letter from the college, which explains the benefits of a proper education.

The widow, however, is not convinced by this letter. She believes that the children are better off where they are, and that they should be kept under her strict control.

The friends, who have left the money for the support of the widow and her children, are very disappointed with the situation. They had hoped that the children would receive a proper education and become useful members of society, but they see that this is not going to happen.

The friends decide to take action. They meet with the widow, and explain to her the plan for improving the situation. They also present her with a letter from the college, which explains the benefits of a proper education.

The widow, however, is not convinced by this letter. She believes that the children are better off where they are, and that they should be kept under her strict control.

The friends, who have left the money for the support of the widow and her children, are very disappointed with the situation. They had hoped that the children would receive a proper education and become useful members of society, but they see that this is not going to happen.

The friends decide to take action. They meet with the widow, and explain to her the plan for improving the situation. They also present her with a letter from the college, which explains the benefits of a proper education.

The widow, however, is not convinced by this letter. She believes that the children are better off where they are, and that they should be kept under her strict control.

The friends, who have left the money for the support of the widow and her children, are very disappointed with the situation. They had hoped that the children would receive a proper education and become useful members of society, but they see that this is not going to happen.

The friends decide to take action. They meet with the widow, and explain to her the plan for improving the situation. They also present her with a letter from the college, which explains the benefits of a proper education.

The widow, however, is not convinced by this letter. She believes that the children are better off where they are, and that they should be kept under her strict control.

The friends, who have left the money for the support of the widow and her children, are very disappointed with the situation. They had hoped that the children would receive a proper education and become useful members of society, but they see that this is not going to happen.

The friends decide to take action. They meet with the widow, and explain to her the plan for improving the situation. They also present her with a letter from the college, which explains the benefits of a proper education.

The widow, however, is not convinced by this letter. She believes that the children are better off where they are, and that they should be kept under her strict control.

The friends, who have left the money for the support of the widow and her children, are very disappointed with the situation. They had hoped that the children would receive a proper education and become useful members of society, but they see that this is not going to happen.

The friends decide to take action. They meet with the widow, and explain to her the plan for improving the situation. They also present her with a letter from the college, which explains the benefits of a proper education.

The widow, however, is not convinced by this letter. She believes that the children are better off where they are, and that they should be kept under her strict control.

The friends, who have left the money for the support of the widow and her children, are very disappointed with the situation. They had hoped that the children would receive a proper education and become useful members of society, but they see that this is not going to happen.

The friends decide to take action. They meet with the widow, and explain to her the plan for improving the situation. They also present her with a letter from the college, which explains the benefits of a proper education.

The widow, however, is not convinced by this letter. She believes that the children are better off where they are, and that they should be kept under her strict control.

The friends, who have left the money for the support of the widow and her children, are very disappointed with the situation. They had hoped that the children would receive a proper education and become useful members of society, but they see that this is not going to happen.

The friends decide to take action. They meet with the widow, and explain to her the plan for improving the situation. They also present her with a letter from the college, which explains the benefits of a proper education.

The widow, however, is not convinced by this letter. She believes that the children are better off where they are, and that they should be kept under her strict control.

The friends, who have left the money for the support of the widow and her children, are very disappointed with the situation. They had hoped that the children would receive a proper education and become useful members of society, but they see that this is not going to happen.

The friends decide to take action. They meet with the widow, and explain to her the plan for improving the situation. They also present her with a letter from the college, which explains the benefits of a proper education.

The widow, however, is not convinced by this letter. She believes that the children are better off where they are, and that they should be kept under her strict control.

The friends, who have left the money for the support of the widow and her children, are very disappointed with the situation. They had hoped that the children would receive a proper education and become useful members of society, but they see that this is not going to happen.

The friends decide to take action. They meet with the widow, and explain to her the plan for improving the situation. They also present her with a letter from the college, which explains the benefits of a proper education.

The widow, however, is not convinced by this letter. She believes that the children are better off where they are, and that they should be kept under her strict control.

The friends, who have left the money for the support of the widow and her children, are very disappointed with the situation. They had hoped that the children would receive a proper education and become useful members of society, but they see that this is not going to happen.

The friends decide to take action. They meet with the widow, and explain to her the plan for improving the situation. They also present her with a letter from the college, which explains the benefits of a proper education.

The widow, however, is not convinced by this letter. She believes that the children are better off where they are, and that they should be kept under her strict control.

The friends, who have left the money for the support of the widow and her children, are very disappointed with the situation. They had hoped that the children would receive a proper education and become useful members of society, but they see that this is not going to happen.

The friends decide to take action. They meet with the widow, and explain to her the plan for improving the situation. They also present her with a letter from the college, which explains the benefits of a proper education.

The widow, however, is not convinced by this letter. She believes that the children are better off where they are, and that they should be kept under her strict control.

The friends, who have left the money for the support of the widow and her children, are very disappointed with the situation. They had hoped that the children would receive a proper education and become useful members of society, but they see that this is not going to happen.

The friends decide to take action. They meet with the widow, and explain to her the plan for improving the situation. They also present her with a letter from the college, which explains the benefits of a proper education.

The widow, however, is not convinced by this letter. She believes that the children are better off where they are, and that they should be kept under her strict control.
and confidence, church deavour, neglected to subscribe

The Great Steam Navigation of America is...
But soon, Touch not Nor child came and by the laze on its which sce
r
bowl ;
e s ha j
a ies have been to their articles of and rub it on the metal to be silvered ; con­ trate a soft paste ; dip a piece p n g cabbage

Gold. of 'lroy , has nearly the subre s h gl
e
e l
r s g b
s

g
s th e
h 3
a i m i
h
s

Dip a piece of paper with sulfuric acid in it, and rub it on the metal to be silvered ; con­
GREAT NATIONAL WORK!
PICTORIAL HISTORY OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION.

A BOOK FOR EVERY FAMILY!
TO THE PEOPLE OF AMERICA!

A beautifully illustrated volume of American history, containing a large and handsome series of views between FOUR AND FIVE HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS, with several hundred engravings and a historical summary of the American Revolution.

RETAIL PRICE $2.00 BOUND IN MUSLIN. GILT.

THE PICTORIAL HISTORY
THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION:
WITH AN ACCOUNT OF THE EARLY HISTORY OF THE COUNTRY.
THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES, AND A CHRONOLOGICAL INDEX.
ILLUSTRATED WITH SEVERAL HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS!

PLEASE TO READ THIS.

TO YOUNG MEN OUT OF EMPLOYMENT.

AGENTS WANTED FOR SEARS' PICTORIAL HISTORY OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION.

The Subscriber wishes to engage a number of YOUNG MEN of strictly moral and business habits. A capital of from $500 to $1000 is required; and a certain district of country will be secured to each Agent. Unavailable testimonials of character will be required. Address, ROBERT SEARS.

128 Nassau Street, New-York.

VALUABLE RECENT PUBLICATIONS

By Harper & Brothers, New-York.

A BOOK FOR EVERY FAMILY.
THE ENCYCLOPEDIA OF DOMESTIC ECONOMY.

BY MRS. J. B. SEARS, M.A., Etc.

THE PLAYING THEOLOGY.
PLATO AGAINST THE ATHENIANS.

BY Y. E. PIERCE, LL.D.

LATIN VERIFICATION.

BY J. T. L. G. PIERCE, LL.D.

HARNESS EDITORIAL NOTES.
MOTIVES, PARTICULARLY PRACTICAL,
IN THE EDUCATION OF CHILDREN.

BY FRANCES A. BURTON,

CAMPFIRE HISTORIES.
A HISTORICAL AND POETICAL
development of the early settlements at
BY GEORGE CAMPBELL, D.D., F.R.S.

SOCIOPHICAL CHARACTER.
A CHRONOLOGICAL INTRODUCTION TO THE HISTORY OF THE CONQUEREDeland,

BY J. F. SEARS, LL.D., &c.

NEW YORK.

ALSON ON TASTE.
ON THE NATURE AND PRINCIPLES OF TASTE.

BY ARCHIBALD ALISON, A.M.

NEW YORK.

ALSON'S EUROPE.
HISTORY OF EUROPE.

BY ARCHIBALD ALISON, A.M.

STEREOGRAPHY AND PRINTING.

The subscriber will prepare to furnish all kinds of engravings and engravings, and engravings, and engravings, and engravings.

JOHN WESTALL & CO.,

67 Peck Avenue, New York.

A. C. SDS. B. C.

GREAT NATIONAL WORK!
PICTORIAL HISTORY OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION.

A BOOK FOR EVERY FAMILY!
TO THE PEOPLE OF AMERICA!

A beautifully illustrated volume of American history, containing a large and handsome series of views between FOUR AND FIVE HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS, with several hundred engravings and a historical summary of the American Revolution.

RETAIL PRICE $2.00 BOUND IN MUSLIN. GILT.

THE PICTORIAL HISTORY
THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION:
WITH AN ACCOUNT OF THE EARLY HISTORY OF THE COUNTRY.
THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES, AND A CHRONOLOGICAL INDEX.
ILLUSTRATED WITH SEVERAL HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS!

PLEASE TO READ THIS.

TO YOUNG MEN OUT OF EMPLOYMENT.

AGENTS WANTED FOR SEARS' PICTORIAL HISTORY OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION.

The Subscriber wishes to engage a number of YOUNG MEN of strictly moral and business habits. A capital of from $500 to $1000 is required; and a certain district of country will be secured to each Agent. Unavailable testimonials of character will be required. Address, ROBERT SEARS.

128 Nassau Street, New-York.

VALUABLE RECENT PUBLICATIONS

By Harper & Brothers, New-York.

A BOOK FOR EVERY FAMILY.
THE ENCYCLOPEDIA OF DOMESTIC ECONOMY.

BY MRS. J. B. SEARS, M.A., Etc.

THE PLAYING THEOLOGY.
PLATO AGAINST THE ATHENIANS.

BY Y. E. PIERCE, LL.D.

LATIN VERIFICATION.

BY J. T. L. G. PIERCE, LL.D.

HARNESS EDITORIAL NOTES.
MOTIVES, PARTICULARLY PRACTICAL,
IN THE EDUCATION OF CHILDREN.

BY FRANCES A. BURTON,

CAMPFIRE HISTORIES.
A HISTORICAL AND POETICAL
development of the early settlements at
BY GEORGE CAMPBELL, D.D., F.R.S.

SOCIOPHICAL CHARACTER.
A CHRONOLOGICAL INTRODUCTION TO THE HISTORY OF THE CONQUEREDeland,

BY J. F. SEARS, LL.D., &c.

NEW YORK.

ALSON ON TASTE.
ON THE NATURE AND PRINCIPLES OF TASTE.

BY ARCHIBALD ALISON, A.M.

NEW YORK.

ALSON'S EUROPE.
HISTORY OF EUROPE.

BY ARCHIBALD ALISON, A.M.

STEREOGRAPHY AND PRINTING.

The subscriber will prepare to furnish all kinds of engravings and engravings, and engravings, and engravings, and engravings.

JOHN WESTALL & CO.,

67 Peck Avenue, New York.

A. C. SDS. B. C.