

BIG PACKER PARADE

FRIENDS OF GLENDALE CANDIDATE TO TAKE PART IN DEMONSTRATION

Starting from the Chamber of Commerce building in Glendale, at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, August 26, a large number of autos loaded with Packer enthusiasts will proceed to visit many points within the Fifth Supervisorial district. The parade will be under the direction of Clem Moore, whose past record has proved him an adept in conducting such affairs. All friends of Mr. Packer who have autos which they are willing to drive in this parade are requested to report to the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Packer is the logical candidate of the Glendale community and Saturday's parade will demonstrate that his neighbors and the people who know him best are earnest boosters for his nomination or election on the 29th. The parade will be preceded by the Glendale Municipal band. The autos will be appropriately decorated with banners and pennants and they who reside on the course of the parade will surely know that Mr. Packer is a live candidate for supervisor at next Tuesday's primary. Do not wait to have some one ask you to join this parade but feel that you have already received an invitation and be a booster from the word go for the Glendale candidate.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE

Miss Marjorie Singleton was the surprised guest of honor at a delightful birthday party given in her home on Saturday evening by the Misses Helen and Lulu Powell of Corona, who are guests of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Jenkins, 1427 West Third street. Miss Singleton was invited to spend the evening at the Jenkins home and when she arrived was very much surprised to find that she was not the only guest. A congenial company of young people were gathered there and a very happy evening followed. Decorations of yellow and white were carried out in the refreshments, the principal feature of which was a beautiful birthday cake with lighted candles. Miss Singleton received many pretty birthday gifts.

The guests were, Misses Ruth Spafford, Eva Gould, Helen Gould, Helen Bott, Tessa Bott, Marcella Orth, Anabelle McClellan, Lela Whitehead, Mildred Powell, Mildred Singleton, the guest of honor and the two hostesses; Messrs. Ellis Thomas, Harry Wilson, John L. Losh, Guy Pixley, Francis Hoopes, Dean Sherman, Clarence Klamm, Paul Terry, Warren Woods. Mrs. Jenkins was assisted during the evening by Mrs. Singleton.

AT LA FLORENCIA

The Daniel Campbell family, who are enjoying an outing at Balboa, write to friends that they have a large, comfortable house, La Florencia, at that beautiful seaside resort and are enjoying every minute of their stay there. Mr. Campbell, who spent two weeks at Balboa, has returned to his work at the First National Bank of Tropic. Motor trips to San Diego and other interesting points have been very enjoyable. Mrs. Campbell's sister, Miss McPeak of Los Angeles, and her cousin, Miss Baxter of Bartlesville, Okla., were their guests for a week, leaving the first of this week for San Francisco. Marian, Margaret and Harry McClusky were guests of the Campbells for a week and at present Miss Elizabeth Edmonds is the guest of Miss Kathleen Campbell at her seaside home.

LIBRARY STORY HOUR

Mrs. Danford, librarian of Glendale Public Library, will conduct the story hour at the Glendale Public Library, Wednesday morning, as usual. As these story hours are rapidly drawing to a close it is hoped that the children will continue to take advantage of them. Mrs. Danford has prepared an interesting address on vacations and their uses. This will be of much value to the children and should attract a large audience.

FEHRENSON-DOYLE

Miss Elizabeth Doyle, daughter of Mr. Thomas W. Doyle, of 891 Glendale avenue, this city, was united in marriage to Mr. Louis A. Fehrensens, also of this city, at the home of the bride's aunt in Santa Ana, Sunday, August 20, 1916, Rev. Wiley J. Phillips of Los Angeles officiating. They will be at home to their friends at 891 Glendale avenue after September first.

ED LEE'S BIRTHDAY

FIRST NATIONAL BANK EMPLOYEES SURPRISE THEIR CASHIER

Monday, August 21, was the birthday of Ed M. Lee, cashier of the First National Bank of Glendale and president of the Glendale Savings Bank. Mr. Lee is evidently as popular with the officers and employees of the two banks as he is with the patrons, judging from the honor bestowed upon him last night. Mr. Lee left the bank as usual yesterday doubtless thinking that he had seen the last of "the bunch" until the following day. Great was his surprise upon arriving at his home, 106 Cedar street, to find them all awaiting him. It was some time before Mr. Lee could adjust himself but he finally discovered what it was all about and assisted in the entertainment of the guests. A full course, chicken dinner was served, followed by a social evening in which music was a feature and various games were enjoyed. Those who brought felicitations to Mr. Lee on this occasion were Messrs. W. W. Lee, C. D. Lusby, W. S. Perrin, Farris C. Brown, H. E. Francy, R. C. Proctor, Wm. Bode, Misses Laura Maxwell and Mary Austin.

ED M. LEE

VALUELESS ADVERTISING

One of the worthless advertising schemes is being worked in Glendale today by a man who passes among the merchants soliciting advertisements from them at a high price considering the space, promising that these advertisements will be placed in the homes of Glendale people. He promises that five hundred copies are to be printed and the chances are that a half of that number will not be distributed. There is a daily paper which has upwards of a thousand copies going into the homes every day. The merchant who is wide awake to his interests patronizes the daily paper and passes up the card advertising that is to be given a place on the wall at the side of the match box. Of course, there are some people who are always ready to be entrapped by the cunning words of the stranger-solicitor.

FRANCELLA BILLINGTON AT CLUNE'S

Miss Francella Billington, the well-known motion picture star who resides with her mother at 1227 Chestnut street, is adding to her laurels at Clune's this week where "Bettina Loved a Soldier" is being shown. Miss Billington appears on the stage in person and is greeted by scores of admirers.

WISCONSIN STATE PICNIC

The Wisconsin State Association of Southern California will hold its All-Day Picnic and Reunion at Sycamore Grove, Saturday, Aug. 26. Races and contests of all kinds will make the day lively. Sycamore Grove is an ideal place in which to spend a day. It is plentifully shaded by its many fine old sycamore trees. Everything that can contribute to the amusement of the visitors is there. The red and yellow car lines pass the park at frequent intervals.

JUBILEE SINGERS TONIGHT

The Junior Baracas of the First Methodist church have been instrumental in bringing to Glendale some of the most famous singers of the West, Hall's Jubilee singers, who will appear at Butler's hall at 8 o'clock this evening. There is no music like the old southern melodies and campmeeting songs as sung by the colored people and these are singers of rare merit. The boys are hoping that their enterprise in bringing this attraction here will be rewarded by a full house tonight.

BULGARIANS ADVANCE 25 MILES IN GREECE

TEUTON ALLIES PUSH ON NORTHWESTERN AND NORTHEASTERN SECTION OF CONSTANTINE'S DOMINION

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

BERLIN, Aug. 22.—The Bulgarians are driving on in their invasion of Greece. They have already advanced 25 miles in northwestern Greece and have captured five towns. They have also advanced fifteen miles in northeastern Greece. The Teuton-Bulgar movement is declared to be a political move to impress the Greek electorate in the approaching election and to prevent voting in pro-Venizelist Macedonia. Constantine, the king, is reported to be afraid of assassination. He is constantly accompanied by guards.

RUSSIANS JOIN ALLIES IN SALONIKI

GREAT OFFENSIVE ON BORDER OF GREECE IS PROCEEDING RAPIDLY AGAINST TEUTONS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

ATHENS, Aug. 22.—Greece was surprised this morning by the landing of Russian troops at Saloniki, whence they are marching to join the Allies in their great offensive against the Teuton-Bulgar lines. Greece is posing as absolutely neutral in this movement; but it seems almost impossible that the Greeks can be kept out of the fighting. Greek artillery is reported to have fired on the Bulgarians at several points along the border.

BULGARIAN CLASH WITH GREEKS SERIOUS

FIGHTING ON THE BORDER MAY LEAD TO COMPLICATIONS WITH THE CENTRAL POWERS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, Aug. 22.—It is known that the Central Powers regard the constant clashes between the Greeks and the Bulgarians as a matter of considerable importance. A number of Greeks have been killed in these encounters. The Greek troops in the affected districts have been called to the colors. There was heavy fighting at Fapetra, where the garrison of the fort engaged a Bulgarian contingent and forced them to withdraw.

BRITISH SUBMARINE SINKS BATTLESHIP

TEUTON FIGHTING VESSEL OF THE NASSAU CLASS IS SENT TO THE BOTTOM OF THE SEA

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

TERRIFIC ARTILLERY FIRE INDICATES THAT THERE WILL BE A GENERAL ASSAULT SOON

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PARIS, Aug. 22.—After an extraordinarily severe artillery bombardment of the German lines the French advanced on both banks of the Somme. The artillery fire continues and under its protection the whole line appears on the eve of driving forward for further gains. The fighting was particularly severe. On the bodies of Germans killed in the engagement were found orders to resist to the death.

RAILWAY WALKOUT BELIEVED AVERTED

RAILROAD PRESIDENTS REFER PRESIDENT WILSON'S PROPOSALS TO BOARDS OF DIRECTORS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 22.—President Wilson's demand for an eight-hour day on the railroads is very unpalatable to the presidents of those roads. President Wilson told them that a smooth working arrangement on the railroads was necessary to the nation's plans for preparedness. He also hinted at troubles resulting from the European war. The railroad presidents have placed the president's proposals before the boards of directors of their various railroads.

FORMER MADERO CABINET MINISTER COMES OUT WITH STRONG PROTEST AGAINST PROVISIONAL PRESIDENT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

EL PASO, Aug. 22.—Manuel Conilla, at one time a cabinet minister under the Madero regime, gave out a statement to the public today, in which he stated that he considered Carranza Mexico's worst enemy. The feeling against Carranza is said to be growing. There is no definite news here regarding the latest report of Villa's death.

MILL CREEK CANYON

LESLIE MEYER TELLS OF BEST ROUTE TO BIG BEAR LAKE

Some time ago an article appeared in this paper from one of its subscribers in which a suggestion was made that anyone who made an interesting auto trip should let the News know about it so they might print an item about it. Messrs. Les. Meyer, A. Meyer, Frank Alberts and Don Barton made a trip to Big Bear Lake over the week-end and returned the Mill Creek Canyon Route, which is a new route just opened, and as they are probably the first Glendale people to have taken this trip, it is interesting and instructive to learn of the many beauties of this new road. In speaking of the trip Les. Meyer said:

"We left Glendale on Saturday morning about eight a. m., and had luncheon in San Bernardino; and then took the Crest Road to Big Bear Lake, arriving there about 3:30 Saturday afternoon. This, as anyone who has made the trip will know, is a very beautiful trip, and one to be remembered for many years. The scenery is really wonderful, and you can look for thousands of feet below you when you are on the "switchbacks"—that is, the passengers can do this, but the driver has little time to view the scenery, as all of his attention is required in making the turns and grades. However, so many people have made this trip that it is nothing new to them, and little need be said about it.

After a good night's sleep and a morning's trout fishing we had lunch and then made preparations to return by the newly opened Mill Creek Canyon Route. After leaving Big Bear Valley, there is a stiff climb to be encountered in which an altitude of nine thousand feet is reached, while the height at Big Bear is about 6500 feet. From the higher altitude one of the prettiest views in any trip I have ever taken can be had, and it is really wonderful to look down in the canyons and valleys thousands of feet below. From there on down it is all down grade work, in which some very stiff down grades are encountered, which can be realized when it is known that you make a drop of two thousand five hundred feet within three miles' driving.

The road itself is in fair shape, considering it is a new road, and very little real rough going is encountered on this route. For scenic effect the Mill Creek Canyon road is far superior to the Crest Route, and much prettier views can be seen. It gives a person rather a strange feeling to come down that road, as the road is extremely narrow in places, and if a turn is not made just the way it should be made, it looks an awful long way to the bottom of the canyon. From many parts of this road you can look straight over the road and it is five or six thousand feet to the bottom.

After you drive seventeen miles from Big Bear Lake on this route you will be stopped by a government official and held there till the odd hour, as seven miles of the road is under patrol, and cars are only allowed to go one way at a time. For instance, we arrived at this particular point at about four o'clock in the afternoon and were held there till five o'clock before we were allowed to go on; therefore it is well to figure to get on the odd hour coming down, or on the even hour on the way up, and by doing this much time will be saved. We did not know of this part of the road being under patrol, or we could have figured to get there on the odd hour and save the long wait. From this patrol station on there is about twenty miles of steady down grade into Redlands, with a few short turns, but no excessive grades, such as are encountered from Big Bear to this point. From Redlands in to San Bernardino it is about nine miles, making the total mileage from the top to San Bernardino forty-six miles, which is a short saving in mileage over the Crest Route, and considering the beautiful scenery it is well worth a person's time to make this trip, and anyone making the trip to Big Bear Lake by the Crest Route will enjoy the Mill Creek Canyon road on the return trip, as the scenery is far ahead of the Crest Route, and the road itself is in as good, if not better shape, than the Crest route, to say nothing of the small saving in mileage.

Anyone making this trip to Big Bear Lake should carry an extra can of gasoline along with them, as if a person has to buy any at the Lake they have to pay thirty-five cents per gallon for it. We carried a five-gallon can of gas along with us, and had our tank filled before we started up, and that was plenty to get us

BREEDING OF SQUABS

FINE EXHIBITION AT GLENDALE PIGEON LOFTS ATTRACTS MANY

Glendale Pigeon Lofts, S. Verdugo road, threw its doors open to the public, Saturday and Sunday, and gave everyone opportunity to view one of the largest pigeon businesses in Southern California. There was an immediate response to this offer and a large number of visitors were at the pigeon lofts each day, greatly interested in the birds and in the methods of caring for them and feeding them.

Glendale Pigeon Lofts has 9000 pigeons. It makes a specialty of squab raising and has a large market for its product. The species of pigeons kept is the Carneaux—red, yellow and splash. The visitors were shown over the lofts by Mr. W. E. Carter, the manager, who explained the methods of feeding, housing and marketing.

There is always a large demand for well-fed squabs. There is a market for them in every large city. Los Angeles absorbs quite a large quantity of the product of the local yards, and is likely to absorb a great deal more. Meantime they find a market in the East and by means of an arrangement with the Wells Fargo company, they send their squabs to Chicago, New York and Philadelphia. In those cities there is a steady market and a good price. The birds are shipped twice a week in refrigerator cars and are sold at remunerative rates.

To the visitors the manager explained that the Glendale Pigeon lofts made a specialty of keeping everything in the establishment in a scrupulously sanitary condition. He said that perfect sanitation was necessary to success in the squab business. This was the first requisite and the second was good and scientific feeding. Three men and two women are constantly at work in the lofts and yards.

Under proper management the business is profitable, but the margin between profit and loss on each bird is narrow and poor management is fatal. The visitors were deeply interested in the methods employed in the business. Many of them were well-known fanciers. Among those from Glendale were Ed Lee and W. W. Lee of the First National Bank of Glendale, Walter M. Ross of the Red Wing Pigeon ranch and others. C. E. Collins of Pasadena, Freeman Ford of Pasadena, Ernest Crosby of Pasadena, all pigeon fanciers of experience, were present. They all agreed that the Glendale Pigeon Lofts deserved to rank high in the list of such establishments, both from the number of birds handled and from the scrupulous care taken of every detail. They said that this seemed to be the last word in pigeon raising.

The manager explained that after many experiments they had arrived at a first-class balanced ration, in which seven kinds of grain were combined—Indian maize, Milo maize, kaffir corn, Canadian peas, Russian vetch, hemp seed and sunflower seed. From this ration, he said, the best results had been obtained.

Conveniently situated on S. Verdugo road, the ranch is large, and in close enough proximity to Los Angeles and Glendale to make it a matter of convenience to obtain all that is necessary for the business, while it is an easy matter to ship from this center to the new markets in the East.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair tonight and Wednesday; cloudy along the coast; westerly winds.

to Big Bear and back to Glendale. We did not use any water at all on the round trip, and there was just as much in our radiator when we returned as when we left.

We left Glendale on Saturday morning about eight o'clock, and arrived at Big Bear about three-thirty, which taking out the time we spent at San Bernardino for lunch made about six hours' driving time. On the return trip we left about one o'clock and got into Glendale about nine o'clock Sunday night,—but we were held up at the patrol station for an hour or so and had supper in San Bernardino, and next an hour or so there. The next time we go we will figure to get to the patrol station at the time when we can go through without waiting.

The trip itself is one of the finest, I know of around this country, and far surpasses anything I have ever taken, even the Mt. Wilson trip. For a good week-end's outing I would certainly recommend the Big Bear Lake trip, and return by the Mill Creek Canyon Road.

TRIBUTE TO AMERICAN INVENTOR

Back in the year 1861 John Ericsson, an American inventor, conceived the idea of clothing a vessel of light draught in steel and setting on it a revolving turret and sending it to fight in shallow waters. The invention proved a wonderful success in the Civil war and Ericsson was recognized as a man who had helped to save the Nation with his "Monitors."

From that point ironclad development of naval vessels went forward by leaps and bounds and it seemed as though the old Monitor type had been entirely forgotten. It is true that some of them were sent out to the Philippines to patrol the shallow rivers of those islands; but their day of active service seemed to be over.

Recently, however, the British have been employing monitors in the war in Europe. These strongly armored vessels with decks almost awash and shallow draft are doing excellent work along the shallow water on the coast of Belgium and have also done good service at Gallipoli.

These excellent vessels are as good for offense as for defense. They range up to a low coast and get within range of moving bodies of troops. They have been employed and are being employed on the Suez canal and at the recent battle of Katia were instrumental in driving back the Turkish advance. They have figured largely on the coast of Belgium where they enfiladed the German flank in the first Teutonic attempt to advance on Calais and effectually screened off that section of the coast from invasion.

There is a whole fleet of those useful boats on the Euphrates where they have kept pace with the advance of the British troops and have preserved them from attacks that were frequently launched against them. It is gratifying to those who know the struggles Ericsson had to obtain recognition to know that his idea is still alive and that the navies that were inclined to scoff at this American invention some time ago are now glad to be able to adopt the principle of the flat-bottomed boat with its almost impenetrable armor. It is said that two or three thicknesses of the outlying hull may be penetrated by torpedoes and that the monitor can still keep on working her guns. Ericsson is still a hero.

VALUE OF PERSISTENCE

Nothing more certainly assures success in life than steady persistence in the pursuit of one's calling. Many an individual with talents enough to furnish out half-a-dozen individuals has made shipwreck of life by not sticking to one calling long enough to get the profit that was his due. It is the constant getting of the track that ultimately leads to that wreck of fortune that is so often seen in this world in the case of men who were capable of doing work of the highest class.

The world is full of sharp competition and it is difficult to obtain pre-eminence in more than one direction. The more versatile a man or a woman is the less is the chance that their efforts will produce success. In the case of men and women who have means on which to live this is naturally not so detrimental but even then their very versatility leads them to fritter away their opportunities.

Dryden, drawing with caustic pen a picture of one of the cleverest men who ever lived, the Duke of Buckingham, said that he was:

"Stiff in opinions; always in the wrong;
Was everything by starts and nothing long;
But in the course of one revolving moon,
Was chemist, fiddler, statesman and buffoon,
Then all for fiddling, rhyming, drinking,
Besides a thousand freaks that died in thinking."

That is a true picture of one who had the world at his feet and yet forgot his opportunities.

There is great value in persistence. Even a man of very ordinary talents and acquirements can make a success of life by sticking steadily to one thing. Of course one should have a natural taste for the line of life he may choose and an education in the right direction. With persistence these are of the highest value; without persistence they are nothing and accomplish nothing. There is nothing beyond the bounds of possibility in the way of doing and accomplishment if one has will power strong enough to continue working through discouragements and seeming failure.

PACIFIC SHIPPING LEADERSHIP

Japan is making a bold and successful bid for the leadership in the shipping of the Pacific. The farseeing statesmen of that country have come to the conclusion that the nation that owns the merchant marine of the Pacific Ocean will be the inevitable leader in the Far East and will be able with the help of the millions of China to bid the people of the West take their proper place in the affairs of the oriental world. The Japanese shipping industry is growing steadily and stretching out its branches over the sea.

That is a mighty power. It might be styled a mighty trust were the nations of the East and of the West on better terms with each other. As it is it will soon become a monopoly for the Japanese shipping companies are rapidly becoming prosperous. More than that they are also rapidly becoming confident of their own power to do things. They feel that they are just as good business men as any accidental who ever lived.

There was a meeting the other day of the Japan Steamship company at which it was reported that receipts during the first three months of the year had amounted to $1,640,564. This gave promise that by the close of the half-year the figures would be brought to $3,289,602, an increase of $1,013,949 over the half-yearly term ended December 31, 1915. In the net profit, it was pointed out there will be a gain of considerably more than $398,800, an approximate figure worked out on the basis of the present freight rates.

LOSTUTTER, THE MAN AND EMPLOYER

(From Pomona Progress)

A personal tribute by a former employee.

Iroquois, S. D., Aug. 14, 1916. L. L. Lostutter, now of Pomona, was a pioneer in Dakota. He established at Iroquois, the Farmers and Merchants bank, and was its owner, manager and president. Under his personal guidance and direction the bank became the leading financial institution in this part of Dakota, and one of the most successful in the state. Mr. Lostutter was also interested in a large way in live stock and in real estate.

But more remarkable and of more public interest than his individual success in a business way was the large part that he had in the up-building and development of South Dakota. He was equipped for this great task by unusual mental capacity, an indomitable spirit and marvelous physical energy. Combined with these qualities was a prophetic vision, a pleasing personality and a broad human sympathy. He was a friend to everybody. Moreover he was practical.

Dakota needed just such a leader to break away from the primitive idea of producing a single crop. Live stock, dairying, poultry raising and diversified farming must supercede wheat raising if South Dakota was to be prosperous and measure up to her opportunity.

At Iroquois, Mr. Lostutter backing up the project with his time, means and energy, the first creamery using the separator process in South Dakota was established and was a pronounced success. Now there were not cows enough to keep the creamery running and so Mr. Lostutter shipped in milk cows by the car loads and sold them at reasonable prices to the settlers. Impoverished by continuous wheat raising, in many cases they had absolutely nothing to pay down in cash. But Mr. Lostutter furnished them with the cows anyhow and under his original plan a portion of the proceeds was turned in each month to apply on the purchase price until the cows were paid for.

Likewise, Mr. Lostutter shipped in breeding ewes and ewe lambs in double-decked cars by train loads and distributed them widely throughout the state. Frequently they were sold on long time and easy payments until a portion of the receipts from the wool and increase paid for the entire purchase.

Mr. Lostutter also obtained and distributed registered sires of improved breeds of cattle, horses and sheep thus raising the quality and value of the live stock over a wide area.

It would be impossible to measure the benefit of these operations conducted on a large scale and covering an immense territory for a series of years.

It is speaking within bounds to say that Mr. Lostutter did more toward developing the resources of South Dakota and putting hundreds of honest and worthy settlers on their feet than any other single individual.

It was my high privilege to be in Mr. Lostutter's employ for thirteen years as cashier of his bank. During that time we were very closely associated, and afterwards in company with Mr. A. Fry, who was also in Mr. Lostutter's employ, we purchased the bank.

Success seems to be contagious. Anyhow, Mr. Lostutter always got along fine with those who were in his employ. And somehow everyone associated with him seemed to prosper.

There is an old aphorism that actions speak louder than words. After all is it not what a man is and does that counts? Judged by this standard L. L. Lostutter is the most eloquent man it has been my privilege to know.

—JOHN BALDRIDGE, Adv.

TO THE LETTER

The class was seated ready for recitation, when a young student rushed in and dropped a great pile of books on the floor. The nervous professor jumped and then said angrily:

"Young man, go down to the president's office and drop those books just like that!"

The youth departed, returning in a few moments and calmly taking his seat in class.

"Did you do as I told you to?" demanded the irate professor.

"Yes, sir."

"What did the president say?"

"Nothing," coolly returned the student. "He wasn't there."

It is stated by the Japanese that if the war in Europe should come to an end this year, freight rates will still remain high and for at least two-and-a-half years more the present standard of earnings will be maintained.

Japan long had a covetous eye on the island of Hawaii and at one time the old king of those islands went to Japan and offered to place his kingdom under rule of the mikado. The monarch, however, did not see it in that light. He probably did not understand how much Hawaii might mean to Japan. When the United States obtained possession of the islands, however, the Japanese woke up, and by dint of constant immigration they filled the islands with a population of Japanese, most of them old soldiers, who outnumber all the other races put together. When the time comes it would not be difficult for Japan to take Hawaii, and their more frank writers boast that they could take the Philippine islands also within twenty-four hours of a declaration of war.

FOLLOWING INSTRUCTIONS

Pat Murphy, a contractor, became rich and prosperous, and bought an expensive automobile. So Mrs. Murphy invited Mrs. O'Hara for a ride in it.

"Whatever you do, Mrs. O'Hara, don't talk to the shoffer; not a single whisper to him, for it'll take his mind off what he's doing."

They started out at a rapid clip. The chauffeur zipped around one corner and then around another; at times the car would be on two wheels. Finally Mrs. O'Hara touched the chauffeur on the back and said apologetically:

"Mr. Shoffer, I beg your pardon, I was told not to speak to you at all, but Mrs. Murphy ain't been in the car for the last ten minutes."

THE BRICKLAYER AGAIN

A bricklayer lay ill, and the doctor having done what he could, told the man's wife to take his temperature in the morning. Calling the next day the doctor asked if his instructions had been followed.

"Well, we didn't have a 'tremometer' in the house," the good woman replied, "but I put a barometer on his chest and it went up to very dry. So I gave him a bottle of beer and he's gone to work."—Chicago Herald.

MUD HOUSES

The possibility of using mud as a building material and so solving the problem of providing cheap country homes in farming communities, and housing accommodations in those areas of factory cities where there are sudden influxes of population, is being made the subject of an interesting experiment by the new household and social science department of King's College for Women, at the University of London.

Six mysterious-looking walls have been erected in the university grounds, each wall being composed of a different mixture of mud, with a view to testing and finding which kind proves the most suitable in the English climate.

In each case the earth has been subjected to a different process of preparation. In one case soft soap has been added, and in another to the earth and soft soap lime has been added. A covering of cement has been poured over the mud in one section of the wall, while another is made of earth alone.

ON A GUINEA-PIG FARM

A citizen of Moorestown, New Jersey, owns the largest guinea-pig farm in the world. He raises more of them than any other grower in the United States, and makes money where others have often failed. It has been said that almost any one can be a farmer, but to be a successful farmer is something different, and most difficult of all is to be a successful guinea-pig farmer.

Alfalfa or hay is the staple food of the animals and they are especially fond of nearly all kinds of vegetables. In fact, unless due care is exercised, the pigs will do themselves injury by eating too much. When once their habits are thoroughly understood and watchful care is exercised over their food supply, the raising of guinea-pigs becomes mainly a matter of warm sanitary quarters.

WICKLIFFE MATTHEWS

SOLID, ACTIVE BUSINESS MAN FOR ASSEMBLY, SIXTY-FIRST DISTRICT

Wickliffe Matthews is well known in this city, being for ten years the president of the firm of Mathews & Matthews, Inc. With his son, Stanley Matthews, he organized this company and opened offices in the Douglas building in 1905, and in 1915 moved to their present offices in the Washington building. Mr. Matthews for the past eight years has financed the building of apartment houses, stores and business buildings, moving picture shows, garages, bungalow courts and bungalows.

WICKLIFFE MATTHEWS

more than two thousand in number, in and around Los Angeles, in this way not only giving employment to thousands of people, but greatly increasing the immigration from eastern cities to this city.

Mr. Matthews is 60 years of age. He is a native of Ohio and has been in our state for thirty-four years. He is a strong, clean, moral man, with high ideals for the future of our government. He is well educated, having taught in the public schools of Ohio for seven years. He studied law in odd times while teaching school, and was admitted to the bar in 1879. In his experience as an attorney in the city of San Francisco, covering a period of more than twenty-five years, Mr. Matthews made a thorough study of the laws of the State, those effectual and those ineffectual, and has found that the latter surpass the former by a vast majority. He was persuaded by prominent Republicans to become a candidate for the nomination of assemblyman in the Sixty-first district in order that he may have a voice in the making of the laws by which we are compelled to abide. Fewer and better laws and based on this point is lower taxation.

Due to his kindly consideration for all people, no matter of what color or race, Mr. Matthews is very popular in his business life. His election will mean another point, and a noticeable one, in favor of California dry, and so all who favor equality, temperance and clean government will do well to vote for Mr. Matthews at the primary election on August 29.

Mr. Matthews' candidacy has been endorsed by the Sixty-first Assembly District Republican Club, the Clean Government League of California and the California branch of the International White Cross Society.

The Wickliffe Matthews campaign committee headquarters are located at 510-11 San Fernando building, with Dr. George Hargrave MacNeill in charge.—Adv.

PLYMOUTH'S 300th ANNIVERSARY

Historic Plymouth, Massachusetts, is planning to have a grand celebration in 1920, to commemorate the 300th anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrims. As it is now being arranged tentatively, the celebration will be in the nature of a National Exposition made to show the progress of the country since the Mayflower cast anchor in Plymouth and Cape Cod Bays. Progress in science, agriculture, the arts, and transportation will be portrayed.

Aside from its historic interest, Plymouth as a port ranks in foreign importance next to Boston, in Massachusetts. More than one-fourth of all the cranberries raised in United States are grown in the vicinity of Plymouth. The city's total annual production in manufacturing lines amounts to about $15,000,000.

Some persons assert that the Pilgrims first landed at Provincetown and therefore believe that any observance of the event should be held there. The Pilgrim Memorial Monument, a granite shaft 252 feet high, was built to commemorate the arrival of the Pilgrims there. It seems certain that the historic ship lingered for some time in Provincetown harbor before striking out across the Bay and discovering Plymouth.

PAPER APPLIANCES

Advocating the increased use of paper appliances and utensils in the household, a food specialist states that there are now about thirty household articles made from vegetable parchment paper, among them ice blankets, dish cloths and bed protectors. The housekeepers who have learned to use these articles, it is said, agree that they could not possibly do their work comfortably without them.

GLENDALE FOOTHILLS

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Ballinger of North Glendale motored to San Diego, starting Friday afternoon and returning Monday evening. While in San Diego they visited the Colorado and New Orleans, American battleships, then lying in San Diego harbor. They also visited Imperial beach and saw 1700 militia in camp and at drill.

E. L. Ballinger has made arrangements with the managers of The Fair, the new department store that has been established in Los Angeles in the old J. W. Robinson store, to have the song and music published by his firm in Los Angeles, sold at the music counter there. Mr. Ballinger is putting out a new march song, entitled, "Somewhere in France." It will be on the market soon. He has also a number of other songs ready for publication.

WORK OF FISH COMMISSION

One of the most useful departments of the scientific work of the United States Government is the artificial propaganda of fish by the United States Fish Commission. It has discovered ways of raising all the more important native species in captivity where they may be protected from their natural enemies.

The commercial fish supply of many American cities is dependent upon the annual restocking from the Government hatcheries; angling waters that furnish sport for thousands are supplied with fish in the same way, and new and desirable species are introduced wherever the conditions are favorable. For example, the black bass, which is the favorite game fish of the Potomac and a staple in the markets of the city of Washington, was first planted there by the Fish Commission.

The Commission has now undertaken a new departure in the encouragement of private fish ponds. If you have land which you wish to convert into a pond, the Commission will furnish you with the variety best suited to your locality. If you have a cold, clear stream you may be able to raise brook trout.

At its hatchery on the Au Sable River the Government produces millions of trout annually and sends them to all parts of the country where there are suitable conditions.

If you can not have in your vocation what you want, if you have honestly tried to like it, if you have put all the interest possible into it and tried to get all out of it that you could, and still find you dislike the work, then make of this preparation and the planning for what you would like to be your avocation.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. Gorman and family wish to express their sincere thanks and appreciation to all their friends and neighbors who so graciously extended their sympathy and love in their recent bereavement.

SUNPOWER PLANT

Coal is scarce and expensive in tropical countries; at the same time results from agriculture depend mainly upon irrigation, which means steam if any adequate system is to be undertaken. Scientists have realized for many years that the mechanical power to any desired amount can be obtained from the rays of the sun, but no practical system was devised until Frank Shuman, an inventor and scientist of Philadelphia, took the matter in hand.

As a result, there is now in operation at Cairo, Egypt, a plant capable of pumping 6,000 gallons of water a minute. He obtains the power entirely from the sun's rays, concentrating them upon boilers in which steam is produced.

The commercial profit of sun power in the tropics seems to have been rendered practical and profitable, and the indications are that after the world's stores of oil and coal are exhausted the human race will be able to gain a practically unlimited supply of power from the rays of the sun.

SUMMER BOY FARMERS

In Pennsylvania a new plan for attracting schoolboys to farm life has been in operation this summer. The Bureau of Compulsory Education has undertaken to get schoolboys into the country. Inquiries were made among the farmers as to whether they desired the services of boys between the ages of thirteen and sixteen who were willing to attend to weeding, digging of potatoes and the gathering of hay in return for their board, during the summer vacation.

Summer homes were found for nearly 100 boys in this manner, and nearly all of them have done well. Some of the farmers have expressed the desire to have the same boys next year, paying them $2.00 and $2.50 a week. Over 250 boys have applied for places, and without doubt positions will be found for all of them.

The authorities believe that the plan will open a new vocation for city boys by showing them what life in the country is like. Many of the lads have manifested a high degree of interest and have expressed their intention of taking up the serious study of agriculture. The Pennsylvania Granges are aiding in the movement by furnishing the necessary data to show that the farmers to whom the boys go are of good character.

To persist in a wrong, to refuse to undo it, is always to become involved in other wrongs.—Henry George.

"PROGRESS WITH ECONOMY"
Stephen C. Packer
 Candidate for Supervisor of the Fifth District.

Stephen C. Packer of Glendale, who is a candidate for Supervisor for the Fifth District, was born in Bloomington, Illinois, in 1866, and moved to Menominee county, Michigan, in 1887. At the age of 18 Mr. Packer entered the employ of the Chicago Northwestern Railway company and upon leaving that company about three years later entered the employ of the Ramsey & Jones Lumber company, with whom he remained until appointed city treasurer, to fill an unexpired term, of Menominee City. At the expiration of Mr. Packer's appointive term he was elected to fill the same office for an additional period and gave a personal bond in the sum of $170,000 for the faithful performance of the duties of that office. His splendid record as city treasurer resulted in his election as Sheriff of Menominee county for a term of two years. Mr. Packer's many Michigan friends, some of whom reside at present in the city of Los Angeles, are unanimous in their statement that he made one of the best officers that Menominee county ever had and that his official record was above criticism. After retiring from the sheriff's office he successfully engaged in the logging and lumber business in Michigan. Later Mr. Packer was convinced that there were greater opportunities in the same line in the State of Washington, to which place he moved, residing in Aberdeen, engaging in his old business. Seven years ago, having an opportunity to dispose of his logging business at an advantageous figure, he then, with his family, moved to Los Angeles and later to Glendale to make his permanent home. Mr. Packer, during his residence in Glendale, has taken an active part in its development, progress and prosperity, as evidenced by his property holdings in this city. It is conceded by Mr. Packer's hosts of friends that he is a broad-minded and substantial citizen, clean in his habits, fearless, honorable and manly in his dealings, a good husband and father and is, therefore, an ideal candidate for the office of Supervisor, to which he aspires.

PLATFORM OF STEPHEN C. PACKER

To the Voters of the Fifth Supervisorial District:

In asking the support of the voters of the Fifth Supervisorial District, and for the benefit of those who may not know the principles for which I stand, I publish the following:

I believe in, and, if elected, shall work for a greater Los Angeles County, not confining my efforts solely to the Fifth or any other district. I shall always support good government, and this means enforcement of the laws as passed.

I believe in and will work for the extension of the good roads movement. I will use my best endeavors towards their extension as rapidly as county funds are available without adding to the present taxation burden. I believe in planting shade trees along the county highways, as the cost for maintenance is not heavy.

I believe in the conservation of the county property and the protection of the public health; the elimination of all useless expenditures, am opposed to the use of public funds for private entertainment.

I am in favor of a practical method of controlling flood waters that heretofore have caused so great expense both to the county and to individuals, and will give my best efforts to the most effective method of accomplishing this improvement.

Believing that an abundant water supply for this great county is of paramount importance, I am heartily in favor of constructing roads, trails, and firebreaks where necessary to conserve our water sheds and protect the timber growing or hereafter planted thereon.

I am opposed to forming districts for improvements involving special assessments without thorough notice being given to those interested.

Lack of sufficient work to keep all employed at fair wages is the cause of much poverty. The experience of the largest employers of labor has been that a man can do as much in eight hours as he can in nine or ten hours, and, at the same time, be more healthy, contented, happy and a better citizen. It should be the aim of the county to keep as many of its citizens as possible at work at fair wages. I therefore announce myself emphatically as favoring an eight hour day and good wages on all county work, but a dollar's worth of work should be insisted upon for every dollar paid.

Recognizing the importance of the County Horticultural department and County Farm and Hospital, I am in favor of extending all financial aid necessary to bring about the utmost good and efficiency.

It is not within the province or jurisdiction of the board of supervisors to pass legislation making any district dry, but I stand unequivocally, both as a citizen and as supervisor, if elected, in favor of a strict enforcement of any law affecting the welfare and morals of the people of Los Angeles County.

Without going into the intricate details of the system of taxation I shall briefly place myself on record by stating that I am most emphatically in favor of lower taxes in Los Angeles County, and if elected to the office of supervisor, I promise to vote for and use all honorable means at my command to bring about this result. I am fully aware of the responsibility of a supervisor relative to the economic administration of the county government, and pledge myself to conduct the affairs of the county as I would conduct my own.

I am in favor of a system of assessing and collecting all county and municipal taxes by the County, eliminating the confusion and expense caused by the duplicate system, and thereby lower the taxes. This method will in no way interfere with the respective municipalities, other than the discontinuance of the separate assessment made by them.

I am in favor of a conservative subdivision of the election precincts in Los Angeles County, having in mind the convenience of the voter and the cost to the taxpayer.

As merit and ability to carry on the work of the county in a businesslike manner should be the most important points to be considered in electing a supervisor, so also should ability and merit be considered in choosing county employees. I believe this can best be attained by civil service, competitive examination, properly conducted by an unbiased board of examiners. The county's business is like that of a great corporation and should be administered with as much care and economy. Great corporations choose their employees because of their merit and fitness. The county, to be economical and businesslike, should do the same. I therefore declare myself for civil service and the merit system. In my opinion all employees should be classified, a standard of efficiency adopted, and employees whose records give them a rating equal to the standard, should be considered eligible for promotion without promotional or competitive examination, the oldest eligible in point of service being given the preference, all other things being equal.

We, the undersigned, well knowing Mr. Packer's many qualifications, hereby endorse his candidacy for Supervisor, and urge you to vote for him at the primaries Aug. 29th, thus assuring his election on that day.

THRIFT

You cannot spend what you do not have. Money in the pocket burns. It is easy to say "no" to some alluring window or appealing advertisement when you have no money with you; but when the purse is full, how hard to turn away! You can't go if you haven't the price of a ticket; but how much better to stay at home when you have the price of a ticket with you! To carry money around and be able to say "no" to the many opportunities that appeal to you to spend is to develop character, resisting power and strength. It means that you know yourself and can conquer yourself. But until you are strong enough to say "no" and stick to it, you had better let the bank do the resisting for you, for this is what banks are for. You can't spend money while it is in a bank—where money grows.

Laying aside a few dollars each week does not necessarily make a thrifty person. Thrift means much more than merely saving money. It means personal efficiency, it means foresight, it means prudence, sane and legitimate self-confidence, it means all that makes for character.

It is as much removed from miserliness on the one hand as it is from extravagance on the other. As we build the ideals of thrift, we build character.

OUT OF DATE

The date of the "Jack-of-all-trades" in the industries of the country is past.

He was to be found in all kinds of production and was especially prominent among the building class; but, thanks to the increase in demand and the revolution in the methods of production, it can be safely said that there are few successful followers of this type of workman remaining.

In past times the man who constructed a building usually reared it from basement to roof by his own labor. As time was not considered a very important factor in the erection of a building, the "Jack-of-all-trades" found he was kept quite busy. But with the event of a large demand for houses and speed in construction, this sort of workman realized that it would be impossible for him to follow his old methods.

The increase in demand brought a corresponding increase in production which in turn resulted in a greater division of labor. Workmen began to see the necessity of becoming very efficient along some one line of work and hence, the "Jack-of-all-trades" dropped out, the skilled craftsmen filling their places.

For the large builder this change has resulted in better work, a saving of time, a reduction in cost of construction and for the individual laborer, improved working conditions and an increase in the returns from his efforts.

A FAIR SWAP

Newell Dwight Hillis, the famous New York preacher and author, some years ago took charge of the First Presbyterian Church of Evanston, Ill. Shortly after going there he required the service of a physician, and on the advice of one of his parishioners called in a doctor noted for his ability properly to emphasize a good story, but who attended church very rarely. He proved very satisfactory to the young preacher, but for some reason could not be induced to render a bill. Finally Dr. Hillis becoming alarmed at the inroads the bill might make in his modest stipend, went to the physician and said: "See here, Doctor, I must know how much I owe you."

After some urging, the physician replied: "Well, I'll tell you what I'll do with you, Hillis. They say you're a pretty good preacher, and you seem to think I am a fair doctor, so I'll make this bargain with you. I'll do all I can to keep you out of heaven if you do all you can to keep me out of hell, and it won't cost either of us a cent. Is it a go?" It was—and, so far, both have been successful.

MEDICINE IN FOOD

The garden is a great medicine chest. Be your own doctor and look to your own slight ailments.

If you are wakeful, eat lettuce. For affections of the skin and for yellow skin, eat onions. Onions are also good for colds, coughs, scrofula.

For a torpid liver eat freely of asparagus.

If the bowels are diseased try blackberries.

For malaria and general breakdown eat cranberries.

If nervous and irritable eat plenty of celery.

For constipation eat fruits—ripe and healthy fruits. Fresh fruits are good; so are figs and dates. Raisins are beneficial.

When the body is in good condition, keep it in good condition by denying the appetite what has once injured the body.—Nautilus.

SOLVING PROBLEMS OF POOR

A group of students in the University of Southern California, who are interested in the study of civic and sociological problems, have recently organized a society for the purpose of bringing a close relation between the university itself and all other forces engaged in working for the betterment of conditions in Los Angeles. Among the purposes of the society, which is called the Southern California Sociological Society, are the increase and diffusion of sociological knowledge through research, discussion and publication.

Twelve meetings will be held each year, at which local problems connected with charities, housing, education and similar topics will be discussed. Famous social workers from all parts of the United States who come to Los Angeles will be invited to attend these meetings while they are in Southern California, and to speak. Each year four booklets will be published, written by members of the society or other persons interested in the same line of work.

Membership in the society is not confined to university students who have chosen sociology as their chief study, but is open to all interested persons. The officers for the present year are Clifford Burr, president; Emery E. Olson, vice-president; Isabelle L. Long, recording secretary; Ralph F. Burnight, corresponding secretary, and Homer K. Watson, treasurer.

PROVING MAW WRONG

Freddy, with a determined look on his small countenance, marched into the front room and up to the ardent suitor of his pretty sister.

"What's them?" he demanded, thrusting out a grimy hand full of small white objects.

"What are those?" said the young man with an ingratiating smile. "Those are beans."

"He does know 'em, maw," bawled Freddy triumphantly into the adjoining room. "You said he didn't."

AT THE CIRCUS

A young man in a country town took his sweetheart to the circus. Presently she saw a clown whirling a hat on a stick. "I used to do that," the girl remarked confidentially. But the young man had been watching a contortionist who was tying his legs around his neck. And the girl wondered the rest of the day what made the young man act so cold and distant-like.

A CONDUCTOR BROUGHT UP WRONG

"Wait a moment, lady; wait until the car stops."

"Will you please not address me as 'lady,' sir," she said sharply.

"I beg your pardon, madam," said the conductor. "The best of us are liable to make mistakes."

"Mr. Johnson," asked the professor in the freshman class, "what three words are used most among the college students?"

"I don't know," said the student. "Correct," replied the professor.

PRACTICAL ADVICE

He was a young lawyer, and the judge thought he would give him a chance. So he instructed:

"Mr. Smith, suppose you take the prisoner into my private room, have a talk with him, hear his story and then, as man to man, give him the best advice that you can. Then come back and report to the court."

The young lawyer disappeared and in half an hour he returned to the courtroom, but minus his client, the prisoner.

"Go ahead, Mr. Smith tell the court the result of your talk," instructed the judge.

"Well, your honor, I heard his story," answered the young lawyer, "and I saw at once that he had no chance at all. If ever a man is guilty, that man is. He acknowledges every point."

"Well, bring in the prisoner," said the judge.

"Bring in the prisoner," echoed the young lawyer in surprise. "Why I can't your honor. I did as you instructed. I gave him the best advice I knew."

"Well, what was it?" asked the judge.

"Why," said the young lawyer, "I saw he had not a ghost of a chance and I told him if I were in his place I'd get out of your window, slide down the water pipe and beat it. And he did it!"

SUMMER SCHOOLS AND MUNICIPAL CAMPS

Increasing use of the national forests for municipal camp sites and summer school locations is reported by the Forest Service. Permits have already been issued to several cities and educational institutions and other applications are expected. Officials say that far more people use the forests for public playgrounds than for any other purpose, and that this use promises to be one of the most important to which they can be put.

The city of Fresno, Cal., has been granted a permit for the use of a fifteen-acre camp on the shores of Huntington Lake, in the Sierra National Forest. It is reported that the city will establish a camp in which outings during the summer months will be provided at low cost for 11,000 school children and their parents.

In the same forest a California State normal school is now occupying a tract of land which is rented from the government under a long-term lease. A number of buildings have been erected, all of which, as well as many cottages and camps, are supplied with water from a water system installed by the forest service. In connection with the regular six-weeks' summer course, this school gives a course in woodcraft and general forestry subjects. The students visit the nearby forest service ranger stations and lookout towers, and study the government's methods of fire protection. Addresses on the work of the forest service are given by officials from time to time. The George State Forest School has a camp on private lands on the Georgia National Forest, where a summer course is given. A feature of this course is a series of talks given by members of the forest service stationed in the vicinity.

Los Angeles was the first city in California to establish a vacation camp in the national forests. A tract of land in the Angeles Forest has been rented, and a large camp built, costing about $8000. This camp consists of a log and stone lodge, forty-six furnished cottages, tennis and croquet courts, baseball grounds and handball courts. A ten-day trip can be made for a small cost which is within the reach of practically everyone. By this means thousands of residents of the city have been able to spend their vacations in the mountains.

It is also reported that a San Francisco association is considering the establishment of a summer home for girls at Lake Tahoe on the Tahoe National Forest. Boy Scout troops regularly camp in several of the forests, and on one forest the Y.M.C.A. of a nearby city has leased a lot and put up a permanent camp.

Officials say that the national forests offer unlimited opportunities for summer school and municipal camps, as well as the best opportunities for recreation to be had anywhere in the country. Ample provision is

OF COURSE THAT WAS IT

The old farmer and his son who had just returned from college, were looking at the chickens, when the father saw one of the hens eating a tack.

"What on earth's that air old hen eatin' tacks fur?" he asked in amazement.

"That's easy," answered the son; "she's going to lay a carpet."

INTERESTING PART MISSING

"Lot was warned," said the Isle of Pines Sunday-school teacher, pointing to the picture, "to take his wife and daughters and flee out of Sodom. See, here are Lot, his wife, daughters and there behind them Sodom. Has any little boy a question to ask?"

"Pleath, sir?" came a timid voice, "where ith the flea?"
