Another Drive

The Red Cross will "carry on." Seeing the need, there can be no doubt of that.

It will be necessary to raise funds for the work. Washington headquarters have decided that there must be another drive in November. Meanwhile plans are being perfected for extending Red Cross activities in the direction of home service, while still meeting the needs left over from the war.

A series of conferences have just closed, that were held in San Francisco, Los Angeles, Tucson, Phoenix and Reno, to put the peace program of the American Red Cross before the workers. Fifteen hundred enthusiastic delegates carried back to individual chapters a fresh impetus to the widest possible service.

The Road IS Good to REDWOOD INN

Mill Creek, 18 miles down the Coast, south of Carmel. FISHING, HORSES, MEALS, COTTAGES, AUTOMOBILE SERVICE, 'N EVERYTHING

Strawberry Festival

This afternoon, from 3 to 5, the Women's Auxiliary of the Carmel Church will hold a Strawberry Festival on the church lawn, weather permitting; otherwise, in the church.

As this is the initial endeavor of the Auxiliary to raise funds toward the expenses of the church, it is hoped many will attend and lend their aid, while enjoying a social hour with their friends.

Pine Needles

State Controller J. S. Chambers and wife, who have been guests of Mrs. E. K. de Sabla and Miss Phyllis Korb, have returned to Sacramento. During their visit they motored to several neighboring cities.

The Carmel Dairy Depot, which was sold about a month ago, has again come into the proprietorship of P. W. McDonald, and customers will be given the old satisfactory service.

Milner Cannon is here from Palo Alto for the summer. He will take part in the Western Drama Society plays in August.

Beginning this morning and continuing for seven days there will be fine abalone and mussel tides. Reduce the high cost of eating.

Rev. E. H. Moloney, well known here, who enlisted in the Canadian army, has returned to his home near Watsonville. On his journey west he stopped off at Hamilton, Ohio, to attend the wedding of his daughter, Kathleen.

Another little Walter in Carmel Valley. He arrived on June 3 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wolter. The Valley raises something besides fruit and vegetables and hay.

Graduation middies, skirts and dresses at Holman's

Ernest Hennings was a weekend visitor at the Pine Cone office. He may forego his trip to England, as he has a position in the advertising department of the Bulletin. Laurence Harthorn also came and went.

Miss Edith Lutz is here from Santa Rosa, and is occupying her cottage with a friend from the East.

Mrs. C. F. Hoffman of Oakland, who comes often to Carmel, is registered at Pine Inn with her son. They returned recently from Washington, D. C.

Mrs. H. W. Morse and her two daughters arrived from Troia, San Bernardino county, last Sunday. They again have the Clappett house. It is hot in the desert now and Carmel's cool breezes make a hit with these folks.

Subscribe for any newspaper at Carmel News Co.

Mrs. P. K. Gordon, a prominent member of the Garret and Garden Players and much interested in Carmel's summer plays, is occupying one of the Tilton cottages. She will be here several months.

How those boys grew in the service. Jimmie Lawson is home, taller and more manly looking than when he joined the Navy.

Professor A. F. Lange and family are occupying their cottage here. They came down from Berkeley last week to be here all summer.

Horton Denny was here for a day or two last week. He is now a member of a government surveying party, and expects to be employed on the Coast Highway when work begins.

Every pew was occupied at All Saints service last Sunday morning. Rev. G. M. Dorwart will again conduct the service this coming Sunday at 4 p. m.

Miss Stella Danielson, for three years principal of Sunset School, has been elected to a position in Taft. She will teach one grade.

Lieutenant Argyle Campbell is publicity officer with the contingent of army men on tour in the interest of recruiting. They were in Monterey last week.

There was a delightful home dance at the Crileys, Carmel Highlands, last Friday evening. A number motored down from here.

Mrs. Cooper and her son, Wm. C. Cooper, have arrived from the East. The young man will devote much time to botanical research while here, as well as interesting himself in the Western Drama plays.

You are protected by a $10,000 accident bond when you travel in Carmel Garage Stages. We are responsible.

Firemen's Dance June 20.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Grimes are here for the balance of the month. They would remain longer but for the fact that Mrs. Grimes (Barbara Nachtrieb) is to lecture at the University of California summer session.

Our Congressman, Hugh S. Hersman, has been made a member of the Committee on Public Lands. Quite an important assignment for a new man.

Rev. W. G. White got in on the noon stage Tuesday, coming here from Bakersfield. He will remain the week out.

Dave Machado, who has been nine months at Camp Lewis, has been honorably discharged. He came home this week, and already is busy on the farm.

If you read it in the Pine Cone you may safely repeat it.

PROPHECY OF 1919 GRADUATING CLASS OF SUNSET SCHOOL

By David Prince

Good Morning, 1930! What have you in store for us? Here is our friend John Bidwell White, robed in a soft leather coat which he tells me was made of the hide of Molly, the faithful steed of Gallatin Powers, who presented it to him on obtaining his aeroplane license, also wearing a full brown beard; John says is handy to keep his face warm, also for company. He likes to hear the wind singing through his whiskers, when the passenger list is light and he grows lonely crossing the high mountains on his hourly trips between New York and Carmel.

Last night I saw a light flash across the sky. As I deciphered the message I was astonished and delighted to learn of the daring aquatic feat of Miss Juanita Pepper. She had dived from the ferry building in San Francisco into the bay and swam so rapidly under the water that her long black tresses were not even wet when she arrived at Yerba Buena. She is destined to be the greatest diver the world has ever known.

My messenger has just handed me an invitation to attend the dedication of the Institute for the care and cure of distressed kittens, dogs and birds. Dr. Elizabeth Greene is head surgeon. With her advanced methods she is able to mend the broken wings of sea gulls, while still flying. She can perfect a perfectly new bark for a dog by administering the sap from any tree while the dog is waiting for his day. She can convince people it is their duty to adopt all stray kittens. She has the most extensive line of work in this particular of any living surgeon.

Pardon me one moment, my friends, the wireless telephone is calling, long distance. "Yes, this is Carmel, yes, this is Prince, the prophet. Miss Helen Hicks, certainly; I know her very well." The message is from the American Consul at the New Hebrides, saying that all the wild men in that vast country have been converted by Missionary Helen Hicks. Her original method of giving to the native, in place of taking everything from him has done the work. She has saved his soul by administering unlimited quantities of Aunt Jemima's hot cakes, real maple syrup and singing "How are you going to keep them down on the farm?" which they like much better than "Wash me and I will be whiter than snow."

From present indications Miss Alice Greene will capture all the gold medals and bronze plaques by painting portraits of her friends as she remembers them in Sunset School. As the fashions have changed slightly since those days Miss Greene is considered the most unique artist of this age. She stands at the head of the now world-famous school of Fine Arts in the great city of Carmel by the Sea.

It is rumored that Mademoiselle Phyllis Overstreet is building a huge outdoor theatre on the east slope of her beautiful estate at Point Lobos, each year her summer school of dramatic Art and Dancing is becoming more and more popular. This, in addition to her private motion picture studio, makes her the most popular artist on the stage today. She is always accompanied on her walks by her dog Laddie III, great grandson of Laddie the I.

The "Country Gentleman" has a most interesting and complimentary article this week concerning the splendid output from the finest model dairy in California. A woman manages this magnificent ranch and knows more about real cream and milk than any woman in America today. Under the name of Miss Addie Machado many articles are written upon the important subjects of butter, cream and milk. She is also considered an expert in climbing barbed wire fences on short notices.

Many smiling faces have passed through the doors of Sunset School and many more will pass. For none do I see a brighter future or more successful life than for the Class of 1919. For Miss Danielson, who has stood by through all the fair and stormy weather, I wish only the best the world has to give.

For this honor, which has been bestowed upon me I thank you all.

If you read it in the Pine Cone you may safely repeat it.

Story of "Robin Hood"

Fine progress is being made for the splendid presentation of "Robin Hood" at the Forest Theatre on Thursday and Friday, July 3 and 4. Garber Holme is busy assembling the cast, which will be announced shortly. The children's play, "Prince Happy Heart," is in rehearsal.

Robin Hood is a name which stirs enthusiasm in every lover of the mountains. He is the greatest outlaw here in history on account of his romantic career of kindly deeds to the lowly and poor beneath the great oaks of Sherwood Forest.

Mr. Alfred Noyes has written a great pastoral drama around the loves of Maid Marian and the noble outlaw. Into this he has woven a thread of fantasy through the comings and goings of Oberon and Titania.

As the play opens, the wicked Prince John is ill-treating the serfs, and attempting to wrest Maid Marian from her lover, Robin Hood. His efforts are defeated; but Queen Eleanor, who has an evil passion for Robin Hood, is more successful. The situation is desperate until the great King Richard, returning from the Crusades, rescues the lovers. Robin Hood marries Maid Marian, and all goes well until the death of King Richard, when John, now becomes King, with Queen Eleanor's help, pursues the ill-fated lovers to their death.

One of the most picturesque characters is the half-witted clown, "Shadow-of-a-Leaf," who, because of his infirmity, knows the secrets of the fairies, secrets which he must not divulge on pain of losing his immortal soul. By betraying what he has learned from the all-knowing fairies, he makes this supreme sacrifice, in an effort to save Robin Hood from destruction by King John.

THE LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT OF THE CLASS OF 1919

By Alice Greene

We, the Graduating Class of Sunset School of the year Nineteen Hundred Nineteen, of the age of ninety-three years, not including the sixteen years of our teacher, which must not be counted in this sum total, however much the honor may be due her for the great brilliancy and distinction enjoyed by us; now being of resounding and exposing mind and misery, and not acting under any school regulation, menace, fraud, undue influence, of any person, or non-person whatsoever; do make, publish and declare this our last will and statement in the manner following, that is to say:

First: We declare that we are unmarried, so far as we know.

Second: We give and bequeath to the future teacher a plan—of David Prince's dome. We note that the plan has nothing in it, but we do not intend to say the same of the dome.

Third: We give and bequeath Phyllis' sweet disposition to the Southwind and we hereby exhort said Southwind to only make good use of it.

Fourth: We give and bequeath John Bidwell White's message to nobody, upon the express condition that it be taken away and never returned. Said John Bidwell White has endeavored to put this across, by means of sundry mumbblings and rumbblings that lead to a seat in the corner.

Fifth: We give and bequeath Addie's giggle to any teacher who cannot see a joke.

Sixth: We give and bequeath fifty shares of Helen Hicks' industry, value untold, to Did Greene.

Seventh: We give and bequeath Juanita's gift for communication to the Secret Service of the United States.

Eighth: We give and bequeath all the trash read, or that ever will be read by Bettie Greene, to the ash-man; and we further bequeath the sum of one hundred mills for the transportation of said trash to the dump.

Ninth: We give and bequeath the fire from Alice Greene's tongue, to the janitor of Sunset School, for the next year's fuel supply. It is most necessary to caution the janitor not to open the Draught.

Lest We Forget

Around a certain old cathedral in France fifty thousand American lads lie buried. It's too many to bring home—far too many dead. So it has been decided to erect a hospital close by, in their memory, constructing it with the stone and brick of the ruined Cathedral of Rheims.

In memory of her dead California is to have three beds in that hospital, at a cost of $6000 each. One bed is already paid for. This county is to have one bed. Next week's Pine Cone will present something interesting concerning this to occur in Carmel on Friday, July 11.
