(4) Army and Navy equipment, ammunition, supplies, and materials essential to the war effort ordered for air movement by the War Department (Assistant Chief of Staff, G-4). Requests for such movements will be made upon the Air Transport Priority and Assignment Section (Office of the Assistant Chief of Staff, G-4, Department of Commerce Building, Room 5317, Telephone Executive 2460, Extension 1240).

(5) Personnel of government departments and agencies and personnel whose activities are essential to the war effort, other than military personnel, traveling on specific orders for priority travel by air which certifies such travel is necessary to the successful prosecution of the war effort.

(i) The Air Transport Industry Representative may route on any airline or any flight consistent with the required arrival at destination and availability of the passenger for departure.

(ii) Clearing of space for passengers or cargo of higher priority classifications than "other than military" may require displacement of passengers in this classification.

(iii) Use of the certificate below makes it mandatory upon air carriers to provide space for transportation stated, removing passengers and cargo if necessary.

(iv) Airline office should be contacted for reservation and to register priority as soon as possible, because priority passengers in the same classification will be carried in order of the time reservation was made and priority established, if a schedule cannot accommodate all priority requests made for it.

(v) This form must be surrendered to the air carrier on which flight originates and passenger should be required to present it in advance to establish priority classification clearly. If trip consists of several stops, carrier will stamp tickets "Priority" to insure proper handling at other cities.

(vi) This form must bear the signature of an approved executive of the issuing Federal Department or Agency. When necessary, a telegram addressed to the person requiring priority, worded as below, and signed by an approved executive will suffice, and the form will be completed by the passenger at an airline office.

TITLE 26—INTERNAL REVENUE

CHAPTER I—BUREAU OF INTERNAL REVENUE

SUBCHAPTER A—INCOME AND EXCESS-PROFITS TAXES

[T. D. 5113]

PART 3—INCOME TAX UNDER THE REVENUE ACT OF 1936

PART 9—INCOME TAX UNDER THE REVENUE ACT OF 1938

PART 19—INCOME TAX UNDER THE INTERNAL REVENUE CODE

Gain or Loss Upon Repossession of Real Property Upon Default Under Deferred Payment Sale Not on the Installment Sale, Where Title Had Previously Passed to the Purchaser

PARAGRAPH 1. Section 19.44-4 of Regulations 103 [Part 19, Title 26, Code of Federal Regulations, 1940 Sup.] and article 44-4 of Regulations 101 [§ 9.44-4, Title 26, Code of Federal Regulations, 1939 Sup.] are amended by striking from the second paragraph the last four sentences and by inserting in lieu thereof the following:

If the vendor has previously transferred title to the purchaser, and the purchaser defaults in any of his payments, and the vendor accepts a voluntary reconveyance of the property, in partial or full satisfaction of the unpaid portion of the purchase price, the receipt of the property so reacquired, to the extent of its fair market value at that time, including the fair market value of fixed improvements placed on the property by the purchaser, shall be considered as the receipt of payment on the obligations satisfied. If the fair market value of the property is greater than the basis of the obligations of the purchaser so satisfied (generally, such basis being the fair market value of such obligations previously recognized in computing income), the excess constitutes ordinary income, and if the value of such property is less than the basis of such obligations, the difference may be deducted as a bad debt if ascertained to be worthless and charged off within the taxable year, except that if the obligations satisfied are securities (as defined in section 23 (k) (3) and section 117 (f)), any gain or loss resulting from the transaction is a capital gain or loss subject to the provisions of section 117. If the property reacquired is subsequently sold, the basis for determining gain or loss is the fair market value of the property at the date of reacquisition including the fair market value of the fixed improvements placed on the property by the purchaser. See § 19.23 (k)-3 [article 23 (k)-3 of Regulations 101] with respect to property reacquired in a foreclosure proceeding.

PAR. 2. Articles 44-4 of Regulations 94 [§ 3.44-4, Title 26, Code of Federal Regulations] and of Regulations 86 are amended by striking from the second paragraph the last four sentences and by inserting in lieu thereof the following:

If the vendor has previously transferred title to the purchaser, and the purchaser defaults in any of his payments, and the vendor accepts a voluntary reconveyance of the property, in partial or full satisfaction of the unpaid portion of the purchase price, the receipt of the property so reacquired, to the extent of its fair market value at that time, including the fair market value of fixed improvements placed on the property by the purchaser, shall be considered as the receipt of payment on the obligations satisfied. If the fair market value of the property is greater than the basis of the obligations of the purchaser so satisfied (generally, such basis being the fair market value of such obligations previously recognized in computing income), the excess constitutes ordinary income, and if the value of such property is less than the basis of such obligations, the difference may be deducted as a bad debt if ascertained to be worthless and charged off within the taxable year, except that if the obligations satisfied are of the class specified in section 117 (f), any gain or loss resulting from the transaction is a capital gain or loss subject to the provisions of section 117. If the property reacquired is subsequently sold, the basis for determining gain or loss is the fair market value of the property at the date of reacquisition including the fair market value of the fixed improvements placed on the property by the purchaser. See article 23 (k)-3 with respect to property reacquired in a foreclosure proceeding.

PAR. 3. Articles 354 of Regulations 77 and of 74 and article 46 of Regulations 69 are amended by striking from the second paragraph the last four sentences and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

If the vendor has previously transferred title to the purchaser, and the purchaser defaults in any of his payments, and the vendor accepts a voluntary reconveyance of the property, in partial or full satisfaction of the unpaid portion of the purchase price, the receipt of the property so reacquired, to the extent of its fair market value at that time, including the fair market value of fixed improvements placed on the property by the purchaser, shall be considered as the receipt of payment on the obligations satisfied. If the fair market value of the property is greater than the basis of the obligations of the purchaser so satisfied (generally, such basis being the fair market value of such obligations previously recognized in computing income), the excess constitutes ordinary income, and if the value of such property is less than the basis of such obligations, the difference may be deducted as a bad debt if ascertained to be worthless and charged off within the taxable year. If the property reacquired is subsequently sold, the basis for determining gain or loss is the fair market value of the property at the date of reacquisition including the fair market value of the fixed improvements placed on the property by the purchaser. PART 30—REGULATIONS UNDER EXCESS PROFITS TAX ACT OF 1940

Regulations Amended

Regulations 109 [Part 30, Title 26, Code of Federal Regulations, 1941 Sup.] are amended as follows:

PARAGRAPH 1. Section 30.734-1 (b), as added by Treasury Decision 5045,¹ approved May 3, 1941, is amended by striking out subdivision (2) and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

(2) The term "predecessor" means a person (other than the taxpayer) who has transferred property (i) which, for income tax purposes for any taxable year, has at any time been treated, or (ii) which is treated for excess profits tax purposes, as having, in the hands of the taxpayer (or in the hands of a predecessor of the taxpayer under the definition contained in this subparagraph, but without regard to subdivision (i) of that definition) a substituted basis determined directly or indirectly by reference to the basis in the hands of such person.

PAR. 2. Section 30.734-2 (c), as added by Treasury Decision 5045, is amended by inserting immediately after the second paragraph the following new paragraphs:

Neither the Commissioner nor the taxpayer is required to adopt an inconsistent position with respect to the treatment of an item or transaction in the determination of the excess profits credit because of the fact that such item or transaction was incorrectly treated in the determination of the income tax liability of the taxpayer, or a predecessor, for a prior taxable year or years, under the law applicable to such year or years. Such item or transaction may, in the determination of the excess profits credit, be treated in a manner consistent with the incorrect treatment accorded in the determination of the income tax liability if neither the Commissioner nor the taxpayer objects. Either the Commissioner or the taxpayer, however, may insist upon the correct treatment of such item or transaction in the determination of the excess profits credit under the law applicable to the excess profits tax taxable year, but such action constitutes the maintenance of an inconsistent position and will result in an adjustment under section 734, if the party insisting upon such treatment is the party who would be adversely affected by such adjustment.

A taxpayer which has taken an inconsistent position with respect to an item or transaction affecting the determination of its excess profits credit may, upon notice to the Commissioner in writing, withdraw from such position.

(This Treasury decision is issued under the authority contained in section 62 of the Internal Revenue Code (53 Stat. 32; 26 U.S.C., Sup. SUBCHAPTER E—ADMINISTRATIVE PROVISIONS COMMON TO VARIOUS TAXES

[T.D. 5114]

PART 470—TAX-FREE SALES OF ARTICLES FOR USE OF UNITED STATES, ANY STATE, TERRITORY OF THE UNITED STATES, OR ANY POLITICAL SUBDIVISION OF THE FOREGOING, OR THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

Sec.

- 470.0 Introductory.
- 470.1 Definitions.
- 470.2 Sales for the use of the United States.
- 470.3 Proof of exemption.
- 470.4 Records.
- 470.5 Application of regulations.

§ 470.0 Introductory. The regulations in this part deal with the application of the statutory exemptions from excise taxes imposed under Chapters 25 and 29 of the Internal Revenue Code to articles sold for use of the United States.

Section 2700 (b) (1) of the Internal Revenue Code, which relates to the tax imposed by Subchapter A of Chapter 25 on sales of pistols and revolvers, reads as follows:

SEC. 2700. TAX.

(b) Exemptions.

(1) Sales for use of federal government or states. Pistols and revolvers sold for the use of the United States, any State, Territory, or possession of the United States, any political subdivision thereof, or the District of Columbia, shall be exempt from the tax imposed by subsection (a).

SEC. 2721. EXEMPTIONS.

(a) Transfers Exempt. This subchapter and Part VIII of subchapter A of chapter 27 shall not apply to the transfer of firearms (1) to the United States Government, any State, Territory, or possession of the United States, or to any political subdivision thereof, or to the District of Columbia * * *

Section 3442 (3) of the Internal Revenue Code, which relates to the manufacturers' excise taxes imposed by Chapter 29, reads as follows:

SEC. 3442. TAX-FREE SALES.

Under regulations prescribed by the Commissioner with the approval of the Secretary, no tax under this chapter shall be imposed with respect to the sale of any article—

(3) for the exclusive use of the United States, any State, Territory of the United States, or any political subdivision of the foregoing, or the District of Columbia. * * *

* §§ 470.0 to 470.5, inclusive, issued under authority contained in sections 2732, 3442 and 3791 of the Internal Revenue Code (53 Stat. 294, 416, 467; 26 U.S.C., 1940 Ed., 2732, 3791).

§ 470.1 Definitions. As used in the regulations in this part—

(a) The term "prime contract" means a contract made by the United States; and the term "prime contractor" means the party contracting with the United States in a prime contract.

(b) The term "purchase article" means any article purchased as such by the United States under a prime contract.

(c) The term "construction article" means any article for use as equipment, material, or supplies, by a prime contractor in performing a prime contract: Provided, however, That payment for the article is made by the United States.

(d) The term "subsidiary article" means any article, which by itself or after being combined by any person with other articles, is incorporated in a purchase article or a construction article.

(e) The term "incorporated in" refers to any process whereby a subsidiary article enters into the production of another subsidiary article, a purchase article, or construction article, so as to become a part thereof, and not be merely consumed in such production.

(f) The term "subcontract" means a contract for the purchase of subsidiary articles; and the term "subcontractor" means any party to a subcontract other than a prime contractor.*

§ 470.2 Sales for the use of the United States. Under the regulations in this part, all sales and transfers of purchase articles and construction articles are deemed to be exempt from the excise taxes imposed by Chapters 25 and 29 of the Internal Revenue Code, if they are to be utilized by the United States or to be disposed of by the United States to a foreign government: Provided, however, That the price of the purchase article or construction article does not include a tax on the sale or transfer of such article under Chapter 25 or 29 of the Internal Revenue Code.

Subject to the provisions of § 470.3 (b), the exemptions also apply to all subsidiary articles, irrespective of whether the subcontractor is dealing with a prime contractor or with another subcontractor: Provided, however, That (a) the price of the article does not include a tax on the sale or transfer thereof under Chapter 25 or 29 of the Internal Revenue Code, and (b) the article is included at such tax-free basis in the price of the purchase article, construction article, or other subsidiary article in which it is incorporated.

The exemptions do not apply in any case where an article is sold or transferred at a price including a tax imposed under Chapter 25 or 29 on the sale or transfer of such article. However, the inclusion of a subsidiary article, which was sold or transferred by the producer thereof at a price including tax, in another subsidiary article, purchase article or construction article will not defeat the exemption applicable with respect to such other subsidiary article, purchase article, or construction article, if the price of such latter articles does not include a tax on the sale or transfer thereof.

The application of these exemptions is illustrated, in part, by the following examples:

Example 1. A prime contractor producing automobiles for the United States orders the tires needed for such automobiles from subcontractor A, the producer thereof, and also orders generators from subcontractor B, who for the production of the generators orders rubber insulated wire from the producer or subcontractor C. The sales by the prime contractor and all the subcontractors are exempt, if in each case the sale price does not include a tax imposed under Chapter 29 of the Internal Revenue Code on the sale of the article. In this example, the exemption would not apply to the rubber insulated wire if sold at a price including tax. But the fact that such wire is included at that price in the cost of the generator and the automobile would not defeat the exemption applicable to the generator and the automobile, if they are sold at a price not including a tax on the sale or transfer thereof.

Example 2. A prime contractor engaged in the alteration and repair of a warehouse leased by the United States purchases certain refrigerating components for installation in the warehouse. The sale of the refrigerating components by the producer to the prime contractor is exempt if made at a price not including tax. In this example, the exemption would not be defeated merely because the use of the refrigerating components might ultimately inure to the lessor upon termination of the lease.*

§ 470.3 Proof of exemption—(a) Purchase articles and construction articles. In the case of purchase articles and construction articles, the exemption shall be evidenced by a properly executed certificate, Form 1094. Such form may be modified, in so far as necessary, with respect to transactions involving construction articles.

In all cases, the exemption certificate, Form 1094, shall be executed by an authorized officer or representative of the United States, and shall be furnished to the prime contractor, where the purchase article, or construction article, or any subsidiary article to be incorporated in such article is to be purchased on a tax-free basis. Where the prime contract contemplates that only the purchase article or the construction article is to be purchased on a tax-free basis, the exemption certificate shall include an appropriate statement limiting its application to such article. Where the prime contract contemplates that not only the purchase article or construction article (whether or not taxable) but one or more subsidiary articles to be incorporated therein are to be purchased on a tax-free basis, the exemption certificate shall include an appropriate statement authorizing the prime contractor to issue certificates of exemption with respect to such subsidiary articles.

A single certificate of exemption, Form 1094, may be given with respect to all the purchase articles and construction articles coming within the subject matter of a single contract.

(b) Subsidiary articles. In the case of tax exempt sales or transfers of subsidiary articles coming within the scope of these regulations, the exempt character of the sale or transfer shall be evidenced by a certificate of exemption executed by the vendee and furnished to his vendor substantially in whichever of the following forms is applicable;

EXEMPTION CERTIFICATE

An exemption certificate shall not be issued by a prime contractor with respect to any subsidiary article to be incorporated in the purchase article or construction article covered by his prime contract unless he is so authorized by the exemption certificate, Form 1094, issued to him by the United States.

An exemption certificate shall not be issued by a subcontractor with respect to any subsidiary article coming within the subject matter of the subcontract with his vendee unless (1) the subsidiary article is purchased on a tax-free basis and will be included at such basis in the price charged by the subcontractor to his vendee and (2) the subcontractor has received a certificate of exemption from his vendee certifying that the subsidiary article is destined for use of the United States under a specified government contract.

The exemption certificate shall be executed by an officer of the corporation, where the prime contractor or subcontractor is incorporated, a member of the firm, where the prime contractor or subcontractor is not incorporated, or in any case, by an individual specifically designated and authorized for that purpose by the prime contractor or subcontractor.

A single certificate of exemption may be given with respect to all subsidiary articles to be purchased under a single subcontract. The certificate of exemption shall be given in all cases by the prime contractor or subcontractor purchasing the subsidiary article to the vendor subcontractor, where such article or another subsidiary article to be incorporated therein is to be purchased on a tax-free basis.*

§ 470.4 Records. Every person making tax-free sales or transfers of purchase articles, construction articles, and subsidiary articles under these regulations shall maintain accurate and complete records with respect to all such transactions. The records of a prime contractor shall include a copy of the contract made with the United States, the exemption certificate furnished to the prime contractor under such contract, and copies of all exemption certificates furnished by him to his subcontractors. The records of a subcontractor shall include the exemption certificate furnished him by his vendee and copies of all exemption certificates furnished by him to his vendors. Such records shall at all times be open for inspection by internal revenue officers, and shall be maintained for a period of at least four years from the last day of the month following the month in which the tax-free sale or transfer was made.*

§ 470.5 Application of regulations. For the period of the emergency and until further notice, the regulations in this part may be followed, in lieu of existing regulations, with respect to prime contracts and subcontracts in effect on, or made on or after, the effective date of the regulations in this part; but with respect to a contract in effect on such date, the regulations in this part shall apply only to purchase articles, construction articles and subsidiary articles, delivered on or after such date by the manufacturer, producer, or importer thereof to his vendee.

The regulations in this part may, in so far as applicable, also be followed with respect to sales and transfers of articles taxable under Chapters 25 and 29 of the Internal Revenue Code for the exclusive use of any State, Territory of the United States, political subdivision of the foregoing such as a county, city, town, or other municipality, or the District of Columbia.*

PART 1049—INCANDESCENT LAMPS

Limitation Order L-28 To Restrict the Production of Incandescent Lamps

Whereas the demands of national defense have created a shortage of nickel, brass, copper and other materials used in the manufacture of incandescent lamps; action has already been taken to conserve the supply and direct the distribution of such materials to insure deliveries for defense and essential civilian requirements; and the present supply of these materials will be insufficient for defense and essential civilian requirements unless their use in the manufacture of incandescent lamps is curtailed;

§ 1049.1 General Limitation Order L-28—(a) Definitions. For the purposes of this Order:

(1) "Incandescent lamp" means any lamp or bulb fitting into a socket and making use of a metal or carbon filament as the source of light.

(2) "Nickel used" means the aggregate weight of nickel used in the process of manufacture whether contained in the finished product or resulting in scrap.

(3) "Brass used" means the aggregate weight of brass used in the process of manufacture whether contained in the finished product or resulting in scrap.

(4) "Copper used" means the aggregate weight of copper (other than that contained in brass) used in the process of manufacture whether contained in the finished product or resulting in scrap.

(5) "Other metal used" means the aggregate weight of any other metal not included in subparagraphs (2), (3) and (4) used in the process of manufacture whether contained in the finished product or resulting in scrap.

(b) General restrictions. (1) In each period of three calendar months beginning with the first such period following the date of issuance of this Order, and until otherwise ordered, no manufacturer of incandescent lamps shall use in the production of such lamps (including those designed for the purposes mentioned in subparagraph (2)):

(i) more nickel than 75% of one-fourth of the nickel used by him in the production of such lamps during 1940;

(ii) more brass than 80% of one-fourth of the brass used by him in the production of such lamps during 1940; or
(iii) more copper than 80% of one-fourth of the copper used by him in the production of such lamps in 1940;

(2) In each period of three calendar months beginning with the first such period following the date of issuance of this Order, and until otherwise ordered, no manufacturer of incandescent lamps shall use in the production of such lamps designed primarily for use on Christmas trees, or for advertising, decorative or display purposes, more nickel, brass, copper or any other metal than 50% of one-fourth of the nickel, brass, copper or such other metal, respectively, used by him for such purposes in the year 1940.

(3) Beginning on the first day of the first calendar month following the date of issuance of this order no manufacturer of incandescent lamps may use any materials obtained (before or after said first day of the month) with the assistance of any preference rating granted by the Director of Priorities (whether by general or limited preference order or otherwise) in the production of incandescent lamps designed primarily for use on Christmas trees or for advertising, decorative or display purposes.

(c) Avoidance of excessive inventories. From the effective date of this Order manufacturers of incandescent lamps shall not accumulate for use in the manufacture of such lamps inventories of raw materials, semiprocessed materials, or finished parts in quantities in excess of the minimum amount necessary to maintain production of incandescent lamps at the rates permitted by this Order.

(g) Violations. Any person who willfully violates any provision of this Order or who by any act or omission falsifies records to be kept or information to be furnished pursuant to this Order may be prohibited from receiving further deliveries of any material subject to allocation, and such further action may be taken as is deemed appropriate, including a recommendation for prosecution under section 35 (A) of the Criminal Code (18 U.S.C. 80).

(h) Appeal. Any person affected by this Order who considers that compliance therewith would work an exceptional and unreasonable hardship upon him, or that it would result in a serious problem of unemployment in the community, or that compliance with this Order would disrupt or impair a program of conversion from non-defense to defense work, may apply for relief by addressing a letter to the Office of Production Management setting forth the pertinent facts and the reasons why such person considers that he is entitled to relief. The Director of Priorities may thereupon take such action as he deems appropriate.

(i) Application of Priorities Regulation No. 1. This Order and all transactions affected thereby are subject to the provisions of Priorities Regulation No. 1, as amended from time to time, except to the extent that any provision hereof may be inconsistent therewith, in which case the provisions of this Order shall govern.

PART 1335—CHEMICALS

PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 78—OXALIC ACID

Oxalic acid is an organic acid used in the tanning of leather, in the production of celluloid, rayon, and blueprint paper, and for many other industrial purposes. It is also used in the manufacture of an explosive called "pentaerythritol."

As a direct consequence of expanded economic activity induced by the national defense program, the demand for oxalic acid has increased greatly in the last year. The price charged by producers for crystalline oxalic acid in barrels, carlot quantities, which had remained at 10¾ cents per pound for five years, increased between July 1 and October 1, 1941, to 11¼ cents per pound. Numerous sales by resellers have been reported at prices ranging from twenty to forty cents per pound. Further price increases are threatened.

After investigation and conferences with members of the oxalic acid industry and representatives of other government agencies, the Office of Price Administration has found that there are no justifiable reasons for prices of crystalline oxalic acid in barrels, carlot quantities, in excess of 11¼ cents per pound. Increases in such prices at this time would, therefore, be inflationary in character.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1335.551 Maximum prices for oxalic acid. On and after February 2, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer oxalic acid in containers of 100 pounds or more, and no person shall buy, offer to buy or accept delivery of oxalic acid in containers of 100 pounds or more at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A, incorporated herein as § 1335.559.*

*§§ 1335.551 to 1335.559 inclusive, issued pursuant to authority contained in E.O. Nos. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1335.552 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in Appendix A may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.*

§ 1335.553 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in this Schedule shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of oxalic acid, alone or in conjunction with any other material or by way of any commission, service, transportation or other charge or discount, premium, or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or by alteration of grades of oxalic acid or otherwise.*

§ 1335.554 Records and reports. Every person making purchases or sales of oxalic acid in containers of 100 pounds or more after February 1, 1942, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of each such purchase or sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer or the seller, the price paid or received, and the specifications and quantity, including the kind and size of the containers, of the oxalic acid purchased or sold.

Persons affected by this Schedule shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may, from time to time require.*

§ 1335.555 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record and report requirements or other provisions of this Schedule, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of this Schedule, the Office of Price Administration will invoke all appropriate sanctions at its command including taking action to see (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof, (b) that the powers of the Government, both state and federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and interests of those persons who comply with this Schedule; (c) that full advantage will be taken of the cooperation of the various political subdivisions of state, county, and local governments by calling to the attention of the proper authorities, failures to comply with this Schedule which may be regarded as grounds for the revocation of licenses and permits; and (d) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with this Schedule.

Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation or manipulation of prices of oxalic acid, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1335.556 Modification of the Schedule. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of this Schedule may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom: Provided, That no application under this section will be considered by the Office of Price Administration unless filed by persons complying with this Schedule.*

§ 1335.557 Definitions. When used in this Schedule, the term:

(a) "Person" means an individual, partnership, association, corporation or other business entity;

(b) "Oxalic acid" means crystalline and powdered oxalic acid.

(c) "Producer's shipping point" means any of the following points: Jersey City, N. J.; Niagara Falls, N. Y.; Buffalo, N. Y.; or Chicago Heights, Illinois.*

J.; Niagara Falls, N. Y.; Buffalo, N. Y.; or Chicago Heights, Illinois. The maximum prices which a purchaser may pay for oxalic acid delivered to him from a producer's shipping point shall not exceed the maximum prices listed above plus the transportation charge on a shipment of identical quantity to destination from that producer's shipping point from which the transportation rate to destination is least.

(3) No expenses, commissions, or charges for services may be added to the maximum prices established by subparagraphs (1), (2), and (3) of this paragraph (d), except (i) ocean freight, (ii) marine and war risk insurance, (iii) in the case of overland shipments, transportation charges from seller's shipping point to destination permitted to be added by paragraphs (a) and (b) above, and (iv) foreign agent's commission unless the foreign agent's commission or any part thereof is received by the exporter directly or indirectly for his own use.

(d) Containers. No charge for containers may be added to the maximum prices established above.*

Issued this 28th day of January 1942.

PART 1335—CHEMICALS

PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 79—CARBON TETRACHLORIDE

Carbon tetrachloride is an important chemical used in dry cleaning fluids, fire extinguishers, fumigants, and the production of refrigerants. It is also used for the cleaning of machine tools and metal parts employed in the manufacture of airplane engines, military trucks, munitions and many other products.

As a result of economic activity induced by defense expenditures, there has been a substantial increase in the demand for carbon tetrachloride. A shortage of chlorine, essential in the manufacture of carbon tetrachloride, has restricted expansion in the production of the latter chemical. Consequently, the supply of carbon tetrachloride is inadequate. Producers' prices, after remaining constant for nearly three years, were increased on October 1, 1941, from the base price of 66 cents per gallon for drums in carload lots to 73 cents per gallon. Prices charged by resellers have advanced, in some instances, to two or three times their previous levels. Further price increases are threatened.

After complete investigation and conferences with members of the industry and representatives of other government agencies, the Office of Price Administration has determined that maximum prices should be established for carbon tetrachloride to prevent inflationary price trends in this commodity and that the maximum prices set forth below are fair and equitable.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1335.601 Maximum prices for carbon tetrachloride. On and after February 2, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer carbon tetrachloride in containers of five gallons or more, and no person shall buy, offer to buy or accept delivery of carbon tetrachloride in containers of five gallons or more, at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A, incorporated herein as § 1335.609.*

*§§ 1335.601 to 1335.609, inclusive, issued under the authority contained in E.O. Nos. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1335.602 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in Appendix A may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.*

§ 1335.603 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in this Schedule shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of carbon tetrachloride, alone or in conjunction with any other material or by way of any commission, service, transportation or other charge or discount, premium, or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or otherwise.*

§ 1335.604 Records and reports. Every person making purchases or sales of carbon tetrachloride in containers of five gallons or more on and after February 1, 1942, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of each such purchase or sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer or the seller, the price paid or received, and the specifications and quantity including the size of the containers of the carbon tetrachloride purchased or sold.

Persons affected by this Schedule shall submit such reports to the Office of Price

Administration as it may, from time to time, require.*

§ 1335.605 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record and report requirements, or other provisions of this Schedule, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of this Schedule, the Office of Price Administration will invoke all appropriate sanctions at its command including taking action to see (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof; (b) that the powers of Government, both state and federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of these persons who comply with this Schedule; (c) that full advantage will be taken of the cooperation of the various political subdivisions of state, county, and local governments by calling to the attention of the proper authorities, failures to comply with this Schedule which may be regarded as grounds for the revocation of licenses and permits; and (d) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with this Schedule.

Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation, or manipulation of prices of carbon tetrachloride, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1335.606 Modification of the Schedule. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of this Schedule may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom: Provided, That no application under this section shall be considered by the Office of Price Administration unless filed by persons complying with this Schedule.*

§ 1335.607 Definitions. When used in this Schedule, the term:

(a) "Person" means an individual, partnership, association, corporation, or other business entity;

(b) "Seller's shipping point" means the point of manufacture or other point of distribution maintained by a producer or seller.*

§ 1335.608 Effective date of the Schedule. This Schedule shall become effective February 2, 1942.*

PART 1335—CHEMICALS

PRICE SCHEDULE NO. 80—LITHOPONE

A sharp increase in the demand for lithopone has occurred in recent months as a result of the national defense program. Lithopone is an extremely important chemical, essential in the production of a great many products necessary to the armed forces and civilian population.

After investigation and conferences with other government agencies and representatives of the industry, the Office of Price Administration, in December 1941, entered into an agreement with all of the producers of lithopone whereby it was agreed that lithopone would not be sold at prices in excess of $.0425 per pound for the normal grade delivered in bags in Eastern Territory.

Speculation by others than producers has greatly increased the resale prices of lithopone. These speculative prices are threatening to rise to even higher levels. It is necessary to curb such speculation, not only to prevent inflationary rises in the price of lithopone, but also to eliminate the danger of price rises in other industries that use lithopone.

Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by Executive Order No. 8734, it is hereby directed that:

§ 1335.651 Maximum prices for lithopone. On and after February 2, 1942, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no person shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer lithopone, and no person shall buy, offer to buy or accept delivery of lithopone at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A, incorporated herein as § 1335.659.*

*§§ 1335.651 to 1335.659, inclusive, issued under the authority contained in Executive Order Nos. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483.

§ 1335.652 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in Appendix A may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.*

§ 1335.653 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in this Schedule shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of lithopone, alone or in conjunction with any other material or by way of any commission, service, transportation or other charge or discount, premium, or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or otherwise.*

§ 1335.654 Records and reports. Every person making purchases or sales of lithopone after February 1, 1942, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of each such purchase or sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer and the seller, the price paid or received, and the specifications and quantity, including the size of the containers, of the lithopone purchased or sold.

Persons affected by this Schedule shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may, from time to time, require.*

§ 1335.655 Enforcement. In the event of refusal or failure to abide by the price limitations, record and report requirements, or other provisions of this Schedule, or in the event of any evasion or attempt to evade the price limitations or other provisions of this Schedule, the Office of Price Administration will invoke all appropriate sanctions at its command including taking action to see (a) that the Congress and the public are fully informed thereof; (b) that the powers of the Government, both state and federal, are fully exerted in order to protect the public interest and the interests of those persons who comply with this Schedule; (c) that full advantage will be taken of the cooperation of the various political subdivisions of state, county, and local governments by calling to the attention of the proper authorities, failures to comply with this Schedule which may be regarded as grounds for the revocation of licenses and permits; and (d) that the procurement services of the Government are requested to refrain from selling to, or purchasing from those persons who fail to comply with this Schedule. Persons who have evidence of the offer, receipt, demand or payment of prices higher than the maximum prices, or of any evasion or effort to evade the provisions hereof, or of speculation or manipulation of prices of lithopone, or of the hoarding or accumulating of unnecessary inventories thereof, are urged to communicate with the Office of Price Administration.*

§ 1335.656 Modification of the Schedule. Persons complaining of hardship or inequity in the operation of this Schedule may apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of any modification thereof or exception therefrom: Provided, That no application under this section shall be considered by the Office of Price Administration unless filed by persons complying with this Schedule.*

§ 1335.657 Definitions. When used in this Schedule the term:

(a) "Person" means an individual, partnership, association, corporation, or other business entity;

(b) "Lithopone" means the grades of lithopone listed in Appendix A hereof.

§ 1335.658 Effective date of the Schedule. This Schedule shall become effective February 2, 1942.
