MELLON TAX PLAN BEATEN IN CONGRESS!

PRESIDENT IS FACING BIG PROBLEMS AT ONCE

Five Important Decisions On Policy Must Be Made by Coolidge

WASHINGTON, May 5.—President Coolidge's opportunities for leadership for assertiveness and for curbing the multifarious tendencies of Congress in the present session are coming in a bunch—all in the next few weeks.

Not since the day he succeeded the late President Harding in office has there developed such an occasion for decision on policy. The course of the whole Coolidge administration, its character and objectives, will be charted now and may furnish the basis for discussion in the coming presidential campaign. For Coolidge has before him these essential things to decide:

- 1 Whether or not to sign the soldier insurance bill.
- 2 Whether to use his influence in the conferences between the two houses to prevent the publication of income tax returns and the removal of other features of the bill which are contributing to business uncertainty.
- 3 Whether he will approve the Bursum bill passed by both houses providing for increased pensions for civil war and Spanish-American war veterans.
- 4 Whether he will sign the McNary-Haugen bill providing for the creation of an agricultural export corporation and machinery whereby the price of wheat and other products shall be arbitrarily raised to come up to a fixed ratio with other commodities.
- 5 Whether he will sign the immigration bill with clauses in it giving direct offense to Japan and impairing the good relations which have existed with that country especially since the armament conference and the recent earthquake.

There are dozens of other bills involving important principles but the foregoing constitute the outstanding measures. Mr. Coolidge said at the outset of his administration that he did not care to indicate in advance of action by congress what his policy toward specific proposals would be. As a consequence congress has gone ahead in many instances and legislated without regard to possible action by the president. Now Mr. Coolidge must face the

RENEW HUNT FOR MISSING LEADER

Major Martin Unaccounted For As Other Flyers Ready to Leave

CORDOVA, May 5.—As his three flying companions prepared at Atka island today for the next jump in the United States army Frederick L. Martin, commander of the expedition and his Mechanic-Staff Sergeant Alva Harvey remained unaccounted for.

Searchers at Chignik today had about concluded that the Seattle, flag plane of the air cruise, must have come down on the Bering sea side of the Aleutian peninsula and the coast guard cutter Algonquin was expected to proceed to Dutch harbor, re-fuel and take up the search for the missing airmen along the tortuous northern coast line.

Such meager reports concerning the missing flyer which is believed to have crashed on the Pacific coast and on the north by the waters of Bering sea.

ANNOUNCE APPOINTMENT
LONDON, May 5.—Colonial Secretary J. H. Thomas announced in Commons today that the free state has appointed Professor McNeill to the commission which is to settle the free state-Ulster boundary dispute.

Arrange to Take Coolidge Voters To Polls Tuesday

The primary election takes place tomorrow, May 6, and the Glendale Coolidge-for-President club, of which W. E. Evans is the head, is completing arrangements to get the voters to the polls. Any Coolidge voters who wish to be taken to the polls Tuesday are invited to telephone Glendale 3583 and the proper voting place and home again.

DRIVE NETS TOTAL OF $40,000

Balance to Be Solicited by C. of C. Committee to Reach $50,000 Goal

The drive for a fund to advertise Glendale nationally closed Saturday with approximately $40,000 subscribed, reports Chairman M. Walters of the Chamber of Commerce ways and means committee, who has been in charge of the campaign. The balance will be solicited by the committee from those who have not yet subscribed, he states.

With the money now available to launch an extensive advertising campaign, the Board of Control, comprising twenty-two prominent Glendale business men selected to expend these funds, met this morning in the Chamber of Commerce rooms at 150 South Brand boulevard and elected as chairman D. H. Smith, vice-president and manager of the Brand boulevard branch, Pacific Southwest Trust & Savings bank. J. Herbert Smith, proprietor of the Glendale Groceries, was elected secretary.

Will Prepare Budget
The board requested that a budget be prepared and to this end Paul Stillman, chairman of the advertising committee of the Chamber of Commerce, has called a meeting for 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night, May 7, in the chamber rooms. One of the chief matters to be deliberated will be whether or not to turn over to an agency the funds for advertising Glendale.

Pleased at Results
"Last year we raised only $6,000," he said. "We have now raised approximately $40,000, and will have well over $60,000 if those who have not yet contributed will hasten their subscriptions. This success is the more gratifying when it is realized that the people of Glendale have not been educated to the necessity of an annual advertising fund, as they have in many other cities of Southern California."

Lists of subscribers are now being checked and the results of the button campaign, Saturday's ball game and other angles of the drive are being tabulated. A complete report will be issued on completion of this work, it is stated from campaign headquarters.

REFUSE SALE OF TEN U. S. PLANES

Claim Air Service Too Shy Of Material to Sell Machines to Cuba

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The ten airplanes which the Cuban government desired to buy from the United States to aid in crushing the uprising in Santa Clara province will not be furnished, it was learned authoritatively here today.

Military authorities have decided the army air service is too shy on material itself to fill any such order.

VEHICLE ACT DISCUSSED AT JOINT MEETING

Advisory Commission Confer With City Council on Traffic Problems

The first joint meeting of the new traffic advisory commission and the members of the City Council was held this morning at the City Hall, and the traffic situation as it applies to Glendale was discussed at great length, the meeting lasting over three hours.

Those present were Mayor Spencer Robinson, Councilmen Sam Davis, S. S. Gihuly, Asa Hall and C. E. Kimlin; Ray L. Morrow, city attorney; V. B. Stone, city manager; H. C. Salsbery, city controller; M. Walters, chairman of the commission, and Commissioners R. F. Adams, A. F. Priest, M. B. Towman, W. F. Yeo, S. C. Packer and Cameron D. Thom.

During the session Judge F. H. Lowe and Chief of Police J. D. Fraser were called in and asked questions by the commissioners, and were requested to give their ideas of the efficiency of the present California vehicle act and city traffic ordinances, and the measures being employed to enforce them, and also to make recommendations as to what changes, if any, should be made in the present conditions.

Favors Examination
Judge Lowe explained the working of the police court and showed that practically 20 per cent of the violators appearing before him were allowed to go without punishment, at the discretion of the court. Approximately 10 per cent, he stated, of those signing tickets to appear before him failed to show up. He advocated strongly the enactment of a law by the state legislature requiring a physical and mental examination of all applicants for drivers' licenses, and stated that

REPORT TUCKERS START WESTWARD

Mother of Youth's Wife Says Family, Including Babe To California

ESSEX, Mass., May 5.—Burton Tucker, 17, and his family, consisting of a 48-year-old wife and a three-day-old baby, were believed en route to California today. Mrs. Sarah Burnham, mother of Mrs. Tucker, gave out a statement to this effect after efforts to locate the Tuckers had been fruitless. Mrs. Tucker's automobile was found at her home in South Essex.

The Tuckers came into the limelight again on Saturday when it was announced the stork had brought them a girl, Violet. The marriage of the Tuckers last October caused widespread attention because of the difference in their ages.

VOTE TO CONSIDER BARKLEY BILL
WASHINGTON, May 5.—Riding over all opposition, the Republican insurgents and Democrats in the House united this afternoon to bring the Barkley bill to abolish the United States railroad board out of committee and to place it before the House for passage. After heated debate lasting most of the afternoon the House decided by a vote of 193 to 163 to resolve itself into a "committee of the whole" for consideration.

Planning Body to Consider Rounding Of Street Corners

A special meeting of the City Planning Commission is called for tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the Council chamber at the City Hall for the purpose of considering the rounding of the northwest and southeast corners at the intersection of Maryland and Wilson avenues.

The proposition as presented to the commission calls for a 35-foot radius on both of these corners, the cost of establishing the same to be pro-rated between all property holders on Maryland between Broadway and Lexington.

T. W. Watson, president of the commission, will preside.

AGED SCIENTIST EAGER FOR DEATH

Astronomer Larkin Declares His Researches Prove Life In Future

LOS ANGELES, May 5.—Professor Edgar Lucian Larkin, internationally known astronomer and observer at Mount Lowe observatory here, was declared "about the same" today from the Pacific hospital, where he is said to be in a serious condition following an operation last week.

Professor Larkin, who has written countless books on science and research, is 77 years old and said to be penniless, despite his having devoted his life to study of the planets and the writing of his opinions. Professor Larkin is declared to have said that he wanted to die—that he wants to go to the "other side which my scientific studies have made me know is waiting for my soul."

GLENDALE KC MARCHES IN PASADENA PARADE

Local Contingent Presents Excellent Appearance At State Meeting

Glendale made a vivid impression on the twenty-second annual Knights of Columbus state convention, which opened in Pasadena yesterday, 125 knights of the local council, No. 1920, in snappy outfits of white flannel trousers, blue serge coats and straw hats, under the leadership of Grand Knight Jesse E. Smith, marching near the head of the mammoth parade of 5000 delegates.

In addition, forty local Boy Scouts of Troop No. 5, under the leadership of Scoutmaster Walter A. Caskey, swelled the Glendale contingent, which was in charge of Leo McMahon, chairman of the parade committee.

The local knights left Glendale at 8:30 o'clock, from outside the clubhouse at 320 East Lomita avenue, and motored to the Crown City in a long auto caravan that flashed gaily in the morning sunlight as it wound along Colorado boulevard and over the Arroyo Seco, coming to a halt at Central park in the rear of the Green hotel.

The position of the Glendale contingent in the big parade was third, led only by the 400 fourth

UPHOLDS UMPIRE IN CALLING GAME

Pacific League President Overrules Protest by Seattle Club

LOS ANGELES, May 5.—Seattle's ball club lost its protest against the calling of a game in the northern city last week by Umpire Biff Schaller when Harry A. Williams, president of the Pacific Coast League, announced today that he would uphold the arbitrator in his stand against Manager Wade Killefer of the Indians.

Killefer protested the contest after Schaller had called the game in the seventh frame. The umpire maintained that it was raining too hard for play to continue.

ENGINEER KILLED IN TRAIN WRECK

Locomotive Derailed When Open Switch Is Struck Near Lordsburg

TUCSON, Ariz., May 5.—Engineer George A. Thum of El Paso was killed shortly before 9 a. m. today when the Golden State Limited, crack Southern Pacific passenger train, was derailed at Ulmois, five miles west of Lordsburg, N. M., according to Southern Pacific officials here.

Information given out here by the Southern Pacific declared the train ran into an open switch, derailling the locomotive, baggage car and mail coach. The fireman jumped from the engine and was uninjured.

Other than being slightly shaken up because of the sudden stop, passengers aboard the train were unhurt. No passenger cars were derailed.

Officer Injured In Crash Is Improving

Leaders Ask State To Give President Vote Of Confidence

SAN FRANCISCO, May 5.—The following final statements were issued today by the state headquarters of the League of Coolidge Republican Clubs of California, the statements being by Marshal Hale, president of the league, and by Mark L. Regu, acting chairman of the committee of five in charge of California campaign. Edward H. Hurlbut, campaign director.

President, League of Coolidge Republican clubs of California.

California's majority for the president's ticket of delegates on Tuesday will be just as large as California cares to make it. The same tide of aroused public opinion that swept New Jersey and Ohio so overwhelmingly in favor of the President has set in over California. The eyes of the nation are focused upon us. California must not be outstepped. Everybody must vote.

Southland for Coolidge
Predictions from the south estimate the southern counties to bring a minimum majority to the Teahachapi of 50,000 which should be added to over the north by an additional 25,000. The degree of Mr. Coolidge's majority from that point on will depend entirely upon the size of the total California vote, and it should be the duty of each and every loyal Republican to see that that majority is rolled up to an extreme maximum. There is scarcely a northern country from which the report has not come during the past seven days of the swing over to the President, and this is noticeably so in San Francisco.

The campaign for the president's ticket of delegates in this state has been marked by a completeness of organization never hitherto set up. This is especially true among the population centers of Los Angeles, San Francisco and Alameda county. More than 200 clubs throughout the interior have been functioning for months while a complete congressional district personnel has tied up to the League of Coolidge. Republican clubs the entire state activities, all efforts being effectively and intelligently co-ordinated.

DEMOCRATIC SCHEDULES CHOSEN IN SENATE

Insurgent Republicans Aid In Passage; Vote Is 43 to 40 for Change

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The Mellon tax plan was finally beaten in Congress this afternoon when the Senate voted to substitute in the tax reduction bill the income tax schedules drafted and supported by the Democrats. The vote was 43 to 40 for the Democratic rates.

Defeat of the Mellon rates was accomplished through a motion by Senator Simmons, Democrat of North Carolina, to write his tax plan into the bill. He was supported by the Republican insurgents.

Democrats Insist
Seven Republicans, one farmer-laborite and thirty-five Democrats, supported the Simmons plan. The Republicans were Brookhart, Iowa; Frazier, North Dakota; Howell, Nebraska; Johnson, California; Ladd, North Dakota; Norbeck, South Dakota, and Norris, Nebraska.

Two Democrats and thirty-eight Republicans opposed the Simmons plan. The Democrats were Senators Bruce of Maryland, and Edwards of New Jersey.

Administration leaders sought to prevent the vote, but the Democrats insisted upon it.

The maximum surtax rate in the Democratic plan is 40 per cent on incomes above $500,000, compared with the present maximum of 50 per cent, 25 per cent in the Mellon plan and 37 1/2 per cent in the tax bill passed by the house.

Two Record Votes
The normal rates of the Democratic plan are 2 per cent below $4000, four per cent from $4000 to $8000, and six per cent above $8000. All these rates are considerably lower than both the prevailing income taxes and those proposed by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and supported by President Coolidge.

In adopting the Democratic rates, the Senate had to take two record votes to straighten out a parliamentary tangle. Both roll calls stood 43 to 40, however, against the Mellon rates and in favor of the Simmons substitute.

Although thirteen senators were absent their presence would not have changed the results. The absentees included one farmer-laborite, six Republicans and six Democrats.

COMMUNISTS GAIN BY GERMAN VOTE

Reichstag Strength Jumps To Fifty; Dawes' Plan Finding Favor

BERLIN, May 5.—Gains by Nationalists and Communists, losses of Reichstag seats by Socialists and apparent approval of the Dawes reparations plan were the outstanding features of Sunday's general election, it was revealed by returns today.

Coalition leaders said sufficient deputies favorable to the Dawes plan had been elected to assure official approval of the Marx government's acceptance of the plan.

Communist strength in the Reichstag jumped from three seats to about fifty, or half the number of the Socialists.

Foreign Secretary Gustav Stresemann's party lost heavily. This was the party of the late Hugo Stinnes.

The government will be reorganized but it was accepted as a certainty that the same parties will be represented in the new coalition government as the old Center, German People's and Democratic party. Despite the strong gains of the Communist party there appears no likelihood that they will be brought into the next coalition.

SOCIAL EVENTS

Recital Success

Mrs. G. Edwin Murphy of 421 North Brand boulevard, greeted a large group of friends last Saturday night at her first private recital held in the K. P. hall, Park avenue and Brand boulevard.

She is a member of the professional department of the Emerson School of Self Expression and well known in Glendale as a reader, impersonator and clever entertainer. She possesses an unusual pleasing personality and poise and her interpretations of character selections were accorded most deserving compliments last night.

Sharing honors with Mrs. Murphy were Miss Dorothy Pearl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Peart of 801 South Maryland avenue, talented Glendale contralto soloist, and Miss Lois Percy, pianist of Sunland.

Mrs. Murphy was most becomingly gowned in a yellow and white silk crepe gown, made with long lines. Miss Peart wore an orchid frock and Miss Percy pink taffeta.

The first group of the evening's program included miscellaneous readings. The first selection, "Glad to See You" (Cook) was particularly appropriate for a first number and was followed by "The Bald Headed Man" (Anonymous) which demonstrated a child's inquisitiveness and a mother's patience. The last selection of this group was the pianologue, "The Selfish Giant," (Wilde). This was particularly beautiful in sentiment and excellently given by Mrs. Murphy. Miss Percy assisted as accompanist.

Followed the group Miss Peart gave two beautiful vocal selections.

The second group on the program included three costume selections. "Maggie's Philosophy on Fat Women" (Parker), in which Mrs. Murphy portrayed an Irish character. "Da Lettla Boy" (Daly), was a more serious number in which Mrs. Murphy appeared as an Italian woman of the slum section. The last selection in this group was particularly funny in which Mrs. Murphy appeared as a man hater and suffragist, "Down With the Men" (Hare).

At this time Miss Peart again favored those present with two vocal selections accompanied by the piano by Mrs. T. W. Randall.

The last group given by Mrs. Murphy was a monologue in two scenes, "A Matrimonial Career." This was particularly clever and full of humor and many laughs. The first scene, "Before the Wedding," and second scene, "Five Years After the Wedding," were a continued round of merriment.

Mrs. Murphy and her guest artists were presented with many lovely flowers from their host of friends as a token of appreciation of the enjoyable program presented. Each number on the program was heartily received and all combined in a well-balanced program of more than usual worth.

CHARLES F. POWERS
Charles F. Powers died Saturday, May 3, 1924, at a hospital in Los Angeles age of 57 years.

Funeral services were held at 11 o'clock this morning in the chapel of the Jewel City Undertaking company, with Rev. C. R. Norton in charge. Interment took place in Grand View Memorial park.

Hold Election

The Literature Department of the Tuesday Afternoon club will meet Wednesday, May 7, at 2:30 o'clock in the tea room of the clubhouse for its regular meeting. Mrs. Charles T. Jones and Mrs. G. H. Boone will act as hostesses.

Several matters of vital importance will be discussed at this time with the election of officers of the department for the ensuing year will take place.

After the business session an interesting program will be presented including a talk by Mrs. Edith Pessenden on Philip Gibbs and a book review of "The Middle of the Road," by Mrs. Alfred Smith.

An open book discussion will be held and several piano selections will be given by Miss Gladys Hopper.

Bible Lecture

Another interesting Bible lecture by Miss Winifred Rouzeau will be given at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse under the auspices of the Bible department.

Mrs. Charles H. Temple, curator, again announces that this department is open to all Glendaleans interested in the study of the Bible.

With Mrs. Toll

The executive board of the Los Angeles District, California Federation of Women's clubs, is to meet all day Saturday at the home of its president, Mrs. Charles H. Toll, at 415 Kenneth road.

The board has one all-day meeting each year and on Saturday the members will enjoy luncheon as guests of Mrs. Toll.

Everybody should vote tomorrow. If you want to vote the Democratic Ticket and have no way to get to the polls call up Headquarters, 107 S. Central Ave. Phone Glen. 2812. An auto will call for you and take you back.

SOCIAL EVENTS

Honor Mother

Mrs. F. A. Beach and sister, Mrs. R. H. Brandt, of 214 1/2 South Kenwood street, became joint hostesses Saturday at the Brandt home at a beautifully appointed luncheon honoring their mother, Mrs. Minnie Kemp of 240 1/2 East Chestnut street, the occasion being the fiftieth anniversary of her wedding day.

Choice garden roses used in profusion, decorated the spacious living rooms, and the dining room was a bower of California "gold" with Scotch broom, gorgeous California poppies and other yellow flowers now in season.

The affair was a complete surprise to the honoree, who arrived at the daughter's home for luncheon to find a group of friends waiting to greet her. Many of the guests were friends whom she has known all of the past club years and the entire group was from her home state of Missouri.

A most delightful day of reminiscing was enjoyed. A three-course luncheon was served.

The guests were Mrs. R. Bosserman of Santa Monica; Mrs. Abbie Lake, Mrs. Arthur Price of Long Beach; Mrs. T. M. Casey of Walnut Park; Mrs. C. Cotton and Miss Edna Cotton of Monrovia; Mrs. L. DeLaney, Mrs. F. Bidwell, of Glendale.

Mrs. Beach and Mrs. Brandt were assisted by Misses Lucille Beach and Frederica Browne.

Home Wedding

Miss Mildred Funk, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Funk of 233 South Kenwood street, became the bride of Elmer C. Dickey of Burbank, formerly of Salina, Kan., at a beautiful ceremony taking place Saturday night, May 3, 1924, at the Funk residence.

The bride wore a beautiful bridal gown of white satin embroidered in pearls and lace-trimmed, the lace having adorned her mother's wedding gown. She carried a shower bouquet of sweet peas, Cecil Brunner roses and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. C. A. Major of Pasadena, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a becoming gown of yellow crepe and carried an arm bouquet of yellow roses.

Roy Stolper of Burbank attended Mr. Dickey as best man.

Preceding the ceremony, Harry Niebakh sang "Cadmus and Dawning" and Miss Mary Sherlock played the Lohengrin Wedding March for the entrance of the bridal party.

The marriage service was read by Dr. H. C. Funk, father of the bride, and pastor of the First Lutheran church of this city. Other relatives and a few close friends of the young couple were in attendance.

Immediately after the ceremony an informal reception was held, when a beautiful wedding cake was served with other refreshments. The bride's table was decorated with arrangements of spring flowers. May baskets of vari-colored flowers decorated the rooms for the occasion.

Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Dickey left for Long Beach, where they will spend a few days at the Virginia hotel. Upon their return they will be at home to their friends at the Glenarms apartments, 308 North Central avenue.

T. A. C. Meeting

After a recess of two weeks Tuesday Afternoon women will enjoy the noon luncheon tomorrow at the clubhouse.

Luncheon is to be served at 12:30 o'clock and Mrs. Daniel Campbell, club president, will introduce two special speakers, and two club chairmen, who will give annual reports.

Mrs. N. E. Jenkins of Los Angeles, field secretary of the W. C. T. U., will speak on "Law Enforcement," and Edwin F. Kulp, president of the Glendale Humane society, will tell of the aims and work of that organization.

Mrs. E. W. Gilliland and Mrs. P. S. Card, club members, will report on the work of the co-operative co-operation with ex-service men and women, and on the committee on local relief.

In the afternoon there will be a business hour beginning at 2:30 o'clock, with Mrs. Campbell presiding. Annual reports will be given by Mrs. F. C. Weller, chairman of public health, and Mrs. John Robert White, Jr., chairman of reciprocity.

Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, first vice-president and chairman of ways and means will give an interesting announcement about the garden fête the club is giving May 24 at the L. C. Brand estate.

The entertainment feature will be a harp recital in costume, "The Peasant Brides," by Mae Shumway Enderly.

D. A. R. Open Meet

The General Richard Gridley chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, are inviting all interested Glendaleans to attend the open meeting Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the First Congregational church at North Central and West Wilson avenues.

"Patriotism" will be the subject discussed by Baroness Oilly de Ropp of 520 South Brand boulevard.

In recognition of National Music week Alma Geiger Phelps is to give a group of American piano numbers.

The chapter is to have as special guests members of San Rafael chapter of Eagle Rock, which recently entertained General Richard Gridley chapter on the Occidental College campus.

Honor Birthdays

Especially enjoyable in that it celebrated the birthday anniversaries of three generations was the dinner party given last Friday night by Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Orth at their home 153 South Central avenue. At this time the birthday anniversaries of J. W. Graham, his daughter, Mrs. J. H. Orth and her daughter, Mrs. Leland Smith all of Glendale were celebrated.

A yellow color scheme was attractively carried out with arrangements of marigolds and tall yellow candles.

Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Graham, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Smith, Miss Hettie Orth and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Orth.

At Krukow Home

The regular monthly meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held Friday, May 2, at the home of Mrs. Jennie Krukow, 221 South Jackson street.

The meeting was opened with devotional services led by Mrs. Hutton, which was followed by the regular business session. Interesting reports were given by delegates to a convention held recently at Long Beach.

Mrs. W. B. Wonacott, entertained with several piano selections. Later in the afternoon dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

Feature Music

The Glendale Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion post is to celebrate National Music week tonight at the home of Mrs. C. W. Schwitters at 525 North Adams street.

Mrs. Schwitters is to give vocal numbers and Mrs. E. W. Hayward will give a paper on music.

Mrs. E. W. Gilliland, president, who will preside, cordially invites all Glendale women eligible to membership to attend.

Artist Speaker

Tuesday Afternoon club women of the Fine Arts department are to have an interesting meeting at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at the clubhouse, when Mrs. Mary Estelle, water color artist, who has lived for seven years on the desert, will speak.

Her talk will deal particularly with the art and desert fruits, illustrated by some of her own compositions.

Postpone Meeting

Mrs. P. J. Wheldon announces that the meeting tomorrow of the Grand View Reading circle has been postponed for one week.

TELL OF MARRIAGE

LOS ANGELES, May 5.—Of interest to social workers in southland is the announcement of the marriage Sunday of Miss Amy Steinhart, secretary to the state board at Sacramento, to Henry R. Braden, chief of the finance department of the board of control, who met her while finding out the wherefores and whyfores of charities. The wedding took place at the bride's mother home in San Francisco, and the three workmen, were removed to a hospital.

SAVED FROM DEATH

LOMITA, May 5.—N. F. Galluci rescued Frank Lennon, with resulting painful burns to himself, when he jumped into a flame-filled pit after a gas explosion had overcome Lennon. Three men were working on a pipe line of the General Petroleum company, and it is believed a spark from their tools ignited leaking gas. Galluci, who was a bystander, and the three workmen, were removed to a hospital.

CLASS READY TO STAGE FOUR-ACT PLAY AT SCHOOL

'The First Lady of the Land' Is Vehicle Chosen by Senior Students

'The First Lady of the Land,' a four act comedy-drama written by Charles Nurdinger, will be presented by the senior class of the Glendale Union High school on May 8 and 9 in the auditorium of the Broadway High school.

This comedy contains several dramatic situations as well as scenes that are uproariously funny.

In choosing the play the senior class departed from the usual custom of presenting a late Broadway success and has selected 'The First Lady of the Land,' an historical drama, dealing with the lives of Dolly Todd, James Madison, Aaron Burr and others, the time dating back to a particularly exciting period in American history.

The part of Dolly Todd will be played by Florence MacLaughlin, a student who has a good stage personality and dramatic experience.

Wesley Havermale, who appeared in the leading role in 'Le Bougeois Gentilhomme' recently, will take the part of Bohlen Pickney. The lovers of Dolly Todd, Harry Murphy as Aaron Burr and Irvin Carver as James Madison, are especially fine in their roles, it is said.

The comedy part, Lady Angela Merry, will be taken by Emma Laura Cooper.

The costumes of the play is being arranged for by Adele Miles and all costumes will be obtained from the Western Costuming company of Los Angeles.

Glenn Roberts, advertising manager of the play, and his committee have accomplished considerable in the way of putting on an extensive advertising play. They have planned novel programs which will be a surprise for all who attend.

The complete list of characters is as follows: Sir Antony Merry, Marion Morrison; Jennings, Robert Eastman; Bohlen Pickney, Wesley Havermale; Sally McKeon, Nadene King; Dolly Todd, Florence MacLaughlin; Clotilde, Ruth Berrier; Sophia Sparkle, Margaret Longley; Mrs. Sparkle, Mildred Sooy; Aaron Burr, Harry Murphy; James Madison, Irvin Carver; Ena Ferrar, Evelyn Thomas; Lady Angela Merry, Emma Laura Cooper; Don Carlos Martinez, Leslie Hatch; Louis Andre Pichon, Gage Hartman; Mynheer Van Berckel, Thomas Wood; Vron Van Berckel, Margaret Robinson; Chronieler, Arden Gingersy.

All seats will be reserved and tickets may be obtained at either Broadway or Harvard High schools, and at Roberts and Echols drug store.

NOTED MUSICIANS TO AID WORKERS FOR CHAUTAUQUA

Paul Periera, Former Court Violinist of Portugal, Heads Committee

Raul Periera, 621 North Orange street, Glendale, court violinist of Portugal under the last of the Braganza dynasty, concert artist of wide renown, and former headliner on the Keith and Orpheum circuits, after three years' retirement, has again consented to appear public life. His decision was made at the earnest solicitation of Mr. Ellison, head of the Ellison-White Chautauqua circuit.

But this time, instead of being behind the footlights, he will be in front of them, for he has consented to act as chairman of the Glendale Chautauqua committee, supervising the presentation of this year's program. He brings to the office a greater wealth of talent in this one direction than has probably ever been the case, locally, before.

His last public appearance in this city was in 1920, when the famous 'Periera Sextette' was one of the main attractions of the chautauqua that year.

He is thoroughly familiar with the chautauqua work, both from the side of the producers and the patrons.

'I am not entering this work with an idea of again presenting myself to the public,' Mr. Periera said today. 'As a fact, the contrary is the case. It is only due to the fact that I believe the chautauqua is worth while, and I am behind the movement heart and soul, that I promised Mr. Ellison to take up the work.'

The Ellison-White company is accomplishing wonderful results in its efforts to raise the intellectual, moral and artistic standard of the United States. The attractions presented appeal only to that which is best in the human mind, and I believe that no man or woman who has really the welfare of this country at heart can conscientiously refuse the Chautauqua appeal.'

The decision to undertake this work means something to the noted artist. In his lovely residence on North Orange street, near several of his income properties, he has led a retired life for the past three years, and to give up the ease and luxury to which he has been accustomed and engage once more in the struggle of putting over a public enterprise requires more denial in his case than it would of the ordinary person.

Paul Periera has for almost two decades been one of the leading figures on the concert, chautauqua and vaudeville stages in this country. In 1906, at the command of Queen Amelia of Portugal, he set the most widely-known works of several Portuguese poets to music. The work, when completed, was copyrighted by the queen, and sold under her supervision. All proceeds went to the Portuguese Anti-Tuberculosis society.

In visiting his former country, eighteen months ago, after the monarchy had been overthrown, and great hatred for royalty existed in some quarters, he was very much surprised, he stated, to find that his work had been made a national institution by the republic, and had been incorporated in the national library.

He believes that a chautauqua brings all that is best within reach of the people in the smaller-sized towns, and states that more artistically intellectual people are found in cities the size of Glendale than metropolitan centers. The various committees are being organized under his direction, and the ticket selling campaign will be launched on a date to be designated later.

DELEGATES FROM LOCAL POSTS TO AID CEREMONIES

Laying of Cornerstone for Memorial Home to Be Held Next Sunday

A large delegation of the members of Mary Jane Gillette tent No. 18, Daughters of Veterans, G. A. R. and W. R. C., Sons of Veterans and auxiliary, will attend the laying of the cornerstone and flag base of the Memorial Home of the Daughters of Civil War Veterans which will be held Sunday, May 11, at 2 o'clock, at Sawtelle.

The beautiful grounds of the Daughters of Veterans Home are located in Sawtelle at Granville and Goshen streets, one block from Wilshire boulevard. It is announced that those going by street car should transfer to Westgate line and get off at Wilshire. The route to the grounds will be posted.

Plans Are Revised The building of this home marks a great step forward in the life of the Daughters of Veterans organization. It is the first home in the United States to be built by the Daughters of Veterans and is a praiseworthy undertaking which entitles the Daughters of Veterans to publicity as a patriotic-philanthropic sisterhood.

It was first planned by the building committee to use plans contributed by William S. Byers, husband of Sister Byers of tent 15, Pasadena, which called for a two-story building which complied with the Sawtelle building laws, but since Sawtelle annexed to Los Angeles the plans do not comply with the laws of the latter place and consequently the plans have had to be revised. Now, instead of building a two-story building, a one-story unit will be erected, which will consist of six rooms and community kitchen.

Patriotic Program The program to be presented is as follows: Selection by drum corps. Singing of "America." Prayer by Chaplain Drummond of Soldiers' Home.

History of starting of the Memorial Home by Byers, Maybelle Plymire, senior national vice president and past department president and past department president.

Vocal solo by Mrs. Melba French Barr. Selection by drum corps. Address by Governor O. K. Marshall of the Soldiers' Home.

Vocal solo by Mrs. Melba French Barr. Address by Past Commander Haskins of the G. A. R.

Presentation and raising of flag by Perme's Daughters, department preside. Song, "Star Spangled Banner."

Comedy Of Errors, Circus And, Incidentally, Baseball Game Provide Lotta Thrills

By A. S. HALL Of The Evening News Staff.

The only thing lacking Saturday afternoon at the Kiwanis and Exchange clubs' ball game to complete the idea intended, was sawdust scattered all around, and a big white top overhead. Otherwise, the circus idea was all there, and the thousands—count 'em—thousands who attended got more kick out of it than they would at a dozen six-ring circuses, or an eight-in-a-row musical comedy.

The least important thing about the whole game was the score. The Kiwanis finally won the game, 15 to 4, by pounding "Slim Bob" Johnston out of the box in the seventh inning, and hitting his successor, C. R. Hull, at will. The Exchange club had the game cinched, 4 to 4, up to the seventh inning, when "Bob" Johnston went in the box.

Melting started out for the Exchange club and had the Kiwanians swinging wild. Fairchild started on the mound for the Kiwanis club, but gave way in the fourth inning to Hayhurst, who stopped the heavy hitting by the Exchanges.

Former Champs Umpire Jess Willard and Jim Jeffries, former heavyweight champions of the world, held down the umpiring positions. Jess calling balls and strikes, while Jeffries looked after the bases. There was very little complaint from the players and fans about the decisions of these noted men.

Carl Sawyer, captain of the White Sox team, acted as official announcer, introducer and jester, all three positions being filled well by the comedian-ball player. For the opening ceremonies Mayor Robinson pitched the first ball; Councilman S. S. Gilhuly worked behind the plate; Councilman Sam Davis guarded first base; Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson held down the keystone sack, and Chief of Police Fraser was watching to see no one stole third.

Preceding the game, the players and members of the two clubs staged a parade from the business section of the city to the ball park, led by the Community Service band in a truck furnished by the Bentley Lumber company. During the game the Community Service band furnished music.

As the time for calling the game approached, H. Reeve Darling, aviator and member of the Kiwanis club, circled over the White Sox ball park in his airplane, then swooped down from a dizzy height directly over the first base, dropped a ball, and left after barely clearing the trees on the west side of the park.

EXCHANGE—Waring walked. Hull hit through shortstop, who muffed the play. Waring going to third. Campbell fanned. Waring scoring. Melting hit a three-bagger to right field, scoring Sisson and Campbell. Melting scored on a wild pitch. Kelly struck out. Jessup flied out to Smith. Sisson out. Smith to Arnold. Four runs, two hits.

KIWANIS—Smith singled to center, went to second on Shumacher's error, and third on a wild pitch. Hayhurst singled. Arnold struck out. Bentley singled, scoring Smith. Baird struck out. One run, one hit.

EXCHANGE—Shumacher got first on wild pitch, third strike, but was later caught stealing. Lyons to Smith. Bates struck out. Waring singled to center. Hull out. Hayhurst to Arnold. No runs, one hit.

KIWANIS—Lyons out. Melting to Campbell. Bode walked, stole second. Green fanned. Fairchild singled. Smith out. Hull to Campbell. No runs, one hit.

EXCHANGE—Campbell fanned. Melting walked. Kelly struck out. Sisson knocked a home run, scoring Bode and Jessup. Shumacher walked, caught stealing second. Three runs, two hits.

KIWANIS—Hayhurst singled. Arnold safe on grounder which Jessup fumbled. Bentley struck out. Hayhurst scored on passed ball. Baird fanned. Lyons flied out to Melting. One run, one hit.

EXCHANGE—Hayhurst now pitching for Kiwanis. Smith at short. Bentley at second. Bates walked, later caught stealing second. Waring out. Smith to Arnold. Hull walked, stole second and late stole third. Campbell walked. Melting hit three-bagger to left, scoring Hull and Campbell. Kelly hit to right field, scoring Melting. Jessup

OTHER TROUBLES ARE WORSE THAN ROOSTERS, CLAIM

Autos, Neighbors and Trains Annoy Some Folks as Much as Chickens

That there are many things equally as disturbing as the morning cock-a-doodle of Chanticleer is the contention of "Just a Housewife," in the following contribution to the Rooster Editor of The Glendale Evening News:

"Dear Rooster Editor: I have been reading the rooster controversy with much interest and am really surprised to find there are so many who object to roosters having a home within the gates of Glendale. 'Tis true they annoy some people with their early morning crowing, but there are many other things that are annoying.

Other Nuisances "There are the birds, the trains, the autos and often the next door neighbors, with their parties. And even if you are in a hospital or sanitarium, where it is supposed to be quiet, you can't always stop the groans or crying in the next room or across the hall.

"You just have to take things as they are, I think, and in a city of this size one naturally expects more or less of a variety of noises. Some people evidently have to have something to complain about and wouldn't be satisfied in heaven. You can't please everybody. If you don't believe it, try it.

"Just a Housewife, and a Subscriber to The Glendale Evening News." The Rooster Editor of The Glendale Evening News knows several people who keep chickens, and several who don't, who haven't yet expressed their views on the question. There is no time like the present. Come one, come all, antis and pros, and let's hear what you have to say about the king of table birds.

Surprise Party and Shower on Birthday

TUJUNGA, May 5.—Mrs. John Kautz was recently honored by a number of her friends on the occasion of her birthday with a surprise party and gift shower. Mrs. George L. Aiken and Mrs. D. W. Wright arranged the surprise. The rooms of Mrs. Aiken's home where the friends met were decorated with spring blossoms and luncheon was served amid very charming surroundings. Among those present, beside the honoree, were: Mesdames Wright, James M. Goode, George Aiken, Sr. Jules Peronnet, Elmer Kautz, A. L. Wood, James Burnett, T. M. Campbell, Wallace Morgan, Mary Cobb.

Exhibit of Students' Work Highly Praised

TUJUNGA, May 5.—Many fine specimens of drawing, penmanship, essays and other studies were on exhibit at the Tujunga schoolhouse in the annual exhibit held by the pupils May 1. Each room had a separate exhibit and the work displayed was taken from daily lessons in the regular course of work. Sewing in particular came in for much favorable comment.

RESIDENTS MAKE OBJECTIONS TO NEW BUILDINGS

Installing of Commercial District at Columbus And Doran Opposed

The establishment of a commercial district at the corner of Columbus avenue and Doran street does not meet with the approval of all the residents in that neighborhood, according to expressions made recently before the City Planning Commission, when the subject came up for consideration. No definite action was taken by the commission.

T. W. Watson, president; P. J. Hayselden, secretary; S. E. Kinch, J. H. Randall and Harry Hague were present.

George F. Harris, Los Angeles, has submitted tentative plans for a four-story apartment house and stores which he intends to erect on the property adjoining the Columbus avenue school, which call for the investment of an amount in excess of $100,000. Before Mr. Harris can erect the building, the property must be changed from a residential to a commercial district.

Question Argued The question was argued from both angles, among those addressing the commissioners, being G. E. Harrison, C. A. Singer and F. D. Marlowe. As the question was one of considerable importance to the residents in this section of the city, final action was deferred until a later date.

The commissioners started an investigation at the request of the city council, into the advisability of allowing Foster & Kleiser the privilege of placing bill boards in the city.

None of the interested parties in the matter of widening Cerritos avenue were present and no action was taken.

RADIO PROGRAM AT HIGH SCHOOL

Event Tuesday Night to Be Part of Music Week Celebration

Glendale is to hear a program the length of the whole Pacific coast Tuesday night in the auditorium of the Harvard High school, where the Glendale Phonograph company is installing a mammoth radio receiving set for the big radio program of the local celebration of National Music week.

W. G. Bode, a member of the local committee, and also of the Glendale Phonograph company at 123 South Brand boulevard, is in charge of the arrangements, and he promises to fill the old high school auditorium with a record-making program.

In addition to the radio entertainment there will be music by two popular Glendale orchestras, and by students of the Pearl Keller and Cavanah studios and the Emerson School of Self-Expression.

The receiving set to be used is a Kennedy Model 5, three-tube radio and a powerful amplifier will magnify the reception.

Daily Greeting To News Readers

What a vast portion of our lives is spent in anxious and useless forebodings concerning the future, either our own or that of our dear ones! Why cannot we, slipping our hand into His, each day walk trustingly over that day's appointed path, thorny or flowery, crooked or straight; knowing that evening will bring us sleep, peace and home?
 —Phillips Brooks.

THE COUNTRY IN DANGER

Speaking before the Los Angeles Underwriters' Association the other night, Edward D. Duffield, president of the Prudential Insurance Company, hit the nail on the head when he said America's greatest danger is in the indifference of her citizens, that unselfish service and not new ideas of government are needed.

How lightly we value our citizenship! How we take our privileges as Americans for granted! How little we appreciate the character of our Uncle Sam. He is not without fault. No government founded and administered by human beings will ever be perfect or ideal. But our republic is the best that has ever been conceived and, if, as some think, it has deteriorated, if it has fallen somewhat from the high estate where its founders placed it, we have only ourselves to blame. Our country is made up of our people and the government cannot have higher ideals than those of the citizens who ARE the government.

Because, occasionally, one who is placed in a high position betrays his trust is no reason why we should be indifferent or even antagonistic to Uncle Sam or why we should grow sarcastic about "democracy" and "our republic."

"They are all rascals, what is to be done?" is often the excuse of the apathetic citizen. If there are rascals in office it is the fault of the citizen. It is untrue that your vote is worthless. Public sentiment can accomplish anything. Abraham Lincoln once said, "With public sentiment nothing can fail; without it nothing can succeed."

The trouble is, the public is too apathetic to do more than express an opinion, too lazy to rise up and demand reforms. Let some one else do the voting, let others clean up politics is the spirit that is endangering the very foundations of our government, the spirit that the anarchist and the Bolshevik are taking advantage of.

Many voters have not registered this year. Many who have registered will not vote Tuesday. This is the spirit of which American citizens should be ashamed.

COOLIDGE HAS MIND OF HIS OWN

The three principal items of interest now being discussed in Washington are: Who will be President Coolidge's running mate on the Republican ticket? Who will fill the important offices such as temporary and permanent chairmen at the Cleveland convention, and, last but not least, what planks the Republican party's platform will contain.

Trained political observers are of the opinion that the president's wishes in regard to the wording of the platform will be carried out. It is known that he is firm today, as he always has been, for the reduction of taxes; for the strictest economy in government affairs; for the passage of such legislation as will benefit the different classes of industry throughout the nation. There is no doubt that the platform will contain a lengthy list of achievements of measures passed for the benefit of the country. This list now being compiled by party leaders, is far larger than the average citizen realizes. This is due to the fact that the average citizen does not sit down with paper and pencil and total up the number of measures that have been passed during an administration.

The president has formally and informally impressed upon the House and Senate the necessity of the strictest economy in the expenditure of the people's money. He takes the position that no one has the right to be extravagant with money that is contributed by the people to the public treasury; he feels that it is his duty to provide the country with an economical administration, and the politicians will find that it is useless to try and change his attitude in these matters.

IN NEED OF SPRING TONIC

California needs the realization that it not alone suffers misfortune and the people of the southland, who complain at losses incurred by the foot and mouth disease, should console themselves with others' disasters.

The southeastern states, for instance, are recuperating from a ten-million-dollar storm loss. They were hard hit in one day, without warning, whereas this state in its fight on the cattle plague has opportunity to make satisfactory economic adjustments.

Earthquakes, floods, tornadoes, wars and epidemics, not to mention a half dozen other catastrophes, come along every now and then to take their toll. In hours of prosperity we fail to appreciate our good fortune. And it spoils us for facing life's little perplexities when they come along.

Southern California needs a spring tonic in the form of renewed optimism. Crop conditions are most favorable. Building is good and promises to be better. The mountain resorts have been thrown open for the season.

And the water is fine at the beaches. Go take a jump in the ocean and drown your troubles. But don't let the rip tide of pessimism get you.

FIVE TRAGEDIES

A man struck a match to see if the gasoline tank in his automobile was empty. It wasn't.

A man patted a strange bulldog on the head to see if the critter was affectionate. It wasn't.

A man speeded up to see if he could beat the train to the crossing. He couldn't.

A man touched a trolley wire to see if it was charged. It was.

A man cut out his advertising to see if he could save money. He didn't.

Some are attempting to dictate to women about bobbing their hair. Once there was a personage who tried to sweep back the ocean with a broom.

It only takes one car to show how Henry made a Ford, but it takes millions of them to show how the Ford made Henry.

They call us Glendalians. What do they call a resident of Santa Barbara? A Santa Barbareno? Or is it a Santa Barbarian?

If the Senate committees would only install a smoke consumer, we might learn if there is any real fire.

The chief reason why we do not recognize Russia is that she does not look like she used to.

GETTING WARMED UP!

Sinn Fein

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Sinn Fein is the motto of the Irish, signifying approximately, "For ourselves alone."

It is a slogan of independence.

It is another instance of the strong instinct of men, of women and of nations for liberty.

Every individual soul, like every planet, has its orbit and keeps that orbit steadily when there is a perfect balance between the centripetal and centrifugal forces; that is, when the impulse to fly away is exactly balanced by the impulse to approach.

The impulses that lead us toward each other are strong. There is the mighty impulse of love, the love of husband and wife, of parent and child, of friends, of neighbors and of country.

Like all other natural forces, these are good or bad exactly in proportion as they are duly controlled.

Always the opposite forces should be reckoned with.

Many a tragedy in the family has been caused because parents did not take into account the impulse of the child for individuality.

Many a marriage has been wrecked because husband or wife insisted upon the complete subservience of the other and did not appreciate the strong pull toward independence that is in every human soul.

Unity is a good thing but not the sort of unity that suppresses individuality.

The best and most lasting unity is that between entirely independent units. That is, between those in whom the forces that draw together and the forces that keep apart are in perfect balance. Excessive intimacy cannot last. Complete dominance of one person by another gives no permanent satisfaction.

In other words, souls, like planets, are destined to move in orbits and not to fall into the sun and be consumed. There is a type of marriage which is extreme uxoriousness. There is a kind of devotion to parents in which the child is entirely submerged. A sort of patriotism becomes plain Chauvinism.

Mixtures of souls, to be enduring, should not be colloid; that is, they should not be fused into one gluey mass; each soul should retain its individuality.

It is the same with nations and races. The effort to secure a unity of nations in one organization is wholesome only as the independence of each nation is maintained. The Communistic dream of merging all nationalities into one is against Nature.

In the coming League of Nations, America will be useful in proportion as it is strictly American, France as it is strictly French, Italy as it is thoroughly Italian, and so on.

Therefore the impulse toward brotherhood, unity and co-operation must be balanced by a wholesome impulse of "Sinn Fein."

RADIO IN CONGRESS

(From the Boston Transcript)

Now comes the proposal to hook up every home in the United States with the halls of Congress by radio. Doubtless this is within the possibilities of radio development. Senator Howell of Nebraska has introduced a resolution which contemplates an investigation—investigations are by no means unknown in Washington these days—as to the possibility of setting up at the capitol radio apparatus so that the speeches, in fact, all oral or other noisy manifestations there, may be sent broadcast into the circumambient ether.

Certainly this can be done. Consider the possibilities. The member from Mississippi, without leaving his desk, may hurl invectives that, simultaneously may be heard in far-distant Port Townsend, at Eastport, Maine, or in Key West, Fla. The member from Nebraska may voice his horror and a "loud-speaker," set up on the front porch of his home, may record that horror as voiced in such true-to-life tones as to drive the chickens to seek shelter. By screwing a connection into a socket of the electric lighting apparatus above the dinner table in Concord, N. H., it would be possible to hear the droning voice of the clerk of the House as he records the ayes and nays at roll-call.

These are not fanciful flights. All are within the range of possibility, as radio developments unfold. It should be possible for the up-to-date newspaper office to be so equipped that the reporter in Boston may listen to a Congressional debate and furnish copy as the debate goes on. Radio inventions to date show all these things are far more than possible, and radio development is still young. Who knows but the day will come when the senator, on the Senate floor, can point with pride, and his constituents at home can see him pointing?

UNIVERSAL CONSCRIPTION

(From Hollywood Citizen)

Curtis D. Wilbur, new Secretary of the Navy, joins the ranks of #### those who advocate the conscription of capital and services in time of war just as we have in the past conscripted men for the army.

This is the plan so ably championed by the Christian Science Monitor and frequently referred to as the "Monitor Plan."

The Monitor suggests it as the means of ending of all wars, holding the belief that if all nations would agree in the event of war to conscript capital, men for the armies and navies, and men for all civil activities, there would be no war.

To accept this contention one must hold the belief that war is made by those who place the value of property above that of human lives.

This is a belief difficult for many to accept but one that is none the less supported by much of human conduct.

If the people in every nation realized that the making of war meant the turning over of such part of their assets as the government required, unquestionably many who now see a profit in war and are therefore willing to support it would take a different view.

The plan was endorsed in the speeches of the late President Harding.

It is endorsed by both Democratic and Republican congressmen.

It is endorsed by many of the country's leading newspapers, among them the New York Times.

The only difference between some endorsements being that some suggest the plan for making war while the Monitor suggested the plan for preventing war.

If war has to be made it is certain that universal conscription would make the war more effective and with the country paying the debt of the war as it goes along, would find the country free from the burdens and problems that now follow in war's wake.

But, if universal conscription is faced by all nations, then the more powerful leaders who are powerful because of their wealth will be found using every influence against war.

TURKEY HAS PROBLEMS

(From the Philadelphia Ledger)

The Armenians constitute only one phase of Turkey's population problem that will be dealt with by the segregation method. Forbidden zones are also to be established for Arabs, Greeks and Georgians—even for the Gypsies whose very life is a constant wandering. Moreover, the non-Moslem element in any given district is not to exceed one-tenth of the population. All this will entail considerable shiftings, and will, for a time, at least, make for economic and social uncertainty.

It will add to the already enormous difficulties that have to be faced in the transference of hundreds of thousands of Turks from Grecian territory. In the end, however, it should assure control of the country by the Moslem element, upon which the new Turkey bases its hopes for the future, and it may be better than the method of periodical massacres which has long been used. After a varied and difficult experience, Turkey

A Thought That Came Today

By HARVEY E. WESTGATE of Glendale

NATURE'S DEBT
 Nature, my friend, doesn't owe you a cent.
 Not even a crust or a pure cooling drink.
 For she's paid up your claim with muscle and bone.
 And implanted a soul and caused you to think;
 She has paid you in full, and holds a receipt;
 She has added some interest and heaped up the measure,
 She has opened the vaults to her own golden store,
 And asks you to share in her own priceless treasure.

She has given you courage, ambition and strength,
 She has added her love and its marvelous power,
 She has filled you with kindness for you to pass on,
 That your soul may respond and finally flower;
 The dwelling she gave you she'd have you protect;
 The muscle she furnished she'd have you increase,
 The brain that is yours she would have you develop,
 That the good that's within you may find its release.

The world doesn't owe you a shilling or dime,
 But still I will grant you one claim must be met:
 Freedom is due you to labor and climb,
 And this is her one and her only just debt.

Little Studies

—of—
 Human Nature

SHIFTING THE BLAME

Shifting the blame from his own shoulders to those of another is one of the failings of old Human Nature, and he has done it so long that he has become an adept. Any error he has made, any wrong he has done, any crime he has committed, it is not his fault and he does not hesitate to say so.

Human Nature begins in the cradle to blame others for his faults and he keeps on doing it as long as he lives. "Mama, it wasn't my fault," is one of the first phrases the baby begins to lip, and he continues to repeat it until he is old. We smile and think it childlike when we hear a little, one say, "Pommy hit me first. It is childish, but not peculiarly childlike. It is no more like childhood than like maturity and age.

"It was my fault," "I have only myself to blame," are statements we very seldom hear, but how admirable the man or woman who can make them. It is Human Nature to try to justify ourselves to ourselves and to the world and shift the burden of blame to others.

Ever since the days of his father, Adam, Human Nature has been doing this thing. When there is no individual we can hold accountable we blame society or even Adam himself. Especially has the masculine portion of Human Nature always been saying, like Adam, "The woman tempted me." Too often, alas, he tells the truth. A wife worships Mammon and her husband must, therefore, follow the same god in order to satisfy her ambitions. He is a failure unless he can give her the things she wants. His very pride and manhood urge him to make good. Men lie and steal and murder because women desire or demand jewels and fine raiment; they break every law of the decalogue because women tempt them. And women who persuade men to run after false gods have much to answer for.

And yet when a man says, "The woman tempted me," or when any one says, "It was the fault of another," that person is acknowledging an extreme weakness of character. To be so easily led into temptation may be as great a fault as that we are blaming the other for. We only add to our reproach when we acknowledge this weakness by trying to place the blame for our error upon another.

After all, we are free agents. We do not have to do wrong, even though there are those who would persuade us into error. When we commit a sin to please another we are further weakening our own character and doing the other no real good.

So, remember, old Human Nature, when you try to shift the blame you are only bringing further reproach upon yourself.

THE STORY

DR. RALPH LESLIE, just graduated from medical college, ships on the yacht Ella as deck steward. He is penniless and thinks this will be a good opportunity to recuperate from an attack of typhoid fever. Marshall Turner is the owner. His wife, her sister Elsa, a divorcee named Mrs. Johns, and a man named Vail are the passengers. Turner is dissipated and evidently jealous of his wife and Vail. There is a crew of fourteen, including the stewardess, a maid, the cook and Williams, the butler. Charlie Jones, a German sailor with a bent for religion, is friendly to Leslie. Captain Richardson and Turner have an argument over running the ship. Turner, drunk, appoints Singleton captain. Richardson knocks Singleton down, and threatens to put Turner in irons if he interferes with the running of the boat. Mrs. Johns asks Leslie to sleep in the passengers' staterooms, in a pantry, as she is afraid of trouble. One night Schwartz, the second mate, disappears overboard, though nobody sees him jump. On the night of August 12 Leslie wakes in the pantry to find himself locked in. Vail, Captain Richardson and the maid, Karen, are murdered with an ax. The men put Leslie in charge, and they decide to head back to port. The ax is found where it was flung into the stewardess's berth. She says that Karen had been roused by a bell in the night, she thought Mrs. Turner's, but Mrs. Turner says she did not ring. Karen told the stewardess she thought Turner, who had annoyed her, was outside the door. She opened the door, screamed, and fell dead. Mrs. Sloane said she saw a figure in white in the door throw the ax toward her. The crew imprisons Singleton. Leslie and Burns share responsibility for keeping up discipline. They lock the ax in the captain's cabin and Leslie takes the key. The other key, the one to the pantry, has not been found. "Find that and you will find the man who locked you in," says Elsa. They put the bodies in a lifeboat. Leslie and Elsa find that the bell that called Karen registered Vail's room. Leslie sees Elsa pick up a key in Turner's room.

XIII—OUR RECORD

By unanimous consent, the task of putting down what had happened was given to me. I have a copy of the logbook before me now, the one that was used at the trial. The men read it through before they signed it:

August thirteenth.
 This morning, between two-thirty and three o'clock, three murders were committed on the yacht Ella. At the request of Mrs. Johns, one of the party on board, I had moved to the after house to sleep, putting my blanket and pillow in the stateroom and sleeping on the floor there. Mrs. Johns gave, as her reason, a fear of something going wrong, as there was trouble between Mr. Turner and the captain. I slept with a revolver beside me and with the door of the stateroom open.

At some time shortly before three o'clock I awakened with a feeling of suffocation and found that the door was closed and I was locked on the outside. I suspected a joke among the crew, and set to work with my penknife to unscrew the lock. When I had two screws out, a woman screamed, and I broke down the door.

As the main cabin was dark, I saw no one and could not tell where the cry came from. I ran into Mr. Vail's cabin, next to the stateroom, and called him. His door was standing open. I heard him breathing heavily. Then the breathing stopped. I struck a match and found him dead. His head had been crushed in with an ax, the left hand cut off, and there were gashes on the right shoulder and the abdomen.

I knew the helmsman would be at the wheel, and ran up the after companionway to him and told him of the murder. He called the first mate, Mr. Singleton, who was on duty. He had been drinking. I asked him to call the captain, but he did not. He got his revolver, and we hurried down the forward companionway. The body of the captain was lying at the foot of the steps, his head on the lowest stair. He had been killed like Mr. Vail. His cap had been placed over his face. The mate collapsed on the steps. I found the light switch and turned it on. There was no one in the cabin or in the chartroom. I ran to Mr. Turner's room, going through Mr. Vail's and through the barroom. Turner was in bed, fully dressed. I could not rouse him. Like the mate, he had been drinking.

The mate had roused the crew, and they gathered in the chartroom. I told them what had happened, and that the murderer must be among us. I suggested that they stay together, and that they submit to being searched for weapons.

They went on deck in a body, and I roused the women and told them. Mrs. Turner asked me to tell the two maids, who slept in a cabin off the chartroom. I found their door unlocked, and, receiving no answer, opened it. Karen Hansen, the lady's maid, was on the floor, dead, with her skull crushed in. The stewardess, Henrietta Sloane, was fainting in her bunk. An ax had been hurled through the doorway as the Hansen woman fell, and was found in the stewardess's bunk.

Dawn coming by that time, I suggested a guard at the two companionways, and this was done. The men were searched and all weapons were found on them. Mr. Singleton was under suspicion, it being known that he had threatened the captain's life, and Oleson, a lookout, claiming to have seen him forward where the ax was kept.

The crew insisted that Singleton be put in irons. He made no objection, and we locked him in his own room in the forward house. Owing to the loss of Schwartz, the second mate, already recorded in this logbook (see entry for August ninth), the death of the captain and the imprisonment of the first mate, the ship was left without officers.

Until Mr. Turner could make an arrangement, the crew nominated Burns, one of themselves, as mate, and asked me to take command. I protested that I knew nothing of navigation, but agreed on its being represented that, as I was not one of them, there could be no ill feeling.

The ship was searched, on the possibility of finding a stowaway in the hold. But nothing was found. I divided the men into two watches. Burns taking one and I the other. We walked up the after companionway, and forbade any member of the crew to enter the after house. The forecastle also was locked, the men bringing their belongings on deck. The stewardess recovered and told her story, which, in her own writing, will be added to this record.

The bodies of the dead were brought on deck and sewed into canvas, and later, with appropriate services, placed in the jollyboat, it being the intention, on Mr. Turner insisted that the bodies be buried at sea, and on the crew opposing this, retired to his cabin, announcing that he considered the position of the men a mutiny.

Some feeling having arisen among the women of the party that I might know more of the crimes than was generally supposed, having been in the after house at the time they were committed, and having no references, I this afternoon voluntarily surrendered myself to Burns, acting first mate. The men, however, refused to accept this surrender, favoring, as usual, the crew, favoring it to give myself up to the police at the nearest port, until the matter is thoroughly probed.

The ax is locked in the captain's cabin.

 Witnesses.
 Williams came up on deck late that afternoon, with a scared face, and announced that Mr. Turner had locked himself in his cabin, and was raving in delirium on the other side of the door. I sent Burns down—having decided to keep away from the living quarters of the family. Burns' report corroborated what Williams had said. Turner was in the grip of delirium tremens, and the Ella was without owner or officers.
 Turner refused to open either door for us. As well as we could make out, he was moving rapidly but almost noiselessly up and down the room, muttering to himself now and then throwing himself on the bed, only to get up at once. He rang his bell a dozen times, and summoned Williams, only, in reply to the butler's palpitating knock, to stand beyond the door and refuse to open it or voice any request. The situation became so urgent that finally I was forced to go down, with no better success.
 Mrs. Turner dragged herself across on the stairs, and, after being reported to her, and, after two or three abortive attempts, succeeded in getting a reply from him.
 "Marsh!" she called. "I want to talk to you. Let me in!"
 "They'll get us," he said craftily.
 "Us? Who is with you?"
 "He's here talking. He won't let me sleep."
 "Tell him to give you the key and you will keep it for him so no one can get him," I prompted, having had some experience with such cases in the hospital.
 She tried it without any particular hope, but it succeeded immediately. He pushed the key out under the door, and affairs at once we heard him throw himself on the bed, as if satisfied that the problem of his security was solved.
 Mrs. Turner held the key out to me, but I would not take it.
 "Give it to Williams," I said.
 "You must understand, Mrs. Turner, that I cannot take it."
 "She was a woman of few words, and after a glance at my determined face she turned to the butler.
 "You will have to look after Mr. Turner, Williams. See that he is comfortable, and try to keep him in bed."
 Williams put out a trembling hand, but, before he took the key, Turner's voice rose petulantly on the other side of the door.
 "For God's sake, 'Wilmer,' he cried plaintively, 'get out and let me sleep! I haven't slept for a month."
 Williams gave a whoop of fear and ran out of the cabin, crying that the ship was haunted and that Vail had come back. From that moment, I believe, the after house was the safest spot or the most secure of the crew so much as passed it on the starboard side, where

COMMENT That's All

Real Paper, Real Service The News 100% Complete Greatest Needs of Europe Press Abroad Poor Thing

By Gil A. Cowan

The American public is prone not to appreciate its good newspapers. For instance, here in Glendale the people likely do not realize that The Glendale Evening News is serving them with the best news services available to any publication.

There is International News Service leased wire telling the events of moment as no other wire service does. There is the Consolidated Press Association with its leased wire dispatches giving the latest political, market and feature news. There is the Southland News Service covering Los Angeles and Southern California. And then there are the Central Press Association, George Matthews Adams and McClure syndicates furnishing the cream of feature material.

Ask any newspaper man who knows the "game" and he will tell you that The Glendale Evening News is 100 per cent complete. With a most efficient local staff and special correspondents, The Glendale Evening News meets every need of the community.

However, it was an article by Clinton W. Gilbert in the Philadelphia Public Ledger that caused the effusion about The Glendale Evening News. Briefly Mr. Gilbert says: "Real Newspapers Are Among the Greatest Needs of Europe Today." Here is the text of his thought.

What strikes a man who is interested in public affairs is the provincialism of Europe. I was asked what is the United States going to do for Germany and for Russia. And when I say that I think the United States will do very little for Germany or for Russia, the entire curiosity of that part of the world is satisfied about the United States. The best informed seem to know that there has been a "scandal" across the Atlantic about petroleum. And they know that there will be an election this year. I don't speak the German language enough to find out, but I venture to say that the ordinary man or woman sitting in a vein stuble or condition knows no more of the United States than that it is the richest country in the world and that it would be good to get there or to induce some of the money there to cross the Atlantic. They crowd about the windows of the trans-Atlantic steamship companies or under den Linden and gaze longingly at the advertising of sailings to the United States and to South America.

How can they know more of the United States than these advertisements teach and than can be got from the book, "Henry Ford Sein Leben und Seine Werke," which is curiously enough in every bookstore window in Berlin? Evidently Ford possesses the imagination of Germany as much as he does that of the United States. After seeing the press of Europe, one is aware that an even greater blessing to the United States than Henry Ford is the American press. If a United States of Europe is needed for no other purpose, it is needed to give Europe a strong and well-organized press. You can learn more about world affairs by reading any good newspaper in any one of a dozen big cities in the United States than you can by reading all the leading papers of London, Paris and Berlin. The average American citizen at breakfast in the morning cannot escape a certain amount of information that the most careful newspaper reader of Europe cannot get. A few London papers with small circulations, read by the upper classes alone, are adequate. That is all.

The Paris newspapers are inadequate, because there are too many of them, many times too many, and because they have never developed advertising. Their resources are light. They are easily tempted. There has been a scandal about them taking money from the Russian government before the war to get out special editions. The American press, if it were on as unsond a basis financially as the Paris press is concerned, you would hardly know that the United States existed, except when editorially it alternately whined and bragged. In several days in Paris I saw one dispatch from Washington, about 100 words.

The German press is broken, by the war and the insane fluctuation of the mark. The Berliner Tageblatt makes pretensions to a cable service. But it is a poor thing. No other paper does. The Cologne Gazette has letters from my friend, Dr. Barthelmy, in Washington. But letters take you back to the days when you and I don't remember the American press.

A press of Europe independent of governments, with adequate resources to inform the public, in place of the press of London, Manchester, of Yorkshire, Paris, Rome, Berlin, Cologne, Hamburg, etc., would do this part of the world a lot of good. We may be tending to have too few newspapers in the United States. But Europe suffers from the curse of too many and too weak newspapers. It is tending to become a provincial as, let us say, the United States would be if every state were a separate country.

LOS ANGELES, May 5.—The State Railroad Commission will hear the petition of the Southern Counties Gas Company of California to sell gas distributing system to the city of Long Beach. The case will be heard by Commissioner Brundage.

DAVID'S THOUGHTS TOLD IN SERMON

Special Music Numbers at Casa Verdugo Church Mark Services

"The Well by the Gate" was the subject of the sermon by Rev. C. Livingston, pastor of Casa Verdugo church, at the Sunday morning service. The sermon was based on the story of David when a fugitive on the hills of Bethlehem, he lived over in thought the days of his youth, at the gate of the wall of Bethlehem.

"There is nothing in the world," said the speaker, "that can do with us what thought can do. No power can take us back in the way thought can do. God, Himself, can not put any key in the door of yesterday and unlock that door, nor are we given any power into our hands by which we can fit a key into the door of tomorrow.

"If there were ways to turn back, we might want to stay there. Thought and hope and faith wander on. There has never been any stage or place or experience or time in all of our existence when He has not placed a "Well by the Gate" for our strength.

Special music numbers were an anthem, "Seek Ye the Lord" (Roberts), by the choir, with tenor solo part sung by John W. Cotton, and a soprano solo, "Eye Hath Not Seen" (Gaul), sung by Mrs. Robert D. Jones. A special service was held at night, in observance of National Music Week. The pastor gave an address on "The Pivotal Influence of Music." Special numbers at the night service were an anthem, "The King of Love" (Shelley), sung by the choir; anthem, "Universal Praise" (Ashford), by the boys' vested choir; duet, "My God and Father" (Marston), by Robert Whitten and John Koenig; of the boys' choir; soprano and tenor duet, "Love Divine" (Stainer), by Miss Mildred Hughey and J. F. McMaster.

SEEKS TO TRANSFER

LOS ANGELES, May 5.—Application was on file today of the Laurel Canyon Land Company to transfer to the Laurel Canyon Water company the physical properties of the water system serving in the section of the same name. They also asked for an increase in rates, declaring that present charges were inadequate.

PATIENTS ENJOY MUSIC PROGRAM

La Sierra Academy Male Quartet Entertain at Hospital

On Saturday night the patients and guests at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital were entertained by a male quartet from the La Sierra Academy near Riverside. The members of the quartet were: Roland H. White, first tenor; Roy E. Reinhard, second tenor; Harold Murphy, first bass; Harry R. Hawkins, second bass.

They rendered the following selections with fine effect and most excellent expression: "Come, Spirit, Come," "Art Thou Weary?" "A Little Longer" and "Beautiful Land."

The spacious parlor was well filled with an appreciative audience. Among those present were several patients in their wheel chairs. The parlor is a delightful retreat for weary folk and is a most restful place under ordinary circumstances, with the added attraction of beautiful paintings of California scenery from the brush of Fred Miner, who, with his mother, is sojourning at the sanitarium.

Bible Class Studies History of Hebrews

An unusually large attendance greeted Rev. Edward Hoskyn, teacher of the Men's Bible Study class of the First M. E. church Sunday morning. The class is still studying the history of the Children of Israel, and this particular lesson had to do with the reign of Solomon and his son Rehoboam over the ten of the twelve tribes of Israel, the fall of the northern kingdom with the tribes of Judah and Benjamin under Jeroboam, the discarded son of Solomon, and the ultimate cleavage of Israel and the setting up of idol worship again.

This class was arranged for a fishing trip to Redondo on Thursday next, May 8, when the members and their wives will meet at the church at 5:30 a. m. and go to the beach, where a chartered boat will be in waiting. Friday night, May 9, is the regular date for a class dinner in the social hall of the church, when a fish dinner will be served by the women of the fishing party, and the class will have with them as guests the members of two other adult classes of the Sunday school.

Initial Steps Toward Sycamore Road Taken

Improvement notices for the construction of a concrete roadway in Sycamore canyon, extending from the Anderson place to Walnut street, were posted by county officials Saturday. The proposed roadway will be twenty feet wide, six inches thick in the middle and 8 inches thick on the sides, flanked by five feet of stone on each side.

The road will cost approximately $16,000. Of this amount the county will pay $4000, while the remaining portion will be paid for by the property owners.

A public hearing has been called for May 26 in the offices of the county supervisors. Work will start shortly after meeting, if protests are not made. It is said, and will be rushed to completion.

Glendale Artists Appear on Program in Hollywood Bowl

Glendale won high honors yesterday afternoon at the big musical festival in the Hollywood Bowl, according to R. Ernest Tucker of Community Service, who reports that 200 Glendadians were in attendance.

From Glendale the symphony orchestra and choral club, directed by J. Arthur Myers, took part in the program. The orchestra played two of the "Henry VIII Dances" by Germain, and the choral club sang "Unfold Ye Portals."

O. E. S. OFFICIAL IS HONOR GUEST

District Deputy Inspects Work of Chapter on Glendale Visit

Maude Mae Hazen, district deputy of the Eastern Star, was the recipient Saturday night of special honor, when the Glendale chapter, O. E. S., U. D., entertained her on her official visit. Accompanied by her husband, Robert L. Hazen, Mrs. Hazen arrived at the Masonic Temple on South Brand boulevard at 6:30 o'clock, in time for a delightful dinner party in her honor.

Places were marked for 100 and the tables were decorated with spring roses, with special favors at each place. Daughters of the chapter members served.

Gift of Bouquet
Later, Mrs. Hazen inspected the ritualistic work of the chapter, directed by the worthy matron, Mrs. Hermine Hudson. During this part of the evening Mrs. Hazen was presented with a bouquet of roses and a silver gift. Committees arranging the affair were Mesdames Cletyle Hewitt, Montana Cozad, Margaret McCaughan, Flora White, Mary Wolfe, Georgia Lambie, Hettie Lawson, Luella Emerick, Hermine Hudson and Edward Emerick. Robert T. Lawson and John A. Lambert.

The next meeting of the chapter will be May 17.

Closing Lecture in New Thought Series

Capt. Max Wardall delivered the closing lecture in a splendid series, Sunday morning at the New Thought Center, 140 North Brand boulevard. His topic was "Sleep and the Sub-conscious Mind."

Practically all scientists and psychologists are now agreed, said the speaker, on four activities of the submerged portion of man's consciousness. First: The sub-conscious mind during sleep, recharges the human dynamo, thus renewing energy; second, the sub-consciousness releases the psychic forces of suppressed desire; third, during the nightly period of rest, the sub-consciousness re-arranges and stores in memory the experiences and impressions of the day; fourth, during sleep the real self, the soul of man, is liberated from its fleshly tenement and moves about in a freer sphere.

A bed that can be folded into a table has been invented.

URGES VOTERS TO PASS FLOOD BOND

J. C. Sherer Calls Attention to Improvements Issue Will Provide

Editor The Evening News—On the eve of the election of Tuesday, it is quite probable that there are very few voters who have not decided in their minds as to which set of presidential electors will receive their support. There is, however, to be presented to them on the same occasion another proposition of prime importance, which, owing to the fact that it is to be voted on in connection with the presidential primary election, and has not been made the subject of any very general discussion, may be almost unconsciously treated as of secondary importance.

I refer to the proposed county bond issue of $35,300,000 "for the control of the flood and storm waters of said district, and for conservation of said waters for beneficial and useful purposes, etc."

This is a plan outlined by Engineer Reagan for the construction of a number of dams at the outlets of the principal canyons running back into our principal mountain range which gather the storm water and conduct it into the valleys and thence into the ocean where it is wasted, after frequently doing incalculable damage on its way. The principal one of the proposed dams is at the mouth of the San Gabriel river and there are several others all along the range within the county, differing from that only in the degree of their importance.

Believes Important
The writer of this is not usually an enthusiast over bond issues, many of which as proposed are not to be classed as strictly necessary. The question of water conservation, however, in Southern California and in Los Angeles county in particular, is of such tremendous importance that the necessity for adopting some such plan as that now formulated by Mr. Reagan is so generally acknowledged that it may be said to be scarcely debatable, although engineers may differ as to the best plan to be adopted.

It seems to the writer, however, that the work on this project should begin without delay, as its accomplishment must necessarily cover years of actual work after the issue of the bonds shall be voted. Fortunately we have not felt that any shortage of water actually exists in any of our rapidly growing communities in Southern California, but the conditions that this feeling is based upon cannot long continue. There is no community anywhere in this county that can truly claim that its water supply is sufficient, unless it is acknowledged that such community has reached the limit of its growth.

The bond issue called for is a large one, but it seems to the writer that we should give it our support as the beginning of a plan for water conservation that cannot long be evaded and which promises to be the easier to carry by reason of our starting it before the actual need of it begins to be painfully felt.

J. C. SHERER.

Witnesses Big Fire in Taft Oil Fields

Mrs. James F. Armstrong of 120 North Adams street returned Sunday morning from a two-weeks' visit in San Francisco and vicinity. She also spent a few days in Taft and while there witnessed the spectacular fire in the oil district that occurred recently. During the nights the flames were spreading and beyond control, and the country was illuminated for miles, she said.

Because of continued excessive taxation in China, silk factories in Shanghai are closing, say reports.

Fisherman Lands Five-Pound Trout at Big Bear Lake

Rainbow trout in Big Bear lake are waiting to be pulled out, according to Albert G. Cornwell, of Cornwell & Kelly, hardware dealers at 107 South Brand boulevard. As proof of his statement, Mr. Cornwell today is exhibiting three big trout, one weighing five pounds, one measuring twenty-two inches. Forty-two trout were pulled out of the lake yesterday by a party composed of Mr. Cornwell, William Hunter, George Bentley, J. E. Wimmer, C. H. Kirkman and Owen Emery, and range from one and a half pounds up to the five-pound trout landed by Mr. Hunter.

MUSIC CLUB WILL ARRANGE PROGRAM

Three Departments to Take Part in Performance at High School

The Glendale Music club stands foremost for musical accomplishment in Glendale, and it is most fitting that the federation program Wednesday night in the auditorium at the Harvard High school should represent the three departments of the club. Mrs. Charles A. Parker, instructor in the music department at the Broadway High school, has arranged the program, which will be given by members of the juvenile, junior and senior departments of the club.

There will be selections by the high school orchestra, directed by H. W. Roberts; and by the boys' and girls' glee clubs, directed by Mrs. Parker.

Winners Will Play
Then Mary Welsh and Susie Smith, who were winners in the recent contest staged by the juvenile department, will give the selections they played in the contest.

Representing the junior department will be Alonzo Wolter, talented young pianist, who represented Glendale at the recent state convention in Berkeley. He will play the numbers he played in the northern city, one of which is an original composition.

Other Artists
Mrs. A. M. Draper, accompanied by Mrs. E. R. Ripley, will give vocal numbers; Julius Kranz, violinist, accompanied by Mrs. Gertrude Chaplain Erb, will appear with the Madrigal club, directed by Mrs. Parker, in two selections. Harp solos will be given by Mrs. Enona Hopkins. All these are members of the senior department of the club.

DIVORCE SUIT LOOMS

NEW YORK, May 5.—"I expect to file suit for divorce within a month, but I will name no co-respondent," Mrs. Bert Lytle, wife of the well known screen star, declared today. Mrs. Lytle described her husband as "amiable" and said she expected to discuss the divorce with him before taking action.

"I have not yet seen a lawyer but expect to do so and will be guided by his advice," she said. "I am not familiar with the divorce laws in New York state but I intend to charge desertion."

SILVER LAKE DRAIN

LOS ANGELES, May 5.—John A. Griffin, city engineer requested that the City Council make an appropriation of $4,200, to construct an under drain in the Silver Lake district, along Sunset boulevard. At present there is a seepage from a natural drain channel and Griffin states that even after the sanitary sewers have been installed this seepage will continue. This can only be eliminated by having an under-drain across Reservoir and Minnehaha streets. The property owners have agreed to give the city a right of way over their property.

MEMORY OF LAY READER HONORED

Tribute to H. E. Noble Paid At Services Held at St. Luke's Church

LA CRESCENTA, May 5.—Members of St. Luke of the Mountain's Episcopal church yesterday held a memorial service in honor of A. E. Noble of Pasadena. Mr. Noble was the first lay reader to serve this mission and was most faithful to his charge. Dr. Renison of Eagle Rock, assisted by Rev. Williams of La Crescenta and layreader Frank Willetts of Highland Park officiated.

A number of communicants took part in the memorial celebration. Dr. Renison's address was chosen particularly for the occasion as were the hymns.

Next Sunday, Mothers' day, there will be baptismal services when Mrs. George Wellington's son John will be the first baby boy baptized in the Mission and Mrs. Wyan's baby daughter the first little girl.

On Sunday the members of the congregation of the La Crescenta Community church enjoyed a splendid sermon delivered by Rev. Paul Stevens of the board of material missions.

The Bible class was minus a teacher yesterday as Rev. Joe McLaughlin is suffering from a case of poison oak. His students are very devoted to Mr. McLaughlin and expect to have him with them next Sunday.

During the week Rev. Holice B. White, executive secretary of the Presbyterian church of Glendale, will address the congregation.

Friday afternoon of this week the women of the Sewing League will meet in the church parlors at 2:30 o'clock.

PAID NURSE FOR SCHOOL, IS PLAN

Employment of Experienced Woman Is Discussed At Board Meet

BURBANK, May 5.—When the Burbank schools re-open in September, there will in all probability be a paid nurse in attendance. Representatives of the school board and the City Trustees have discussed the matter and are agreed that such a step should be taken.

At a later conference, it is planned to invite Superintendent Richardson D. White of the Glendale schools to tell of the experiences in the neighboring city, of employing a school nurse, while a resident of Burbank who is familiar with the school nurse in the east will also be invited to be present.

In the informal conference on the question of a school nurse, it was the consensus of opinion that one should be employed, but it is felt too, that great care should be exercised in engaging one, that one who is highly capable and broad minded, be secured. In the discussion, it was suggested that it might be advisable to have a nurse for the community as well as the school.

ORDER MATERIAL FOR CLUB HOUSE

Women Raise Funds for New Building at Musicale, Dance and Dinner

TUJUNGA, May 5.—A silver tea was given Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. M. Kindler, who was assisted by Mrs. Bell. A program of music was arranged and the proceeds were to be used in the building fund of the Women's Club house, which is expected to be started soon on the club's property on San Ysidro street. The contractor has ordered the material and as soon as it is delivered the construction work will begin.

The Tujunga Women's club continued its drive for building funds with a chicken dinner Saturday, served in the Ashby building on Sunset avenue. These luncheons have been the chief method of raising money for the club and have proved very popular with the patrons.

A dance will be given at the Fine Arts Guild studio on Michigan avenue Tuesday evening by the Women's club to raise funds for its new club house. A series of these dances are planned for the near future.

McGroarty's Friends View Latest Play On 'Tujunga' Night

TUJUNGA, May 5.—A large number of valley residents attended Tujunga night at the Mission Play house in San Gabriel to witness a performance of John Steven McGroarty's new play, "La Golondrina." Mr. McGroarty is now preparing another California play to be presented next year at his San Gabriel home, when it is hoped that the new play house will have been completed.

C. of C. President Builds Residence on Property Occupied By Old Home

TUGUNGA, May 5.—L. H. Fisher, president of the Tujunga Chamber of Commerce, is showing his faith in the community and giving evidence of intention to continue his residence here for some time by building a new home on his property on Los Angeles street.

The new building was built around the old one while the family occupied their quarters and they were saved the inconvenience of moving to new ones. The old building will be torn out when the new one is completed.

Steel girders and other material that have been delayed have arrived and the work on the Community church has again been resumed, after a delay of several days. Rev. Stotts states that the work will progress as far as the funds available will permit and the balance of the building will be finished at a later date. At present it is planned to build the base sub floor and using this part for the requirements of church work until such a time as there is enough money available to complete the addition, which will cost $20,000 when completed. The original building is rapidly being outgrown by the increasing congregation and the addition is needed to care for the many meetings held there.

May Move Factory

The Kindler stain factory, manufacturing several kinds of wood stain, is working at full capacity and the owner contemplates moving to Los Angeles to be near the railroads, as his shipments have increased until the factory is supplying sixty stores in the south.

G. A. Huffaker, automobile dealer of Van Nuys, has bought property on North Marshall street and is erecting a brick and tile residence for his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Hendrick.

AWARD CONTRACT ON STREET WORK

Improvement on Pioneer Ave. Will Cost $109,101, Is Trustees' Report

BURBANK, May 5.—A contract in the sum of $109,101.05 has been awarded to George A. Simpson by the City Trustees for the improvement of Pioneer avenue. This is one of the biggest contracts the board has handled for some time and is but one of several others let at the same time, the balance for smaller amounts.

The contract for the improvement of Alameda avenue from San Fernando boulevard to Olive avenue, was let to Mr. Moser, which added several more thousands to the amount of street work.

The bidders for the improvement of First street from Magnolia to Verdugo avenues were quite plentiful, there being nine aspirants for the privilege of transferring that thoroughfare from its present condition into a smoothly paved highway. The bids were referred to the city engineer for examination and recommendation.

There were five bidders on the improvement of Santa Anita avenue from Kenneth road to Tenth street and four bids for the improvement of Bonnywood place.

Add Light Unit

No longer will Burbank be plunged in Stygian dark when the regular electric system goes "on the blink," according to Superintendent French of the public utilities department, who states that the City Trustees have authorized an added unit at the Magnolia avenue sub-station, which can be switched on when the main plant fails, thus eliminating the not always romantic candle light of yore. The new unit will cost $3700.

WILL PICK NAME FOR NEW PATROL

Boy Scouts Elect Officers To Head Organization Backed by Legion

MONTROSE, May 5.—The new patrol of Boy Scouts of America met last week at the Montrose schoolhouse under direction of Scoutmaster George Nelson.

As this patrol is sponsored by Verdugo Hills Post No. 288 of the American Legion, Commander Sullivan was present to give his assistance and support. The name of the new patrol has not been decided on, but next Friday night, May 9, will, no doubt, be the night the name is chosen.

Officers Are Chosen

Charter members of the baby patrol are: John Hansen, Elmer Adkins, Basil Brooks, C'uck Hamson, Billy Downan, Donald Skelie and Siegel Swain.

Officers elected were: Chuck Hamson, patrol leader; Elmer Adkins, assistant; Basil Brooks, scribe and secretary. They will meet every Friday night at Montrose.

An all-year coaster can be made for boys by adding a new type of rubber-tired wheels to roller skates.

Main Thoroughfare Improved as Part Of Street Program

SUNLAND, May 5.—Walnut drive has been graded, oiled and graveled and is now one of the best conditioned streets in the valley. The road crew has just finished work in the Sunland territory and several streets are much improved.

The Sunland Chamber of Commerce has plans for an extensive street improvement program for next year and intends to take up this important community project at a date early enough to insure favorable consideration.

Although the tower of London was built nearly four hundred years ago it is still in perfect condition.

CROWDS ON HAND FOR MAY REVELS

Verdugo City Commerce Body Sponsors Jolly Party At La Crescenta

LA CRESCENTA—May 5.—Saturday night was the occasion of a May Day party given by the Association of Commerce of Verdugo City. The party was held in the La Crescenta school auditorium, which was taxed to its limit. People who never before graced any public gathering in the valley were out in force, and everyone had a jolly good time.

The auditorium had been beautifully and artistically decorated by Mr. and Mrs. George Hansen, who had full charge of the affair. On the chandeliers were hung streamers of blooming honeysuckle, while the footlights and apron of the stage were smothered under a bank of greenery, in which calla lilies were placed as if growing there. Large vases of lilies and yellow broom were placed at the ends of the stage, where "Singing Jim" and his orchestra from Tujunga played for the entire evening.

The refreshment table had beautiful bowls of dark American Beauty roses on it, while the punch bowl was hidden by a vase spray of orange blossoms. Pure made cakes found a ready sale here, and $20 was raised at this table.

Musical Features

Miss Ruth Pitts of Los Angeles sang, accompanied by John Martin at the Gulbransen player piano, leading the occasion by Salmacia Brothers of Glendale. Miss Pitts has a voice of rare charm and delighted her audience particularly with the "Jewel" song from "Faust." "Singing Jim" sang two songs composed by himself for the Verdugo City people and La Crescenta valley.

The chief attraction of the evening was the beautiful Maypole dance done by twelve women, each of whom was presented with useful favors, such as face powder, powder puffs, bead necklaces and bracelets. Little Eileen Karr, daughter of Dr. Karr of Verdugo City, did a very clever ballet dance.

Presents Notable

Speeches were made by James Brown, president of Montrose Chamber of Commerce, and H. N. Fowler, president of Verdugo City association. Mr. Fowler also introduced Mark Collins, president of the La Crescenta improvement association.

The representative men of the valley were next lined up for a flashlight picture, with a group of dancers behind them as background. These pictures will be used by Mr. Fowler for publicity purposes.

A little lot of 5 years gave a clever little reading entitled "Forget-Me-Not," at the end of which she threw a velvet flower into the audience.

Altogether, the whole evening was a huge success—financially and every way.

POPULAR COUPLE MARRIED IN L. A.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Henry to Build New Residence Up In Sunland

SUNLAND, May 5.—Miss Mary Agnes Smith of San Fernando and Charles Orton Henry of Sunland were married Sunday, April 27, at the home of Mrs. B. D. Bancus, sister of the bridegroom, in Los Angeles.

The bride wore a gown of light blue chiffon, handsomely beaded, and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and fern. The home was beautifully decorated in an apricot and lavender color scheme. A wedding breakfast was served, following the ceremony.

The groom is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Henry of Hill street, Sunland, and is engaged in business with his father in Los Angeles. The office staff presented the couple with an electric urn and several pieces to match. Many beautiful presents were received by the couple. They will make their home at Michigan avenue and First street until their new home is built on Hill street.

Buy Sunland Home

Ted Wilson, sales manager for Blake, Moffat and Togue of Los Angeles for this district, has purchased a home on North Victor street, Sunland, and has taken up his residence there with his wife and baby.

Increasing business has made necessary the addition of an assistant at the Sunland postoffice. Postmaster Stevens has employed Miss Oveline Peete to act in that capacity.

'Father and Boy' Is Subject of Address

TUJUNGA, May 5.—"Father and the Boy" was the subject of an address delivered to members of the Tujunga Kiwanis club Friday by Rev. William Middlemass of Eagle Rock. Fifteen members of the Eagle Rock club attended the weekly lunch meeting and as a special courtesy the Tujunga club turned the meeting over to them.

A large crowd attended the dance and entertainment given at Sunland by the Kiwanis club May 1 and a neat sum was added to the treasury.

Although the tower of London was built nearly four hundred years ago it is still in perfect condition.

Glendale People
"Come Across" on Every Occasion

Community Loyalty is no idle, high-sounding phrase as applied to the people of Glendale. They demonstrate their loyalty to Glendale in every crisis, on every possible occasion. They "came across" generously in the drive for a $50,000 advertising fund for the city as they did in voting bonds for more than a million and a half dollars for a sewer system.

The people of Glendale are loyal, also, in their patronage of home business and home industries. This manner of showing loyalty is not so spectacular as making big contributions to the advertising fund or voting the sewer bonds, but it is just as necessary; it is fraught with results as worth-while and demonstrates just as great a devotion to the community.

However, trading in Glendale and patronizing Glendale professions and trades is an easy way to boost the community after all. All must buy at least the necessities of life and nearly every one buys more than that. Every family spends a specified sum for food and clothing, luxuries and amusements. It is just as easy, in fact it is easier, to spend this sum in Glendale than it is to go out of town. And, today, Glendale stores can compete with stores any place in the country.

"Distance lends enchantment" is often true of merchandise and the one who succumbs to this lure and goes outside of Glendale to trade usually does so thoughtlessly. He does not stop to think that he is doing injury to his home community. He has never had any training in the science of Community Development and has never made a study of community problems.

The advertisers on this page are endeavoring to reach these people and to show them that Community Loyalty is necessary and worth-while in the program for a Greater Glendale in which we are all engaged, and that Community Loyalty embraces spending the family budget in Glendale where the money can be used again and again in community improvements.

VEIL TORN FROM BRITAIN'S LIQUOR RUNNING SYSTEM

Family Quarrel Brings Out Charge That Syndicate Is Rum Smuggler

By DAVID M. CHURCH
For International News Service.
LONDON, May 5.—Little by little the curtain is being drawn and light is being thrown on the inside working of rum-running syndicates, operating from the British Isles.

In a statement made to Justice Eve, of the Chancery Division, James Campbell openly charged that the Spike Trading Company, Limited, a British corporation, was an organization formed for the purpose of smuggling whiskey into the United States.

Campbell came into court in an action brought against him by the company to recover about $2,000, which it was alleged, had been entrusted to him, and which he is alleged to have secured from the proceeds of whiskey sales near the United States. Campbell was made the subject of the court order, and asked for dismissal of the order on the grounds that the corporation was asking for enforcement of an illegal contract. The judge dismissed the order.

Investigation of the Spike Trading company discloses that it is practically a British corporation in its entirety, Angus Campbell McLean, a retired British naval officer, being the only member of the corporation claiming American citizenship.

The corporation was formed in October, 1921, for the purpose of "carrying on the business of general traders." It was a private company, with no shares being offered for sale publicly, and its capital was fixed at the nominal sum of $1,000, divided into four thousand shares.

The original subscribers to the corporation are all men of apparently established business connections in England. They are officially listed as follows: James Campbell, Arthur T. Metcalf, a retired government official; Angus Campbell McLean, a retired British naval officer. These same three appear as the original directors of the company.

Shares were allotted to a considerable number of British business men, including merchants, accountants, business managers, real estate agents and one woman, Elizabeth Franklin, who gives her address in a fashionable suburban district of London.

That the people back of this corporation are persons of means is indicated by the addresses which they have filed with their incorporation papers, which make the addresses of the backers look like a list of substantial English country homes.

That the practice for the British rum-runners to incorporate is general is indicated by the fact that during the court proceedings it was brought out that the Spike Trading company was working in co-operation with a concern known as the Tudor Investment trust.

Lieut.-Col. Sir Broderick Hartwell has apparently not found it necessary to incorporate, but he is still doing business at his old stand, and it is understood that his prospectuses inviting investors to join in rum-running ventures have brought sympathetic responses from some American investors.

PLAN CONFERENCE OF RADIO HEADS

Hoover Announces He Will Call Meeting Within Next Few Months

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The value and efficiency of the estimated five million radio receiving sets in the United States are menaced unless broadcasters reach a new voluntary agreement.

This was learned today when Secretary of Commerce Hoover announced that, regardless of passage or rejection of radio bills before Congress, he will call a radio conference within the next few months.

Broadcasters, manufacturers, scientists, government radio experts and amateurs will be asked to assemble in Washington for a third national conference to perfect voluntary regulations and eliminate situations that congressional legislation cannot reach.

Secretary Hoover said that he would await action of Congress on radio legislation in order to determine the steps regarded as necessary to save what has become one of the greatest of American pastimes.

It is said that Lincoln has had a greater effect on the American man than any other figure of our history.

BATTLE OF BIBLE IS SERMON TOPIC

Dr. H. I. Rasmus, in Address, Calls Book Greatest Literary Gem

"The Battle of the Bible" was the topic of the sermon delivered Sunday morning at the First Methodist church by Dr. H. I. Rasmus. The text was taken from Matthew, 24-25, "Heaven and earth shall pass away, but My words shall not pass away," and Psalms, 33-4, "For the word of the Lord is right."

Dr. Rasmus said: "In these texts which I have chosen are two very positive statements, back of which are unquestioned authority divine. The first states the integrity of the Bible, its imperishability. When the earth shall have faded, when the sun is dimmed, when the stars of violet blue shall be no more, then the word of God shall continue to shine forth with infinite beauty. No day shall ever be appointed for its burial, no spade of any gravedigger shall turn a sod for its grave, forever it will be on the center table of heaven."

"Each and every age has had its literature, its printed page of great writers, but one and all have largely passed into oblivion, while the Bible lives on and on. The battle of the Bible has been a most terrific one for self-existence. It has gone through the persecution of sword, fire and blood. The Greeks derided it, the Romans cast it into the fire, the infidels buried it under sarcasm and ridicule, but still it lives on, with its matchless power and influence. Besides fighting its own battles it has struggled for the life of the human race.

"The great strength of our nation is not in our statesmen, our great buildings, the riches of the United States treasury, in our organized social order, but it is found in the home and at the fireside where the family daily read and are governed by the word of God. The Bible is imperishable because it is right in its system of doctrine.

"All in all, the Bible is the greatest piece of literature that the world has ever seen. It accords with all the great principles of science. It contains reference to the great forces of nature before they were understood by the human family. The Bible is comprehensive and contains truths taught by various denominations."

CURIOUS SITUATION

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The curious situation of the department of justice representing the Wheeler-Brookhart committee that is investigating the department will be provided in Ohio courts on May 10, it developed today.

Senator Brookhart of Iowa, chairman, announced that Attorney-General Stone has agreed for department lawyers to represent the committee in the injunction and habeas corpus proceedings secured against it by Mel Daugherty, brother of the former attorney-general.

MEMORIAL AT OLD WELL IS PLANNED

Waters Provided First Bath for Present Emperor for Many Years Ago

TOKYO, May 5.—Desire to protect the well, the waters of which were used for the first bath of the present Emperor of Japan, is causing the Home Office authorities in Tokyo some concern. The well in question is known as the Kuku-no-I, or Chrysanthemum Well, and it is located near Nibiya tramstop, one of the busiest street corners in present-day Tokyo.

When the present Emperor, Yoshihito, was born, the well was under what was then the compound belonging to Marquis Nakayama, and water was taken from it for the first bath of the young heir apparent to the imperial throne. As Tokyo grew the home of the Marquis was torn down, and a restaurant replaced it. For many years the well was forgotten, and today, with a barrack restaurant standing over it, it has again come to the attention of Japanese lovers of history. The Toyoken Restaurant is the building now standing over the Emperor's well, and there every Saturday night Japanese youths and their maidens, lovers of modern jazz dancing, weave to and fro to the strains of music from an imported music box.

But the municipal authorities are determined that this spot shall not be forgotten and have therefore started a movement to raise funds and condemn the restaurant building, placing instead a suitable memorial over the old well.

This year $500,000,000 will be spent on erection of new hotels.

TRIP IN VALLEY IS PLEASANT NOW

Snow-Capped Mountains In Contrast With Orchards' Bright Blossoms

Mrs. Clara Fry of 409 Salem street has returned from a motor trip through San Joaquin Valley and a three days' visit with friends at Clovis, the trip being made as the guest of Earl Lyman, son of an old-time friend from Ohio.

Lyman motored here from his home in Rialto and making an early start the next morning, they covered the 300 miles through the valley in nine hours, going over the Ridge route and returning by the way of Mojave. Crossing the county lines they submitted to fumigation under the quarantine regulations five different times.

Snow on Hills

The tour through the valley is especially interesting at this season, the mountains still being capped with snow and the orchards making a striking contrast with late fruit still in blossom and early peaches and apricots already showing evidence of a coming crop.

The wooded hills, and groves of cottonwoods and sycamores adding still more beauty to the widely diversified scenery of that section of the state at this particular season.

They were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Merriman, old time friends from Ohio and were entertained Wednesday night at dinner at the home of the hostess' son, where all the guests were former friends from Ohio, and enjoyed a pleasant reunion. Side trips were taken into Fresno and nearby points.

ASKS FOR $500,000

NEW YORK, May 5.—Subjected to a severe cross-examination, Miss Helene Jesmer, of Los Angeles, former Follies beauty, sobbed on the witness stand, in her $500,000 suit against Philip Morgan Plant, young millionaire. She asks the sum for injuries received while riding in Plant's automobile four years ago.

Miss Jesmer contends her stage career was ruined by the accident which marred her beauty. She had to be assisted to the stand by her mother, who comforted her daughter and held her hand during her frequent breakdowns.

FILM RELEASES

HOLLYWOOD, May 5.—In order to meet the demands of the gigantic distribution schedule formulated at the sales department convention, which closed yesterday in San Francisco, Paramount will release eighteen pictures in the next thirty days at the Hollywood and Long Island studios. According to Jesse L. Lasky, first vice-president of the Famous Players-Lasky corporation, forty pictures will be released between August 1, 1924, and February 1, 1925.

Free Drapery Making Offer

Before buying draperies investigate this special offer. The assortment of materials is large and varied, the prices exceptionally low and the labor charge is eliminated, except on cornices, lambrequins, Austrian shades and ruffled curtains. This unusual offer is made to advertise our excellent drapery work to people all over Southern California—also to maintain our shops to full capacity.

Drapery Style Notes

The latest vogue in window decoration is a touch of color in the curtains. It may be the golden glow to give the room a cheerful, sunny tone, even on sunless days. Or it may be a coloring characteristic of the furnishing—a touch of blue to give the colonial feeling to colonial furnishings or architecture. But in any case it must not be sufficiently obvious to make a patchwork of color of the windows when seen from the street. In short, it must be a touch of color, not a splash of color. And, of course, the color must be sun-proof.

OFFICIALLY OPEN MUSIC WEEK HERE

Symphony Orchestra, Choral Club Appear Tonight At High School!

The first big event of the official program of Glendale's celebration of National Music Week will be the program tonight at the Broadway High school auditorium by the Glendale choral club and symphony orchestra, directed by J. Arthur Myers.

The orchestra will play "Unfinished Symphony" (First Movement) (Schubert) and "Henry VIII Dances" (German). Miss Marie Oliver is to give an Indian song.

Preceding the presentation of "Hawatha's Wedding Feast" (Coleridge-Taylor), there will be an elaborate Indian setting, with Arthur Dibbern, Julia Felley, Gould Moore, Mrs. Max Lynn Green, J. B. Clark, Paul Morgan, De Voine Davidson appearing as Indian characters.

During the presentation of the selection Dr. Joseph Marple is to sing a solo. The program begins at 8 o'clock and is open to the public.

New Member Added to Realty Firm, Son Born

Peter Thomas Hayward is announced as the junior member of the Hayward & McCartney realty firm of South Brand boulevard. He arrived Saturday, May 3, 1924, at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital, claiming Mr. and Mrs. E. Payson Hayward of 206 East Dryden street as parents and Mr. and Mrs. E. W. W. Hayward of 307 North Kenwood street and Mr. and Mrs. John Bibb of Pasadena as grandparents.

While young Mr. Hayward is loath to give a hasty opinion of his new home in Glendale, "the fastest growing city in America," he is surprised to find himself the sixth grandson of the E. W. W. Haywards.

Murphy's Comedians Drawing Big Crowds

The opening week of the Murphy's Comedians, showing in the big tent on North Brand boulevard, was featured by an attendance of over 9000 persons, according to reports from the box office. When the members of the cast presented "The Girl from Out Yonder" last night as the first performance of the second week's bill, every seat in the big tent was filled, and many persons stood along the sidewalks throughout the entire bill.

Glendale is to enjoy the unique distinction of possessing the first endocrine clinic in America. There are many and various clinics in every city of importance: children's clinics, surgical clinics, maternity clinics, etc., but an endocrine clinic is one in which diseases of the endocrine organs (the glands of internal secretion) are treated.

The reason why Glendale can feel particularly proud of the fact that the first endocrine clinic in America is to be located here, is because the study of the endocrine glands is engaging the attention of the brightest minds in the medical profession today. The development of this branch of medical science is one of the greatest advances of this age. It is in the same class with the developments of anesthesia, vaccination and plastic surgery.

The ground was broken for this institution today on Belmont street, between Broadway and Harward. It is to be known as the Harrower Clinic. Patients will be treated absolutely without charge at this clinic unless they are financially able to meet their expenses. It will be an attractive, two-story, red brick structure, with cement ornamentation.

Two cozy homes, with joints creaking protestingly and plaster cracking dolorously, went rumbling off down Broadway not long ago to make room for the new institution. But no matter how much the neighbors hated to see them go, they welcome the invasion of the clinic.

There will be in this building a research laboratory, a clinical laboratory, examination and X-ray rooms, and such paraphernalia as goes with an institution of this kind. The physicians will have at their command all the diagnostic, chemical, and physical tests necessary to properly determine endocrine disturbances. One of these, for instance, is the metabolism— an instrument used to estimate thyroid disorder.

Besides having the benefit of the best appointments and equipment that money can buy and science can produce, the patients will have the best counsel that can be obtained regarding disorders of the glands. They will have the benefit of Dr. Henry R. Harrower's knowledge—and he is considered an authority on this subject on both sides of the Atlantic.

Specialist in Charge Dr. Horace A. Hall, who will be in direct charge of the clinic, is also a specialist in this branch of medical science. He has studied and worked with Dr. Harrower for some time and is eminently fitted to take charge of the first endocrine clinic in America. Dr. Hall will leave shortly for New York where the laboratory equipment will be purchased.

The Harrower Clinic will be supported by the Harrower Foundation. This is a fund which is devoted to charitable work and is designed especially to give persons with glandular disorders the benefit of the best that medical science has discovered in this line.

WASHING MACHINE OF NEW TYPE MAKES APPEARANCE ON MARKET

By Prudence Penny

It's been a long time since I talked to you about a new washing machine hasn't it?

Well, sir, I've a dandy one to tell you about today.

In fact, there is so much to say about it that I am almost at a loss to know where to begin.

Supposing we take the appearance of it first, then, just as I saw it when I went down to examine it.

I saw a cabinet-shaped object, not so very large, covered with crettonne, and it might have been almost anything from the outside appearance.

When the crettonne covering was removed there stood a white enamel cabinet with corners of gray enamel, a great enamel tray on top and no sign of wringer, washer nor anything to indicate what it represented except the outlet pipe threaded for a hose through on one side. There was a small door at the rear, and when I opened it there was exposed the very simple and compact mechanism that operates this machine.

By this time the tray had been lifted off the top and the wringer was swung into position. You know what a drophead sewing machine is, don't you? Well, this is a drophead (drop wringer) washing machine, which means that when you are through using it you can store it away with the wringer securely covered so there will be no dirt collecting on it.

Operation Simple I was amazed at the smallness and lightness of the frame until I learned that it was pressed steel, strong and durable, yet so light that a paper held between the rollers of the wringer was sufficiently strong to pull it around. That's not only because of the lightness of the frame, but the big rubber, steel-bound casters, which permit of easy handling.

Then the tub. Copper, of course, as all first-class tubs are, white, lacquered, well balanced and with a capacity of six sheets. This means you could wash six sheets, or twelve shirts, or twenty-five to thirty small pieces in it at one time.

The wringer is the latest improved aluminum type, with the safety protection we demand in wringers these days, and the operation of the machine is so simple that I was frankly delighted. Practically no noise, so little vibration that I was down on my knees half the time to see "what made the wheels go round," and altogether a well inclosed perfect cabinet type of machine that will protect the wee ones from interfering or from any danger, yet so well built that I am sure there is going to be mighty little servicing of it.

Small or Large Homes There is a friction clutch which starts the machine slowly and evenly, no jerking. The motor is mounted so that the fuse cannot blow out, even though a careless woman lets several thicknesses of blanket run through the wringer. And the drain is different from anything I've seen. Two drain holes in the tub itself, which connect at the corner underneath, and the water runs into a metal "pan," and from this can be connected with the sewer or with a hose to let the water run away without any trouble whatever. It's a decided improvement on most drain pipes.

Now supposing you have a large house with a stationary tub, this machine may be fitted right beside the tub. Or supposing you have a very small house with no stationary tub. The machine can be put on the back porch, in the kitchen and with its crettonne cover even in the dining room. If in the kitchen it will probably be used as a mixing table, as the drophead wringer and smooth enamel surface of tray provides a dandy opportunity for the woman to have a separate table in her small apartment.

When you wash, you can put the tray on top of the machine, without interfering with the rocking tub beneath and rinse your clothes from an adjacent tub, back onto the tray, thus conserving space, time and energy. The tray may even be used to carry the wet clothes to the line.

One thing I must not overlook is the price. We have been accustomed to paying pretty big prices for washing machines, but this new one is so much cheaper that I confess I was critical indeed, until after I had gone over it thoroughly, and the price is only $117.50, with term arrangements if you prefer, although you will naturally pay interest if you buy on terms.

You may try the machine and examine it, and if you are in the market for this most necessary adjunct in the home, I hope you'll let me tell you something more about it.

WIT AND HUMOR FLASH AS WOMEN RALLY AT LUNCH

Review Work of Convention As Committees Gather As Board's Guests

Presidential gowns with a fashion thrill. Limited room with exhibits to fill; Club husbands worn and tried. Patient looks that thoughts be-

Poetically licensed, the humble Club Editor's mind ran thusly on the way home from the luncheon given Saturday at the Alexandria hotel in Los Angeles by the board of the Los Angeles District, California Federation of Women's Clubs, for members of convention committees and two club editors.

And to Mrs. Charles H. Toll, president of the district and respected townswoman, goes the blame for this mental pot-pourri for no sooner had she assembled her luncheon company about a table gorgeously decorated in lovely pink roses from the Monterey Park home of Mrs. Howard U. Sherwood, than she arose with gracious dignity to announce that ere the afternoon had sped each one present would be privileged to tell some sad or tragic, humorous or happy incident that happened to her during the recent convention in Glendale.

Silence immediately fell upon the care-free company when women again gulped her consomme with thoughtful precision.

Reckless abandon was the keynote of the after-luncheon hour for, with a witty start by Glendale's Irish president, Mrs. Daniel Campbell, the convention was reeled with humor and an inspiring spirit of praise and appreciation over its success.

Following Mrs. Campbell, Glendale's "financial wizard," Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, president-elect of the Tuesday Afternoon club, gave greetings, and others from Glendale, who were called upon were Mesdames R. W. Meeker, Homer D. Lockwood, Alexander Mitchell, J. M. Eyerick, H. C. Wilcox, Mabel Franklin Ocker, C. W. Houston, Warren Z. Newton, E. W. Gilliland, Hugh Blue, Lillian Dow, H. R. Boyer, H. S. McCormack, May C. Church, C. H. Temple, Emil Johnson, C. G. Putnam, A. A. Barton, C. J. Higgins, E. W. W. Hayward, Allen Fairchild, S. C. Packer, H. A. McPherson, H. R. Boyer, Miss Eva Daniels, Katherine V. Sinks and Gertrude Gibbs.

Glendale had the unique experience of being represented both by the hostess group and by the guests, Mrs. Charles H. Toll, Mrs. H. S. McCormack and Mrs. R. W. Meeker being members of the board of the district and also members of the Tuesday Afternoon club.

Other guests were Mrs. Alton L. Drown, president of the Ventura county club federation; Mrs. Charles F. van de Water, Mrs. F. A. Fysh, Miss Vera E. Best of the resolution committee during the convention; Miss Nellie M. McCormack, Mrs. T. A. Gould, credentials and badges committee during the convention; Mrs. R. G. Du Puy of the revision committee during the convention.

Members of the district board acting as hostesses were Mesdames Charles H. Toll, J. R. Lorbeer, A. L. Brown, W. W. Slayden, H. S. McCormack, Warren Holden, Charles S. McKelvey, Edward A. Tufts, R. W. Meeker, L. A. Irish, A. S. C. Forbes, W. S. Stevens, William Raymond Myers, W. A. McCormick, John Stearns Thayer, E. E. Leighton, W. E. Mabey, Clara Bryant Heywood, Mab Copeland Lineman, E. M. Timmerhoff, C. J. Colden, Frank Sammons, E. M. Lszard, Howard U. Sherwood, R. E. Skinner, O. B. Manchester, D. J. Baptiste, Dr. Julia R. Johnson, Dr. Luna B. Phelps, Adah V. McGorray, Misses Eloise Forman, Anne McPherson, Lloy Galpin.

Concluding the convention reminiscences Mrs. O. B. Manchester, chairman of endowment for the district, and Mrs. Clara Bryant Heywood, chairman of drama, gave two clever readings.

Mrs. Manchester read "The Elected Mother" by Marian F. Davies, while Mrs. Heywood gave a negro dialect sketch, "Monument Money."

So to the mind of the humble club editor the afternoon was full of much human interest and a veritable all was said and done the modern club women remained the same eternal feminine question mark and the fascinat feature of the twenty-third annual convention of the Los Angeles District, California Federation of Women's Clubs in Glendale, continues to tickle her artistic sense.

Supreme Court Fixes Period of Its Recess

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The supreme court has announced a recess from May 5 to May 12. The call of the docket for arguments will be suspended for the present term Friday, May 2. Many decisions are expected during and early in June, when the court will recess until next October.

WARREN FUNERAL HELD

Why I Am In Glendale

After having lived in Kansas, Iowa, Oklahoma and Colorado, we came to Southern California six years ago, but failed to investigate, or even see Glendale at that time, for which we are very sorry now. But, while living in other parts of the Golden State we soon began to hear of Glendale, and an investigation soon convinced us that we were in the wrong place, so we moved to this city, and here is what we think of Glendale. We would like Southern California unto a beautiful golden ring, with a glorious setting. Southern California is the ring, Glendale is the jewel which gives the ring its great beauty and high value. Without doubt Glendale is the liveliest, most ambitious, and fastest growing city in California. And because of this ambition, it will continue to grow, and to prosper. Glendale offers the best inducements and opportunities from a business standpoint. A wonderful climate, and great scenic attractions, added to an interesting variety of social affairs, to say nothing of our excellent school system, to make an ideal home town for any family. What more can man want?

NEWS WINS PRAISE FROM CLUBWOMEN

Reports of Convention Held in Glendale Lauded by District Officers

Countless compliments were paid The Glendale Evening News Saturday at the luncheon given in Los Angeles by the board of the Los Angeles District, California Federation of Women's Clubs, for the convention committees, on the special editions issued during the convention in Glendale April 8, 9 and 10.

Mrs. Leland Atherton Irish, chairman of press for the district, was most enthusiastic in her praise of The News. She stated that it will fill major space in the press book she is preparing for the district president, Mrs. Charles H. Toll. She also added that many club presidents attending the convention had taken copies of The News home with them as reports on the convention to their clubs, for they said, "What we read in The Glendale Evening News were verbatim reports of the convention activities."

Send Copies Abroad

Compliments were also received from Mrs. Toll, district president, Mrs. E. M. Timmerhoff, district and state chairman of circulation, and from other district officers and chairmen present.

Many reported that they had sent copies of The Glendale Evening News to friends in distant parts, some to the New England states, and others to Honolulu.

Children's Ailments

Certain forms of defectiveness in children, cretinism, and some forms of epilepsy are responding to glandular treatment. Diabetes mellitus, a serious disorder which has hitherto been treated almost exclusively by dietary measures, is now considered to be due partly, at least—to pancreatic insufficiency, and is being treated successfully with extracts of the pancreas. Many other disorders are now believed to be due to either an under- or overactivity of certain glands and are responding satisfactorily to glandular treatment.

Not only Glendale, but Southern California will reap the benefits of this unique and valuable institution.

MEN'S GLEE CLUB SING AT CHURCH

Los Angeles Singers Will Appear Tonight With Varied Program

National Music Week has arrived and according to Glendale's program for the week it is to be a most harmonious celebration. One of the feature events is to be the concert tonight at the Glendale Presbyterian church at South Louise and East Harvard streets, by the Men's Glee club of the Bible Institute of Los Angeles, and the Men's Harmony quartet.

BOOK PRINTING AND DESERT ARE ARTISTS' TOPICS

Geritz and Sayre Speak at Association Meeting Held in Library

A double treat was enjoyed by members and visitors of the Glendale Art association at the meeting in the public library Sunday afternoon, when Frank Geritz, of Los Angeles, artist, noted for his block-prints, and Grayson Sayre, of Glendale, painter of desert pictures, were guests of honor and speakers on subjects that widely differed, but were equally interesting and entertaining.

Mr. Geritz gave a short history of the first use of block printing in this art, which he calls the "impressionist era," and which were in use by the Chinese, in A.D. 868. Later they were used in other parts of the old world and used to illustrate religious books. Colored by hand, they were sold in lieu of paintings, and finally printed into the printer's type. He told how block cutting went out of use with the coming of photography, and again was replaced by the "white line" block. The block print was introduced into Japan by Buddhist missionaries, through religious books, and today the Japanese have reached a greater perfection in block prints, from a study value than we have.

Democratizes Work

Mr. Geritz, who was a painter for years, has taken up block print work since the coming of the impressionist era, and is now connected with the Art Extension course of the University of Southern California. He gave an interesting demonstration of the work, by cutting and completing prints from a block-print, and had on display a number of beautiful block-prints of well-known celebrities and strikingly beautiful landscapes. In demonstration of the use of color in changing the character of a subject he used a number of portraits of Edward Weston, photographer of South Glendale.

Tells Desert Lure

"No man can paint the desert unless he has lived there," said F. Grayson Sayre, who gave an interesting talk on the subject in which he is deeply interested. "I love it for its vastness, its bigness, and its many phases of character. You can find in it just what you look for. You may see only desolation and waste, but if you look for it you can find also color, peace and harmony. If you paint the desert you must paint it as you feel it."

Glendale Landmarks

Mr. Sayre also touched on civic beauty and landmarks in Glendale, and closed his talk with this tribute to the Art Association: "I can see that the art impulse is growing in this organization."

Plan Open Meetings

It was also decided the trustees declared, to make the first Monday in each month an open meeting, to which each member would be required to bring a friend, preferably a business man who is not a member of the association. Failure to bring a guest will result in the offender being fined 25 cents. The first open meeting will be held Monday, May 12.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Senate oil inquirers directed their investigation into geological conditions and leases upon naval reserve No. 2 at Buena Vista, California, a phase of the oil inquiry which has thus far been left virtually untouched.

Services at Nazarene Church Well Attended

The services held in the Nazarene church on South Glendale avenue yesterday were unusually well attended and of a varied and interesting nature.

The afternoon service, beginning at 3 o'clock, included a sermon by Mrs. U. E. Robbins on "Divinity of Jesus Christ." Mrs. Robbins is a speaker of unusual ability and delivered a forceful message.

Mr. Don Cole, a worker with the young people, gave a farewell talk during the young people's meeting. Mrs. Cole has been residing in Glendale for the past year and is now returning to her home in Colorado. At the close of the service the Young People's society presented her with a gift as a token of their love and appreciation.

Patient In Hospital Donates $1 to Fund

Seriously ill and with death possibly near, J. H. Ewart of 1147 East Lexington drive, nevertheless thought enough of Glendale to send a dollar bill from the Los Angeles General hospital, where he is a patient, as his "bit" in the advertising fund campaign just closed.

Secretary Eugene F. Sanders of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, who makes the report, this morning phoned the General hospital to thank Mr. Ewart in person, but was unable to talk with him. He left word with an attendant.

Pocketbook Reported As Lost by Motorist

The loss of a pocketbook containing $13 in money and two small checks was reported to the police yesterday by Miss Vezerian, 843 Magnolia street.

She stated that she left in on the running board of her car and did not miss it until she arrived in Glendale.

Car Is Stolen While Owner Attends Church

G. L. Spencer, 546 Summit avenue, Pasadena, reported to the police last night the theft of his Ford touring car, with license No. 975-544, while he was attending the First Baptist church.

An adjustable metal holder to fit the various sized glass baking dishes, is now on the market.

ONE DEAD, THREE ARE INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

Garrett McHugh of Van Nuys Fatally Hurt In Crash Sunday Morning

One man was killed and three persons were injured as the result of automobile accidents during the week-end in Glendale. Garrett McHugh, 1421 East Sherman Way, Van Nuys, member of the county inter-post council and one of the most prominent Legionnaires in southern California, died at the Cottage hospital in Burbank shortly before 3 o'clock Sunday morning, as the result of injuries received in an automobile crash at the junction of San Fernando road and Ruberta avenue twenty minutes earlier.

McHugh was going north on San Fernando road, in an Essex speedster, alone, when he crashed into a car in which Y. T. Rogers, Fred Kuhn and Miss Louise Karpe, all of Los Angeles, were riding. In the report of the accident made at police headquarters, Lieut. Nunn and Officer Hedrick state that it was very foggy at the time, and the road very slick. Both cars were proceeding at a normal rate of speed, and just as McHugh met the car going south, he struck a bump in the road, it is said, and his machine swerved directly into the path of the other car.

Skull Is Fractured

A passing car was stopped and he was rushed to the hospital at Burbank, but he died without regaining consciousness. He is said to have suffered a fracture of the skull, in addition to numerous cuts around the head and face.

Jack Trafion, 351 Salem street, sustained injuries to his foot in a collision at the corner of Broadway and Isabel between his motorcycle and a car driven by Curtis Moore, 462 West California street, at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Trafion was taken to the Glendale hospital, where his injuries received attention.

Mrs. G. S. Kimble, aged 22, of 2715 Marsaj avenue, Los Angeles, received a bad cut over the right eye and other minor abrasions when the car driven by her husband collided with a machine driven by Miss Lou Matthews, 22 Rampart boulevard, Los Angeles, 9:30 o'clock Sunday night, at the corner of Glendale boulevard and Riverside drive. She was taken to the Glendale hospital, where her injuries received attention.

Felis Herriman of the Hollenbeck hotel, Los Angeles, was slightly injured on San Fernando

Free Drinks and Bottle of Punch Given Wednesday

Everybody's to have a free drink in Glendale Wednesday, May 7, which is "National Bottled Carbonated Beverage Day," and the public is invited to visit the Sierra Club Beverage Company's plant at East Wilson avenue and Isabel street. "Glendale Punch," said to be a true fruit drink, will be served and a free bottle will be given to every visitor.

degree knights who headed the long column, and by the Boy Scouts of the various California cities. There followed Alhambra, the American Legion band, Hollywood, Manchester, Los Angeles and numerous other councils, ninety in all.

The line of march was down Colorado boulevard to the reviewing stand outside the Maryland hotel, and from there to Tournament park, where a military mass was held with Monsignor McCarthy in charge. This was followed by an 11:30 o'clock sermon by Father Donahue, and an address by Joseph Scott, Knight of St. Gregory. Fully 15,000 knights and visitors heard these addresses, including 1000 U. S. sailors from the Pacific fleet, who were in the mammoth parade.

Lunch was served in the park at 1 o'clock, and was followed by the institution of the South Pasadena council, and by the ball game that brought Glendale the championship of Southern California.

In the afternoon many went on sight-seeing tours around Pasadena, visiting the Busch Gardens and other points of interest.

The Glendale contingent returned home at 6 o'clock last night. Tonight about twenty-five couples will journey to Pasadena again, to be present at the annual convention banquet, which marks the high point of the gathering.

Among those from Council No. 1920 who are expected to attend the banquet are: Peter L. Ferry, deputy of the San Fernando valley district; Jesse E. Smith, grand knight of the local council; Francis Wallace, manager of the local clubhouse; Leo McMahon and A. J. Mailoux.

FINDS BUSINESS IS OVERDONE IN EASTERN CITIES

Mrs. E. C. Pendroy Observes Conditions on Trip Of Six Weeks

Frank in her declaration that business in the east is bad, probably because business is overdone, Mrs. E. C. Pendroy of the Pendry store, has arrived home from a six weeks' business trip in New York and Chicago and a week in Youngstown, Ohio, where she was the guest of her uncle, B. McManux, well-known merchant.

"This pessimistic report on business is not entirely attributed to the presidential year by eastern wholesale merchants and manufacturers," says Mrs. Pendroy, "but to the fact that business is overdone. Then, of course, the scandal in Washington, B. C., has had its effect on business.

"Not until merchants conduct their businesses in a business-like way will there be a return to prosperity."

Changes in Styles

She reports that milady in the east is bobbing her hair with more carefree abandon than ever; that the very white complexion with deeply rouged lips is popular; that the spring suit or tailored dress, emphasizing the navy blue shade, and worn with a bright color scarf, is most popular. The tailored skirt is from ten to twelve inches from the floor. Light-colored hose is also being worn extensively.

"A sport wave has hit the whole United States," she adds, "and while in the east sports wear is not as much in demand as in the west, every merchant makes this a sports feature, and a touch of the sports styles is seen on everything."

Reports Pair Jumped In Car When Stopped

As C. E. Wilson, living in Fernando court, jumper out of his car in front of his residence shortly after 7 o'clock last night, two men jumped in and drove off rapidly. Shortly after midnight a call came in from Alhambra that the car had been left there by two men who had burglarized a house in that city.

There were nearly 200 film producers in the dramatic field in this country in 1923.

A LETTER THAT WILL INTEREST YOU

My dear Dr. Peters:-

Just a few words to express my appreciation and to tell you of my great improvement. Really there is nothing like an equal distribution of flesh and a normal weight for a singer. Not only your diet but your suggestions have accomplished this for me. To the average singer who has not tried it, the added vocal facility and attendant physical ease which have been mine as a result of the diet, is hardly believable.

The ordinary, rigid, old fashioned diet is such a difficult task to which to adhere, that your equal distribution of all foods, which includes what one likes as well as what one should eat, is a real joy. It is the best, the sanest, and the most efficacious of any food routine I have ever tried for it includes everything and at the same time accomplishes every requirement.

I have always exercised and danced to keep my weight normal, but now I feel I do not have to depend on either any longer.

With appreciation.

Sincerely yours, Jeanne Gordon

Diet and Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M.D.
Author of Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories

ORANGE VS. MILK

Can oranges take the place of milk in the child's diet? No, they cannot.

I want to make this very emphatic, because recently in a group of under-nourished children who were given lunches at school in the morning to increase their weight, it was found that those who were given a lunch consisting of one orange and two graham crackers gained more weight than those who were given milk. Because of these findings an erroneous impression may be given that oranges can take the place of milk.

But in these series of cases, why did the oranges give better results than milk? Most likely it was because they stimulated the appetite so that more food, perhaps including milk, was taken at home. Oranges are very high in anti-neuritic or vitamin B., and that vitamin seems to have more to do with the stimulation of the normal digestion and appetite than the other vitamins do. One of the reasons for the lack of appetite in the under-nourished children is a lack of this vitamin.

The group of children who were given these lunches were from homes where the economic status permitted adequate food, so states Margaret Cheney, in the American Journal of Diseases of Children, and it is quite probable that the children were getting sufficient milk in the homes.

Oranges, of course, aside from their vitamins and mineral salts, have the fruit sugar which is a valuable energy food. A big orange contains 100 calories of energy food.

Now if oranges are good energy foods and contain more of the valuable vitamin B. than milk does, why can they not take the place of milk? For this reason: Oranges contain very little protein and the little they do contain is not a complete protein—that is, it does not contain all of the elements necessary for growth of muscles and tissues. Milk, on the other hand, has the best and most complete protein of all foods. Milk is also very high in calcium and phosphorus salts, which are so vital for the bones and teeth.

Give your child oranges and other fruits (up to a cupful or more a day), but know that they cannot take the place of milk. Let me tell you a little more about the value of oranges. They are not only high in the anti-neuritic vitamins, but they are very high in the anti-scurvy vitamins. Babies should have orange juice for this reason. It can be begun as early as the third month, between the morning feedings. It is best to begin with five or ten drops, diluted well with water, and increase the amount by five or ten drops every day or so until at least two full tablespoonfuls are taken.

It is sometimes found that babies will suffer from scurvy even when they are getting orange juice, if it is not given in sufficient amounts. I remember in particular one case I had. A seven months' old baby, developing scurvy, was brought to me. It was apparently on an adequate diet, including one tablespoonful of orange juice a day. The only thing I did to change the diet was to increase the orange juice gradually to three tablespoonfuls. The child rapidly recovered.

There are other fruits and vegetables which can take the place of orange juice. Tomato juice, cooked or raw, raw turnip or cabbage juice, all have been found effective. It is best to give the orange juice, however, if you can get it. In case you use the canned tomatoes, they should be boiled first. It is found that the vitamins in acid solutions, such as tomatoes or oranges, are not destroyed by heat to the extent that they are in non-acid foods.

Photographs Sent By Radio

A device for sending photographs by radio or wire has been perfected by a German expert. DR. ARTHUR KORN (left) with the apparatus he uses for sending photographs by radio; a photo sent from Paris (below), and the same photo as it looked after being received by wireless in Berlin.

Perfection of the transmission of photographs by wireless telegraph is claimed by Dr. Arthur Korn, German scientist, after 20 years of study. The instrument devised by Dr. Korn for sending and receiving can be used for telegraphic as well as radio transmission.

The object to be sent is placed on a transparent cylinder or roller. With a marvelously delicate apparatus, the shading of the picture is tested in every detail, and through the operation of a resistance chemical called selenium, the picture is "fashed into the distance. In a test of the instrument, between Paris and Berlin, a picture of the French general, Mangan, was transmitted in twelve minutes. Dr. Korn is now endeavoring to speed up the apparatus.

SUN BATHS

It is impossible to over-estimate the importance of sun baths as a means of making the body healthy and beautiful. We had to come to the stage of civilization where we shut ourselves up in small apartments in narrow, sunless streets, in order to appreciate the medical value of the sunlight we were keeping ourselves away from.

In recent years several sanatoriums have been started whose treatment is simply to put their patients outdoors practically unclothed where the direct rays of the sun can reach their bodies. One famous place in Switzerland specializes in tubercular children and has made miraculous cures. It turns them out winter and summer, whether the snow is on the ground or not, dressed in loin cloths and boots; and the brilliant sunshine and the clean dry air of the mountains put health into frail bodies and heal nerves that should never, at that age, have been sick.

Give yourself a sun bath if you can find a practical way to do so. If you have or can make a sleeping porch secure from observation, stretch yourself out in the hot sunshine undressed for a little period each day. But be careful that you harden yourself gradually. The first day lay three minutes on your back and three minutes on your face, the second day four minutes, and so on, for a long exposure at the beginning might produce painful or even poisonous sunburning. If you have any doubts about this cheap and most beneficial treatment ask your doctor the length of time each day he considers best. But properly done you cannot over-estimate the amount of good there is in sun bathing.

In any case let your hair there and give it a sun bath whenever practical. Part the hair in different places every few minutes so the sun can reach every part of the scalp. This treatment can last half an hour at a time.

Grace—Your skin may only be showing the effect of the winter's overheated atmosphere, as is the case with many other people at this season of the year. Massage daily with a good cream and then stimulate the skin into healthy activity, by dashing cold water over it after the massage. Get outdoors as much as possible and sleep with all windows open.

G. C. A. C.—Peroxide bleaches the superfluous hair, but it is not a cure for this tendency; however, there have been instances when peroxide so weakened this growth that it gradually diminished. Your weight should be 110 pounds.

Heart and Home

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

HER LOVE IN PERIL

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl 18 years old and have been going with a young man of 21. We like each other very much, in fact we love each other, and were to have been married next month. Just a few days ago I told him I really couldn't marry so young and leave my dear mother, for she is 60 years old and I am the only girl at home and so I figure she needs me.

My friend understood and said he would be willing to wait, even forever, and I know he really meant it. This week I have let a couple of my friends take me home from down town. I told him so and he was very much hurt. Of course I promised never to do it again, but last Sunday a girl friend and I were down town. We saw him out riding with another girl which hurt me very much. He came to me in the evening and said he really did it to get even. I believed him at the time, but Monday I wrote him a letter and told him I never wanted to see him again.

I have been going with another boy since who said the one I love has been talking behind my back. My folks and I don't believe this. I promised this boy I would never tell if he told me, and so how am I to find out?

Wednesday night my friend came over and he really wanted me to forgive him. I could have forgiven him for going with the other girl, but not for talking about me, but I could not tell him that. He asked me to give him another chance, but I wouldn't. I told him I would go with him once in a while, but not steady. This he would not do, but he said I was a girl that he would always speak a good word about to every one.

I have been heart-broken since we parted and I am willing to give up everything and be true to him, but I fear it is too late now and that I would be making a fool of myself to go back. EDNA.

Probably the young man you love did not say anything bad about you behind your back. His actions show that he cares for you, and therefore it is not likely that he would talk as the other boy said he did. The other boy cannot be trusted because he is a "tale-bearer." Do nothing for the time being to straighten out the tangle. It may be that your sweetheart will be willing to meet you,

THE AFTER HOUSE

Vail's and Turner's cabins were situated. It was the one good turn the owner of the Ella did us on that hideous return journey, for during the most of the sixteen days that it took us to get back, he lay in his cabin, alternating the wild frenzy of delirium tremens with quieter moments, when he glared at us with crafty, murderous eyes, and picked incessantly at the bandages that tied him down. Not an instant did he sleep, that we could discover; and always, day or night, Vail was with him, and they were quarreling.

The four women took care of him as best they could. For a time they gave him the bromides I prepared, taking my medical knowledge without question. In the horror of the situation, curiosity had no place, and class distinctions were forgotten. That great leveler, a common trouble, put Henrietta Sloane, the stewardess, and the women of the party at the same table in the after house, where none ate, and placed the responsibility for the ship, although I was nominally in command, on the shoulders of all the men. And there sprang up among them a sort of esprit de corps, curious under the circumstances, and partly explained, perhaps, by the belief that in imprisoning Singleton they had the murderer safely in hand. What they thought of Turner's possible connection with the crime, I do not know.

Personally, I was convinced that Turner was guilty. Perhaps, lulled into a false security by the incarceration of the two men, we unconsciously relaxed our vigilance. But by the first night the crew were somewhat calmer. Here and there a pipe was lighted, and a plug of tobacco went the rounds. The forecastle supper, served on deck, was eaten, and Charlie Jones, securing a permission that I thought best to grant, went forward and painted a large black cross on the side of the jolly-boat, and below it the date, August 13. The crew watched in respectful silence.

What was the story of Singleton about the night of the murder? Did it help clear up the mystery of the "Ella"? Tomorrow's installment—The First Mate Talks—is full of interest.

Efficient Housekeeping

By LAURA A. KIRKMAN

- ### TOMORROW'S MENU
- Breakfast: Berries, Cereal, Hash
  - Coffee
  - Toast
  - Luncheon: Egg Salad, Whole Wheat Bread
  - Cocoa
  - Dinner: Cream of Cabbage Soup, Fried Liver and Bacon, Mashed Potatoes, Peas
  - Rhubarb Pie
  - Coffee
  - Baked Tomatoes, Mexican Style
- Butter a baking dish and put in the bottom a generous layer of uncooked tomatoes cut into pieces about an inch square and seasoned with salt and pepper. Next add a layer of peeled, sliced onions which you have cooked for about 20 minutes (or cooked enough to soften them slightly). Now add another tomato layer, another onion layer, dotting with bits of butter between each layer, and finish with tomatoes topped with buttered crumbs. Slip dish into a moderate oven to bake for about 35 minutes—possibly a little longer. When the onions and tomatoes are tender and the crumbs brown, the dish is done.
- Nut Bread—Mix together two cups of graham flour, two cups of white bread flour, one teaspoon of salt, one cup of sugar and four teaspoons of baking powder. Into this dry mixture stir two well-beaten eggs mixed with two cups of sweet milk. Also add one cup of chopped dates, and one cup of seeded raisins. Mix well, then pack into six baking powder cans, baking care not to fill these cans more than one-half full, as the bread will rise in them. Tie on tight-fitting covers and stand the cans in boiling water in a large pot. Let the water continue to boil around the cans for three hours, not reaching quite up to can-tops. It may be necessary to weight down the cans.

Potato Chips—Pare white potatoes and cut them into thin slices. Dry the slices well in a folded cloth, then place a few, at a time, in a small wire basket into hot fat to cook through. (Test by tasting.) Drain the cooked chips, then plunge them (still in the basket) into another pot which contains still hotter fat (smoking hot) to crisp them. Drain on crumpled brown paper before serving.

Mock Angel Food—Beat two eggs whites to a stiff froth, then gradually beat into them one cup of granulated sugar, one-half teaspoon of vanilla extract and fold in one rounded cup of bread flour which has been sifted four times with three rounded teaspoons of baking powder. Last add one cup of hot milk and turn the batter into a greased pan to bake for 45 minutes in a slow oven.

Tomorrow—Answered Letters

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use YOUR full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

COW HELPS BOY

Harry A. Knight, of Forest City, Ark., is going to college on the proceeds of a cow he bought when a boy of 14 for $100. By the sale of her calves, her milk and butter he increased his bank account so that he could buy other cows, and his herd now is valued at $2500 on the hoof, and his income per month from the herd is $150, or more than enough to maintain him in college. He has never accepted aid from his bank or friends since starting his herd.

TIGERS CAPTURE SERIES 5-2, WIN DOUBLE HEADER

Sunday Crowds See Thrillers As Seals Swamp Angels In Week of Play

LOS ANGELES, May 5.—Vernon won both games of a double header against Oakland yesterday at Washington Park and as a result the Tigers romped away with the series, five games to two.

Had it not been for young Jack Warner, Tiger shortstop, the afternoon final might have been garnered by the transpy nine.

LOS ANGELES, May 5.—The first game score was 5 to 1, with the afterpiece ending 2 and 1 and both were the kind of affairs that spectators delight in seeing.

LEAD-OFF HITTER IMPORTANT MAN

Pittsburgh Puts Bigbee In Maranville's Place To Get Results

By JOHN B. FOSTER. By Special Leased Wire to The Evening News, Copyright 1924.

NEW YORK, May 5.—The importance of having a lead-off man who can get on base at the start of a game has been realized by the Pittsburgh management in dropping Maranville from the lead-off post and substituting Bigbee.

Apparently this is a small change, and apparently some modern day managers would regard it as of little importance.

But it is important, for if the lead-off man can get on base and manage to score in the first inning, the opposing team is put in a hole where it takes two runs to win.

In the old days, when the Giants were good run makers and George Brown led off as batter, game after game was played in which the Giants would make a run—

Southworth, who is leading off for the New York Giants, batted only a little better than Maranville in April, but he did get bases on balls, and that is as good for scoring as getting on with a hit.

Statz has been leading off for the Chicago Nationals, and has batted about .250, which is better than either Southworth or Maranville.

Blue of Detroit has held the lead-off position of lead-off man for some time, and this year he is a little below form.

Witt of the Yankees led them all in April, and this year he is in the lead-off position.

Casey, who has been hitting the ball over more than waiting for it, has been tripping in batting, and then his showing will fall off.

EIGHTH INNING RALLY FATAL TO PASADENA TEAM

White Sox Crew Hits Thomas At Will and Overcome Four-Run Lead

By AL DIX. Of The Evening News Staff.

Coming from behind in the eighth inning, the fighting White Sox bunched seven hits off of "Lefty" Thomas, pitching for the Pasadena Merchants yesterday, winning the game 8 to 6 by scoring four runs before the smoke of battle had cleared away.

The game was one of the close nip and tuck affairs that sends the fan home playing it over in his mind, and a larger crowd than usual was on hand to see Carl Sawyer's gang step out in the lead of the summer league.

A tall, slim gentleman by the name of Arkenberg essayed to hurl for Lorin Ury, but after the first three men up in the first inning had scored, he was derided and Claude Thomas sent to the rescue.

Thornton, pitching his last game for the Sox, was not as good as last Sunday, getting away to a bad start and hit fairly hard all during the game.

Trio of Winning Ball Teams Help To Boost Glendale

Glendale has now three winning ball teams, and probably never before in its history was the city so well represented on the diamond.

The White Sox have won straight games from the fastest semi-pro teams in southern California.

The K. C. yesterday won the championship in the K. C. league by winning from Hollywood, 14 to 2.

The local service men pound Beal's offerings and make score 8 to 2.

Before a small turnout of early customers the Glendale American Legion baseball team annihilated the Inglewood post team, 8 to 2.

The preliminary to the Glendale-Pasadena mix-up at the White Sox park yesterday, Hodges, who pitched for the local ex-service men, was effective, especially in the pinches, fanning seven men and holding his opponents down to six hits.

The locals started scoring in the second inning with three tallies, the result of a single by Hodges, a double by Kazmark, a triple by Acosta, a pass and a fielder's choice.

Three runs in the fourth, one in the fifth and one in the seventh were thrown in for good measure.

Inglewood filled the bases in the fourth with one zone on two hits and a walk, but Hodges fanned Hoston, lead-off man, and forced Martin, another good stickler, to ground out.

In the second inning Gabbage, Glendale backstop, made a pretty running catch of Irwin's high foul, which came down back of the Inglewood dugout.

Acosta, local third sacker, featured in the batting honors for the day, getting three hits, one a triple, in as many trips to the plate.

La Belle, who was out on two doubles in four times at bat. The box score:

SAN FRANCISCO, May 5.—By winning both games of the double header the Angels yesterday, San Francisco won the series, 6 to 1, and managed to stay ahead of the fast stepping Tigers.

The score of the morning game was 8 to 6, and the afternoon session was a massacre, with the count at finish standing 16 to 5.

The Seals made 12 hits in the morning and 21 in the afternoon, having a field day with the willow.

The visitors got indifferent pitching and the support accorded them was poor.

CONFERENCE NET CHAMP IN BATTLE

Laird, Glendale High Star, Makes Houser Extend Himself to Win

By ROSS M. RUSSELL, JR. Of The Evening News Staff.

The Glendale High star of the tennis tournament, a glorious defeat Saturday and Sunday in the Pasadena Men's tennis championships at Brookside park.

Although they won only one match the local boys, especially Laird and Maxwell, have made a lasting record for themselves.

Bob Laird, the Glendale first man, was the outstanding star of the quarter which went to Pasadena.

Saturday in the men's singles he defeated Bob Kohler in a hard-fought match 7-5, 14-12.

Sunday he was put up against Fred Houser, Southern California Conference champion, and the result was one of the hardest fought and best matches ever staged in this vicinity.

Laird by virtue of his hard volleying took the first set, 8-6. During the second set Houser speeded up his game and won by a score of 2 to 7.

Laird made a half volley that landed the ball barely over the net squarely on the sideline.

OBJECTS TO SHACKS

LOS ANGELES, May 5.—Helen LaPlont, Long Beach, objects to living in "crude, weather beaten shacks."

She asked the superior court to grant her a decree of divorce from Fred LaPlont.

The latter, she claims, compelled her to work and then took her money for himself.

Rev. H. O. Kringle Stresses Satisfaction Derived From His Teaching

The everlasting comfort and satisfaction resulting from a belief in the teachings of Christ were emphasized by Rev. Henry O. Kringle, pastor of the Zion Lutheran church yesterday morning before a congregation that taxed the capacity of the auditorium.

"Our Gospel of today is taken from Luke 24, 13-35," said Rev. Kringle, "and it tells us in what manner Christ comforts the two disciples on their way to Emmaus. The name of the one disciple was Cleophas, and the other was either St. Luke himself or James.

"While these two disciples walk along in sad conversation a stranger overtakes them. They probably took him for one of those pilgrims who came from distant parts to attend the feast of the Passover, and who was now on his way home. It was Jesus, the risen Lord, and their eyes were hidden that they should not know Him.

Christ's Question
 "What manner of communications are these that ye have one to another, as ye walk and are sad?" With this question the risen Lord interrupts the two disciples in their conversation. He cannot see them sad and depressed. He inquires about their trouble. Cleophas makes reply and expresses his surprise at this question, saying, "Art thou only a stranger in Jerusalem and hast spoken; ought not Christ to have suffered these things, and to enter into His glory? And beginning at Moses and all the prophets, He expounded unto them in all the scriptures the things concerning Himself." What a powerful sermon that must have been! Christ removes all their doubts and sets aright all their prejudices. He shows that according to Moses and the prophets the Messiah had to suffer precisely those things which Jesus of Nazareth had suffered, and that He had to die and rise again from the dead. He convinces them through the scriptures. O, how their hearts burn within them now, how His words penetrate their soul! They are so charmed with their companion's conversation that they are loath to part when they arrive at their journey's end.

"Even unto this day the risen Lord is ever present with His Christians and enters their hearts by means of His word and sacrament and makes them His holy temple. Even when death comes a believer in Christ can depend on the presence of the risen Lord and can grasp His divine hand, which will lead Him safely through what they have to say and replies, "O fools, and slow of heart, to believe all that the prophets have spoken; ought not Christ to have suffered these things, and to enter into His glory? what they have to say and replies, "O fools, and slow of heart, to believe all that the prophets have spoken; ought not Christ to have suffered these things, and to enter into His glory? And beginning at Moses and all the prophets, He expounded unto them in all the scriptures the things concerning Himself." What a powerful sermon that must have been! Christ removes all their doubts and sets aright all their prejudices. He shows that according to Moses and the prophets the Messiah had to suffer precisely those things which Jesus of Nazareth had suffered, and that He had to die and rise again from the dead. He convinces them through the scriptures. O, how their hearts burn within them now, how His words penetrate their soul! They are so charmed with their companion's conversation that they are loath to part when they arrive at their journey's end.

GIRL SCOUTS TO PRESENT COMEDY

"Taming of Horrors" Title of Play to Be Given Next Friday Night

"Taming of Horrors" is the startling title of the play to be given Friday night, May 9, by Troop 3, Girl Scouts, at the Harvard High school.

However, the girls are assuring their friends that there will be nothing horrible about the play, and that the comedy is sure to entertain all those who attend.

The cast is announced as Clara Roberts, Shirley Mason (Horrors); Rebecca Brant, Mrs. Sipples; Virginia Horner, Jessie James; Beatrice Case, Capt. Kidd; Betty Brown, Patricia Kent; Mary Campbell, Mrs. Kent; Jeanette Ziteleen, Fluffy Owl; Esther Wintersgill, Snowy Owl; Cornelia Hollingsworth, Airy; Virginia Clark, Ducky; Givene Houseman, Dorothy Olson, Katherine Sonntag, Maurine Strong, Helen Daniels, Virginia Nissen, six basketball girls.

Between the acts there will be a dance by Katherine Sonntag and Cornelia Hollingsworth will give a piano solo. Tickets are being sold by Alie Routt and Dorothy Stiles. Jo Miller and Nellie Jepson are in charge of the candy sale.

CHAOTIC CONDITIONS

LOS ANGELES, May 5.—The Southern Pacific railroad reports that officials are trying to unify the various counties and states in the matter of rules covering the foot and mouth disease quarantine. Everything now is in a chaotic condition. One set of rules govern in one place, another has totally different regulations. Until things are more settled, a certificate testifying that the bearer has not been in an infected area is sufficient to allow him to pass through the various states. The Southern Pacific delegates are now in Albuquerque, N. M., where they have established headquarters.

TO STIMULATE TRADE

VANCOUVER, B. C., May 5.—Lapsing on August 1 next of the British duty on dried fruits under the first labor budget's provisions announced by Chancellor Snowden in the British commons yesterday will doubtless stimulate California's, as well as British Columbia's, export trade in this class of commodity, according to the influential canning men here.

FEW TRACHOMA CASES

EL CENTRO, May 5.—Dr. R. S. Creel, chief quarantine surgeon at the Angel Island immigration station, who has been here studying trachoma cases, declares they are so light that little or no attention need be paid them other than customary medical treatment. Mexicans are the principal victims from unbalanced diets.

CITY CLEANS UP

RIVERSIDE, May 5.—This is clean-up week here, with Street Superintendent Oscar Ford and Fire Chief Joseph Schneider marshaling their forces in a fight on dirt and debris.

PLAN TURKEY DINNER

ELSNORE, May 5.—A turkey dinner will be served in the Methodist church here Thursday night to Riverside, Orange and San Diego county Chamber of Commerce representatives, who will discuss the proposed road over the mountain from San Juan Capistrano to Elsinore lake.

"BUSTER" USES BOAT

REDONDO BEACH, May 5.—Former transport Buford, which surreptitiously sailed into harbor here one night last week, is being faced by Buster Keaton, that sad-faced comedian, for a month of pictures.

BUSINESS GROWING

POMONA, May 5.—Volume of business in Pomona reached a new high level last week when total clearings of $1,888,450.77 were reported by the five Pomona banks, approximately $40,000 more than the largest week's business reported during the past nine months.

PENALTY LOOMS

SANTA MONICA, May 5.—After today all those who are delinquent in tax payments will be penalized 5 per cent and property will be placed in the delinquent list, according to an announcement of Commissioner Holton. Payments are being rapidly received at the city hall today and few delinquents will be reported, it is believed. Holton stated that with but few exceptions property owners have paid cheerfully and are meeting their obligations in an optimistic mood.

PLAN NEW CANALS

EL CENTRO, May 5.—Several entermen on desert land in the west side of Imperial valley will petition the directors of Imperial irrigation district for permission to purchase water from the district. It is proposed to make 150,000 acres of land in the desert country west of the west side highline accessible to water by constructing new canals near the Mexican border, supplying them from the present highline. SOUTHLAND'S WEALTH
 LOS ANGELES, May 5.—Rex B. Goodcell, collector of internal revenue of the district of Los Angeles, yesterday made the following statement:

"The sale of documentary stamps shows that during the first eight months of the present fiscal year approximately $850,000,000 of real estate in this district has changed hands.

"January and February, 1924, proved to be the greatest two months in the history of Los Angeles in the sale of real estate. "The first quarterly payment of income taxes in the United States showed an increase of $17,000,000 for 1923 over 1922. Of that amount Los Angeles contributed more than $3,800,000, or 25 per cent of the entire increase for the nation.

"In other words, we contributed seven times or more our proportion of the general increases for the United States based on our number of taxpayers.

"Los Angeles has more wealth per capita than any other city under the Stars and Stripes."

ULTIMATUM IGNORED
 LANKERSHIM, May 5.—"No money, no school!"

This ultimatum flung by a building contractor to the board of education, is said to have resulted in the bolting of the doors in the new Lankershim schoolhouse.

When Principal Killiam arrived to conduct classes he found the only door to which he had a key nailed from the inside. All the others, he declared, were securely locked. With the pupils gleefully anticipating an unscheduled holiday,
