THINGS WORTH SEEING

THEATRES, PARKS AND TROLLEY TRIPS

One of the most important events in Miss Hunt's stock season at the Majestic is this week's production for the first time on any stage of a play by G. Humbert Westley, entitled "The Man's Game." The play deals with the subject of woman's suffrage.

"Bingville Bugle," by Newton Newkirk, comic writer on one of the local papers, is presented for the first time on any stage this week at the American Music Hall by the Lindsay Morison Stock Company.

Because of its excellent location for summer amusement, Paragon Park at Nantasket is known as "The City of Festivity by the Sea."

Wonderland at Revere Beach is entertaining great crowds of visitors with many startling features from 1 to 11 P. M. daily.

Norumbega and Lexington Parks are reached by long cool electric rides through the country and there is entertainment provided for all.

One of the most delightful of the many trolley trips which one can take is along the Atlantic coast where the landscape and shore views are unequalled. From Boston to Lynn, Salem, Gloucester and around Cape Ann, through the witch country and attractive resorts of the shore, the colonial and provincial history of the shore towns seen on this trip is well preserved. See page 2 for tickets and all trolley information in and about Boston.

POINTS OF INTEREST

Old North Church.—More properly Christ Church. Salem Street, foot of Hull Street. Dedicated 1723. From its steeple were displayed Paul Revere's signal lanterns, April 18, 1775. Opened by sexton on application. Fee, 25 cents.

The New Court House, a massive granite structure completed in 1893, at a cost of $1,000,000, stands at the head of Pemberton Square, two blocks from the State House.

The collections of the Museum of Fine Arts are among the first in the world, and illustrate the art of Egypt, Greece, Rome, the Orient, and modern Europe and America. The galleries contain paintings, sculpture, textiles, ceramics, iron and wood work, prints, together with examples of precious objects. There are also numerous reproductions and an art library.

The Boston Public Library in Copley Square is one of the foremost architectural monuments of America, costing $2,500,000. The architects were McKim, Mead & White; the sculptures by Augustus St. Gaudens and D. C. French. The mural paintings by Puvis de Chavannes, Edwin A. Abbey and John S. Sargent attract thousands of visitors to this beautiful structure, which contains 900,000 volumes and many rare works of art, statues of bronze and marble, oil paintings, marble busts and many valuable historic relics of the city.

State Street previous to the revolution was King Street. In 1702 was proclaimed, in this street, the accession of Anne to be Queen of England. Opposite 28 State Street is the spot, marked by a circle in the pavement, where the citizens were killed and wounded by Captain Preston's soldiers, March 5, 1770. Down this street to the wharf, escorted by the U. S. Marshal and his thousand deputies, U. S. marines, regulars, and the entire state militia, one black man, in chains, was sent back to slavery. But in 1861-65 the Massachusetts Volunteers marched up State Street on the way to the South, to help free the black man.

28 State Street is the site of the Provincial Custom House, Royal Exchange Tavern and U. S. Bank.

27 State Street is the site of the first church in Boston, built in 1632 of logs, with thatched roof.

At the Southeast Corner of State and Washington Streets, Henry Knox, afterwards General and Secretary of War, was a bookseller's apprentice.

The Town Pump stood at the northeast corner of Washington and State Streets. On the northwest corner was the first store for the sale of merchandise in Boston, kept by John Coggan.

Craigie House—105 Brattle Street, Cambridge. Built about 1759, Washington's headquarters 1775-1776. Occupied by Jared Sparks, Edward Everett, Joseph E. Worcester, of dictionary fame, and Henry Wadsworth Longfellow. Often called Longfellow house.

King's Chapel, corner of School and Tremont Streets, built of wood in 1688, rebuilt of stone in 1749-54, is a massive building, the walls constructed of Quincy granite. The portico was built in 1789 from funds partly raised by an oratorio in the chapel, at which General Washington attended "attired in a black velvet suit, and gave five guineas." The organ was purchased in England in 1756. The chapel has marble busts of its former pastors, Freeman, Greenwood, Peabody and Foote, and mural monuments of Apthorp, Appleton, Lowell, Oliver Wendell Holmes and Joseph May; a marble tablet in memory of General Stevenson, Col. Revere and twelve other members of the parish, who died in the army in 1861-65. The chevalier de Saint Sauveur remains placed in a tomb September, 1778. Became first Unitarian Church in Boston, 1785. Open at services and other times to visitors.

Old South Meeting House—Washington and Milk Streets. Built 1729 to replace wooden church which had stood on this site. Gov. John Winthrop's home, since 1669. Here many town meetings were held in massacre and tea tax times. Used by British as a riding school, 1775. Use as church abandoned 1872. Revolutionary relics. 9 to 6. Fed 25 cents.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

"Three Million Dollars," is the latest musical show and it begins an engagement this week at the Colonial. It has been in New London a week, just to get into condition and that was the first place it ever appeared. There is a great array of charming chorus girls, who are styled by the manager, "Gilt Edged Heiresses."

The Charlotte Hunt Stock Co. presents "Carmen," at the Majestic.

THEATRES, PARKS AND TROLLEY TRIPS

One of the most important events in Miss Hunt's stock season at the Majestic is this week's production for the first time on any stage of a play by G. Humbert Westley, entitled "The Man's Game." The play deals with the subject of woman's suffrage.

"Bingville Bugle," by Newton Newkirk, comic writer on one of the local papers, is presented for the first time on any stage this week at the American Music Hall by the Lindsay Morrison Stock Company.

Because of its excellent location for summer amusement, Paragon Park at Nantasket is known as "The City of Festivity by the Sea."

Wonderland at Revere Beach is entertaining great crowds of visitors with many startling features from 1 to 11 P. M. daily.

Norumbega and Lexington Parks are reached by long cool electric rides through the country and there is entertainment provided for all.

One of the most delightful of the many trolley trips which one can take is along the Atlantic coast where the landscape and shore views are unequalled. From Boston to Lynn, Salem, Gloucester and around Cape Ann, through the witch country and attractive resorts of the shore, the colonial and provincial history of the shore towns seen on this trip is well preserved. See page 2 for tickets and all trolley information in and about Boston.

POINTS OF INTEREST

Old North Church.—More properly Christ Church. Salem Street, foot of Hull Street. Dedicated 1723. From its steeple were displayed Paul Revere's signal lanterns, April 18, 1775. Opened by sexton on application. Fee, 25 cents.

The New Court House, a massive granite structure completed in 1893, at a cost of $4,000,000, stands at the head of Pemberton Square, two blocks from the State House.

The collections of the Museum of Fine Arts are among the first in the world, and illustrate the art of Egypt, Greece, Rome, the Orient, and modern Europe and America. The galleries contain paintings, sculpture, textiles, ceramics, iron and wood work, prints, together with examples of precious objects. There are also numerous reproductions and an art library.

The Boston Public Library in Copley Square is one of the foremost architectural monuments of America, costing $2,500,000. The architects were McKim, Mead & White; the sculptures by Augustus St. Gaudens and D. C. French. The mural paintings by Puvis de Chavannes, Edwin A. Abbey and John S. Sargent attract thousands of visitors to this beautiful structure, which contains 900,000 volumes and many rare works of art, statues of bronze and marble, oil paintings, marble busts and many valuable historic relics of the city.

State Street previous to the revolution was King Street. In 1702 was proclaimed, in this street, the accession of Anne to be Queen of England. Opposite 28 State Street is the spot, marked by a circle in the pavement, where the citizens were killed and wounded by Captain Preston's soldiers, March 5, 1770. Down this street to the wharf, escorted by the U. S. Marshal and his thousand deputies, U. S. marines, regulars, and the entire state militia, one black man, in chains, was sent back to slavery. But in 1861-65 the Massachusetts Volunteers marched up State Street on the way to the South, to help free the black man.

28 State Street is the site of the Provincial Custom House, Royal Exchange Tavern and U. S. Bank.

27 State Street is the site of the first church in Boston, built in 1632 of logs, with thatched roof.

At the Southeast Corner of State and Washington Streets, Henry Knox, afterwards General and Secretary of War, was a bookseller's apprentice.

The Town Pump stood at the northeast corner of Washington and State Streets. On the northwest corner was the first store for the sale of merchandise in Boston, kept by John Coggan.

Craigie House—105 Brattle Street, Cambridge. Built about 1759, Washington's headquarters 1775-1776. Occupied by Jared Sparks, Edward Everett, Joseph E. Worcester, of dictionary fame, and Henry Wadsworth Longfellow. Often called Longfellow house.

King's Chapel, corner of School and Tremont Streets, built of wood in 1688, rebuilt of stone in 1749-54, is a massive building, the walls constructed of Quincy granite. The portico was built in 1789 from funds partly raised by an oratorio in the chapel, at which General Washington attended "attired in a black velvet suit, and gave five guineas." The organ was purchased in England in 1756. The chapel has marble busts of its former pastors, Freeman, Greenwood, Peabody and Foote, and mural monuments of Apthorp, Appleton, Lowell, Oliver Wendell Holmes and Joseph May; a marble tablet in memory of General Stevenson, Col. Revere and twelve other members of the parish, who died in the army in 1861-65. The chevalier de Saint Sauveur remains placed in a tomb September, 1778. Became first Unitarian Church in Boston, 1785. Open at services and other times to visitors.

Old South Meeting House—Washington and Milk Streets. Built 1729 to replace wooden church which had stood on this site. Gov. John Winthrop's home, since 1669. Here many town meetings were held in massacre and tea tax times. Used by British as a riding school, 1775. Use as church abandoned 1872. Revolutionary relics. 9 to 6. Fee 25 cents.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

Henry W. Savage begins a summer season at the Majestic this week with the world-famous operetta, "The Merry Widow."

The Lindsay Morison All Star Stock Co. offers Clyde Fitch's comedy, "Girls," at the American Music Hall.

The offerings at Keith's are excellent.

Continuances are, "Three Million Dollars," at the Colonial.

Although the season is well advanced for out-of-door amusements, Paragon Park, Wonderland, Lexington Park and Norumbega Park present many of the best features yet offered.

Because of its excellent location for summer amusement, Paragon Park at Nantasket is known as "The City of Festivity by the Sea."

Wonderland at Revere Beach is entertaining great crowds of visitors with many startling features from 1 to 11 P. M. daily.

Norumbega and Lexington Parks are reached by long cool electric rides through the country and there is entertainment provided for all.

One of the most delightful of the many trolley trips which one can take is along the Atlantic coast where the landscape and shore views are unequalled. From Boston to Lynn, Salem, Gloucester and around Cape Ann, through the witch country and attractive resorts of the shore, the colonial and provincial history of the shore towns seen on this trip is well preserved. See page 2 for tickets and all trolley information in and about Boston.

POINTS OF INTEREST

Old North Church.—More properly Christ Church. Salem Street, foot of Hull Street. Dedicated 1723. From its steeple were displayed Paul Revere's signal lanterns, April 18, 1775. Opened by sexton on application. Fee, 25 cents.

The New Court House, a massive granite structure completed in 1893, at a cost of $4,000,000, stands at the head of Pemberton Square, two blocks from the State House.

The collections of the Museum of Fine Arts are among the first in the world, and illustrate the art of Egypt, Greece, Rome, the Orient, and modern Europe and America. The galleries contain paintings, sculpture, textiles, ceramics, iron and wood work, prints, together with examples of precious objects. There are also numerous reproductions and an art library.

The Boston Public Library in Copley Square is one of the foremost architectural monuments of America, costing $2,500,000. The architects were McKim, Mead & White; the sculptures by Augustus St. Gaudens and D. C. French. The mural paintings by Puvis de Chavannes, Edwin A. Abbey and John S. Sargent attract thousands of visitors to this beautiful structure, which contains 900,000 volumes and many rare works of art, statæes of bronze and marble, oil paintings, marble busts and many valuable historic relics of the city.

State Street previous to the revolution was King Street. In 1702 was proclaimed, in this street, the accession of Anne to be Queen of England. Opposite 28 State Street is the spot, marked by a circle in the pavement, where the citizens were killed and wounded by Captain Preston's soldiers, March 5, 1770. Down this street to the wharf, escorted by the U. S. Marshal and his thousand deputies, U. S. marines, regulars, and the entire state militia, one black man, in chains, was sent back to slavery. But in 1861-65 the Massachusetts Volunteers marched up State Street on the way to the South, to help free the black man.

28 State Street is the site of the Provincial Custom House, Royal Exchange Tavern and U. S. Bank.

27 State Street is the site of the first church in Boston, built in 1632 of logs, with thatched roof.

At the Southeast Corner of State and Washington Streets, Henry Knox, afterwards General and Secretary of War, was a bookseller's apprentice.

The Town Pump stood at the northeast corner of Washington and State Streets. On the northwest corner was the first store for the sale of merchandise in Boston, kept by John Coggan.

Craigie House—105 Brattle Street, Cambridge. Built about 1759, Washington's headquarters 1775-1776. Occupied by Jared Sparks, Edward Everett, Joseph E. Worcester, of dictionary fame, and Henry Wadsworth Longfellow. Often called Longfellow house.

King's Chapel, corner of School and Tremont Streets, built of wood in 1688, rebuilt of stone in 1749-54, is a massive building, the walls constructed of Quincy granite. The portico was built in 1789 from funds partly raised by an oratorio in the chapel, at which General Washington attended "attired in a black velvet suit, and gave five guineas." The organ was purchased in England in 1756. The chapel has marble busts of its former pastors, Freeman, Greenwood, Peabody and Foote, and mural monuments of Apthorp, Appleton, Lowell, Oliver Wendell Holmes and Joseph May; a marble tablet in memory of General Stevenson, Col. Revere and twelve other members of the parish, who died in the army in 1861-65. The chevalier de Saint Sauveur remains placed in a tomb September, 1778. Became first Unitarian Church in Boston, 1785. Open at services and other times to visitors.

Old South Meeting House—Washington and Milk Streets. Built 1729 to replace wooden church which had stood on this site. Gov. John Winthrop's home, since 1669. Here many town meetings were held in massacre and tea tax times. Used by British as a riding school, 1775. Use as church abandoned 1872. Revolutionary relics. 9 to 6. Fee 25 cents.

ART EXHIBITIONS

New Boston Museum of Fine Arts. The Fenway. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission 25c. The Museum contains collections illustrating the arts of Egypt, Greece, Rome, the Orient, and modern Europe and America, together with a large collection of reproductions.

Among recent acquisitions attention may be particularly called to a Spanish primitive painting, the Coronation of the Virgin, and to portraits by Goya and Maes. Many pictures are lent to the Museum for the summer; these include an exceptionally fine portrait group by Rubens and works of Corot, Degas, Harpignies, Stuck, and other modern painters. The Department of Classical Art has a special exhibition of coins of ancient Syracuse. The Department of Chinese and Japanese Art shows a series of remarkable Chinese paintings from the collection of Mr. F. T. Headland.

Germanic Museum, junction Broadway and Cambridge Street, Cambridge. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission free. Reproductions of masterpieces by noted sculptors of Germany, formed through basis of Prince Henry's visit, March 6, 1902.

University Museum, Cambridge, Oxford Street. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission free. Contains only collection glass models of flowers in the world. A wonderful exhibit.

Millar & Welch, opticians, have removed from West Street to 162a Tremont Street (next to Keith's Theatre). The Bostonian as well as the stranger will find best of kodak supplies as well as a fine and up-to-date line of field glasses for use at the seashore.

Macullar Parker Company invite attention to their stock of seasonable clothing for men and boys. The mid-summer sale at reduced prices is now on.

William H. Winship (formerly H. A. Winship), 16 Tremont St., are showing a fine line of Trunks, Bags and Dress Suit Cases for European Travel. A full stock of the latest designs in ladies' wrist and hand bags. Always reliable. Established 1842.

The soft Oriental materials to be seen in Davis' East India House, 373 Boylston Street, near Arlington Street, are different from anything to be found elsewhere, and one finds there, also, beautiful embroideries and many interesting novelties, from many parts of the world.

John J. Stevens & Co., 300 Boylston St., are showing a very fine line of shirt waists and dresses for summer, also ladies' underwear, both domestic and French.

A. L. La Vers Co., Importers and Designers, 190-192 Boylston St., 32-34 Park Square, are showing a beautiful display of Lingerie Waists and Dresses and Mid-Summer Hats, also a display of New Tailored White Serge Suits, and French Linen 3-piece Suits, beautifully braided in self colors. Colors rose, green, blue. This is one of the most attractive shops on Boylston Street, and is well worth a visit.

There is no question but that Raymond & Whitcomb Company, whose office is at 306 Washington Street, next to the Old South Church, maintain the best equipped and most complete ticket office for railroad and steamship tickets in the city. Correct information will be furnished with pleasure.

The Antique Store, 390 Boylston St., appeals to those who are searching for unique pieces of old furniture, Sheffield plate, blue China and quaint bits from Colonial days. It is under new management and offers especially low prices during the summer. The Antique Store is one of the places of interest to visit while strolling on Boylston St.

Arthur W. Hubbard, 49-55 Bromfield St., on account of alterations being made in his store, is offering his entire stock of Carbons, Water Colors, Etchings, Photogravures and Prints of all kinds at the low price of 50c on the dollar.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

THEATRES, PARKS AND TROLLEY TRIPS

"Quincy Adams Sawyer," that great rural comedy drama, opens at the American Music Hall by the Lindsay Morison Stock Co., with Theodore Frabus and Eleanor Gordon in the principal roles.

Rose Pitnof, who recently made the phenomenal swim to Boston Light, heads the bill at Keith's, she is surrounded by an excellent bill.

"Three Million Dollars" is still playing to packed houses at the Colonial Theatre.

"The Merry Widow" is peasing large audiences at the Majestic Theatre.

Because of its excellent location for summer amusement, Paragon Park at Nantasket is known as "The City of Festivity by the Sea."

Wonderland at Revere Beach is entertaining great crowds of visitors with many startling features from 1 to 11 P. M. daily.

Norumbega and Lexington Parks are reached by long cool electric rides through the country and there is entertainment provided for all.

One of the most delightful of the many trolley trips which one can take is along the Atlantic coast where the landscape and shore views are unequalled. From Boston to Lynn, Salem, Gloucester and around Cape Ann, through the witch country and attractive resorts of the shore, the colonial and provincial history of the shore towns seen on this trip is well preserved. See page 2 for tickets and all trolley information in and about Boston.

POINTS OF INTEREST

Old North Church.—More properly Christ Church. Salem Street, foot of Hull Street. Dedicated 1723. From its steeple were displayed Paul Revere's signal lanterns, April 18, 1775. Opened by sexton on application. Fee, 25 cents.

The New Court House, a massive granite structure completed in 1893, at a cost of $4,000,000, stands at the head of Pemberton Square, two blocks from the State House.

The collections of the Museum of Fine Arts are among the first in the world, and illustrate the art of Egypt, Greece, Rome, the Orient, and modern Europe and America. The galleries contain paintings, sculpture, textiles, ceramics, iron and wood work, prints, together with examples of precious objects. There are also numerous reproductions and an art library.

The Boston Public Library in Copley Square is one of the foremost architectural monuments of America, costing $2,500,000. The architects were McKim, Mead & White; the sculptures by Augustus St. Gaudens and D. C. French. The mural paintings by Puvis de Chavannes, Edwin A. Abbey and John S. Sargent attract thousands of visitors to this beautiful structure, which contains 900,000 volumes and many rare works of art, statues of bronze and marble, oil paintings, marble busts and many valuable historic relics of the city.

State Street previous to the revolution was King Street. In 1702 was proclaimed, in this street, the accession of Anne to be Queen of England. Opposite 28 State Street is the spot, marked by a circle in the pavement, where the citizens were killed and wounded by Captain Preston's soldiers, March 5, 1770. Down this street to the wharf, escorted by the U. S. Marshal and his thousand deputies, U. S. marines, regulars, and the entire state militia, one black man, in chains, was sent back to slavery. But in 1861-65 the Massachusetts Volunteers marched up State Street on the way to the South, to help free the black man.

28 State Street is the site of the Provincial Custom House, Royal Exchange Tavern and U. S. Bank.

27 State Street is the site of the first church in Boston, built in 1632 of logs, with thatched roof.

At the Southeast Corner of State and Washington Streets, Henry Knox, afterwards General and Secretary of War, was a bookseller's apprentice.

The Town Pump stood at the northeast corner of Washington and State Streets. On the northwest corner was the first store for the sale of merchandise in Boston, kept by John Coggan.

Craigie House—105 Brattle Street, Cambridge. Built about 1759, Washington's headquarters 1775-1776. Occupied by Jared Sparks, Edward Everett, Joseph E. Worcester, of dictionary fame, and Henry Wadsworth Longfellow. Often called Longfellow house.

King's Chapel, corner of School and Tremont Streets, built of wood in 1688, rebuilt of stone in 1749-54, is a massive building, the walls constructed of Quincy granite. The portico was built in 1789 from funds partly raised by an oratorio in the chapel, at which General Washington attended "attired in a black velvet suit, and gave five guineas." The organ was purchased in England in 1756. The chapel has marble busts of its former pastors, Freeman, Greenwood, Peabody and Foote, and mural monuments of Aphthorp, Appleton, Lowell, Oliver Wendell Holmes and Joseph May; a marble tablet in memory of General Stevenson, Col. Revere and twelve other members of the parish, who died in the army in 1861-65. The chevalier de Saint Sauveur remains placed in a tomb September, 1778. Became first Unitarian Church in Boston, 1785. Open at services and other times to visitors.

Old South Meeting House—Washington and Milk Streets. Built 1729 to replace wooden church which had stood on this site. Gov. John Winthrop's home, since 1669. Here many town meetings were held in massacre and tea tax times. Used by British as a riding school, 1775. Use as church abandoned 1872. Revolutionary relics. 9 to 6. Fee 25 cents.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

THEATRES, PARKS AND TROLLEY TRIPS

The magnificent New Shubert Theatre re-opens for this season with Wright Lorimer in the mammoth biblical play, "The Shepherd King." This beautiful play has not been seen in Boston for many seasons, and undoubtedly will play to big houses. Visitors will be given a double treat by seeing this marvellous play, and see the most beautiful theatre of modern times.

The American Music Hall will have a week of comedy in "The Liars," played by the Lindsay Morison Stock Co.

Chas. Waldron's Casino re-opens for the season with refined burlesque and high class vaudeville.

Because of its excellent location for summer amusement, Paragon Park at Nantasket is known as "The City of Festivity by the Sea."

Wonderland at Revere Beach is entertaining great crowds of visitors with many startling features from 1 to 11 P. M. daily.

Norumbega and Lexington Parks are reached by long cool electric rides through the country and there is entertainment provided for all.

One of the most delightful of the many trolley trips which one can take is along the Atlantic coast where the landscape and shore views are unequalled. From Boston to Lynn, Salem, Gloucester and around Cape Ann, through the witch country and attractive resorts of the shore, the colonial and provincial history of the shore towns seen on this trip is well preserved. See page 2 for tickets and all trolley information in and about Boston.

POINTS OF INTEREST

Old North Church.—More properly Christ Church. Salem Street, foot of Hull Street. Dedicated 1723. From its steeple were displayed Paul Revere's signal lanterns, April 18, 1775. Opened by sexton on application. Fee, 25 cents.

The New Court House, a massive granite structure completed in 1893, at a cost of $4,000,000, stands at the head of Pemberton Square, two blocks from the State House.

The collections of the Museum of Fine Arts are among the first in the world, and illustrate the art of Egypt, Greece, Rome, the Orient, and modern Europe and America. The galleries contain paintings, sculpture, textiles, ceramics, iron and wood work, prints, together with examples of precious objects. There are also numerous reproductions and an art library.

The Boston Public Library in Copley Square is one of the foremost architectural monuments of America, costing $2,500,000. The architects were McKim, Mead & White; the sculptures by Augustus St. Gaudens and D. C. French. The mural paintings by Puvis de Chavannes, Edwin A. Abbey and John S. Sargent attract thousands of visitors to this beautiful structure, which contains 900,000 volumes and many rare works of art, statues of bronze and marble, oil paintings, marble busts and many valuable historic relics of the city.

State Street previous to the revolution was King Street. In 1702 was proclaimed, in this street, the accession of Anne to be Queen of England. Opposite 28 State Street is the spot, marked by a circle in the pavement, where the citizens were killed and wounded by Captain Preston's soldiers, March 5, 1770. Down this street to the wharf, escorted by the U. S. Marshal and his thousand deputies, U. S. marines, regulars, and the entire state militia, one black man, in chains, was sent back to slavery. But in 1861-65 the Massachusetts Volunteers marched up State Street on the way to the South, to help free the black man.

28 State Street is the site of the Provincial Custom House, Royal Exchange Tavern and U. S. Bank.

27 State Street is the site of the first church in Boston, built in 1632 of logs, with thatched roof.

At the Southeast Corner of State and Washington Streets, Henry Knox, afterwards General and Secretary of War, was a bookseller's apprentice.

The Town Pump stood at the northeast corner of Washington and State Streets. On the northwest corner was the first store for the sale of merchandise in Boston, kept by John Coggan.

Craigie House—105 Brattle Street, Cambridge. Built about 1759, Washington's headquarters 1775-1776. Occupied by Jared Sparks, Edward Everett, Joseph E. Worcester, of dictionary fame, and Henry Wadsworth Longfellow. Often called Longfellow house.

King's Chapel, corner of School and Tremont Streets, built of wood in 1688, rebuilt of stone in 1749-54, is a massive building, the walls constructed of Quincy granite. The portico was built in 1789 from funds partly raised by an oratorio in the chapel, at which General Washington attended "attired in a black velvet suit, and gave five guineas." The organ was purchased in England in 1756. The chapel has marble busts of its former pastors, Freeman, Greenwood, Peabody and Foote, and mural monuments of Apthorp, Appleton, Lowell, Oliver Wendell Holmes and Joseph May; a marble tablet in memory of General Stevenson, Col. Revere and twelve other members of the parish, who died in the army in 1861-65. The chevalier de Saint Sauveur remains placed in a tomb September, 1778. Became first Unitarian Church in Boston, 1785. Open at services and other times to visitors.

Old South Meeting House—Washington and Milk Streets. Built 1729 to replace wooden church which had stood on this site. Gov. John Winthrop's home, since 1669. Here many town meetings were held in massacre and tea tax times. Used by British as a riding school, 1775. Use as church abandoned 1872. Revolutionary relics. 9 to 6. Fee 25 cents.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

The Orpheum Theatre opens the season under the management of William J. Gane, one of New York's youngest and most successful managers of theatrical enterprises. Mr. Gane will inaugurate at the Orpheum, his own original idea of moderate priced entertainment composed of High Class Vaudeville and the very latest achievements of Modern Motion Pictures. The theatre has been newly decorated throughout including a new lobby at the Washington St. entrance finished in white and gold giving it a very imposing effect. A Vaudeville program of $3,000 order will be a feature each and every week. A program of the current week appears on another page.

A new play entitled, "My Man," is presented this week at the Colonial. The action of the story is set in scenes representing the lower East Side district of New York City. The company includes Robert Drouet and Anne Sutherland.

"The Girl from Rector's comes to the Boston and is a very clever adaptation from the French by Paul M. Potter, author of "Frliby." Although the locale of the play has been changed from Paris to New York, much of the vivacity and humor of the original entertainment has been preserved.

For the reopening of the Park for the season there is the first presentation in this city of "The Climax," Edward Locke's novel and interesting drama, which found much favor in New York last season. The cast includes some of the players who appeared at Weber's Theatre in New York, and the staging is the same as that employed throughout the Metropolitan run.

"The Squaw Man" is the piece selected by John Craig with which to open his third stock company season at the Castle Square. It is one of the few distinctly American plays to win success in England as well as in this country.

"Brewster's Millions" comes to the Grand Opera House. Last season it was a great success in the high price houses of this city and elsewhere.

SHOPPING NEWS

Miss M. F. Fisk is showing this week a line of Waists in wool taffeta, in colors and white, just the thing for mountain and seashore.

Miss R. Butler, The Hair Store, 29 Temple Place. At this establishment, the most centrally located in Boston, will be found the largest assortment of Hair Goods in New England, Hair Dressing, Manicuring, Treatment of Face and Scalp, Chiropody, Pedicure, Combs, Barrettes, Pins. Hotel work by appointment. Tel. Oxford 628.

Millar & Weltch, opticians, have removed from West Street to 162a Tremont Street (next to Keith's Theatre). The Bostonian as well as the stranger will find best of kodak supplies as well as a fine and up-to-date line of field glasses for use at the seashore.

Macullar Parker Company invite attention to their stock of seasonable clothing for men and boys. The mid-summer sale at reduced prices is now on.

William H. Winship (formerly H. A. Winship), 16 Tremont St., are showing a fine line of Trunks, Bags and Dress Suit Cases for European Travel. A full stock of the latest designs in ladies' wrist and hand bags. Always reliable. Established 1842.

The soft Oriental materials to be seen in Davis' East India House, 373 Boylston Street, near Arlington Street, are different from anything to be found elsewhere, and one finds there, also, beautiful embroideries and many interesting novelties, from many parts of the world.

John J. Stevens & Co., 300 Boylston St., are showing a very fine line of shirt waists and dresses for summer, also ladies' underwear, both domestic and French.

A. L. La Vers Co., Importers and Designers, 190-192 Boylston St., 32-34 Park Square, are showing a beautiful display of Lingerie Waists and Dresses and Mid-Summer Hats, also a display of New Tailored White Serge Suits, and French Linen 3-piece Suits, beautifully braided in self colors. Colors rose, green, blue. This is one of the most attractive shops on Boylston Street, and is well worth a visit.

There is no question but that Raymond & Whitcomb Company, whose office is at 306 Washington Street, next to the Old South Church, maintain the best equipped and most complete ticket office for railroad and steamship tickets in the city. Correct information will be furnished with pleasure.

The Antique Store, 390 Boylston St., appeals to those who are searching for unique pieces of old furniture, Sheffield plate, blue China and quaint bits from Colonial days. It is under new management and offers especially low prices during the summer. The Antique Store is one of the places of interest to visit while strolling on Boylston St.

Arthur W. Hubbard, 49-55 Bromfield St., on account of alterations being made in his store, is offering his entire stock of Carbons, Water Colors, Etchings, Photogravures and Prints of all kinds at the low price of 50c on the dollar.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

"The Aviator," as the first bird-man play, comes to the Tremont this week. Unheralded there appears on the scene a French aviator bringing with him two monoplanes. He is induced to lend the hero of the play one of them, and a race is arranged between them. Then follows the big scene of an aviation meet, with a Bleriot 50-horse power monoplane leaving the ground.

A new play concerning child labor in the mills, entitled "A Matter of Money," appears at the Hollis Street, with Miss Elsie Ferguson essaying the principal role. The author has carefully avoided the tedious discussions of a problem play and has endeavored to develop a simple, logical story.

"Mary Jane's Pa," is the offering at the Globe, with Max Figman portraying the leading character. It is a story of domestic complications in Indiana.

There is a revival of "The Circus Girl," by the John Craig Stock Company at the Castle Square. Mary Young appears in the title role of Lucile.

At the Shubert "The Belle of Brittany," is the offering. Frank Daniels makes this musical show entertaining to his audiences.

"The Round Up," a well remembered Western melodrama, comes to the Boston.

A popular racing comedy, entitled "Checkers," is presented at the Grand Opera House.

The Orpheum under the Gane management are turning the crowds away daily. Without question of doubt they show the finest Motion Pictures in the world. Pictures that are appreciated by the intelligent, that's the kind the Orpheum shows.

SHOPPING NEWS

Miss M. F. Fisk is showing this week a line of Waists in wool taffeta, in colors and white, just the thing for mountain and seashore.

Miss R. Butler, The Hair Store, 29 Temple Place. At this establishment, the most centrally located in Boston, will be found the largest assortment of Hair Goods in New England. Hair Dressing, Manicuring, Treatment of Face and Scalp, Chiropody, Pedicure, Combs, Barrettes, Pins. Hotel work by appointment. Tel. Oxford 628.

Millar & Welch, opticians, have removed from West Street to 162a Tremont Street (next to Keith's Theatre). The Bostonian as well as the stranger will find best of kodak supplies as well as a fine and up-to-date line of field glasses for use at the seashore.

Macullar Parker Company invite attention to their stock of seasonable clothing for men and boys. The mid-summer sale at reduced prices is now on.

William H. Winship (formerly H. A. Winship), 16 Tremont St., are showing a fine line of Trunks, Bags and Dress Suit Cases for European Travel. A full stock of the latest designs in ladies' wrist and hand bags. Always reliable. Established 1842.

The soft Oriental materials to be seen in Davis' East India House, 373 Boylston Street, near Arlington Street, are different from anything to be found elsewhere, and one finds there, also, beautiful embroideries and many interesting novelties, from many parts of the world.

John J. Stevens & Co., 300 Boylston St., are showing a very fine line of shirt waists and dresses for summer, also ladies' underwear, both domestic and French.

A. L. La Vers Co., Importers and Designers, 190-192 Boylston St., 32-34 Park Square, are showing a beautiful display of Lingerie Waists and Dresses and Mid-Summer Hats, also a display of New Tailored White Serge Suits, and French Linen 3-piece Suits, beautifully braided in self colors. Colors rose, green, blue. This is one of the most attractive shops on Boylston Street, and is well worth a visit.

There is no question but that Raymond & Whitcomb Company, whose office is at 306 Washington Street, next to the Old South Church, maintain the best equipped and most complete ticket office for railroad and steamship tickets in the city. Correct information will be furnished with pleasure.

The Antique Store, 390 Boylston St., appeals to those who are searching for unique pieces of old furniture, Sheffield plate, blue China and quaint hits from Colonial days. It is under new management and offers especially low prices during the summer. The Antique Store is one of the places of interest to visit while strolling on Boylston St.

Arthur W. Hubbard, 49-55 Bromfield St., on account of alterations being made in his store, is offering his entire stock of Carbons, Water Colors, Etchings, Photogravures and Prints of all kinds at the low price of 50c on the dollar.

The establishment of Kakas Bros., 179 Tremont Street, is renowned for perfection of taste and refinement daily exemplified in beautiful creations of all kinds of Fur at Moderate Prices.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

"The Arcadians" comes to the Colonial this week for its first presentation in this city, after running for a second season in New York. Frank Moulan has the leading comedy role of the London restaurant keeper who drops unexpectedly into Arcadia, and Julia Sanderson plays the charming Irish girl.

Eugene Walter's powerful play, "Paid in Full," is the attraction at the Grand Opera House. It has been unheard here for two years, but when presented at the higher price theatres, never failed to win approbation. The Grand Opera House management should be congratulated for presenting this play at popular prices.

"The Round Up" continues at the Boston, as does also "The Aviator" at the Tremont. Other plays remaining over are Frank Daniels in "The Belle of Brittany," at Shubert's; "The Circus Girl," at the Castle Square; Max Figman in "Mary Jane's Pa," at the Globe; Elsie Ferguson in "A Matter of Money," at the Hollis; "The Merry Widow," at the Majestic, and "The Climax," at the Park.

ART EXHIBITIONS

New Boston Museum of Fine Arts. The Fenway. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission 25c. The Museum contains collections illustrating the arts of Egypt, Greece, Rome, the Orient, and modern Europe and America, together with a large collection of reproductions.

Among recent acquisitions attention may be particularly called to portraits by Goya and Maes, and to a Spanish primitive painting representing the Coronation of the Virgin. Modern paintings recently added to the collection are Mary Cassatt's "At the Opera;" Hunt's "Pine Woods at Magnolia;" and Redfield's "Ravine." The Department of Chinese and Japanese Art is now showing a series of Japanese paintings of the 18th and 19th centuries, including some remarkable studies of animal life and landscape. In the Department of Classical Art special mention is due to an important marble relief of the 5th century B. C., and to a marble head in the style of Praxiteles, both being recent additions to the collection.

Germanic Museum, junction Broadway and Cambridge Street, Cambridge. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission free. Reproductions of masterpieces by noted sculptors of Germany, formed through basis of Prince Henry's visit, March 6, 1902.

University Museum, Cambridge, Oxford Street. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission free. Contains only collection glass models of flowers in the world. A wonderful exhibit.

William Hayes Fogg Art Museum, Cambridge Street, Cambridge. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission free. Contains Paintings, Sculpture, Bronzes, Engravings, etc.

Peabody Museum, Cambridge. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission free.

Boston Society of Decorative Art. Embroideries and Handicraft Work. 184 Boylston St., open 10 a. m. to 5.30 p. m.

SHOPPING NEWS

Miss M. F. Fisk is showing this week a line of Waists in wool taffeta, in colors and white, just the thing for mountain and seashore.

Miss R. Butler, The Hair Store, 29 Temple Place. At this establishment, the most centrally located in Boston, will be found the largest assortment of Hair Goods in New England, Hair Dressing, Manicuring, Treatment of Face and Scalp, Chiropody, Pedicure, Combs, Barrettes, Pins. Hotel work by appointment. Tel. Oxford 628.

Millar & Welch, opticians, have removed from West Street to 162a Tremont Street (next to Keith's Theatre). The Bostonian as well as the stranger will find best of kodak supplies as well as a fine and up-to-date line of field glasses for use at the seashore.

Macullar Parker Company invite attention to their stock of seasonable clothing for men and boys. The mid-summer sale at reduced prices is now on.

William H. Winship (formerly H. A. Winship), 16 Tremont St., are showing a fine line of Trunks, Bags and Dress Suit Cases for European Travel. A full stock of the latest designs in ladies' wrist and hand bags. Always reliable. Established 1842.

The soft Oriental materials to be seen in Davis' East India House, 373 Boylston Street, near Arlington Street, are different from anything to be found elsewhere, and one finds there, also, beautiful embroideries and many interesting novelties, from many parts of the world.

John J. Stevens & Co., 300 Boylston St., are showing a very fine line of shirt waists and dresses for summer, also ladies' underwear, both domestic and French.

A. L. La Vers Co., Importers and Designers, 190-192 Boylston St., 32-34 Park Square, are showing advance styles and Early Autumn Models in Furs, Hats, Coats, Dresses, Waists, Marabout and Satin Neckwear. Here you will find prices reasonable and the shop one of the most attractive on Boylston Street.

There is no question but that Raymond & Whitcomb Company, whose office is at 306 Washington Street, next to the Old South Church, maintain the best equipped and most complete ticket office for railroad and steamship tickets in the city. Correct information will be furnished with pleasure.

The Antique Store, 390 Boylston St., appeals to those who are searching for unique pieces of old furniture, Sheffield plate, blue China and quaint bits from Colonial days. It is under new management and offers especially low prices during the summer. The Antique Store is one of the places of interest to visit while strolling on Boylston St.

Arthur W. Hubbard, 49-55 Bromfield St., on account of alterations being made in his store, is offering his entire stock of Carbons, Water Colors, Etchings, Photogravures and Prints of all kinds at the low price of 50c on the dollar.

The establishment of Kakas Bros., 179 Tremont Street, is renowned for perfection of taste and refinement daily exemplified in beautiful creations of all kinds of Fur at Moderate Prices.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

With John Barrymore in the title role, "The Fortune Hunter" is presented this week at the Tremont. This has been one of the comedy hits in New York for the last two years and Boston gets the original production.

Fritzi Scheff in "The Mikado," opens at the Shubert for a brief engagement. It is one of the most interesting musical events of the season.

"Love Among the Lions," comes to the Hollis. The play was written by the author of "The Fortune Hunter," and the plot hinges upon the whimsicality of matrimonial alliance, with wild beasts on the side. A. E. Mathews was brought from London by Mr. Frohman to play the principal part.

Thomas A. Wise appears at the Majestic for an engagement of two weeks in "A Gentleman from Mississippi." Mr. Wise is surrounded this season by practically the same cast which was with him during his long engagement here last season.

Circus life is shown in a most realistic manner by the play, "Polly of the Circus," which is at the Grand Opera House this week. Miss Edith Speare is seen in the title role, supported by a large company.

At the Castle Square is a revival of the spectacular English melodrama, "The Bells of Haslemere."

For the first time on any stage, "The Cub," is offered at the Globe. It was written expressly for Douglas Fairbanks.

The season at the Boston Opera House opens with a revival of "The Bohemian Girl."

ART EXHIBITIONS

New Boston Museum of Fine Arts. The Fenway. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission 25c. The Museum contains collections illustrating the arts of Egypt, Greece, Rome, the Orient, and modern Europe and America, together with a large collection of reproductions.

Among recent acquisitions attention may be particularly called to portraits by Goya and Macs, and to a Spanish primitive painting representing the Coronation of the Virgin. Modern paintings recently added to the collection are Mary Cassatt's "At the Opera;" Hunt's "Pine Woods at Magnolia;" and Redfield's "Ravine." The Department of Chinese and Japanese Art is now showing a series of Japanese paintings of the 18th and 19th centuries, including some remarkable studies of animal life and landscape. In the Department of Classical Art special mention is due to an important marble relief of the 5th century B. C., and to a marble head in the style of Praxiteles, both being recent additions to the collection.

Germanic Museum, junction Broadway and Cambridge Street, Cambridge. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission free. Reproductions of masterpieces by noted sculptors of Germany, formed through basis of Prince Henry's visit, March 6, 1902.

University Museum, Cambridge, Oxford Street. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission free. Contains only collection glass models of flowers in the world. A wonderful exhibit.

William Hayes Fogg Art Museum, Cambridge Street, Cambridge. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission free. Contains Paintings, Sculpture, Bronzes, Engravings, etc.

SHOPPING NEWS

Miss M. F. Fisk is showing this week a line of Waists in wool taffeta, in colors and white, just the thing for mountain and seashore.

Miss R. Butler, The Hair Store, 29 Temple Place. At this establishment, the most centrally located in Boston, will be found the largest assortment of Hair Goods in New England, Hair Dressing, Manicuring, Treatment of Face and Scalp, Chiropody, Pedicure, Combs, Barrettes, Pins. Hotel work by appointment. Tel. Oxford 628.

Millar & Welch, opticians, have removed from West Street to 162a Tremont Street (next to Keith's Theatre). The Bostonian as well as the stranger will find best of kodak supplies as well as a fine and up-to-date line of field glasses for use at the seashore.

Macullar Parker Company invite attention to their stock of seasonable clothing for men and boys. The mid-summer sale at reduced prices is now on.

William H. Winship (formerly H. A. Winship), 16 Tremont St., are showing a fine line of Trunks, Bags and Dress Suit Cases for European Travel. A full stock of the latest designs in ladies' wrist and hand bags. Always reliable. Established 1842.

The soft Oriental materials to be seen in Davis' East India House, 373 Boylston Street, near Arlington Street, are different from anything to be found elsewhere, and one finds there, also, beautiful embroideries and many interesting novelties, from many parts of the world.

John J. Stevens & Co., 300 Boylston St., are showing a very fine line of shirt waists and dresses for summer, also ladies' underwear, both domestic and French.

A. L. La Vers Co., Importers and Designers, 190-192 Boylston St., 32-34 Park Square, are showing advance styles and Early Autumn Models in Furs, Hats, Coats, Dresses, Waists, Marabout and Satin Neckwear. Here you will find prices reasonable and the shop one of the most attractive on Boylston Street.

There is no question but that Raymond & Whitcomb Company, whose office is at 306 Washington Street, next to the Old South Church, maintain the best equipped and most complete ticket office for railroad and steamship tickets in the city. Correct information will be furnished with pleasure.

The Antique Store, 390 Boylston St., appeals to those who are searching for unique pieces of old furniture, Sheffield plate, blue China and quaint bits from Colonial days. It is under new management and offers especially low prices during the summer. The Antique Store is one of the places of interest to visit while strolling on Boylston St.

Arthur W. Hubbard, 49-55 Bromfield St., on account of alterations being made in his store, is offering his entire stock of Carbons, Water Colors, Etchings, Photographures and Prints of all kinds at the low price of 50c on the dollar.

The establishment of Kakas Bros., 179 Tremont Street, is renowned for perfection of taste and refinement daily exemplified in beautiful creations of all kinds of Fur at Moderate Prices.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

Marie Doro appears in William Gillette's newest comedy, "Electricity," this week at the Park. It is said to be one of the very best efforts of the author. He has given Miss Doro a role which fits her methods and her personality in a most congenial manner.

Jack Barrymore in "The Fortune Hunter," is pleasing to large audiences at the Tremont Theatre. "The Fortune Hunter" is the best comedy that has been in Boston in many years, that means it is by far the best laugh producer in Boston at the present time.

"The Smart Set," the well known organization composed of clever colored singers and dancers returns to the Grand Opera House. New songs and spectacular features have been introduced into the production since its last appearance in this city.

At the Castle Square the Stock Company revives "When Knights Were Bold." The piece was made popular by Francis Wilson in other days.

Keith's vaudeville programme is full of entertaining features.

At the Majestic dear old Tom Wise is making 'em laugh in "The Gentleman from Mississippi."

Frank Monlan with "The Arcadians" at the Colonial is making the hit of his career. Percival Knight, also in the cast, is very funny.

ART EXHIBITIONS

New Boston Museum of Fine Arts. The Fenway. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission 25c. The Museum contains collections illustrating the arts of Egypt, Greece, Rome, the Orient, and modern Europe and America, together with a large collection of reproductions.

Among recent acquisitions attention may be particularly called to portraits by Goya and Maes, and to a Spanish primitive painting representing the Coronation of the Virgin. Modern paintings recently added to the collection are Mary Cassatt's "At the Opera;" Hunt's "Pine Woods at Magnolia;" and Redfield's "Ravine." The Department of Chinese and Japanese Art is now showing a series of Japanese paintings of the 18th and 19th centuries, including some remarkable studies of animal life and landscape. In the Department of Classical Art special mention is due to an important marble relief of the 5th century B. C., and to a marble head in the style of Praxiteles, both being recent additions to the collection.

Germanic Museum, junction Broadway and Cambridge Street, Cambridge. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission free. Reproductions of masterpieces by noted sculptors of Germany, formed through basis of Prince Henry's visit, March 6, 1902.

University Museum, Cambridge, Oxford Street. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission free. Contains only collection glass models of flowers in the world. A wonderful exhibit.

William Hayes Fogg Art Museum, Cambridge Street, Cambridge. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission free. Contains Paintings, Sculpture, Bronzes, Engravings, etc.

Peabody Museum, Cambridge. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission free.

Boston Society of Decorative Art. Embroideries and Handicraft Work. 184 Boylston St., open 10 a. m. to 5.30 p. m.

SHOPPING NEWS

Miss M. F. Fisk is showing this week a line of Waists in woollens, in colors and white, just the thing for mountain and seashore.

Miss R. Butler, The Hair Store, 29 Temple Place. At this establishment, the most centrally located in Boston, will be found the largest assortment of Hair Goods in New England, Hair Dressing, Manicuring, Treatment of Face and Scalp, Chiropody, Pedicure, Combs, Barrettes, Pins. Hotel work by appointment. Tel. Oxford 628.

Millar & Welch, opticians, have removed from West Street to 162a Tremont Street (next to Keith's Theatre). The Bostonian as well as the stranger will find best of kodak supplies as well as a fine and up-to-date line of field glasses for use at the seashore.

Macullar Parker Company invite attention to their stock of seasonable clothing for men and boys. The mid-summer sale at reduced prices is now on.

William H. Winship (formerly H. A. Winship), 16 Tremont St. are showing a fine line of Trunks, Bags and Dress Suit Cases for European Travel. A full stock of the latest designs in ladies' wrist and hand bags. Always reliable. Established 1842.

The soft Oriental materials to be seen in Davis' East India House 373 Boylston Street, near Arlington Street, are different from anything to be found elsewhere, and one finds there, also, beautiful embroideries and many interesting novelties, from many parts of the world.

John J. Stevens & Co., 300 Boylston St., are showing a very fine line of shirt waists and dresses for summer, also ladies' underwear both domestic and French.

A. L. La Vers Co., Importers and Designers, 190-192 Boylston St., 32-34 Park Square, are showing advance styles and Early Autumn Models in Furs, Hats, Coats, Dresses, Waists, Marabout and Satin Neckwear. Here you will find prices reasonable and the shop one of the most attractive on Boylston Street.

There is no question but that Raymond & Whitcomb Company whose office is at 306 Washington Street, next to the Old South Church, maintain the best equipped and most complete ticket office for railroad and steamship tickets in the city. Correct information will be furnished with pleasure.

The Antique Store, 390 Boylston St., appeals to those who are searching for unique pieces of old furniture, Sheffield plate, blue China and quaint bits from Colonial days. It is under new management and offers especially low prices during the summer. The Antique Store is one of the places of interest to visit while strolling on Boylston St.

Arthur W. Hubbard, 49-55 Bromfield St., on account of alterations being made in his store, is offering his entire stock of Carbons, Water Colors, Etchings, Photogravures and Prints of all kinds at the low price of 50c on the dollar.

The establishment of Kakas Bros., 179 Tremont Street, is renowned for perfection of taste and refinement daily exemplified in beautiful creations of all kinds of Fur at Moderate Prices.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

Miss Gertrude Elliott appears at the Shubert this week in "The Dawn of a Tomorrow." This is the first performance here of Mrs. Burnett's famous play of cheerfulness, but Miss Elliott is no stranger to the part she plays, for the actress has already appeared in it in England with marked success.

"The Girl and the Drummer," begins an engagement at the Majestic. It is George Broadhurst's merry farce, "What Happened to Jones," in a musical guise. The part of the much-troubled drummer is in the hands of Herbert Corthell, a capable actor.

The Stock Company at the Castle Square presents "The Crown Prince," a romantic comedy, in which James K. Hackett appeared several seasons ago. This is the first presentation in Boston.

Direct from the New Amsterdam Theatre in New York comes "Girllies," to the Boston Theatre. Sixty girls, Joseph Cawthorne and Maude Raymond are in the cast. The songs are catchy and the dancing sprightly.

To the Grand Opera House comes "The Thief," the story of the woman who stole to make herself attractive in the eyes of her husband.

At the Globe, Douglas Fairbanks in "The Cub," is pleasing large audiences. It is a very clever comedy drama with just enough melo. to make it good.

Jack Barrymore is packing the Tremont to the doors nightly in "The Fortune Hunter." Those desiring seats should procure them some few days in advance.

Frank Moulan at the Colonial in "The Arcadians," is scoring very heavy, without doubt this is the best Frank has done for some time.

ART EXHIBITIONS

New Boston Museum of Fine Arts. The Fenway. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission 25c. The Museum contains collections illustrating the arts of Egypt, Greece, Rome, the Orient, and modern Europe and America, together with a large collection of reproductions.

Among recent acquisitions attention may be particularly called to portraits by Goya and Maes, and to a Spanish primitive painting representing the Coronation of the Virgin. Modern paintings recently added to the collection are Mary Cassatt's "At the Opera;" Hunt's "Pine Woods at Magnolia;" and Redfield's "Ravine." The Department of Chinese and Japanese Art is now showing a series of Japanese paintings of the 18th and 19th centuries, including some remarkable studies of animal life and landscape. In the Department of Classical Art special mention is due to an important marble relief of the 5th century B. C., and to a marble head in the style of Praxiteles, both being recent additions to the collection.

SHOPPING NEWS

Miss M. F. Fisk is showing this week a line of Waists in wool taffeta, in colors and white, just the thing for mountain and seashore.

Miss R. Butler, The Hair Store, 29 Temple Place. At this establishment, the most centrally located in Boston, will be found the largest assortment of Hair Goods in New England, Hair Dressing, Manicuring, Treatment of Face and Scalp, Chiropody, Pedicure, Combs, Barrettes, Pins. Hotel work by appointment. Tel. Oxford 628.

Millar & Weltch, opticians, have removed from West Street to 162a Tremont Street (next to Keith's Theatre). The Bostonian as well as the stranger will find best of kodak supplies as well as a fine and up-to-date line of field glasses for use at the seashore.

Macullar Parker Company invite attention to their stock of seasonable clothing for men and boys. The mid-summer sale at reduced prices is now on.

William H. Winship (formerly H. A. Winship), 16 Tremont St., are showing a fine line of Trunks, Bags and Dress Suit Cases for European Travel. A full stock of the latest designs in ladies' wrist and hand bags. Always reliable. Established 1842.

The soft Oriental materials to be seen in Davis' East India House, 373 Boylston Street, near Arlington Street, are different from anything to be found elsewhere, and one finds there, also, beautiful embroideries and many interesting novelties, from many parts of the world.

John J. Stevens & Co., call attention to their Fall Opening of Dresses and Sailor Suits for Misses and Children. Unusual values.

A. L. La Vers Co., Importers and Designers, 190-192 Boylston St., 32-34 Park Square, are showing advance styles and Early Autumn Models in Furs, Hats, Coats, Dresses, Waists, Marabout and Satin Neckwear. Here you will find prices reasonable and the shop one of the most attractive on Boylston Street.

There is no question but that Raymond & Whitcomb Company, whose office is at 306 Washington Street, next to the Old South Church, maintain the best equipped and most complete ticket office for railroad and steamship tickets in the city. Correct information will be furnished with pleasure.

The Antique Store, 390 Boylston St., appeals to those who are searching for unique pieces of old furniture, Sheffield plate, blue China and quaint bits from Colonial days. It is under new management and offers especially low prices during the summer. The Antique Store is one of the places of interest to visit while strolling on Boylston St.

Arthur W. Hubbard, 49-55 Bromfield St., on account of alterations being made in his store, is offering his entire stock of Carbons, Water Colors, Etchings, Photogravures and Prints of all kinds at the low price of 50c on the dollar.

The establishment of Kakas Bros., 179 Tremont Street, is renowned for perfection of taste and refinement daily exemplified in beautiful creations of all kinds of Fur at Moderate Prices.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

For the first time here, "The Lily," comes to the Hollis Street this week, with Nance O'Neil, Julia Dean and Charles Cartwright in the company. It is Belasco's version, seen for six months in New York, of the much-discussed French play by Pierre Wolff that follows the revolt of two daughters—one young and one middle-aged—from the withering life in which their narrow-minded and obstinate father has imprisoned them.

"Girls," revived at the Castle Square, is Clyde Fitch's entertaining comedy of the life of "bachelor" girls in an economically conducted flat.

Barney Gilmore, the popular Irish comedian, comes to the Grand Opera House in a new play, entitled "Kelly from the Emerald Isle." The new songs introduced during the performance have met with great success everywhere presented.

"Annie Laurie" is the offering at the Globe.

Gertrude Elliott continues at the Shubert in "The Dawn of a Tomorrow."

Big audiences are witnessing Marie Doro in "Electricity," at the Park.

ART EXHIBITIONS

New Boston Museum of Fine Arts. The Fenway. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission 25c. The Museum contains collections illustrating the arts of Egypt, Greece, Rome, the Orient, and modern Europe and America, together with a large collection of reproductions.

Among recent acquisitions attention may be particularly called to portraits by Goya and Maes, and to a Spanish primitive painting representing the Coronation of the Virgin. Modern paintings recently added to the collection are Mary Cassatt's "At the Opera;" Hunt's "Pine Woods at Magnolia;" and Redfield's "Ravine." The Department of Chinese and Japanese Art is now showing a series of Japanese paintings of the 18th and 19th centuries, including some remarkable studies of animal life and landscape. In the Department of Classical Art special mention is due to an important marble relief of the 5th century B. C., and to a marble head in the style of Praxiteles, both being recent additions to the collection.

Germanic Museum, junction Broadway and Cambridge Street, Cambridge. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission free. Reproductions of masterpieces by noted sculptors of Germany, formed through basis of Prince Henry's visit, March 6, 1902.

University Museum, Cambridge, Oxford Street. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission free. Contains only collection glass models of flowers in the world. A wonderful exhibit.

William Hayes Fogg Art Museum, Cambridge Street, Cambridge. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission free. Contains Paintings, Sculpture, Bronzes, Engravings, etc.

Peabody Museum, Cambridge. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission free.

Boston Society of Decorative Art. Embroideries and Handicraft Work. 184 Boylston St., open 10 a. m. to 5.30 p. m.

Old South Meeting House Museum, Washington and Milk Sts., contains Collection of Historical Articles. Open 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. Admission 25c.

SOCIETIES

Luncheon of the Pilgrim Publicity Association, Boston City Club, 1000.

Meeting of the Congregational Brotherhood of America.

South End Congress opens in the Shawmut Congregational Church, evening.

Banquet of Branch Manchester Unity, I. O. O. F., Odd Fellows Hall, evening.

Boston 1915 dinner at Young's Hotel, evening.

EXHIBITIONS

SHOPPING NEWS

Miss M. F. Fisk is showing this week a line of Waists in wool taffeta, in colors and white, just the thing for mountain and seashore.

Miss R. Butler, The Hair Store, 29 Temple Place. At this establishment, the most centrally located in Boston, will be found the largest assortment of Hair Goods in New England, Hair Dressing, Manicuring, Treatment of Face and Scalp, Chiropody, Pedicure, Combs, Barrettes, Pins. Hotel work by appointment. Tel. Oxford 628.

Millar & Welch, opticians, have removed from West Street to 162a Tremont Street (next to Keith's Theatre). The Bostonian as well as the stranger will find best of kodak supplies as well as a fine and up-to-date line of field glasses for use at the seashore.

Macullar Parker Company invite attention to their stock of seasonable clothing for men and boys. The mid-summer sale at reduced prices is now on.

William H. Winship (formerly H. A. Winship), 16 Tremont St., are showing a fine line of Trunks, Bags and Dress Suit Cases for European Travel. A full stock of the latest designs in ladies' wrist and hand bags. Always reliable. Established 1842.

The soft Oriental materials to be seen in Davis' East India House, 373 Boylston Street, near Arlington Street, are different from anything to be found elsewhere, and one finds there, also, beautiful embroideries and many interesting novelties, from many parts of the world.

John J. Stevens & Co., call attention to their Fall Opening of Dresses and Sailor Suits for Misses and Children. Unusual values.

A. L. La Vers Co., Importers and Designers, 190-192 Boylston St., 32-34 Park Square, are showing advance styles and Early Autumn Models in Furs, Hats, Coats, Dresses, Waists, Marabout and Satin Neckwear. Here you will find prices reasonable and the shop one of the most attractive on Boylston Street.

There is no question but that Raymond & Whitcomb Company, whose office is at 306 Washington Street, next to the Old South Church, maintain the best equipped and most complete ticket office for railroad and steamship tickets in the city. Correct information will be furnished with pleasure.

The Antique Store, 390 Boylston St., appeals to those who are searching for unique pieces of old furniture, Sheffield plate, blue China and quaint bits from Colonial days. It is under new management and offers especially low prices during the summer. The Antique Store is one of the places of interest to visit while strolling on Boylston St.

Arthur W. Hubbard, 49-55 Bromfield St., on account of alterations being made in his store, is offering his entire stock of Carbons, Water Colors, Etchings, Photogravures and Prints of all kinds at the low price of 50c on the dollar.

The establishment of Kakas Bros., 179 Tremont Street, is renowned for perfection of taste and refinement daily exemplified in beautiful creations of all kinds of Fur at Moderate Prices.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

"The Chocolate Soldier," by the Whitney Opera Company opens an engagement this week at the Majestic. It was one of the few big hits of last season in New York and comes to Boston with the original cast practically intact. The music is by Strauss and the book is a version of G. B. Shaw's delightful "Arms and Man." The music is brilliant and well sustained, and is in the hands of an orchestra of forty players.

At the Castle Square is a presentation of "The Talk of New York," a play, interspersed with music, and both by George Cohan.

The Grand Opera House has for the first time in this city the drama of stirring emotions, entitled "The Turning Point."

The continuances are: "The Fortune Hunter," at the Tremont; "The Dawn of a Tomorrow," at the Shubert; Marie Doro in "Electricity," at the Park; "Girllies," at the Boston; "The Lily," at the Hollis Street; "The Arcadians," at the Colonial, and "Annie Laurie," at the Globe.

There are pleasing attractions at B. F. Keith's and the Orpheum.

ART EXHIBITIONS

New Boston Museum of Fine Arts. The Fenway. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission 25c. The Museum contains collections illustrating the arts of Egypt, Greece, Rome, the Orient, and modern Europe and America, together with a large collection of reproductions.

Among recent acquisitions attention may be particularly called to portraits by Goya and Maes, and to a Spanish primitive painting representing the Coronation of the Virgin. Modern paintings recently added to the collection are Mary Cassatt's "At the Opera;" Hunt's "Pine Woods at Magnolia;" and Redfield's "Ravine." The Department of Chinese and Japanese Art is now showing a series of Japanese paintings of the 18th and 19th centuries, including some remarkable studies of animal life and landscape. In the Department of Classical Art special mention is due to an important marble relief of the 5th century B. C., and to a marble head in the style of Praxiteles, both being recent additions to the collection.

Germanic Museum, junction Broadway and Cambridge Street, Cambridge. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission free. Reproductions of masterpieces by noted sculptors of Germany, formed through basis of Prince Henry's visit, March 6, 1902.

Miss M. F. Fisk is showing this week a line of Waists in wool taffeta, in colors and white, just the thing for mountain and seashore.

Miss R. Butler, The Hair Store, 29 Temple Place. At this establishment, the most centrally located in Boston, will be found the largest assortment of Hair Goods in New England, Hair Dressing, Manicuring, Treatment of Face and Scalp, Chiropody, Pedicure, Combs, Barrettes, Pins. Hotel work by appointment. Tel. Oxford 628.

Millar & Welch, opticians, have removed from West Street to 162a Tremont Street (next to Keith's Theatre). The Bostonian as well as the stranger will find best of kodak supplies as well as a fine and up-to-date line of field glasses for use at the seashore.

Macullar Parker Company invite attention to their stock of seasonable clothing for men and boys. The mid-summer sale at reduced prices is now on.

William H. Winship (formerly H. A. Winship), 16 Tremont St., are showing a fine line of Trunks, Bags and Dress Suit Cases for European Travel. A full stock of the latest designs in ladies' wrist and hand bags. Always reliable. Established 1842.

The soft Oriental materials to be seen in Davis' East India House, 373 Boylston Street, near Arlington Street, are different from anything to be found elsewhere, and one finds there, also, beautiful embroideries and many interesting novelties, from many parts of the world.

John J. Stevens & Co., call attention to their Fall Opening of Dresses and Sailor Suits for Misses and Children. Unusual values.

A. L. La Vers Co., Importers and Designers, 190-192 Boylston St., 32-34 Park Square, are showing advance styles and Early Autumn Models in Furs, Hats, Coats, Dresses, Waists, Marabout and Satin Neckwear. Here you will find prices reasonable and the shop one of the most attractive on Boylston Street.

There is no question but that Raymond & Whitcomb Company, whose office is at 306 Washington Street, next to the Old South Church, maintain the best equipped and most complete ticket office for railroad and steamship tickets in the city. Correct information will be furnished with pleasure.

The Antique Store, 390 Boylston St., appeals to those who are searching for unique pieces of old furniture, Sheffield plate, blue China and quaint bits from Colonial days. It is under new management and offers especially low prices during the summer. The Antique Store is one of the places of interest to visit while strolling on Boylston St.

Arthur W. Hubbard, 49-55 Bromfield St., is showing a large selection of Halloween Cards and Novelties. An advance line of Xmas and New Year's Cards, also a complete selection of personal Xmas and New Year's Cards.

The establishment of Kakas Bros., 179 Tremont Street, is renowned for perfection of taste and refinement daily exemplified in beautiful creations of all kinds of Fur at Moderate Prices.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

For the first time in America, "The Speckled Band," is presented by Charles Frohman this week at the Boston. Built upon an adventure of Sherlock Holmes by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, the play is the current sensational dramatic success of London. A cast of unusual strength and excellence acts it, chief among the players being Edwin Stevens, Charles Millward and Irene Fenwick.

A piece for the first time in this city, also, is "Seven Days," at the Park. This is a spirited and amusing farce of a "smart" urban dinner party, quarantined for a week in the house and going from adventure to adventure, and confusion to confusion. The same cast here carried the play for several months in New York.

"The Wolf," Eugene Walter's vivid and concentrated melodrama of the Canadian woods, comes to the Grand Opera House. The personages are few and well characterized; the action is swift and sharp.

Jack Barrymore in "The Fortune Hunter," at the Tremont Theatre, continues to draw large audiences. "The Chocolate Soldier," at the Majestic Theatre has made a hit. It is one of the high class musical shows direct from the New York Casino. "The Arcadians," at the Colonial is having quite a run. It is a beautiful musical comedy and one should not miss seeing it.

ART EXHIBITIONS

New Boston Museum of Fine Arts. The Fenway. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission 25c. The Museum contains collections illustrating the arts of Egypt, Greece, Rome, the Orient, and modern Europe and America, together with a large collection of reproductions.

Among recent acquisitions attention may be particularly called to portraits by Goya and Macs, and to a Spanish primitive painting representing the Coronation of the Virgin. Modern paintings recently added to the collection are Mary Cassatt's "At the Opera;" Hunt's "Pine Woods at Magnolia;" and Redfield's "Ravine." The Department of Chinese and Japanese Art is now showing a series of Japanese paintings of the 18th and 19th centuries, including some remarkable studies of animal life and landscape. In the Department of Classical Art special mention is due to an important marble relief of the 5th century B. C., and to a marble head in the style of Praxiteles, both being recent additions to the collection.

Germanic Museum, junction Broadway and Cambridge Street, Cambridge. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission free. Reproductions of masterpieces by noted sculptors of Germany, formed through basis of Prince Henry's visit, March 6, 1902.

University Museum, Cambridge, Oxford Street. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission free. Contains only collection glass models of flowers in the world. A wonderful exhibit.

William Hayes Fogg Art Museum, Cambridge Street, Cambridge. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission free. Contains Paintings, Sculpture, Bronzes, Engravings, etc.

Peabody Museum, Cambridge. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission free.

Boston Society of Decorative Art. Embroideries and Handicraft Work. 184 Boylston St., open 10 a. m. to 5.30 p. m.

Old South Meeting House Museum, Washington and Milk Sts., contains Collection of Historical Articles. Open 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. Admission 25c.

SOCIETIES

Dedication of the St. Mary's Catholic Association building, Cambridge, evening.

Fair of the Ladies of the G. A. R., Faneuil Hall, 10 a. m. to 10 p. m.

Celebration by the St. Patrick's Total Abstinence and Literary Society, Intercolonial Hall, evening.

SHOPPING NEWS

Miss M. F. Fisk is showing this week a line of Waists in wool taffeta, in colors and white, just the thing for mountain and seashore.

Miss R. Butler, The Hair Store, 29 Temple Place. At this establishment, the most centrally located in Boston, will be found the largest assortment of Hair Goods in New England, Hair Dressing, Manicuring, Treatment of Face and Scalp, Chiropody, Pedicure, Combs, Barrettes, Pins. Hotel work by appointment. Tel. Oxford 628.

Millar & Welch, opticians, have removed from West Street to 162a Tremont Street (next to Keith's Theatre). The Bostonian as well as the stranger will find best of kodak supplies as well as a fine and up-to-date line of field glasses for use at the seashore.

Macullar Parker Company invite attention to their stock of seasonable clothing for men and boys. The mid-summer sale at reduced prices is now on.

William H. Winship (formerly H. A. Winship), 16 Tremont St., are showing a fine line of Trunks, Bags and Dress Suit Cases for European Travel. A full stock of the latest designs in ladies' wrist and hand bags. Always reliable. Established 1842.

The soft Oriental materials to be seen in Davis' East India House, 373 Boylston Street, near Arlington Street, are different from anything to be found elsewhere, and one finds there, also, beautiful embroideries and many interesting novelties, from many parts of the world.

John J. Stevens & Co., call attention to their Fall Opening of Dresses and Sailor Suits for Misses and Children. Unusual values.

A. L. La Vers Co., Importers and Designers, 190-192 Boylston St., 32-34 Park Square, are showing advance styles and Early Autumn Models in Furs, Hats, Coats, Dresses, Waists, Marabout and Satin Neckwear. Here you will find prices reasonable and the shop one of the most attractive on Boylston Street.

There is no question but that Raymond & Whitcomb Company, whose office is at 306 Washington Street, next to the Old South Church, maintain the best equipped and most complete ticket office for railroad and steamship tickets in the city. Correct information will be furnished with pleasure.

The Antique Store, 390 Boylston St., appeals to those who are searching for unique pieces of old furniture, Sheffield plate, blue China and quaint bits from Colonial days. It is under new management and offers especially low prices during the summer. The Antique Store is one of the places of interest to visit while strolling on Boylston St.

Arthur W. Hubbard, 49-55 Bromfield St., is showing a large selection of Hallow'een Cards and Novelties. An advance line of Xmas and New Year's Cards, also a complete selection of personal Xmas and New Year's Cards.

The establishment of Kakas Bros., 179 Tremont Street, is renowned for perfection of taste and refinement daily exemplified in beautiful creations of all kinds of Fur at Moderate Prices.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

William Gillette enters upon an engagement this week at the Hollis, offering the plays which have made him so successful upon the stage. His first presentation is "Sherlock Holmes," one of the most interesting and excitable of the pieces. Later he will be seen in "Secret Service," "Held by the Enemy," "Too Much Johnson," "The Private Secretary" and "Clarice." For "Clarice," he will bring Marie Doro from New York to play the opposite part which is her old character.

For the first time here, the Shubert presents "The Summer Widowers," with Lew Fields and Irene Franklin. It is a variegated musical play on a large scale that ran through last summer in New York and that contains the scene showing three floors of an apartment house with the assorted life therein.

To the Grand Opera House returns the sensational melodrama, "The Chinatown Trunk Mystery," based upon the murder of Elsie Siegel by a Chinaman in New York.

At the Castle Square Theatre, John Craig's Stock Company plays for the first time in Stock, "The Servant in the House."

No play has created a stir equal to this play in many seasons. Written by Charles Rann Kennedy, himself an actor of many years experience, it tells a graphic tale of selfish humanity and its moral transformation under good influences. By it the spectator may be entertained or instructed, or both, and through it there persists a humor that is exceedingly rare in a serious drama. The scene is an English country vicarage, and its inmate and Bishop of the Church of England are subjected to the moral influence of one Manson, a butler attired in Oriental garb, but who is in reality the Bishop of Benares.

The leading role of Manson will be played by John Craig, who will give it dignity and authority, while each of the six other characters will be carefully assigned to Mr. Craig's leading players. Miss Mary Young will appear as the heroine, and there will be an especially attractive and picturesque scenic environment.

ART EXHIBITIONS

New Boston Museum of Fine Arts. The Fenway. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission 25c. The Museum contains collections illustrating the arts of Egypt, Greece, Rome, the Orient, and modern Europe and America, together with a large collection of reproductions.

Among recent acquisitions attention may be particularly called to portraits by Goya and Maes, and to a Spanish primitive painting representing the Coronation of the Virgin. Modern paintings recently added to the collection are Mary Cassatt's "At the Opera;" Hunt's "Pine Woods at Magnolia;" and Redfield's "Ravine." The Department of Chinese and Japanese Art is now showing a series of Japanese paintings of the 18th and 19th centuries, including some remarkable studies of animal life and landscape. In the Department of Classical Art special mention is due to an important marble relief of the 5th century B. C., and to a marble head in the style of Praxiteles, both being recent additions to the collection.

Germanic Museum, junction Broadway and Cambridge Street, Cambridge. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission free. Reproductions of masterpieces by noted sculptors of Germany, formed through basis of Prince Henry's visit, March 6, 1902.

Miss M. F. Fisk is showing this week a line of Waists in wool taffeta, in colors and white, just the thing for mountain and seashore.

Miss R. Butler, The Hair Store, 29 Temple Place. At this establishment, the most centrally located in Boston, will be found the largest assortment of Hair Goods in New England, Hair Dressing, Manicuring, Treatment of Face and Scalp, Chiropody, Pedicure, Combs, Barrettes, Pins. Hotel work by appointment. Tel. Oxford 628.

Millar & Weltch, opticians, have removed from West Street to 162a Tremont Street (next to Keith's Theatre). The Bostonian as well as the stranger will find best of kodak supplies as well as a fine and up-to-date line of field glasses for use at the seashore.

Macullar Parker Company invite attention to their stock of seasonable clothing for men and boys. The mid-summer sale at reduced prices is now on.

William H. Winship (formerly H. A. Winship), 16 Tremont St., are showing a fine line of Trunks, Bags and Dress Suit Cases for European Travel. A full stock of the latest designs in ladies' wrist and hand bags. Always reliable. Established 1842.

The soft Oriental materials to be seen in Davis' East India House, 373 Boylston Street, near Arlington Street, are different from anything to be found elsewhere, and one finds there, also, beautiful embroideries and many interesting novelties, from many parts of the world.

John J. Stevens & Co., call attention to their Fall Opening of Dresses and Sailor Suits for Misses and Children. Unusual values.

A. L. La Vers Co., Importers and Designers, 190-192 Boylston St., 32-34 Park Square, are showing advance styles and Early Autumn Models in Furs, Hats, Coats, Dresses, Waists, Marabout and Satin Neckwear. Here you will find prices reasonable and the shop one of the most attractive on Boylston Street.

There is no question but that Raymond & Whitcomb Company, whose office is at 306 Washington Street, next to the Old South Church, maintain the best equipped and most complete ticket office for railroad and steamship tickets in the city. Correct information will be furnished with pleasure.

The Antique Store, 390 Boylston St., appeals to those who are searching for unique pieces of old furniture, Sheffield plate, blue China and quaint bits from Colonial days. It is under new management and offers especially low prices during the summer. The Antique Store is one of the places of interest to visit while strolling on Boylston St.

Arthur W. Hubbard, 49-55 Bromfield St., is showing a large selection of Hallow'e'en Cards and Novelties. An advance line of Xmas and New Year's Cards, also a complete selection of personal Xmas and New Year's Cards.

The establishment of Kakas Bros., 179 Tremont Street, is renowned for perfection of taste and refinement daily exemplified in beautiful creations of all kinds of Fur at Moderate Prices.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

The season at the Boston Opera House begins with the following repertoire: Monday, at 8 "Melistofele," in Italian, by Boito—Mmes. Alda, Melis (debut), Claessens; MM. Lassalle (debut), Sibiriakoff (debut), Giaccone, Stroesco. Conductor Conti. Wednesday, at 8, "Rigoletto," in Italian, by Verdi—Mmes. Lipkowska, Claessens, Rogers, Savage, Swartz; MM. Constantino, Baklanoff, Sibiriakoff, Perini, Pulcini, Huddy, Giaccone. Conductor Goodrich. Friday, at 8, "Otello," in Italian, by Verdi—Mmes. Alda, Claessens; MM. Slezak (debut), Amato (debut), Devaux (debut), Stroesco, Mardones, Pulcini, Letol (debut). Conductor Conti. Saturday Matinee, "Tosca," in Italian, by Puccini—Mmes. Melis, Rogers; MM. Jadowker, Baklanoff, Perini, Tavecchia, Giaccone, Pulcini. Conductor Moranzoni (debut). Saturday Evening, at 7.45, at popular prices, "Lucia," in Italian, by Donizetti—Mmes. Lipkowska, Savage; MM. Constantino, Fornari, Stroesco, Perini, Devaux. Conductor Moranzoni.

For this, the second week of the engagement of William Gillette at the Hollis Street he presents, "Secret Service," in which he scored one of his first and biggest successes throughout the country. The piece is filled with stirring incidents, and excellently presented by a strong company, headed by Mr. Gillette.

"The Port of Missing Men," a romance by Meredith Nicholson, is the attraction at the Grand Opera House. It is a story involving Austrian diplomatic circles, Washington political life and a number of interesting persons, among them being a young man whose connection with the Austrian succession carries him into perilous paths.

At the Castle Square there is a revival of Shakespeare's "Richard III," with Mr. Craig, who rarely undertakes sinister parts, as Gloster.

ART EXHIBITIONS

New Boston Museum of Fine Arts. The Fenway. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission 25c. The Museum contains collections illustrating the arts of Egypt, Greece, Rome, the Orient, and modern Europe and America, together with a large collection of reproductions.

Among recent acquisitions attention may be particularly called to portraits by Goya and Maes, and to a Spanish primitive painting representing the Coronation of the Virgin. Modern paintings recently added to the collection are Mary Cassatt's "At the Opera;" Hunt's "Pine Woods at Magnolia;" and Redfield's "Ravine." The Department of Chinese and Japanese Art is now showing a series of Japanese paintings of the 18th and 19th centuries, including some remarkable studies of animal life and landscape. In the Department of Classical Art special mention is due to an important marble relief of the 5th century B. C., and to a marble head in the style of Praxiteles, both being recent additions to the collection.

Germanic Museum, junction Broadway and Cambridge Street, Cambridge. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission free. Reproductions of masterpieces by noted sculptors of Germany, formed through basis of Prince Henry's visit, March 6, 1902.

University Museum, Cambridge, Oxford Street. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission free. Contains only collection glass models of flowers in the world. A wonderful exhibit.

William Hayes Fogg Art Museum, Cambridge Street, Cambridge. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission free. Contains Paintings, Sculpture, Bronzes, Engravings, etc.

Peabody Museum, Cambridge. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission free.

Boston Society of Decorative Art. Embroideries and Handicraft Work. 184 Boylston St., open 10 a. m. to 5.30 p. m.

Old South Meeting House Museum, Washington and Milk Sts., contains Collection of Historical Articles. Open 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. Admission 25c.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

E. H. Sothern and Julia Marlowe begin a season of three weeks at the Shubert this week, the initial offering being "Macbeth," continuing through to Saturday evening, and on Saturday evening, Dec. 3, for the last night of the engagement.

For the second week of the season at the Boston Opera House, "Faust," is given Monday evening and a double bill of "L'Enfant Prodigue," and "I Pagliacci," on Wednesday evening; Friday, "La Boheme;" Saturday matinee, "The Barber of Giniglia;" Saturday night, "Aida."

"The Private Secretary," is presented by William Gillette at the Hollis.

For the first time in Boston the Colonial offers Montgomery and Stone in "The Old Town." It shifts them, their humors and their acrobatic dancing to a western village where a circus has left them stranded.

"Going Some," is the attraction at the Castle Square.

Fiske O'Hara appears in "The Wearing of the Green," at the Grand Opera House.

Shows that continue at the following theatres: "The Chocolate Soldier," at the Majestic; "The Fortune Hunter," at the Tremont; "The Speckled Band," at the Boston; "Seven Days," at the Park.

Burlesque shows of the pleasing kind, are being played at the following houses: Gaiety, Waldron's Casino, Howard and Columbia.

ART EXHIBITIONS

New Boston Museum of Fine Arts. The Fenway. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission 25c. The Museum contains collections illustrating the arts of Egypt, Greece, Rome, the Orient, and modern Europe and America, together with a large collection of reproductions.

Among recent acquisitions attention may be particularly called to portraits by Goya and Maes, and to a Spanish primitive painting representing the Coronation of the Virgin. Modern paintings recently added to the collection are Mary Cassatt's "At the Opera;" Hunt's "Pine Woods at Magnolia;" and Redfield's "Ravine." The Department of Chinese and Japanese Art is now showing a series of Japanese paintings of the 18th and 19th centuries, including some remarkable studies of animal life and landscape. In the Department of Classical Art special mention is due to an important marble relief of the 5th century B. C., and to a marble head in the style of Praxiteles, both being recent additions to the collection.

Germanic Museum, junction Broadway and Cambridge Street, Cambridge. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission free. Reproductions of masterpieces by noted sculptors of Germany, formed through basis of Prince Henry's visit, March 6, 1902.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

At the Shubert E. H. Sothern and Julia Marlowe play the following pieces this week: "As You Like It," Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings and Thursday afternoon; "Romeo and Juliet," Thursday and Friday evenings and Saturday afternoon, and "Hamlet," Saturday evening.

William Gillette at the Hollis Street presents this repertoire: "Too Much Johnson," Monday and Tuesday evenings; "Held by the Enemy," Wednesday evening; "The Private Secretary," Thursday evening and Saturday afternoon; "Secret Service," Friday evening, and "Sherlock Holmes," Thursday afternoon and Saturday evening.

From New York Kyrle Bellew comes to the Boston with "Raffles."

Lew Dockstader and his "Twentieth Century Minstrels," now under the management of the Messrs. Shubert, will be the attraction at the Globe Theatre next week and will present what has been called the greatest achievement in minstrelsy that the resourceful "Lew" has ever offered. All of the old traditions by which minstrel shows were hitherto planned have been abolished, and the vehicle in which Mr. Dockstader and his frolicsome seventy are appearing this year is the "Possum Hunt Club Revue," and it has earned the unheard of praise of being called absolutely new, both in song and jest, while the mounting is on a scale that will compare with the best dressed musical extravaganza. Mr. Dockstader has assembled the most notable company of assistants he has ever had, the list of comedians and singers including Carroll Johnson, Eddie Mazier, "Happy" Naulty, Chas. Falk, Harry A. Ellis, and Tom Kenna, late of "The Quartette," Allen Campbell, Charles Raymond and some seventy others. The engagement will be for one week only.

At the Boston Opera House, "Tosca," is billed for Monday night.

ART EXHIBITIONS

New Boston Museum of Fine Arts. The Fenway. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission 25c. The Museum contains collections illustrating the arts of Egypt, Greece, Rome, the Orient, and modern Europe and America, together with a large collection of reproductions.

Among recent acquisitions attention may be particularly called to portraits by Goya and Maes, and to a Spanish primitive painting representing the Coronation of the Virgin. Modern paintings recently added to the collection are Mary Cassatt's "At the Opera;" Hunt's "Pine Woods at Magnolia;" and Redfield's "Ravine." The Department of Chinese and Japanese Art is now showing a series of Japanese paintings of the 18th and 19th centuries, including some remarkable studies of animal life and landscape. In the Department of Classical Art special mention is due to an important marble relief of the 5th century B. C., and to a marble head in the style of Praxiteles, both being recent additions to the collection.

Germanic Museum, junction Broadway and Cambridge Street, Cambridge. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission free. Reproductions of masterpieces by noted sculptors of Germany, formed through basis of Prince Henry's visit, March 6, 1902.

University Museum, Cambridge, Oxford Street. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission free. Contains only collection glass models of flowers in the world. A wonderful exhibit.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

For this, the final week of Sothorn and Marlowe at the Shubert, the following repertoire is presented: "The Taming of the Shrew," Monday and Tuesday evenings; "The Merchant of Venice," Wednesday and Thursday evenings; "Twelfth Night," Friday evening; "As You Like It," Saturday afternoon, and "Macbeth," Saturday evening.

"The Bachelor's Baby," which Francis Wilson wrote for his own use, comes to the Hollis Street. The comedy depicts the prejudice entertained by Thomas Beach, a bachelor, against children, and three acts of the play bristle with bright lines, clever epigrams and amusing situations.

The Majestic has for its attraction Blanche Ring in a new musical play, entitled "The Yankee Girl."

"Katie-Did," is at the Boston, and it is the name given the musical version of "My Friend from India."

"A Minister's Sweetheart," at the Grand Opera House, is an appealing picture of domestic life—the love of a young minister for a helpless school teacher, beset by the plotting of a vicious rascal, who is attempting to drive him from the town.

For the first time here and at the Globe is presented "Lulu's Husbands," a lively farce of an actress who tries to pick a fiancee by publicity.

This is the opening week of the Boston Arena, one of the world's greatest and most magnificent Ice Palaces, devoted to Skating, Curling and Hockey. Competent attendants and instructors are constantly on hand. Skates can be rented at the Rink. A Military Band furnishes music afternoon and evening. (See page 4.)

ART EXHIBITIONS

New Boston Museum of Fine Arts. The Fenway. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission 25c. The Museum contains collections illustrating the arts of Egypt, Greece, Rome, the Orient, and modern Europe and America, together with a large collection of reproductions.

Exhibition of paintings of H. C. Frick to open Dec. 2. Titian, Rembrandt, Series of English School.

Among recent acquisitions attention may be particularly called to portraits by Goya and Maes, and to a Spanish primitive painting representing the Coronation of the Virgin. Modern paintings recently added to the collection are Mary Cassatt's "At the Opera;" Hunt's "Pine Woods at Magnolia;" and Redfield's "Ravine." The Department of Chinese and Japanese Art is now showing a series of Japanese paintings of the 18th and 19th centuries, including some remarkable studies of animal life and landscape. In the Department of Classical Art special mention is due to an important marble relief of the 5th century B. C., and to a marble head in the style of Praxiteles, both being recent additions to the collection.

Germanic Museum, junction Broadway and Cambridge Street, Cambridge. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission free. Reproductions of masterpieces by noted sculptors of Germany, formed through basis of Prince Henry's visit, March 6, 1902.
