LABOR COMMISSIONERS MAKE STUDY OF TRIPLE HAZELTONS WITH AUTOMOBILES

Thirty-Dollar Joy Ride More Fascinating Than Six-Dollar Ferry Trip; Railroad is Now Declared Open as Far as Morricetown

Prince Rupert, B. C., July 30.—This section of the province was visited by the provincial labor commission during the past few days. The party arrived here on the steamer Prince George last Wednesday, and at once took the train to Hazelton which is expected to be the metropolis of the northern interior as soon as its location is definitely settled. The bright sunshine and cool breeze which distinguishes Prince Rupert weather at this time of the year, continued to make the journey pleasant, although the cars were somewhat crowded, the business having somewhat grown the rather limited supply of rolling stock which the railway possesses at this point.

Advance information regarding the state of affairs at Hazelton is apt to be neither diffuse nor accurate. The G. T. P. train hands look pained when the subject is mentioned and switch the conversation to something else. For the information of intending travellers, however, it may be mentioned that inquiries made during a brief visit disclose the presence of three Hazeltons. Most of the population is still to be found on the original townsite, thirteen acres in extent, and bounded on three sides by the Indian reserve, and on the fourth by the Skeena river.

For purposes of clearness this location may be designated Hazelton proper. It is the place where the government agent and the provincial police still keep their headquarters. The Bulkley river runs into the Skeena in the immediate neighborhood and immediately across the river is the railway station, marked on the map as Hazelton, but known to the populace as South Hazelton. Three miles further east is New Hazelton, which with the aid of the railway commission, has survived the ill of childhood and emerged into vigorous growth.

The labor commissioners, who desired to reach Hazelton proper, got off the train at South Hazelton with the intention of going by ferry across the Bulkley, but after taking a look around they boarded the train again and proceeded to New Hazelton, from which point an automobile stage runs to Hazelton proper. This change of plan proved a little expensive, as the driver of the automobile assessed the party $30 for the round trip from New Hazelton to Hazelton proper, a distance of about five miles, whereas the ferry from South Hazelton to Hazelton proper would have been fifty cents per head each way, a difference of $24.

Railway construction has moved east for some distance from New Hazelton, the road having been last week formalized and opened to Morricetown, twenty-four miles further along. The bunkhouses were not visited this trip by the labor commissioners, but were ascertained to be of the usual character. One traveller was encountered on the train who had been to Telkwa. He had been offered accommodation in a bunkhouse, but it did not appeal to him. He preferred to sleep in the open air, where the odor was better.

In this district, as elsewhere in British Columbia, there is complaint that men who leave their employment on railway construction, or are discharged, have often to travel long distances on foot in order to reach the pay office. Sub-contractors do not seem willing to admit that there is anything wrong with this system, nor do they know of any remedy. Donald McLeod, who is with Foley, Welch & Stewart, testified that the time cheques which the men receive are negotiable so that the money may be obtained from anybody who is willing to cash them. On the other hand, merchants who have accepted these time cheques have written to the commissioners to say they cannot get the money from the contractors.

The explanation may lie in the practice being different on different sections of the construction work. A man without money, but with a time cheque, can eat at any of the contractors' boarding houses, and have the 50 or 75 cents marked on the time cheque, to be deducted when he eventually reaches the pay office.

WIFE BEATEN WITH IRON RAILWAY BOLT

Mounted Policeman Pursues Husband Night and Day Until Over-taking Him on Prairie.

Saskatoon, July 30.—One of the most horrible cases of ill-treatment in the annals of crime in this province is that alleged to have been committed by Frank Masure, of Meachem station, situated about fourteen miles from Colonsay, upon his wife last Friday night, when she was beaten into unconsciousness by her husband with a steel railway bolt. Five deep gashes were inflicted in her head, while her limbs and body indicated that she had been subjected to inhuman violence.

After subjecting his wife to the punishment, Masure left the house before morning, beating his way across the prairie some miles. He failed to out-wit Constable Stewart, of the R. N. W. M. P., stationed at Allan, who was notified of the crime the following morning.

All that night and the following day the officer kept on and finally arrested Masure, who has since been confined to the city police station until to-day, when he was removed to Prince Albert. There he will wait his trial, the preliminary hearing having taken place at Colonsay during the week. The evidence was considered sufficiently strong to warrant a commitment.

It is only about a month ago that the accused was freed from jail, when he was serving four years for shooting.

NANKING RETURNS TO NORTHERN GOVERNMENT

Shanghai, July 30.—The chamber of commerce of Nanking telegraphed to-day to the military governor of the province of Kiang Si, and also to a number of high officials at Shanghai the following dispatch: "General Huang Sing, the commander-in-chief of the southern forces has left Nanking. The proclamation of independence issued there has been cancelled. The city is quiet."

A naval wireless dispatch to-day confirms the return of the city of Nanking to its allegiance to the northern government.

PRINCESS LOUISE IS IN NEED OF FORTUNE

Brussels, July 30.—The creditors of Princess Louise of Belgium, eldest daughter of the late King Leopold, announce that they will wait for a settlement of their claims against her provided one-third of her indebtedness is paid now. It is said that the princess is on her way to Brussels to ask the king to inherit way that Princess Louise was invoking extra territoriality against her debts, which are said to amount to $3,200,000. The value of her estate is about $1,000,000.

NOTED PEOPLE SAIL ABOARD VIRGINIAN

Hawkins Requested Not to Hurry Home as Welcoming Committee Needs Time.

London, July 30.—The Virginian which sailed to-day has a notable party of sportsmen aboard, comprising the majority of the Blesley team and the Canadian bowlers. Everybody is in capital spirits and highly satisfied with the result of their visit.

Pte. W. Hawkins, 4th Highlanders, Toronto, winner of the King's prize, sails on the Tunisian next Wednesday. He received from Col. J. A. Currie to-day the following cablegram: "Don't cheer, can eat at any of the contractors' boarding houses, and have the 50 or 75 cents marked on the time cheque, to be deducted when he eventually reaches the pay office."

WILL DISCUSS PACIFIC HIGHWAY IN AUGUST

Seattle, July 30.—Autoists and good road enthusiasts are anticipating with interest the fourth annual Pacific highway convention to be held this year at Vancouver, B. C., on August 11, 12 and 13. The purposes of this association have assumed a position of more general importance every year, until now the Pacific highway is one of the foremost undertakings of the entire coast.

The automobile club of Seattle will make this year's convention the occasion of a club run. Seattle cars will leave here Saturday afternoon, August 9, or Sunday, August 10. The road is declared to be in excellent shape, and the trip will be a pleasant one.

AUSTRALIA PROBABLY AT PANAMA EXPOSITION

Melbourne, July 30.—Australia will probably contribute to the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco in 1915 if the states of the Commonwealth fall in line with the plan of the federal government.

The prime minister, Hon. Joseph Cook, proposes to-day that his government would give $100,000 to establish an Australian court at the exposition, provided the states individually contributed sufficient to provide an exhibition worthy of Australia.

DIAZ COMES NORTH.

San Diego, Cal., July 30.—General Felix Diaz, special envoy of Mexico to Japan, and the members of his party, leave this afternoon for Los Angeles. They will spend two days in Los Angeles and then go to San Francisco for two days. A similar visit will be made at Portland and at Seattle. The party will sail from Vancouver.

FIRST STEAMER FOR WHITE RIVER STRIKE

Yukon Sleighs and Other Winter Equipment Taken in by Prospectors

COMPANY REFUSES TO SELL WOMEN TICKETS

Two Succeed in Securing Passage and One Takes Along a Baby Chair

SEEKING BASE FOR WINTER'S SUPPLIES

Dawson, Y. T., July 30.—One steamer and a barge sailed last night, both crowded with men, dogs, horses and outfits for the new White River strike. The steamer goes up the White river to the mouth of the Donjek. On the barge are twenty poling boats which some of the prospectors will use, while others will take horses from Donjek to the diggings.

The departure of the boat caused a great crowd to gather, and the whole outfit looked like the departure of steamers from Seattle in '98, since Yukon sleighs and other outfits for winter as well as summer supplies sell tickets to a few women applicants, but two stowed away and are on the way, one woman shipping a baby chair. The mounted police expect to send a man to the vicinity within a few days to insure order along the trail. It is predicted that there will be 5,000 men in the new district to winter. Men have been sent to investigate the field and ascertain the practicability of laying down supplies at the nearest base for a winter service to the mouth of the White river, or a point 90 miles above the mouth, at the mouth of the Donjek, which is believed the best place for steamers carrying 50 to 100 tons to get to now, although smaller steamers will be able to get in much further.

The government trail now opened from Coffee Landing, right on the Yukon river, affords a first-class pack trail of 100 miles to the boundary, with probably 30 more first-class trails to the diggings.

All prospectors outside are advised by the two men who brought out the first gold to bring horses to pack supplies either from Coffee Landing or from Donjek Landing to the diggings. From Donjek to the field is a pack of 60 miles, but a good many expect to save a third of this by using poling boats. It is believed that after the winter, storms will render the Social Pass dangerous to all travelling and to the camp and district.

No customs officers are established at the boundary by either government, but United States goods are being taken and are now on their way to reaching the line.

Cordova, Alaska, July 30.—Practically all of the stampedeers to the Shushanna river have reached the glacier at the head of the Chitstone, forming the pass to the White River country. Some of the earlier stampedeers have crossed and are now on their way to the diggings. The trail over the glacier is rather difficult, but it is believed most of those on this side will get across within a day or two. One or two of the stampedeers found the trip too severe and turned back.

An automobile is now on the way from Fairbanks to Chitina, and if successful regular trips will be made.

WHISKERS IN BRITISH ARMY NOT THE FASHION

London, July 30.—British army circles and the general public don't know whether to laugh or become alarmed over the nearest approach to a strike the British army has experienced. The whole thing hinges on the question of compulsory moustaches for English army officers. Since the beginning of the nineteenth century British army officers have been compelled to wear moustaches, or at least such hair as could be cultivated on the upper lip. The King's regulations distinctly say "the chin and underlip shall be shaven, but not the upper lip."

Recently, however, society set its face against whiskers, including moustaches, and officers have been agitating for the right to shave.

ONE ADULT AND TWELVE BABIES DIE OF HEAT

Cleveland, Ohio, July 30.—The death of one adult and twelve babies from heat, and three prostrations were reported here yesterday. The maximum official temperature was 88 degrees, two degrees lower than the highest recorded this summer.

Chicago, July 30.—A lake breeze this morning brought relief from Chicago's hottest spell of the year. The thermometer dropped 20 degrees in a few hours. At 8 o'clock it registered 75 degrees. At 9 o'clock it had reached 90. The official temperature at 10 o'clock was 89 and slowly rising.

COPPER MINERS ARE SEEKING CONFERENCE

General Tries to Have Employers and Workers Meet on Strike Situation

COMPANY DIRECTORS UNFRIENDLY TO PLAN

Consideration Would Mean Recognition of Western Federation Which Is Refused

UNION LEADERS NOW JUBILANT OF OUTCOME

Calumet, Mich., July 30.—A crucial incident in the copper miners' strike was scheduled for development to-day, the operators having been asked by General P. L. Abbey to consider proposals emanating from Lansing that a conference between employers and employees be held in the governor's office.

The attitude of the companies, it was freely predicted, would be none too friendly to the plan, in as much as the operators considered it would place them in the position of recognizing the Western Federation of Miners to at least a degree. They were chary of endorsing the scheme because its announcement was coincident with the presence in Lansing of C. E. Mahoney, vice-president of the Western Federation.

The union leaders were still jubilant over the outcome of Mahoney's visit and expressed the belief that failure of the companies to act on the suggestion of the governor would result in an early withdrawal of at least a part of the state troops. The military men had an investigation of their own on their hands in connection with the wounding of a striker by a sentry at the Calumet mine last night. They sought to obtain the truth of the sentry's statement that he had been assaulted with stones before he fired at and wounded the miner.

CASTRO'S PARTISANS ACTIVE IN VENEZUELA

Political Situation Regarded as Critical; Important Personages Implicated.

Wilmington, Curacao, July 30.—Rumors have reached here that the town of Coro, in the state of Falcon, Venezuela, has been recaptured by partisans of Cipriano Castro, and that General Leon Jurado, governor of Falcon, has been taken prisoner by them.

It is said that Castro landed in Venezuela yesterday. A number of the former president's followers, including two of his young nephews, secretly embarked here to-day for Coro. The political situation in Venezuela is generally regarded as critical. Scores of important personages have been implicated.

FORTUNE IN JEWELS SECURED BY THIEVES

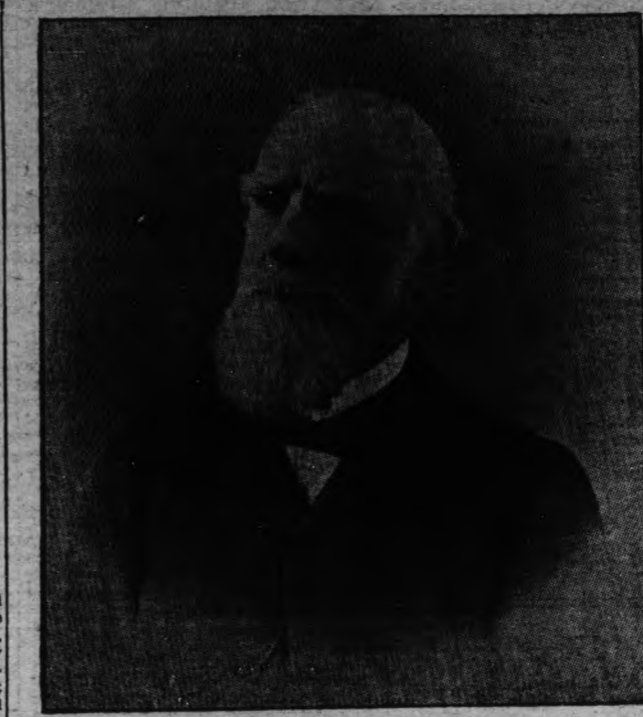

Narragansett Pier, R. I., July 30.—Jewelry worth at least $10,000 was stolen from Shore Acres, the summer residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hanan, Friday night. The $75,000 robbery in the home of C. C. Rumsay, son-in-law of the late E. H. Harriman, occurred on Saturday night. Reports that the Hanans had been robbed were denied until to-day, when Mrs. Hanan told the story of their loss. Mr. Hanan is seriously ill and has been kept in ignorance of the robbery. An unwillingness to disturb him influenced his wife to withhold the facts until this time.

HONOR DEAD EMPEROR.

Tokyo, July 30.—All Japan joined to-day in a memorial service for the late Emperor Mutsuhito, who died a year ago. The young Emperor Yoshihito attended a service in the palace, while thousands of citizens went to Aoyama, where the funeral of the late emperor was held last autumn.

Theatres and all other forms of entertainment were suspended for the day. The period of mourning ends to-morrow.

LORD STRATHCONA

CANADIAN HIGH COMMISSIONER SENDS TEN THOUSAND POUNDS TO CRYSTAL PALACE FUND

London, July 30.—In connection with the proposal to purchase the Crystal Palace for the nation Lord Strathcona, High Commissioner for Canada, to-day sent his cheque for £10,000 to the Lord Mayor of London, carrying out his promise to assist the project to that extent. The Lord Mayor has also received anonymously a bank note for £10,000, to be applied to the fund. It was sent by registered mail.

The Times undertook to raise £90,000 by subscriptions from the public on June 30, and this sum has been completed and will be applied to the general fund. The final donation of the Times' subscription was received from R. Burbridge, the managing director of Harrod's, Limited, who, on learning that £2,500 was still required, contributed that sum in remembrance of the happy and instructive day he spent at the Crystal Palace as an Oxford Street apprentice of 14 on his first holiday in London, and as a mark of gratitude for a successful business career.

EDMONTON AND PRINCE ALBERT ENTER CONTEST

Over Five Hundred Realty Men Start on Prairie Belt Trip To-morrow.

Winnipeg, July 30.—Both Edmonton and Prince Albert this morning entered the contest for the trophy donated by the Chicago real estate board for the best five-minute talk delivered at the convention of the National Association of Real Estate Exchanges which concludes its sessions to-day. It had been planned to have all of these speeches delivered on the first day of the convention but there were so many contestants that this was found impossible.

Edmonton, in addition to this, was not eligible to compete on the first day as the exchange at that time had not been officially recognized. Many complimentary comments were made on the announcement of George Hall, of Edmonton, that while the exchange had only been organized for three weeks and had a total membership of twenty-one, it was represented at the convention by a delegation of fifteen.

This afternoon the important matters will be the deciding of the place for the 1914 convention and the election of officers. It is conceded that Pittsburg will probably be the chosen place for next year's convention and that Chas. L. Simpson, of Kansas City, will be a delegate to the convention. A selected president of the Association, during the morning session, to-night the entire delegation are the guests of the city at a banquet to be held in the Coliseum, and to-morrow more than five hundred start on the 1,300-mile prairie belt trip.

VAUDEVILLE TALENT AND ATHLETES ON VIRGINIA

Bremerton, Wash., July 30.—One hundred and fifty transfers have been made at the flag office of the Pacific reserve fleet, so that the U. S. S. West Virginia may carry a full complement of officers and men when she goes to Victoria, August 4-5. The crews are also concentrating their energies in developing a high class crew of "twelves" to race the British bluejackets. Yesterday afternoon's practice races showed marked improvement, and the men will be in fine condition on the date for the competition. Admiral Reynolds granted transfers to practically all the athletic and vaudeville talent in the fleet.

NO LOW CUT FROCKS AT DUCHESS' WEDDING

Prince Henry Sells Queen's Letters for Fifty Dollars to His Schoolmate

London, July 30.—The antipathy of Queen Mary to low-cut afternoon frocks has been the cause of some friction between Her Majesty and the Duchess of Fife regarding the latter's wedding arrangements. The Queen will permit Princess Mary to be a bridesmaid only on condition that the bridesmaids do not wear frocks cut lower than one inch in the neck in front.

The Duchess of Fife resents such restrictions, and has appealed to her mother and Queen Alexandra, but Queen Mary refuses to alter her attitude.

Prince Henry, the third son of King George, who is at a preparatory school at Broadstairs, is allowed $2.50 a week pocket money. Being refused an additional income a few days ago, he sold some letters written by Queen Mary to a schoolmate named Behrens, for $50.

The Queen wrote Head Master Saunders to obtain all the letters from Behrens and refund the $50.

The Eton boys have decided to call Prince Henry, the third son of the King, plain Henry when he goes there for the next term. Prince Henry, Prince and Guelph were all considered, but there were objections to each, and so Henry pure and simple was decided on.

WIRELESS BLAMED FOR SHORTAGE OF SHOWERS

New York, July 30.—The fact that the Long Island village of Sayville has been deprived of the recent thunder showers which have visited this vicinity is attributed by some of the disappointed truck gardeners to the effect which the large wireless station there may have upon atmospheric conditions. There has been no rain at Sayville for more than six weeks and a withering drought is reported, while towns all around there have had a number of heavy downpours.

OPTION ON ALDWICH SITE.

London, July 30.—The London County Council to-day granted an option to the Canadian Government to acquire the plot on the Aldwich site for $1,500,000. The Aldwich site is a huge cleared area adjoining the Strand, where the new Australian Government offices are being erected.

WILSON SPEAKS TO SENATE COMMITTEE

Situation on Mexico Discussed Secretly With United States Ambassador

ADVISES RESTRICTED RECOGNITION ONLY

Daniels Asked for Report on I. W. W. Disturbance With Marines at Seattle

WICKERSHAM URGES RAILWAY IN ALASKA

Washington, D. C., July 30.—Ambassador Wilson conferred with the senate foreign relations committee in executive session to-day, giving his views on the Mexican situation. It was evident that senators had been keenly looking forward to first-hand information from the ambassador.

Ambassador Wilson to-day began with the chronological recital of his personal observations of the stirring events in Mexico, beginning with the abdication of Porfirio Diaz, and spoke at length of the downfall of Madero and the rise of Huerto. The committee was disposed to let the ambassador tell his story in his own way, and for more than two hours he continued an almost unbroken narrative, interrupted only occasionally by a question from some senator.

Extraordinary injunctions of secrecy were placed on all senators in the conference, but it was evident that the committee was listening attentively and that no disposition to cross-examine the ambassador developed, at least during the first part of the conference.

It was later learned that Ambassador Wilson advocated a restricted recognition of the Huerto government in Mexico; but the senators took no action. The details of his plans were not divulged at the time, but some of the Republican senators said the ambassador had made a favorable impression, not necessarily as to his plan, but as to his whole story of the events in Mexico.

Under a resolution introduced late yesterday by Representative Bryan, of Washington, Secretary Daniels is asked to furnish the House a detailed statement of the recent attacks on property of the I. W. W. in Seattle by blue-jackets of the Pacific fleet, with the names of the enlisted men who participated and the record of any proceedings to investigate the affair. The secretary is asked to furnish a statement of losses, with a view to granting reparation.

Mr. Bryan declared his object was to show that the attacks were not made by citizens of Washington, but by men in the government service.

Declaring again that J. F. Morgan & Co. and the Guggenheim syndicate control every mile of Alaskan railway, Delegate Wickersham urged to-day the House territories committee to authorize building a government railroad in Alaska.

BRITISH VISITORS AT TWIN ONTARIO CITIES

Parliamentarians Are Guests at Luncheon To-day and Meet Leading Men.

Port Arthur, Ont., July 30.—The party of British parliamentarians who are crossing Canada on a tour of the Empire, arrived in Port Arthur from the east this morning, and are spending the day in the two cities, being shown over the various points of interest under the direction of J. J. Carrick, M. P. At noon Mr. Carrick gave a luncheon in honor of the visitors to which leading citizens of Port Arthur and Fort William were invited to meet them. The speakers on the toast list were Mr. Carrick, who proposed a toast to Canada; Hamar Greenwood, who replied; D. M. Hogarth, M. P., who proposed the toast of "The Guests," and Will Crooks, M. P., and Rt. Hon. Tho. Lough, M. P., who responded.

ROOSEVELT MAY LEAD CAVALRY TO MEXICO

Austin, Tex., July 30.—Governor Colquitt yesterday was provided with what purports to be reliable and inside information that Col. Theodore Roosevelt has quietly organized four regiments of volunteer cavalry of the rough rider type, composed of trained riders and marksmen of Arizona, New Mexico and Western Texas. It is alleged the real purpose of Col. Roosevelt's present visit to the southwest is to direct the selection of men for a military division and that he will soon have it in readiness to enter Mexico in the event of hostilities with that country. The report says further that Col. Roosevelt is carrying on this work with the knowledge and sanction of the United States war department.

WILL HONOR FINDER OF "ELIXIR OF LIFE"

Dr. Metchnikoff, Fifty Years a Scientist, Gets "Live for" From Friends.

Paris, July 26.—To celebrate half a century's connection with science—completed this year—Prof. Metchnikoff's friends are to present a "live for" to the biologist. The book, which will be published by the publisher of essays written by eminent doctors and biologists, each essay to consist of an absolutely original piece of work. A year is given for the preparation of the essay and of the research connected with it.
Prof. Metchnikoff began his scientific career at Odessa, fifty years ago. Coming under suspicion of the Russian government, he moved to Naples and subsequently to Paris, where he has been thirty years. Unquestionably the greatest biologist of the age, besides an original thinker and writer of great charm and lucidity, he has not that place in Paris to which his great gifts and untiring enthusiasm for research entitle him. The reason in his outspokenness.

To show his catholicity one of the specialists to be approached for a commemorative essay is Dr. Doyen, who, notwithstanding attacks upon his soundness, retains the confidence of Metchnikoff and his firm friendliness. And the supposed "charlatan" is indeed one of the world's brilliant men.
Prof. Metchnikoff is a delightful figure, adored by those who work with him. He refuses to grow old and claims to have found the elixir of life—if you begin early enough.

FORTY THOUSAND MEN WANTED FOR HARVEST

First Special to Prairie Provinces—With Labor About Middle of August

Winnipeg, Man., July 30.—That 40,000 men from the east will be required to harvest the crop in the prairie provinces was the decision arrived at yesterday, when representatives from the provincial governments and the transportation lines met. It was estimated this number would be sufficient owing to the fact that there were already more men available in the provinces than in past years. From the reports received, it was shown that there were about 7,000 or 8,000 men in the western cities who would be willing to go out into the harvest fields immediately the crop was ready.
Although it was impossible to fix any exact date, the representatives came to the conclusion that the harvest would be general between August 15 and 20. It was, therefore, decided to recommend to the officials in the east that their first special be run from Ontario and the maritime provinces on August 15, so that the men would arrive in Winnipeg about August 18 and would be distributed through the country within the next two days. Other excursions will follow as rapidly as possible until the country has been cleaned up.
"We have a splendid crop; in fact, the best for many years," said Mr. Andrew Kelly, president of the Grain Exchange and president of the Western Canada Flour Mills Company, this morning. Mr. Kelly has just returned from a western trip, and is full of optimism for the prospects.

SLIT SKIRT STARTS BATTLE IN STREET

Girls in Newest Garb Resent Taunt and Furious Fight Follows

New York, July 30.—Two slit skirts got their wearers and Mollie Nelson, 17 years old, of 418 East 107th street, into a fight with a fifth girl in front of 86 East 108th street last night. The fray drew a crowd of a hundred persons in a minute and developed into a battle.
For weeks Alice Hart, 16 years old, of 1653 Madison avenue and Mollie Nelson, 17 years old, of 418 East 107th street had been trying to persuade their mothers to let them wear fashion's latest freak. The mothers gave consent last night and there was no sign of the trouble that was going to come when Alice and Mollie pelted on their new slitted gowns and invited Annie Cohen, 16 years old, of 418 Lenox avenue and Sophie Rosenzweig, also 16, of 111 East 106th street to come over and see the new dresses.
The four chums went out walking, and bystanders then noticed that Alice and Mollie had perhaps good reasons for desiring to wear slit skirts. As they passed 86 East 108th street Ray Gross, a big girl of 15 years, was coming down. Somebody—Ray Gross says it wasn't she—remarked: "It's too bad those girls couldn't come out in bathing suits. Hugh!"
The four chums were aggrieved and relieved their minds. "If the daughters of Fifth avenue can wear slit skirts, I guess we can. Mind your own business. Perhaps you're only sore." These words led to others of more caustic kind, and soon a fight was in progress between the four chums and Ray Gross. Passersby joined in the quarrel, most of them in support of Miss Gross. The ebullient ebbs until it reached Madison avenue and 109th street.
Police whistles were blown. Patrolman Nolan at 107th street and Patrolman Grossberger at 115th street dashed up in answer to the blast of the whistles. Captain Savage and reserves hurried to the scene. The four chums, worsted, fled into the apartment house at 5 East 108th street, up the stairs, over the roof to No. 7, and down into the hall. The police fought their way with the four girls through a belligerent crowd, which followed all the way to the station house.
There the girls were told that subpoenas would bring them to the Harlem court on Monday and Miss Gross was advised to appear as the complainant. Miss Gross had a swollen cheek, a battered eye, and several bruises. The others were badly rumpled.
Another story of a slit skirt that became more so, as its wearer, Miss Gwendolyn Haynes, of Minneapolis, attempted to board the steamer Carillo at Fort Limon, was related yesterday by passengers when the ship docked here. The skirt was a Parisian creation, made from measurements sent by mail. It fitted snugly. The gangplank was at an angle of 60 degrees. When Miss Haynes bent her knees to ascend there was a loud rip. She held the torn edges of the skirt together and sidled back to her carriage. She will come north by the next boat.

LONG AND WEARY WAR PROBABLE IN CHINA

One Hundred Japanese Officers to Join Canton Army of 40,000 Troops

London, July 30.—The Telegraph's Shanghai correspondent reports a critical situation at Shanghai. The police, he says, refuse to permit the foreign guards to remain there. Late in the afternoon the foreign volunteers, who had returned to Shanghai, marched back to Chapel and were met by armed foreign police. Several shots were exchanged between the volunteers and the police, but the foreigners were uninjured and after disarming a small number of natives, the expedition returned to Shanghai.
Further foreign warship parties have been landed and are guarding the consulates.
The Southerners, profiting by their early mistakes, are getting large supplies of ammunition," says The Telegraph's Peking correspondent. "A long and weary war seems certain. I understand a hundred Japanese officers will join the Canton army, which consists of 40,000 good troops."
The Daily Telegraph's correspondent at Shanghai reports the native city in fire in three places as a result of the terrific cannonading of the arsenal. The dispatch bears no date and probably refers to Monday's fighting.
The correspondent had an interview with Dr. Wu Ting Fang, former Chinese Minister to Washington, who thinks President Yuan Shi Kai's uncompromising policy dangerous, but blames both sides to the warfare for rejecting proposals for a compromise.
In an interview with the correspondent, Dr. Sun Yat Sun declared that he would leave for the South in a few days on business. He was quite unconcerned, according to the correspondent, with the settlement of the war or threat of expulsion against him. He said he recognized that Wu Ting Fang's peace mission is hopeless.
The Daily Mail's Peking correspondent says that after a rebel defeat on Tuesday at Ku Cheng, the commander of the rebels, who surrendered, was promoted in the ranks of the Government troops and now is taking steps to cut off the retreat of his former brothers in arms.
Shanghai, July 30, 1.30 a.m.—Northern army reinforcements, estimated to number 4,000, with two cruisers, arrived in the Yangtze River yesterday. Practically all the civilians have left Wu Sung for Shanghai, expecting a bombardment, which up to this hour has been inexplicably delayed.
There is a shortage of food. The foreign consuls yesterday strongly protested to the Northern admirals against firing over Shanghai. Two Chinese and two Annamite police were killed in the French concession in Monday night's bombardment. There were many narrow escapes and numerous foreign buildings destroyed or damaged.
Amoy, China, July 29.—All the troops have been withdrawn from the interior in the northern part of the province of Fokien and dispatched to reinforce the revolutionary southern forces at Nanking and Wu Sung. Large numbers of volunteers for the southern army are enrolling at Amoy. The situation at Fu Chow has caused great uneasiness here.
Peking, July 29.—5.20 p. m.—The province of Hunan seceded from the Peking government on July 25, according to consular reports just received here. The strength of the Hunan forces at present on the border of the province of Hupeh is variously estimated at from 500 to 8,000 men. General Li Yuen Heng, vice-president of the republic, who is conducting operations in Central China from Wu Chang, declared recently that his forces were capable of dealing with the revolt in both Kiang Si and Hunan, but to-day's reports announce the defeat of a small body of troops on the Han river above Wu Chang.

ADDRESSES HEARD AT REALTY CONVENTION

Buffalo and Pittsburg Are Contestants for Gathering of Exchanges Next Year.

Winnipeg, Man., July 29.—Addresses were the principal features of yesterday's session of the National Association of Real Estate Exchanges. J. A. M. Atkins, K. C., M. P., spoke on the Hudson's Bay Company and western development. He was followed by E. J. Upham, of Duluth, Joseph M. Scherhorn, of Detroit, the latter speaking on the fourth estate and real estate.

The ladies attending the convention were escorted in automobiles to the north city limits, where interurban cars were waiting to convey them to lower Fort Garry, 15 miles down the Red River, where they are the guests at a luncheon of the ladies connected with the local exchange. At noon the various secretaries of the real estate boards represented are being entertained at a luncheon at the Grange hotel and addresses connected with the National Association will be delivered.

Every delegate is taking advantage of the one-hour trips around the city, it being planned that each delegate should have such tours. While the vote of the place for the convention of 1914 will not be taken until to-morrow afternoon, there is much interest in it, and keen rivalry exists between Buffalo and Pittsburg.

CIVIL WAR PRINCESS IS DYING FROM WANT

Rutland, Vt., July 30.—In a poor tenement home in this city, ill and nearly blind, Princess Eleanor Alexander Gladstone Nicholas, daughter of Sir James Davison, a cousin of William Ewart Gladstone, was met by Dr. Mary E. Walker, the noted exponent of dress reform, who came to take the aged sufferer to a sanitarium near Oswego, N. Y.

The princess is slowly dying from ill-effects of want. She is 89 years of age. She was a nurse on the battlefield in the civil war and Dr. Walker was the only woman surgeon in that war. Dr. Walker wore the familiar coat and trousers and her war medal from Congress.

AMBASSADORS AGREE ON ALBANIA'S STATE

Nominate Prince at End of Year and Arrange Commission of Control

London, July 29.—The ambassadorial conference settled yesterday the status of New Albania. A prince will be nominated six months hence to rule over the new state, and in the meantime a commission of control, composed of one representative of each power, will organize the administration with the aid of a Swedish officer of gendarmerie.

The conference has done nothing of special interest in the direction of coercing Turkey, and as the strongest feeling is manifested at indignation meetings throughout India against any attempt to drive the Turks from Adrianople, it is not likely that the British government would be anxious to initiate such coercion.

The Greeks still are operating by sea and by land. The Bulgarians, who were defeated recently at Kresna Pass, turned upon pursuing Greeks to the north-west of Djuma. Fierce fighting occurred, the reinforced Bulgarians making a desperate attempt to recapture their lost positions. The battle lasted throughout Sunday. The Greeks being thrice ejected at the point of the bayonet from one position. The fighting took place over an extended front, and both sides suffered heavily.

According to a Greek account of the battle, neither side had gained a decisive advantage at nightfall on Sunday, but under the cover of darkness the shaken Bulgarians retired after abandoning and setting fire to the town of Djuma, which later the Greeks occupied.

A correspondent with the Greeks says their losses in their previous battle for the possession of Kresna Pass, were 2,000 killed or wounded. Losses in Sunday's battle are not given.

The correspondent adds that except for rear guard actions the Bulgarians make no further stand this side of Dubnitza, 22 miles to the south of Sofia, and that now no Bulgarian soldiers remain in Macedonia, except as prisoners.

The Greek fleet has occupied the ports of Lagos, Maronia and Makri, on the coast of Thrace, and a Greek force has captured the town of Gumarjina, 12 miles inland from the Aegean Sea, 75 miles southwest of Adrianople.

The Rumanian and Serbian premiers, according to the Times Bucharest correspondent, conferred on a request from the Bulgarian government that Rumanian troops occupy the fortress of Vidin, Bulgaria, in order to protect the population from the Serbians.

Telegraphing from Sofia, the Times correspondent says the Bulgarians have succeeded in driving back the Greek centre some 20 miles, but that the Greeks still possess a great advantage in artillery.

The correspondent adds that bread is scarce in Sofia owing to the cutting of railroads. Wounded soldiers are arriving by thousands, and the medical supplies are quite inadequate for their needs.

The Times Salonica correspondent notes a growing desire there for peace. He says the continuous arrival of convalescents with severely wounded men from the recent battles causes a painful impression and effectively is calming the martial ardor of the Greeks.

The correspondent adds that it is rumored in Salonica that a fierce battle between Greeks and Bulgarians is raging between Djuma and Dubnitza.

Belgrade, July 29.—The investment of Sofia, the Bulgarian capital, is complete, the last connecting link of railway having been cut by the Serbian troops. The Bulgarian forces concentrated in Sofia as well as the inhabitants of the capital are threatened with famine, and the Bulgarian government has asked Rumania to consent to the opening of the railroad running from Yarna on the Black Sea to Sofia in order that provisions may be brought into the city. It is expected that Rumania will consent to this arrangement.

New Westminster, July 29.—Mayor A. W. The mayor referred to the sudden death of the late Sol. Oppenheimer, whom he described as an ardent member of the order.

The delegates from Victoria are: Messrs. F. J. Hall, Victor Meaton, James Moss, W. E. Moresby, Arthur L. Haines and Thomas Watson.

MORE POWER GIVEN INTERIOR MINISTER

Order-in-Council Allows Disposal of Certain Lands "As He Sees Fit"

Ottawa, July 30.—Another step has been taken by the Borden government to centralize power in the hands of the cabinet or of individual ministers, with a view to increasing the opportunities for political manipulation of the public treasury and of the public domain.

An order in council has been passed giving the minister of the interior powers to dispose "as he sees fit" of any lands deemed to be specially valuable in the railway belt of British Columbia. This supersedes the old regulation prescribed under the Dominion Lands Act, whereby all lands in the railway belt could be disposed of only under a public order in council, requiring the consent of the other ministers.

The railway belt comprises 20 miles on each side of the C. P. R. through the province, an aggregate of hundreds of thousands of square miles. The new regulation, which was passed last month while Hon. T. W. Crothers was acting minister, places the disposal of any "specially valuable" part of this area absolutely in the hands of the minister of the interior, and affords him the opportunity for political exploitation for the benefit of political friends of Hon. Robert Rogers and his machine manipulators may readily be understood.

It is understood that a similar proposal for amending the regulations with regard to the disposal of lands in the railway belt was made last year while Mr. Rogers was minister of the interior, but it was not put through council owing to strenuous objection from Hon. Geo. E. Foster. With the assistance of Mr. Crothers, however, and in the absence of Mr. Foster, the desired regulation has now been passed.

HUNTERS FEASTED ON THE GERMAN'S BODY

Quiet Returned Only When Victim Was Found to Be Hamburg Stag.

Berlin, July 29.—Pedro Lopez, an Argentine sportsman, has been the unwitting cause of an international "incident" between the Argentine Republic and Germany.

He imported stags from Hamburg two years ago. One of them was known as the German. One day a stag was released on the Argentine plains, hunted and after three days' chase killed. The news was sent in a telegram to Don Pedro's son in the following terms:—"German killed and eaten; we shared his body; it was simply delightful."

Being a naturalized German, the telegrapher at the little post office to which this communication was taken did not agree that there was any cause for delight. Instead he confiscated the telegram and informed the German Consul at Buenos Ayres of its contents.

The Consul made inquiries and reported the matter to the German Ambassador, the Ambassador made inquiries and reported the matter to the Foreign Minister at Berlin; the Foreign Minister made inquiries and reported the matter to such good effect that there was a threat that diplomatic relations between Germany and the Argentine would be broken off if the whole truth were not disclosed at once.

Intense excitement was the result in Germany and the feeling of repulsion and indignation grew. Meanwhile Don Pedro and his party, knowing nothing of the agitation they had caused, continued their sport in the remote forest. It was only after a fortnight had passed that the mighty hunter returned to Buenos Ayres to find himself the victim of much execration and he was promptly arrested. The truth was then brought to light.

MORRISON ORDERED TO PRODUCE DOCUMENTS

Winnipeg, Man., July 29.—The hearing was resumed yesterday of the application for the commission to the common law of Alexander Morrison for contempt of court by failing to comply with an order of the court for examination, and failing to produce certain documents regarding the petition that has been entered against his election for Macdonald. The point as to failure to attend on examination was not pressed by counsel for the petitioners, owing to an error in the date in the subpoena, but that concerning the commitment of respondent for failing to produce document was vigorously pressed, and Mr. Justice Cameron in spite of numerous technical objections raised by counsel for the respondent, made an order for the production of an affidavit respecting the documents within three days, the penalty for failure to comply with this order to be commitment.

HOLLAND TO INCREASE HER NAVAL ARMAMENT

London, July 30.—The Netherlands Defence Commission at The Hague has recommended that Holland should build nine dreadnoughts of 21,000 tons each, as well as several cruisers, destroyers and submarines, for service in the waters of the Dutch East Indies. The full scheme is not to be completed for thirty-five years.

Mr. Burns Makes A Call

One day, just a short time ago, a keen business man, we'll call him Mr. Burns, though that wasn't his name, called on a McClary agent.

He said he was convinced that McClary's Sunshine Furnace was an economical furnace, because a Sunshine had cut one of his neighbor's coal bills by one-third. But he wanted to know more about the durability of it.

So the McClary agent told him how careful McClary's were to use the very best materials. That nothing was considered too good for the Sunshine.

He told about the fine quality of the steel used in the dome and radiator. He explained how the cup-joint construction provided ample room for the contraction and expansion of the fire-pot.

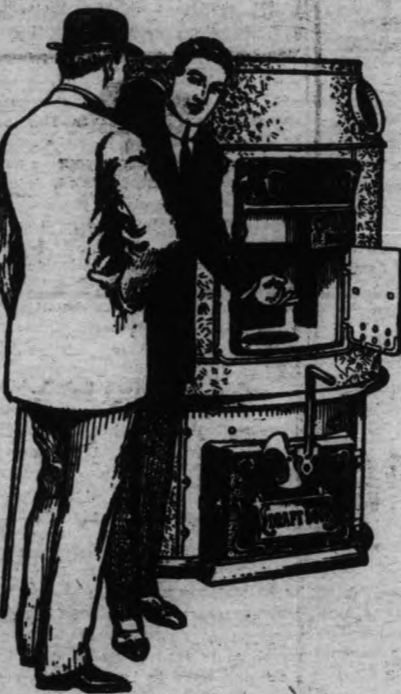

He told him about the fire-pot made of smooth close-grained semi-steel—a material that destructive sulphur fumes cannot penetrate.

He showed him how, by changing around the sides of the three-sided grate bars every day or two, the life of the grates was made three-fold.

He showed him the large feed and ash pit doors, convenient water pan, ample ash pan, and, in short, everything about the Sunshine.

When the agent was through, Mr. Burns shook him cordially by the hand, thanked him for his frankness—and walked out, without giving the agent a chance to close the sale.

But next day, Mr. Burns' architect phoned the McClary agent and told him he had an order for him to install a Sunshine Furnace in a new house.

If you want to know full particulars about a remarkable, durable, heavy furnace, call on the McClary agent in your locality. If you would like to read the latest Sunshine furnace booklet, write our nearest office.

The engine left the rails and turned over, one of the mail cars piling on top of it. Fire immediately started, but was extinguished before much damage was done to the mail. Foreum was an alderman here. He leaves a widow and two small children. Smith, the fireman, was married about a month ago.

CANADA'S ALLEGED INFERIORITY

Are Canadians an inferior people? The idea behind a centralized navy implies that they are. And yet the race which has taken possession of Canada and made her what she is to-day is drawn from the most capable, the most enterprising and the most aggressive people in the old land. If that is not the case, from whence is derived the attributes that impelled the ancestors of the present generation and the present generation itself to take up the burden of life in this new land? And yet the centralizers profess to believe we are an inferior people. They say we cannot do the things the Japanese have done and that the Australians are undertaking to do. They say we must hire Britishers of the old stock to protect us. The centralizers have got hold of Premier Borden and converted him to their views. Premier Borden who ought, if he has the stuff in him that robust Canadians are made of, to be a most ardent champion of Canadianism. We confess inability to comprehend this disposition to disparage everything Canadian, particularly at this time when all the world is being told of the glorious possibilities of this new land of promise. Although we are the descendants of a race who have for generations ruled the seas, yet the man who by reason of his position ought to be the chief of Canadians says we cannot hope to undertake our own defence inside of twenty-five or fifty years! What is the meaning of this sudden spasm of pessimism? Can it be true that, as has been hinted, a conspiracy has been hatched by a band of reactionaries in London and a few so-called Imperialists in Canada to belittle everything Canadian, to ridicule the Australian naval idea, for the purpose of promoting their idea of "centralizing" the Empire?

A BIG JOB.

The provisional Huerta administration in Mexico is tottering, and unless United States mediation can bring the government and rebel factions to an undertaking, chaos will resume its reign in the Central American state. Undoubtedly the restless march of events will involve Washington in that unsavory stew. As foster parent of the southern zone, upon it devolves the stern duty of restoring and preserving order. This was done in Cuba when Butcher Weyler was engaged in the superb enjoyment of massacring the unfortunate inhabitants of the island. American and European capital may now operate in the Pearl of the Antilles with comparative freedom from uneasiness.

The United States government is extending its paternalism over another Central American state, the liveliest one of the Isthmus—Nicaragua. This country has a record for revolutions as long as its history, but the end of the scroll has been reached. A treaty is about to be carried into effect which will establish a United States protectorate over the state. This should have the effect of preserving order also in San Salvador and Honduras, near neighbors of Nicaragua. Panama is practically dominated by Washington, so it is quite apparent that the big republic is taking under its ample wings the entire isthmian territory. And it will be the very best thing that could happen. For a long time European governments have been urging Washington to assume direct control over the weak republics of Central America and the Caribbean, and the developments of the last ten or fifteen years certainly have tended toward the fulfillment of their wish.

CHINESE IMMIGRATION.

The Times has been asked to suggest a solution of the Chinese immigration problem. It has already done so, but will be very happy to do so again. We strongly advise the government to endeavor to arrive at an understanding with the Chinese authorities along the line of the Lemieux Agreement with Japan. This would be the most available way in which to approach the difficulty, and should reduce the immigration of Chinese from eight thousand a year to four hundred. If China did not strictly observe the agreement we would still have the power to adopt more drastic measures, either by a head-tax or by totally prohibiting the immigration. But we favor pursuing the first course because it has been so conspicuously successful in the case of the Japanese. This remedy was suggested by Mr. Templeman in his speeches in Victoria in the fall of 1911, and he expressed his intention of urging it on his colleagues at Ottawa. On this point, however, he was vigorously attacked by the morning paper, which had opposed the Lemieux Agreement on the ground that it delegated the control of our immigration to foreign nation. On September 5, 1911, the morning paper said: "But there are hundreds of workmen who will not vote for the candidate of the government, which has recently been guilty of two acts which are calculated to prejudice the interests of labor. One of the acts is the declaration of members of the government in favor of a substitution of an agreement with China for the head-tax."

Every issue of that paper attacked the Liberal candidate in the campaign because he favored the substitution of an arrangement which would prove more effective than the head-tax. The observation in to-day's issue, therefore, that no remedy had been suggested by Mr. Templeman, is wholly in keeping with the well-established traditions of our contemporary in the discussion of this question. Mr. Barnard also opposed the substitution of an agreement for the ineffective head-tax of five hundred dollars. We must assume, then, that the present member and his newspaper champion prefer a continuance of the conditions which before long will bring ten thousand Orientals to this city annually. Is this assumption correct? If not, will Mr. Barnard or the Colonist suggest a remedy? They should not treat the question with silent contempt. It affects the welfare of thousands of workmen in this city. The census returns show a growing proportion of Orientals to the population of the place. The members for Victoria and the morning paper claimed to be the friends of the workmen. Their own political friends are in power at Ottawa. Have they no recommendations to make to headquarters? They used to be prolific of remedies in those brave days when they were the champions of a white British Columbia. Why are they silent now?

The Laurier government imposed the $500 head-tax on Chinese, which up to recent years proved highly satisfactory. It succeeded in reducing Japanese immigration to the insignificant total of four hundred a year. It prohibited Hindoo immigration. Surely it is not too much to expect that the present government, "the champions of a White British Columbia," will attempt the solution of the one phase of the question which has become acute. When the Lemieux Agreement with Japan was entered into, Sir Wilfrid Laurier announced on the floor of parliament that if it did not prove satisfactory Canada would denounce the treaty and enforce total exclusion. This was a courageous step to contemplate in the interest of British Columbia, but happily it was not necessary. Is Mr. Borden willing to do his part? We would be glad to hear what our contemporary has to say on this subject, because its views, if not submerged beneath the usual mass of equivocations and qualifications, should have some weight with Mr. Borden and Sir Richard McBride who, if they would, could clear the situation.

Emergency Committee for Carnival Week Has Busy Time. Every day emergencies innumerable arise in the detail arrangements for carnival week. The citizen's committee began this, the last week of preparation, by holding emergency meetings every day at 12. This was found unsatisfactory and now the committee is meeting at 12 and 5 each day solving the countless problems which arise every hour. A message was received by the secretary this morning from the Commissioner Hathaway of the San Francisco Exposition, announcing the appointment of a representative to carnival week. It follows: Randolph Stuart, Hon. Secretary Victoria Citizens' Committee. I have just succeeded in having the exposition name the Rev. F. W. Clappett as President Moore's official representative to your carnival and I am giving you this advance notice that you may arrange important places on your programme for him. He will leave here on Shasta, Limited, August 2. (Sgd.) W. L. HATHAWAY, Commissioner.

Not in it With a Ragtime Banjo

The "Ragtime Violin" you hear about when the devotees of latter-day harmony get together for a song-fest is really not in it for a moment with the Ragtime Banjo. The Banjo just naturally lends itself to ragtime melodies, and the gay rhythm of its "plinkety-plink," coaxed forth by skillful fingers will set agoing the foot of everyone who has a spark of primitive musical appreciation.

And It Isn't Hard to Learn the Banjo

Anyone with an ear for music and moderate ability to mentally masticate plain instructions can teach himself to play the Banjo, or the Mandolin or Guitar. Few instruments provide a better accompaniment for singing than any one of these. The man or woman who can strum a bit on one of these is sure of a warm welcome in almost any company on joyous occasions.

Get One From $5.00 Up for This Week Only

We are making a special offer for the balance of this week. Take your pick of any Guitar, Banjo or Mandolin in our big stock at from $5.00 up. Every instrument is perfect in every respect, and the stock includes the products of the world's most famous makers. Get one now and you can master it before the Summer has gone, and have a wealth of pleasure with it, canoeing, in camp, on picnics, etc.

LONGEST PASSAGE IN YEARS MADE BY PAUL

German Ship Was 101 Days Coming From Callao; Light Airs Likely Responsible

Completing one of the longest passages made between Callao and Cape Flattery in the last few years, the German ship Paul, Capt. Kluzer, was reported passing in at Tatoosh early this morning, bound for Puget Sound ports to load a cargo of lumber. The windmaster, which is a fair-sized three-master, was 101 days on the run up the Pacific from the Chilean ports. The passage was exceptionally slow and no doubt the light airs in southern waters were in a large measure responsible for the drawing out of the voyage.

The British ship Bay of Biscay, practically the same size and of the same rig as the Paul, cleared from Callao some days after the German vessel, but succeeded in beating her to Cape Flattery by several weeks. Capt. Young, of the Bay of Biscay, upon arriving here asked as to whether the Paul had been reported, and was greatly pleased at having heard of the other ship. During their stay in Callao the two masters chaffed one another about the sailing qualities of their ships, and it was arranged that they should settle all dispute on the trip north. Capt. Kluzer, of the Paul, probably met a series of flat calms in southern latitudes, which were prevalent when he was crossing the line.

Holt Hill Also Late

The British barque Holt Hill is now out nearly ninety days from Iquique, and no doubt she has experienced similar weather to that of the Paul. The passages being made this year from South America ports are the longest recorded in many years. Even the fast four-masted full-rigged ship County of Linnithgow, Capt. Muller, took close to fifty days from Valparaiso. On his last trip up the coast, Capt. Muller made the run in 35 days, which is a record for the class of vessel. Several other ships are also due to show up at any time.

FISHING BOAT BURNS OCCUPANTS GET ASHORE

Ketchikan, Alaska, July 30.—Word was received today of the destruction by fire of the gas boat Rose, near Craig, last Saturday. The vessel is owned by Isaac Rosenwald, of Tacoma, engaged in fishing for the Wise Indians. Joseph McGee dropped a match in the boat. Fire started, and a woman passenger jumped overboard. While rescuing her the fire got such headway that despite the desperate efforts of the men they could not extinguish it and the vessel burned to the water's edge and sank in a dingy. The men were seriously burned and are being brought here for treatment. The vessel is of the large work boat class and was launched at Tacoma this spring.

SOPHIA HAS FINE TRIP

Completing the finest trip she has had since entering the coastwise service, the C. F. R. steamer Princess Sophia, Capt. Campbell, arrived in port yesterday from Skagway and Prince Rupert. The officers of the vessel say that the weather met was simply grand, the sun shining continuously. The 88 round-trippers on the Sophia enjoyed the voyage immensely and the visit to the great Tahlequah and a revelation of everyone. The Sophia brought on board 12 passengers all told, including D. C. Corbin, president of the Spokane International railroad, who was accompanied by his wife. The Sophia is leaving for the north on Friday night.

CAPT. WHITELEY'S BOOKS HARD TO UNDERSTAND

Owing to the involved state of the accounts presented by Captain William Henry Whiteley to the sealing commissioner this morning over an hour was spent in explanation, and at the end of that time Mr. Justice Audette had to adjourn for luncheon with the instruction that if a more satisfactory explanation could not be procured during recess he would have to take the statement for what it was worth. Captain Whiteley claimed $21,941, having been master of the Labrador and master and part owner of the Mermad for several years before and after the restrictions which came into effect in 1894. The Mermad was seized once by H. M. S. Pheasant and sold to return to Victoria when it could have got 600 seals within a few weeks, the captain estimated.

Three Rivers, Que., July 30.—About 10.30 p. m. Monday while going down the river in a heavy fog opposite Cape La Magdalen, the steamship Crown of Cordova ran into and cut half in two the Lady of Gaspe, which had 200 passengers on board. The vessel was at anchor on the north side of the river. The crew of the Crown of Cordova and by two small steamers which went to the rescue.

Twenty-Nine Fishermen of Wrecked Welding Brothers Arrive on Rupert

TELL EXCITING STORY OF THEIR FIERCE HARDSHIPS

Two of Dorries Nearly Swamped by Great Seas; Men Bailed for Their Lives

Bringing with them a story of the real circumstances connected with the loss of the Seattle halibut steamer Welding Brothers, and the thrilling experiences through which they were forced to pass before finally reaching a point of civilization, twenty-nine members of the crew of the fishing vessel reached Victoria this morning on the G. T. P. steamer Prince Rupert, Capt. McKenzie, on their way home to the Sound. The men, although low in pocket, have some rich experiences to relate and the fishermen will be kept occupied for some time telling of their hardships in the small dories. Five of the men are still missing.

One of the men remarked to a Times representative this morning that he had had "all the joy rides he wanted in a dory." The trip from the point where the Welding Brothers struck to Cape St. James, where the dories finally brought up, a distance of 160 miles, rivaled the most thrilling journey that could possibly be had ashore. The men were bailing all the time in order to keep the small craft from sinking.

Struck at Full Speed

There is not the slightest doubt but that the fishermen on the Welding Brothers passed through the most strenuous experiences that any shipwrecked men have lived in British Columbia waters. Exactly one week ago today at 1.30 o'clock in the morning the fishing vessel crashed on the rocks of Frederick Island at full speed. The weather was very thick and the sea was high with blowing. The captain had not been able to take a current running off the west coast of the Queen Charlotte Islands set the steamer ashore.

The first mate was on watch with the nightwatchman when the accident happened. As the Welding Brothers hit the outside edge of the reef there was a slight shock and it was not long before she was brought to a dead stop by the rocks farther in. Her wheel was turning over when she piled up. All hands who were asleep below were awakened by the force of the impact and at once made their way on deck. The steamer commenced to take water immediately and the bilge pumps were started. She started to keel over and was soon resting on her port side.

Beach Near at Hand

A hasty survey revealed the fact that the beach was not far away. Probably 200 yards at the most. When it was found that the vessel was to be less wrecked Captain Holmstrom, master of the ship, ordered the men to lower the dories, provision them and make for the shore. The men lost no time in executing the orders. When ashore the men were assigned to the different dories and the provisions were meted out equally. Capt. Holmstrom with the first mate and three fishermen, decided to stand by the Welding Brothers for a time and the remainder arranged to try and make Cape St. James, 160 miles away. A dory was left for those who stood by the ship. Six of the dories carried four men and one was forced to take five in order that the twenty-nine might be taken along.

It was about 11 o'clock on Wednesday morning when the dories departed. After sailing for about 10 or 15 miles a schooner was sighted dead ahead and the men hoped to pick her up. But, unfortunately for them, the vessel was sailing away from them and they were forced to rely upon the seaworthiness of their own little wooden craft to take them safely over the tempestuous seas. It blew exceptionally hard from the southeast that afternoon, and one of the dories was nearly swamped. The men had to bail for their lives in order to prevent her founder. About 8 o'clock that evening the men came to a safe anchorage just south of the western entrance to Skidegate Inlet.

Use Blankets for Sails

In order to make their progress a little better on the following days the fishermen added another sail, by using one of the blankets, which made them square-rigged. The second day the weather became worse, but the men held to keep on or else starve. They started out at 8 o'clock that morning and kept on for twelve hours in the open seas. Seas kept breaking over the dories and the men were nearly exhausted that night when they reached another sheltered haven. Two of the dories all but foundered when great seas rolled over them and the men had a battle for their lives. They had to bail the craft out before another sea hit them or their end would have been swift and sure.

On the third day the weather had quieted down considerably and the fishermen started at 8 o'clock in the

To be supplied by a newer, faster and more modern craft, the Royal Mail liner Anoran, Capt. William Stevens, of the Union Steamship Company, left San Francisco last week for probably the last time. She is well known here, having formerly been in the Canadian-Australian run.

The wireless telegraph stations on board North German Lloyd steamers are in daily touch with all parts of the world, either through the medium of passing steamers or through the coast stations direct. Besides ordinary wireless messages, so-called "ocean-letters" may be sent from the ships at comparatively low rates. The message is transmitted by wireless telegraph to a steamer sailing in the opposite direction, taken by it to its next port of call and thence forwarded to the address by mail.

The Buena Ventura is to berth at New York to load a cargo of rails for shipment to this coast. She is the next of the Maple Leaf line to follow the Santa Rosa, which left Savannah on July 18, an route here from New York.

It has been announced that the North German Lloyd's new 15,000-ton steamer, which is to run between Bremen and Baltimore, is to be named Zeppelin, in honor of Count Zeppelin.

The Pacific Mail Steamship Company has sued the Panama Railroad Company in admiralty in the Federal court to recover $50,000 for damages received by its steamship Newport at Balboa, in the canal zone, August 17, 1912. The Newport, a passenger and cargo vessel of 2,735 tons, was crushed at her wharf by the collapse of a bulkhead and the fall of two huge cranes belonging to the defendant. The Salvor went down to raise the steamship from equilibrium.

HOW PANAMA CANAL WILL BE ILLUMINATED

Masters of vessels which will ply through the Panama canal when it is thrown open to the world's commerce will be greatly interested in Colonel Goethals' plan for lighting the waterway. According to the engineer's report to the United States war department, the canal will be lighted throughout by automatic unattended lights, each having a distinct characteristic. At the entrance and through Gatun lake a double row of about sixty automatic acetylene-lighted buoys will mark the channel. The channel further will be defined by powerful rapid-flashing range lights, one set at either end of each successive tangent, thus permitting vessels steaming in either direction to take their range over the bow. The centre lines of each range will be set apart sufficiently to enable the largest vessel to pass another in absolute safety.

Through the Culebra cut, or wherever the proximity of the banks preclude beacons, will be used instead of range buoys. The sides of the canal channel will be marked by gas buoys, set about a mile apart, with intermediate spar buoys between. Ships sailing through Culebra cut at night will be guided by a system of beacons on either bank, but excepting for these lights or such light as is lent by the moon and stars, the passage through the cut will be in the dark.

In order to assist the navigators in piloting his craft through this section of the big ditch, Colonel Goethals plans to establish three beacons at each angle in the cut, and between range intermediate beacons in pairs on each side of the waterway. By keeping his ship's head pointed midway between the beacons, the mariner will be able to adhere closely to the centre of the canal. Steering a course through Culebra cut will be much like the navigation encountered in the tidal estuaries of the southern rivers, where there are many turns.

HARPALYCE TAKES LUMBER.

Bound for Hongkong with a full load of lumber the British four-masted steamship Harpalycy passed here this morning on her way to sea. The big vessel loaded close to 4,000,000 feet of timber on the Columbia river and fish has been shipped to Vancouver by C. P. R. steamer.

SHIP WITHOUT WIRELESS GETS AWAY FROM SOUND

Port Townsend, Wash., July 30.—After depositing $100 as a guarantee of good faith on a fine of $500 for violating the radio law requiring all steamers carrying a crew of fifty men to be equipped with wireless, the British steamer Beachy sailed yesterday for Australia by way of Honolulu. She will call at the latter port to coal. The Beachy before sailing secured a guarantee by wire from the department at Washington that she would not be molested by the customs authorities at Honolulu for not being equipped with wireless.

SUNDAY ACT IS IN FORCE ON ISLAND

Exemption From Provincial Act Does Not Exclude From Federal Act, Judge Declares

That the Lord's Day Act is applicable to the portion of the province within the bounds of Vancouver Island is the judgment of Mr. Justice Morrison in a decision handed down yesterday afternoon in a reality case from the west coast.

The point on which the case was decided was first raised in a test case taken by the city police by Frank Higgins on behalf of the defendant, and decided in favor of the defendant by Magistrate Jay. For technical reasons the appeal in this case was not proceeded with, but another test case was taken ten days ago, in which the same point was the basis of its dismissal. It is understood that the Lord's Day Alliance is carrying this appeal, in which event the opinion of the highest court in the province is a very interesting legal issue. The opinion of Mr. Justice Morrison is directly opposite to that upheld by the police magistrate.

It is enacted in the federal act that it shall not repeal or affect any provincial laws in regard to the observance of Sunday, British Columbia has an act of that character which originally applied to the whole province, but about 1888 the members of the legislature representing the constituencies on this island had an amendment passed which restricted the application of the act to the mainland. It was on this ground that the decision of Magistrate Jay was based, and it was the same point that in the case of William Simpson and Walter T. Dawley against Edmund Proestler Mr. Justice Morrison now declares to be not well taken.

The defendant owns property in Clayoquot district and made an agreement with the two plaintiffs to sell them a portion of this. For some reason the deal was not completed, and the plaintiffs sued for specific performance and asked for a declaration by the court that the agreement was valid and subsisting. The chief point of the defence raised by Fred C. Elliott was that as the agreement was finally signed and executed on Sunday, June 9, 1912, it was not a legal document according to the Lord's Day Act. This was combated by Edward Mayer, of Bodwell & Lawson, for the plaintiffs, who argued that there was no Lord's Day legislation in effect on the island.

His lordship dismissed the action on the ground that the Lord's Day Act is in force on Vancouver Island and that therefore the agreement is not valid. In his judgment he says: "The short point involved in this action is whether an agreement for the sale of land, made on a Sunday, is illegal. The provincial Sunday Observance Act, chapter 219, R. S. B. C., in section 2 enacts that the act applies only to the portion of the province comprised in the former separate colony of British Columbia. Section 3 enacts that:

"The law, statutory and otherwise, and the penalties for the enforcement thereof existing and in force in England on the 19th day of November, 1858, for the proper observance of the Lord's Day, commonly called Sunday, as referred to in the schedule hereto, shall be deemed and taken to have been included in the English Law Act, and to be in full force and effect in the said portion of the province, with and under the same penalties, mutatis mutandis had been specially mentioned and enacted in the said act."

"Section 4 provides that the schedule to the act shall be deemed part of the act. This schedule includes several acts of the Imperial parliament of the reigns of Charles I. (1625 and 1627), Charles II. (1676), William IV. (1831), and Victoria (1859), all relating to certain vices, as bear-baiting, bull-baiting and other unlawful sports and exercises, and to certain occupations and trades, markets and fairs.

"The Lord's Day Act enacts in section 5 that: 'It shall not be lawful for any person on the Lord's Day, except as provided herein, or in any provincial act or law now or hereafter in force, to sell or offer for sale or purchase, any goods, chattels or other personal property, or any real estate, or to carry on or transact any business of his ordinary calling, or for gain, to do, or employ any other persons to do, on that day, any work, business or labor.' Section 15 provides that: 'Nothing herein shall be construed to repeal or in any way affect any provisions of any act or law relating in any way to the observance of the Lord's Day in force in any province of Canada when this act comes into force, and where any person violates any of the provisions of this act, and such offence is also a violation of any other act or law, the offender may be proceeded against either under the provisions of this act or under the provisions of any other act or law applicable to the offence charged.'

"Mr. Mayer, counsel for plaintiffs, contends that the Island of Vancouver, in which Clayoquot lies, where the agreement in question was entered into, is exempt by the provincial legislature from the operation of this act, and he cited from the judgment of Davies, J., in Quimet v. Basin, 46 S. C., at p. 514, where the learned judge says: "My construction of the federal act is that it was an attempt to enact generally prohibitive legislation with regard to the proper observance of Sunday or the Lord's Day, for the whole of Canada. But that, recognizing the different circumstances, habits, customs and religious beliefs which prevailed in the several provinces of the Dominion, parliament determined to delegate to each provincial legislature the power to declare that any act or thing prohibited by the Dominion act might be exempted from the operation of such act and permitted to be done by provincial legislation existing at the time the federal act came into force or subsequently enacted."

"The provincial legislature has not, in terms, exempted anything, and I cannot accede to Mr. Mayer's invitation to read such exemption as he claims into the act. "The Sunday Observance Act simply declares the provisions of certain old enactments to be the law in a certain portion of the province. Those enactments in no way deal with the transaction under consideration. The legislature has not dealt with this feature of Sunday observance, or non-observance. The Dominion parliament has done so specifically. I cannot see any conflict between the two acts. I think section 5 of the Lord's Day Act applies, and I therefore give effect to Mr. Elliott's defence and dismiss the action."

DELAY ON BAY STREET LINE.

B. C. Electric Railway May Not Construct Branch This Year Owing to Situation as to Grading.

Construction of the Haultain street branch of the British Columbia Electric railway is being delayed, according to an official of the street railway company, by the condition of Bay street, which has to be graded and widened by the city council. As there is a large quantity of rock to be taken out, and the street has to be widened near Quadra street and again at another point, work which has been held back by the city's inability to commence grading operations through the stringency, there is considerable doubt whether the line can be constructed this year. The breaking up of Quacra street from Pandora street at this time of year, without the possibility of completing the work through to Shelbourne street, would not be tolerated and therefore the prospect of construction this year is somewhat problematical.

The Mount Tolmie line is proving a useful piece of enterprise since its change to a regular passenger line. The district served does not send as large an amount of business as is desired by the street railway company, but the line is undoubtedly a benefit to the district. The construction of the Normal school on Richmond road, however, brings considerable business to the line.

VISITING WARSHIPS.

To the Editor: Can you tell me through your paper why H. M. S. New Zealand did not get "pratique" when she arrived from a foreign port?

Has she not visited Australia, New Zealand, where smallpox has been epidemic? Will the American warships steam into Esquimaux in like manner? Should not the medical health officer have boarded her before any other if only in his official capacity? I think this is the usual course.

Could you through your paper get the ex-naval men of Victoria to get together and give a smoker and refreshments with a sing-song one night aboard after visitors' hours, editor to come along?

T. CORNISH, Late L. T. O.

GOLDEN FAVORITED.

To the Editor: In the issue of July 19 there is a letter under the above heading which has been challenged. In the Colonist of July 4, 1909, July 8, 1909, July 9, 1909, July 11, 1909, July 12, 1909, July 13, 1909, the results of the rural examinations are given, including Golden each year.

In 1910-11-12 Golden tried the urban set. It has again tried the rural set this year, as the High school has been closed for lack of pupils. Chilliwack ranked 8th in 1908, 8th in 1907, 8th in 1906; but got no medal though it had had a High school since 1903.

Golden the favored ranked 26th in 1907, 19th in 1908 and 30th in 1909, and got a medal each year and on the rural results, too. It had a High school only six months when it got a medal. Facts are stubborn chiefs.

TRAGIC STAGE FAREWELL.

Sir Johnstone Forbes-Robertson's triumphant leave-taking of the theatre forms a strange contrast to the tragic farewell of that popular stage favorite, "Peg" Woffington. Peg, recalls the Chronicle, was playing Rosalind at Covent Garden on the night of May 17, 1755, for the benefit of two minor actors and a French dancer, when she was overcome with sudden faintness. She struggled bravely on until the end, when she staggered off the stage. Recovering after a few moments, she came forward to speak the epilogue, but had proceeded no further than "If I were among you, I would kiss as many of you as had beards that pleased me, complexions that liked me, and breaths that I . . . when, exclaiming in agony, "O God! O God!" she collapsed in a heap upon the floor. She never returned to the stage.

BAYLEY LOOKS FOR EARLY WIN EXPECTS TO SCORE KNOCKOUT

Victoria Lightweight is in Good Shape for Saturday's Bout Against Frenchy Vaise; Betting at Evens

"I never felt better in my life; I have trained harder for this bout than for any previous contest, and if I do not win by a knockout before the fifteenth round I will be greatly disappointed," was Joe Bayley's reply to a query as to his condition for his title bout on Saturday at the Brighthouse station against Frenchy Vaise. The former champion certainly looked in the pink of condition, and he finished up his hard training yesterday afternoon, going through a full hour's workout and scarcely breathing as he stripped for a shower. Bayley has been primed for this bout, and the effort of the Island lightweight to regain his title promises to be one of the greatest ring contests ever staged in Canada.

Little betting has yet been registered on the bout, and the chances are that Bayley will enter the ring at evens. Canadian fight followers refused to take his previous bout with Vaise into consideration, wisely figuring that Bayley was not in the best of shape for such a contest. Over confidence also figured in the trimming of the Victoria crack. Manager Morris Condon will take Bayley and his training partners over to Vancouver to-night. Bayley will not be permitted to do anything but some light work from now on, and he will step to the centre of the ring in the very pink. He weighs about 132 lb. now, and will strip for the contest at under 130 pounds. His hands are reported to be in as good shape as ever, while his injured nose has no given him the least bother.

Paris Likes Chances.
Geo. Paris, who has had charge of Bayley's preparations for this contest, states that Bayley will win by a knockout within ten rounds. Paris, who has had long experience handling ring stars, is confident that Vaise scored a very shabby win over Bayley, and he thinks that Bayley will simply batter the Renton boy to the floor. "Joe is hitting harder than ever," declared Paris, and if he is right in this contention there will certainly be a change of the title on Saturday. Bayley has been inflicting a great deal of punishment on his sparring partners, and with his whole heart bent upon regaining his title, he will be a changed fighter in his coming contest with Vaise.

Cincinnati twirler, who sustained severe injuries to-day. Benton is easily the best finger on Joe Tinker's club.

QUELRIE RESIGNS.
Toronto, July 30.—It is now practically certain that Charlie Querrie will not drop out of lacrosse. Because of the decision regarding the game defaulted to the Tecumsehs by Toronto he resigned and it was announced that the game in Montreal would be his last. The players held a meeting and decided they would not play unless Querrie remained with the team.
Fred Graydon, who has been with the Tecumsehs almost as long as Querrie, refused to accept the management, and it looked as though the team would cease to exist. Although Querrie asked time to reconsider, it is understood that he will probably guide the destinies of the team for the present season at least.

LACROSSE TO-NIGHT.
Oak Bays and Lathers will meet in an Island League match at the North Ward Park this evening, the game commencing at 8.30 o'clock. The Oak Bay team will be the same as defeated Sidney last Saturday.

LEAGUE CLUBS MEET NEXT WEEK

Consider Portland Prospects; Bees Lose Another; Made Seven Errors

Victoria was poorer in the hunt at Vancouver yesterday and the Bees dropped their second straight game to the Islanders by the one-sided score of 4 to 2. The Islanders gave a wonderful exhibition in the field, seven boots and a bunch of "bombs" piling up for runs for the opposition. Last honor was on the mound, but he had little more than to glove and the Senators could not touch Ingersoll, who was again in winning form.

A deal for the sale of the club is still in progress, but nothing definite has been done in the matter of transferring the franchise. The officers of the Victoria club are on the hunt for new material and it is probable that the team will be strengthened immediately. Because of the closeness of the race in the Coast league, there are a number of good twirlers lying about without jobs simply because they are not winning regularly in the coast circuit. These men would strengthen the Victoria staff and a couple may be signed up to bolster the Bees' fling department.
The Los Angeles club of the Coast league will not be liable to purchase for carrying twenty-one men on its contract roll and no other club will be restricted to twenty men under similar conditions, according to A. T. Baum, president of the Coast league. Baum advised the national commission that the Los Angeles club had three players in the hospital and for the good of the game had been compelled to sign an extra man for emergency use, giving twenty-one complete players, including three actual cripples. Baum asked a ruling as to whether this would be construed as a violation of the twenty-player limit rule, and received the following message in reply:
"Under conditions named in your telegram, commission would hold there is no violation of the player limit rule."

Vancouver seems to have a real edge on the Bees.
It seems about a year since Victoria defeated the Beavers.
Red Toner was not so much at fault as the punk fielding of Our Hopefuls.
It may be that Ingersoll is a sure enough $3,000 beauty, but where is the twirler who could not win against such opposition?
Mike Lynch's Indians also fell down before the home crowd, being unable to bunch hits off Kraft.
Spot McMurdo is back with the Vancouver club, after having spent the best part of the season on the Tacoma bench.
Jimmy Toman fired Mike Lynch out of the game at Seattle, and then hooked Raymond out of the contest at Spokane, probably evening things up.
New York is apparently out for the National flag. McGraw keeps sending in his twirlers with instructions to cut loose all the way.
Vancouver now has a healthy lead in the Northwestern League, while the Indians are safely ensconced in sixth position.
Meek and Lamb had to butt in with a couple of boots at the wrong moment yesterday. Otherwise the Bees would have looked a great deal better.
McGinnity allowed but six hits all during the game, but three of the winners were bunched in the ninth for the winning run.
Victoria does not seem to be able to do anything startling in the field when Toner takes the mound.
A shakeup in the team is about due as the management realizes that a winner will prove a greater financial success.
Spokane has turned out to be a good ball town, and the Indians have been drawing big crowds since their return home.
Condie Mack is having just as big a clinch in the American as the Giants are enjoying in the National.
Fred Clarke's Pirate crew started off well the first of the month, but they have done little since they struck the Giants and Phillies.
Victoria will finish the week at Vancouver, and then go to Seattle for three days before they play in the Capital.

TO-DAY IN PUGILISTIC ANNALS

1884—Jack Dempsey won the American championship by defeating George Fullames, the Canadian champion, in 22 rounds on a beach near New York. The bout, for the lightweight title and $2,000 a side, was fought with kid gloves. The Canadian was a game fighter, and protested vigorously when his second, tossed in the sponge, although Fullames was then barely able to keep to his feet. "Nonpareil Jack" remained at the head of the lightweight division until he outgrew it.

REMARKED ON THE SIDE

Beavers Take It Easy Against the Bees.
Just what jim takes hold of the Victoria Baseball Club at Vancouver is hard to understand. The Bees can play winning and even brilliant baseball against any other club in the league on any diamond, but when they stack up against the Beavers they haven't a chance in the world to come away with the long end of the score. True, the Beavers certainly hit harder when they strike the Victoria twirlers, but Brown's crew takes baseball fever the minute a Victoria uniform heaves in sight and there is no stopping them. Yesterday's exhibition was the worst fielding demonstration by any Northwestern League club this year, nine errors in all being chalked up against the Bees. Toner twirled a fairly nice game and would have undoubtedly performed better had he been properly backed up. Perhaps if Capt. Delmas will juggle his lineup a wee bit, there may be a change. If this doesn't bring results, it is up to the club to secure players who will win.
British Experts Give Credit to Youthful Americans.
Youth and speed, combined with strength to go through the trying trials are the main factors to which the Brits attribute the victory of the American Davis Cup team at Wimbledon. Britain depended upon several veterans of the courts and while these great tennis players exhibited wonderful form throughout, the sensational McLoughlin fairly won the trophy single-handed and there are no excuses to offer. The wonderful Californian defeated the mainstay of the British team in his victory over Charles P. Dixon and thereby captured the honors. The English writers go on to state that it will be some time before the cup can be dislodged from the United States and on the form shown by McLoughlin, coupled with the fact that he is but a mere youth, this appears true. Canada, of course, will again compete for the cup, while a challenge may be looked for from the Australian tennis association next year.

Bayley Looked to Regain Lightweight Championship.
Even money is the betting scale for Saturday's boxing contest at Brighthouse Station when Joe Bayley will clamber through the ropes for his bout with Frenchy Vaise, the Renton light weight, who defeated him in the same arena exactly a month ago. The Victoria boy will answer the gong in his very best shape possible for him to attain, while Vaise will have the added confidence of a champion. There will be no stalling when these boys meet and the fact that Bayley has trained as never before for this contest assures the hardest hitting lightweights on the coast. The boys are both mbers, and while Bayley is admitted to be the more scientific, as well as the more experienced, he is given an even chance to regain the honors. Trainer George Paris can see nothing but a knockout for Bayley, while the entire Bayley retinue of camp followers are wild over the prospects of victory. The selection of a strictly impartial referee will be decided upon and as Morris Condon absolutely refuses to go into the ring under Jimmie Hewitt, a Tacoma sporting writer, Biddy Bishop, will probably be the third man in the ring when the bout is called on Saturday.

GREEK MET GREEK IN TENNIS TOURNAMENT

T. C. Fulton Fell Before Tyler After Spectacular Match Yesterday

When Greek meets Greek then comes the tug-of-war. And so it proved yesterday when Joe Tyler, erstwhile Mainland champion, met T. C. Fulton, the brilliant young New Yorker, in the second round of the men's singles. The match was easily the most spectacular yet seen in the tournament, and the many long rallies were watched with breathless attention by the large crowd of onlookers gathered round court 1.

It was a battle between similar styles in which the more experienced man won; ability to stay the route also stood Tyler in good stead, for the Spokane crack improved as the match progressed while his rival seemed to feel the pace of the opening exchanges.

Variety Counted. Tyler's victory was due more to the possession of a greater repertoire of strokes than superior tactical ability or placement. He used the half volley with excellent effect on several occasions when he was hard pressed, while his opponent's chief fault was an inability to return hard low shots placed at his feet. Tyler found this out early in the match and kept dropping the ball there time and time again. In spite of all, however, the issue of the match was always kept coming back unexpectedly with flashes of his best form. Though not the same Tyler who came within a point of defeating E. P. Schwengers in the semi-final last year, the Spokane crack is still the most interesting of players to watch. His tennis is always of the spectacular order, for he very seldom "lobs" over an opponent to get position, and depends rather on his great skill in placement to get by him at the net. His is also fond of close work at the net, and these two factors serve to make any game in which he is playing, fast and exciting to watch.

Dangerous Return. Like most players from the other side he depends to a large extent on the forearm stroke with the elbow crooked at the moment of impact, and with the ball rising at about the height of the head his returns are particularly dangerous. His driving with greater height has a velocity and low trajectory that make the shots most difficult to play, while his knowledge of the topography of the court gives him the power to place the ball always with judgment.

As has been said, the style of Fulton is similar to that of Tyler, but he lacks the champion's ability in picking up low shots. Fulton is, however, an accomplished match player, and had he not met the Spokane man so early in the competition, might have gone far towards the ultimate goal. His service had more sting than Tyler's, while in the first set at least his forearm driving was harder and clearer than that of his opponent.

Took First Set. Fulton appeared nervous when the match opened and missed one or two easy openings. By virtue, however, of two bad returns into the net by Tyler, he took the first game. In the second Fulton overreached his drive, and though Tyler kept hitting short, the latter managed to take his service game. The next three games were won on the service, the fifth being notable for a magnificent drive down the line by Fulton, and a grave error by Tyler, his opponent, which ended the game. Fulton broke through Tyler's service in the sixth, and a splendid rally ended by his getting by the Spokane man at the net. Fulton finally took the set 6-2.

A set in arrears, Tyler discarded the heavy sweater which had somewhat impeded him during the first games and got right down to business. He was much steadier at this stage, and after winning the first game on his own service, broke through his opponent's for the first time and led 2-0. Fulton took the next game, but lost to love in the next. Tyler was improving all the time and playing with greater brilliancy and confidence. Some spectacular play from the base lines followed, the ball going back and forth over the net like a streak of light. After being in arrears love forty, the Spokane crack played up and won the game, and led three to one. He took the set 6-3 reversing the result of the previous series.

Grounder Tallied. In the final and deciding set, both men went all out to win. Fulton had Tyler on the run early in the first game, but the latter won the race with a terrific grounder along the side line. Continuing his victorious career, "Joe" puzzled his younger opponent with well placed drives that just skimmed the tape. Deuce was called five times.

In the third game before Fulton scored the winning point. However, the next game saw Tyler at his best, and though Fulton struggled manfully he could not combat with the merciless precision of the former's fore-arm driving. Tyler finally won out winner of set and match by 3-5, 6-3, 6-2.

Mrs. Schwengers Defeated. While the main attention of spectators at the courts was riveted on the match detailed above, there was plenty of interest attached to some of the other contests. The Ladies' singles produced some fine encounters, that between Miss Leigh and Mrs. Schwengers being particularly hard fought and skillfully contested. It took three sets to decide the match, which fell to Miss Leigh after thirty games had been played. Miss Livingstone, of Seattle, won from Miss Schmitz when some really excellent tennis was witnessed.

The local lady striving hard for a victory. She lost, however, in two straight sets. In the remaining matches of the men's singles, Captain Foulkes defeated a doughty opponent in R. Fulton, a brother of the opponent of Tyler, Garret and Evans and Cardinall also won their matches. In the men's doubles, Tyler and Peters only lost one game in the match.

ROYALS WILL PLAY VANCOUVER TWELVE

Pro. Lacrosse Assured for Carnival Week; Prospects for Victoria Club Brighten

Vancouver vs. Westminster will be the professional lacrosse card that will be offered the carnival visitors at Oak Bay next Wednesday afternoon. The carnival committee, through the good work of a well-known Victorian, have succeeded in patching up the difficulties between these crack teams and the biggest sporting event of the week will be the clash between these clubs at Oak Bay on August 6. Arrangements for the match are now being completed and Lester Patrick will referee the match. The teams will arrive on Wednesday morning and the ticket plan for the match will be opened to the public on Monday morning.

Lionel Yorke is looking after the arrangements for the carnival committee and he will see that the Oak Bay grounds are put in shape for the match. The temporary fence will be placed in position, while the stand will be fixed up to accommodate the thousands who are sure to attend. Included in the agreement between the two teams is a provision that the official guests of the carnival be admitted free. This means that the visiting sailors will be the guests of the carnival committee. Space will be reserved for the automobiles and to prevent a crush at the gates, tickets for the machines will be placed on sale at the same time that the reserved coupons are being sold.

A meeting of the B. C. L. A. is being held at Westminster to-day, at which important business will be transacted. It is said that the outcome will be the organization of a team in Victoria for the carrying on of the present schedule and the managership of the Victoria team will be offered to Newey Lalonde, with Harry Pickering as an equal choice. The professionalizing of the Vancouver Athletic Club twelve means that there are now enough players to build up a team for the capital and this will probably be done immediately. A gathering of the Westminster players yesterday afternoon resulted in the decision to enter the twincity league with the V. A. C. and Vancouver clubs. The schedule between these clubs will be rearranged, the Westminster and V. A. C. clubs being booked to play this Saturday at the Royal City.

The establishment of a pro. team in Victoria means that the local enthusiasts will be given a chance to see some of their home-brews in action against the best of the world. Joe Dakers, Cotton Brynjolfsson, Jimmie Pettitrow and Stan Okell are favorably regarded by the organizers of the Victoria club, while it is possible that Gifford and Patchell, of the Westminster amateurs, will be secured. The Salmonbellies have intimated that they are willing to give Victoria a couple of players to complete the local team. Boss Johnson and Joe Gorman have been released by Jones to Victoria, while Mickey Iona, Harry Pickering, Newey Lalonde, F. D. Cummings, Dot Phelan, Nick Carter, Bobby Pringle, Sibby Nichols and the promised Westminster veterans, would give Victoria a very formidable team.

Play Saturday. Vancouver will send over the reorganized Vancouver Athletic Club twelve to compete with Sam Limerick's Victoria team at the Royal Athletic park on Saturday afternoon. The Mann cup holders will have a hefty looking bunch of stick-handlers, and while the Victoria team look the class of the amateur league, now that the Mann cup holders have jumped, the locals are taking no chances, but are practising hard.

OUTSIDE ENTRIES FOR LOCAL REGATTA

Entries are rapidly being filed for the carnival week regatta and the prospects for a splendid rowing meet are assured. A number of the N. P. A. O. champions will compete, and the management are looking forward to a record breaking entry list. The Nelson entries were received some time ago, the J. B. A. A. and Portland crews being as follows: Portland.—Ed Gloss in the singles, Haverly and Newell in the senior doubles and a mixed four consisting of E. A. Henson, stroke; George Bates, jr., No. 1; Wild, No. 2, and Wild, bow. J. B. A. A.—W. N. Kennedy; singles, Sinclair and Hendrick, doubles; and Belson, stroke, Chalk, 3; Day, 2, and Ogden, bow, in the fours. The races will be one mile in length.

LEACH CROSS WINS.

Los Angeles, July 30.—Leach Cross, of New York, got the decision last night over Matty Baldwin, of Boston, at the end of 20 unexciting rounds at the Vernon Arena. It was Cross' fight all the distance. In the last few rounds Baldwin rallied slightly. At the outset Baldwin appeared confident, Cross slightly worried. Throughout the first 15 rounds they stalemated continually, and Referee Eytton was forced to caution them repeatedly for holding. After the fifteenth round Baldwin surprised the crowd by coming up strong and he fought Cross to a standstill. His showing in these rounds was not sufficient, however, to overcome Cross' advantage during the early portion of the mill, and the referee's decision was popular.

Mrs. Doucette Tells of her Distressing Symptoms During Change of Life and How She Found Relief.

Belleville, Nova Scotia, Can.—"Three years ago I was suffering badly with what the doctor called Change of Life. I was so bad that I had to stay in bed. Some friends told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it helped me from the first. It is the only medicine I took that did help me and I recommend it. You don't know how thankful and grateful I am. I give you permission to publish what your good medicine has done for me."—Mrs. SIMON DOUCETTE, Belleville, Yarmouth Co., Nova Scotia, Canada.

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, backaches, dread of impending evil, timidity, sounds in the ears, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and inquietude, and dizziness, are promptly heeded by intelligent women who are approaching the period in life when woman's great change may be expected. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound invigorates and strengthens the female organism and builds up the weakened nervous system. It has carried many women safely through this crisis.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (Small Denial) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

Some Famous British Debating Societies

By Rt. Hon. G. W. E. RUSSELL, in Manchester Guardian.

As far as I know the oldest debating society in the United Kingdom is the "Historical Society" of Dublin. Its foundations were laid in 1747, by Edmund Burke, who with five others, started what he called "The Historical Club," and wrote with his own hand the minutes, which are still preserved. Out of the "Historical Club" grew the "Historical Society," which was established in the Trinity College in 1770, and in the debates of that society such orators as Gratton, Wolfe, Tone, Thomas Emmet, Archbishop Magee, the first Lord Plunket, and his grandson the present Lord Rathmore practised the eloquence which is the birth-right of their race.

The "Speculative Society" of Edinburgh was founded in 1764. It consisted of thirty students elected by ballot, and had a curious rule by which a new member was compelled to attend the weekly debate. A due discharge of this apprenticeship exempted the member from compulsory attendance but left him free to attend as he pleased. To this society Lord John Russell was elected in 1810, and the record of his activities in debate covers a remarkable range of subjects—the policy of Alcibiades, the justice of the war of 1793, the conduct of Queen Elizabeth to Queen Mary, the imprisonment of Gale Jones, the Education of the Poor, the proceedings of the Spanish Cortes, and Emancipation of South America, the Expedition to Copenhagen, the Expeditions of Indian Missions, the Merits of the Poor Law, the Value of Magdalen Asylums, the Prospects of the Spanish War, and the importance of Canada, the abolition of the slave trade, and a good training-ground for a youthful politician who was destined during his long life, to fill all the chief offices of the state. Sydney Smith, when acting as private tutor to a young Gloucestershire squire lived in Edinburgh from 1798 to 1803, and observed the immense amount of mental activity which the debates of the "Speculative Society" engendered. Looking back upon the stagnant Oxford of his own undergraduate days he wrote thus:

A genuine Oxford tutor would shudder to hear his young men disputing upon moral and political truth, forming upon moral and political theories, and indulging in all the boldness of youthful discussion. He would augur nothing from it but impiety to God and treason to kings. But as the nineteenth century emerged from its infancy into its youth the spirit of free inquiry began to pervade the most unlikely quarters and presently invaded Oxford, where its persistent vigor has since made ample amends for its late arrival. The "United Debating Society" was founded in 1823, and soon came to be known as "The Oxford Union." There the silvery eloquence of Samuel Wilberforce was first heard, justifying the deposition of Charles I, the Arch-bishop Campbell Taft defended Roman Catholic Emancipation against Roundell Palmer; and there Henry Edward Manning predicted the happiest result from the free importation of foreign wool. What the Oxford Union has been as a school of oratory and statesmanship, all England knows; but just now we must turn for a moment to a more youthful, and in a sense preparatory institution.

In 1851 Eton developed a debating society which has bred cabinet ministers enough to man a trirème. It was learnedly called "The Literati" and vulgarly "Pop," because it used to meet in a room over a shop where gin-creeper was sold. Its tone was intensely Tory. Current politics were forbidden subjects, but political opinion disclosed itself through the thin disguise of historic or academic questions. The execution of Strafford and Charles I, the characters of Oliver Cromwell and Milton, the "Contract Social" of Rousseau, and the events of the French Revolution laid the speakers' political tendencies as effectually as if the conduct of Queen Caroline, the foreign policy of Castlereagh or the repeal of the Test and Corporation Acts had been the subject of debate. To this society W. E. Gladstone was elected in 1825. In these days there was an Eton boy—James Milnes-Gaskell—who had an unnatural "manly" for reporting other boys' speeches, and writing elaborate minutes of what was done in "Pop." From his records we learn that, on the occasion of his maiden speech, "Mr. Gladstone rose and eloquently addressed the House in favor of Education," and that in another debate he said: "I am well aware that my prejudices and my predilections have long been enlisted on the side of Toryism." Long! He was then not eighteen. William Cowper, afterwards famous as the author of "The Cowper-Temple Clause," wrote thus in his diary for October 27, 1827:

The subject for debate was whether the deposition of Richard II, was justifiable or not. Gladstone spoke the first volume of "Endymion."

but they very nearly kept up with them in coughing and "Hear, hears."

On the 1st of December in the same year we read:
Thanks voted to Doyle and Gladstone (who were leaving the school). The latter spoke very well; will be a great loss to the society.
But Eton's loss was Oxford's gain; for Gladstone gave his assent to the Church in October, 1828, soon found abundant scope for his debating energies. Without waiting for admission to the Union, he founded an Essay Club, which was called, from his initials, the W. E. G. Each essay was followed by a debate and a division; and Gladstone gave his assent to the deleterious doctrine that "Political liberty is not to be considered as the end of government." Trained by the discipline of "Pop" and "W. E. G.," Gladstone now advanced with sure tread on to the more conspicuous arena of the "Union," of which he was successively secretary and president. He made his maiden speech on February 11, 1830. Brought up in the nurture and admonition of Caning, he was true to his great master's teaching. He defended Roman Catholic emancipation, and thought the Duke of Wellington's government unworthy of confidence. He opposed the removal of Jewish disabilities, and pleaded for the gradual extinction, in preference to the immediate abolition, of slavery. But his great achievement was his speech against the Whig Reform Bill in 1831. One of those who heard it said in after years: "When Gladstone sat down we all of us felt that an epoch in our lives had occurred. It certainly was the finest speech of his that I ever heard," and it had a momentous effect on the speaker's career. Among his hearers was Lord Lincoln, eldest son of the Duke of Newcastle, and Lincoln wrote home to his father that "a man had arisen in Israel." The Duke had a predominating influence in the borough of Newcastle, and when the general election of 1832 approached, he acted on his son's advice and invited Gladstone to contest the seat. So began the career which we all remember.

The Cambridge Union was founded in 1816, and according to Lord Houghton, had its habitation in a "low, ill-ventilated, ill-lit, cavernous, tavernous gallery at the back of the 'Red Lion.'" Sir George Trevelyan adds the graphic touch that a "Shakespearean burst of more than ordinary vapidity formed a prominent object over the head of the president of this society, Lord Houghton, then Richard Monckton Milnes, became a member in 1827. Of his maiden speech he wrote to his mother: "My speech was a failure. I was dreadfully nervous, and not quite well, and there was near three hundred men present. I was applauded and complimented, but it was ill-delivered. Another attempt may be more propitious." And so it was, for he was able to write home that he was pronounced "the most parliamentary speaker in the Union," though a little later, he added with reference to his political ambitions, "I am firmly convinced that all this Cambridge talking will be rather injurious than otherwise, if it is not skillfully and laboriously adapted to the House of Commons." Of "all this Cambridge talking," perhaps the most memorable incident was a visit paid in December, 1829, by a deputation from the Cambridge Union to Oxford. The object of the mission was to prove the superiority of Shelley to Byron. The Cambridge missionaries drove through the snow to Oxford, and found themselves most hospitably welcomed, "in a neat little square room," by "eighty or ninety young gentlemen sprucely dressed." The Oxonian speaking is wretched." In after years Cardinal Manning wrote thus of the debate: "I well remember the irruption of the three Cambridge orators, and Oxford men were precise, orderly, and morbidly afraid of excess in word or manner. The Cambridge oratory comes in like a flood into a mill-pond. Both Milnes and Hallman took us aback by the boldness and freedom of their manner."

"We covered like birds and ran like sheep."
Besides these great debating societies of great universities, we might recall a good many minor associations of similar purpose. When Sir George Trevelyan was an under-graduate at Cambridge there was an "Historical Society" in the university; and this, he tells us, "took its rise at a time when the debates at the union had given such an impulse to oratory that men were found who thought once a week not often enough for discussing to what extent Hampden was legally authorized in resisting the imposition of ship-money and whether Addison or the Duke of Marlborough most deserved the admiration of posterity." When the love of debating had seized Oxford and Cambridge, it was not likely that London would remain unaffected. Lord Beaconsfield has an interesting passage on this subject in the first volume of "Endymion":
"There was a celebrated debating society which had grown out of the Union of Cambridge, and was originally intended to have been a Metropolitan branch of that famous association. But in process of time it was found that such a constitution was too limited to insure those members and that variety of mind desirable in such an institution. It was therefore opened to the whole world duly qualified. The predominant element, however, for a long time consisted of Cambridge men. This society used to meet in a large room fitted up as much like the House of Commons as possible in Proemasons' Tavern, Great Queen Street."

A Cooler Diet Makes a Cooler Brain

Just because the weather happens to be warm, that is no reason for getting excited. Don't blame the weather man. Be more careful what you eat and drink—live on a cooler diet during the Summer months, and you're brain won't get so tired and feverish.

Try living on salads, light sandwiches, slice tomatoes, etc., for a while, and with your lunch and dinner drink a glass or two of rare old

Heidelberg Beer

You'll notice a big difference in the temperature of your thought factory—a still bigger difference in the amount of nourishment you'll get out of the same amount of food—the biggest difference of all in your pocketbook.

HEIDELBERG BEER costs you but 9 cents a pint bottle at any dealer's. And it's so easy to get if you will only specify HEIDELBERG when ordering Beer. Be sure to serve it cold, either off the ice, or after placing in cold spring water for half an hour. YOU'LL LIKE HEIDELBERG. TRY SOME TO-DAY.

never since heard anyone whom I placed above him." The "young chancery barrister" became historian of stone's Irish Church Bill. His speech on the second reading of that Bill is commended to the study of all those who wish to justify the disestablishment and disendowment of the Church of Wales.

FIRST THINGS

The first of Blondin's foolhardy feats at Niagara was performed fifty-four years ago to-day, when he walked a rope stretched across the gorge between the falls and the whirlpool rapids. He carried a balancing pole forty feet long and weighing forty-five pounds. Several times thereafter he repeated the performance, once trundling a barrow across, and on another occasion carrying a man, Harry Colcord, his manager. In 1860 Blondin walked across on stilts, and this performance was witnessed by the Prince of Wales, later King Edward. Many light and slack rope performers have since emulated Blondin, among them a woman, Maria Spotterina, who crossed with baskets on her feet. The first attempt to swim the whirlpool rapids was made thirty years ago this month by Capt. Webb, who lost his life in the foolhardy venture. Five years later a Philadelphia cooper, named Graham, went safely through the whirlpool rapids in a barrel. A Mrs. Taylor was the first to go over the falls themselves, which she accomplished a dozen years ago, strapped in a specially made barrel.

TO-DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

On July 30th, 1865, died Sir Etienne P. Tache, the French-Canadian statesman who was premier of the coalition cabinet, formed in the previous summer to put an end to the "deadlock" in Canadian political affairs. The event imperilled the safety of the government representing both Conservatives and Reformers, which was pledged to try to give effect to the Quebec Scheme of Confederation, and caused great excitement at the time, for John A. Macdonald was the senior member of the ministry, and was invited by the Governor-General, Lord Monck, to take the vacant office. Macdonald accepted the office, but his former opponent and then coadjutor, George Brown, did not feel that the Reform element in the cabinet would thus get fair play. He said that Mr. Macdonald, Mr. Cartier and himself were all regarded as party-leaders, and "to place any one of them in an attitude of superiority over the others, with the vast advantage of the premiership, would in the public mind lessen the security of good faith and seriously endanger the existence of the coalition." The result was that Sir Narcisse Belleau—who was not a prominent party-man—was selected for the premiership.

The modern constitution of the Order of Reformed Cistercians, or of the strict observance, was adopted eleven years ago to-day, and governs the five Trappist monasteries in Canada. The first Trappist monks came to America early in the nineteenth century, having been driven from France. In 1815 Father Vincent de Paul and seven brothers established a mission among the Indians of Nova Scotia, and ten years later founded the monastery of the Petit Clairvaux in that province. The most celebrated of the monasteries of the Trappists is that at Oka, on the Ottawa river in Quebec, founded in 1881 by monks from France. The members of this community, known as the Abbey of Notre Dame du Lac, are subjected to the severest discipline. Most of them are engaged in agricultural activities, and, although their hours are long and their toil severe, they subsist on a purely vegetarian diet. The use of meat is permitted only to those who are very ill. Absolute silence is the rule for all except a few who must meet visitors and carry on business affairs with the outside world. A sign language is used to direct the monks at their tasks. Strict obedience to superiors and an absolute regard for all of the rules of the order are exacted, and punishment and penance follow the minutest infraction of the laws. During the summer months, on all working days, the monks rise at 4 o'clock, pray and engage in other devotions until 6 o'clock, work until noon and from 1 until 6 o'clock, and retire at 8 o'clock. Breakfast consists of a cup of tea, bread and fruit, and two other meals, of vegetables, fruits, bread and milk, are partaken of. During the winter the morning meal is abolished. Despite this severe regimen—or possibly because of it—most of the monks reach a ripe old age.

SCRAP BOOK.
Birthday of American Order of Free Masonry.

American Freemasonry, with its more than a million and a half of members in the United States and Canada, will celebrate its 180th birthday to-day.

On July 30, 1735, a provincial grand lodge, called St. John's, and also a private lodge, were established in Boston by Henry Price, who, in 1734, was constituted grand master over all North America. In 1834 Benjamin Franklin, who is supposed to have been initiated in England, published the Masonic constitution. The fraternity soon spread to other colonies and to Canada, and numbered many distinguished men as members. George Washington became a Master Mason in 1753. The first Masonic hall in America was built in Philadelphia in 1753.

The early lodges derived their authority from the grand lodges of England and Scotland, but after the Revolution independent grand lodges were organized in the various States. Each state and province of Canada now has a grand lodge, that of New York having the largest membership, 175,000, with Illinois second, the total for the United States and British America being 1,522,478.

These lodges are in full affiliation with the English grand lodge, which, with the Duke of Connaught as Grand Master, has made tremendous progress in recent years. American Freemasons maintain fraternal relations with the lodges of all countries, except the Grand Orient of France, which is a free-thinking and anti-clerical organization.

Of the various divisions of Freemasonry, the American Supreme Council of Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite Masons was organized in New York in 1807; the General Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons at Boston in 1797, and the Sovereign Sanctuary of Ancient and L. I. mite Freemasonry in 1856. Negro Masons have grand lodges in several States and one in Canada, all the outgrowth of African Lodge, No. 459, which was chartered in 1754 by the Grand Master of England.

Almost from the first Freemasonry flourished in America as in other parts of the world, and in the early part of the last century was subjected to a severe but ineffectual opposition. In the United States this attempt to suppress the fraternity resulted in 1829 in the formation of the anti-Masonic party, a political organization, and three years later a national convention was held in Philadelphia and William Wirt was nominated for the presidency. For several decades a violent anti-Masonic warfare was waged throughout the United States and Canada, and entered into all the religious, social and political relations. Freemasonry also became powerful in Mexico at this period, and natural outlet in civil war.

Freemasonry had its origin in the religious mysteries of the ancient world, and its modern development in England, Scotland and Germany. The original "free masons" were so called because they ranged from one nation to another, as they found churches and cathedrals to be built. Distinguished churchmen and other "learned and enlightened men" became members of the society, and in the seventeenth century a regulation was adopted which provided that "the privileges of masonry should no longer be restricted to operative Masons, but extend to men of various professions, provided they were regularly approved and initiated into the order. The grand lodge of England was founded in 1717, and included all of the many lodges then in existence.

THE HUMAN PROCESSION

John Sharp Williams, of Mississippi, United States senator and former leader of the Democratic minority in the House at Washington, will pass his fifty-ninth milestone to-day. Age and long experience in politics have given him wisdom and wit, and his ability as a tongue-lasher has won for him the respect and fear of the opposition. Senatorial dignity has never weighed heavily on John Sharp, and in a fight he prefers rough and tumble to the Marquis of Queensberry code. Not that he is lacking in science, for he has a card index to the most sensitive spots of every one of his senatorial opponents, and knows exactly where to land a blow to make it most effective.

In his hours of ease, and under the soporific influence of Lady Nicotine, the fighter becomes the idealist, and he permits himself to dream dreams. Niftiest of all of John Sharp's dreams, and one which he describes as "happy and by no means impossible," is the Anglo-Saxon republic of the future, when Great Britain, Ireland, Canada, Australia, South Africa and the United States will live together in one large happy family. Senator Williams modestly disclaims that this idea is original and declares it was held by Pitt, Jefferson and Franklin.

"This great republic would have a federal system like that of the United States," says the Mississippi senator, "and it would have a real system of parliamentary government by the cabinet system of England, which would give real party responsibility to the action of the parliament plain to every citizen of the great nation."

In that blessed day war will end, says Senator Williams, for what nation would dare to attack the Anglo-Saxon republic? The answer is obvious. "It would be a strong government and would need no army but a police force and no navy but a police force for the sea," asserts the senator. Senator Williams was born in Memphis, Tenn., July 30, 1854, and was educated at Kentucky Military Institute, the University of the South, the University of Virginia, and the University of Heidelberg, Germany. Before he went to Washington as a congressman twenty years ago he was a cotton planter as well as a lawyer, and he is still actively interested in agriculture.

Francis Dudley, third Baron Leigh, was born fifty-eight years ago to-day at Stoneleigh Abbey, in Kentishworth. He married Frances-Helene Bschwith, of New York, who died in 1909, leaving him $1,500,000. The Leighs have long been prominent in England. Sir Piers Leigh bore the standard of the Black Prince at Crecy, and his son, Sir Peter, was slain at Agincourt in 1415.

Harrison Grey Fiske, theatrical producer, dramatic critic, scholar and husband of that gifted actress, Minnie Madden Fiske, will celebrate his fifty-second birthday to-day. In his youth he was editorial writer on a Jersey City paper, and "doubled" as a dramatic critic and at 18 he took charge of the New York Dramatic Mirror. He entered the field of management as manager of Minnie Madden shortly after his marriage in 1880, and for several years waged a bitter warfare with the "dramatic trust."

FIRE RUNS IN PEAT.

Bog in Old Indian Reserve is Lighted by Dropped Match.

For six hours the fire department battled last evening with a fire in the peat of the old Songhees reserve, near the abandoned Marine hospital. The firemen could not have checked it then if it had not been that the tide was high and salt water from the harbor was available.

Though the Esquimalt & Nanaimo railway has put up valuable buildings, there are no hydrants. Several suggestions have been made for fire protective work on the reserve. It is the intention of the fire chief to draw the attention of the government to the subject again.

The conflagration started from a carelessly dropped match, and soon spread in the peat and brush, keeping the men engaged for hours to get it under control.

SPEEDY TRIAL PROCEEDS

John McGregor Charged With Theft of Fifty Dollars From a Fare.

After numerous adjournments for one reason or another the speedy trial of John McGregor, a hackman, was begun before Judge Lammiman in the County Court this morning, and continued during the afternoon.

McGregor is accused of having stolen $50 from one Robert J. Brown while the latter was being driven to Tod Inlet and was in a state of intoxication. The prosecution is being conducted by J. H. Austin, of Alkman & Austin, solicitors for the municipality of Saanich, and McGregor is being defended by R. C. Lowe.

Brown told the court the story of his expensive trip to the Inlet. He had engaged the accused on the stand on Yates street to drive him out there, and before they started they had had a couple of drinks. He had then got up on the box and driven up Tatea street to another bar, where they had several more drinks.

He remembers being helped into the hack by McGregor, he says, and then fell asleep. He was awakened by the hack stopping and when he looked out of the window he saw his grip on the side of the road and McGregor told him that he was not going to drive him about all night. He then demanded to be driven back into town and to the police station, which McGregor did.

When he was being searched at the station he missed his pocket-book with $50 in it, and then accused the driver of having taken it.

Ronald C. McRae, a driver for the Victoria Transfer Company, said he met the accused on the night of June 10-11, between 1 and 2 o'clock in the morning, and had several drinks with him in the Delhi cafe. He drove with McGregor and Jack Ross as far as McGregor's barn at the corner of Caledonia avenue and Chambers street.

John C. Chamberlain, a waiter at the Delhi cafe in the early part of June, was called, but at that stage of the case he was not able to give any admissible evidence.

Detective Harry E. MacDonald was the officer who arrested McGregor between 4 and 5 o'clock on the morning of June 11. The accused was in Montgomery's hack in company with McRae and Jack Ross. McGregor was searched by Detective Turner in his presence and in his pockets were found two Canadian Bank of Commerce ten-dollar bills and a five-dollar bill. These were put in evidence by the crown.

To the court the detective said that Montgomery told him McGregor had handed over two ten-dollar bills outside the cafe as they were going in to supper. Inside McGregor asked for one of them and got it.

Detective Frank Turner corroborated this evidence, and an adjournment was taken until the afternoon for the attendance of Montgomery.

Another by-law for Sooke water-works was foreshadowed by Mayor Morley this morning, in a discussion with the Times on the plans with regard to the future prosecution of the undertaking. The time for a number of bids to be in for various sub-contracts expires to-morrow, and in view of the large amount of work which will have to be carried out if the contracts are awarded in full, the mayor was asked as to his intentions.

He pointed out that it would be a matter for agreement with the successful contractors for them to prosecute work while funds lasted with the understanding that the city would appeal to the ratepayers for further money as it became necessary. There is about $450,000 available from the proceeds of the recent stock issue, but with the tenders in for the concrete flow line and the pressure pipe, the total required will be considerably in excess of this sum.

There has been a great excess paid for the land acquired for the undertaking, the recent report of the comptroller showing that $300,000 had already been paid apart from the watershed, each of which will cost some $300,000, and there are still rights-of-way to be acquired.

This is far greater than the amount specified when the by-law was before the people eighteen months ago, and the mayor observed that this charge was largely due to the "rotten system" of appropriations set up by the government, as a consequence of which owners of land had been able to take out of the public coffers sums far in excess of the selling value of their lands.

When the bids are opened, the total cost can be approximately estimated. Water Commissioner Rust said this morning that he expected Consulting Engineer Meredith would return to the city in a few days to examine the bids. Contracts would be awarded then.

RUSSIA MAY SMASH HER OCEAN RECORD

Empress Will Reach William Head at Midnight Friday; Japan Leaves for Orient

By making William Head at midnight on Friday, it is believed that the fast C. P. R. liner Empress of Russia, Capt. Beetham, will have broken the trans-Pacific record, which she made on her first trip from Yokohama to this coast. She will have been considerably under nine days in crossing the pond, which is remarkable steaming. No doubt the officers of the Russia wish to make the best possible time they can as to leave no room for the sister ship, the Empress of Asia, to snatch the blue ribbon record. The Asia will be here before the return of the Russia on her third trip.

The weather is also more favorable to fast steaming at present than it was on the first inward trip of the ocean leviathan. The great ship is making close to 20 knots an hour on her race across the Pacific. When a wireless message was received this morning stating that she would be at the quarantine station by midnight Friday, shipping men started to figure out a new record. The Russia will berth here Saturday morning. The new white liner is bringing in a big list of passengers.

JAPANESE DEPARTED ON OUTWARD EMPRESS

Vancouver, July 30.—The eight Japanese who were put ashore from a junk and were later rounded up at Bella Bella were started on their homeward journey to Japan on the Empress of India by the immigration authorities to-day. They looked exceedingly dejected when put on board the steamer, for not only have they had a perilous trip and two months of privations and hardships for nothing, but they have to face punishment when they get home for breaking the passport regulations of their own country.

These men are part of an expedition of twenty-six which left Japan in a small junk on May 7 with the understanding that they were to be landed at a point near Seattle where the United States officials would not see them.

CANADA OFF FOR CANADA.

The White Star-Dominion liner Canada sailed from Liverpool on Saturday with 410 first-class and 54 third class passengers. She is due at Quebec on Saturday next. Victoria and Vancouver passengers are due on August 7.

The relationship between Napoleon Bonaparte and his mother, the Mme. Mere of Imperial times, was peculiar. Mme. Letitia, who was thirty-four when her famous son was born, had always been complete mistress of her household. Even when her son was Emperor and his word was law, willing as she might have been in public to do him honor, in private she insisted on the privileges of her motherhood.

Baron Larrey, in his historical essay, writes: "One day there was a family meeting, and Napoleon gave his mother his hand to kiss; but Mme. Mere moved aside the proffered hand. Napoleon then took his mother's hand and kissed it, and she said to him: 'Sire, you know quite well that in public I must treat you with due respect, because I am your subject; but in private I am your mother.'"

Londoners gathered in thousands on the route when he passed by yesterday. First there was a short service in the chapel at Middlesex hospital, where the major had been carried dying from the park. His widow, his mother and his two brothers were there, and with them Field-Marshal Sir John French and Lord Grenfell, Major Baird (representing the Gordon Highlanders, the dead hero's regiment), and many other famous soldiers.

Then the coffin, covered with a Union Jack on which lay the major's sword and plumed bonnet, was carried out to the gun carriage, while companies of the Coldstream and Grenadier Guards presented arms. Through the streets to the station in Westminster Bridge-road the procession passed, the troops pacing slowly with reversed arms, the Guards' band playing the Dead March, and representatives of Officers' Training Corps from several schools following the gun carriage that in so grim and proud a bier.

At the station the troops again presented arms, the Army saluted its gallant dead, and the special train moved out to Brookwood Cemetery.

TAKING HOLIDAYS.

"A summer vacation is a great thing," said the man who had just bit the board-walk. "So restful, you know." "They don't seem so restful to me," replied the man who was running a shop. "It seems to me that vacations are merely schemes to overwork a lot of people to help others overwork themselves trying to have a good time."

HINDUS WANT TO LIVE IN VICTORIA

When the Nippon Yusen Kaisha liner Sado Maru, Capt. Asakawa, berthed at the outer docks from the Orient this afternoon the Dominion immigration officials found themselves confronted with an old problem, that of admitting Hindus to this country.

Five Newcomers on Sado Maru Which Berths From Orient

Up to the time of going to press the immigration officials had not decided whether or not they would allow the Hindus to land. It is expected they will be deported. Under the laws of Canada a Hindu must come direct from his native land. To-day's new-comers transferred to the Sado Maru at Hongkong and it is on that their fate hinges.

It is said the Hindus in this country are using these people as another test case.

Fine Voyage Across. From Yokohama to Victoria Capt. Asakawa reports a splendid passage, the weather being extremely fine throughout. The Sado has about 3,000 tons of cargo and about 250 tons is being discharged at this port. The manifest includes a heavy consignment of tea and a five hundred thousand dollar shipment of silk.

A large list of saloon passengers arrived and there were also many in steerage. Twenty-nine Japanese and 70 Chinese disembarked here.

MEDICAL MEREDITH.

Sir James Crichton Browne told some amusing stories at a dinner given at Harragot's one Saturday night. The wife of a working man, Sir James said, was showing a lady over her house. When they came to the bathroom she pointed with pride to the enameled bath and to the brightly polished fittings. "It's a beautiful thing," she explained, "but, thank heaven, we have never had occasion to use it."

An Irish doctor whose patients were anxious to know the names of their ailments decided to apply the titles of George Meredith's books to certain complaints. For instance, if a person had appendicitis he would call it "Diagnos of the Crossways." If it was indigestion he would call it "Sandra Belloni," and a case of slop (baldness) he would describe as "The Shaving of Shagpat."

HANDS COVERED WITH PIMPLES

Itched So Kept from Sleeping. Passed the Nights Scratching. Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment Stopped the Itching at Once and Entirely Cured.

69 2nd Ave., Ville Emard, Montreal, Que. —"My trouble started with small pimples on my hands, which itched so that it kept me from sleeping, and I passed the nights scratching it. I did not know what to do with myself. I became so discouraged that I did not have the heart to do my work. My hands were all covered with little watery pimples. For three weeks I had my hands done up to keep them from touching the bed, for I tossed and scratched so that I made them all bloody on the bed-board. I had suffered for three years like this when I saw an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. I decided to send for samples of them.

"As soon as I received them, I applied the Cuticura Ointment and washed my hands with Cuticura Soap at night before going to bed. This stopped the itching at once. I continued to use them, using not quite two boxes of Cuticura Ointment with the Cuticura Soap, and I was entirely cured. My husband had a burn on one of his hands. He anointed it two nights with Cuticura Ointment and has not felt it since. We have great confidence in Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and I assure you I shall tell all who suffer with the same disease about them." (Signed) Mrs. Roger Hebert, Dec. 26, 1911.

Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere. For a liberal free sample of each with 32-page book, send post card to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 31D, Boston, U. S. A.

ASKS FORESHORE RIGHTS

Applicant Wants Half Acre Abutting on Rock Bay; Council Will Oppose.

At the end of Rock Bay bridge, near Bay street, Edmund Francis has asked for a foreshore right, and through the customary channels the opinion of the Inner Harbor Association has been sought.

T. C. Sorby, the secretary, states that the applicant desires half an acre of the harbor, without submitting plans of any industrial development there, and expresses the opinion that the association is opposed to the exploitation of the public domain for private advantage. The council will therefore oppose the application at Ottawa.

In connection with this bridge, upon which the property would abut, the aldermen were expecting a report yesterday from the engineering department, but it was not ready. It will not receive attention for some days as a result. Meanwhile the Rock Bay bridge remains entirely closed.

SPEAKS OF FUTURE

Rev. Dr. Cameron Treats of Stages of Man's Existence; Five Conditions.

Speaking on the subject of the blessed dead, as suggested in Revelation 14, 15, Rev. Dr. Cameron offered a number of observations in his sermon at the Tabernacle Baptist church on Sunday. He said in part:

"There are five distinct conditions through which the blessed dead will ultimately pass. The first is the national condition, after they have been born into the world. During this period they have only the mind of the flesh—the natural mind which leads to fulfilling the natural desires of men. The second condition begins when they are born of God, and obtain the mind of the spirit. The third condition is that which follows death—when spirit, soul and body are separated. The fourth condition will come when all who shall have fallen asleep in Jesus, together with those who are alive and believe at that time, shall be raised and changed, and when spirit and soul shall be united to spiritual body. These raised and glorified ones shall reign in the New Jerusalem with Christ, and will supersede Angels in ministering to the saints on earth during the millennium. The fifth and last stage of their progress will be when Christ shall have conquered every enemy, and shall have delivered up the kingdom to God, the Father, and when this earth and these heavens shall have been purified by fire.

"About the first and second condition of men much is said. About the fourth and fifth a good deal is said, but about the third condition—the time between death and resurrection—very little is said. I desire to explain a few things about these blessed dead as they are made known in Scripture.

"This is a very tender subject. Whatever bitterness there may be between men and families during life, when death comes all hearts are hushed and humbled. We instinctively follow those we love into the great unknown. All this is unwarranted, for they are the blessed dead with the Lord. Out of this feeling has grown the doctrine of an intermediate state for purifying souls by fire, from which they may be delivered by the prayers and sacrifices of the living. For this thought there is not the slightest ground in scripture, and it makes God a monster of cruelty.

"The Bible represents that at death, all men, before the resurrection of our Lord, went to Sheol or Hades. There seems to have been two divisions, the one called 'Abraham's bosom,' and the other a place of 'torment.' Both in the Hebrew and in the Greek, the names given to this place of the departed means the unseen. It is represented as the underworld, the place of darkness, the place of the shades. Before the resurrection of Christ all spirits are conceived as descending into this underworld. It is conceived of as in the heart of the earth. But Christ's soul was not left in Hades, for the man that never seemed could not be held in the place of death after. He had paid the price that secured the ransom of the race. When He rose from the dead He took a 'multitude of captives' with Him, and from that moment the spirits of the believers were received into Paradise. To be away from the home of this body is to be at home with the Lord."

PICKPOCKETS COMING.

There Are Many of These in Vancouver; Police Issue Warning to Citizens.

The police of the city have been notified by the authorities of Vancouver that there is a source of pickpockets in that city at the present time, and it is expected that many of these will be coming over to this city during the carnival week. Chief Langley, therefore, warns citizens to be on the lookout for the members of the light-colored profession next week.

As many as can be detected at the steamer will be turned back, but there are certain to be several slip past the watchers at the wharf, as only those known to the police by their photographs in the rogues' gallery are likely to be stopped.

POLICE ARRANGE FOR CARNIVAL WEEK

Citizens Advised to Take Extra Precautions to Protect Valuables During the Festival

As a prelude to the Carnival week the police have been for some days engaged in cleaning up the city of known bad characters, and at the same time have been watching the steamers closely and turning back any persons who could not justify their coming to the city.

For the most part the men and women who have been warned to get out of the city have taken the warning without having to have it enforced by a magisterial order following arrest. It is likely that some arrests for vagrancy will be made early in the week, so as to put those who cannot be got rid of otherwise safely behind the bars for the week, or longer.

Ten special constables have been sworn in to duty during the week, and in making choice of these Chief Langley has exercised the greatest care to have men who can be relied upon to do their duty fearlessly and at the same time not officious, a fault of many specials. The detective force will have the assistance of plain-clothes men from Vancouver, Seattle, Tacoma, Spokane, Portland and San Francisco, which will greatly help in the detection of crooks from across the line.

As an accompaniment of the Carnival and the crowds that will be attracted to the city, the police expect there will be a visit of a host of crooks, male and female, and it will behoove citizens to do their part in protecting their property while these gentry are in the city. Chief Langley says his men will do all in their power and patrol will be increased, but citizens can do much to a 'old regret afterwards.

For one thing, the chief advises people who leave their homes vacant for any length of time to close every opening that would give access, but as this will not keep out the burglar who makes up his mind to get in, it will be very advisable to secure valuables or, better still, carry such of them as can be carried on the person—and beware of pickpockets—and put the rest in some place of safe deposit.

An order has been issued by the chief prohibiting the use during Carnival week of fire-crackers, confetti, or the kicking abominations which are generally in evidence at such times. Vendors will not be permitted to sell these and anyone found in possession of one on the streets will have it taken away. The police have been instructed to enforce this order strictly.

MAY ASK CHANGE.

Executive of B. C. Federation of Labor Discusses Workmen's Compensation Act.

Among many matters of routine business dealt with at the meeting here of the executive of the British Columbia Federation of Labor was the report on the referendum, which had to be submitted to the unions for confirmation. This referendum asked for approval of the principle of representation on the floor of convention according to membership of a substantial majority. In future in order that the representation may be more fair, the federation will take steps to pay the expenses of delegates, subject to approval of the next convention. Many of the unions have suffered on account of the industrial depression and therefore there will not be a material change in the membership this year.

Ex-president Wilkinson will attend the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada in Montreal next September. The federation executive also discussed the Workmen's Compensation Act, which it will probably ask to be abandoned in place of the Washington Act, in which the government handles the collection and distribution of the compensation, the principle of contributory negligence being avoided. As the government will not take any steps with the alteration of the law till the Labor Commission reports, the executive does not anticipate any early action.

SCOUTS IN CAMP.

Third Troop Enjoying Outing at Picnic Point; Come in Next Sunday.

Third Troop Victoria Boy Scouts, under Scoutmaster H. R. Seife and Assistant Scoutmasters J. C. Anthony and W. H. Brown, have been in camp for the past week at Picnic Point, above the Craigflower bridge, and have been enjoying themselves to the full, at the same time gaining considerable experience and becoming proficient in their different subjects.

Lots of fun has been intermingled with the instructional parades and general camp routine, and as everyone is in the best of health great results are expected from the two week's work.

Sunday was visitors' day and the camp was visited by the Provincial Commission in the morning and by no less than thirty-five parents and friends in the afternoon, who partook of tea and cake after having made an inspection of the camp. A motor launch run by the troop made six trips from the public landing at the Gorge to the site of the camp and was much appreciated by those who made the trip.

During the past year the Third Troop has made great strides and at the present time has the largest number of proficiency badges of any troop in Vancouver Island, the grand total being 94. When the camp breaks, however, a new record will have been made for a Victoria troop, as the number will undoubtedly pass the century mark.

Twenty-five members of the troop are in camp and one patrol leader from Tenth Troops is attached.

Dr. A. B. Hudson was in camp last Thursday and reported all well. The camp will be struck next Sunday morning and the troop will come straight in to the carnival week camp at Beacon Hill park.

THE KING ON DUTY.

Lord Meath, presiding at Devonshire House over a meeting in connection with the duty and discipline movement, told how the King, when a young officer, rowed for an hour and a half at Gibraltar in the teeth of a gale to pay his respect to a senior officer.

Lord Meath also told how on another occasion the King declined to avail himself of the opportunity to attend Goodwood races, although the admiral said he would be pleased to give him leave. The young Prince asked, "How about the officer whose duty it is to run out the torpedo-boat?" and added, "If it is the same to you, sir, I would rather do my duty."
