

GOLF SEASON NEAR

LOCAL DEVOTEES OF THE LINKS PREPARE FOR TOURNAMENT IN SEPTEMBER

It may be considered rather hot for golf at present and this is not exactly the season in California anyway; but that does not prevent some of the local devotees of the links from getting out every day to Griffith park and doing a couple of rounds to keep themselves in good form for the coming season in September.

Ernest Kimmell, who is coming to the front as a player, is taking his vacation on the golf course and is getting into something like form. The municipal links at Griffith park is not a very exacting course, but it offers a number of fairly difficult hazards. It is also pretty much under the sun and that is exhausting in these hot days. However, the weather has been unusually favorable for golf recently and there should be a marked improvement in the play all round when the tournament opens in September.

One of the players who reached the semi-finals in the July tournament was Jesse Flower. Jesse is rapidly becoming a player who is no longer in the beginners' class. His performance in the tournament was excellent, but it will in all probability reduce his handicap next time. Jesse goes to have a vacation in the San Gabriel canyon, this week, and among the deep recesses, the cool streams and the shady valleys of the canyon and the amenities of Coldbrook camp. He should return like a giant refreshed for the strenuous work of the tournament.

Dan Kelly, who came back with his brief stay at Big Bear lake, with a fine coat of mountain tan, is in excellent shape for the coming tournament work. Joe Fishel, whose scores run about 82, is likely to prove a formidable champion of the Glendale contingent. C. W. Clark is also a fine player who may be looked on to get into the first rank again the moment the serious work begins.

Among the others who are in line for the championship, or would like to capture the honor some way or other are: Allen Fairchild, L. McMillan, Mrs. Warner, J. Hearnshaw, Dr. Bryant, Albert Pearce, Dr. Ames, G. D. Wood, Humphrey and Balthis. There are also others who will doubtless come to the front this season and will receive credit for their victories. Sometimes a player comes back from practice during the vacation season, on some of the outside links, so much improved that his handicap vanishes altogether after the first tournament.

Griffith Park links is exceedingly popular these days. There are always people waiting to take their turn as the players proceed along the course. The bogey on the links is 79 and par is 71. The Glendale players have not got down to so narrow a score as 71; but they are on the road. As far as known none of the Glendale players has holed No. 8, the shortest hole on the course, in one stroke, though that feat has been done by others. There will probably be a change of luck in this respect, however, as the order of the holes on the links has been changed. It is not such a wonderful feat to hole out a 156-yard hole in one shot and it is done occasionally.

GLENDALE PIGEON LOFTS

Invited by an ad in the Glendale Evening News to inspect the Glendale Pigeon lofts, 650 S. Verdugo road, a large number of the public responded and were gratified by the sight of one of the largest pigeon breeding establishments in Southern California. The lofts were opened to the public Saturday afternoon, from 1 to 5 p. m. and on Sunday from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m. The management courteously showed the visitors over the establishment. This is the largest strictly squab loft in the United States. It has 9000 birds and when feeding time came at 3 p. m. the sight was wonderful. The birds whirled about the feeding ground in enormous billows of brilliant colored feathers and wheeled and filed past like some brigade of soldiers in evolution. The visitors were charmed with the sight. Among the visitors were representatives of both of the Glendale oaks.

WEST GLENDALE W. C. T. U.

A meeting of the West Glendale W. C. T. U. will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30, at the home of Mrs. Bellue, 1451 Myrtle street. Mrs. Law of Los Angeles, a noted speaker in connection with the Prohibition cause, will give a "California Dry" address. All members of the W. C. T. U. and their friends are invited to be present.

AMONG THE BIG TREES

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Baker, of 109 N. Maryland, returned Saturday from a most interesting trip by auto through the land of the giant trees, Sequoia national park. The principal entrance to the park is through Visalia. Within an area of 237 square miles are found several large groves of the celebrated Sequoia Gigantea. More than a million of these trees grow within the park's narrow confines, many of them mere babes of a few hundred years, many stalwart youths of a thousand years, many in the vigor of two or three thousand years and a few in full maturity.

"We started for Sequoia National park Aug. 8 and found the way not half so hard as we had anticipated," said Mrs. Baker. "I drove our Ford most of the way and though we passed some spots on the road where there was just enough room for the auto to pass, with a fall of 2000 feet below, we accomplished the journey without any mishap. We heard of several parties that had met with accidents, but none of them were serious.

"Driving into the forest we reached the region of the big trees and camped near Wolverton post-office, which is at a height of 8250 feet. There were two autos in our party and we had with us Mr. and Mrs. Durrell of Azusa. At Wolverton creek we made a most enjoyable stay. Those who want fishing of the real mountain kind are certain to find it here. The streams are stocked with the magnificent and powerful rainbow trout, with the eastern speckled trout and with the splendid Loch Leven trout. It is always possible to fill a basket in a short time and we never wanted for trout all the time we spent in the park.

"This park is the gateway to one of the grandest scenic areas in the country. Over its borders to the north and east lies a land of sublime nobility, the wild rivers and tortuous canyons of which, with their glacier-carved precipices and vast snowy summits culminating in the supreme altitude of Mt. Whitney, will make it ere long surpassed in celebrity by none.

"Close to the Sequoia National park is the General Grant National park, the four square miles of which were set apart because they contained the General Grant tree, second in size and age only to the General Sherman tree. The General Sherman tree has a diameter of 36.5 feet and a height of 179.9 feet. The General Grant tree has a diameter of 35 feet and a height of 264 feet. The General Sherman tree is the oldest living thing. At the birth of Moses it was a sapling. Its exact age cannot be determined without counting the rings but it is probably in excess of thirty-five hundred years. When Christ was born it was 1500 years old.

"There are many thousands of trees in the Sequoia National park that were growing trees when Christ was born. Others were flourishing in the days of Nebuchadnezzar. On one prostrate tree there were counted four thousand rings. That would make it 4000 years old. We enjoyed seeing these wonderful products of nature and found that their magnitude and impressiveness grew the longer we contemplated them."

SURPRISED BY THE TIDE

"There is no tide in Lake Michigan," said Mrs. W. M. Crawford of 916 South Central avenue, to a representative of The Glendale Evening News, "so a young lady from Chicago, who was one of our party at Hermosa Beach the other day, recking nothing of the vagaries of the Pacific Ocean, took off and deposited on the sand a pair of dainty, eastern shoes of highly fashionable style and as expensive as they were fashionable. Silk stockings of style equal to the shoes she deposited in the latter articles and then set out to enjoy herself. Meantime the tide was coming in and the lady suddenly discovered that the ocean was encroaching on her footgear. She rushed to save them, but, alas, one of the dainty pedal adornments was snatched away by the playful waves and she was only in time to rescue the other, wet and ruined, as she thought. In her disappointment and chagrin she gave utterance of some vigorous expressions and threw the second shoe and stocking into the ocean with an indescribable petulance which greatly amused those who were with her.

WEATHER FORECAST—Generally cloudy along the coast; fair today and Tuesday; westerly winds.

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PETROGRAD, Aug. 21.—The Russians under Gen. Brussiloff made a sudden smash northeast of Kovel this morning early and succeeded in surprising the Germans and in driving a three-mile wedge into Gen. Von Linsingen's front. This wedge they are now diligently striving to widen. The Russians, according to the admission of the Germans, have pushed forward to the western bank of the Stokhod.

GERMANS IN DESPERATE ATTACK ON FLEURY

ATTACKS OF CROWN PRINCE ON FRENCH LINES REPULSED WITH GREAT LOSS

PARIS, Aug. 21.—Fighting around Verdun reached a pitch of great intensity last night and this morning. The German crown prince launched a series of terrific attacks which were repulsed with great loss. The fighting was specially furious as the Germans are exasperated at the success of the French at Fleury. The artillery deluge that preceded the attack was particularly fierce.

PANAMA PRESIDENTIAL ELECTIONS ARE SAID TO HAVE BEEN CHARACTERIZED BY FRAUD

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 21.—Romano Valdez, the newly elected president of the Republic of Panama, has already experienced some of the troubles that afflict presidents in Central America. It is stated that Valdez's followers attended the polls with sheaves of prepared ballots and replied to official remonstrances by thrusting rifles and automatic pistols in the faces of the judges and inspectors. It is now stated that the United States will not recognize Valdez.

BULGARIANS STRIKE AT SALONIKI LINE

CENTRAL ALLIES MAKE COUNTER ATTACK AGAINST ANGLO-FRENCH ADVANCE NOW DEVELOPING

SALONIKI, Aug. 21.—The Bulgarians launched a counter attack against the Anglo-French forces this morning. They advanced on a 15-mile front and fought with great determination. These attacks were made east and south on Florida, where there were small bodies of Anglo-French troops that were compelled to retire. Constant fighting is going on in the vicinity of Lake Doiran. The Anglo-French-Servian attack has not yet developed. The generals appear to be trying out the front before them.

BERLIN, Aug. 21.—The Bulgarians have announced that they will not stop until they have Saloniki in their hands and have driven the Allies into the sea. It is believed that the German officers with the Bulgarian army are responsible for the offensive they have just launched to forestall, if possible, the attack now being prepared by the Anglo-British forces. The Bulgarians have attacked on a fifteen-mile front and may have disorganized some of Gen. Serrail's plans.

TO BUILD NEW HOTEL

GLENDALE MEN START WORK ON TWO-STORY BUILDING ON BRAND BOULEVARD

Brand Boulevard is to have another two-story brick building of imposing dimensions, next to the recently erected Peters block. This building is to be erected by H. E. Betz, the well-known brick contractor, S. L. Borthick, of Borthick Brothers real estate firm, and E. K. Daniels, the owners, of 1307 Lomita avenue. This new erection will have an area of 53 by 84 feet. It will be a modern, two-story hotel building, with all the latest ideas.

W. H. Easton, the proprietor of the Jewel City Restaurant, 556 W. Broadway, will occupy the whole building and will have his restaurant on the ground floor. The restaurant will be fitted up in a very handsome style and will be quite attractive. The second story will be occupied by twenty bedrooms with every modern convenience, hot and cold water and heating. Everything will be in first-class style.

Mr. Easton has been granted a five-year lease of the building, with the exception of a storeroom, which will be leased before long, as there have been several applications already for it.

The work of excavation was begun this morning and will be pushed at once. The building will be completed by December 1. The diningroom will have a floor of maple and the whole will be finished in suitable style. The cost of the building will be $25,000.

VETERANS IN COUNCIL

The Veterans of Southern California are in council at Huntington Beach. This annual encampment is usually well attended and this year there seems to be an unusually large gathering of the old soldiers. The National Convention, which is being held at Kansas City, is too distant to permit of the presence of the California contingent to any great extent. There are a few Glendale veterans attending the National Encampment, but the majority are to be found at Huntington Beach. The following members of N. P. Banks Post are at the beach encampment: J. H. Jordan, T. M. Barrett, T. Gillette, H. C. Thomas, C. R. Norton, N. W. Harmon, U. H. Emick, B. F. Patterson, W. G. Collins, J. F. Denney, R. D. Goss, O. H. Jones, George Cornwell, G. W. Sanford, W. S. Studer, I. B. Bradford and J. R. Fletcher, of Glendale; C. H. Clark, Littlelands; W. B. Pratt, A. Buser, G. M. Grisso, C. F. Greenman, J. E. Kendall, D. F. Jones, of Burbank; J. F. Kenyon, Hollywood; George F. LeClaire and J. J. Wilson, Eagle Rock; J. J. Weiler and R. N. Taylor of Tropic.

Y. P. B. MEETING

The Young People's Branch of the W. C. T. U. will hold its regular meeting Tuesday evening at 7:30, at the home of Evangeline Quackenbush, 119 E. Colorado boulevard. This is the last meeting before the State Convention and all members are urged to be present as it will be necessary to settle several important matters in view of the large gathering. All who intend to join the Branch and to interest themselves in the active work of the coming Dry campaign are cordially invited to be present.

DEATH OF MRS. EGGERS

Mrs. Carrie L. Eggers, wife of Henry J. Eggers of 121 South Isabel street, passed away at her home Saturday afternoon, August 19, after an extended illness, aged 50 years, 9 months and 1 day. Mrs. Eggers had resided in Glendale one year and six months. She leaves to mourn her death her husband and two daughters, Mrs. Jas. Knox of San Fernando and Mrs. P. J. Wessells of Glendale. Funeral services were held this afternoon at Rosedale cemetery, the Scovern-Letton-Frey Undertaking company in charge.

BROTHERHOOD MEETING POSTPONED

Owing to so many of our members being away on vacations the Brotherhood meeting and supper of the Presbyterian church has been postponed until Tuesday, Sept. 26, at which time the ladies will be entertained as formerly planned. A good and interesting evening is anticipated. Please remember the date.

Miss Lillian Schick, 811 N. Central avenue, Tropic, has gone to Hermosa Beach, for a two weeks' vacation with friends.

ECONOMIC AND POLITICAL RESULTS OF WAR

One of the benefits the war has conferred both on France and Britain is the increased distribution of money among the middle and working classes by their employment in various avenues of military life. Take for instance the manufacture of munitions. The war began Aug. 1, 1914. At that time Britain was producing practically no great amount of munitions; but in a very brief time the item of munitions manufacture began to creep up until David Lloyd George took hold of the job of secretary of munitions. Then factories began to spring up on all hands.

Now, in 1916, the production of all manner of arms and ammunition has increased more than 500 per cent. There are about 2,500,000 persons engaged in the manufacture of munitions in England alone and it is quite probable that the factories of the United States, which have received such enormous sums for their products in these late days, will fall back again into their old condition of non-employment unless some other war should break out.

France was never very backward in the work of manufacturing munitions; but France had had no experience in the matter of expenditure of ammunition until this war broke out. Under modern conditions more ammunition is expended in a day than would have been used in three months of the old warfare. It is estimated that Britain alone is using up 1,000,000 shells a day for her field guns. It can be seen how vast has been the increase in munitions expenditure in France when it is told that France is now manufacturing 130 times as many machine guns as she did when the war broke out. The production of field pieces and of the wonderful "75's" that have kept the Germans out of Verdun is 25 times as great as at the beginning of the war. The manufacture of heavy guns has also increased.

Handicapped at the outset because they possessed no guns equal in caliber to the huge 17-inch howitzers of the Germans that pointed the forts of Belgium to pieces, the British and French set to work and manufactured 16-inch guns which now master the German howitzers, having a much longer range and carrying a shell that is even more efficacious than that of the howitzer.

What the French admire most of all their guns is the active .75 that is so deadly and precise at ranges of five or six miles. The Germans have nothing like that. The seventy-fives sweep the area in front of an enemy advance with a terrible "curtain of fire" through which almost nothing can penetrate. They then lift and permit an advance of the decimated troops and then fall in a curtain of death behind them. These are the guns that have kept Verdun intact. The production of shells for these .75's is more than 38 times the original; for larger caliber guns the production of ammunition is 80 times.

All this is producing its economical effect both in France and Britain. Little wonder that even Asquith, the British premier, has been converted to the cause of woman suffrage. It is the women of both France and Britain who have helped largely to solve the question of munitions. They have offered themselves freely and have done most excellent skilled work in all the fields of munitions manufacture. It will be impossible longer to deny them a share in the government. That will work many wonderful changes in Britain. Then, too, the distribution of wealth in Britain among the laboring and middle classes has been enormous. It has given an added importance to the working people and has given them also a different outlook. The world may look for important social and economic changes in Britain and France after the war.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Rev. Edmond yesterday morning at the Presbyterian church preached from the text, Job VI, 6, "And that which is unsavory eat ye not at all." Job had been held out by the Lord as the perfect man, but had been given over to Satan temporarily to try him by affliction and here we find him surrounded by his three friends, who instead of cheering him by their presence took advantage of his helplessness to add to his afflictions by their empty words of reproof and their egotistical assumption of some virtue which they thought they possessed and which Job was without. There is no doubt but they were sincere in their views, but still they were wrong, their words were without savor, lacking the salt of human kindness.

There may be times when you are right and I am wrong, and the reverse; it is essential that we become assured of our own position before we proceed to criticize those who differ from us, but at all times the criticism should be tempered by kindness.

Here was Job, who had received the highest testimonial from the Lord, accused by his friends of being a sinner. Let us be careful to agree with the Lord. Jesus evidently had such a case in mind when he said to his disciples, "Ye are the salt of the earth," but he also spoke of the possibility of the salt losing its savor. See to it that your exhortation does not lack the salt of sincerity. The pulpit is not free from unsavoryness. Mere goodness never saved anybody; there is only one way for man to rise spiritually, and that is through Jesus Christ. Christianity has not gone to pieces in the terrible wreckage of war. Terrible as is this world calamity, it is not difficult to point out some of its good results.

Sin abounds but Grace does the more abound. We live in a selfish age, keep your ideals and rise by the consistency of a savory Christian life.

MR. HAHN'S CANDIDACY WELL RECEIVED

The candidacy of Edwin F. Hahn for the Republican nomination for Congress is being favorably received throughout this, the Ninth district. All elements of the Republican faith recognize in Mr. Hahn a trustworthy man—a man thoroughly representative of the best ideals, traditions and aspirations of Republicanism. Mr. Hahn's substantiality and sterling worth as man and citizen; his unsullied probity; his espousal of the temperance cause; his broadness of mind; his studious habits; his capacity for grasping public questions—these and other strong attributes commend this well-known Pasadena to the support of the Republican family in this district.

Mr. Hahn is in the prime of life—a man of ideals and of worthy ambitions. If nominated and elected, he would go to Washington splendidly equipped with abilities and thoroughly saturated with inclinations and intentions to serve his constituency with consummate skill and effectiveness. He would work indefatigably in the interest of his district.

But he would not be so narrow as to have no outlook beyond Los Angeles county. He would strive to identify himself, with honorable distinction, with the great legislative movements that are sure to be evolved within the next two years affecting national and international affairs.

By character, capability and temperament Mr. Hahn is admirably fitted to serve the Ninth district, California and the nation, usefully and acceptably. The Star-News hopes to see him nominated and elected.—Pasadena-Star News.

It is claimed that some of the eucalyptus of Australia are taller than the California redwoods, hitherto considered the highest trees in the world. Can it be possible?

STUDYING COUNTRY NEWS-PAPERS

Can a college professor teach would-be country newspaper editors how to make money?

Such, at any rate, is the experiment which will be tried this fall at the University of Southern California. The university's department of journalism will offer a course during the coming year in "The Country Newspaper," and it is the avowed purpose of the work to teach the students how a country newspaper may be conducted so that the balance sheet will show a profit at the end of the year. (Chorus by country editors: "It can't be done!")

The course will be given by Prof. Bruce Bliven of the department of journalism, who knows by many years' bitter experience how hard it is to run a country paper, and only advanced students in the department of journalism will be permitted to take the work. Not only the business side of the paper, including advertising, circulation building and cost accounting will be studied, but the editorial aspect as well. The university library will place on file a number of the best known country newspapers of the whole United States.

SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE

No less than 16,669 buildings were completely destroyed and 25,594 damaged by military operations in that part of France which was claimed from German occupation. These figures are contained in a report to the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce of the Department of Commerce from C. W. A. Viletz, the United States commercial attaché in Paris, who obtained them from official sources.

"Blinks says that when he was young he was the architect of his own fortune."
 "Didn't they have any building inspectors in those days?"

The Board of Trustees of the City of Glendale determines that serial bonds shall be issued to represent assessments of twenty-five dollars ($25.00) or over for the cost of said work or improvement; said serial bonds shall extend over a period ending nine (9) years from and after the second day of January next succeeding the date of said bonds, and an even annual proportion of the principal sum thereof shall be payable by coupon on the second day of January every year after their date until the whole is paid; and the interest shall be payable semi-annually, by coupon, on the second day of January and July, respectively, of each year, at the rate of seven (7) per cent per annum on all sums unpaid, until the whole of said principal and interest are paid. Said bonds shall be issued in accordance with the provisions of an Act of the Legislature of the State of California entitled "An Act to provide a system of street improvement bonds to represent certain assessments for the cost of street work and improvements within municipalities, and also for the payment of such bonds," approved February 27, 1893, and all acts supplementary thereto and amendatory thereof.

And thereafter, to-wit: On the 10th day of August, 1916, awarded the contract for said work to the lowest regular responsible bidder, to-wit: To E. Schelling, at the prices named for said improvement in his proposal on file for said improvement, to-wit:

 Curb, "Class B," per linear foot, 24c.
 And that said award has been approved by the President of the Board of Trustees of said City of Glendale, Clerk's office, City of Glendale, California, August 21, 1916.

BOYS IN BUSINESS

An Ohio boy, who is barely fifteen years old, is President of the Boys' Box Furniture Company, incorporated under the laws of the State. It is a co-operative organization, numbering among its stockholders twenty-eight boys, who range from twelve to eighteen years of age. The factory, says an exchange, is in operation from four to six every afternoon except Sunday, and the products are chairs, music racks, piano benches, writing desks, flower boxes, bird houses, and other light articles, for which a ready sale is found. At the end of the year, the profits are divided on the basis of the number of hours each boy has worked.—Exchange.

DAUGHTERS OF 1812

The State society of the Daughters of 1812 held their annual outing at Long Beach, Saturday. There was a good attendance. The society met in Bixby park, where they had a very pleasant time. Mrs. J. F. Wright of Hollywood, president of the society, was present, as was also Mrs. Rhodes of Los Angeles, the vice-president, and Mrs. H. E. Bartlett of Glendale, the registrar. The society in addition to other work occupies itself in promoting patriotism and helping to keep alive the memory of the old days. It recently gave a large United States flag to be hoisted over the site of the old fort at Los Angeles, which stood on the hill above Broadway tunnel.

Mr. Tift of Long Beach was a visitor Sunday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Howard Benson, 1419 Pioneer Drive.

CARE OF THE BODY

In this article I will give some of the principal—not all—results growing out of the prevailing conditions, and their causes, as I have described them in previous articles.

We are constantly being told that "the world is growing better." That is good news if it reaches down to the root of the matter, and the improvements are from the bottom upwards. We want to be sure that we have a good safe foundation to build on. It is always advisable to climb up to the higher altitudes occasionally and get an elevated view over the landscape and see how the wind currents are drifting. Dr. Frank Crane says: "We are the watchmen in the tower" and it is our duty to observe and announce what is taking place in the field below.

Things may be getting better in one direction, but worse in other directions. When more people join the church, we say that the world is growing better morally. And we forget all about the mental and physical condition of mankind, which is the very foundation upon which everything else is built, and upon which rests the health, happiness, and duration of physical life.

As the watchman in the lookout for the welfare of the physical life, it is my duty to declare the outlook and give the warnings necessary to steer the physical bark away from the hidden shoals and rocks that abound in the sea of life. And as an introduction to this subject I am going to offer a quotation from a work written by Dr. J. H. Kellogg, superintendent of the great sanitarium at Battle Creek, Mich. Dr. Kellogg is the best known scientist and health writer on this continent, an optimist of the first water, and needs no introduction in scarcely any section of the United States.

Dr. Kellogg says: "Certain popular modern theories have inculcated the idea that man, starting from a lowly origin on a level with or scarcely above that of the brute creation, has gradually attained to his present development, supposed to be the highest the race has ever reached. After having gained almost universal acceptance, these theories of human development have in recent times come to be regarded with growing skepticism by many authorities eminent in philosophy and in science, because of their utter failure to account for the origin of man or of living things, and because of the overwhelming accumulation of facts which indicate that on the whole the human race is declining in vigor and stamina rather than advancing.

"The blight of physical, mental and moral decay has fallen heavily upon the human race in every land, especially in civilized lands. Whole tribes of men are becoming extinct, while new species of maladies and new varieties of known diseases are constantly making their appearance. Insanity, epilepsy and imbecility have increased 300 per cent. in fifty years. At the present rate of increase these defectives will, in fifty years more, constitute 1 per cent. of the entire population. The race is rapidly going down.

"This multiplication of disorders and degenerates is the natural result of perverted habits and the cultivation of abnormal appetites. Civilized man has departed far from the natural, the divine way of life. The increase of disease, of mental and moral infirmities, is the natural result of the gross transgression of the laws of man's being which have come to be almost universal. Departing from the way of life marked out for him by his Creator, man has sought out many inventions, the soul and body destroying influences of which are clearly evident to the thoughtful observer."

The Market Price of Health
In an address delivered under the auspices of the American Medical Association Dr. Manton M. Carrick, recently (1915) informed the Associated Clubs of Domestic Science in New York City that "public health is a purchasable commodity, the same as milk and sugar and other products. In spite of the fact that health is so easily obtainable, however, 600,000 persons die needlessly every year, while 1,500,000 are needlessly ill.

Dr. Carrick drew a valuable lesson from the European war. "The mortality from the present old world war, together with its attendant suffering, causes all good Americans to shudder," he said. "Curiously enough, however, we are not aroused to any extent, and hardly disturbed over the loss by death of the thousands of Americans annually, 42 per cent. of which are preventable.

"When considered with the tens of thousands of cases of sickness growing out of them they constitute an annual calamity almost, if not quite, as stupendous and horrible as the European war.

"Of 2,500,000 babies born in the United States each year, 500,000, or one-fifth of the number, die needlessly the first year of their lives. This means a loss to the nation of $3,000,000 daily. One-fourth of all these deaths is due to gastrointestinal diseases.

"Does it not seem absurd that reformers should complain of the declining birth rate when the lives of vast numbers of babies are thus ruthlessly wasted? We should first see that this appalling loss of life is stopped before we discuss the question of larger families among the poor. I would say that the duty of increasing the population rests primarily upon the well-to-do, who are alone able to give their children proper care."

"But how are we" to remedy this great evil of infant mortality? This is the question I see written on many of your faces. Well, one way to put a crimp in the market for short coffins is to regulate the sale of skimmed milk. This product has its legitimate and proper place, but dealers should not be permitted to sell it to mothers for babies' food. Skimmed milk is no more a food for babies than ground corncocks is a proper cereal for adults."

In addition to the above, statistics show that 500,000 of the remaining 2,000,000 die under five years of age, and 250,000 more of the original 2,500,000 die before reaching the age of 15 years, as the doctor remarks—needlessly. Add the deaths from the births each year and you can see how appalling the loss of young life under fifteen years is, to say nothing of the deaths that occur above that age.

A medical journal copies the following paragraph from a bulletin issued by the Equitable Life Insurance Company under the heading, "Another kind of Race Suicide." Rather, we inquire, is it not race "murder?" "There are in this country 20,000,000 school children, or twenty per cent. of the entire population. Seventy-five per cent. of these children are suffering from some partially or completely remediable defects, which are more or less interfering with their physical, mental, and moral advancement.

500,000 have organic heart disease.
1,000,000 have spinal curvature, etc.

1,000,000 have tuberculosis.
1,000,000 have defective hearing.
5,000,000 have defective vision.
5,000,000 have malnutrition.
6,000,000 have operable tonsils and adenoids.

10,000,000 have defective teeth.
Seventy per cent. of the deaths in the United States are due to disease that could in most instances be controlled and suppressed by proper medical school inspection."

The Equitable Life has published a timely booklet on "Human Life; How We Waste It," comprising "Plain Talks" to the public and to the clergy of America. In addressing the latter the Equitable inquires, "Do you know that the loss of life from disease of the heart, blood-vessels and kidneys, including apoplexy, exceeds that of pneumonia and tuberculosis combined and that fully sixty per cent. of these diseases are preventable or postponable if discovered and treated in time? Do you know that the death-rate from these afflictions has increased over 100 per cent since 1880, and that the increase is confined to no one section of the country? In New Jersey it has been 119 per cent. in Chicago 159 per cent and in New Orleans 169 per cent. Do you know that these diseases of old age, which are reaching down into the younger periods, attack the hardest-worked organs of the body, weakening their power of resistance and rendering thousands of people easy victims to the germ disease? It is in no spirit of pessimism or 'calamity preaching' that these facts are emphasized, for the general upward trend of our race is obvious. But in the name of common humanity, is it not time that action should take the place of discussion?" Kind of a paradox! The writer shows that the destructive diseases have increased from 119 to 169 per cent, and yet he says the general trend of our race is upward—in a balloon I suppose.

The booklet goes on to show that while the successful campaign against the diseases of childhood and early adult life has lowered the death rate below forty years of age, yet the increase in the diseases of later life has increased it beyond that age, and presents the following table:

Increase of death-rate: Age 40 to 50, 13.2 per cent; age 50 to 60, 29.2 per cent; age 60 and over, 26.4 per cent.

Lack of adaptation to the condition of modern life is the cause of this degeneration, and the writer of the booklet answers his own inquiry when he asks whether the growth of chronic disease "is due to the strenuous life or to the excessive working, eating, drinking, playing, and intemperate habits generally."

"Last year approximately 100,000 Americans died from Bright's and other diseases of the kidneys." It is time that the Americans who escaped death began to take an interest in their health—especially when we consider the statement in connection with two important facts, as stated by the Equitable:

"(1) Fully sixty per cent, or sixty thousand of these deaths could have been prevented or postponed for years if the presence of the disease had been discovered in its early stages.

"(2) The death-rate from these diseases is increasing at an abnormal rate—seventy-two per cent in twenty years and twenty-three per cent in the last ten years."

Too Much Civilized
"We are becoming civilized almost to death. The human race is fast hurrying down the hill of race deterioration and to certain race extinction unless by some means changes are brought about.

"I've Got Rheumatism, Alright!"

YOU have—have you? Well, how do you know? Rheumatism always has covered a multitude of sins and shins. Let someone complain of a backache or pain in the joints and legs and—of course!—it's rheumatism.

Perhaps, that rheumatic pain of yours, so-called, isn't rheumatism at all—only a signal from Nature that your eliminative functions are lagging. A pain that keeps hovering over the same spot does not necessarily mean rheumatism—any more than backache means kidney trouble. It may be due to any one of a hundred reasons.

If you are troubled constantly with rheumatic aches and twinges; if you are losing your agility and find you can't walk as well as you should—we will do one of two things for you. We will tell you whether or not you really have rheumatism. In either event we will outline the treatment necessary. And this treatment, mind you, will not be at all unpleasant—will not detain you from business—and will help you forget your wobbly knees and joints.

Surely you owe it to yourself to investigate today!

HOW PYRAMIDS WERE BUILT

Most persons have the idea that the great pyramids of Gizeh, Egypt, were built by means of some great machines, and by the employment of enormous forces of workmen. One estimate had it that it must have taken a hundred thousand men about twenty years to construct the largest of these pyramids. The ancient engineers certainly must have been wonderful men, no matter how the pyramids were constructed, and the opinion of some scientists that there could not have existed any gigantic or complicated machines only emphasizes this fact.

A few years ago, at a meeting of the Philosophical Society in Washington, J. E. Watkins presented an illustrated paper by which he showed that it would have been possible for the pyramids to be built without the use of either wonderfully complicated or gigantic machinery. According to Mr. Watkins' theory, an inclined plane sloping gradually from the pyramid was built by banking the earth against each successive tier of the pyramid. Up this plane those huge stone blocks were propelled, and the only aids needed were levers for prying, and wooden rollers. Later, the earth was carried away and the ground leveled as it was before.

This view is certainly a very sensible one, and while at first Mr. Watkins' idea was treated somewhat as was Columbus' theory that the earth was round, now scientists are thinking more and more favorably of it, and agree that it is possible, and more than probable, inasmuch as nothing ever has been found to prove absolutely the existence of those wonderful machines that would have been necessary had all those great blocks of stone been hoisted from the base, higher and higher, as the pyramid grew larger and larger.—E. M. Sadler, in King's Treasuries.

RUINED APPETITES

The schools generally ruin the world's best literature for the majority of people.

They do this by compelling boys and girls to read the classics in prose and poetry before they have acquired an appetite for reading. Later, the remembrance of these books is so associated with drudgery that they are shunned.

That's one of the reasons why political economy became known as the "dismal science." The average college professor apparently seeks to make his subject dry and uninteresting, hoping thereby to discipline his students. For this reason most college boys leave college more ignorant of economics than the majority of street sweepers, and with minds far less receptive to further knowledge.

Thus the colleges, in many cases unwittingly, serve to increase rather than decrease ignorance.—Exchange.

Gen. Sherman once stopped at a country home where a tin basin and roller towel sufficed for the family's ablutions. For two mornings the small boy of the household watched in silence the visitor's toilet. When on the third day the tooth brush, nail file, whisk broom, etc., had been duly used, he asked: "Say, mister, air you always that much trouble to yourself?"

A water company in Imperial county accepted the proposition of Engineer Pedley of Riverside to raise the water level of the Colorado River three feet in fifteen days for $10,000, by means of a cable wire across the river.

FOR THE HOUSEHOLD

JERUSALEM ARTICHOKE

Wash and scrape one pound of Jerusalem artichokes, and throw each one in cold water containing a quarter cup of vinegar; when all are done, rinse in water and put into one pint of boiling milk, adding a cup of boiling water and a teaspoon of salt. Boil quickly with the lid off, piercing with a fork to tell when they are done. Lift into a hot dish and cover with a sauce made as follows: Blend two tablespoons of butter and two tablespoons of flour in a saucepan over the fire, add one and one-half cups of milk, salt and pepper to taste, and cook five minutes. Remove from the fire, add one yolk of egg beaten with two tablespoons of cream and two teaspoons of lemon juice, pour over the artichokes and sprinkle one teaspoon of chopped parsley on top.

HANDLING NEW POTATOES

When scraping new potatoes, put a handful of salt into the water and you will find they do not take so much scraping and will not discolor the hands. Also, to take the blackness away and render them white and floury, put a tablespoon of vinegar into the pan before straining them.

SUMMER SQUASH

Dice one medium-sized onion finely, and cook slowly until slightly browned in one tablespoon of butter. Pare and cut into small dice a summer squash, add to the onion, sprinkle with one teaspoon of salt and a quarter teaspoon of pepper, cover and cook slowly until the squash is tender—from 20 to 30 minutes.

GREEN PEAS A LA MAITRE D'HOTEL

Shell one quart of green peas and throw them into plenty of boiling water containing a teaspoon of salt, one teaspoon of sugar and two sprigs of mint. Boil fast until tender, then drain. Mix one tablespoon of lemon juice with three tablespoons of butter, and one tablespoon of chopped parsley; stir this among the peas, reheat them, and serve at once.

CHERRY OR BERRY PUDDING

Mix together one full cup of sugar and one of butter. Add to this one cup of milk, a pinch of salt, two well beaten eggs. Add three teaspoons of baking powder to a little flour. Stir into the mixture as much flour as is needed to make a stiff batter. To this add the fruit. Steam one and one-fourth hours. Serve with the juice of the fruit.

PINEAPPLE MOUSSE

Cook one cup of chopped pineapple in one cup of water for ten minutes, and strain. In one cup of the hot juice dissolve an envelope of plain gelatine, stir in one cup of sugar, and let cool. When it begins to jell, beat into it one cup of well-whipped cream. If fresh pineapple is not obtainable, the juice may be strained from a can of pineapple.

SUNNY POPOVERS

Two eggs well beaten, 3/4 cup milk stirred into egg, 1 cup sifted flour, added slowly, 1/2 cup cream, 1 teaspoon salt. Have pans sizzling hot and bake in quick oven for 35 minutes.

RUSSIAN SALAD

Cover 1/2 box of gelatine with 1/2 pint of cold water and soak for a half hour. Then add 1 pint of boiling water, the juice of 2 lemons, 1 teaspoon of salt, and a dash of red pepper. Stand aside to cool but do not let congeal. Now dip a pan in cold water, put on the bottom a layer of cold cooked peas, then some blocks of cold potato, a couple of chopped hard boiled eggs, then a layer of cold ham or any other meat, and a few chopped nuts. Sprinkle this with salt, pepper and capers; on top put a layer of peas and enough sardines to cover. Pour the cold jelly over the layers and set on ice overnight. Serve with mayonnaise.

PEACHES IN BLOOM

Cover four good-sized perfect peaches with boiling water, let stand a moment, drain and remove the skins, which will now easily slip off. Carefully cut in half, remove the stones, and fill the cavity so made with chopped almonds. Pin the halves together with toothpicks. Sift three-quarters of a cup of powdered sugar, cream well with three tablespoons of butter, then add three tablespoons of cream, a few drops at a time. Add enough pink vegetable color paste to give a delicate color to the frosting. Roll the stuffed peaches in this frosting, then in grated coconut. Chill and serve in a nest of whipped cream.

NEW JERSEY GINGERBREAD

Mix together 1 cup of brown sugar and 1 cup of white sugar, place on the stove. As it warms, add 1/2 cup of butter and 1/2 cup of lard. Then add 2 1/2 cups of flour sifted with 1/2 cup of cornstarch, 1 tablespoon of ground ginger, 1 teaspoon of ground cloves, and 1 teaspoon of soda. Lastly, put in 1 cup of sour milk. Beat well and bake in a moderate oven. Molasses may be used instead of white syrup, if preferred.

RICE RAREBIT

Melt one tablespoon of butter, add one tablespoon of flour, a half teaspoon of salt, one teaspoon of mustard, and a quarter teaspoon of paprika, and, when well blended, add slowly one cup of milk. Cook, stirring constantly until creamy; then add a half cup of cheese cut in small pieces. When melted, add a half cup of cooked rice. Heat thoroughly and serve on hot buttered toast or wafers.

FORESTRY IN SCOTLAND

The deputation from the Royal Scottish Agricultural Society which waited on Scottish members of the House of Commons, recently, to urge the creation of a separate department of forestry in connection with the board of agriculture for Scotland, brought out several points of first importance. The realization of the great value of forestry is a comparatively modern development in most countries; but it is only within the last few years that any just appreciation of the importance of the matter has obtained in the United Kingdom.

The deputation already referred to recognized the opportunity which will be afforded by the disbandment of the army for securing labor sufficient to carry out afforestation schemes on a liberal scale. It consequently urged that a wide and comprehensive scheme would be devised now, such as could be put into operation as soon as the war is over.

The fact is, of course, as indeed was pointed out by one of the members of the deputation, afforestation does not appeal very forcibly to public sentiment. It is an activity in which returns are necessarily long delayed; whilst as a means of combating the rapid advance in the price of wood at the present time, it is admitted to be of no immediate value. The value of the afforestation scheme on a large scale, makes a call for its appreciation on the view of the statesman rather than on that of the business man looking for immediate results. Today, however, when the great question of securing employment for the multitude of discharged soldiers which will fill the labor market at the end of the war is being very generally discussed, the value of such schemes makes a practical and immediate appeal to many. Afforestation is, in fact, as Lord Lovat, one of the spokesmen of the deputation, maintained, one of the cheapest ways of settling people on the land, at any rate in the Highlands. It would be possible to put one man on the land for every 100 acres planted, and later one man to every twenty-five or fifty acres. He thought, moreover, there were certainly not less than 2,000,000 acres, in the Highlands alone, suitable for forestry. Every man settled in these Highland glens in connection with afforestation would be a definite addition to the population and would displace no one.

The question is certainly one of great and far-reaching interest. It will, no doubt, receive due consideration from the authorities, not only for its immediate value as a means of employment, but as a national enterprise, the value of which it would be difficult to exaggerate.

GROWING UP IN THE FAITH

St. Columba was born in Ireland in 521 and was of princely blood on both sides of the house. Unlike St. Augustine and others, there was no prelude of dissipation to his Christian life, but he seems to have grown up in the faith as St. Timothy did. But Columba's greatest work was to be performed outside his own country. In Britain, the kingdom of the northern Picts was still pagan, and he resolved to devote his life to the conversion of these people. With twelve followers he left for northern Britain, and from his kinsman Conrad, king of the Scots, he was granted the island of Iona. Here he built a monastery and a church, and then seeking the pagan king of the Picts, he preached the gospel to him and his people. The king and some of his leading subjects accepted the message and received baptism.

We find in this country alone a million and a half people dying every year. This is an enormous yearly loss from our population of only one hundred millions.

"And not only is the death-rate enormous, but insanity has greatly increased, in fifty years to the extent of three hundred per cent. Intellectual activity is the highest manifestation we have of human life. When we find the brain failing in man, it is evidence that the whole body is failing."—Horace Mann.

Dr. Louis L. Dublin, Statistician of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, says: "He finds that recent mortality figures show that the expectation of life at the higher ages has been lessened over a wide area of the country during the last three decades."

Dr. Max G. Schlapp, Prof. of Neuro-pathology in the Cornell University Medical School in the New York Post-Graduate Hospital, in the New York American for March 30 recognizes the fact that "the human race is breaking down." I quote the following from his article:

"The birth rate of every country in the world has been declining for twenty-five years or more.

"Now everywhere there are more insane people and criminals than ever before. Their increase has been appalling in the last decade. Crime is only a manifestation of insanity or feeble-mindedness, which is the same thing in a different form.

"Never before in this world has so much hard liquor been consumed as now, never before has the drinking of heavy alcoholic liquors been so universal. The extent of the drug habit—morphine and opium, cocaine and such things—is astonishing.

"Insanity and crime grow together. When you find your insane asylums filling you find your jails filling, because these twin evils have a common origin." He sums up as follows:

"What does it matter? Well, of 55,000,000 babies born into the world annually 15,000,000 of them die before they are a year old. What figures of decimation by war, earthquake, pestilence, flood, or famine can compare to this slaughter?"

"I would not appeal to mankind on religious or humanitarian grounds, for mankind has been deaf from the beginning to the call of either. But I would appeal to man's selfish instincts, for his own preservation and the protection of his home and, through that, for the future of his children and their children, in order that the race of men may not perish from the earth."

Footing the Bill

It is said that Francis Bird, in making a call upon Dr. Howe, found him with his feet swathed in flannels.

"What is the matter?" asked Mr. Bird.

"Gout," was the answer.
"Gout? What caused it?"
"Whiskey."

"I thought you never drank any intoxicating liquors."

"I don't, but my ancestors did, and I am footing the bill."

CONCERNING LONGEVITY OF TEACHERS

A school teacher who had been telling a class of small pupils the story of the discovery of America by Columbus ended it with:

"And all this happened more than 400 years ago."

A little boy, his eyes wide open with wonder, said, after a moment's thought: "My, what a memory you've got!"

BRIEF

An English professor traveling through the hills noted various quaint expressions. For instance, after a long ride, the professor sought provisions at a mountain hut.

"What d'you-all want?" called out a woman.

"Madam," said the professor, "can we get cornbread here? We'd like to buy some of you."

"Cornbread? Cornbread, did you say?" Then she chuckled to herself and her manner grew amiable.
"Why, if cornbread's all you want, come right in, for that's just what I hain't got nothing else on hand but."

NEW BLANKET MILL FOR CALIFORNIA

California will have a full-fledged mill for making woolen blankets within the next four weeks. Oregon capitalists, learning of the dearth of woolen blankets caused by the closing up of many European mills and the growing demand for blankets by the armies of both the United States and Europe, have purchased the $100,000 woolen mill building and plant at Marysville, which has been closed up for some seventeen years, and are bringing some twenty expert woolen blanket operatives and their families to the State, determined to start a new California industry which shall successfully bid for the trade of the world.

Executive Secretary Charles R. Thorburn of the Home Industry League of California, states that the famous Bishop Brothers are behind the new company, which is to be known as The Marysville Woolen Mills Company, Inc., and that after their blanket department is successfully started, the manufacture of fabric for woolen clothing will also be entered upon, on a large scale, by the newly reopened mills.

"Recent investigations of government experts prove that there exists below the Mission district of San Francisco and below the city of Marysville subterranean lakes of water containing chemical ingredients that are ideal in the manufacture of wool," says the secretary of the Home Industry League, "and it will be a matter of but a very short while when California woolen cloth and woolen blankets will be the talk of the world. Various capitalists are now investigating the conditions with a view of going in 'big' and planning advertising campaigns of international dimensions."

HOBBSON'S CHOICE

The following letter pertains to an account from a party who was in the hardware business with a stock of between $6000 and $7000, and rated as worth $6000 with the mercantile agencies. All he had in the world, however, was in this store, yet he did not have the sense to carry fire insurance. The fire came and now he has nothing with which to pay his bills. An inventory of all that he has he gives in the letter. He says:

"You wrote me a few days ago for a statement of my finances. The fire of the 15th took all my stock of goods and I had no insurance. I am owing about $1400 and my book accounts will not pay 10 cents on the $1. I have one suit of clothes, two old hats, two pairs of old shoes, and one overcoat I have had for five years, and the laws of State says that I must wear clothes or stay in the house. Now if you can't wait for me to work and earn this bill, and I must pay for my living first, I will pay you 20 cents on the $1 as soon as I can raise 10 cents of it and square this bill for good and all. Please let me hear from you in regard to whether you care to take 20 cents of the bill or wait on me."

DARN THE DAWG-GONE LUCK!

"Willie!" called his mother. "Come here this instant! How many times do you want me to call you?"

"Why, ma," said Willie, "where did you ever get the idea that I wanted you to call me at all?"
