Making Room For Hosea.

Dr. Edward Everett Hale was a foe to long sermons. He used to tell a story of a long winded preacher and the minor prophets.

"This preacher," so Dr. Hale would begin, "once preached over an hour on the four greater prophets, and then, when his exhausted congregation thought he was through, he took a long breath, turned a fresh page and, leaning over the pulpit, said:

"We now come to the more complex question of the minor prophets. First let us assign to them their proper order. Where, brethren, shall we place Hosea?"

"An irascible old gentleman in a back pew rose, took his hat and stick and said as he departed:

"Place him here if you want to, I'm going."

CAIRO, NOV. 11.—MAY MEAN STATE PROHIBITION FOR ILLINOIS.

The triumph of anarchy at Cairo, Ill., Friday night may mean state prohibition for Illinois within five years.

Ten startling facts stand out with regard to the riot and lynching outrage at Cairo.

The mob of 10,000 men and women was provoked to violence chiefly, it is said, through the unpunished lawlessness and disorder which have been permitted to run rampant for years in this metropolis of southern Illinois. The failure of justice in the hands of weak and corrupt officials had long been stirring indignation among the people.

At the bottom of Cairo's lawlessness was the saloon politician, the brewer and the forces of evil always allied with the liquor traffic in municipal politics.

Almost within a twelvemonth State Chairman Alton E. Wilson of the Illinois Prohibition committee was prevented from speaking at a regularly advertised meeting in the interests of the temperance cause in one of the principal churches of Cairo. Only a short time before another well known prohibition leader, the black knight, John H. Hector, was assaulted in the midst of a perfectly orderly meeting on behalf of law and order.

In April, 1908, at the local prohibition election held in Cairo, the grossest ballot box frauds were perpetrated, and the no license forces, it is openly charged, were robbed of hundreds of favorable votes. For years Cairo has been "wide open" in the worst possible sense of the word.

The mob which disgraced the city of Cairo and the state of Illinois was also fired with alcoholic poison.

How extraordinarily apropos are these words, uttered by Judge Butler, at the close of a murder trial in this very city of Cairo:

"The case at bar is the seventy-sixth murder case I have tried, either as state attorney or as judge, during the past nineteen years. I have kept a careful record of each case, and I have to say that in seventy-five of the seventy-six liquor was the exciting cause."

And perhaps the saddest item in the whole outrage is the fact that Anna Pellay, the victim of the drink craze but murdered by the mob, was well known in her home city as an earnest and consecrated Christian, an active worker in the temperance cause, a prominent member of the W. C. T. U. and the holder of a series of oratorical awards, including a diamond medal in the White Ribbon series of public contests.

And yet the only reference made by the daily press at large to this series of underlying facts regarding this awful tragedy was the item that the saloons were closed for a few hours following the riot.

If ever there was need of a new succession of Old Testament prophets, with all their soul stirring, devil defying eloquence, there is today.

With such a tax, which in a flash of public passion but reveals the potential anarchy even now ready to burst forth in a thousand cities of the nation, every prohibition comrade in the land, from commander in the ranks, should feel the personal call to the firing line until the people are roused to definite, organized and permanent advance upon legalized lawlessness.

IF CHINA CAN DO IT, WHY NOT UNCLE SAM?

The Chicago Tribune, Nov. 14, in a special signed dispatch from Pekin makes some startling suggestions on the question of national prohibition. The dispatch may set many to thinking seriously on a subject not long since held in scorn and ridicule by press and big politician alike. Some of the striking paragraphs of the article, which is copyrighted, are as follows:

"Suppose that President Taft and our national congress should send out an edict tomorrow that every man and woman in the employ of the government must give up the drinking of liquor or be dismissed from office and that no new appointment should be made to any one who would not sign the pledge.

"Let this edict relate not only to Washington, but to every postoffice and custom house, and let its effect be so extended as to include every state official, even to the county clerks, sheriffs and their subordinate employees.

"Let another edict provide that all must show government permits before a glass of whisky, wine or other liquor will be sold to them, and so that every saloon keeper be subject to fine and imprisonment if he breaks this law. Let the edict summarily shut nine-tenths of the saloons and provide for the absolute destruction of all within the course of ten years.

"Let there be laws forbidding the distilling of liquors and their importation, and, in short, the inauguration of a scheme of government restrictions which would entirely wipe out the manufacture, selling and drinking of anything intoxicating within the space of ten years.

"It would be a good, big contract, would it not?"

"Well, that is just what China is trying to do as to blotting opium and the opium traffic from the face of her country."

And the Tribune dispatch goes on to tell how China is successfully achieving what she has set out to do.

Sentiment is now for the total and final banishment of all intoxicating drinks. The people wish the traffic dead. Our need is not more wishbone. I am not clear that we so much need more backbone. We need femur and phalanges—the working elements of our anatomy—far more, I reckon. Patriotism is not that love of country that sits in dreaming adoration. It is love with red blood in its veins and with a heart that dares and daunts that do.—W. G. Calderwood.

FIRST CASE IN COURT.

Case of the People vs. Robert Lane Came Up Before Judge Farley Tuesday.

At last our Justice Court has had something to do, and something to think about. Late Sunday night the Judge was aroused to swear out a warrant against Robert Lane by his wife, Clara Lane. She accused him of battery. So the Judge got her statement under oath, and early Monday morning swore out a warrant against said Robert Lane. Constable Sharp went to serve the warrant and lo, the said Robert Lane had "beat it to parts unknown." Sharp immediately got out his Sherlock Holmes outfit, and finally located the said Lane in Los Gatos, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. A. M. Taylor, whither he had gone to escape the wrath of the terrible Mrs. Lane. He was brought to town and arraigned Monday noon, and the trial was set for Tuesday morning at 11:30.

The trouble arose out of an disagreement, a purely personal affair to be sure, merely a fight between Lane and his wife. Lane said his wife was crazy at times and he had to give her a beating every once in a while to protect his own life. All this took place Saturday night, the 8th of January. Robert Lane said he would do anything the Judge wanted him to. He said that the Judge could hang him if he wanted to. (Obliging, isn't he?)

Well, the trial came off and pretty near everybody was there, including half a dozen dogs which started an opposition fight out in the street. The testi—we nearly forgot to say that Miss May Farley was court stenographer, yes, sir. Nothin' slow about Judge Farley's court is there? Well, the testimony was given and Mrs. Taylor said that if a Judge would let Mr. Lane out this time she would take him with her and make him a home at her house. Mr. Lane said he wouldn't stay with Mrs. Lane another minute and was going to pack up his duds and go while shoe leather was cheap.

no Cook and Berry have one. The original one was put up by Earl Cook and Berry, who are now going to put up a wireless telephone. All five have formed a "Wireless Club," which will not go into politics as their name indicates.

GROWERS WILL ORGANIZE TO PROTECT FRUIT INDUSTRY

Meeting Called in Sacramento to Form
Association of Deciduous Interests.

Sacramento.—A call has been issued for a mass meeting of deciduous fruit growers of California to be held in this city on Friday, January 28th, at which time the committee of ten, appointed at the recent State convention at Watsonville will submit its plans for the formation of a deciduous fruit league which will be a permanent organization similar to the citrus fruit men's association, which attends to all matters pertaining to the general interests of the industry, such as railroad rates, standardization of fruit packs and successful growing, packing and shipping.

Growers, shippers and packers are urged in the call to make every effort to attend, because the gathering promises to be one of the most important to the interests of deciduous fruit growers and handlers ever held in California.

Saloonkeeper Convicted.

Redwood City.—Barney Burke, one of the 14 liquor dealers of Menlo Park, charged with violating the State law prohibiting the sale of spirits within one and a half miles of Stanford University, was convicted by Justice of the Peace James Hannon and was sentenced to 48 hours in the county jail. The constitutionality of the law will be tested in the higher courts.

Floods Put Railroad Out of Commission.

San Francisco.—Literally put out of business by the disastrous floods in Rainbow canyon, which have swept away miles of its track and many costly bridges, the San Pedro, Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railroad issued a sweeping order suspending hundreds of employees. It may be a couple of months before the road can resume business.

Dredgemen Demand Higher Pay.

Chicago.—Steam shovel and dredge men have joined in the chorus for increased wages from the railroads. The latest demand is for men engaged in steam shovel and dredge work in all parts of the United States, Canada and the Panama canal zone. The minimum scale of the dredgemen is $125 a month. They want $150 a month.

May Be Fined for Trimming Trees.

Fire Destroys Old People's Home.

Chicago.—The new building of the Norwegian old people's home, which was to be occupied January 15, was practically destroyed by fire recently. The loss is estimated at $65,000. It was thought the fire might spread to the old building, immediately adjoining, and the 63 aged inmates were taken to places of safety.

High Price for Pork.

Chicago.—Pork is more expensive in Chicago than at any time since the Civil War, when prices were almost prohibitive, with the exception of 1882. The market reports show that the hog supply is 40 per cent less than in any corresponding period since the war. Last week hogs sold at $8.50 to $8.75.

St. Petersburg.—The admiralty is planning to send a group of officers to America to study battleship construction. The battleships of the American navy are considered here to be representative of the most advanced types in the world.

What the Nation's Lawmakers Are Doing at Washington

Washington.—With the Democrats fighting every inch of the way, the Mann bill providing for the administration of the Panama canal zone and centralizing the government thereof in the President of the United States passed the house by a vote of 119 to 102. The vote was along strict party lines. Representative Mann, author of the bill, claimed that precedent for delegation of such power in the Executive was found in similar action by Democratic Congresses at the time of the Louisiana purchase and again when Florida was ceded to the United States by Spain. Defending his party, Representative Harrison of New York said that disturbed conditions made such action necessary, but that despotic government in these territories was continued no longer than was necessary to establish local government. The bill, as it goes to the Senate, authorizes the President to complete the Panama canal and to appoint a director-general of the canal zone—thus doing away with the Canal Commission. It invests the judicial power of the zone in one Circuit Court and such inferior courts as the President may constitute, and allows appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States in civil cases involving $5000 or more, and in criminal cases punishable by death or life imprisonment. Trial by jury is granted in all prosecutions for felony.

A Congressional investigation of the General Land Office and the Forest Service of the Government growing out of the so-called Pinchot-Ballinger controversy is provided for in a joint resolution which was passed by the two houses of Congress.

Representative Humphrey of Washington introduced in the house a bill providing for a ship subsidy by the United States government. The measure is understood to have the approval of President Taft and the administration and to be the one upon which proponents of ship subsidy will concentrate their efforts. The Humphrey bill provides an increase in pay to American ships for carrying the mails to South America, China, Japan, the Philippines and Australasia, bringing it up to $4 per mile for an outward voyage of 4,000 miles or more. An increased tonnage tax on the transoceanic trade is provided, and it is proposed to admit foreign built ships to American register for the foreign trade.

The increased cost of living was the subject of a concurrent resolution offered in the house by Representative Hull of Tennessee. It provides for a joint committee of seven members of the house and five members of the Senate to investigate conditions and report remedies.

Representative Kahn introduced a bill providing for the adjudication of the claims of the late John C. Fremont heirs and others for confiscation by the military forces in early days of several acres now embraced in the Fort Mason Reservation.

A letting down of the bars in favor of fermented malt or fruit beverages at army post exchanges and on army transports, but permitting "no distilled or ardent spirits to be sold," is provided by a bill introduced in the house by Representative Parker, chairman of the judiciary committee. The measure provides that the favored beverages may be sold, under proper regulations, by enlisted men or other authorized persons.

Washington.—President Taft's special message dealing with amendments to the interstate commerce laws, looking to a more effective Federal supervision of railroads and conveying his recommendations for the passage of a Federal incorporation act, was transmitted to Congress last week.

The President urges Congress to amend the Interstate Commerce Act so as to provide:

1. The establishment of a United States Court of Commerce of five judges to hear and determine appeals from the Interstate Commerce Commission, the only appeal from this court lying in the United States Supreme Court.

2. That the Interstate Commerce Commission be empowered to hold up new rates or classification until an inquiry can be made as to their reasonableness. If found to be unreasonable, the Commission may forbid the increase.

3. That pooling in rates be permitted under supervision of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

4. That no railroad shall be permitted to acquire any stock or interest in a competing line.

5. That stocks must be issued only for actual needs and sold for not less than par, the Interstate Commerce Commission to supervise all stock and bond issues.

The President recommends radical changes in the present anti-trust law. He urges:

1. That all corporations doing an interstate commerce business be required to take out a federal charter.

2. That corporations acting under federal charter be prohibited from acquiring stock in other corporations except on approval of proper federal authorities.

3. That such corporations be forbidden to issue stocks and bonds in excess of the amount of cash paid in on the stock, or, if stock be issued for property, then at a fair valuation.

4. That federal corporations shall be required to make full reports to the Department of Commerce at regular intervals.

5. That nothing in the federal charters be construed as exempting corporations from prosecution for violations of its anti-trust law.

Washington.—Gifford Pinchot, Chief Forester and intimate friend of Theodore Roosevelt, was dismissed from the service of the United States by President Taft for insubordination.

Associate Forester Overton W. Price and Assistant Law Officer Alexander C. Shaw, Pinchot's immediate assistants in the Forestry Bureau, followed their chief out of the Government's employ.

Thoroughly indignant over the action of Pinchot in inducing Senator Dolliver to read a letter from him in the Senate, President Taft would listen to no advice that the forester's violation of executive orders be overlooked pending the inquiry by Congress. He declared the dignity of the Presidential office was being attacked and he would be unfaithful to his trust if he submitted longer.

Taft undoubtedly realizes fully what the dismissal of Forester Pinchot means in a political way. He has been convinced for some time that the so-called "insurgents" and other critics of his administration had enlisted the services of Pinchot and practically were defying him to dismiss Pinchot from office. The latter's letter to Senator Dolliver, few doubt here, was written with the direct purpose of "putting it square up to the President."

Celery Growers of San Joaquin Making Good Profit

Stockton.—Celery, which has heretofore been almost an exclusive product of Southern California, is becoming one of the large crops grown on the delta land west of Stockton. It is estimated that the crop here this year will give the growers over $400,000, and good profits will result. About 2500 acres have been planted to the vegetable and shipments in carload lots are being made daily. Each car brings about $250.

The celery industry has just begun, as the first planting was only two years ago and about thirty carloads were shipped last season. It is understood several large tracts will be utilized for celery the coming year.

There is a keen rivalry between two large shipping firms of Los Angeles, both of which have established offices here and are buying all of the vegetable on the market at stiff prices. The growers say that the heavy frost nipped some of the outer leaves, but did not do much damage to the stalks.

Bloody Record of United Railroads.

San Francisco.—Eight persons killed and 327 injured was the record of the United Railroads for the three months of July, August and September last, according to the company's report filed last week with the Board of Supervisors by General Manager Charles N. Black of the road.

Are After Sugar Trust Crafters.

Washington.—Following the discovery of underweighing of sugar at the port of New York, inquiries are to be made at other ports where sugar is brought in. Large quantities of sugar come into the United States at San Francisco and at Boston and smaller amounts at other ports.

MILLIONS SENT TO FOREIGN COUNTRIES EVERY YEAR

Distrusting American Banks Aliens Send Their Savings "Back Home."

Washington.—Immigrants' lack of confidence in the security of private financial institutions of the United States is officially declared to be probably responsible for the flood of millions of dollars which flows by postal money order from the United States to foreign countries each year. Auditor Chance of the Postoffice Department points to this condition as an indication of what might be accomplished through the establishment of postal savings banks.

The total of $640,640,817, representing the surplus earnings of foreign laborers employed in the United States, has been sent abroad since 1890, and $76,622,629 was sent abroad by foreign workmen in 1909.

Postal officials declare that in transferring their money to foreign countries, foreigners prefer money orders to checks and drafts on banks.

Sleigh Riding to Lake Tahoe.

Truckee.—Sleighing is good between here and Lake Tahoe, owing to the continued cold weather, and a good road has been broken through the deep snow for the entire distance, enabling sleighing parties to enjoy the grandeur of the mountains in the dead of winter. Rarely does the deep snow between here and Tahoe get in condition for safe sleighing.

Itinerant Saloons Knocked Out.

Los Angeles.—By reason of a decision of the Supreme Court 25 or 30 saloons along the line of the Los Angeles aqueduct in Los Angeles and Kern counties will be forced to close their doors. A recent act prohibits the sale of liquor within four miles of a camp or assembly of men numbering 25 or more engaged upon public or quasi-public work.

"White Slave" Dealers Take Fright.

New York.—Alarmed by the activity of the special Grand Jury, headed by John D. Rockefeller Jr., to investigate the so-called white slave traffic, many persons believed to have been engaged in that business have fled from the city, taking refuge in Philadelphia, Chicago, Pittsburg, Boston and elsewhere. Their identity is known.

Auto Used to Deliver Mail.

Burbank.—The automobile has made its appearance in Southern California as an adjunct of the rural mail delivery service. Mrs. T. F. Beal, rural carrier No. 2 of the Burbank district, has purchased a 1910 machine and is serving patrons on her twenty-five mile route in one-third the time taken heretofore with horse and wagon.

Arrested for Making Threats.

Washington.—The Capitol police arrested Albert Ringer of Two Rivers, Wis., when he was attempting to see Vice-President Sherman at his office. Ringer has been in Washington for over a year, seeking to obtain imagined "rights" through Senator La Follette and the Vice-President, and has made threats against both.

Cost $16,000 to Restore Sanity.

Terre Haute, Ind.—John Sudbrink, who has been insane since he was injured two years ago when working as a brakeman on the Big Four, has been restored to sanity by an operation on his skull, only to be told that $16,000 damages, obtained from the company for him, has been expended in medical treatment.

Two Years in Prison for One Drink.

Los Angeles.—One drink of whisky earned a two years' term in Folsom prison for Arthur Curzon. Curzon was convicted recently of the theft of a watch while intoxicated, and was released on parole on condition that he forswear liquor for a term of years. He violated his parole by taking a drink.

"Little Tim" Died Poor.

New York.—While it was generally thought that the late "Little Tim" Sullivan, Tammany Aldermanic leader, had died a millionaire, it is now understood that he left practically nothing. Only $2,000 on deposit in a bank is all the cash said to be available for his widow and son.

San Francisco.—Alden Anderson, Bank Commissioner, who took charge of the Kimmon Ginko Bank on the 1st of July, finds that the affairs of the institution, which was managed entirely by Japanese, are in such bad condition that recourse will have to be had to the stockholders liability act to protect the creditors. It appears that the sum of $355,885 will have to be raised if all the debts are to be paid.

Denver.—Hydrophobia has broken out among the animals at City Park Zoo in Denver and as a result four wolves already have been killed, and many others are considered in danger, while a grizzly bear and two cinnamon bears also are threatened.

Chicago.—John Maynard Harlan, who assisted Federal Judge Grosscup to straighten out the tangled affairs of the defunct Chicago Union Traction Company, places his service at a valuation of $272,000. Of this amount he already has received $72,000, which he drew in monthly installments of $2000, and now he has filed with the court a final bill for $200,000. Mr. Harlan was appointed by Judge Grosscup as special counsel for the court in the traction litigation in December, 1905. He acted in this capacity for practically three years.

THE FUNNY SIDE OUT.

Old People Enjoyed a Joke in Spite of Their Advanced Years.
"Here's a little joke for us, father," said old Mrs. Parmelee, with a twinkle, as she laid down the magnifying glass she used for reading, and spoke very distinctly to her husband. "A man told his wife that he was sure he didn't know what an octogenarian might be, but whatever it was, there wouldn't be many of 'em left at this rate; he kept seeing in the paper every day or so that one of them had died off."
Grandfather Parmelee refused to smile.

"The fact that I am eighty-two years old is no joking matter to me," he remarked, solemnly.
"Well, I'm eighty, too," she told him with a smile of satisfaction at her pun, "but I hope to go on turning things the funny side out if I live to be a hundred. You'd feel better if you'd try to do it, too, father."

A few days after this Grandfather Parmelee happened to be passing through the upper hall when the telephone bell rang; so he took down the receiver and answered. He had some difficulty in understanding the message, but finally got it, and humoring his eighty-two years, attempted to repeat it over the balustrade to his wife in the hall below, instead of going down stairs. It was necessary to pitch his voice high because Mrs. Parmelee's hearing, of late years, had been somewhat affected. As for his own, why, that was as good as ever, he was sure, although he had been occasionally annoyed of late by the fact that his wife and several of his friends had taken up a strange habit of "mumbling their words."

"The grocer's clerk is on the wire," he called. "He wants to know if you'd like to add some fresh beets to your order."

"I have ordered," Mrs. Parmelee answered.
Mr. Parmelee came down one step. "You—nave't—ordered—fresh beets!" he articulated sharply.

Mrs. Parmelee went up a step. "Certainly, I ordered meat."
"But not—these—fresh—beets," he persisted, coming down a little farther. "I always—get—the—best—meat!"

—mounting two steps toward him. "But they say these have come in—since—you—ordered."

"It was not—fish—I—ordered."
The two met on the half-way landing. "Such works!" cried Mrs. Parmelee, good-naturedly. "Two deaf people trying to make each other hear!"

"Deaf people!" her husband echoed, testily. "I've heard every word you said."

"What did I say?"
"That you'd ordered fresh beets."
"Best meat, you mean!"
"Oh!" he answered, blankly. Then the humor of the situation conquered his dignity; his quizzical grin was contagious, and the two old people laughed together like care-free children.

Octopus Laws Don't Worry.
New York now has an octopus, not the kind represented by a great industrial combination, such as has been pictured by cartoonists, but a real, live sea monster, the New York Herald says. The specimen, which is said to be the only one in America, was captured in Bermudan waters and arrived here a few days ago. It was placed on exhibition yesterday in the New York aquarium and attracted much attention.
For years, Charles H. Townsend, director of the aquarium, has made every effort to obtain a specimen of the octopus, but has found difficulty in devising a way of caring for the animal during transit to this city. The rare creature of the sea was captured by natives of the coast of Bermuda, through the use of a large crate, which was baited and dropped into the ocean off the coral reefs.
L. W. Mowbray, director of the Bermuda Natural History Society aquarium, acted for the valuable specimen, which is said to be the most perfect one ever held in captivity. A large tug, specially devised for the purpose, was used to bring it from Bermuda to New York and during the forty-eight-hour trip a seaman was kept busy pumping water into the tank. Mr. Townsend had a glass cage ready to receive the octopus upon its arrival here.

Origin of Surnames.
Surnames were introduced into England by the Normans and were adopted by the nobility about 1100. The old Normans used Fitz, which signifies son, as Fitzherbert. The Irish used O for grandson—O'Neal, O'Donnell. The Scottish Highlander used Mac, as Macdonald, son of Donald. The Welsh used Ap, as Ap Rhys, the son of Rhys. Ap Richard. The prefix Ap eventually was combined with the name of the father; hence Prys, Pritchard, etc. The northern nations added the word son to the father name, as Williamson. Many of the most common surnames, such as Johnson, Wilson, Dyson, Nicholson, etc., were taken by Brabanters and others, Flemings, who were naturalized in the reign of Henry VI., 1435.

TRIALS IN PORTO RICO.

High Salary Does Not Compensate for Discomforts in Tropics.
"When I went to Porto Rico seven years ago to accept a job that paid me $3,500 a year I was as buoyant and joyous a young man as could be imagined," said Pull J. Brampton of Ponce, P. R., at the Stafford Hotel, according to the Baltimore American.

"I not only felt happy because of receiving a salary much in excess of what I had been getting as a bank clerk in New York, but because I was taking with me a very lovely young bride, to whom the newly opened vista of life in that balmy southern isle looked just as enticing as it did to me. Well, we did enjoy it for a while, but it did not take many weeks for us to get disillusioned, and I am here now to tell you in the utmost sincerity that the happiness I felt in going down there would be as nothing to the feeling of serenity and peace that would be mine if I could come back to the United States to stay with my old $1,500 per annum in the bank."

"As I am an honest man, I'd quit that dago land forever within two weeks and cheerfully surrender the $3,500 position if some one would only guarantee me my former connection, or something as good.

"Mind you, I have no special grudge and have made no enemies. My discontent (which my wife shares equally) is because of a hundred things. A white man is always out of place in such alien and far-southern communities. He will never have anything in common with the natives. They do not look at things from our Anglo-Saxon viewpoint, and in a million years there could be no congeniality, no real good fellowship. The climate of Porto Rico is certainly superb, even if a trifle enervating, but there are myriads of insects and vermin to make life unbearable. Fleas and bugs of every kind abound, and there is no way to escape them.

"A still greater cross is the impossibility of getting anything fit to eat. A satisfactory piece of meat is not to be procured for love or money. People who have been used to good food as we have it in New York and Baltimore want something else besides fruits and garlic-scented victuals. I could mention many other drawbacks, but why rake over the disagreeable details? Maybe I've said enough to warn some young man or woman who might be tempted to go down there, impelled by the romance of existence in the tropics and the glamor of southern seas. They'd soon get sick of it. The good old United States looks like heaven to me now, and I'll never rest till I get back to remain."

Quite a Model Young Man.
"Didn't that hurt you, sir?" The clerical-looking gentleman in the rear seat of the trolley car turned inquiringly to the nicely dressed and clean-cut young man who sat beside him as that individual winced slightly, for his foot had just been stepped on by a portly man who was leaving the car. "Yes, sir, it hurt very much," he said simply.

"I thought so," said the clerical man. Allow me to congratulate you on your control. I observed with pleasure, sir, that no oath sprang to your lips. Great pleasure to meet a young man like you. Have a cigar?"
"Thank you, I don't smoke," said the young man.
"Splendid!" exclaimed the clerical interrogator. "I smoke myself," he said, "because I lead a sedentary life. But I glory in a young man who doesn't. May I inquire, sir, if you know the taste of liquor?"

"No, sir, never touched a drop."
His new friend clasped him by the hand. There were tears in his eyes. "Remarkable!" he exclaimed. "In these unregenerate days it is indeed soul-satisfying to gaze upon such a model. May I ask, my dear friend, what high motive impels you to abstain from these influences that are sapping the life blood from the nation?"

The young man smiled.
"Certainly," he replied. "The fact is, sir, I find that I can't dissipate and deal faro bank at the same time."

A Joke of Mark Twain's.
Probably few people are aware that the theatrical godfather of that famous actor, William Gillette, was Mark Twain, who was a fellow townsman and a friend of his father. Mark Twain, in referring to the matter, said that when he used his influence to get young Gillette on the stage he thought he was playing a great joke on the management, for he did not think Gillette had the slightest aptitude for acting. But it turned out to be no joke after all. "I don't know," said Mark Twain, "which I like better—having Gillette make a tremendous success or seeing one of my jokes go wrong."

Persistence of the Habit.

W. C. T. U.

"That was a very interesting meeting we had at Mrs. Merrit's last week" said one lady to another a few days since.

"Yes? What was the program that day?"

"We followed our printed program of course. It was a Mothers' Meeting and as nearly as I can remember the quotation was 'A mother's love works magic for humanity, but organized mother love works miracles.' After devotionals Mrs. Joy spoke entertainingly upon 'Influence of Books, a Power in Child Training'. Miss Alice Joy read a fine article upon 'The Influence of Work on Character.' Mrs. Stewart moved the hearts of those present, as she plead for 'A greater Courtesy in the home' and Mrs. Poor read a most excellent article upon 'Teaching Truthfulness.' General discussions followed all these papers which were most helpful, especially those suggestions for the evening hour. The closing motto being 'Keep the Home near Heaven, Let it face toward the Father's House.'"

"Well, I wish I had been there. The last one I attended was in December. I remember the keynote was 'The Joy of Life is Doing Good According to a Plan' and the subjects considered were Devotionals and business, were Peace and Arbitration and Parliamentary Usage and Quarterly Reports. I enjoyed it so well I thought I would not miss another."

"I have just been looking over the program for the next meeting. The motto is doubtless familiar to you 'Be strong. We are not here to play, to dream, to drift, we have hard work to do, and loads to lift. Shun not the struggle, face it; 'tis God's gift.' At the Roll Call we are to have 'Do's and Don't's' for the coming year."

"There is important business also to come before us. We meet with Mrs. Stewart on Central avenue. We have a good attendance—there were eighteen present the last time I believe, but there is always room for more."

"I hope you will not fail to come for you are always welcome. Bring a friend with you. Don't forget the date, Jan. 19 at Mrs. Stewart's."

Standard Oil Company Interested

Oil Octopus has Leased Land In the Campbell Oil Fields

The Standard Oil Company, according to a statement made by T. A. Piper, of the T. A. P. Oil Company, has leased five acres of the Main property south of town for the sum of $1200 for a 20 year lease and also a 10 per cent royalty. If this be true, then we can certainly feel sure that the oil is here and plenty of it. Whenever the Standard gets interested in a proposition there is something to it. During the past week derricks and engines have passed through town on their way to the fields and talk has been along that line on the streets. People are beginning to realize the great benefit this will be to the town and are waking up. As soon as the oil has actually been found the fever will start we presume, but until that people are lying low and not saying much.

The T. A. P. Oil Company have shipped carloads of material for boring to the fields and Monday morning saw the commencing of drilling operations.

Judge Farley, one of our enterprising citizens, has kindly interviewed officials of the T. A. P. Oil Company for the Press, regarding their operations in the Campbell Field and has found that there are to be 5 oil wells started in the field within the next 6 weeks. One is to be started on the old Main place, one on the Peter Litt place, and another somewhere east of Los Gatos in the foothills the exact location of which cannot be made public as yet. The lumber for construction on the derricks has not arrived yet as it has been delayed en route, but as soon as it comes, the wells will be started. Mr. Farley told the editor that he would see the officials every once in a while and tell us the accurate things which are going on in the oil fields. Would that there were many more like him.

An Apology

Ever since the present owner of the Press has run the paper he has endeavored to get it out Friday morning in time for the rural service. This week we have failed to do this and the paper will not be out until late this afternoon. The excuse we have to offer is sickness.

FIGHTING THE PLUM CURCULIO.
The chief enemy of the plum family is the curculio, one of a large family of beetles and weevils which makes a small, crescent shaped incision in the green plum when it is about as large as a pea and in this lays its egg. Here the little worm hatches and works toward the middle until maturity. Since the exterior wound makes the fruit defective, whether the worm survives or not, and the curculio does not in the process eat the flesh of the plum, the ordinary poison sprays, effective in the case of leaf eating worms and insects, are of little use. The method usually followed by plum raisers and one feasible for a few trees is to sew together sufficient white sheeting to equal the area of the fruit bearing portion of the tree, leaving a slit in it from one edge to the middle to allow for the trunk. This should be spread beneath the tree, and each morning during the period when the curculio is at work the trunk should be given repeated jarings, which dislodge the beetles and cause them to fall to the sheet below. Being sluggish in the cool of the morning, they may be gathered and doused in kerosene or burned. Where the number of trees to be treated is larger, time may be saved by fastening the sheet on a circular and broadly funnel shaped frame mounted on wheels, so fixed as to permit of opening and closing on one side to admit the trunk. With such a contrivance a large number of trees may be gone over in a comparatively short time.

GOVERNMENT WHITEWASH.

The whitewash which the government recommends for the interior of cow barns, is made according to the following recipe: Take half a bushel of unslaked lime, slake with boiling water and cover during the process to keep in steam. Strain through a fine sieve or strainer and add to it a peck of salt previously dissolved in warm water. Add three pounds of ground rice boiled to a thin paste, stirring in while hot. Add five gallons of hot water to the mixture, stir well and let stand for a few days, covered as nearly air tight as possible. When ready to use the wash may be colored by adding ochre, lampblack or bluing to suit.
