MORE LIBERAL VOTES

The Electors of Tolmie Avenue Hill Their Little School House Last Evening.

Mr. Wm. Templeman, Hon. Joseph Martin and Others Give Short Addresses.

Senator McInnes Gives Some Facts Regarding the Control of the School.

The Tolmie avenue school house was comfortably filled last evening by the electors in that part of the district, who had turned out to hear the issues of the campaign discussed by Mr. William Templeman, the opposition candidate, and his supporters. Mr. Russell was elected chairman.

Mr. Templeman was the first speaker. Referring to the Manitoba school question he said it had split up the Conservative party so badly that Mr. Clarke Wallace was forced to resign. Col. Prior was appointed to fill the position, and consequently the campaign hinged on the school question. The electors had either to endorse the Dominion government in coercing Manitoba into establishing separate schools or refuse to do so. He (Mr. Templeman) was distinctly opposed to any interference with Manitoba (applause). Manitoba must be left alone and she will settle the question.

If the provincial government find that the minority have a grievance they are generous enough to remedy it. The non-sectarian school system was, he considered, the proper system for this country. (Applause). He did not believe that the many other issues should be overshadowed by the appointment of Col. Prior to a minor position at Ottawa. All should vote against Col. Prior and assist in turning the government out. He said by the speech from the throne that the government intended to stick to their policy of coercing Manitoba. Several verdicts have been given in the east on this question recently, no less than four constituencies having declared against the government. Constituencies formerly held by government supporters had changed their views and elected members opposed to the government. Two of these constituencies were in farming districts and were populated by Protestants, and the other two were populated by Catholics, showing that both Catholics and Protestants were ready to follow the Liberal leader on this question.

This bye-election is more than usually interesting, for if Col. Prior is elected all the British Columbia members will feel justified in voting for the remedial bill. At Victoria West on Wednesday he had trodden on Mr. W. F. Bullen's corns, and during the day he had been served with a lawyer's letter threatening all kinds of actions. That was an old dodge as far as he was concerned. He had run across several snags like that, and it was true that it had cost him several thousand dollars to defend himself against them. When Mr. Bullen succeeded in getting him to retract or apologize for what he had said, it would be after the courts had said it must. (Applause). If you think, said Mr. Templeman in conclusion, that I would make a fairly good representative and you are in accord with my views on the school question, I ask you to give me your vote on Monday. (Great cheering.)

Dr. Milne felt sure that what Mr. Templeman had said would meet with the approval of those present, after it had been fully considered. Sir Herbert Tupper had stated in the plainest terms that the government intended to coerce Manitoba, yes and any province. They could not do this without striking at the root of confederation. Men who had supported the government on the tariff question for some years had to leave the party as they could not support such a high tariff as 35 per cent. The Liberals manifested that if there was to be reciprocity, it should be in manufactured articles as well as in farm produce. (Applause). The Conservative government had practically declined in favor of free trade in farm produce alone. Again referring to the school question, he said it was a question of provincial rights. We in British Columbia should guard keenly provincial rights. (Applause.)

Hon. Joseph Martin said in all the bye-elections in the east the Manitoba school question had been the issue fought out, and the people of Manitoba were very much pleased with the result. This was not a question on which Liberals and Conservatives should be divided. In Manitoba the Conservatives were just as eager to oppose the re-establishment of separate schools in the province as were the Liberals. We will find when Col. Prior goes to Ottawa, if he is elected, that he will say that the school question was the issue. He will point out on the floor of the house that the school question was the issue and the people of Victoria had sent him back to Ottawa to support the government in the coercion of Manitoba. If you defeat Col. Prior, the government will oppose any interference with provincial rights. There should be no doubt in the minds of either Liberal or Conservative as to how they shall vote. The Conservative party must be wrecked if they persist in coercing Manitoba, and consequently Conservatives will be joining their party a favor if they defeat the government and show them that the people oppose them on the question. He briefly went into the details of the question. It was a mere pretence to say that the government had been commanded by the Privy Council to take the course they were pursuing. This was all trash, and he did not believe any intelligent supporter of Col. Prior believed it. Mr. Templeman would oppose coercion no matter what side it came from, and he hoped Victorians would send him to Ottawa. (Long applause.)

Hon. Senator McInnes declared that Col. Prior could not be controller of inland revenue and a cabinet minister at the same time. He went into the law establishing the controllerships and the difference between a privy councillor and a cabinet minister. Being a privy councillor does not entitle a man to a seat around the council board where the policy of the government is framed. When it was said that Col. Prior was a cabinet minister it was said with the object of having Col. Prior elected by acclamation. Clarke Wallace, through a sense of duty and the pressure brought to bear upon him, threw off old rags which Col. Prior had agreed to don. British Columbia stood third among the contributors to the Dominion treasury. Nova Scotia contributing less than British Columbia, and Prince Edward Island, also contributing less, had at times three representatives. British Columbia would have been given cabinet representation in Hon. Alexander McKenzie's government had we not sent men to oppose him. Why had Col. Prior been given a position in the dying hours of a parliament and the dying hours of a government? The premier had had several opportunities to give British Columbia a full-fledged cabinet minister, but had not done so. Now he gave a minor position as his government was tottering to its fall. At present the position of secretary of state is vacant. Why do they not give that portfolio to Col. Prior or some other British Columbia member? Sir Mackenzie Bowell is grasping at straws, and the telegrams sent out by him were highly misleading. During the present campaign the Colonist had gone out of its usual course. They were contending that Col. Prior was a cabinet minister, when they must know better. The Colonist was using too many adjectives, showing that they were fighting a lost cause. If Dr. Bourinot could say so, he would immediately say that Col. Prior was a cabinet minister. This was quite sufficient to show that Col. Prior could not occupy the dual position of controller of inland revenue and cabinet minister. Referring to the school question, the Senator said if the government attempted to coerce Manitoba it would be the beginning of the end of confederation. The people of Victoria, he believed, would not elect a man pledged to support such a policy. (Applause). Senator McInnes detailed the many defeats of the government during 1895 amidst applause, and the meeting came to an end, the chairman having been tendered a vote of thanks.

THE MAIN ISSUE.

Col. Prior and his advocates object to the school question being made an issue in this campaign, which shows that they are afraid of the school question. They cannot prevent it being an issue; it has necessarily forced itself to the front. Victorians must say whether or not they approve of the coercion of Manitoba. It must be remembered, by the way, that the very first word on the school question in this contest was spoken by Mr. H. D. Helmcken, who appeared to think that he was thereby doing his party and Col. Prior a service.

A FALSE PRETENCE.

Col. Prior made a rather amusing attempt last evening to correct Mr. Jeeves on the school question. Unfortunately for the Colonel, Mr. Jeeves is too clear-headed to be convinced by a garbled extract from the privy council judgment that the privy council ordered the Dominion government to re-establish separate schools in Manitoba. No man could believe that who has honestly looked into the question. The government are putting forward a false and wicked pretence, and are wantonly insulting the highest court of the realm when they thus distort its judgment.

THEY WERE SUPPRESSED.

In the most obscure corner of the Colonist this morning appeared the following "explanation":

"Through an inadvertence, on Tuesday morning last, the Colonist omitted four of the names appearing on Mr. Templeman's nomination papers. Opportunity to again examine the original document was not obtainable until yesterday, when it was found that these names had been overlooked—Capt. John Irving, T. W. Paterson, J. H. Falconer, T. Roarke and G. R. Giscombe. The Colonist aims to state facts, and hence this explanation."

No doubt very many readers of the Colonist failed to read the item owing to its obscure position, but we desire to give it the utmost prominence. Probably never before in the history of journalism in this province has a newspaper circulated among intelligent men stooped so low as has the Colonist in deliberately suppressing the names from Mr. Templeman's nomination paper of those gentlemen mentioned in the "explanation."

What are the facts? The three most prominent, most conspicuous, most striking signatures upon Mr. Templeman's nomination paper were those of Capt. John Irving, T. W. Paterson, and W. A. Dier. The Colonist says they were "overlooked." They could not be overlooked. If the nomination paper were displayed at the Colonist window the one signature that would first attract attention would be that of Capt. John Irving, and the other signatures were quite prominent.

This is the truth. The Colonist deliberately and purposely omitted the names of the gentlemen above mentioned. It was done in the hope that Mr. Templeman's nomination paper might appear less formidable from an influential standpoint. The action of the Colonist in this regard was a contemptible, dirty trick, and that a paper supposed to have at least not lost all sense of honor should stoop so low is a disgrace to journalism. We repeat, the Colonist deliberately suppressed the names mentioned. There can be no mistake. We are prepared to prove this assertion by exhibiting the paper to any one interested.

MR. ROBINSON'S OPINION.

It is not surprising that the howlers at last night's meeting were averse to the reading of Mr. Christopher Robinson's opinion on the school question. Mr. McPhillips' reluctance to hear it is quite natural, for it completely disposes of the expectations which Mr. McPhillips as a legal light has been putting forward. Mr. Robinson's opinion is as follows:

"The restoration of the privileges of Roman Catholics in Manitoba is undoubtedly left open by the judgment, in the same sense that it is entirely in the discretion, both of the Governor-General in council and of the Dominion parliament, to what extent, if at all, they will act upon the appeal or upon the order in council, respectively, in affording a remedy."

"I cannot, I think, be said that the mere fact of the right of the Roman Catholic or Protestant minority in relation to education having been affected by provincial legislation, entitles them, in every case, and all circumstances, to the restoration of such right, or to any relief. Their right is to appeal, but the result of such appeal must depend, as I have said, upon the judgment of the Governor-General in council and of the Dominion parliament, whose course would no doubt be determined by a sense of justice and right, and by a due regard to the letter and spirit of the constitution, in view of all the surrounding facts and circumstances in each particular case."

"The expressions of opinion of the judicial committee in this matter are in no legal sense binding upon the members of the Dominion government, or of the parliament of Canada, so far as any action to be taken by either is concerned."

"Both are at liberty to exercise their own discretion, and not the less because it is declared that a grievance exists. As I understand the judgment, it cannot be said, strictly speaking, to decide more than that the appeal will lie."

Of Mr. Robinson's rank as a lawyer we need not speak, for almost every Victorian knows that there is no member of the bar in Canada with a higher reputation. He is peculiarly well qualified to pronounce on this subject, for the reason that he appeared as counsel for Manitoba when the question was argued before the supreme court at Ottawa. The supreme court's decision was in favor of the province, and when the privy council judgment was announced Mr. Robinson was asked for his opinion as to the effect of that judgment. The opinion is clear, and entirely disposes of the fraudulent pretence that the privy council judgment or the constitution obliged the government to take its present course. Let no one be deceived; the Dominion government is voluntarily proposing to coerce Manitoba. The privy council findings and the constitution are all against that course.

THE BALLOT IS SECRET.

Some of those working for Col. Prior are striving to create the impression that the ballot system to be used next Monday is not absolutely secret. Of course the idea is to intimidate some of the voters who want to vote for Mr. Templeman but would be in danger of Tory vengeance if their votes became known. For the benefit of all concerned we would say that the Dominion ballot is absolutely secret. There is positively no means of identifying any man's vote, even in case of a scrutiny. Those who assert the contrary are guilty of uttering a falsehood for a most unworthy purpose.

AFRAID OF DISCUSSION.

Those who have a weak cause are always afraid to hear the other side. The little band of Col. Prior's supporters who persistently refused Mr. Martin and Mr. Bodwell a hearing last evening demonstrated the weakness of their cause very effectively. Respectable members of the party saw clearly how unfavorable would be the opinion created by the suppression of free speech, but they were not able to control the mob. Perhaps they forgot that they have done their best to educate the mob in this direction by their own refusal to give opposition speakers an opportunity to speak at their meetings.

"BECAUSE HE WAS A FOOL."

Col. Prior was asked last night why Clarke Wallace resigned, and he answered: "Because he was a fool." The Conservatives of West York, Mr. Wallace's constituency, have spoken very differently. The Col. was terribly indiscreet, but he no doubt gave his opinion honestly.

The Colonist has raised a howl because the Times reproduced from the Ottawa Free Press part of an editorial utterance on the cabinet minister question. The simple truth is that the Colonist said no "expression of doubt" as to Col. Prior's position had appeared in any eastern paper, and the Times by its quotation showed that the Free Press had given a very decided "expression of doubt."

The Colonist parades a dispatch from Sir Mackenzie Bowell referring to a statement that appeared in the Times two weeks ago. The premier does not correct Mr. Magurn's statement as it appeared in the Times, but skillfully evades the point.

Mr. W. F. Luxton was last night chosen as the Conservative candidate for Winnipeg South, to oppose the Hon. J. D. Cameron, a member of the Manitoba government.

PROTECTIONIST CONSISTENCY.

To the Editor: Mr. James Angus in a letter to the Colonist this morning commences by saying: "It seems Mr. Templeman and his friends are free traders in talk and monopolists in reality." Now, Mr. Editor, it is a fact that many prominent Conservatives, including a close relative of Col. Prior, while preaching protection against China and Japan are the very parties who patronize the Chinamen right here in this city. I can give you the names of prominent military men, some leading lights in the legal profession, E. & N. railway officials, and many other rank Conservatives who shout for protection, yet when they want a suit of clothes or a lady's jacket they make a straight shoot for Cormorant street. Why? Because the can save, or think they can save, a few dimes on a suit of clothes. Hurrah for protection. KUMTUX.

MR. PRIOR THE FRIEND OF THE FARMERS.

To the Editor: A short time ago there was a plowing match in Saanich, Messrs. Nicholles and Prior were asked to donate a plow each as prizes. Both agreed. Mr. Manroe won the first prize in the professional contest and secured a first class Canadian $25 plow from the former firm. Mr. McIlmoyle, Jr., won the first prize in the amateur event and went to Mr. Prior for his plow. Mr. Prior offered him an inferior American short-handled Oliver chilled plow, fit only for use in circus rings. Mr. McIlmoyle protested and said he wanted a more modern plow, whereupon Mr. Prior said he would either take it or leave it. Mr. McIlmoyle said he would leave it, as it was not worth freight from Victoria to Sidney. Another illustration of Mr. Prior's real opinion of the farmer and workman. SAANICH.

THE SPRAGGE CASE.

To the Editor: In reply to Mr. Shaw's letter of the 31st ult., I wish to make a few statements. Mr. Shaw says we had a very pleasant drive, and that we had neither rain nor snow during the trip. Mr. Shaw's memory may be good but it is short. The truth is that it rained more or less on the way out, and there was a piercing cold wind. With an ordinary team the journey could have been accomplished in half the time. As it was we were very cold, and when we reached the hospital Miss Spragge said to me that she was nearly frozen. We were taken into a ward where a thermometer, hanging between two heaters, registered 52 degrees. About 8 o'clock in the evening Miss Spragge complained of still being cold, so we went out into the corridor to get warm. Mr. Shaw came and told us that we were not allowed out there. After our warm bathes next morning we were sent into a dressing room which was too cold for an Eskimo to dress in. The wind was blowing in under the door. As to my remark that "there was no kick coming," I was then speaking for myself, and did not imagine that any kick of mine would make Miss Spragge's sojourn in the hospital more pleasant. HERBERT B.
