Payments to superintendent of streets.

The said superintendent of streets is authorized at any time to receive the amount due upon any assessment and warrant issued by him and give a good and sufficient discharge therefor; provided, a bond has not issued to represent said assessment; provided, further, that when suit shall have been brought to collect the amount due upon any assessment as herein provided, the plaintiff shall file with the superintendent of streets a written notice of the pendency of said action showing the particular assessments affected by said action or actions; and after the filing of said notice the said superintendent of streets shall not receive any money on account of said assessment, and thereafter he shall have no authority to cancel said assessment or give a discharge thereof without the written consent of the owner of said assessment until judgment has been rendered in said action or the same has been dismissed. In case any warrant is lost, upon proof of such loss a duplicate can be issued, upon which collections may be made, with the same effect as on the original. After the filing of the written statement of payments as aforesaid, all amounts remaining due thereon shall draw interest at the rate of one per cent per month until paid, said interest to be computed from the date of the filing of the contractor's statement and if such amount be not paid within six months thereafter, there shall be added thereto a penalty of five per cent of the principal amounts then due thereon.

SEC. 4. Section 27 of said act approved April 7, 1911, as amended, is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 27. It shall be the duty of the superintendent of streets on or before the fourth Monday of September of each year to certify to the city tax collector, or in case the city taxes are collected by the county, to the county tax collector, a list of the properties within said city upon which there is a lien for unpaid assessments, as shown by the records of the street superintendent.

Notice to pay assessments.

In cases where the county collects city taxes the notice herein provided to be attached to or pasted to or printed or stamped upon the tax bill shall if the county tax collector so requires be prepared by the superintendent of streets and shall be forwarded to the county tax collector on or before the dates herein provided for forwarding said list. Such tax collector shall cause to be pasted or attached to or printed or stamped upon the tax bill or tax receipt, a notice which shall, in substance be as follows:

“Notice of Assessments.”

“There is an assessment lien on this property which must be paid to city street superintendent (or bureau of assessments in cities where such bureau exists) to avoid foreclosure.”

Contractor may sue.

At any time after the first day of July next succeeding nine months following the date of recording of such assessment, the contractor or his assignee may sue in his own name the owner of the land, lots or portions of lots assessed on the day of the date of the recording of the warrant, assessment and diagram, and recover the amount of any assessment remaining unpaid together with interest and any penalties allowed hereunder; provided, that if any state, county or municipal taxes or other special assessment or assessments be delinquent on said property then such action may be brought at any time after ninety days after the recording of such assessment.

When suit has been brought in accordance with the provisions of this section, the plaintiff shall be entitled to have and recover fifteen dollars attorney fees on each assessment sued on, in addition to all taxable costs, notwithstanding that the suit may be settled or a tender may be made before a recovery in said action, and he may have judgment therefor; provided, that if the court finds an unnecessary number of actions have been brought, where the parties are identical, it may allow the costs of one action only; and provided, further, that such attorney's fee in any one action shall not exceed fifteen dollars where said action shall be settled before trial or where judgment shall be taken on default. Suit may be brought in the superior court within whose jurisdiction the city is, in which said work has been done, and in case any of the assessments are made against lots, portions of lots, or lands, the service of process may be had in said action, in such manner as is prescribed in the codes and laws of this state. It shall be competent to bring a single action under any such assessment irrespective of the number of lots assessed where the parties defendant are identical, and where separate actions are brought, the same may be consolidated by order of the court. The said warrant, assessment and diagram, with proof of non-payment shall be held prima facie evidence of the regularity and correctness of the assessment and of the prior proceedings and acts of the superintendent of streets, and city council upon which said warrant, assessment and diagram are based, and like evidence of the right of the plaintiff to recover in the action. The plaintiff in such action may recover the cost of any abstract or report of search of title procured in good faith in order to determine ownership, such search to be by a reputable abstractor or title company and such cost not to exceed five dollars per lot, and such abstract or report of search with affidavit of payment to be filed in the action.

In a complaint in any such action it shall be held sufficient to allege briefly that the city council ordered the work, the performance of the work under the contract, the making of the assessment, the issuing of said warrant and the making of said diagram; that an assessment (naming the amount) was levied against that certain lot or parcel of land (describing the same) which, according to the information and belief of the plaintiff, is owned by the defendant; that payment of said assessment has not been made.

In describing said lot or parcel of land in said complaint it shall be sufficient to refer to the same by its number upon said diagram, provided a certified copy of said warrant, assessment and diagram shall have been previously filed in the office of the recorder of the county or city and county in which the same is situated. It shall be the duty of such recorder to so file any such certified copy presented to him upon payment of the filing fee therefor, which fee is hereby fixed at fifty (50) cents.

Notice for payment of fees and costs.

If the contractor or his agent or any person acting in behalf of the contractor shall, prior to the filing of a complaint for the recovery of any assessment as herein provided or subsequent to the filing of suit and prior to the allowance of attorney fees and costs as herein provided, make any written demand upon or present any bill or notice in writing to such owner, demanding, requesting or notifying such owner to pay or that there is due, attorney's fees or court costs in connection with the collection of such assessment, then, the superintendent of streets is authorized, upon written demand of such owner, accompanied by the affidavit of such owner, that such written demand, bill or notice for the payment of attorney's fees and costs, or either thereof, was made upon or presented to such owner prior to the commencement of suit, or subsequent to the filing of suit and prior to the allowance of attorney's fees and costs, together with such written demand, bill or notice to mark said assessment "paid" and such assessment shall thereby be deemed to be paid and the lien thereof released; provided, that this clause shall not be held to apply to the service of summons and complaint in a civil action.

suits.

Should suit be brought for the recovery of any assessment prior to the time permitted for bringing same as herein provided, then in such action, so brought the plaintiff shall not recover and defendant shall be entitled to have and recover such attorney's fees as the court may deem reasonable in addition to all taxable costs and he may have judgment therefor.

Should any payment of principal of said unpaid assessments or of interest thereon be not paid on the date upon which the coupon or coupons representing it are payable, the city treasurer shall after the close of business on said due date add to the amount of principal or interest so delinquent a penalty of five per cent of the total amount of such delinquency, and at the beginning of business on the first day of each succeeding month until such delinquent payment and all penalties thereon be fully paid, he shall add an additional penalty of one per cent of the amount of such delinquency, and said treasurer shall collect such penalties with and as a part of such delinquent payments.

The city treasurer shall at least fifteen days before each respective fifteenth day of May and November, until said assessment be paid in full, mail, postage prepaid, to each owner of property described in said assessment, at his last known address, as appears upon the tax rolls of said city, a postal card notifying him of the amount due and the date when payment is due from him on said assessment and stating that said payment is subject to penalty if not paid on or prior to the due date of the coupons. Provided, that the failure of the city treasurer to mail said cards or the failure of the property owner to receive the same shall in no wise affect the validity of any penalty or invalidate any act or proceeding.

Sec. 7. Section 76 of said act approved April 7, 1911, as amended, is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 76. In the event of the nonpayment of any installment of the interest or principal and by way of a separate, distinct and cumulative remedy, the holder of any bond upon which any payment either upon the principal or of the interest has not, or shall not be made when due may, at any time after six months from the date of any delinquency of principal or interest and prior to the expiration of four years after the due date of the last installment unpaid upon any bond or of the last principal coupon attached thereto, file and maintain a suit to foreclose the lien of the bond and recover the amounts due thereon.

The said bond, together with proof either orally by the said treasurer of the said city or by a certificate signed by him showing the nonpayment of any of the principal or interest upon said bond, shall be prima facie evidence of the right of the plaintiff to recover in said action. The court in said suit shall have the power to adjudge and decree a lien against the lot or parcel of land covered by said bond and to cause said premises to be sold as in other cases of the sale of real estate by the process of said court to satisfy and discharge such bond and lien, and the amount of interest and penalties due shall be calculated in the same manner hereinbefore set forth in sections 62 and 68 hereof, up to the date of the judgment. On appeal, the appellate courts shall have the same power to adjudge and decree a lien and order such premises to be sold as is conferred on the court from which an appeal is taken. The court having jurisdiction of said cause shall also fix and allow a reasonable attorney's fee for the prosecution of said suit.

The plaintiff in the suit may also recover the cost of any abstract or report of search of title procured in good faith, in order to determine ownership, such search to be by a reputable abstractor or title company, and such cost not to exceed five dollars per lot, and such abstract or report of search with affidavit of payment to be filed in the action.

Such premises, if sold, may be redeemed as in other cases. Such action shall be governed and regulated by the provisions hereof, and also when not in conflict herewith, by the codes of this state.

The division of motor vehicles shall issue an approval; provided, it is established by the testing agency that the device will not project a glaring or dazzling light to persons in front of such auxiliary light or fail to produce ample road light in front of and close to the motor vehicle with the beam depressed not less than six degrees below the level otherwise required in this section when the latter is used in connection with approved headlights.

(e) Every motor vehicle other than any road roller, road machinery or farm tractor, having a body or load width in excess of eighty inches shall carry at the times and under the conditions mentioned in section 99 two clearance lamps on the left side of such vehicle, one located at the front and displaying a white light visible under normal atmospheric conditions from a distance of five hundred feet to the front of the vehicle, and the other located at the rear of the vehicle and displaying a green or red light visible under like conditions from a distance of five hundred feet to the rear of the vehicle but such lamps shall not display any excessive, glaring or dazzling light and when a motor vehicle is drawing a trailer or semitrailer the clearance lamps specified in this subsection shall be placed on the left side at the front and rear respectively of such train of vehicle; provided, that the left front clearance lamp on any passenger common carrier motor vehicle may display either a white or green light. Sec. 101. Construction, arrangement and adjustment of headlights. The headlights of motor vehicles shall be so constructed, arranged and adjusted that they will, at all times mentioned in section 99 and under normal atmospheric conditions, produce ample driving light for the use of the operator of such vehicle but will not project a glaring or dazzling light to persons approaching such lights or to persons whom such headlights may approach. Construction, arrangement, and adjustment of headlights

Headlights shall be presumed to comply with this section if they comply with the following requirements and limitations when the vehicle upon which they are affixed is fully loaded;

Construction,
arrangement,
and adjustment of

such compliance shall be presumed if such headlights are affixed to such vehicle in the manner required by this act and are of a type, or are equipped with lenses, reflectors or control devices which have been found to meet such requirements and limitations by the laboratory test provided in section 102 and when used in accordance with the instructions of the testing agency.

The light projected by such headlights shall be as follows:

1. In the median vertical plane parallel to the lamps on a level with the centers of the lamps, not less than one thousand eight hundred apparent candlepower.

2. In the median vertical plane, one degree of arc below the level of the center of the lamps, not less than seven thousand two hundred apparent candlepower and there shall not be less than seven thousand two hundred apparent candlepower anywhere on the horizontal line through this point one degree to the left or to the right of this point.

3. In the median vertical plane, one degree of arc above the level of the center of the lamps not more than fifteen hundred, nor less than five hundred apparent candlepower.

4. Four degrees of arc to the left of the median vertical plane and one degree of arc above the level of the center of the lamps, not more than eight hundred apparent candlepower.

5. One and one-half degrees of arc below the level of the center of the lamps and three degrees of arc to the left and to the right, respectively, of the median vertical plane, not less than five thousand apparent candle power nor less than this amount anywhere on the line connecting these two points.

6. Three degrees of arc below the level of the center of the lamps and six degrees of arc to the left and to the right, respectively, of the median vertical plane, not less than two thousand apparent candlepower nor less than this amount anywhere on the line connecting these two points.

7. The maximum beam shall not exceed fifty thousand candlepower nor shall the maximum intensity exist lower than two degrees of arc below the level of the lamps.

Provided, it shall be lawful, when the above requirements and limitations are otherwise complied with, to so construct or equip the headlights of motor vehicles as to permit that the beams of light projected therefrom be depressed downward not more than three degrees of arc below the level otherwise required under this section but without diminishing the amount of light projected from the lamp bulb when so depressed. When the division of motor vehicles shall determine that any such device when so operated during the times and under the conditions mentioned in section 99 will project a glaring or dazzling light to persons in front of such headlights or that such headlights when equipped or constructed with such device fail to produce ample driving light for the use of the driver of such vehicle, then the division shall refuse approval for the use thereof.

The chief of the division may refuse approval to any device which will be in actual use unsafe or impractical as to mechanical construction, or mounting on car; provided, that upon such refusal the chief of the division must furnish the applicant a detailed statement setting forth the reasons for such refusal.

SECTION 1. Section 752 of the Code of Civil Procedure is hereby amended to read as follows:

752. When several cotenants own real property as joint tenants, or tenants in common, in which one or more of them have an estate of inheritance, or for life or lives, or for years, or when real property is subject to a life estate with remainder over, an action may be brought by one or more of such persons, or, where property is subject to a life estate with remainder over, by the life tenant, for a partition thereof according to the respective rights of the persons interested therein, and for a sale of such property, or a part thereof, if it appears that a partition can not be made without great prejudice to the owners.

CHAPTER 756.

An act to amend section seven hundred sixty-three of the Code of Civil Procedure, in relation to judgments in partition actions and the procedure thereunder.

[Approved by the Governor May 25, 1927. In effect July 29, 1927.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

Stats. 1913,
p. 235,
amended.
Question
of sale or partition.

SECTION 1. Section 763 of the Code of Civil Procedure is hereby amended to read as follows:

763. If it appears by the evidence, whether alleged in the complaint or not, that the property or any part of it is so situated that partition cannot be made without great prejudice to the owners, or where property is subject to a life estate and the remainder is a contingent remainder, the court may and in the latter case must order the sale thereof; otherwise, upon the requisite proofs being made it must order a partition according to the respective rights of the parties as ascertained by the court, and appoint three referees therefor, and must designate the portion to remain undivided for the owners whose interests remain unknown, or are not ascertained; or the court, with the consent of the parties, may appoint one referee instead of three, and he when appointed, has all the powers and may perform all the duties required of three referees; and the court must appoint as referee any person or persons to whose appointment all the parties have consented, and no person shall be appointed as referee who is disqualified from acting as an appraiser under the provisions of section 1444 of the Code of Civil Procedure.

When the site of an incorporated city or town is included within the exterior boundaries of the property to be partitioned, the court must direct the referees to survey and appraise the entire property to be partitioned by actual lots and subdivisions then existing in the actual possession of the several tenants in common, exclusive of the value of improvements thereon, first setting apart necessary portions of the property for ways, roads and streets, as in section 764 provided, and to report such survey and separate appraisement on each lot and subdivision to the court.

city.

The court may confirm, change, modify, or set aside the report in whole or in part, and if necessary appoint new referees.

Action
of court.

When, after the final confirmation of the report of such survey and appraisement, it appears by evidence to the satisfaction of the court that an equitable partition of the whole property is impracticable, and a sale of the site of such city or town, or any portion thereof, will be for the best interests of the owners of the whole property, it must order a sale thereof; provided, that within sixty days thereafter any tenant in common or tenants in common, having improvements erected on any town or city lot or subdivision included in such order of sale, shall have the prior right to purchase the same at such appraised valuation, and may pay into court the amount so appraised as the value thereof, and upon such payment the title shall vest in such purchaser or purchasers, and the court shall cause to be executed by such referees a deed for such lot or subdivision in fee and in severalty to such purchaser or purchasers; such further proceedings shall then be had as to the remainder of the property, and the money so paid to the court, as by this chapter provided.

Sale.

If, during the pendency of this action, any of the parties die, or become insane, or otherwise incompetent, the proceedings shall not for that cause be delayed or suspended, but the attorney who has appeared for such party may continue to represent such interest; and in case any such party has not appeared by an attorney, the court must appoint an attorney to represent the interest which was held by such party, until his heirs or legal representatives, or successors in interest, shall have appeared in the action; and an attorney so appointed must be allowed by the court a reasonable compensation for his services, which may be taxed as costs against the share or interest represented by such attorney, and may be adjudged a lien thereon in the discretion of the court.

Death or insanity
of party.

CHAPTER 757.

An act to amend section seven hundred eighty-one of the Code of Civil Procedure, providing for the action of the court where property is sold in partition suits and there are contingent future rights or estates or life estates.

[Approved by the Governor May 25, 1927. In effect July 29, 1927.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

Original
section
amended.
Securing
value of contingent
future rights or estates or life estates.

SECTION 1. Section 781 of the Code of Civil Procedure of the State of California is hereby amended to read as follows:

781. In all cases of sales, when it appears that any person has a vested or contingent future right or estate in any of the property sold, the court must ascertain and settle the proportional value of such contingent or vested right or estate, and must direct such proportion of the proceeds of the sale to be invested, secured, or paid over, in such manner as to protect the rights and interests of the parties; or where property is subject to a life estate with remainder over, the court may direct the entire proceeds of the sale of such interests to be paid to a trustee to be appointed by the court, upon security satisfactory to the court, to be invested and reinvested, the income thereof to be paid to the life tenant and the corpus of the trust estate, upon the termination of the life estate, to be delivered or paid to the remaindermen as in the decree determined; and the court shall retain jurisdiction for the settlement of the accounts of such trustee and in all matters necessary for the proper administration of such trust and final distribution of the trust fund.

CHAPTER 758.

An act to add a new section to the Code of Civil Procedure, to be numbered one thousand three hundred eight a, relating to orders admitting wills to probate and the certification and recordation of wills.

[Approved by the Governor May 25, 1927. In effect July 29, 1927.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

New section.

SECTION 1. A new section is hereby added to the Code of Civil Procedure, to be numbered 1308a, and to read as follows:

Clerk's
record.

1308a. When the court admits a will to probate it must be recorded in the minutes by the clerk, with the notation: "Admitted to probate (giving date)."

CHAPTER 759.

An act to amend sections three thousand four hundred fifty-seven, three thousand four hundred sixty-five, three thousand four hundred sixty-six and three thousand four hundred eighty of the Political Code and section three thousand four hundred eighty and one-half thereof, as enacted by chapter two hundred eighty-seven of the statutes of 1923 of the State of California, relating to reclamation districts, and to add a new section, three thousand four hundred sixty-eight, providing for an annual levy or call of assessment to pay warrants of said districts, and to add a new section, three thousand four hundred ninety-three a, providing for payment of expenses of county treasurers in proceedings to collect assessments to pay principal or interest of bonds of said districts, and to add a new section, three thousand four hundred ninety-three b, providing for issuance of duplicate bonds and warrants for lost, destroyed, mutilated, and defaced bonds and warrants of said districts.

[Approved by the Governor May 25, 1927. In effect July 29, 1927.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Section 3465 of the Political Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Stats. 1917,
p. 1206,
amended.
Payments.

3465. The lists must remain in the office of the county treasurer for thirty days and during said time said assessment shall not bear interest except as otherwise provided by section 3480 of this code; and as long as bonds have not been authorized and sold on the basis of said assessment any landowner may pay in gold coin of the United States or approved warrants of the district the whole or any part, both principal and interest, of said assessment on any tract of land. If any bonds shall have been authorized before payment on said assessment but shall not have been sold the amount to be sold shall be reduced by the amount paid on the principal of said assessment. The reduction shall be only in the latest maturities; and such changes and cancellation shall be made by the proper officials in the unsold bonds as shall be necessary to accomplish said reduction.

SEC. 2. Section 3480 of the Political Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Stats. 1923,
p. 598,
amended.
Special bond
elections.

3480. Whenever in any reclamation district in this state, now formed or which may hereafter be formed, any assessment has been levied and assessed upon the lands of said district, and remains unpaid in whole or in part, where in the judgment and opinion of the board of trustees of said district it would be for the best interest of said district or the landowners therein to issue bonds for the purpose of obtaining money to pay the costs of reclamation, the indebtedness of the district, or any other legal charge, or when a petition signed by the owners of more than one-half of the land in the district is filed with the secretary of the board, the board of trustees of such district shall by order entered upon the records of said board, order a special election to be held at some place in said district to be designated by said board of trustees, at which said special election shall be submitted to the owners of land in said district the question of whether or not bonds of said district shall be issued in an amount equal to the amount of such assessment, or the part of such assessment remaining unpaid, which said amount shall be entered by said board of trustees in its records and stated by them in the order for such special election.

Evidence of ownership and value.

For all purposes of this article relating to signing petitions and by-laws and voting at any election of reclamation districts the equalized assessment roll for the year last preceding, in each county wherein any land of the district is situated shall be sufficient evidence of ownership and of value of lands in the district as hereinafter provided. Guardians, executors, administrators and other persons holding land in a trust capacity under appointment of court may sign such petitions or by-laws or may vote without obtaining special authority therefor.

Notice of election.

Notice of such special election must be given by the board of trustees by posting notices thereof in at least three public places in the district at least twenty-one days prior thereto, and also by publication for the same length of time in some newspaper of general circulation published in each county in which any portion of said district may be situated; and such notice must specify the time and place of holding such election, the aggregate face value of bonds proposed to be issued and the names of three landholders of the district to act as a board of election. Affidavits of the publication and posting of such notice must be filed with the county clerk of the county in which said district or the greater part thereof is situated (herein designated as the main county), together with a copy of said order calling the election, certified by the president of the board of trustees.

Who may vote.

At such election each owner of lands in the district shall be entitled to vote in person or by proxy and shall have the right to cast one vote for each dollar's worth of real estate owned by him in the district, such value and ownership thereof to be determined from the next preceding assessment roll of the county or counties in which the lands of said district are situate, and the board of trustees of the district shall, prior to the election, cause to be prepared and certified by the proper officer and furnished to the board of election, a true and correct copy of the said next preceding assessment roll of the said county or counties, which said certified roll shall be used by the said board of election in determining the number of votes each voter is entitled to cast. Executors, administrators, special administrators and guardians may cast the votes of the estates represented by them.

No person shall vote by proxy at such election unless authorized to cast such vote shall be evidenced by an instrument in writing, duly acknowledged and certified in the same manner as grants of real property and filed with the board of election. The ballots cast at such election shall contain the words: "Bonds—Yes" or the words "Bonds—No," and also the name of the person casting the ballot with the number of votes cast by him. A list of the ballots cast shall be made by the board of election, containing the name of each voter, and, if the ballot be cast by proxy, the name of the person casting it, and the number of votes cast by each and whether the same be cast for or against the issuing of the bonds.

Proxies.

Ballots.

If any person appointed as a member of the board of election shall fail to attend at the opening of the polls, the voters then present may appoint in his place any landholder of the district. Each member of such board of election, must, before entering upon his duties take and subscribe an official oath, which oath may be administered by an officer authorized to administer oaths or by any landholder in the district. The polls shall be kept open from ten o'clock a.m., of the day of election until four o'clock p.m. At the close of the polls the board of election shall at once proceed to canvass the votes and declare the result and shall forward a certificate showing such result and the number of votes cast for and against the issuing of bonds, to the county clerk of the main county, and shall deliver a duplicate thereof to the board of trustees of the district, and shall also deliver to the said county clerk of the main county all ballots cast at such election and all documents and papers used at such election. Any person interested may contest such election within twenty days after such filing of said certificate with the said county clerk by bringing suit in the superior court of the main county; otherwise the declaration of the result by the board of election shall be final and conclusive.

Election officers.

Canvass of votes.

Contest

If a majority of the votes cast at such election are in favor of the issuance of bonds, the board of trustees of the district shall cause bonds in the amount stated in the order for the election to be executed and delivered, together with the assessment list, to the treasurer of said main county. Said bonds shall be of the denomination of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars each; they shall be signed by the president of the board of trustees of the district and attested by the county auditor of said main county, and shall be numbered consecutively in the order of their maturity, and shall bear interest at a rate not to exceed six per cent per annum, payable semiannually on the first day of January and the first day of July in each year at the office of said county treasurer upon the presentation of the proper coupons therefor. County Auditor.

The treasurer of said main county shall place the bonds prepared pursuant to this act to the credit of the district. Thereafter when directed by resolution of the trustees of the district, the treasurer of said county may sell the whole or any designated number of said bonds for the best price obtainable therefor, but in no event for less than ninety per cent of the face value of said bonds and the accrued interest thereon. Before making a sale of said bonds, notice shall be given by the said county treasurer by publication at least once a week for two weeks in a newspaper of general circulation published in said main county, that he will sell a specified amount of said bonds, and stating the day, hour and place of such sale, and asking sealed proposals for the purchase of said bonds, or any part thereof. At the time appointed the county treasurer shall open the bids and award the bonds to the highest responsible bidder. thereafter. It shall be sufficient to describe said lands as all lands in the district (naming it) without a more specific description. The summons shall be published once a week for two weeks in some newspaper of general circulation published in the county where the action is pending. Within thirty days after the first publication of summons any owner of land in such district, or any person interested, may appear and answer the complaint, which answer shall set forth the facts relied upon to show the invalidity of said bonds. The default of all defendants not so appearing may be entered. Such action shall be given precedence in hearing and trial over all other civil actions in such court, and judgment rendered declaring such matter so contested either valid or invalid. Any party not in default may have the right to appeal to the supreme court within thirty days after the entry of judgment. Judgment for the plaintiff in such proceedings shall be considered as a judgment in rem and shall be conclusive against said district and against all lands therein and all owners thereof and other interested persons.

Warrants. The board of trustees of said district may draw warrants upon the said county treasurer against the funds provided by sale of bonds, which said warrants shall be approved by the board of supervisors of said main county.

Bond fund. All moneys collected by any county treasurer upon any assessment upon which bonds shall have been issued, including all moneys derived from sale of land for delinquent installments, or from redemption thereof, or from sale of lands bought by the treasurer at any such sale, shall be by such treasurer forthwith paid into the main county treasury to the credit of the bond fund of such reclamation district, and shall be used exclusively for the payment of principal and interest of said bonds issued on such assessment, and of the principal and interest of any refunding bonds issued thereon.

Bonds as legal investments. The bonds of reclamation districts issued pursuant to this code which have been investigated and certified by any officer of this state now or hereafter authorized to make such investigation and certification and by the authority of which certification are declared to be legal for investments by savings banks of this state may be lawfully purchased, or received in pledge for loans by savings banks, trust companies, insurance companies, guardians, executors, administrators and special administrators, or by any public officer or officers of this state or of any county, city or city and county or other municipal or corporate body within this state having or holding funds which they are allowed by law to invest or loan.

Election prior to assessment. If the trustees deem it advisable they may order a special election to be held prior to making any assessment, to determine whether or not bonds shall be issued for an amount to be stated in the order for such election, but no bonds shall, in such instance, be issued until an assessment for the amount of the bonds authorized at such election shall have been made and filed with the county treasurer.

The lien of any unpaid assessment upon which bonds shall have been issued shall continue until all said bonds, and any refunding bonds which may be issued, shall have been paid in full, and if for any reason any part of such principal or interest of said bonds, or of refunding bonds shall remain unpaid after enforcement of said assessment as in this article provided, the board of supervisors of the main county shall order an additional or supplemental assessment to be made as provided in section 3459, sufficient to pay such unpaid principal and interest; which additional or supplemental assessment shall be enforced and collected in the same manner as the original assessment.

If any district having authorized the issuance of a series of bonds shall issue an additional series of bonds based on another assessment, the dates of maturity of such additional series of bonds shall be such that the latest maturities thereof shall not exceed thirty years and the earliest maturity of bonds of such additional series shall be later than the latest maturity of bonds of any earlier series, excepting refunding bonds. All provisions of this section relative to the original issue of bonds shall apply to such additional series of bonds so far as applicable and also so far as applicable shall affect existing reclamation districts as well as those hereafter formed.

bonds.

Any district which has issued bonds of different denominations, may, by an order entered in its minutes, upon request of holders thereof, and upon the deposit of the bonds issued and outstanding with the board of trustees, issue to the holders of such deposited bonds, bonds of the district in the same form but in different denominations, but having the same aggregate face value and maturity. Such bonds shall be executed by all of the persons who are required by law to execute the original bonds for which such exchange is made, and the said bonds so deposited shall be thereupon canceled by the treasurer of the main county and the board of trustees of the district.

different denominations.

Whenever in any reclamation district in the state a bond issue of said district has been authorized prior to this amendment then the provisions of this section hereby amended in respect to the manner of procedure by which the assessments are called in to meet payments on account of principal or interest of such bonds, and also the provision herein contained by which the assessment shall continue in full force and effect as constituting a lien upon the several tracts of land within said district under the provisions of section 3463 of this code until the principal and interest of all bonds issued on the basis of said assessment shall have been paid in full, and also the provisions in reference to refunding bonds, shall apply to and inure to the benefit of the bonds which may have been issued by any reclamation district in this state prior to the date of the enactment of this amendment.

Bonds
heretofore
issued.

Warrants
accepted.

Upon a sale of any of the bonds provided herein (except refunding bonds) the county treasurer of the main county is hereby authorized to accept in payment for said bonds, either in whole or in part, outstanding warrants of such district at their face value, together with the accrued interest thereon.

Interest
assessments.

Where bonds of the district have been authorized to be issued on such assessments all unpaid assessments shall bear interest at the rate of seven per cent per annum from the date of the bonds originally issued thereon until such bonds and any refunding bonds issued thereon shall have been fully paid and discharged, and the interest due at any time on said unpaid assessments may be called without calling any installment of the said assessment. The word installment as used in this section shall be construed as applying to interest as well as the principal as the case may be.

Estimate of amount to pay interest
and principal.

At least ninety days before any interest date of the bonds, including refunding bonds, the county treasurer of the main county shall estimate the amount of money necessary to pay interest and principal maturing on such interest date after crediting thereon the funds in the treasury applicable to the payment thereof, and shall add thereto fifteen per cent of such aggregate sum to cover possible delinquencies, and said county treasurer shall thereupon cause to be published once a week for two weeks in some newspaper of general circulation published in each county in which any of the district may be situate a notice substantially in the following form:

of notice.

(Name of reclamation district.) Notice is hereby given that an installment of assessment (describing it) of (amount or proportion thereof including interest thereon or only for interest) is payable within thirty days from (date) by all assessed landowners of said district in the county of (name of county) to the treasurer of said county. All or any part of said installment or interest which shall remain unpaid on the (day fixed) will be delinquent, together with accrued interest thereon, with twenty per cent of such installment and interest added as penalty.

Dated (date).

(Signed)-----
Treasurer of-----county.

Delinquent
installments.

If no newspaper is published in said county, such publication shall be made in a newspaper published in an adjoining county. If any part of such installment or any interest thereon shall remain unpaid at the expiration of thirty days from the date of said notice, it shall become delinquent and twenty per cent of the unpaid amount of said installment and interest shall be added thereto and collected by said treasurer. When any installment shall have become delinquent, said treasurer shall publish once a week for two weeks in a newspaper of general circulation in each county in which any portion of the said delinquent land may lie (or if no newspaper is published therein, then in a newspaper published in an adjoining county), a notice containing a description of each parcel of land assessed in the district whereon such installment is delinquent, as such description appears on the assessment list, the name of the person to whom it is assessed, to unknown owners if such is the fact; the amount of the installment delinquent on such parcel, the amount of interest thereon reckoned to the day of sale, the amount of said twenty per cent penalty thereon, and a notice that each of said parcels will be sold at public auction by said county treasurer in front of the courthouse of said main county, at a specified day and hour which shall not be less than thirty days nor more than sixty days from the date of delinquency, to pay said delinquent installment, with said accrued interest and penalty. At the time stated in said notice, the county treasurer shall sell each parcel of land described in said notice to the highest bidder, unless prior thereto he shall have received payment in full of said delinquent installment together with such interest and penalty. No bid for any parcel shall be accepted less than the aggregate sum then due on said installment thereon, with interest and penalty, and such sale shall be made for cash (except the treasurer may receive from any purchaser at their face value in lieu of cash, bonds of said district or their interest coupons, issued on said assessment and then matured or to mature within sixty days after such sale). Any bond or coupon so received in payment shall be by the treasurer forthwith canceled and filed in his office. If the entire amount of any such bond or coupon tendered in payment shall not be required to complete payment of the purchase money, the treasurer shall endorse thereon as paid, the amount of such purchase money credited thereon. If no bid is made for any parcel at such sale equal to the amount of the installment delinquent thereon, with interest and penalty, the treasurer shall bid in and sell said parcel to himself and his successors in office, as trustee of the bond fund of said district, as purchaser, for the amount of said installment, interest and penalty. The treasurer shall execute to each purchaser, including himself as trustee, a certificate of sale, and shall record a duplicate in the county recorder's office. Any person interested in the said property may redeem the same at any time within one year after the date of sale, by paying to the county treasurer for such purchaser a sum equal to the purchase price stated in the certificate, with interest thereon at the rate of twelve per cent per annum from the date of sale to such redemption. If no redemption shall be made within one year, the treasurer upon demand and surrender of such certificate of purchase, shall execute to the purchaser, his heirs or assigns, a deed of conveyance of the parcel of land described in such certificate, which deed shall convey to the grantee therein named the said land free and clear of all encumbrances, except state, county and municipal taxes, and any taxes or assessments of irrigation, conservation or water storage districts, and except any portion of any reclamation assessment remaining unpaid at the date of said sale; each installment whereof may be called and collected as herein provided, except that no parcel sold and conveyed to the district shall thereafter be subject to sale by the treasurer for delinquent installments. Every deed by a county treasurer purporting to be executed under this section shall be prima facie evidence of the truth of the matters therein recited, and of ownership by the grantee of the lands therein described. The treasurer shall credit to the bond fund of the district all money collected by him by sale or otherwise, upon assessment against which bonds shall have been issued, including interest and penalties, and he shall likewise credit to said fund the amounts of purchase money paid in bonds or coupons on sales made for said assessment. The treasurer shall charge to the general fund of the district, or to its bond fund if he has no money to the credit of its general fund, the expense of publication of notices and of recording certificates of sale. Any parcel of land bid in and purchased by a treasurer as aforesaid, as trustee of the bond fund of the district, may be sold and conveyed by him or his successor in office at any time after the expiration of said redemption period of one year, at public or private sale and with or without notice to any person paying him the amount for which said parcel was bid in by said treasurer at delinquent sale, with interest thereon at the rate of seven per cent per annum, compounded yearly, from the date of said delinquent sale, and also the amount of all subsequent installments then delinquent, with accrued interest and penalties thereon. Such payment may be made either in cash or in matured bonds and coupons issued on said assessment, taken at their face value, and the treasurer shall execute a deed to such purchaser upon such sale, conveying said property free of encumbrance except state, county and municipal taxes, and the unpaid balance of said assessment. If any land so held by a county treasurer as trustee of the bond fund of a district shall remain unsold after the final installment of the assessment shall have been collected by payment or sale, then such treasurer shall sell all said land so held by him at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, upon two weeks published notice, and shall deposit the proceeds of such sale in the treasury of the main county, to the credit of the bond fund of the district. Any balance remaining in such bond fund, after payment in full of the principal and interest of all outstanding bonds of the district, shall be by the treasurer transferred to the general fund of the district.

Voting

In the event that ownership of any property in the district is changed after the making of the last assessment roll for the district, the owner thereof shall be entitled to vote thereon upon production of the original or of certified copy of the record thereof in the office of the county recorder of the county in which the property is situate. Any person not legally qualified to vote who shall make any false statement in respect to his right to vote shall incur all of the penalties provided in the Penal Code of the State of California for persons illegally voting at elections.

Any landowner of the district who shall desire at any time to lessen or remove the lien upon his land of any assessment on which bonds have been or hereafter may be issued may deliver to the county treasurer for cancellation any bonds payable out of said assessment, and the treasurer shall credit against the assessment on his land the principal and accrued interest of said bonds.

of bonds for landowners

The board of trustees, in their discretion, may provide at any time before sale of said bonds or before sale of any refunding bonds under section 3480a of this code that said bonds shall be callable at face value in the manner provided by law at any interest payment date together with accrued interest thereon, and either with or without a premium to be specified by said board and inserted in said bonds; and the method of calling and retiring said bonds shall be as follows:

Calling and retiring
bonds.

Not less than ninety days before any interest payment date the trustees, by a two-thirds vote, may adopt an order calling bonds of the district, in any amount, for payment on such date. The order shall specify the maturities of the bonds called, commencing with the earliest maturities. Legality of bonds.

At any time within thirty days after said refunding bonds shall have been delivered to the treasurer of the county, an action may be commenced in the superior court of said main county by the trustees of said reclamation district in its name against the lands in said district and all persons owning the same or interested therein, to have it determined that said refunding bonds are a legal obligation of such reclamation district, and in the event no such action is brought then the same may be commenced by any landowner in the district within thirty days thereafter. It shall be sufficient to describe said lands as all lands in the district (naming it) without a more specific description. The summons shall be published once a week for two weeks in some newspaper of general circulation published in the county where the action is pending. Within thirty days after the first publication of summons any owner of land in such district, or any person interested, may appear and answer the complaint, which answer shall set forth the facts relied upon to show the invalidity of said refunding bonds. The default of all defendants not so appearing may be entered. Such action shall be given precedence in hearing and trial over all other civil actions in such court, and judgment rendered declaring such matter so contested either valid or invalid. Any party not in default may have the right to appeal to the supreme court within thirty days after entry of judgment. Judgment for the plaintiff in such proceedings shall be considered as a judgment in rem and shall be conclusive against said district and against all lands therein and all owners thereof and other interested persons.

Thereafter and on or before February first or August first of any year (as the case may be) prior to the date of maturity of the outstanding bonds of the district next maturing and to be so refunded, either in whole or in part, the board of trustees of the said district may declare by resolution that that portion of the said refunding bonds applicable to the refunding of the said outstanding bonds so next maturing shall be sold as herein provided. Said resolution also shall declare whether or not, in the judgment of the board of trustees, said refunding bonds can be sold for not less than the par value thereof, plus accrued interest, and also whether or not, in the judgment of said board, it is necessary or advisable that provision be made for payment of interest upon said refunding bonds to the date of maturity of the bonds to be refunded, and whether or not a supplemental assessment should be levied for either or both of said purposes; and if said resolution shall declare either that said refunding bonds can not be sold for as much as the par value thereof, plus accrued interest, or that it is necessary or advisable that provision be made for payment of interest upon said refunding bonds to the date of maturity of the bonds to be refunded and that a sufficient assessment should be levied for either or both said purposes, such supplemental assessment shall be levied and collected in the following manner, to wit:

The board of trustees shall prepare and certify an assessment list for said assessment in the form prescribed by section 3461 of this code. The amount of said assessment shall not exceed ten per cent of the principal of the refunding bonds to be sold, plus the amount (if any) to be raised by such assessment to pay interest on said refunding bonds to the date of maturity of the bonds to be refunded as aforesaid. At said hearing the board of supervisors may correct any errors appearing in said assessment and shall then make an order approving said assessment and shall endorse such order upon said assessment list, which said endorsement shall be signed by the chairman of the board of supervisors and attested by the clerk thereof. Such decision of said board of supervisors except as hereinafter provided, shall be final and thereafter said assessment list shall be conclusive evidence that the said assessment has been made and levied according to law. The list shall then be filed with the county treasurer, or if the district is situated in more than one county then the original list must be filed in the county where the greater portion of the lands of said district is situated and copies thereof certified by the treasurer must be filed with the treasurer of each of the other counties. Voluntary payment.

If a sale of said refunding bonds is consummated by payment of the purchase price thereof and the delivery of the bonds then the board of trustees of the district shall proceed to enforce payment of any delinquencies in the said assessment in the manner set forth in section 3466 of this code, and the provisions of said section 3466 shall apply to all subsequent proceedings in enforcing collection of said assessment. When requested by said board, the state treasurer shall prepare such number of bonds as may be requested, inserting upon the face of each of said bonds such interest rate as said board has determined and authorized, and when so prepared said bonds shall be sold and delivered as in this act provided. In the event that any bonds prepared as herein provided cannot in the judgment of said state park finance board be sold at the time fixed for the sale thereof or thereafter, said board may withdraw said bonds from sale and direct the state treasurer to cancel and destroy the same and may at said time or thereafter at its option direct the preparation and sale, as herein provided, of the same or a different number of bonds, but not to exceed in all the amount herein authorized, and at the same or a different rate of interest, but not to exceed six per cent per annum, and it shall be the duty of the state treasurer to obey any and all directions of said board as herein authorized to cancel and destroy bonds and prepare and sell new bonds. SEC. 5. When the bonds authorized by this act to be issued shall have been signed, countersigned, indorsed and sealed, as in this act provided, the state treasurer shall from time to time sell such number thereof as the said state park finance board may direct, to the highest bidder for cash. The state park finance board shall from time to time issue such direction to sell such bonds as in the opinion of a majority of said state park finance board shall be deemed necessary or expedient; provided, that said state park finance board shall issue to the state treasurer such direction immediately after being requested so to do through and by resolution duly adopted and passed by a majority vote of the state park commission. Such resolution of the state park commission shall specify the amount of money which in the judgment of said state park commission shall be required at such time, and the said state park finance board shall direct the state treasurer to sell such number of bonds as will at the par value thereof equal said amount of money so required according to such resolution of the state park commission. Each such resolution of the state park commission shall embody and contain a certificate of the following facts:

Sale of

Sale of

1. That the amount of money specified is required to enable the state park commission to fulfill the terms of a certain contract (describing it in general terms sufficient to identify it), and that said contract has been duly executed by all of its parties; or that an award or valuation in condemnation proceedings has been made which is equal to the amount of money specified.

2. That there are not available funds in the California state park fund of 1927, hereinafter referred to, sufficient to pay the purchase price or money obligation specified in said contract, or award in condemnation proceedings, to be paid by the State of California; or if there are funds in amount sufficient for such purpose, that such funds have been and are allocated to the payment of other obligations incurred or contracted for by the said state park commission; or if some or all of said funds in said California state park fund of 1927 are not allocated to the payment of other obligations, that the amount of money required by said resolution, together with such nonallocated funds in the California state park fund of 1927, is not more than ten per cent, more than the amount which will be required to perform the contract or pay the award in condemnation proceedings relating to the project for which funds are required, as stated in said resolution of the state park commission.

total value

Anything to the contrary in this act appearing notwithstanding, the state park finance board shall direct the sale of bonds only when there has been deposited with the state treasury a fund from private gift, city or county appropriation, or from some source other than appropriation by the people of the State of California, or the sale of state bonds, which shall be equal to the amount to be realized for the project intended to be accomplished from the sale of bonds as hereinabove provided, except that the state park finance board shall authorize the sale of bonds for the purposes indicated in this act to carry out any park project for the acquisition of lands and properties when it is shown to the satisfaction of the state park finance board that half the total value involved in such project has been provided from sources other than appropriation by the people of the State of California or the sale of state bonds, in the form of land, timber or other properties, or in money, or in any or all such properties. Any and all directions of the state park finance board requiring the state treasurer to sell any of the bonds herein provided for shall be deemed conclusive evidence that all conditions requisite to a valid issuance and sale of the bonds so directed to be sold have been met, performed and complied with.

Bids.

Said bonds shall be sold in consecutive numerical order, save and except that the state treasurer may sell two or more bonds at the same time in one lot, which lot, however, shall be made up of bonds consecutively numbered, the first of which in number shall be the first bond in number yet unsold. The state treasurer shall not accept any bid which is less than the

par value of the bond or bonds bid for and to the amount of the accepted bid there shall be added in each case as a part of the purchase price to be paid by the bidder the amount of interest which shall have accrued on the bond or bonds bid for between the date of purchaser's payment for said bond or bonds and the last preceding interest maturity date. Each bid shall be in writing and signed by the bidder and sealed and shall be deposited with the state treasurer not later than the last business day preceding the date of sale. Each bid shall be accompanied by a deposit with the state treasurer either in cash or by certified check on a reputable bank within the State of California to the order of the State of California of a sum equal to one-tenth of the amount of the par value of the bond or lot of bonds bid for. Such deposit of each unsuccessful bidder shall be returned to him immediately upon the rejection of his bid and such deposit of the successful bidder shall immediately upon acceptance of his bid become and be the property of the State of California and be placed in the California state park fund of 1927, hereinafter referred to, and shall be credited to the successful bidder upon the purchase price of the bond or bonds paid for in case such price is paid in full by him within the time hereinafter prescribed. At the time of sale the state treasurer shall open said bids and accept the bid of the highest bidder for cash, save and except that no bid shall be accepted which shall be lower in amount than the par value of the bonds bid for and that the state treasurer shall reject all bids if instructed so to do by the state park finance board. The purchase price of the bonds sold shall be payable within ten days after the acceptance of the bid therefor, and if not so paid, the successful bidder shall have no right in or to said bonds or by reason of said bid or to the recovery of said deposit accompanying said bid or to any allowance or credit by reason of such deposit.

In case the purchase price is not so paid, the bonds so sold but not paid for shall be resold by the state treasurer upon notice as hereinafter provided in case of original sale. Bonds sold shall be delivered to purchaser immediately upon and not before the payment of the purchase price therefor. Before delivering any of said bonds, the state treasurer shall detach therefrom all interest coupons which have matured before the date of payment of the purchase price therefor. extent of the punishment the court, upon application of the defendant or of the people or upon its own motion, may summarily or at a time fixed, hear and determine, in the presence of the defendant, the matter of probation of the defendant, and the conditions of such probation, if granted, or in its discretion the court may refer the matter to the probation officer to investigate and to report to the court at a specified time, upon the circumstances surrounding the crime and concerning the defendant and his prior record, which may be taken into consideration either in aggravation or mitigation of punishment. At such time or times fixed by the court, the court may hear and determine such application and in connection therewith may consider any report of the probation officer. And if it should determine that there are circumstances in mitigation of punishment prescribed by law or that the ends of justice would be subserved the court shall have power in its discretion to place the defendant on probation as hereinafter provided; further provided, however, that probation shall not be granted to any defendant who at the time of the perpetration of the crime or at the time of his arrest was armed with a deadly weapon (unless at the time he had a lawful right to carry the same) nor to one who used or attempted to use a deadly weapon in connection with the perpetration of the crime, nor to one who in the perpetration of the crime inflicted great bodily injury or torture, nor to any defendant unless the court shall be satisfied that he has never in any place been previously convicted of a felony, nor to any public official or employee of the state, county, city, city and county, or other political subdivision thereof who in the discharge of the duties of his public office or employment accepts or gives or offers to accept or give a bribe or embezzles public money or is guilty of extortion in the discharge of his official duty.

Court's
almost unlimited powers of

1. The court, judge or justice thereof, in the order granting probation, may suspend the imposing, or the execution of the sentence and may direct that such suspension may continue for such period of time not exceeding the maximum possible term of such sentence, except as hereinafter set forth, and upon such terms and conditions as it shall determine. The court, judge or justice, in the order granting probation and as a condition thereof may imprison the defendant in the county jail for a period not exceeding the maximum time fixed by law in the instant case; may fine the defendant in such sum not to exceed the maximum fine provided by law in such case; or may in connection with granting probation, impose either imprisonment in county jail, or fine, or both, or neither; may provide for reparation in proper cases; and may require bonds for the faithful observance and performance of any or all of the conditions of probation. In counties or cities and counties where road camps, farms, or other public work is available the court may place the probationer in such camp, farms, or other public work instead of in jail, and subdivision twenty-nine of section 4041 of the Political Code shall apply to probation and the court shall have the same power to require adult probationers to work, as prisoners confined in the county jail are required to work, at public work as therein provided; and supervisors of the several counties are hereby authorized to provide public work and to fix the scale of compensation for such adult probationers in their respective counties. In all cases of probation the court is authorized to require as a condition of probation that the probationer go to work and earn money for the support of his dependents or to pay any fine imposed or reparation condition, to keep an account of his earnings, to report the same to the probation officer and to apply such earnings as directed by the court.

The court may impose and require any or all of the above mentioned terms of imprisonment, fine and conditions and other reasonable conditions, as it may determine are fitting and proper to the end that justice may be done, that amends may be made to society for the breach of the law; for any injury done to any person resulting from such breach and generally and specifically for the reformation and rehabilitation of the probationer; provided, that if the probationer should violate the terms and conditions of his probation and the court should deem it just or necessary to revoke such probation, then and in that event any period of time which such probationer may have served in jail or other detention place or any fine paid, under the terms and conditions of his probation, shall be taken into consideration as a part of his punishment, and he shall have a credit therefor to be deducted from his term of confinement or from the amount of any fine imposed upon final judgment. Upon the defendant being released from the county jail under the terms of probation or sooner by order of court, and in all cases where he is not confined in the county jail at the time of granting probation, the court shall place the defendant in and under the charge of the probation officer of the court, during such suspension or period of probation; provided, however, that upon the payment of any fine imposed and the fulfillment of all conditions of probation, probation shall cease at the end of the term of probation, or sooner, in the discretion of the court. In counties and cities and counties in which there are facilities for taking finger prints, such marks of identification of each probationer must be taken and a record thereof kept and preserved.

2. At any time during the probationary period of the person released on probation in accordance with the provisions of this section, any probation or peace officer may without warrant, or other process, at any time until the final disposition of the case, rearrest any person so placed on probation under the care of a probation officer, and bring him before the court, or the court may in its discretion issue a warrant for the rearrest of any such person and may thereupon revoke and terminate such probation, if the interests of justice so require, and if the court in its judgment, shall have reason to believe from the report of the probation officer, or otherwise, that the person so placed upon probation is violating any of the conditions of his probation, or engaging in criminal practices, or has become abandoned to improper associates or a vicious life. Upon such revocation and termination the court may, if the sentence has been suspended, pronounce judgment after said suspension of the sentence for any time within the longest period for which the defendant might have been sentenced, but if the judgment has been pronounced and the execution thereof has been suspended, the court may revoke such suspension, whereupon the judgment shall be in full force and effect, and the person shall be delivered over to the proper officer to serve his sentence, less any credits herein provided for.

sentence or discharge

3. The court shall have power at any time during the term of probation to revoke or modify its order of suspension of imposition or execution of sentence. It may at any time when the ends of justice will be subserved thereby, and when the good conduct and reform of the person so held on probation shall warrant it, terminate the period of probation and discharge the person so held, but no such order shall be made without written notice first given by the court or the clerk thereof to the proper probation officer of the intention to revoke or modify its order, and in all cases, if the court has not seen fit to revoke the order of probation and impose sentence or pronounce judgment, the defendant shall at the end of the term of probation or any extension thereof, be by the court discharged subject to the provisions herein.

of plea.

4. Every defendant who has fulfilled the conditions of his probation for the entire period thereof, or who shall have been discharged from probation prior to the termination of the period thereof, shall at any time prior to the expiration of the maximum period of punishment for the offense of which he has been convicted, dating from said discharge from probation of said termination of said period of probation, be permitted by the court to withdraw his plea of guilty and enter a plea of not guilty; or if he has been convicted after a plea of not guilty, the court shall set aside the verdict of guilty; and in either case the court shall thereupon dismiss the accusation or information against such defendant, who shall thereafter be released from all penalties and disabilities resulting from the offense or crime of which he has been convicted. The probationer shall be informed of this right and privilege in his probation papers. The probationer may make such application and change of plea in person or by attorney authorized in writing; provided, that in any subsequent prosecution of such defendant for any other offense such prior conviction may be pleaded and proved and shall have the same effect as if probation had not been granted or the accusation or information dismissed.

5. The offices of adult probation officer, assistant adult probation officer, and deputy adult probation officer are hereby created; provided, that except as hereinafter specified the probation officers, assistant probation officers and deputy probation officers appointed under an act known as the juvenile court law and entitled "An act to be known as the juvenile court law, and concerning persons under the age of twenty-one years; and in certain cases providing for their care, custody and maintenance; providing for the probationary treatment of such persons, and for the commitment of such persons to the Whittier State School and the Preston School of Industry, the California School for Girls and other institutions; establishing probation officers and a probation committee to deal with such persons and fixing the salary thereof; providing for the establishment of detention homes for such persons; fixing the method of procedure and treatment or commitment where crimes have been committed by such persons; providing for the punishment of those guilty of offenses with reference to such persons, and defining such crimes; and repealing the juvenile court law approved March 8, 1909, as amended by an act approved April 5, 1911, and as amended by an act approved June 16, 1913, and all amendments thereof and all acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith," approved June 5, 1915, or under any laws amending or superseding the same shall be ex officio adult probation officers, assistant adult probation officers and deputy adult probation officers respectively except in the case of offenses committed in any city and county and in any county or counties not operating under a freeholders' charter and having a population of more than three hundred thousand and under five hundred thousand and also in any county or counties having a population of more than one hundred thousand and under one hundred ten thousand, as the same is determined by the federal census taken in the year anno Domini 1920, in which counties and cities and counties the adult probation officers, assistant and deputy adult probation officers appointed under subdivision six of this section shall serve under this act; provided, however, that in all cases of offenses defined by section 21 of said act, known as the juvenile court law and by section 270 of the Penal Code, the same probation officers, assistants and deputies shall serve under this act as are appointed under said juvenile court law.

The sanitary board must immediately thereafter transmit to the county auditor of the county in which the district is situated a statement of such rate so fixed by the sanitary board.

Order. If, at the hearing, it appears that the allegations of the petition of said executor, administrator, coexecutor, or coadministrator, are true, and the court is satisfied that no injury can result to the estate by granting the petition, the court must make an order directing the executor or executors, administrator or administrators, as the case may be, to deliver to the heirs, legatees, devisees, or to their assigns, grantees or successors in interest, or the executor or administrator in the state or place of decedent's residence, the whole portion of the estate to which they may be entitled or only a part thereof, designating it. Matters
policy.

Matters Avoiding Policy—This entire policy shall be void (a) if the insured has concealed or misrepresented any material fact or circumstance concerning this insurance or the subject thereof; or (b) in case of any fraud or false swearing by the insured touching any matter relating to this insurance or the subject thereof, whether before or after a loss.

Chattel Mortgage—Unless otherwise provided by agreement in writing indorsed hereon or added hereto this company shall not be liable for loss or damage to any property insured hereunder while encumbered by a chattel mortgage, but the liability of the company upon other property hereby insured shall not be affected by such chattel mortgage.

mail to his last post-office address or if this not known then to the address given upon the application blank which is a part of this policy and by returning to him in the same manner by check or otherwise any excess premium he may have paid during the term of this policy, over the cost of his insurance as measured by the rate of standard fire insurance companies doing business in this state.

Notice to
mortgage.

Also, in case of cancellation by this company it must also notify in the same manner any holder of a mortgage or deed of trust whose name appears either on the signed application which is part of this policy or upon a paster or otherwise upon this policy or the party names "to whom loss if any is payable to -----," provided, however, that if the insured shall fail to pay the premium on this policy within thirty days from date thereof, then this policy shall be suspended and of no further force and effect until reinstated by the payment of all delinquent charges or fees; and provided, further, that this policy shall not be suspended as far as the interest of said mortgagee or other party to whom, with the written consent of the company this policy is made payable until and after ten days written notice of such failure.

SECTION 1. Section 1590 of the Political Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

1590. On the first day of July next ensuing after the formation of a union or joint union school district, the county superintendent of schools, or superintendents in joint union school districts, shall transfer, by requisition upon the county auditor, all funds remaining to the credit of the different districts uniting to form the union or joint union district, to the credit of such union or joint union district.

For the purposes of teachers' reports and for the estimating of the number of teachers and the amount of money to which each district is entitled, the several districts uniting to form the union school district shall continue their separate existence, and may also continue their separate existence for high school connections as in this section provided.

The teacher or teachers shall keep the enrollment and attendance of each district separate from that of the other districts composing the union. At the close of the term or year, a report shall be made of the attendance of each district composing the union separately. These separate reports shall be combined into a principal's report. In case of a joint union school district, the teacher or teachers shall send a copy of each report to the county superintendent in whose county parts of the district lie; and provided, further, that no moneys shall be apportioned directly to any of such several districts, while forming a part of an organized union or joint union school district, but there shall be apportioned to such union or joint union district the aggregate of moneys that would be apportioned to the several school districts composing it, if such several districts were not united.

If a union or joint union district shall hold an election to determine the question of becoming a part of a union or joint union high school district as provided in section 1733 of this code, and if at such election the union or joint union district shall vote not to become a part of a high school district, then at any time after such election and prior to the first day of the following September any of the districts comprising the union or joint union district may hold an election to determine whether or not such district shall become a part of a union or joint union high school district. If the trustees of any district comprising a part of the union or joint union district, or a majority of the heads of families who reside in such district and have children attending school as shown by the teachers' register, deem it advisable to hold such election they shall so notify the county superintendent of schools and request him to call an election. The county superintendent of schools, within twenty days after receiving such request from said trustees, or from the majority of heads of families as aforesaid, shall call an election for the determination of the question in such particular district and shall appoint three qualified electors in said district to conduct the election therein. Said election shall be held in the public school house of the district and shall be called by posting notices therein at least ten days prior to the election in three of the most public places in said district, one of which places shall be the said public school house. Said election shall be conducted by the officers appointed for that purpose in the manner provided by law for conducting school elections. The ballot at such election shall contain the words "Shall the (name of district) become a part of the (name) union or joint union high school district?", and the voter shall write or print after said words on his ballot the word "yes" or the word "no".

It shall be the duty of said election officers to canvass the vote at said election as soon as the polls are closed and report the result to the superintendent of schools within five days subsequent to the holding of said election. Within ten days after receiving the returns of said election, the superintendent of schools shall declare and record the result of said election in a book kept by him for that purpose. If a majority of the votes cast at said election are in favor of the district becoming a part of such union or joint union high school district the superintendent of schools shall also file with the county clerk of the county a certificate showing the number of votes cast in favor of said district becoming a part of such union or joint union high school district, the total number of votes against the question and the result of said election. If it shall appear from such certificate that a majority of the votes cast at such election were in favor of said district becoming a part of said union or joint union high school district then such district shall be included as a part of such union or joint union high school district for all high school purposes; provided, however, that no separate district comprising a part of a union or joint union district shall become a part of a union or joint union high school district under the provisions of this section unless

1733. Except as in this section and in section 1590 of this code provided, a school district can not lie partly within a high school district and partly without; and in all cases where the boundaries of a school district comprised within any high school district shall for any cause be changed to include territory not previously in such school district, the territory added to such school district shall become and constitute a part of the high school district; and in all cases where the boundaries of a school district comprised within any high school district shall be changed so as to exclude territory therefrom such excluded territory shall, except as hereinafter provided, be excluded from the high school district. Where a new school district is formed from territory situated wholly within one high school district, such new school district shall continue to be a part of the high school district; and where a new school district is formed from territory situated in two or more high school districts or situated partly in a high school district and partly in no high school district, the electors of such new school district shall decide by a majority vote to which high school district the new school district shall belong or whether such new school district shall be a part of such high school district, such election being held within thirty days after the formation of the school district, and called by the superintendent of schools of the county in which such school district is situated, in the manner provided in section 1727. The result of such election shall be certified by the superintendent of schools to the county clerk of the county in which such school district is situated, and to the clerk of every other county in which any part of the high school district selected by the electors is situated, and entered in such clerk's record of high school districts.

If such election is held in consequence of two or more school districts having been formed into a union or joint union district, and if such election results in the new union or joint union district not becoming a part of a high school district, then elections may be held in the separate districts which form the union or joint union district as such elections are provided for in section 1590 of this code.

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Section 20 of an act entitled "An act to define and regulate the business of banking," approved March 1, 1909, as amended, is hereby amended to read as follows: Stats 1919, p. 623, amended

Sec. 20. Every commercial bank shall maintain total reserves against its aggregate deposits, exclusive of United Commercial bank total reserves.

Commercial bank total

States and postal savings deposits and deposits of the State of California and of any county and municipality in the State of California, which are secured as required by law, as follows:

1. Eighteen per centum of such deposits if such bank has its principal place of business in a city having a population of one hundred thousand or over.

2. Fifteen per centum of such deposits, if such bank is located in a city having a population of fifty thousand or over and less than one hundred thousand.

3. Twelve per centum of such deposits if such bank is located elsewhere in the state.

Of such total reserves an amount not less than six per centum of such deposits shall be maintained as reserves on hand and shall consist of gold bullion or any form of money or currency authorized by the laws of the United States; provided, however, that any bank acting as a reserve depository shall maintain as such reserves on hand an amount not less than one-half of the total reserves required by the provisions of this section. The remainder of the total reserve so required shall be maintained as reserves on deposit or as reserves on hand, such reserves on hand to consist of gold bullion or any form of money or currency authorized by the laws of the United States; provided, further, however, that all or any part of the reserves may be deposited subject to call with a federal reserve bank in the district in which said bank is located.

reserve bank

If any bank shall have become a member of a federal reserve bank, it shall comply with the reserve requirements of the federal reserve act and its amendments, and its compliance therewith shall be in lieu of, and shall relieve such bank from compliance with, the provisions of this section.

Penalty

1. At the rate of six per centum per annum upon any such encroachment not exceeding two per centum of such deposits.

2. At the rate of eight per centum per annum upon any additional encroachment in excess of two and not exceeding three per centum of such deposits.

3. At the rate of ten per centum per annum upon any additional encroachment in excess of three and not exceeding four per centum of such deposits.

4. One hundred thousand dollars, if located elsewhere in the state.

Such depository may also be a banking corporation with a capital and surplus of one million dollars or more, located in any city in the United States.

If the total reserves of any bank shall be less than the amount required by this section, such bank shall not increase its liabilities by making any new loans or discounts, otherwise than by discounting bills of exchange on sight, or by paying any dividends from profits until the full amount of its total reserves has been restored. The superintendent of banks may notify any bank whose total reserves shall be below the amount herein required, to restore such total reserves; and, if it shall fail for thirty days thereafter to restore such total reserves, such bank shall be deemed insolvent and may be proceeded against under the provisions of this act; provided, that all deposits of money herein permitted or required shall comply with the provisions of section 43 of this act.

An affidavit showing such publication shall be filed in the office of the superintendent of banks within ten days after the last publication thereof. The affairs of such selling bank, or selling department of a bank, shall remain subject to the provisions of this act.

Any commercial bank may accept drafts or bills of exchange drawn upon it having not more than six months' sight to run, exclusive of days of grace, which grow out of transactions involving the importation or exportation of goods; or which grow out of transactions involving the domestic shipment of goods provided shipping documents conveying or securing title are attached at the time of acceptance; or which are secured at the time of acceptance by a warehouse receipt or other such document conveying or securing title covering readily marketable staples. No commercial bank shall accept, whether in a foreign or domestic transaction, for any one person, company, firm, or corporation to an amount equal at any time in the aggregate to more than ten per centum of its paid-up and unimpaired capital and surplus, unless the bank is secured either by attached documents or by some other actual security growing out of the same transaction as the acceptance; and no commercial bank shall accept such bills to an amount equal at any time in the aggregate to more than one-half of its paid-up and unimpaired capital and surplus; provided, however, that the superintendent of banks, under such general regulations as he may prescribe, which shall apply to all commercial banks alike regardless of the amount of capital and surplus, may authorize any commercial bank to accept such bills to an amount not exceeding at any time in the aggregate one hundred per centum of its paid-up and unimpaired capital and surplus.

Any commercial bank may accept drafts or bills of exchange drawn upon it having not more than three months' sight to run, exclusive of days of grace, drawn under regulations to be prescribed by the superintendent of banks by banks or bankers in foreign countries or dependencies or insular possessions of the United States for the purpose of furnishing dollar exchange as required by the usages of trade in the respective countries, dependencies, or insular possessions; provided, however, that no commercial bank shall accept such drafts or bills of exchange referred to in this paragraph for any one bank to any amount exceeding in the aggregate ten per centum of the paid-up and unimpaired capital and surplus of the accepting bank unless the draft or bill of exchange is accompanied by documents conveying or securing title or by some other adequate security; provided, further, that no commercial bank shall accept such drafts or bills in an amount exceeding at any time the aggregate of one-half of its paid-up and unimpaired capital and surplus.

None of the limitations or restrictions contained in the previous subdivisions of this section shall apply to loans, discounts or other extensions of credit secured by liberty bonds or by other bonds or securities issued by the United States government, if the market value of such liberty bonds or other securities exceeds by ten per centum the amount of any such loan, discount or other extension of credit.

Loans secured by U. S. bonds.

Loans which are made upon security available for loans in a savings bank may be made in a commercial bank upon the same margin of security as is permitted to savings banks, anything in this section to the contrary notwithstanding, and all such loans shall be deemed to be secured loans within the meaning of this section.

CHAPTER 858.

An act to amend an act of the Legislature of the State of California known and designated as the "acquisition and improvement act of 1925," approved May 23, 1925, by adding new sections thereto to be numbered sections twenty-eight and three-quarters, thirty-three a, thirty-three b, thirty-three c, thirty-six and three-quarters and thirty-seven a, relating to the issuance of immediate possession bonds, the entering of stipulated judgments in condemnation suits and hearings thereon, the issuance of bonds for acquisitions and improvements, and the entering of more than one final judgment in a condemnation action.

[Approved by the Governor June 1, 1927. In effect July 31, 1927.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. That act of the Legislature of the State of California known and designated as the "acquisition and improvement act of 1925," approved May 23, 1925, is hereby amended by adding thereto a new section to be numbered 28 $\frac{1}{2}$, and to read as follows:

Stats 1925,
amended

Sec. 28 $\frac{1}{2}$. The authority granted by section 28 of this act for the issuance of bonds to obtain immediate possession shall not be exhausted by a single exercise thereof and the legislative body is hereby authorized to issue bonds to obtain immediate possession in the manner prescribed by section 28, with respect to any one or more of the parcels of land sought to be condemned, and the fact that bonds have been issued to obtain immediate possession and use of any portion of the property sought to be condemned shall not prevent the issuance of bonds at a later time to obtain immediate possession and use of any other portion of the property sought to be condemned.

immediate possession
bonds.

SEC. 2. Said act is hereby amended by adding thereto a new section to be numbered section 33a, and to read as follows:

Stats. 1925,
p. 882,
amended.

Sec. 33a. In addition to the procedure elsewhere in this act provided as the method of determining the compensation for all property to be actually taken and the basis of damage and damages to property not actually taken but injuriously affected in all cases where such damages are allowed by the provisions of this act, and anything elsewhere in this act to the contrary notwithstanding, if the plaintiff and all parties owning or claiming an interest in any parcel or parcels of land sought to be acquired enter into a stipulation for the entry of an interlocutory judgment relating to such parcel or parcels of land, agreeing upon the actual value of any property to be actually taken and the amount of damages to property not actually taken but injuriously affected, such stipulation may be filed in court and upon motion of any party thereto the court may appoint a date for a hearing upon such stipulation and for the entry of an interlocutory judgment in accordance therewith not less than twenty days thereafter. Notice of the time and place of said hearing must at least ten days before the date so appointed be served on all parties to such stipulation, unless all parties in such stipulation waive the giving of such notice. In addition to the notice hereinbefore provided the clerk of the court must give notice of the filing of said stipulation and of the time and place appointed for the hearing on same to all persons owning or having an interest in any lands included within the assessment district for the time and in the manner prescribed by section 32 of this act for the

as to actual value and damages.

Notice of hearing

notice of the filing of the referees' report. Said notice shall be in the form mentioned in said section 32 with such changes as may be applicable to the matter of a hearing upon such stipulation; provided, however, that such notice given by the clerk of the court shall recite the names of the parties to whom payments are proposed to be made for interests in the land sought to be condemned, together with the amount of money so proposed to be paid to each of such parties, and a reference to the parcel of land for which such payment is proposed to be made, as said parcel is designated in the complaint. At any time not later than one day prior to the hearing any person owning or having any interest in any lands included within said assessment district, including any persons who are parties to the action, may intervene in the action and file their objections in writing to the entry of said proposed judgment specifying the ground upon which such objections are based, and any person so intervening may appear and contest said motion for the entry of such interlocutory judgment and introduce evidence in support of such objections. The parties to such stipulation may likewise introduce evidence in support of such stipulation and such motion for the entry of the proposed interlocutory judgment.

Intervening parties

Judgment where no objection.

At or after the time of said hearing, if no objections are filed to the entry of such interlocutory judgment, the court may, without taking any evidence, enter an interlocutory judgment in accordance with such stipulation, adjudging that upon payment in accordance therewith, the property therein mentioned shall be condemned to the use of the plaintiff and dedicated to the use specified in the complaint.

Judgment where objection filed.

If objections are filed against the entry of such interlocutory judgment, the court may similarly, after hearing such objections and any testimony above referred to, enter an interlocutory judgment if the court finds that the amounts stipulated as the value of the property taken and the damages to property not actually taken but injuriously affected constitute just compensation.

Just compensation.

Whether objections are filed to the entry of such interlocutory judgment or whether no such objections are filed, no findings of fact or conclusions of law need be prepared or filed, but in the event that the court finds that the amounts set forth in such stipulation constitute more or less than just compensation, no interlocutory judgments shall be entered and the action shall proceed as to the parcel of land as to which such stipulation is made, in accordance with the provisions of section 29 of this act; provided, however, that if the amounts set forth in such stipulation are, in the opinion of the court, in excess of just compensation, the court may find what amounts constitute just compensation and enter an interlocutory judgment therefor, if the parties to such stipulation all consent thereto in open court or in writing within ten days after such finding.

Purpose of section

The purpose of this section is hereby declared to be the expeditious settlement of the matter of compensation and damages in any case where the plaintiff and the owners or parties interested in any parcel of land sought to be condemned come to an agreement with respect to such compensation and damages, and this section shall not be construed to prevent the entry of the interlocutory judgment based upon such stipulation for the reason that any or all parties defendant have not been served in said action, if all parties specifically alleged in the complaint to own or claim an interest in the parcel of land mentioned in the stipulation are parties to such stipulation, or have defaulted in the action, and the allegation in the complaint that defendants sued by fictitious names claim an interest in the parcel of land mentioned in the stipulation shall not be deemed to be a specific allegation of an interest in the particular parcel of land mentioned in the stipulation.

An additional purpose of this section is hereby declared to be the saving of expense in the matter of ascertaining the compensation for property taken and damages payable for property not taken but injuriously affected, and if no objections are filed to such stipulation it shall be unnecessary to introduce evidence before the court in the matter of the compensation and damages.

SEC. 3. Said act is hereby amended by adding thereto a new section to be numbered section 33b, and to read as follows:

Sec. 33b. Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to prevent the trial of the action by the various methods specified in section 29, and any defendant may demand and shall be entitled to a jury trial irrespective of the fact that any other defendant may waive a trial by a court or jury and permit the matter of compensation and damages to be determined by referees; provided, however, in the event any defendant demands a jury trial as to the interest alleged to be owned or claimed by him in any parcel sought to be condemned, the matter of the compensation and damages payable for such parcel and of each and every interest or estate therein shall be determined at such trial by jury irrespective of the demand of any other defendant claiming an interest in such parcel for a trial by the court without a jury or for the ascertainment of compensation and damages by the referees, and similarly in the event that any defendant demands a trial by the court without a jury as to his interest in any parcel sought to be condemned and no defendant claiming an interest in such parcel has demanded a trial by jury as to the interest of such defendant in such parcel, the matter of compensation and damages as to such parcel and of each and every interest or estate therein, shall proceed to trial by the court without a jury irrespective of the fact that any other defendant has waived trial by jury and trial by the court without a jury.

Stats 1925,
p. 882,
amended.

Where any defendant
demands
trial by jury
or court.

Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to prevent and authority is hereby expressly granted for, the entry of separate interlocutory judgments as to the separate parcels sought to be condemned, and such authority is hereby expressly granted for the entry of an interlocutory judgment or judgments relating to all parcels as to which the matter of compensation and damages has been referred to referees, excepting therefrom any parcels as to which exceptions are filed to the referees' report. Included within the intent of this section is authorization for the entry of an interlocutory judgment as to all parcels mentioned in the referees' report as to which no exceptions have been filed in order that the proceedings for acquisition may proceed prior to the final determination of compensation and damages with respect to those parcels as to which exceptions have been filed to the referees' report and prior to the entry of interlocutory judgments as to parcels as to which any defendants may demand a trial by jury or a trial by the court without a jury.

Stats 1925,
p. 832,
amended.

SEC. 4. Said act is hereby amended by adding thereto a new section to be numbered section 33c, and to read as follows:

Entry of interlocutory
judgment.

SEC. 33c. That at the date set for the hearing of the referees' report, as provided in section 32 hereof, the court shall have power to enter an interlocutory judgment or judgments for all parcels of land with respect to which no exceptions have been filed.

bonds.

SEC. 5. Said act is hereby amended by adding thereto a new section to be numbered section 36½, and to read as follows:

SEC. 36½. Upon the entry of any interlocutory judgment or judgments other than a single interlocutory judgment relating to all of the land sought to be condemned in the action, the legislative body conducting the proceeding may fix a day, hour and place for a hearing upon the issuance of bonds against the lands in the assessment district for the purpose of obtaining the amount or amounts set forth in said interlocutory judgment or judgments. Said hearing shall be for the purpose of furnishing an opportunity to all persons owning land within the assessment district or otherwise interested and feeling aggrieved by any act or determination done or made in the said proceeding relating to the entry of said interlocutory judgment or judgments, or claiming that any of the previous acts or determinations or proceedings are irregular, defective, erroneous or faulty, or having any objections to offer or any reason to advance why bonds should not be issued in the amount set forth in said notice for the purpose therein set forth, to appear before the legislative body and be heard upon any of the above mentioned matters. The amount or amounts required for said purpose and for which bonds are proposed to be issued shall be stated in the notice. It shall not be necessary for the attorney to furnish a report to said legislative body showing the costs and expenses chargeable to the plaintiff in the action with respect to the said interlocutory judgment or judgments but the attorney shall furnish a report to said legislative body showing the amount or amounts necessary for the payment of said interlocutory judgment, or judgments. In determining the amount for which bonds are to be issued in the matter of any interlocutory judgment or judgments, except the interlocutory judgment or judgments which will, with those previously entered embrace all of the land sought to be acquired, it shall not be necessary to deduct the amount, if any, to be paid by the county or municipality or both toward the expenses of the acquisition unless such county or municipality or both have expressly authorized the payment of such money as a contribution on account of the amount payable under the particular interlocutory judgment for which bonds are to be issued as herein provided.

This section shall be deemed to provide an alternative method for the issuance of bonds by which it shall not be necessary to await the entry of all interlocutory judgments relating to all of the land sought to be condemned before any of the bonds can be issued for the payment of a particular judgment. In the event that the legislative body proceeds under this section in the matter of the issuance of bonds, the hearing thereon shall be final and conclusive upon all persons entitled to be heard under the provisions of this act as to all matters determined upon said hearing and as to all errors, informalities, irregularities, omissions and defects which said legislative body might have avoided or have remedied during the progress of the proceedings or which it can remedy at said time.

All provisions of sections 36 and 36½ of this act not inconsistent with the provisions of this section shall be applicable to the procedure herein established for the issuance of bonds for separate interlocutory judgments, and such changes in the procedure prescribed by sections 36 and 36½ of this act shall be made in the event of issuance of bonds for separate interlocutory judgments as are necessary in order to carry out the intent of this section.

Under the alternative procedure herein established the issuance of bonds necessary for the acquisition of the land to pay that particular interlocutory judgment or judgments, which together with all previously entered interlocutory judgments will embrace all of the land sought to be condemned, shall be for bonds in an amount sufficient to pay said particular interlocutory judgment or judgments and all costs and expenses chargeable to the plaintiff in the action and the amount of incidental expenses of the proceeding. The bonds last referred to are hereafter referred to as "the last issue of bonds." Prior to the fixing of the time for the hearing on the last issue of bonds the attorney shall furnish a report to said legislative body showing the amount or amounts necessary for the payment of said interlocutory judgment or judgments and all costs and expenses chargeable to the plaintiff in the action, and the amount of incidental expenses of the proceedings which shall be ascertained from the clerk of the legislative body and be included in the total amount for which bonds are proposed to be issued. In determining the amount of the last issue of bonds there shall be deducted the amount (if any) to be paid by the county or municipality or both, toward the expenses of the acquisition, as provided in the resolution of intention. Should it happen that the amount, if any, to be paid by the county or municipality or both, is in excess of the amount necessary for the last issue of bonds, such excess shall be applied to the interest and sinking fund for the payment of the bonds then outstanding which were issued and sold to defray the expense of the acquisition.

Under the alternative procedure herein established in determining the amount for which any bonds are to be issued, there shall be deducted the amount (if any) theretofore raised by the issuance or sale of bonds to obtain immediate possession and use of the particular property mentioned in the interlocutory judgment for which the bonds are to be issued. If any amount has been raised and deposited as directed by the court as security for such immediate possession and use of the property, it shall be applied in the manner directed by the court, toward the payment of the amounts to be paid as set forth in the particular interlocutory judgment, and shall, pro tanto, reduce the amount to be raised by the issuance and sale of the bonds under this section.

Designation
of series

In the event that acquisition bonds or immediate possession bonds are issued at more than one time, as permitted under this section, then each series shall be designated in a convenient manner, following the provisions of section 39 hereof, as, for example: Series A-one, A-two, and similarly in sequence in the order in which bonds are ordered issued.

Final judgment upon payment of award.

SEC. 6. Said act is hereby amended by adding thereto a new section to be numbered section 37*c*, and to read as follows:

Sec. 37*a*. Upon satisfactory proof being made to the court of the payment of the amounts awarded by the particular interlocutory judgment or judgments contemplated by sections 33*a*, 33*b*, and 36*a*, to the respective parties entitled thereto, including costs awarded, or into court for their benefit, it shall direct the particular interlocutory judgment or judgments to be satisfied and shall make and enter a final judgment condemning the lands described or referred to in such particular interlocutory judgment or judgments to the use of the plaintiff for the uses specified in the complaint, and such final judgments may be entered irrespective of the fact that interlocutory judgments may not have been entered embracing all of the land sought to be condemned in the complaint.

alternative procedure
authorized.

It is hereby expressly provided that the procedure provided by sections 33*a*, 33*b*, 33*c*, 36 $\frac{1}{2}$ and 37*a*, taken in conjunction with other provisions of this act not inconsistent therewith, constitutes an alternative and supplementary procedure authorizing the entry of separate interlocutory judgments by stipulation with respect to the various parcels of land sought to be acquired, and authorizing the issuance of bonds at different times to pay for the acquisition of the various parcels under such separate interlocutory judgments, but such alternative and supplementary procedure shall be, and is hereby authorized only in those cases where that which is to be done consists solely of the acquisition of land for the widening of a public way or ways in existence at the date of the initiation of the proceedings for such acquisition, or the acquisition of land for the opening or extension of a public way or ways in cases where such land to be acquired, together with land theretofore in use as a public way or as to which a final judgment has theretofore been entered condemning the same for a public way, will constitute a continuous public way. Such procedure is not authorized when that which is to be done includes the construction of any improvement in a public way.

Upon an application for a test, as first above mentioned, the chief of the division of motor vehicles shall, upon notice to the applicant, submit such device to a testing agency appointed as herein provided with the request that such device be tested as to conformity with the provisions of this act when used separately or in connection with approved headlamps or headlight control devices. Each such application shall, upon the filing of his application, pay to the division a fee of fifty dollars. All such fees shall be paid by the division into the state treasury and deposited in a fund to be known as the "motor vehicle testing fee fund," and the moneys in such fund, or so much of them as may be necessary, are hereby appropriated to meet the expenses of the test provided for in this section, and the balance thereof, if any, shall be paid into the motor vehicle fund.

The testing agency shall submit in duplicate a detailed report of each such test to the division of motor vehicles; such report shall give in detail the apparent candlepower of light projected at each point of the said test, the candlepower of the lamp or bulb used to produce the amount of light nearest the maximum requirement of section 101 hereof, any particular adjustments required by the testing agency which are not included in the manufacturers' printed instructions, together with the reasons for such additional requirements, and a statement as to whether or not the device is approved and will conform with the requirements of this act when used in accordance with the instructions of the testing agency. Reports of all such tests shall be accessible to the public and a copy thereof shall be furnished by the chief of the division of motor vehicles to the applicant for the test.

(e) Whenever the division shall receive from the testing agency a report that a particular device has been tested and approved, together with instructions as to the candlepower lamp or bulb and any particular adjustments to be used in connection with such device, the division shall issue to the applicant a certificate of approval, together with a copy of the instructions of the testing agency relative to the use of such device.

(h) Whenever the division shall receive one or more complaints in writing that any headlight lens, reflector or headlight control device sold commercially which is hereafter or which has heretofore been approved by the division does not under ordinary conditions of use comply with the requirements of this act, the division in its discretion may upon notice to the manufacturer thereof require that such headlight lens, reflector or headlight control device shall be retested by a testing agency appointed by the division as herein provided and, upon any such retest the testing agency shall determine whether or not such headlight lens, reflector, or headlight control device meets the requirements of this act, and, if the same is approved, the division shall issue a certificate of approval to the manufacturer thereof. No fee shall be charged for any such retest.

(i) From and after the date upon which this section becomes effective it shall be unlawful to sell or offer for sale any headlight lamp or headlight equipment unless it is of a type which shall have been approved by the division under the provisions hereof, and unless such device is accompanied by a printed sheet of instructions describing the device in detail, its method of mounting and adjustment, candlepower limits of lamps to be used and any other adjustment that may be necessary to insure its conformity with the requirements of this act, and with the conditions specified in the report of the testing agency appointed by the chief of the division to test such headlight control device, such instructions shall be printed with photographs of the (a) control device, (b) pattern of light from one headlight thrown on regulation testing screen, showing the relation of the patterns of light as projected to a horizontal cross line placed across the face of such screen at a height equal

It shall be unlawful from and after the date upon which this section becomes effective to sell or offer for sale any new motor vehicle equipped with headlights which do not comply with the provisions of this act.

Nothing in this act shall be construed as preventing the use on a motor vehicle of any headlight lamp, device or equipment heretofore approved by the division until December 31, 1924, unless such approval is revoked in accordance with the provisions hereof. After December 31, 1924, it shall be unlawful to use on any highway in this state any headlight lamp, device or equipment which shall not have been approved by the division as in this act provided. Use of unapproved headlights Nothing in this act shall be construed to prohibit the use, on any motor vehicle manufactured prior to the year 1920 and registered at the time this amendment takes effect, of headlights, the current for which is derived from a magneto without the use of a battery, until September 1, 1927; provided, such headlights are equipped with lenses, reflectors or headlight control device otherwise required under this act. Substantial compliance.

The director of agriculture is hereby empowered to establish and enforce such additional grades, grading rules and regulations as may be deemed necessary on fruits, nuts or vegetables, including those which are not named in this act, which shall not conflict with any provided for in this act, after a thorough investigation has been made of the needs of the particular fruit, nut or vegetable for which grades, grading rules and regulations are contemplated. Such grades, grading rules and regulations must, before they become effective, be approved in one or more public meetings attended by representative growers and shippers of the localities interested in the industry affected. Such meetings shall be advertised at least once in a newspaper published in such localities one week or more prior to the meetings; said meetings shall be presided over by the director of agriculture, or any of his duly authorized agents and shall, in so far as possible and practicable, be conducted at such place or places as can be conveniently reached by representatives of the affected industry. Grades, grading rules and regulations, established in accordance with the provisions of this section, shall not be modified during the current shipping season of the fruit, nut or vegetable for which they are established, excepting as hereinafter provided. In like manner the director of agriculture may provide for standard packages other than those established in this act, but no standard packages shall be eliminated or changed without two years notice to the industry involved.

Due notice shall be given by the director of agriculture to all interested parties of the date and place of such hearing and the grades, grading rules, regulations or standard packages shall be sustained, modified or revoked, in the discretion of the director of agriculture on the basis of the evidence presented. SEC. 13. No provision of this act, excepting as hereinafter provided in section 21, shall be construed to prevent a grower of fruits, nuts or vegetables in the State of California from selling or delivering the same unpacked and unmarked, as a part of his crop in bulk to a packer for grading, packing or storage; or to prevent a grower or packer from manufacturing the same into any by-product, or from selling the same unpacked and unmarked to any person, firm, company, organization or corporation actually engaged in the operation of a commercial by-products factory for the sole and express purpose of being used in the State of California in the manufacture of a by-product for resale.

Sales to packers and by-products manufacturers.

SEC. 14. All fruits, nuts or vegetables of a kind specified in this act which are not wrapped or packed, and which are intended for use in the State of California in commercial processing, preserving or manufacture of by-products for resale, shall be exempt from the provisions of this act; excepting as hereinafter provided in section 21; provided, however, that the packages in which they are contained shall bear no false or misleading statements or designations; provided, further, that such fruits, nuts or vegetables shall not be deceptively packed or deceptively placed in any container.

or hold at the expense and risk of the latter all fruits, nuts or vegetables which upon inspection are found to be delivered for shipment in violation of any of the provisions of this act.

Apricots.

Sec. 16. Apricots. Fresh apricots, when being packed, or after packing, or when delivered for shipment, loaded, shipped, or being transported, offered for sale or sold in any container or subcontainer, shall conform to the following standard.

Standard for Fresh Apricots. Fresh apricots shall be mature but not overripe, shall be free from cuts, bruises, unhealed cracks, insect injury, mold, brown rot, decay, and from serious damage caused by scab, shot hole fungus, hail or other means, and in the case of packed apricots shall be virtually uniform in size; provided, that not more than ten per cent, by count, of the apricots in any one container may be below these requirements, but not to exceed one-half of this tolerance, or five per cent, shall be allowed for any one cause.

Damage caused by scab or shot hole fungus, on any apricot, shall not be considered serious unless the spots total more than five in number, or cover an aggregate area of more than one-fourth inch in diameter. Damage caused by hail in any apricot shall not be considered serious unless it causes a waste of ten per cent by weight of the fruit.

“Virtually uniform in size” shall mean in the case of packed apricots a variation of not more than one-fourth of an inch in diameter, when measured through the widest portion of cross-section, between the fruits in any one container. When packed in layers there shall be approximately the same numerical count in each layer throughout a container or subcontainer having straight sides. In the case of apricots packed in sloping side containers, the bottom layer shall contain a smaller numerical count than the top layer.

Markings. In addition to the markings required by section 9 of this act, all containers of fresh apricots, when packed, shall bear upon them in plain sight and in plain letters on the outside thereof the following: Name of variety if known, and when not known the words “unknown variety,” the net weight, and the approximate number of fruits in the container or subcontainer, which number shall be within four of the true count; provided, that in lieu of the approximate number of fruits the numerical description of pack may be used. Numerical description of pack shall describe the count of the top layer on two adjacent sides of the container or subcontainer. When two or more varieties are packed or placed in a container they shall be labeled “mixed varieties.” Containers in which the fruit in the top layer only is placed in compact arrangement shall be labeled “face and fill” in lieu of the approximate number of fruits.

Containers of fresh apricots which are not packed shall not be required to show any markings.

Standard Containers for Packed Apricots. Packed fresh apricots shall be in standard containers numbers 4, 5, 6, 7, 20 or 23 established in section 11 of this act; provided, that other sized containers may be used if conspicuously marked in letters not less than one-half inch in height "irregular container." No standard containers are established for loose fresh apricots which are not packed.

SEC. 17. Avocados. Avocados, when being packed, or after packing, or when delivered for shipment, loaded, shipped, or being transported, offered for sale or sold, in any container or subcontainer or in bulk, shall conform to the following standard. Avocados.

Standard for Avocados. Avocados shall be mature, free from worm injury, mold, decay, and from serious damage caused by cuts, bruises, growth cracks, insects or disease; and in the case of packed avocados shall be virtually uniform in size; provided, that not more than ten per cent, by count, of the avocados in any one container or loose lot may be below these requirements, but not to exceed one-half of this tolerance. or five per cent, shall be allowed for any one cause; provided, further, that no part of this tolerance shall be allowed for immature avocados.

Damage to any avocado shall not be considered as serious unless it causes a waste of twenty per cent by weight of the fruit.

The percentage of serious defects in any bulk lot of avocados may be established by inspection of a representative sample, which shall consist of not less than one hundred fruits selected at random.

When packed in layers there shall be approximately the same numerical count in each layer throughout a container or subcontainer having straight sides.

Avocados shall not be considered mature when the edible portion shows an oil content of less than eight per cent, by weight, by chemical analysis.

Markings. In addition to the markings required by section 9 of this act, all containers of avocados, when packed, shall bear upon them in plain sight and in plain letters on the outside thereof the following: Name of variety, if known, and when not known the words "unknown variety" or "unnamed variety," the net weight or average weight of fruits, and the number of fruits in the container or subcontainer. When two or more varieties are packed or placed in a container they shall be labeled "mixed varieties."

Containers of avocados which are not packed shall not be required to show any markings.

No Standard Containers. No standard containers are established by this act for avocados.

Strawberries shall be mature but not overripe, shall not be noticeably undeveloped or deformed; and shall have the cap (calyx) attached, and be free from cuts, mold, decay, and from serious damage caused by rain, irrigation, sun, frost, bruising, disease, insects or other means, and in the case of face packed strawberries shall be virtually uniform in size; provided, that not more than ten per cent, by weight, of the strawberries in any one container or subcontainer, may be below these requirements, but not to exceed one-half of this tolerance, or five per cent, shall be allowed for any one cause.

Any strawberry which has not less than two-thirds of the surface showing pink or red color shall be considered mature.

"Virtually uniform in size" shall mean, in the case of face packed strawberries, a variation of not more than one-fourth of an inch in diameter, when measured through the widest portion of cross-section, between the berries in any one sub-container.

"Face packed" shall mean the regular arrangement of the top layer of strawberries in any container or subcontainer.

Markings. The markings required by section 9 of this act, in lieu of being plainly and conspicuously stamped, stenciled, printed, labeled or branded on one end of each crate or chest containing berries, may be shown on tags or labels placed on top of the fruit in each crate, slide or drawer.

Standard Containers for Strawberries. All strawberries shall be in standard subcontainer number 2a established in section 11 of this act.

Raspberries,

Markings. The markings required by section 9 of this act, in lieu of being plainly and conspicuously stamped, stenciled, printed, labeled or branded on one end of each crate or chest containing berries, may be shown on tags or labels placed on top of the fruit in each crate, slide or drawer.

Standard Containers for Red and Blackcap Raspberries, Blackberries, Dewberries, and Loganberries. All red and blackcap raspberries, blackberries, dewberries and loganberries shall be in standard subcontainers number 2a or 2b, established in section 11 of this act.

SEC. 19. Cherries. Cherries when being packed or after packing, or when delivered for shipment, loaded, shipped, or being transported, offered for sale or sold in any container, or subcontainer, shall conform to the following standard: Cherries.

Standard for Cherries. Cherries shall be mature but not overripe, not abnormally soft, wrinkled, shriveled, or spongy, not stemless or wet, and shall be free from soft bruises, unhealed growth cracks or splits, cuts, bird pecks or other skin breaks, insect injury, aphis honey dew, mold, brown rot, decay and from serious damage caused by sunburn or doubles, and in the case of packed cherries shall be virtually uniform in size; provided, that not more than ten per cent, by count, of the cherries in any one container may be below these requirements, but not to exceed one-half of this tolerance, or five per cent, shall be allowed for any one cause.

Damage caused by sunburn shall not be considered serious unless the flesh is affected. Damage caused by doubles shall not be considered serious unless one of the halves is undeveloped, small or dry.

“Virtually uniform in size” shall mean, in the case of packed cherries, that the average size of cherries used in the fill shall not be smaller than would pack one row more in each direction than the cherries in the packed face; provided, further, that bunch faced or drop faced cherries shall not be considered packed. Cherries in cartons shall have the same size in each layer.

Markings. In addition to the markings required by section 9 of this act, all containers of cherries, when packed, bunch faced or drop faced, shall bear upon them in plain sight and in plain letters on the outside thereof the following: Name of variety, if known, and when not known the words “unknown variety,” and the net weight. When two or more varieties are packed or placed in a container they shall be labeled “mixed varieties.”

Containers of cherries which are not packed, bunch faced or drop faced shall not be required to show any markings.

Containers of cherries which are loose, bunch faced or drop faced, may be marked with row sizes as herein defined, and when any container is so marked the average size of the cherries in the face, or exposed surface of the fruit, shall conform to the row size so marked; provided, further, that the average size of cherries used in the fill shall not be smaller than one row size below that marked on the container.

No standard containers are established for loose cherries which are not packed, bunch faced or drop faced.

Citrus fruits

SEC. 20. Citrus Fruits. Citrus fruits, when being packed, or after packing, or when delivered for shipment, loaded, shipped, or being transported, offered for sale or sold in any container or subcontainer, or in bulk, shall conform to the following standard:

Standard for Citrus Fruits. Citrus fruits shall be mature, virtually free from marked evidence of freezing injury, free from rots, excepting brown rot, blue and green mold, and from serious damage caused by splits, cuts, bruises, stem or thorn punctures, or by drying at the stem or blossom end; and in the case of packed citrus fruits shall be virtually uniform in size; provided, that, with the exception of freezing injury, not more than ten per cent, by count, of the citrus fruits in any one container, or in any lot in bulk, may be below these requirements, but not to exceed one-half of this tolerance, or five per cent, shall be allowed for any one cause; provided, further, that brown rot, blue and green mold shall not be considered serious defects.

Oranges shall not be deemed mature under the provisions of this act unless the juice contains soluble solids equal to or in excess of eight parts to every part of acid contained in the juice, the acidity of the juice to be calculated as citric acid without water of crystallization; provided, that the oranges have attained at least twenty-five per cent of yellow or orange color before picking; provided, however, that oranges which are substantially or at least seventy per cent colored at the time of picking shall be deemed mature irrespective of analysis of the juice; provided, further, that no oranges may be accelerated in color unless the juice contains soluble solids equal to or in excess of eight parts to every part of acid contained in the juice, the acidity of the juice to be calculated as citric acid without water of crystallization.

Grapefruit shall not be deemed mature under the provisions of this act unless the juice contains soluble solids equal to or in excess of five parts to every part of acid contained in the juice, the acidity of the juice to be calculated as citric acid without water of crystallization.

"Virtually free from marked evidence of freezing injury" means that not more than fifteen per cent, by count, of the citrus fruits in any one container, or in any lot in bulk, may show marked evidence of freezing injury, which is hereby defined as a water soaked appearance or evidence of previous water soaking, or the presence of crystals or crystalline deposit, on the two surface membranes of each of two or more segments, as shown on the separation of the segments one from another, of a section, not less than one inch or more than one and one-half inches in thickness, of the central portion of the fruit, obtained by cutting off a portion of each end—the evidence of freezing injury to show for the entire length but not necessarily the entire area of the surface membranes; or a drying or desiccation in twenty per cent or more of the exposed pulp as shown on a transverse cut through the center.

The percentage of marked evidence of freezing injury or other defects may be established by inspection of a representative sample, which shall consist of not less than one hundred fruits of the various sizes selected at random.

Damage caused by splits, cuts, bruises, or stem or thorn punctures, in any citrus fruit, shall not be considered serious if the injury is well healed and free from mold or decay.

Damage caused by drying at the stem or blossom end of any citrus fruit shall not be considered serious unless twenty per cent or more of the pulp shows a marked drying or desiccation.

Markings. In addition to the markings required by section 9 of this act, all containers of citrus fruits, when packed, shall bear upon them in plain sight and in plain letters on the outside thereof the following: The number and average diameter of citrus fruits in the container, and, in the case of oranges, the name of variety, if known, and when not known the words "unknown variety" or "seedlings."

No standard containers are established for other species of citrus fruits or for loose citrus fruits which are not packed.

SEC. 21. Fresh or Dried Dates. Markings. In addition ^{Dates.} to the markings required in section 9 of this act, all containers and subcontainers of fresh or dried dates or date by-products shall bear upon them, in plain sight on the outside thereof, in the English language, the net weight, and, in letters not less than one-half of an inch in height, the name of the state or of the foreign country where the dates were produced, directly preceded by the words in like sized type "grown in"; provided, that, in the case of any containers or subcontainers with contents of not more than three pounds net weight, this marking may be in letters not less than one-eighth of an inch in height.

Standard Containers. No standard containers are established by this act for dates.

Standards for Grapes. Grapes, when being packed or placed in any container, or after packing, or when delivered for shipment, loaded, shipped, or being transported, offered for sale or sold in any container or subcontainer, shall conform to one of the following standards:

Standards for Group A. Fancy Grapes. Fancy grapes shall consist of bunches of well developed grapes of one variety which are uniformly well colored, mature, firmly attached to capstems, not shattered, split, crushed, wet, soft, wilted or scarred; which are free from shot berries, raisining or raisined berries, sunburned or dried berries, waterberry, mildew, Almeria spot, mold, decay, and from damage caused by other disease, insects, discoloration, freezing, or other means.

Bunches shall not be straggly, or excessively small excepting that a sufficient number of small bunches shall be allowed to insure a properly packed container. Stems shall be free from mold and from damage caused by mildew.

In order to allow for variations incident to proper grading and handling, not more than five per cent, by weight, of the grapes in any container, may be below the requirements of this grade; but not more than a total of two per cent, by weight, may be seriously damaged, and not more than one-fourth of this amount, or one-half of one per cent, may be affected by mold or decay.

Fancy Sawdust Packed Grapes. Fancy grapes when packed in sawdust, cork, or similar packing material, in addition to the specifications prescribed above for fancy grapes, shall comply with the following requirements:

The bunches of grapes shall be well matured, and may be loose but not excessively straggly, and shall be not less than six inches in length, measured from shoulder to tip, excepting the Almeria (Ohanez) variety, which shall have bunches not less than four inches in length and weighing not less than one-half pound each. The berries shall have a diameter of not less than five-eighths of an inch, measured through the widest portion of cross section, excepting the Almeria variety, which shall have berries with a diameter of not less than nine-sixteenths of an inch. The stems shall be mature and shall not be weak, dry or brittle.

The five per cent tolerance permitted above for fancy grapes also shall apply to fancy sawdust packed grapes, but total serious defects, including mold and decay, shall be limited to one-half of one per cent by weight. In addition, grapes of this grade when packed in sawdust, cork, or similar packing material, may have not to exceed ten per cent, by weight, of the bunches in any container, and not more than five per cent, by weight, of the berries, which are below the prescribed sizes or weights.

Number 1-A Grapes. Number 1-A grapes shall consist of bunches of grapes of one variety which are well colored, mature, firmly attached to capstems, not shattered, split, crushed, wet, soft, wilted, or badly scarred; which are free from immature shot berries, raisining or raisined berries, sunburned or dried berries, waterberry, mildew, mold, decay and from damage caused by other disease, insects, freezing or other means. ^{Grapes (cont'd).}

Bunches shall not be excessively straggly and stems shall be free from mold and from damage caused by mildew.

In order to allow for variations incident to proper grading and handling, not more than ten per cent, by weight, of the grapes in any container may be below the requirements of this grade; but not more than a total of five per cent, by weight, may be seriously damaged, and not more than one-fifth of this amount, or one per cent, may be affected by mold or decay.

Grapes of varieties included in group A which have been placed in cold storage for a period of not less than thirty days, on a basis of storage in transit from the point of packing to interstate markets, and which, upon removal from storage, fail to meet the requirements of No. 1-A grapes only by reason of deterioration which has occurred after packing, shall not be required to show grade markings, provided that such grapes shall at least meet the requirements of unclassified grapes.

Unclassified Grapes, Packed in Sawdust, Cork or Similar Packing Material. All grapes packed in sawdust, cork or similar packing material, which fail to comply with the requirements for fancy sawdust packed grapes as established above, shall be required to meet the specifications of No. 1-A grapes, and to be marked "unclassified" as hereafter required; provided, however, that the packer or owner of any grapes in sawdust, cork or similar packing material, which fail to meet the requirements of fancy sawdust packed grapes, or unclassified grapes in sawdust, only by reason of deterioration which has occurred after packing, shall not be held liable for violation of this provision on account of such deterioration.

Standards for Group B. No. 1-B Grapes. Number 1-B grapes shall consist of grapes which are fairly well colored, mature, firmly attached to capstems, not split, crushed, or wet; which are free from immature shot berries, raisining or raisined berries, sunburned or dried berries, waterberry, red-berry, mold or decay, and from damage caused by mildew or other disease, insects or other means.

In order to allow for variations incident to proper handling, not more than fifteen per cent, by weight, of the berries in any container may be raisining or raisined; provided, that not more than one-third of this amount, or five per cent, may be raisined. In addition, not more than ten per cent, by weight, of the berries in the container, may be below the remaining requirements of this grade, but not more than a total of five per cent, by weight, may be seriously damaged, and not more than two-fifths of this amount, or two per cent, may be affected by mold or decay; but in no case shall more than fifteen per cent, by weight, of the bunches in any container have spots of mold or decay affecting three or more contiguous berries.

Number 2 Grapes. Number 2 grapes shall consist of grapes which are mature, which are not detached from the capstems, split, crushed, or wet; which are free from raisined berries, sunburned or dried berries, waterberry, redberry, mold or decay, and from other serious damage.

In order to allow for variations incident to proper handling, not more than fifteen per cent, by weight, of the berries in any container may be raisined, and in addition not more than ten per cent, by weight, of the berries in the container may be below the remaining requirements of this grade, but not more than a total of five per cent, by weight, may be affected by mold or decay.

Unclassified Grapes. Unclassified grapes shall be mature and shall not include in excess of ten per cent, by weight, of berries affected by mold or decay in any one container; provided, that, in the case of varieties included in group A, not more than ten per cent, by weight, of the bunches in any container may be immature.

Any grapes which fail to meet the requirements for unclassified grapes, because of immaturity, mold or decay, may be disposed of only as provided in sections 13 and 14 of this act, excepting that nothing in this act shall prevent a grower of grapes from selling part or all of his crop, which may fail to meet the requirements of unclassified grapes, to a purchaser for the sole and express purpose of being used by such purchaser for the manufacture of a by-product in the State of California; provided, that each container of such grapes shall be plainly and conspicuously marked with the name and address of the grower, and, in letters not less than one-half inch in height, with the words "by-product grapes"; provided, further, that each such sale shall be made only under written permit of an enforcing officer of this act, who may require from the grower and/or purchaser of such grapes such proof as he may deem necessary that they will be used only as herein provided.

General Requirements. For the purpose of the standards for grapes, and their respective tolerances, established above, the provisions shall apply to the bunch as the unit in the case of:

1. Maturity of group A varieties.
2. Color in fancy, fancy sawdust pack, No. 1-A and unclassified sawdust pack standards.
3. Bunches which fail to meet requirements for size or compactness (straggly or excessively straggly) in fancy, fancy sawdust pack, No. 1-A and unclassified sawdust pack standards.
4. Mixed varieties (except in No. 1-B, No. 2 or unclassified grapes when marked "mixed varieties" or with color of grapes).

5. Stems which are immature, weak, dry or brittle in fancy sawdust pack. Grapes

6. Stems which are not free from mold and damage caused by mildew in fancy, fancy sawdust pack, No. 1-A and unclassified sawdust pack.

7. Bunches damaged by discoloration in fancy and fancy sawdust pack standards.

8. Bunches having spots of mold affecting three or more contiguous berries in No. 1-B standard.

The maturity of group B varieties shall apply to the entire contents of any container, as hereinafter stated, and color requirements in No. 1-B standard apply to the entire contents of each container.

In regard to all other requirements and tolerances the individual grape berry shall be the unit considered.

For the purpose of this section, although the tolerances specified for the various standards necessarily are placed on a package basis, not more than one-fourth of the packages in any lot may be permitted to exceed the tolerance established by not more than one-half of the amount allowed; provided, that the entire lot shall average within the tolerance established; provided, further, that no container shall have more mold or decay than the amount specified in the tolerance established.

No provision of this section shall be construed to prevent placing any varieties included in group A under the standards established for group B; provided, all containers are properly marked with the grade designations as hereafter required, nor to prevent placing any varieties included in group B under the standards established for group A.

Definitions. When used in this section the words herein mentioned shall be defined as follows:

"Well matured," in the standard for fancy grapes packed in sawdust, cork or similar packing material, means that each bunch of grapes shall test not less than seventeen per cent soluble solids in juice, as determined by the Balling or Brix scale hydrometer; provided, that the variety Malaga shall test not less than twenty per cent.

"Mature" stems means that they shall be firm and pliable but not limp or flabby, generally of a yellowish green or straw color, or having brownish, woody seals at the cut ends.

"Mature," in the standards for grapes shall mean that each bunch of the varieties classified above in group A shall test not less than seventeen per cent soluble solids in juice, as determined by the Balling or Brix scale hydrometer; provided, that the varieties Malaga and Thompson seedless shall test not less than eighteen per cent when produced in any section excepting district one; provided, further, that the varieties Emperor, Gros Colman, (Bleu Grau, Drodolabi, Fresno Beauty, Servian Blue), Pierce Isabella, (Pierce, Isabella Regia, California Concord), Olivette Blanche, Ladyfinger, Rish Baba, Khalili, Persian 23 (Dizmar) and Cornichon shall test not less than sixteen per cent; provided, further, that in the case of varieties included in group B "mature" shall mean that the average or composite test of all the grapes in any container shall be not less than seventeen per cent soluble solids in juice, as determined by the Balling or Brix scale hydrometer; provided, that white varieties of the Muscat type shall test not less than eighteen per cent; provided, further, that the variety Burger shall test not less than sixteen per cent.

"Uniformly well colored" in standards for grapes, means in the case of:

"Black varieties" that each bunch shall have not less than ninety-five per cent, by count, of berries showing good characteristic color; excepting that in order to allow for variations incident to proper grading and handling, not more than ten per cent, by weight, of the bunches in any container may have not less than eighty per cent, by count, of berries showing good characteristic color.

"Red varieties" that each bunch shall have not less than seventy-five per cent, by count, of well colored berries; excepting that in order to allow for variations incident to proper grading and handling not more than ten per cent, by weight, of the bunches in any container may have not less than sixty per cent of well colored berries. Red grape berries shall be considered well colored when at least sixty per cent of the surface shows good characteristic color. Light or cherry red, dark red and purple are considered good characteristic color for the Emperor variety.

"White varieties" that each bunch shall have not less than twenty-five per cent, by count, of berries showing straw or amber color; excepting that in order to allow for variations incident to proper grading and handling, not more than ten per cent, by weight, of the bunches in any container may be below this requirement. No straw or amber color shall be required for Almeria (Ohanez) and Verdal.

"Well colored" in standards for grapes, means in the case of:

"Black varieties" that each bunch shall have not less than seventy-five per cent, by count, of berries showing characteristic color; excepting that in order to allow for variations incident to proper grading and handling not more than ten per cent, by weight, of the bunches in any container may have not less than fifty per cent, by count, of berries showing characteristic color. Reddish purple to black color shall be considered characteristic for Cornichon.

"Red varieties" that each bunch shall have not less than sixty per cent, by count, of well colored berries; excepting that in order to allow for variations incident to proper grading and handling, not more than ten per cent, by weight, of the bunches in any container may be below this requirement.

"White varieties" no requirements for "well colored."

“Fairly well colored” in standards for grapes, means in the ^{Grapes} (cont'd). case of:

“Black varieties” that seventy-five per cent of the grapes in any container shall show color characteristic of the variety when mature. Reddish purple to black color shall be considered as characteristic for Mission, Aramon, Rose of Peru, Black Prince, Black Hamburg, Grenache, and Malvoise.

“Red varieties” that sixty per cent of the grapes in any container shall have at least half of the surface of the berries showing characteristic color.

“White varieties” no requirements for “fairly well colored.”

“One variety” means grapes having the same varietal characteristics.

“Wet” means moisture from crushing, rain, dew or other causes.

“Raisining berries” means grape berries in some stage of the normal curing process, which have developed to some extent the characteristic shriveled or wrinkled appearance of a raisin, but which contain sufficient juice to drop from the berry under ordinary pressure between thumb and finger. Change of color and flavor are, in some cases, additional characteristics of raisining berries.

While wilting is prerequisite to the raisining process, berries which merely are wilted without shriveling, wrinkling, or change of color, are not considered as raisining.

“Raisined berries” means grape berries which are fully cured, resembling raisins, which do not contain sufficient juice to drop from the berry under ordinary pressure between thumb and finger.

“Sunburned or dried grapes” mean grapes which show complete drying out, from any cause, of part or all of any individual berries.

“Waterberry” means a disease characterized by a watery, soft or flabby condition of the berries. Such affected berries are low in sugar content, have tender skins and are very easily crushed.

“Redberry” means a condition closely resembling waterberry, generally found in black varieties. Such grapes show a red or brownish red color, in addition to the general characteristics of waterberry.

“Damage caused by mildew” means damage causing discoloration of the berries which seriously affects the appearance of a lot.

“Damage caused by discoloration” means that more than fifteen per cent, by count, of the berries on any bunch, show a dark brown discoloration. Sunkissed berries of an amber or light brown color shall not be considered as damaged.

“Seriously damaged” includes grapes which are split, crushed, wet, completely dried, or affected with redberry, waterberry, mold or decay.

“Mature” in the case of cantaloupes shall mean that the appearance of the outside indicates maturity and the arils which surround the seed during development of maturity have been absorbed and, in addition, that the juice of the edible portion shall contain not less than eight per cent soluble solids as determined by the Balling or Brix scale hydrometer.

“Virtually uniform in size” shall mean, in the case of packed cantaloupes, that there shall be the same numerical count of uniformly sized cantaloupes in each layer throughout the container.

The terms of ex officio members shall correspond to their respective official tenures. If a vacancy shall occur otherwise than by expiration of term, it shall be filled by appointment for the unexpired portion of the term as in the first instance. In any city, county, or city and county, in which there is a planning commission created in accordance with law, the ordinance, instead of providing for the appointment of a new planning commission, may provide that the existing commission shall continue, the members thereof thereafter to be appointed in accordance with the provisions of this act, with the powers and duties as specified for a planning commission appointed as provided in this act, in addition to the powers and duties they may already possess. All members of the commission shall serve as such without compensation, and, when duly authorized by the commission, may attend city planning conferences or meetings of city planning institutes or hearings upon pending city planning legislation, and the commission may, by resolution spread upon its minutes, pay the reasonable traveling expenses incident to such attendance.

commission.

SEC. 3. The commission shall elect its chairman from among the appointed members for a term of one year and, subject to other provisions of law, may create and fill such other offices as it may determine. The commission shall hold at least one regular meeting in each month. It shall adopt rules for transaction of business and shall keep a record of its resolutions, transactions, findings, and determinations, which record shall be a public record. The commission may appoint such officers and employees as it may deem necessary for its work, whose appointment, promotion, demotion and removal shall be subject to the same provisions of law as govern other corresponding civil employees. The commission may also contract with architects, city planners, engineers, and other consultants for such services as it may require. The expenditures of the commission, exclusive of gifts, shall be within the amounts appropriated for that purpose by the legislative body, which shall provide the funds, equipment, and accommodations necessary for the commission's work. Each city, county and city and county which has established a planning commission, may, in making its annual tax levy and as a part thereof, levy and collect a tax, not to exceed in any fiscal year the sum of two mills on the dollar of assessed valuation, for the purpose of defraying the lawful expenses incurred by the planning commission in carrying out the purposes of this act, and may make appropriations from other funds therefor.

Expenditures.

Tax levy.

SEC. 4. It shall be the function and duty of the planning commission to make and adopt a master plan for the physical development of the municipality, or county, and of any land outside its boundaries which, in the commission's judgment, bears relation to the planning thereof. Such plan, with the accompanying maps, plats, charts, and descriptive matter, shall show the commission's recommendations for the development of said territory, including among other things the general location, character, and extent of streets, waterways, waterfronts, playgrounds, plazas, squares and open spaces, parks, aviation fields, and other public ways and grounds, the general location of public buildings and other public property; and the general location and extent of public utilities and terminals, whether publicly or privately owned or operated; and the removal, relocation, widening, narrowing, vacating, abandonment, change of use, or extension of any of the foregoing ways, grounds, open spaces, buildings, property, terminals, or utilities; or other matters authorized by law. The commission may from time to time adopt and publish a part of the plan covering one or more major sections or divisions of the territory under its jurisdiction or one or more of the aforesaid or other subjects-matter. The commission may from time to time amend, extend or add to the master plan.

Adoption, extension and alteration of master plan.

SEC. 5. In the preparation of such plan, the commission shall make careful and comprehensive surveys and studies of present conditions and future growth of the municipality, or county, and with due regard to its relation to neighboring territory. The plan shall be made with the general purpose of guiding and accomplishing a coordinated, adjusted, and harmonious development of the municipality, or county, and its environs, which will, in accordance with present and future needs, best promote the amenities of life, health, safety, morals, order, convenience, prosperity and general welfare, as well as efficiency and economy in the process of development; including, among other things, adequate provision for traffic, the promotion of safety from fire and other dangers, adequate provision for light and air, distribution of population, good civic design and arrangement, wise and efficient expenditure of public funds, and the adequate provision of public utilities and other public requirements, the improvement and control of architecture and general embellishment of the area under its jurisdiction.

Hearing and adoption of resolution by commission.

SEC. 6. Before adopting the master plan or any part of it or any substantial amendment thereof the commission shall hold at least one public hearing thereon, notice of the time of which shall be given by one publication in a newspaper of general circulation in the municipality or county or in the official gazette of the municipality or county. The adoption of the plan or part or amendment thereof shall be by resolution of the commission, carried by the affirmative votes of not less than six members of the commission. The resolution shall refer expressly to the maps and descriptive and other matter intended by the commission to form the whole or part of the plan or amendment, and the action taken shall be recorded on the map and plan and descriptive matter by the identifying signature of the secretary of the commission. An attested copy of the master plan shall be certified to the legislative body.

Hearing and adoption of plan by legislative body.

SEC. 7. Upon receipt of an attested copy of the master plan, or of any part thereof, as adopted by the planning commission, a public hearing thereon shall be held by the legislative body. At least ten days notice of such public hearing shall be published in an official publication of said city, county, or city and county, or in a newspaper of general circulation therein. No change or addition to said master plan, or any part of it as adopted by the planning commission, shall be made by the legislative body until the said proposed change or addition shall have been referred to the planning commission for report thereon and an attested copy of said report thereon filed with the legislative body by the planning commission; but the failure of the commission to so report within thirty days from and after the date of the request for said report by the legislative body shall be deemed to be approval of said additions or changes by the commission; provided, that if said additions or changes be disapproved by the commission a two-thirds vote of the entire membership of the legislative body shall be necessary to pass any ordinance overruling such disapproval by the commission.

Subsequent alteration of plan.

SEC. 8. Whenever the legislative body shall have adopted the master plan of the city, city and county, or county, or of any major section or district thereof, no street, square, park, or other public way, ground, or open space, or public building or structure, shall be constructed or authorized in the area shown on said master plan until the location, character, and extent thereof shall have been submitted to and approved by the planning commission. In case of disapproval thereof the commission shall communicate its reasons to the legislative body, which shall have the power to overrule such disapproval by a recorded vote of not less than two-thirds of its entire membership; provided, however, that if the authorization or financing of the public way, ground, space, building, or structure be one whose construction, financing or authorization does not, under the law or charter provisions governing same, fall within the province of the legislative body, then the submission to the planning commission shall be by the board, commission or body having such jurisdiction, and the planning commission's disapproval may be overruled by said board, commission or body by a vote of not less than two-thirds of its membership. The failure of the commission to act upon such submission within sixty days from and after the date of official submission to the commission shall be deemed approval.

SEC. 9. The commission shall have power to promote public interest in and understanding of the master plan, and to that end may publish and distribute copies of the plan, or of any part thereof, or of any report and may employ such other means of publicity and education as it may determine. The commission shall, from time to time, recommend to the appropriate public officials programs for specific improvements and for the financing thereof. It shall be part of its duties to consult and advise with public officials and agencies, public utility companies, civic, education, professional and other organizations, and with citizens with relation to the carrying out of the plan. The commission shall have the right to accept and use gifts for the exercise of its functions. All public officials shall upon request furnish to the commission, within a reasonable time, such information as it may require for its work. The commission, its members, officers, and employees, in the performance of their functions, may enter upon any land and make examinations and surveys and place and maintain necessary monuments and marks thereon. In general, the commission shall have such powers as may be necessary to enable it to fulfill its functions and carry out the purposes of this act.

Additional powers and duties of commission.

SEC. 10. Such legislative body is authorized and empowered, whenever and as often as it may deem it to be for the public interest, to change or add to the official master plan so as to lay out new streets, improvements or conveniences mentioned in this act, or to widen, enlarge, close or abandon such existing streets, improvements or conveniences. At least ten days notice of a public hearing on any proposed action with reference to such change in the official master plan shall be published in an official publication of said city, county, or city and county, or in a newspaper of general circulation therein. Before making such addition or change, the matter shall be referred to the planning commission for report thereon, as provided in section 7 hereof. Such additions and changes, when adopted by ordinance by the legislative body shall become a part of the official master plan of the city, county, or city and county, and shall be deemed to be final and conclusive with respect to all matters shown thereon. The layout, widening, enlarging, closing, or abandoning of streets, plazas and open spaces, parks or playgrounds by the city, county, or city and county, under provisions of law other than those contained in this act shall be deemed to be a change or addition to the official master plan, and shall be subject to all the provisions of this act.

Optional
reference to planning
commission.

SEC. 11. The body creating such planning commission may, by general or special rule, provide for the reference of any other matter or class of matters to the planning commission before final action thereon by the public body or officer of said city, county, or city and county, having final authority thereon, with the provision that final action thereon shall not be taken until said planning commission has submitted its report thereon or has had reasonable time, to be fixed in said rule, to submit the report. The planning commission shall have full power and authority to make such investigations, maps and reports, and recommendations in connection therewith relating to the planning and development of the city, county, or city and county, as to it seems desirable, providing the total expenditures of said board shall not exceed the funds available therefor.

Short title.
Definitions.

SEC. 12. This act shall be known as "The planning act." For the purpose of this act certain terms are defined as provided in this section. Wherever appropriate the singular includes the plural and the plural includes the singular. The term "street" includes streets, highways, avenues, boulevards, parkways, roads, lanes, walks, alleys, viaducts, subways, tunnels, bridges, public easements and rights of way, and other ways. The term "subdivision" means the division of a tract or parcel of land into lots for the purpose, whether immediate or future, of sale or of building development, including any plat or plan which includes the creation of any part of one or more streets, public easements, or other rights of way, whether public or private, for access to or from such lots, and/or including the creation of new or enlarged parks, playgrounds, plazas or open spaces.

Jurisdiction
commission.

SEC. 13. The territorial jurisdiction of any municipal planning commission over the subdivision or platting of land shall include all land located in the municipality and all land lying within three miles of the corporate limits of the municipality and not located in any other municipality; except that in the case of any such nonmunicipal land lying within three miles of more than one municipality having a planning commission, the jurisdiction of each such municipality shall terminate at a boundary line equidistant from the respective corporate limits of such municipalities; and provided, further, that the approval of the county planning commission, if there be one, shall also be necessary, on all plats in areas outside the corporate limits of any municipality, except that where said county planning commission fails to agree with a city planning commission having jurisdiction over any plat, the legislative body of the county, by a two-thirds vote of its entire membership, may overrule the findings of either commission and approve said plat as recommended by the other commission.

NOTE.—Error in numbering sections. No section 14 in bill.

SEC. 15. Before exercising the powers referred to herein the planning commission shall adopt general regulations governing the subdivision of land within its jurisdiction, to provide for the proper arrangement of streets in relation to other existing and planned streets and to the master plan, to provide for adequate and convenient open spaces, for traffic, utilities, access of fire-fighting apparatus, recreation, light and air, and for the avoidance of congestion of population, and easements for building setback lines, or for public utility lines. Such regulations may include requirements as to the minimum width, and area of building lots, and as to the extent to which streets and other public ways shall be graded and improved, and to which water and sewer and other utility mains, piping, or other facilities shall be installed as a condition precedent to the approval of the plat. All such regulations shall be published as provided by law, and before adoption, a public hearing shall be held thereon. A copy thereof shall be filed for record by the commission with the recorders of the counties in which the commission and territory are located, and certified to the legislative body.

Adoption
of general
regulations
by
commission

SEC. 16. The planning commission shall approve or disapprove a plat within thirty days after the submission thereof to it; otherwise such plat shall be deemed to have been approved, and a certificate to that effect shall be issued by the commission on demand; provided, however, that the applicant for the commission's approval may waive this requirement and consent to an extension of such period. The ground of disapproval of any plat shall be stated upon the records of the commission. Any plat submitted to the commission shall contain the name and address of a person to whom notice of a hearing shall be sent; and no plat shall be acted on by the commission without affording a hearing thereon. Notice shall be sent to the said address by registered mail of the time and place of such hearing not less than five days before the date fixed therefor. Public notice of all such hearings shall also be given. Every plat approved by the commission may, without further hearing, be adopted by the commission as an amendment of or addition to the master plan.

Submission
and approval of plats by
commission.

SEC. 17. Before the approval of a plat, the planning commission and legislative body shall take into consideration the prospective character of development of the area included in the plat and of the surrounding territory. The owner of the land or his agent who files the plat may add, as a part of the plat, a notation, if he so desires, to the effect

Matters that may be considered or required

that no offer of dedication of such streets, parks or playgrounds, or any of them, is made to the public; and may show by dotted line on said plat dedication of easements for building setback lines, or for the use of public utility lines. The planning commission, or legislative body, may require that a deed to the fee for streets, or other areas offered for dedication to the public on said plat, be delivered to the city or county, as the case may be, where the same are located, at the time of filing of said plat.

Use of plat
approval.

SEC. 18. Whoever, being the owner or agent of the owner of any land located within the territory of a subdivision subject to the approval of a planning commission or legislative body, transfers or sells, or agrees to sell, or negotiates to sell, any land by reference to or exhibition of or by other use of a plat of a subdivision, before such plat has been approved by said planning commission and legislative body and recorded or filed for record as so approved in the office of the appropriate county recorder, shall forfeit and pay a penalty of one hundred dollars for each lot or parcel so transferred or sold, or agreed or negotiated to be sold, and the description of such lot or parcel by metes and bounds in the instrument of transfer or other document used in the process of selling or transferring shall not exempt the transaction from such penalties or from the remedies herein provided. The city, county, or city and county, may enjoin such transfer or sale or agreement by action for injunction brought in any court of equity jurisdiction, or may recover the said penalty by a civil action in any court of competent jurisdiction.

plat.

SEC. 19. A county recorder who receives for filing or records a plat of a subdivision without the approval of the planning commission as required by law, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars.

Streets not conforming to approved
plan or plat.

SEC. 20. The city, county, or city and county shall not accept, lay out, open, improve, grade, pave, or curb any street, or lay or authorize sewers or connections to be laid in any street or right of way, within any portion of territory for which the planning commission shall have adopted a major traffic street plan, unless such street (a) shall have been accepted or opened as or shall otherwise have received the legal status of a public street prior to the adoption of such plan; or unless such street (b) corresponds with a street shown on the official master plan, or with a street on a subdivision plat approved by the planning commission, or with a street on a street map made by and officially adopted by the commission. The legislative body may, however, accept any street not shown on or not corresponding with a street on the official master plan or on an approved subdivision plat or an approved street map; provided, the ordinance or other measure accepting such street be first submitted to the planning commission for its approval and, if approved by this commission, be enacted or passed by not less than a majority of the entire membership of the legislative body, or, if disapproved by the commission, be enacted or passed by not less than two-thirds of the entire membership of the legislative body. A street approved by the planning commission upon submission by legislative body, or a street accepted by a two-thirds vote after disapproval by the planning commission, shall thereupon have the status of an approved street as fully as though it had been originally shown on the official master plan or on a subdivision plat approved by the commission or had been originally mapped by the commission.

SEC. 21. From and after the time when a planning commission shall have adopted a major street plan of the territory within its subdivision jurisdiction or part thereof, then no building shall be erected on any lot within such territory or part, nor shall a building permit be issued therefor unless the street giving access to the lot upon which such building is proposed to be placed (a) shall have been accepted or opened as or shall otherwise have received the legal status of a public street prior to that time, or unless such street (b) corresponds with a street shown on the official master plan or with a street on a subdivision plat approved by the planning commission or with a street on a street map made by and adopted by the commission or with a street accepted by the legislative body, after submission to the planning commission, by the favorable vote required in section 20 of this act. Any building erected in violation of this section shall be deemed an unlawful structure and the building inspector or other appropriate official may cause it to be vacated and have it removed.

Erection of buildings along non-conforming streets.

SEC. 22. From and after the adoption of a major traffic street plan by any planning commission, the jurisdiction of the planning commission over plats shall be exclusive within the territory under its jurisdiction, except as provided in section 13 hereof, and all statutory control over plats or subdivisions of land granted by other statutes shall in so far as in harmony with the provisions of this act be deemed transferred to such planning commission, and in so far as inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed.

Jurisdiction of commission over plats.

SEC. 23. The planning commission is empowered, after it has adopted any part of a master plan for any part of the territory within its platting jurisdiction to make, or cause to be made, from time to time, surveys for the exact location of the lines of a street or streets shown in any portion of such master plan and make a map of the land thus surveyed, more precisely showing the land which it recommends be reserved for future acquisition for public streets. The planning commission, before adopting any such map, shall hold a public hearing thereon, notice of the time and place of which, with a general description of the district or area covered by the map, shall be given not less than ten days previous to the time fixed therefor by one publication in a newspaper of general circulation in the municipality, if the district or area be within the municipality, or of general circulation in the county, if the district or area be outside of the municipality. After such hearing, the commission may transmit the map, as originally made or modified as may be determined by the commission, to the legislative body, together with the commission's estimate of the time or times within which the lands, shown on the map as street locations, should be acquired by the municipality, or county, as the case may be. Thereupon, by resolution, the legislative body may approve and adopt or may reject such map, or may modify it with the approval of the planning commission, or in the event of the planning commission's disapproval, the legislative body may by a favorable vote of not less than two-thirds of its entire membership, modify such map and adopt the modified map. In the resolution of adoption of a map, the legislative body shall fix the period of time for which the street locations shown upon the map shall be deemed reserved for future taking or acquisition for public use. Upon such adoption the clerk of the legislative body shall file for record one attested copy of the map with the county recorder of each county in which the mapped land is located and retain one copy for the purpose of public examination. Such approval and adoption of a map shall not, however, be deemed the opening or establishment of any street, nor the taking of any land for street purposes nor for public use, nor as a public improvement, but solely as a reservation of the street locations shown thereon, for the period specified in the legislative body's resolutions, for future taking or acquisition for public use. The commission may, at any time, negotiate for or secure from the owner or owners of any such lands, releases of claims for damages or compensation for such reservations or agreements indemnifying the municipality or county from such claims by others, which releases or agreements shall be binding upon the owner or owners executing the same and their successors in title. At any time after the filing of a map for record with the county recorder and during the period specified for the reservation, the planning commission and the owner of any land containing a reserved street location, may agree upon a modification of the location of the lines of the proposed street, such agreement to include a release by said owner of any claim for compensation or damages by reason of such modification; and thereupon the commission may make a map corresponding to the said modification and transmit same to the legislative body; and if such modified map be approved by the legislative body the clerk of the legislative body shall file for record an attested copy thereof with the said county recorder or recorders and said modified map shall take the place of the original map. At any time the legislative body may, by resolution, abandon any reservation and shall file for record any such abandonment with the said county recorder or recorders.

Receiving
of protests
and hearing

SEC. 24. The resolution of the legislative body adopting, any street map as provided in section 23, shall provide that it shall not become effective for forty days, and shall further provide that it shall not become effective until subsequent to the publication once a week for four successive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation published in said county, city and county, or city of a notice of the adoption of said resolution. Said resolution and said notice shall also state a time within which the owners of property lying within or immediately adjoining the lines of the proposed future street opening or widening, or between any future street line, and the nearest public highway, may protest in writing against the adoption of said future street lines.

of protests
and hearing

Upon the receipt of any protests within the time fixed in said resolution and said notice the said legislative body may cause the same to be examined by its engineer or engineers and by its attorney or attorneys, and shall set a time for the hearing of the same, notice of which hearing shall be given to such protestant at his address which shall be stated in the protest.

Upon the hearing of any protest the said legislative body may grant or deny the same except that the said legislative body shall not deny the written protests of the owners of a majority of the area of property lying within any proposed street to be opened, or a majority of the frontage of a street to be widened upon which a future street line is established, except by a four-fifths vote of such legislative body.

In granting or sustaining any protest the legislative body may grant or sustain the same as to the entire future street line or lines proposed or only as to a portion thereof. As to any portion of such proposed future street line or lines concerning which a protest is not granted or sustained said legislative body may deny said protest or protests. Upon the denial of any such protest the said resolution shall immediately become finally effective. If no protests are filed as herein provided for, such resolution shall take final effect at midnight of the last day for filing such protest.

Whenever any resolution as herein provided shall have become final it shall be the duty of the clerk of the legislative body to cause to be recorded in the office of the county recorder of the appropriate county, a notice referring to the said resolution by number and other appropriate description including the date of its adoption and setting forth a description of the property contained within the said proposed opening and widening, or opening or widening lines, or between said future street lines and the nearest public highway, together with a copy of the map showing any such line or lines.

If any owner of property lying within any lines for the proposed opening and widening, or opening or widening of any street, or between any such future street line and the nearest public highway, shall claim that the adoption of any such resolution or ordinance, or the refusal to issue to him a building permit or prohibition of building or construction by him, shall constitute a taking of his property by the said county, or city and county, or city said owner shall have the right within three months after the recording in the office of the appropriate county recorder of the notice hereinabove provided for, to file in the office of said legislative body a protest against the alleged taking of his property and demand that the county, city and county, or city adopting such resolution either vacate the same as to the property of such owner or compensate him therefor, or commence the condemnation thereof within three months from the time of the filing of his written protest and claim. In the event that the said county, city and county, or city shall fail, within three months after the receipt of any such written protest and demand, to either vacate such resolution as to the property of said protesting owner or compensate him for the right to construct any building, fence or other structure or commence proceedings for the condemnation thereof, then such resolution shall automatically be vacated and annulled as to the property of such protesting owner.

In the event that any owner of property lying within any of the lines set forth or described as future street lines in any resolution as herein provided for shall fail within the time herein specified to file a claim in the manner herein provided, such owner shall be conclusively deemed to have waived any such claim, but he shall not be deemed to have waived any title to the property within any such future street line or lines or any interest therein other than the right to erect or construct thereon any building, fence or other structure.

Limitation
of compensation.

SEC. 25. No compensation other than the compensation awarded in the final report of the board of appraisers, appointed by the legislative body, shall at any time be paid to or recovered by any person for the taking of or injury to any building, structure, or other improvement built, within the period fixed in the resolution of the legislative body, upon any land included within the street locations specified on any such plat or map adopted as herein provided.

Regional planning
commissions.

SEC. 26. Any planning commission or any one hundred citizens, by signed petition, may apply to the governor of the state for the establishment of a region for planning purposes and the appointment of a regional planning commission for such region. The governor shall hold at least one public hearing upon any such application or petition, the time and place of which he shall officially proclaim. If the governor finds that, by reason of urban growth and development not corresponding to existing city corporate limits or by reason of other developments or trends in the growth and distribution of population, commerce and industry or by reason of topographic or other conditions, two or more separate cities, or one or more cities, city and county or counties and neighboring nonmunicipal territories, whether within one or more counties have overlapping and interrelated or common problems of such nature as not to be capable of intelligent, economical and adequate solution by means of the separate planning of each separate political unit and require, for such solution, a general plan of the physical development of the entire area of such municipalities or territories as a whole and that, consequently, it is to the public interest that a region be established for planning purposes he shall grant the application and shall define the boundaries of such region and appoint a regional planning commission. Such commission shall consist of nine persons. Members shall be appointed for six years except that the respective terms of seven of the members first appointed shall be one year, two years, two years, three years, four years, four years and five years; provided, however, that if at the time of his appointment, the appointee is a public officer or in the public service of the state or any of its political subdivisions, and his incumbency as such public officer or servant expires previous to the term for which he is appointed on the regional planning commission, then his term on the commission shall terminate with the expiration of his incumbency as such public officer or servant, unless it be extended by the governor, in which case such extension shall be for the remainder of the term for which he was originally appointed. The members shall serve without compensation, but shall be paid their necessary expenses incurred in the performance of their duties. They may, after a public hearing, be removed by the governor for inefficiency, neglect of duty, or malfeasance in office, and he shall file a written statement of his reasons therefor. Vacancies shall be filled by the governor for the unexpired term.

SEC. 27. Except as otherwise provided in this act, the provisions of this act relative to organization, rules, staff, finances, procedure and miscellaneous powers and duties of municipal planning commissions shall, so far as applicable, apply to regional planning commissions. The amount which a regional planning commission may expend in any year shall be such as may be determined by said regional planning commission, subject to approval by the governor, who shall fix the proportion of such expenditure to be borne by the respective municipalities, counties and other taxing districts and political subdivisions within the region. The appropriating legislative body of each such taxing district or political subdivision within the region are hereby authorized to appropriate their respective shares of such expenditures. The sums so appropriated shall be paid into the state treasury and shall be paid out on certificate of the regional planning commission.

SEC. 28. Any regional planning commission is hereby authorized and empowered to make, adopt, amend, extend and add to a master or regional plan for the physical development of its region. Such plan shall be based on comprehensive studies of the present and future development of the region, with due regard to its relation to neighboring regions and the state as a whole and to neighboring states. Such plan, including maps, charts, diagrams and descriptive matter, shall show the commission's recommendations for the physical development of the region, and may include among other things the general location, extent and character of streets, parks, and other public ways, grounds and open spaces, public buildings, and properties and public utilities (whether publicly or privately owned or operated) which affect the development of the region as a whole or which affect more than one political subdivision of the state within the region; also, the general location of forests, agricultural and open development areas for purposes of conservation, food and water supply, sanitary and drainage facilities or the protection of future urban development; also a zoning plan for the control of the height and area, or bulk, location and use of buildings and premises, and of the density of population. Such master plan shall be made with the general purpose of guiding and accomplishing a coordinated, adjusted, and harmonious development of the region and of public improvements and utilities which do not begin and terminate within the boundaries of any single municipality or which do not relate exclusively to the development of any single municipality, and which will, in accordance with the present and future needs of the region and the state, best promote health, safety, morals, order, convenience, prosperity, the amenities of life and general welfare, as well as efficiency and economy in the process of development.

Certification
plans.

SEC. 29. The regional planning commission, after adopting the regional plan, shall certify a copy thereof to the governor, to each planning commission within the region, to the council of each municipality not having a planning commission, to the county supervisors of each county wholly or partly included in the region, and to other organized taxing districts or political subdivisions wholly or partly included in the region.

Adoption of regional plan
by local
commission.

SEC. 30. Such plan may be adopted by any planning commission within the region to which it is certified by the regional planning commission. Such adoption shall be in accordance with the procedure specified in this act for the adoption of plans by planning commissions. When thus adopted, it shall thereupon have the force and effect within such municipality, or county as the case may be, as is provided in this act for plans made and adopted by planning commissions, and shall be deemed as original master plan or an amendment of or addition to the master plan. Before adopting any amendment of the master plan which would constitute a violation of or departure from the regional plan certified to the planning commission by the regional planning commission, the planning commission shall submit such proposed amendment to the regional planning commission, which latter commission shall certify to the planning commission its approval, disapproval or other opinion concerning the proposed amendment.

SEC. 31. After the adoption of the regional plan by the regional planning commission, no street, park or other public way, ground or open space, no public building or other public structure shall be constructed or authorized in non-municipal territory within the region until the location, character and extent thereof shall have been submitted to and approved by the regional planning commission of the region. This prohibition shall not be interpreted as requiring the approval by the regional planning commission of any subdivision falling within the subdivision jurisdiction of a municipal planning commission, as defined in sections 12 and 13 of this act, and duly approved by such municipal planning commission as provided in section 15 of this act. In case of disapproval by such commission, such disapproval may be overruled by the board, commission, body or officer in which or in whom the power to finally determine such location, character and extent is reposed by law, by a vote, in the case of any such board, commission or body, of not less than two-thirds of its membership. A statement of its or his reasons for any such overruling shall be spread upon the minutes or records of the board, commission, body or officer.

All employments under the provisions of this section shall be subordinate to the right of the Legislature to amend or repeal this section at any time, and nothing herein contained shall ever be held, deemed or construed to confer upon any person employed pursuant to the provisions hereof a contract which will be impaired by the amendment or repeal of this section.

Fourth—To provide in cities, and in cities and counties, having boards of education, and in other districts employing thirty or more teachers for the payment of the traveling expenses of any representative of the board of education, when performing services directed by said board.

Fifth—If any section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase of this act is for any reason held to be unconstitutional, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this act. making application to and obtaining from the state fire marshal of the State of California a license so to do. Every such permit or license shall contain the name of the person, firm, copartnership, association, corporation or organization to whom the same is issued, and if such establishment is conducted or maintained under a fictitious firm name, every such license or permit shall contain in addition to such fictitious firm name the name or names of each of the owners of such establishment, and shall specify the location by street and number of the premises in or upon which such establishment is, or is to be, located, the maximum amount of volatile product that is to be or may be stored in or upon such premises and the exact location of the tank or tanks in which any such volatile product is, or is to be, stored.

(b) Every application for a permit or license to establish, conduct, maintain or operate a "clothes cleaning establishment" shall be accompanied by a blue print in quadruplicate showing the ground plan and arrangement of such establishment, the location of all storage tanks, the distance of such tanks from the nearest building thereto, the location of all piping, equipment, appliance, steam fire extinguishing lines, or fire prevention methods proposed to be installed, and no permit shall be granted unless such ground plan construction, materials and arrangements have been approved by the state fire marshal, or his duly authorized representative.

(c) Said permit or license shall be posted in a conspicuous place in each and every clothes cleaning establishment and shall be shown to any duly authorized representative of the state fire marshal, or any duly authorized representative of any city or county fire department within the State of California whenever the same is requested.

(d) Failure to properly post and show such license or permit shall be deemed a violation of this act.

Such notice shall be served upon the holder or holders of such permit or their representative by delivering the same to such holder, or either of them, or to his or their manager, representative, or agent, or to any person in charge of or employed in such establishment, or by leaving such notice at such establishment, or at the residence of such holder, or either or any of them with some person of suitable age and description. If such notice be not served personally upon the holder, or any or either of them, of such permit, a copy of such notice, in addition to such notice being served as otherwise hereinabove provided, shall be deposited in the United States post office, in a sealed envelope, postage prepaid, addressed to the holder of such permit at the address of such establishment. [Approved by the Governor June 3, 1927. In effect August 2, 1927.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. A new section is hereby added to the Political Code, to be known as section 633aa, and to read as follows:

New section.

633aa. No person shall, within this state, act as a life, health or accident agent of any life insurance company until such person shall have first obtained a license under the provisions of this section from the insurance commissioner authorizing him so to act. The fee for the issuance of such license shall be the sum of one dollar. Nothing herein contained shall be construed as giving such agent authority to act under the provisions of either sections 633 or 633a of the Political Code, without obtaining a license thereunder, nor shall any licensee under said sections 633 or 633a of the Political Code have authority to act as a life insurance agent under the provisions of this section, without obtaining a license hereunder.

Licensing of
agents.

Any person so appointed by the insurance commissioner shall be an agent, within the meaning of this section. The insurance commissioner shall, upon written notice from any life insurance company authorized to transact business in this state, of the appointment of a person to act as its agent, issue to such person a license in such form as may be prescribed by the insurance department; provided, however, that such proposed licensee shall first file with the insurance commissioner of the State of California a statement in writing by a duly authorized representative of the company or insurer which the agent seeks to represent, setting forth:

Statement

(a) The applicant is known to him;

(b) The applicant has had experience or instruction, or shall within thirty days from the issuance of his license, be given the necessary instruction in life insurance.

(c) The nature of any business other than insurance in which the applicant may be engaged and the name under which such business is conducted;

(d) The applicant is of good reputation;

(e) The applicant is worthy of a license; and the said licensee shall make answer under oath to such interrogatories as the insurance commissioner himself or through his deputies shall propound on forms prepared by the commissioner.

Qualifications of applicant.

No license shall be issued until the commissioner has satisfied himself upon evidence presented and recorded as to the integrity of the applicant and that said applicant is qualified in the following respects to hold a license:

(1) That the applicant is of good reputation;

(2) That the applicant has had experience or instruction in life insurance, or will be given the necessary instructions as aforesaid within thirty days after the issuance of said license, to the end that the interests of the insuring public and of the insurers may be reasonably served;

(3) That the applicant intends to engage in business as a life insurance agent to do an insurance business with the general public and is not actuated principally in applying for a license by the prospect of insuring the life or health of himself or that of relatives or employers, or of a single person or corporation.

(4) That the applicant has never been refused a license or had a license revoked by any insurance department for reasons that should preclude the granting of the license applied for;

(5) That the applicant intends to carry on in good faith the business of life insurance agent and that said applicant does not seek the appointment for the purpose of avoiding or preventing the operation or enforcement of the insurance laws of this state and that the granting of the license applied for will not be in violation of such laws either in letter or in spirit; provided, that no license shall be refused by the insurance commissioner without providing an opportunity to the applicant within thirty days to be heard and produce evidence in support of his application.

or revocation
of license.

If it shall be brought to the attention of the insurance commissioner or if written charges be filed with him showing that any agent licensed hereunder has wilfully misstated any material fact in his application or that the purpose of applying for such license was to avoid or prevent the operation or enforcement of any antirebate law or any insurance law of this state, or that such agent licensed hereunder conducts his business in a dishonest manner or misrepresents the policies or contracts he sells or misrepresents the policies or contracts of other agents or companies or other insurers, or is incapable, or is conducting his business in such a manner as to cause injury to the public or those dealing with him, or if said agent or other person licensed hereunder obtained his license in an unfair manner or by concealment or misrepresentation, then the insurance commissioner shall give notice to such agent licensed hereunder and cite him to appear before the insurance commissioner and show cause why his license as an insurance agent should not be suspended or revoked. If at the hearing of said order to show cause it should appear that said agent or other person licensed hereunder has wilfully misstated any material fact in his application to the insurance commissioner, or that the purpose in applying for such license was to avoid or prevent the operation of any antirebate law or other insurance law of this state, or that such agent or other person licensed hereunder conducts his business in a dishonest manner or misrepresents the policies or contracts of other agents or companies, or other insurers, or is incapable, or is conducting his business in such a manner as to cause injury to the public or those dealing with him, or that said agent or other person licensed hereunder has obtained his license in an unfair manner or by concealment or misrepresentation, then the commissioner shall revoke or suspend for a period to be fixed by the commissioner the license of such agent licensed hereunder and shall notify the agent or other person licensed hereunder and the company or other insurer such agent represents of the revocation or suspension.

If at any time the commissioner revokes or suspends the license theretofore issued to any agent licensed hereunder, or refuses to grant a license, the applicant or the agent or other person licensed hereunder may commence an action against the insurance commissioner for the purpose of reviewing the facts pertinent to the controversy and for the purpose of obtaining relief or cancelling the act of the insurance commissioner. In any such action the court shall have full power to investigate all the facts de novo without regard to the determination previously made by the insurance commissioner.

superior court.

All the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure relating to pleadings, proofs, trials and appeals shall be applicable to such action.

Such action shall be commenced and tried in the superior court of the county in which such agent or other person licensed hereunder resides unless the parties thereto stipulate otherwise.

Unless revoked by the commissioner, or unless the company or other insurer by written notice to the commissioner cancels the authority of the agent or other person licensed hereunder to act, the license or any renewal thereof shall expire on the first day of July next after its issue or renewal. Any license issued after this section takes effect, may in the discretion of

and renewal
of licenses.

the insurance commissioner, be renewed for a succeeding year by a renewal certificate without the commissioner requiring the detailed information required by this section.

Acting without license.

Any person who shall act or offer to act or assume to act as a life insurance broker or agent, unless licensed by the insurance commissioner as provided in this section, or after such license granted to him has been suspended or revoked, unless proceedings are pending in the courts to review the act of the commissioner, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Exemptions.

Nothing in this section shall be construed to apply to mutual benefit and life insurance associations organized and operating under sections 452a and 453 of the Civil Code, their solicitors or agents.

Such petition shall consist of separate papers, as follows: Each paper shall consist of a sheet or sheets, containing the proposed ordinance, with additional sheet or sheets for the signatures thereto; provided, however, that if any paper consists of more than one sheet it shall be and remain securely fastened together at the top. The proposed ordinance, as set forth in any paper, shall be followed by the signatures, which need not all be appended to one sheet or paper. Such petition shall be signed by qualified electors of the city in their own proper persons only, and opposite the signature written by each signer his residence shall be written by him, giving the street and number, when such designation by street and number can be given, or if the signer be unable to write, then such signature and residence shall be written by some person at his request, and the same identified on the margin by the signature of the person making the affidavit hereinafter provided. The number of the election precinct of each signer shall also appear on the paper after his or her name. Each such paper shall have attached thereto at the bottom of the last sheet thereof the affidavit of a qualified elector of the city stating that all of the signatures on each sheet thereof were made in his presence, and that all of the sheets constituting such paper were fastened together at the time such signatures were appended thereto; and that to the best of his knowledge and belief each signature is the genuine

If by the certificate of the City Clerk the petition is found to be insufficient, it may be amended by filing a supplemental petition or petitions within ten days from the date of such certificate. The City Clerk shall, within ten days after the filing of such supplemental petition or petitions, make like examination of the same and certify to the result of such examination as hereinbefore provided. If his certificate shall show any such petition, or any such petition as amended, to be insufficient, it shall be retained by him and kept as a public record, without prejudice, however, to the filing of a new petition to the same effect. But if, by the certificate of the City Clerk, such petition, or such petition as amended, is shown to be sufficient, the City Clerk shall present the same to the Council without delay. The sufficiency or insufficiency of such petition shall not be subject to review by the Council.

If any supplemental petition be filed, all the signatures appended to the petition and to the supplemental petition or petitions shall be considered in determining the number of qualified electors signing the initiative petition.

Any signer to a petition or supplemental petition may withdraw his name by filing with the City Clerk a verified revocation of his signature before the filing of the petition or supplemental petition containing his signature, with said City Clerk. No signature can be revoked after the petition, or supplemental petition, to which it is attached has been filed. If any signature to such petition or supplemental petition be questioned, and in the judgment of the City Clerk should be investigated, the City Clerk shall forthwith mail notice to such purported signer, stating that his name is attached to such petition or supplemental petition, and cite him to appear before him forthwith to answer whether such

RECALL

Sec. 62: Any elective or appointive county or township officer may be recalled by the electors at any time after he has held his office six months. Such recall shall be effected as follows: A petition demanding the election or appointment of a successor to the person sought to be recalled shall be filed with the County Clerk, which petition shall be signed by qualified electors equal in number to at least fifteen per cent of the entire vote cast within the County for all candidates for the office of Governor of the State at the last preceding election at which a Governor was elected (or at least twenty-five per cent of such vote cast within the district or township for which the officer sought to be recalled was elected or appointed in case of an official not elected by, or appointed for the County), and shall contain a statement of the grounds on which the recall is sought. No insufficiency of form or substance in such statement shall affect the validity of the election and proceedings held thereunder.

officers.

The signatures to the petition need not all be appended to one paper. Each signer shall add to his signature his occupation and place of residence, giving street and number, or if no street or number exist, then such a designation of his residence as will enable the location to be readily ascertained. To each separate paper of such petition shall be attached an affidavit made by a qualified elector of the County (or particular subdivision of the County as the case may be), stating that the affiant circulated that particular paper and saw written the signatures appended thereto, and that according to the information and belief of the affiant, each of said signatures is genuine and the signature of a qualified elector of the County, or particular subdivision thereof, as the case may be.

Within ten days from the filing of such petition the County Clerk shall, from the records of registration, determine whether or not said petition is signed by the requisite number of qualified electors, and he shall attach to said petition his certificate showing such determination. If such certificate shows the petition to be insufficient it may be supplemented within ten days from the date of the certificate by the filing of additional papers, duplicates of the original petition, except as to the names signed. The County Clerk shall within ten days after such additional papers are filed, ascertain from the records of registration and certify whether or not the names to such petition, including such additional papers, are still insufficient, and if insufficient, no action shall be taken thereon; but the petition shall remain on file as a public record. The failure to secure sufficient names shall not prejudice the filing later of an entirely new petition to the same effect. If required by the County Clerk, the Board of Supervisors shall authorize him to employ, and shall provide for the compensation of persons necessary in the examination of said petition and supplementing petition, in addition to the persons regularly employed by him in his office. In case the County Clerk is the officer sought to be recalled, the duties in this Section provided to be performed by him, shall be performed by some other person designated by said Board of Supervisors for that purpose.

If the petition shall be found to be sufficient, the County Clerk shall submit the same to the Board of Supervisors without delay, whereupon the Board shall forthwith cause a special election to be held not less than thirty-five nor more than forty days after the date of the order calling such an election, to determine whether such officer shall be recalled; provided, that if an election is to occur in the same territory within not less than thirty-five days or more than sixty days from the date of the order calling such recall election, the Board may in its discretion, postpone the holding of such recall election to such election.

If a vacancy occur in said office after a recall petition is filed, and the office is elective, the election shall nevertheless proceed as in this Section provided. One petition is sufficient to propose the recall of one or more officials and the election of successors to such thereof as are elective.

Nomination for any elective office under such recall election shall be made by petition in the manner prescribed by Section 1188 of the Political Code, except that no party affiliation of candidate, signer, or verification deputy shall be given, nor shall the participation in a primary election be a bar to signing such petition.

Upon the sample ballot there shall be printed in not more than two hundred words the grounds set forth in the recall petition for demanding the recall of the officer, and upon the same ballot in not more than two hundred words the officer may justify himself. There shall be printed on the recall ballot as to every officer whose recall is to be voted on, the following question: "Shall (name or person against whom the recall petition is filed), be recalled from the office of (Title of office)?" Following which question shall be the words "Yes" and "No" on separate lines, with a blank space at the right of each in which the voter shall by stamping a cross (x) indicate his vote for or against such recall. On such ballots under each question there shall also be printed, if the officer sought to be recalled be an elective officer, the names of those persons who shall have been nominated as candidates to succeed him in case he shall be recalled at such election, but no vote shall be counted for any candidate for said office unless the voter also voted on the question of the recall of the person sought to be recalled therefrom. The name of the person sought to be recalled shall not appear on the ballot as a candidate for the office. Recall of officers (cont'd).

If a majority of those voting on said question of the recall of any incumbent, shall vote "No", said incumbent shall continue in said office. If a majority shall vote "Yes", said incumbent shall thereupon be deemed removed from such office, upon the qualification of his successor. The canvassers shall canvass the votes for candidates for said office and declare the result in like manner as in a general election. If the vote at any such recall election shall recall the officer, then the candidate who has received the highest number of votes for the office shall be thereby declared elected for the remainder of the term. In case the person who received the highest number of votes shall fail to qualify within ten days after receiving the certificate of election, the office shall be deemed vacant and shall be filled according to law. If the incumbent of an appointive office be recalled at such election, his successor shall be appointed immediately after the canvassing of the vote.

Before any petition can be filed under this Section for the recall of any person in the classified service of the County, there shall be presented to and passed upon by the Civil Service Commission, a complaint in writing giving the grounds for and asking the removal of such person. Such complaint must be considered and be finally acted upon by the Commission within twenty days after such filing.

(1) On all ballots a cross shall be considered equivalent to the figure I. So far as may be consistent with the general election laws, every ballot from which the first choice of the voter can be clearly ascertained shall be considered valid.

(2) The ballots shall first be counted at the several voting precincts according to the first choices of the voters. At each voting precinct the ballots declared invalid by the precinct officials shall be put up in a separate package, properly marked on the outside. All the packages of the precinct, together with a record of the precinct count, shall be promptly forwarded to the central election authorities as directed by them and the counting of the ballots shall proceed under their direction.

(3) After the review of the precinct count by the central authorities and the correction of any errors discovered therein, the first-choice votes for each candidate shall be added and tabulated. This completes the first count.

(4) In all cases where only one office is to be filled (Mayor, Auditor, etc.) the candidate, the number of whose votes on the first count equals the majority of votes cast for that office, shall then be declared elected. be scrutinized again and his second choice votes shall be added to the votes of the other candidates, the preferences indicate. The candidates shall in this manner be successively excluded until only two are left and the candidate having the majority vote between these two shall be declared elected.

(5) In all cases where more than one office of like character is to be filled (Council, Board of Education, etc.) all candidates the number of whose votes on the first count equal the majority of votes cast at the election shall then be declared elected.

The candidates shall in this manner successively be excluded until either a sufficient number of candidates have received a majority, as above defined, to fill the offices to be filled, or until there is left only one candidate more than the number of offices to be filled, and in such latter event those receiving the highest number of votes for the office, although less than a majority, shall be declared elected; and in like manner if there are no more candidates for an office than the number of places to be filled all candidates shall be declared elected although they receive less than a majority of the votes cast at the election.

(8) The ballots shall be preserved by the election authorities until the end of the term for which the officers are elected.

Any recount of the ballots shall be made by the central election authorities in accordance with this section except that the references to voting precincts may be neglected. In any recount every ballot shall be made to take the same course that it took in the original counting unless there is a discovered mistake that requires its taking a different course or unless some candidate has become ineligible since the original counting. In either of these cases any required changes shall be made in the courses taken by the ballot. These principles shall apply also to the correction of any error that may be discovered during the original counting.

WHEREAS, In 1921 the Legislature of the State of California by appropriate resolution urged upon the congress and federal administrative and executive officers the necessity for the continued adherence to the policy of the United States, restricting the right of citizenship and likewise protested against any attempt by treaty or otherwise to permit the immigration of ineligible aliens; and

WHEREAS, In 1924 after full investigation and consideration congress by general law prohibited the immigration of aliens ineligible to citizenship; and

WHEREAS, Various organizations have since the passage of said act persistently sought to influence congress to recede from such policy, and the adherence to said policy has been urged by the American Legion, American Federation of Labor, the Grange, and the Native Sons of the Golden West, the first three of which organizations have annually in their last three conventions by resolutions expressed their continued support of the congressional action; and

WHEREAS, There is now pending in congress a bill which is directly antagonistic to the general immigration act of 1924, and entirely out of harmony with the national policy on this subject, because said measure, to wit., the Copeland bill, S. 4505, would make eligible to American citizenship three hundred million Hindus; now therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly and Senate of the State of California, jointly, That the Legislature of this state protests against the passage of said bill and against any character of action designed to modify the present immigration laws and reaffirms its belief that the privilege of American citizenship should continue to be restricted as at present, and that the privilege of immigration should be extended only to those people who may become citizens of the United States; and be it further

Resolved, That the senators and representatives in congress from the State of California be urged to present the seriousness of the present situation to the attention of their colleagues and to the departments of the federal government, and to use all honorable means to prevent modification of the present naturalization and exclusion laws; and be it further

Resolved, That the chief clerk of the Assembly of the State of California be and he is hereby authorized and directed to transmit a copy of this resolution to each member of the senate and house of representatives of the United States.

WHEREAS, The so-called Tyson bill, S. 3027, now pending in the United States senate, and the so-called Fitzgerald bill, H. R. 4548, now pending in the house of representatives, are designed to provide retirement privileges for the more seriously disabled emergency Army officers of the World War and thus remove the unjust discrimination which has heretofore obtained against such officers; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and Assembly of the State of California, jointly, That the Legislature of the State of California do, and it hereby does, approve of legislation in the congress of the United States for the retirement of emergency officers of the Army of the United States who became disabled in line of duty during the World War on a basis equally as favorable as has already been provided for emergency officers of the Navy and Marine Corps and regular and provisional officers of the Army, Navy, and Marine Corps of the United States who became disabled in line of duty during the World War, and urges the United States senators and members of the house of representatives from the State of California actively to support such legislation; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forthwith transmitted to the President of the United States, to the president of the United States senate, to the speaker of the house of representatives, and to the United States senators and members of the house of representatives from the State of California.

CHAPTER 39.

Assembly Joint Resolution No. 4—Relative to memorializing congress to adopt a bill to provide compensation in lieu of taxes for the several states with respect to certain lands of the United States within the borders of said states, and for other purposes.

[Filed with Secretary of State March 16, 1927.]

WHEREAS, There has been introduced a bill in the house of representatives of the United States, being H. R. 7075—sixty-ninth congress, first session, which provides: "That the United States government hereby assumes, subject to the conditions of this act or any subsequent act of congress, the payment to the several states of sums of money equivalent to the amounts which such states would receive from the taxation of said lands of the United States within their respective borders if such lands were owned by individuals"; and

WHEREAS, Under an act of congress of the United States approved March 3, 1891, large areas of territory with the timber and other resources thereon and therein were "set apart, reserved, and withdrawn from entry" in the states of California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Nevada, Arizona and New Mexico and in a lesser degree in several of the other states of the Union; and

WHEREAS, The United States government has withdrawn, set apart and reserved within permanent national forests eighteen million eight hundred ninety-one thousand one hundred sixty-one acres of land within the State of California, approximating one-fifth of the total land area of the state, said lands being set apart, withdrawn from entry and reserved for the purpose of conserving the resources thereof and particularly the standing timber thereon for the benefit of future generations of mankind; and

WHEREAS, The lands of the United States above referred to, comprise in several of the counties upwards of one-half of the area within the borders of the counties, and, although exempt from annual taxation, are being put to commercial and industrial uses for the benefit of all the people of the United States, which fact places these lands on the same basis, as to use, as privately owned lands used for the same purpose, and said lands of the United States are in competition with said privately owned lands, and the setting aside, reserving and withdrawing from entry of these large areas of territory in the sparsely settled forest counties and on which the United States pays no taxes, results in throwing a heavy tax burden on privately owned property in the same political subdivision of government thus making the financing of local government a difficult problem indeed; and

WHEREAS, This area is not and can not be taxed by any of the thirty-nine counties of California wherein this vast domain is situated, although each of said counties is required to and do perform therein and thereon all necessary and requisite police powers, equip, maintain and operate schools; equip, maintain and operate courts for the punishment of offenders against the forest and other laws; construct, repair and maintain trails, roads and bridges and to do and perform such other acts, duties and powers as may be necessary to the enjoyment of such forests by the people of the United States as well as of other nations; and

WHEREAS, When state government was instituted and the several states admitted into the Union they were divided into counties, and townships and each of the states, counties and townships were guaranteed the full right of enjoyment of all the territory and resources within their respective borders and the declared policy of the United States government being to dispose of all the public domain, and article ten of the declaration of rights, which formed the basis for the union of the states provides, that "No state shall be deprived of territory for the benefit of the United States." In setting apart, reserving and withdrawing from entry nineteen million acres of land for national forest purposes within the boundaries of a single state, surely territory has been taken from that state for the benefit of the United States; and

of federal forest lands

WHEREAS, The following clause is contained in the enabling act of every state admitted into the Union, beginning with Ohio in 1803: "The state when admitted shall be on a basis of equality with the original states in all respects whatever." Therefore all political subdivisions of government should be on a basis of equality, which makes it necessary for all to contribute on a basis of equality to the solution of all problems of national necessity (and we deem the national forests to be such a problem), and if in so doing it becomes necessary to take territory and resources from some of the subdivisions of government, and "set apart, reserve or withdraw" the same from entry for the benefit of all the others, then those benefited should join in reimbursing the subdivisions of government from which the territory and resources were taken, otherwise there can be no basis of equality; and

WHEREAS, The congress of the United States has enacted legislation known as the "exchange bills," and under the provisions of said law, private owners are enabled to exchange cut-over lands for standing timber on the lands of the United States, and since said law has become operative, private owners have availed themselves of the right granted to them under said law and have conveyed hundreds of thousands of acres of such lands to the United States and have received in exchange, hundreds of millions of feet of standing virgin timber from the United States, and as a result of the operation of such legislation, counties in which such exchange have been made or in which such exchanges may hereafter be made, have had or will have taken from them and removed from the assessment rolls of such counties, many thousands of dollars in assessed valuation, and in addition to this loss of assessed valuation such counties are losing the percentage which they would receive were a sale made instead of an exchange, and as Colonel Greeley, chief forester of the United States, has said of this law, "The forest counties lose both going and coming"; and

WHEREAS, The congress of the United States has enacted the so-called Clark-McNary law, and under the provisions of section 7 of said law, private owners are enabled to donate or devise to the United States lands chiefly valuable for the growing of forests, the private owner reserving the timber, mineral, grazing and other rights and when so conveyed become a part of the national forest reserve and not open to entry or taxation, and should timber owners in some of the counties in several of the western states exercise their just right under this law, and convey their said lands to the United States, thus taking from the assessment rolls of the counties the immense valuation involved and the right of taxation, it will result in putting many of the forest counties of the west out of business, because such counties will be unable to raise sufficient revenue to maintain county government, and if such counties are annexed to a nonforest county in the same state the county to which it is annexed will receive not an asset but a liability; and

WHEREAS, It is only just and right that a heavy burden of local taxation should not be placed annually on the people of any state, in which, and by reason of the fact that, extensive areas of territory having great natural resources, guaranteed to them in the beginning and later legislated from them, have been set apart, reserved and withdrawn from entry for the economic use and benefit of all of the people of the United States, and we believe that if the government of the United States can not afford to finance its national forests, then in right and justice it should not expect the sparsely settled forest counties to do so for it, now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly and Senate, jointly, That the Legislature of the State of California approves of the purpose of the Raker bill referred to and respectfully request its support and adoption, by the congress of the United States at the earliest possible date; and be it further

Resolved, That any moneys to be paid to the State of California, by the United States under the provisions of the Raker bill or any similar bill, or any law enacted by the congress of the United States, based on forest values of the forest counties of California, shall be divided among said forest counties in proportion to the forest values fixed by the United States bureau of public roads; provided, that by the term "forest counties" is meant those counties of California, a part of which are in the present national forests; and provided, further, that any portion of the timber sale, grazing or other receipts of national forests returned by the federal government to the State of California, are excepted herefrom; and be it further

Resolved, That the chief clerk of the Assembly of the State of California be authorized and directed to transmit copies of this resolution by mail to the governors of the states of Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, Utah, Nevada, Colorado, New Mexico and Arizona with the request that similar action be taken by their respective legislatures; and be it further

Resolved, That the chief clerk of the Assembly of the State of California be authorized and directed to transmit copies of this resolution by mail, to all the members of the congress and senate of the United States.

Proposed
constitutional amendment.

First—There is hereby added to article XIV a new section, to be numbered 3, and to read as follows:

Sec. 3. It is hereby declared that because of the conditions prevailing in this state the general welfare requires that the water resources of the state be put to beneficial use to the fullest extent of which they are capable, and that the waste or unreasonable use or unreasonable method of use of water be prevented, and that the conservation of such waters is to be exercised with a view to the reasonable and beneficial use thereof in the interest of the people and for the public welfare. The right to water or to the use or flow of water in or from any natural stream or water course in this state is and shall be limited to such water as shall be reasonably required for the beneficial use to be served, and such right does not and shall not extend to the waste or unreasonable use or unreasonable method of use or unreasonable method of diversion of water. reasonable and beneficial uses; provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be construed as depriving any riparian owner of the reasonable use of water of the stream to which his land is riparian under reasonable methods of diversion and use, or of depriving any appropriator of water to which he is lawfully entitled. This section shall be self-executing, and the Legislature may also enact laws in the furtherance of the policy in this section contained.

CHAPTER 68.

Assembly Joint Resolution No. 17—Relative to federal taxation of community property in California.

[Filed with Secretary of State April 29, 1927.]

Federal
taxation of community
property.

WHEREAS, The community system of property prevails in the State of California; and

WHEREAS, In the other community property states the husband and wife are still and for a long time have been permitted by the treasury department, to return one-half of the community property income each for purposes of federal income taxes; and

WHEREAS, In the other community property states, only one-half of the community property passing to the wife on the death of her husband is, and for a long time has been subjected by the treasury department to the federal estate tax; and

WHEREAS, The treasury department has only permitted the husband and wife in California, during the limited period of two months from March 27, 1924, to May 27, 1924, to return community income for purposes of federal income taxes as heretofore and still permitted in the other community property states, and is now questioning the legal correctness of the divided returns of California taxpayers filed in that limited period; and

WHEREAS, The United States district court for the northern district of California in Blum versus Wardell (270 Fed. 309) held that in California only one-half of the community property passing to the wife on the death of her husband is subject to the federal estate tax; and

WHEREAS, This decision was approved by the United States circuit court of appeals for the ninth circuit (276 Fed. 226) and certiorari therein was denied by the United States supreme court (258 U. S. 617); and

WHEREAS, The treasury department ignores the effect of these decisions in the case of Blum versus Wardell and claims the right to subject to a federal estate tax the whole of the community property so passing to the wife in California, and is opening old cases heretofore settled for the purpose of claiming the larger tax on the whole community property; and

WHEREAS, The substantive rights of the husband and wife in community property in California are so similar in fact to the substantive rights of husband and wife in community property in the other community property states that, in the opinion of the people of the State of California there is no reasonable basis for distinguishing California from the other community property states in matters of federal taxation; and

taxation of
community

WHEREAS, The Legislature of the State of California in its various enactments upon the subject of community property has consistently recognized that the wife in California during the continuance of the marriage relation has an interest in community property much more definite and certain than the expectancy of an heir, as evidenced by the provisions of sections 161 and 682 of the Civil Code as adopted in 1872 and by the provisions of section 161a which were added to the Civil Code at this legislative session; and

WHEREAS, The supreme court of the State of California in the recent decision in Stewart versus Stewart (240 Pac. 197) recognized that the interest of the wife in community property in California during the continuance of the marriage relation was a much more definite and present interest than that of an ordinary heir; and

WHEREAS, By the phrasing of section 1212 of the revenue act of 1926 taxpayers in the other community property states who filed divided income returns were confirmed in all the privileges and benefits thereof as to income for any period before January 1, 1925, and by virtue of the position of the treasury department like privileges and benefits have been and will be denied to California taxpayers; and

WHEREAS, The people of the State of California are gravely concerned with the invidious distinction of California in these matters; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly and the Senate of California, jointly, That we respectfully urge upon the congress of the United States an early and careful consideration of the palpable injustice to California taxpayers in the matter of federal taxation; and such an amendment of the revenue acts as will put the California taxpayers as to past and future federal taxes in a position of equal security with the taxpayers in the other community property states; and that we also respectfully request of the congress in this behalf, such remedial legislation as will indemnify California taxpayers for any federal taxes heretofore collected from them on any other basis than that which has been applied in the other community property states; and be it further

Resolved, That certified copies of the text of this joint resolution be communicated by the governor of the State of California to the President of the United States, the secretary of the treasury of the United States, the president of the senate of the United States, the speaker of the house of representatives of the United States and to each member of the congress representing the State of California therein.

WHEREAS, The disastrous floods of the past few days along the Mississippi river have wrought great devastation and loss of life, and have become a matter of grave concern to all the people of this nation; and

WHEREAS, The work of restraining these floods is a matter of such magnitude that it can not adequately be accomplished except by federal aid; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly and Senate of the State of California, jointly, that we hereby urge upon the congress of the United States the adoption of such legislation as may prevent any future possibility of recurrence of such flood damage along the Mississippi; and be it further

Resolved, that a copy of this resolution be sent to the President of the United States and to each of the senators and congressmen representing California in the congress of the United States.

There is hereby created in and for the state treasury, a fund to be known and designated as the "state railroad grade separations fund," and immediately after the sale of bonds the treasurer of the state shall pay into the state treasury and cause to be placed in said fund the total amount received for said bonds, except such amount as may have been paid as accrued interest thereon. The amount that shall have been paid at such sale as accrued interest on the bonds shall be, by the treasurer of the state immediately after such sale, paid into the treasury of the state and placed in the "state railroad grade separations interest and sinking fund" which is hereby created.

Moneys shall be drawn from said state railroad grade separations fund for the purposes herein designated upon warrants duly drawn by the controller of the state upon demands made by the California highway commission and allowed and audited by the state board of control; provided, however, that out of the proceeds of the first sale of bonds made hereunder the state controller and the state treasurer shall transfer upon their respective books the sum of one hundred thousand dollars to the credit of the "state railroad grade separations revolving fund" which fund is hereby created in the state treasury.

The moneys in said state railroad grade separations revolving fund or such part thereof as the California highway commission shall deem necessary, may be expended from time to time upon the demands of the California highway commission, approved by the state board of control, for the purpose of making cash payments in advance for such expenditures as are necessary and proper to carry out the provisions of this section. Upon receipt of such demands, so approved, it shall be the duty of the state controller to draw his warrant upon said "state railroad grade separations revolving fund" in favor of the person, firm, corporation or association therein named, and the state treasurer shall pay the same. On or before the tenth day of each month thereafter, the California highway commission shall submit to the state board of control a verified, itemized statement, showing all expenditures during the preceding calendar month of the money so drawn from said "state railroad separations revolving fund," accompanied by proper vouchers and receipts therefor. Said statements shall be audited by the state board of control in the same manner that claims against the state are audited, and if found to be correct shall be approved by the state board of control and transmitted to the state controller with such approval endorsed hereon. The state controller shall thereupon draw his warrant upon the "state railroad grade separations fund" in favor of the California highway commission for the aggregate amount of such expenditures, and upon the surrender of such warrant, properly endorsed, the state treasurer shall transfer the amount thereof upon the books of his office from the said state railroad grade separations fund to the said state railroad grade separations revolving fund to be expended as aforesaid.

There is hereby appropriated from the general fund of the state treasury, such sum annually as will be necessary to pay the principal of and the interest on the bonds issued and sold pursuant to the provisions of this section, as said principal and interest becomes due and payable.

There shall be collected annually in the same manner and at the same time as other state revenue is collected such a sum, in addition to the ordinary revenues of the state as shall be required to pay the principal and interest on said bonds as herein provided, and it is hereby made the duty of all officers charged by law with any duty in regard to the collection of said revenue, to do and perform each and every act which shall be necessary to collect such additional sum.

State railroad grade

The treasurer of the state shall on the first day of January, 1929, and on the first day of each July and the first day of each January thereafter transfer from the general fund of the state treasury to the state railroad grade separations sinking fund such an amount of the moneys by this section appropriated as shall be required to pay the interest on the bonds sold hereunder, until the interest on all the said bonds so sold shall have been paid or shall become due in accordance with the provisions of this section.

There is hereby created in the state treasury a fund to be known and designated as the "state railroad grade separations sinking fund." The treasurer of the state shall on the third day of July, 1934, and on the third day of July of each and every year thereafter, in which a partial of the bonds sold pursuant to the provisions of this section shall become due, transfer from the general fund of the state treasury to the said state railroad grade separations sinking fund such an amount of moneys appropriated hereunder as may be required to pay the principal of the bonds so becoming due and payable in such years.

The principal of all of said bonds sold shall be paid at the time the same becomes due from the state railroad grade separations sinking fund and the interest on all bonds sold shall be paid at the time said interest becomes due from the state railroad grade separations interest and sinking fund. Both principal and interest shall be so paid upon warrants duly drawn by the controller of the state upon demands audited by the state board of control and the faith of the State of California is hereby pledged for the payment of the principal of said bonds so sold and the interest accruing thereon.

For the purposes of this section, a railroad grade separation is defined to be any crossing and the approaches leading thereto and therefrom between a state highway and the tracks of any commercial interurban or other railway by whatsoever power operated.

The moneys in said state railroad grade separation fund shall be used by the California highway commission to pay that portion of the cost of the acquisition of rights of way for railroad grade separations and the acquisition, construction and improvement of railroad grade separations upon state highways within the state highway system of the State of California as may be assigned to the state by order of and as apportioned by the state railroad commission.

State rail-

When requested by the highway finance board, the state treasurer shall prepare such number of bonds so dated and bearing such interest rate thereon, all as so determined by said board. The said bonds and the interest thereon shall be payable in gold coin of the United States of the present standard of value either at the office of the treasurer of said state or at the option of the holder at the fiscal agency for the State of California, in the city of New York, in the state of New York. The interest accruing on any of said bonds that may be sold shall be payable as herein provided on the third day of January and the third day of July of each and every year, after the sale of any of the said bonds. Said bonds shall mature at the times herein specified and the principal of said bonds shall be payable at either of the above designated places at such times. All bonds remaining unsold shall at the date of the maturity thereof be, by the treasurer of the state, canceled and destroyed. All bonds issued pursuant to the provisions of this act shall be signed by the governor of this state, countersigned by the state controller and endorsed by the state treasurer, and the said bonds shall be so signed, countersigned and endorsed by the officers who are in office on the date of the issuance of any parcel of bonds hereunder and each of said bonds shall have the great seal of the State of California impressed thereon. The said bonds signed, countersigned, endorsed and sealed as herein provided, when sold, shall constitute a valid and binding obligation upon the State of California, though the sale thereof be made at the date or dates after the person so signing, countersigning and endorsing, or either of them, shall have ceased to be the incumbents of said office or offices.

Appended to each of said bonds there shall be interest coupons so attached that the same may be detached without injury to or mutilation of said bond. The said coupons shall be consecutively numbered and shall bear the lithographed signature of the state treasurer who shall be in office on the third day of July, 1929. No interest shall be paid on any of said bonds for such time as may intervene between the date of said bond and the date of sale thereof, unless such accrued interest shall have been by the purchaser of said bond, paid to the state at the time of such sale.

There is hereby appropriated from the general fund of the state treasury such sum annually as will be necessary to defray all expenses that shall be incurred by the state treasurer in the preparation of said bonds and in the advertising of the sale thereof, as in this section provided. When the bonds authorized by this section to be issued shall have been signed, countersigned, endorsed and sealed as provided herein the state treasurer shall sell the same in such parcels and numbers not inconsistent with the provisions hereof, as the governor of the state shall direct to the highest bidder for cash. The governor of the state shall issue to the state treasurer such direction immediately after being requested so to do by the California highway commission. Such request shall specify the amount of money which in the judgment of said commission shall be required at such time and the governor of the state shall direct the state treasurer to sell such number of said bonds as may be required to raise said amount of money and that said bonds shall be sold in consecutive numerical order. The state treasurer shall not accept any bid which is less than the par value of the bond plus the interest which has accrued thereon between the date of sale and the last preceding interest maturity date. The state treasurer may at the time and place fixed by him for said sale continue such sale as to the whole or any part of the bonds offered to such time and place as he may at the time of such continuance designate. Before offering any of said bonds for sale, the said treasurer shall detach therefrom all coupons which have matured or will mature before the date fixed for such sale. The state treasurer shall give notice of the time and place of sale by publication in two newspapers published in the city and county of San Francisco and in one newspaper published in the city of Oakland, and in one newspaper published in the city of Los Angeles and in one newspaper published in the city of Sacramento once a week for four weeks next preceding the date fixed for such sale. In addition to the notice last above provided for, the state treasurer may give such further notice as he may deem advisable, but the expenses and cost of such additional notice shall not exceed the sum of five hundred dollars for each sale so advertised.

State rail-
separation

In the event that any bonds prepared as herein provided can not, in the judgment of said state highway finance board be sold at the time fixed for the sale thereof, or thereafter, said board may withdraw said bonds from sale and direct the state treasurer to cancel and destroy the same, and may at said time or thereafter, at its option, direct the preparation and sale, as hereinbefore provided, of the same or a different number of bonds, but not to exceed in all the amount herein authorized and at the same or a different rate of interest, but not to exceed six per cent per annum.

All provisions of this section shall be self-executing and shall not require any legislative action in furtherance thereof, but this shall not prevent such legislative action; and all expenses that shall be incurred by the state treasurer in the preparation of bonds herein provided for and in the advertising and sale thereof, and all expenses incurred by any officer in reference thereto shall be paid from the general fund of the state. Nothing in this constitution contained, except as in this section provided, shall be a limitation upon the provisions of this section.

CHAPTER 83.

Senate Joint Resolution No. 11—Relating to securing the aid of the United States government in establishing a basis for execution of some comprehensive plan for development of the water resources of California.

[Filed with Secretary of State April 29, 1927.]

Federal aid
for water conservation
and development.

WHEREAS, The joint legislative committee of the forty-seventh session of the Legislature, under Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 16, has submitted its report; and,

WHEREAS, During its deliberation said committee fully realized that many features of any comprehensive plan for the development of the water resources of California involve matters coming within the jurisdiction and concern of the federal government; and,

WHEREAS, Governor Young, in his inaugural address, recognized the paramount importance of some comprehensive plan for the conservation and development of the water resources of California in the following words:

“The solution of this problem can no longer be left to haphazard and unrelated development. There is no doubt that it is high time to seek some comprehensive plan which will meet the needs of both our great central valleys. The water which falls so bountifully during our winters, and which now wastes itself in bay and ocean, if properly stored and controlled and placed upon the land, would be sufficient to water every irrigable foot of this vast area, beside practically eliminating all future danger from winter floods.

This enterprise, however, is so vast that it can be financed by no one agency alone. The farmer whose lands are benefited can not meet the expense, as he largely does in the case of minor irrigation projects. The county whose cities are dependent upon local agricultural prosperity must also do its share. The state must take the leadership in coordinating and planning the whole. The federal government possibly must be asked to advance the money for the initial construction, just as is proposed in the Boulder canyon project;” now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate, and the Assembly, jointly, That this Legislature commend to the governor that he communicate with the President of the United States and invoke the cooperation and aid of the federal government in working out some approved and comprehensive plan for development of the water resources of California.

CHAPTER 84.

Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 20—Relative to the suppression of traffic in narcotic drugs and authorizing the appointment of a committee to confer with commissions from the states of Oregon and Washington for the purpose of considering and recommending the enactment of effective and uniform laws governing the traffic in narcotic drugs and related matters.

[Filed with Secretary of State April 29, 1927.]

WHEREAS, The misuse of habit forming drugs constitutes a grave menace to society; and

WHEREAS, There is great need for more vigorous action on the part of the State of California to combat this evil; and

WHEREAS, The states of Washington, Oregon and California are particularly subject to the illegal traffic in narcotic drugs on account of their accessibility through the various ports; and

WHEREAS, A united action on the part of these states is essential in order to combat this evil; now, therefore be it

narcotic
drugs laws

Resolved by the Senate of the Legislature of the State of California, the Assembly concurring, That there shall be and hereby is created a committee to consist of two members of the Senate, to be appointed by the president of the Senate, two members of the Assembly, to be appointed by the speaker of the Assembly, and one citizen of the State of California, to be appointed by the governor, said committee to act in the same manner as commissions from the states of Washington and Oregon, for the purpose of considering the enactment of effective and uniform laws governing traffic in narcotic drugs; be it further

Resolved, That the committee hereinabove named shall also consider the advisability of harmonizing state laws with federal narcotic laws in order to make possible closer cooperation between state and federal law enforcing officials; be it further

Resolved, That the committee shall also make a complete study pertaining to the proper treatment of narcotic drug addicts and shall gather such other necessary information, formulate recommendations, and prepare and submit to the next session of the Legislature of the State of California their findings therein; be it further

Resolved, That the members of said committee shall receive no compensation for their services but shall be paid their necessary traveling and other expenses. The sum of five hundred dollars is hereby set aside from the contingent fund of the Senate, and a like sum from the contingent fund of the Assembly, and made available for the purpose of defraying the expenses, if any, of such committee and committeemen, which expenses shall be paid equally from such contingent funds of the Senate and Assembly, and the state controller is hereby authorized and directed to draw his warrant in favor of the members of said committee for such expenditures as may be certified to him from time to time by said committee, and the state treasurer is hereby authorized and directed to pay the same.

to enable it to fix and determine the policy that should be adopted in this regard; now, therefore, be it
