CLASS OF '83.

CLASSMATES :

At last I feel that I can make a reply to the question so frequently asked during the last three months, "How is the history coming along?" and refer you for it to the pages which follow.

In them I have endeavored to let each man tell his story in his own words, adding only such things as would make the sketch complete, in order that the individuality of each might be preserved and the hand of the secretary conspicuous only by its absence.

If the record of some is the barest outline, and in cases nothing, do not place all the burden upon the secretary's shoulders but charge some of it to — it is difficult to choose the fitting word — a modesty which, excessive as it was most unexpected in '83 men, heroically withstood the allurements of three general circulars and a number of personal letters.

One or two matters that appear may demand explanation. While considering the suggestion that it would be well to insert the class lists as they appeared in the catalogues from year to year, I found on inquiry at the college that a large number of catalogues had been destroyed recently, and that those from 1879 to 1883 were impossible to obtain. All doubts as to the expediency of including these lists in this work vanished, and you will find the roll of the class for the successive years of our course printed exactly as it appeared, errors and all, in the University Catalogues.

So many inquiries have been made respecting matters which could be found only in the programmes of our Class Day and Commencement, particularly for the music of the class tree hymn, that it seemed best to print them also for convenient reference.

An examination of the replies to the circulars sent out reveals this most gratifying result, that the class is prospering, that the members have cheerfully and earnestly taken up the responsibilities of life, and while none of us are millionaires and some may feel that fortune has not yet deigned to turn her brightest smile upon them, yet on the whole they are men in every sense of the word, doing manly work. Furthermore, not one, so far as heard from, has been taken from us, and we come to this second reunion with full ranks as on the day of graduation.

The preparation of this record has been a pleasant task, and if it has been done in a manner to meet your approbation I ask nothing more. With kindest wishes to each and every one for the future,

Believe me very sincerely your classmate,

C. A. HARRINGTON,

Secretary.

CLASS TREE HYMN.

As sons, to our dear Alma Mater to-day
Our gift of affection we bring,
At thy feet all our hopes and our honors we lay,
And gratefully, joyfully sing.

Beside Time's long avenue, bordered by shade,
We plant our memorial tree,
A way mark of progress that learning has made,
And the year of our own "Eighty-three."

Our hearts shall go upwards, still seeking the light,
As the tree toward heaven shall grow,
And firm as the branches we'll cling to the might
Of the sturdy Brown trunk, as we go.

If joy's gentle breezes shall sport o'er life's lea,
And billow rich, ripening grain,
When in sunshine, hope changed to fruition we see,
Then we'll turn to our mother again.

Or if oncoming years, like the wild surges roll,
In thy light o'er life's ocean we'll roam,
And the voices of memory shall sing in the soul
As we think of our old college home.

PERSONAL LETTERS.

ALDRICH, JOHN.

Born at Exeter, Washington County, Rhode Island, July 16, 1860. Parents, James M. Aldrich and Joanna R. (Sherman) Aldrich. Preliminary education received in the public schools of Westerly, Rhode Island.

He taught school at Kingston, Rhode Island, till June, 1884, was assistant principal of the High School at Flushing, Long Island, from September, 1884, to June, 1885, and was teaching at Kingston again during the school year 1885-86. He then entered upon a three years' course at the College of Physicians and Surgeons in New York City. He says "I have nothing to add to what you already have in the blank filled out by me sometime ago. I have simply been a student of medicine and am now (May, 1889,) within six weeks of graduation, when I hope to take my degree. I fear I shall have to deny myself the pleasure of the reunion in June. I am under engagement for the summer and in the fall my plans are unsettled except that I shall try for a hospital appointment. Remember me to all the boys." Not married.

Address, Westerly, Rhode Island.

ALLEN, EDWIN PIERCE.

Born at Somerset, Bristol County, Massachusetts, July 14, 1859. Parents, Pierce B. Allen and Sarah A. (Paul) Allen. Preparatory education at Pierce Academy, Middleboro', Massachusetts.

"This communication, though long delayed, will be received in time to be incorporated in the forthcoming history of the class; otherwise I shudder to think of the appalling and dismal failure that must inevitably await said publication. Allow me to record here my appreciation for your thoughtfulness in providing me with a plan, thereby lessening to a great extent the intellectual strain and eliminating from these memoirs much that might be scandalous and impertinent.

"Six years have sped on rapid wings since that eventful day in June, 1883, when good old Mother Brown with kindly benediction and God-speed dismissed us from her classic halls and sent us forth, as we fondly hoped, on the road to fame and fortune. Now we are asked to pause for a moment in our upward course to relate for mutual edification the honors and successes that have thus far been attained.

“My story will be brief. Having always had a strong predilection for the law, and believing that noble science to be best adapted to my ‘theory of virtue,’ I entered, in the autumn of 1883, the offices of Thurston, Ripley and Company, counsellors at law, Providence, Rhode Island, as a student, and spent the succeeding two years sitting at the feet of Blackstone, Coke and other great masters of the common law, delving deep in the mysteries of legal lore. ‘Ignorantia legis neminem excusat’ was the pillar of cloud by day and the pillar of fire by night that led me through the wilderness of an impecunious law student’s life into the promised land within the bar. I was admitted to the Rhode Island Bar as an attorney and counsellor at law February 13, 1886, being first duly sworn to support the constitution and laws of the United States and the State of Rhode Island. I at once opened an office at 26 Westminster street, in said Providence, and very soon had occasion to remark how much easier it was to support the constitution than myself. I have continued at the same place ever since, bearing the burdens of a small and select but gradually increasing circle of more or less litigious persons.

“It is with deep regret that I have to confess my inability at present to give any definite information as to the time and place of my marriage or the maiden name of my wife. While one after another of the boys have succumbed to the inevitable and are now tasting the joys of connubial bliss, I still remain wedded to my profession alone, and sometimes fear lest I may have to terminate even this union by petition for divorce on the ground of non-support.

“My travels since leaving the fostering care of Alma Mater are hardly worth mentioning in this chronicle of events, as they have been confined to our own glorious country with the exception of one flying visit to Her Majesty’s Dominion across the border. I returned voluntarily, and unaccompanied by an officer of the law.

“I am forced to record the fact that three years after graduation, Alma Mater, for a cash consideration of seven dollars, conferred upon me the degree of Master of Arts.

“ Although a careful observer and student of politics, I have not as yet entered into active political life. No offices of honor, trust or profit, have been held by me, unless I may allude to my law office, which, while not without honor, has little profit and far, far too much trust.

“ I can think of nothing else that is of especial interest to the boys in this connection unless it be to call their attention to the fact that I may always be found at 26 Westminster street, room 9, and I might add that the latch string hangs without.

“ I believe I have covered in this brief account the salient features of my history for the six years last past, and have endeavored to confine myself to the cold facts, as fiction is unknown to my profession.”

Address, 26 Westminster street, Providence, Rhode Island.

ANTHONY, ALFRED WILLIAMS.

Born at Providence, Rhode Island, January 13, 1860. Parents, Lewis Williams Anthony and Britannia F. (Waterman) Anthony. Preliminary education at Mowry and Goff's English and Classical School, Providence, Rhode Island.

He writes: "At present I am blessed with four homes, parental, Providence, Rhode Island; legal, Bangor, Maine; prospective, Lewiston, Maine, United States of America; actual, Berlin, Germany.

"As for profession, or as the Germans say, stand, I hold a three-fold. I am a clergyman, I am a professor-elect, I am in Germany a student, im-matriculated in the Theological Faculty of the Berlin University October 23, 1888.

"My marriage with Harriet Wyatt Angell, daughter of John Wilmarth and Elizabeth Herman Stillwell, occurred in Grace Church, Providence, September 15, 1885. I have one child, Elizabeth Williams Anthony, born April 7, 1887." (A second daughter, Margaretha, was born March 17, 1889, at Berlin, Germany, and died the 20th of the same month).

"Travels? Yes, in October, 1886, my wife and I visited Ohio, seeing en route Niagara Falls and other points of interest. The secretary of the class was a fellow traveller on the outward trip. In 1887, alone, I visited Europe in my summer vacation, leaving America June 30th, and returning

September 4th. The time was not long and yet sufficed for a hasty trip through Ireland, a glimpse of Wales, a few days in the central towns of England, namely: Chester, Stratford, Kenilworth, Warwick and Oxford, sixteen days in London, a visit to Antwerp and Brussels, then a journey along the Rhine, seeing Cologne, Bonn, Coblenz, Bingen, Mayence and Strassburg. At the last named place I spent three days with our classmate Simonds, then digging into Anglo-Saxon roots in the Strassburg University. He was well initiated in German mysteries and Strassburg lore, and kindly shared his information with me. In college days we had haunted the police court together, seeking items of a sad, amusing or instructive nature. In a similar way we haunted Strassburg institutions. Then I sped to Paris, stopping a night at Nancy on the way, thence, after eight days through London and Liverpool, to America. Besides Simonds, other Brown men were met on the journey. Carter, '85, was on the steamer, both going and coming; I travelled with him through Ireland, and met him again both in London and Paris. On the same vessel returning were also Faunce, '80, Ferguson and Cole, '84

“ In June, 1887, the day before sailing for Europe, I was elected professor of New Testament Languages and Criticism in Cobb Divinity School, a department of Bates College, Lewiston, Maine. In consequence of this election I resigned my pastorate in Bangor, Maine, to which I had been called in May, 1885 (although I did not assume pastoral charge until September 27, 1885), my resignation taking effect May 1, 1888.

“ With my family I sailed from New York May 19, 1888, for two years' preparatory study in Europe. We spent eight days in Scotland, and then two months in London, where I did some valuable reading in the British Museum. Since August 4, 1888, we have been in Berlin. Here the language and literature, the lectures of the university, the music, art, architecture and libraries afford ample opportunities for culture and study. We propose remaining abroad — perhaps not all the time in Berlin — until the summer of 1890.

“ Brown men are to be found on these shores. I just missed of Preston in London, a telegram failing to reach me in season to make a changed appointment effective. French, '85, is now in Berlin, though he goes soon to Strassburg. Hayward, '74, I have met here. Jillson, '82, comes here soon with his family from Paris.

“Brown granted me A. B. in 1883, and A. M. in 1886. In Junior year I was elected a member of Φ. Β. Κ. I am, and am proud to be, a member of Delta Upsilon. Here, in Berlin, I consort with six other members of the order, brothers true.

“My authorship consists of a few newspaper contributions, some time ago frequently to the Youth's Companion, of late, frequently to The Morning Star (both of Boston), once to The Christian Union, once to Golden Days. In 1886 and 1887 I contributed occasional notes upon the Sunday-school lessons to the Star series of Sunday-school Quarterlies.

“I do not know of other items of interest. My present address is Lützowstrasse 2¹, Berlin, Germany.”

BAKER, ARTHUR EATON.

Born at Winchester, Middlesex County, Massachusetts, August 2, 1860. Parents, F. W. Baker and Mary L. (Eaton) Baker. Preliminary education received at Phillips Academy, Exeter, New Hampshire.

He writes: "In answer to your circular I would say briefly that the following are the facts which tell the main part of my career to date since leaving Brown University:

"The first year after graduation I was instructor of Latin and German at Poughkeepsie College Preparatory School, (New York).

"In June of 1884 I came to this city (Los Angeles, California,) as it was the residence of my father. Instead of returning, as I had expected, I accepted a position to teach in the public school of San Pedro, a few miles from this city.

"In 1885 was elected a teacher in the public schools of this city, and after three years' service as teacher and principal, was, in September of 1887, appointed by the Board of Education the superintendent pro tem. of city schools, as leave of absence had been granted the superintendent on account of health. After the expiration of this leave of absence I was duly elected deputy superintendent, which position I now hold.

"My degree is that of A. B., although at the coming commencement of Brown the degree of A. M. is to be conferred upon me.

“September 3, 1886, I was married in this city to Miss Alberta Whitney, then a teacher of this city.” (Parents’ names, A. B. Whitney and Franc Whitney).

Address, 7½ North Main street, Los Angeles, California.

*BAKER, SHARONTON HALE.

Born at Dover, New Hampshire, 1862. Parents, Samuel W. Baker and Lydia P. (Blake) Baker.

His profession is teaching, and during the school year of 1884-5 he was in charge of the middle district school of Bristol, Rhode Island, where he was married December 1, 1884, to Alice Gardner Luscomb, daughter of George G. and Sarah L. Luscomb. He then removed to Provincetown, Massachusetts, his present residence, teaching a part if not all of the time in the High School.

Address, Post Office box 13, Provincetown, Massachusetts.

*For the facts of the Bristol residence the class are indebted to Mr. H. F. Bennett, town clerk of Bristol, no answers having been received to the class circulars.

BARKER, ABRAM.

Born at Fall River, Massachusetts, February 14, 1861. Parents, Abraham T. Barker and Ellen (Frye) Barker. Preliminary education received at Mowry and Goff's English and Classical School, Providence, Rhode Island.

January 1, 1887, he started in business for himself at No. 6 Exchange street, Providence, Rhode Island, as note broker and dealer in commercial paper, having previously been, since leaving college, in the office of the Ponemah Mills, Providence, Rhode Island.

Replying to the last class circular, Abe writes :

" 2. As yet unattached.

" 3. Travels: My trip from Providence to Seattle.

" 4. Degrees: A. M., Brown, 1886. I retain my membership in the Hope Club, Providence, and am an incorporator and treasurer of the Rainier Club, Seattle, Washington Territory, both social clubs. Am Vice President of the Merchants National Bank of Seattle.

" 5. My literary talents are as yet very meagrely developed. I don't believe that I shall have time to write a letter for the history, but you may print that this is a great country, and any one wishing to know about it can just drop me a line and receive full particulars by next mail." Abe is still a bachelor.

Address Seattle, Washington.

BARROWS, IRA.

Born at North Attleboro, Massachusetts, June 30, 1857. Parents, Henry F. Barrows and Henrietta T. (Richards) Barrows. Preliminary education received at Mowry and Goff's English and Classical School, Providence, Rhode Island.

He writes: "Have just returned from a western trip or would have answered your letter before.

"1. Residence, No. 85 Willow street, Brooklyn.

"2. Have 'not got there' yet.

"3. Simply two western trips a year, and these of a business nature.

"4. Member of the Hamilton Club of Brooklyn, and the Alcyone Boat Club, of the same city.

"5. I pass.

"6. I am living in bachelor quarters at No. 85 Willow street, Brooklyn. Dike, '85, is one of the 'gang' of four. We have a small cottage house in a very convenient and aristocratic section of the city. We have two servants to 'run' the house for us. Suffice it to say that we live like lords, and, probably, are sure candidates for bachelordom.

“I am in business with my brother. My father retired from the business in 1883, and the two sons are now in proprietorship of the business. I shall be modest and simply say that thus far we have been fairly successful. Our business is in some respects a very peculiar one, and success in it depends almost solely on one's aptitude to the business. I am in love with my business, i. e., the nature of it. Have never regretted going into it, and as I look back over the six years intervening since graduation can simply say, even if I have not made a fortune, that I am satisfied. My residence has been Brooklyn almost since graduation, and I feel perfectly at home there, more so than any place I know of. In fact New York city and its environs have always had a peculiar charm and fascination for me ever since my first visit here twenty years ago, when, with an unconquerable Rhode Island appetite gnawing at my vitals, I asked for a clambake when sitting down to dinner at the Fifth Avenue Hotel. My life during the past six years has been uneventful and happy. I have been spared almost miraculously, so far, deep sorrow, and have been blessed with perfect health."

"The above constitutes the prosaic account of '83's warbler.' I have tossed the above off on the spur of the moment, and feel as though you should give it to 'Tim' for correction and allow him to attach the red mark of good, bad or indifferent.

"I will try and be with you on our Triennial."
Address 1½ Maiden lane, New York city.

BISHOP, AMASA JUNIUS PARKER.

Although all clues that have been furnished have been faithfully followed out, they have been without result.

The Brunonian of May 7, 1887, had a "personal" to the effect that he was then studying law in Rochester, New York

BLAISDELL, NATHANIEL BROWN.

Born at Providence, Rhode Island July 29, 1862. Parents, Samuel L. Blaisdell and Harriet N. Blaisdell. Preliminary education received at the High School Providence, Rhode Island.

He writes: "Yours of March 28th, 1889, received, saying that a month before you had sent me a class circular. This class circular never reached me. In a letter from my father, of some time previous to your own, he says that he had met you and that you were disappointed in not getting any reply from me for a number of communications mailed me. Except your last of March 28th, the only letter I have had from you was one of a year or more ago, and that was a list of printed questions. I did not fill it out as I could find none that fitted my case. Have no children, am not married. Have written no books, nor delivered any addresses. Held no offices. In my life have first, been to school; second, at work.

“When I quit work and turn tramp will let you know. Aside from this class formality, am greatly obliged to you for the trouble you have been to in my regard. By the way, please put me down as a draughtsman instead of civil engineer. I never could lay claim to the title of C. E.”

He is in the office of Clinton Day, architect, 220 Sutter street, San Francisco, enjoying his work and satisfied that there is no place like the Pacific slope. He particularly desires to be remembered to all the boys.

Address, 726 Bush street, San Francisco, California.

BOWEN, HERBERT ANTHONY.

Parents, Clovis Bowen and Nancy Bowen. After graduation he was for a time connected with one of the electric lighting companies in Providence, Rhode Island. For the past three years he has been interested in mining operations in California, the latter part of the time being located in Siskiyou county. He is not married. He is at present (May, 1889,) in Providence, but no statistical matter has been forwarded.

Address, 65 Orms street, Providence, Rhode Island.

* BREWER, RICHMOND.

Graduated from Brown with the degree of A. B. in 1884. For a short time after graduation he was on the staff of a New York daily paper, then stenographic reporter with Dill and Chandler, attorneys, 120 Broadway, New York city, and subsequently in a business office. He died October 23, 1886, in his twenty-seventh year, at Brooklyn, New York, and is buried at Westerly, Rhode Island.

* For the above facts the class are indebted to Mr. William M. P. Bowen, secretary of '84.

BROOKS, FRANKLIN ELI.

Born at Sturbridge, Worcester County, Massachusetts, November 19, 1860. Parents, Eli T. Brooks and Anna E. (Bemis) Brooks. Preliminary education received at the High School, Southbridge, Massachusetts.

He writes: "After leaving college I spent a year as classical instructor in Greenwich Academy, Greenwich, Connecticut. In September, 1884, I went to Medway, Massachusetts, as principal of the High School in that place, remaining there two years. In September, 1886, I began the study of law in Boston, in the office of Brooks and Nichols. For about two months in the fall of 1887 I acted as substitute teacher in the Boston Latin School. I also conducted Shakespeare and literary clubs in Hyde Park and Boston during the continuance of my professional studies. During the school year of 1887-88 I attended the Law School of Boston University. I was admitted to the Suffolk Bar at the April term, 1888, receiving my admission July 27, 1888. I began practicing in the office where I studied, and was getting a fair start, when, in November, 1888, I was taken very seriously ill, and at this writing (April, 1889), I am just resuming business.

“ My literary efforts have been very limited. I have contributed various newspaper articles to different papers. One, a memorial of E. R. Beach, attracted some favorable notice. It was published in February, 1884, in the Southbridge, Massachusetts, Journal, and copied shortly after in the Syracuse, New York Journal, I have also delivered some addresses on literary and memorial occasions. Among others an address at the decoration of the soldiers' graves in Medway, Massachusetts, in 1886, and an address on the Elizabethan Drama, in Hyde Park, in April, 1888.” Not married.

Address, 40 Water street, Boston, Massachusetts.

BROWN, JAMES ALBERT.

Born at Brooklyn, Windham County, Connecticut, February 27, 1855. Parents, Benjamin Brown and Emeline Godfrey (Mason) Brown. Preliminary education received at the High School, Putnam, Connecticut.

He writes: “ My history since graduation can be told in a few sentences. After graduating at Newton Theological Institution, June 11, 1886, I supplied the Baptist church of Akron, Ohio, for six months, during the absence of Dr. Burton, the pastor, who was acting as president of Denison University, at Granville, Ohio. I have had but one pastorate, at Newark, Ohio (where he was ordained to the Baptist ministry July 14, 1887), and have just accepted a call to the First Baptist church of Bedford, Ohio. I was married on the 27th of October, 1887, to Helen L. Wilcox, of Akron. I regret that I cannot be present at the reunion next June. My kind regards to all the boys."

Address, Bedford, Ohio."

BURDETTE, WALTER VALENTINE.

Born at Clinton, Worcester County, Massachusetts, April 9, 1861. Parents, George W. Burdette and Elizabeth J. (Valentine) Burdette. Preliminary education under the private instruction of A. E. Ford, principal of the Clinton High School.

Since leaving Brown he has resided at Clinton, and is a member of the firm of Lucius Field and Company, manufacturers and wholesale and retail dealers in house furnishing supplies.

He was married November 3, 1885, to Lena F. Holden, daughter of Rufus and Julia Holden. A son, Allen W. Burdette, was born to them July 11, 1887.

Address, 56 and 58 High street, Clinton, Massachusetts.

BURGESS, ISAAC BRONSON.

Born at Calais, Washington County, Maine, November 7, 1858. Parents, Isaac J. Burgess and Harriet N. (Bronson) Burgess. Preliminary education received at Pierce Academy, Middleboro, Massachusetts, and Phillips Academy, Exeter, New Hampshire.

In September, 1883, he accepted a position as teacher of Latin and Ancient History in the Rogers High School, Newport, Rhode Island, and August 17, 1886, was married to Miss Ellen Wilbur, of Andover, Massachusetts, daughter of Rev. Henry R. Wilbur and Susan E. (Knowles) Wilbur. Mrs. Burgess was for four years teacher of German in Abbott Academy, Andover, Massachusetts. A son, Robert Wilbur Burgess, was born to them July 25, 1887.

He writes: "I spent my summer vacation in 1885 in a trip to the British Isles, and made a six weeks' tour through Ireland, Scotland and England. Received A. M., Brown, 1886. Have been for four years a member and for three years president of a local (Newport, Rhode Island) literary society.

"I am the author of a little book called 'A Drill Vocabulary for Virgil,' published by Silver, Burdette and Company, Boston, in October, 1888, also in connection with Professor Harper, of Yale University, of 'Harper and Burgess' Inductive Latin Method,' published by Ivison, Blakeman and Company, New York and Chicago, in 1888. This is a first year Latin book, prepared on a new plan. I am also the author of two articles published in The Academy, a magazine for secondary teachers. The first, published in January, 1888, is entitled 'The Thought Element in Language Study,' and was read before the Rhode Island Teachers' Association in October, 1887; the second, on 'A Method of Teaching College Preparatory History,' appeared in June, 1888, and was read before the Massachusetts Classical and High School Teachers' Association in April, 1888.

“ I have just (March 22, 1889,) left my position in the Rogers High School, Newport, where I have been Latin master since graduation, and have been since March 11th junior master in the Boston Public Latin School. I consider this change a substantial advancement. I shall not move my family, consisting of my wife and boy, twenty months old, until fall. I expect to be present at the class supper in June.”

Address, 1 Columbus square, Boston, Massachusetts.

BURNHAM, WALTER WILLCUTT.

Born at Providence, Rhode Island, January 15, 1861. Parents, George Henry Burnham and Emeline C. (Boutwell) Burnham. Preliminary education received in the public schools of Providence, Rhode Island.

He was in the service of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad Company at Las Vegas, New Mexico, in 1881; with the Ferro Caril Central Mexicana at Paso del Norte, Mexico, in 1882, and in the real estate business in Providence until 1885, when he succeeded the secretary in the office of the city clerk of Providence, holding successively positions in that office, the department of public works and the tax department where he is at present chief clerk and draughtsman. He is a member of the First Light Infantry regiment of Providence and also of its Veteran Association, a member of the Royal Society of Good Fellows and of the J. K. E. Alumni Association of Providence. He was married September 3, 1885, to Grace E. Warner, daughter of Charles H. Warner and Nellie M. Warner, of Providence, Rhode Island. They have one child, a son, born August 31, 1886, and named Walter Henry Burnham.

Address, City Hall, Providence, Rhode Island.

CHAFFEE, JONATHAN IRVIN.

Born at Seekonk, Bristol County, Massachusetts, January 3, 1861. Parents, Oliver Chaffee and Abby Maria (Gray) Chaffee. Preliminary education received at Mowry and Goff's English and Classical School at Providence, Rhode Island.

He writes: "Your communication duly received. In answer would say. Having been appointed principal of the Grove Avenue Grammar School in East Providence, I accepted the position and began teaching September 4, 1882. In the meantime I studied outside, having the lectures which were given in the class room at college furnished me, so that I was enabled by hard work to pass the required examinations, and was graduated from good old Brown in the Class of '83. I continued as principal of the above named school until the fall of 1884, when I was appointed principal of the East Providence High School, a position which I have held up to the present time. In the spring of 1884 I allowed my name to be used as a candidate for the office of town clerk, a position which I did not seek, and to obtain which, after my nomination, I did not labor. I was defeated by my opponent.

“On the 23d of December, 1885, I married Miss Bessie Wright Marvel, of Rehoboth, Massachusetts, daughter of John C. and Francis A. (Peck) Marvel. We have no children. I have received the degree of A. M. from Brown University, 1886.” He is a member of Rising Sun Lodge, No. 30, A. F. and A. M., of East Providence, Rhode Island.

Address, East Providence Centre, Rhode Island.

CLEMENT, GEORGE HENRY

Born at Lawrence, Essex County, Massachusetts, February 15, 1860. Parents, Harrison D. Clement and Margaret (Wason) Clement. Preliminary education received at the Worcester Academy, Worcester, Massachusetts.

After leaving Brown he was a special student at Harvard College, 1881 to 1883. He spent one year in a law office, and was successively agent for the Magnesio Calcite Fireproof Company, of Boston, Massachusetts, and clerk in the office of the Lawrence Gas Company. He was appointed clerk in the Army Paymaster's division of the Second Comptroller's office, Treasury Department of the United States, January 8, 1889, as the result of the civil service examination taken in Boston, Massachusetts, October 4, 1888, being chosen from three eligible candidates without political influence of any kind.

Address, Second Comptroller's office, Treasury Department, Washington, D. C.

COOK, LOUIS ADEN.

Born at Stamford, Bennington County, Vermont, July 22, 1859. Parents, Lewis H. Cook and Lucy A. (Brown) Cook. Preparatory education at the Worcester Academy, Worcester, Massachusetts.

He left college in the sophomore year, returning to his native place, where he resided till November, 1883, when he removed to North Adams, Massachusetts and from that place, some four months later, to Greenfield, in the same state, which has been his home since.

His marriage to Miss Angeline W. Pierce, of Lynn, Massachusetts, occurred June 14, 1883, and two children have been given to them, Effie J. Cook, born May 14, 1884, and Arthur L. Cook, born November 19, 1885.

While in Stamford he was school superintendent and a member of the board of selectmen, from March, 1883, to March, 1884.

His business is that of clothing merchant, and in society matters he is a member of the Masonic fraternity.

Address, Greenfield, Massachusetts.

CROSBY, WILSON GARDNER.

Born at Edgartown, Dukes County Massachusetts, January 16, 1861. Parents, Shipley W. Crosby and Elizabeth G. (Coffin) Crosby. Preparatory education at the University Grammar School, Providence, Rhode Island.

During the first two years after graduation he was instructor at Brown in the Latin, Greek and modern languages, when he went abroad, and was for three successive semesters in 1885 and 1886 at the universities of Berlin, Tübingen and Leipzig. On his return he studied law in the office of Stickney and Shephard, New York, and at the Harvard Law School, where he was a member of the Thayer, Pow-Wow and Φ. Δ. Φ. He has been on the editorial board of the Harvard Law Review, and Harvard correspondent of the Columbia Law Times.

His work at the law school has won him high praise, and he enters into practice with the best recommendations at Duluth.

Address, Duluth, Minnesota, after July 20, 1889.

DAVENPORT, JAMES HENRY.

Born at Fall River, Massachusetts, March 17, 1862. Parents, William Davenport and Julia S. (Gifford) Davenport. Preparatory education in the public schools of Fall River, Massachusetts.

“In September, 1883, I began the study of medicine at the Harvard Medical School, and remained there until March, 1885, when, on account of ill health, I was obliged to return home for a time.

Went to Burlington, Vermont, where I entered the Medical Department of the University of Vermont, where I was graduated in June, 1885, with the degree of Doctor in Medicine, taking the first prize of fifty dollars in gold for the best graduation examination, and a special 'cum laude' degree. In September, 1885, I obtained the position of House Physician and Surgeon at the Rhode Island Hospital in Providence, and remained there until November, 1886, when I returned to the Harvard Medical School for a post-graduate course, and was graduated there in June, 1887, with the degree of Doctor in Medicine. From January 1, 1887, to May 1, was House Physician at the Boston Lying-in Hospital.

“ In September, 1887, I began the practice of medicine on my own responsibility at No. 5 Harrison street, Providence, where I am still located. January 1, 1888, I was elected Assistant Surgeon to the Department of Gynæcology on the staff of the Rhode Island Hospital, and was re-elected January 1, 1889.

“ Was admitted to the Massachusetts Medical Society in June, 1887; was elected a fellow of the Rhode Island Medical Society in June, 1888, and a member of the Providence Medical Association in September, 1888.

“ I am not married, and at present there seems to be little prospect that I ever will be.”

Address, 5 Harrison street, Providence, Rhode Island.

DENISON, MARION BURROWS.

Born at Norwich, New London County, Connecticut, January 11, 1860. Parents, John L. Denison and Mary B. Denison. Preliminary education received at the Norwich Free Academy.

He writes: “ Since leaving college I have been doing office work mostly. My first two years were spent with the Boston Sugar Refining Company, since which time I have been with the Travelers Insurance Company here (Hartford, Connecticut). I was married on the 27th October, 1883, at Passaic, New Jersey. My wife’s maiden name was Emma Wells; her own parents not living. No children.

“ As regards our class fund, I think it a grand thing, and though at present I am not prepared to state the amount of my contribution, will advise you, also at that time will give you reply as to my being able to be on hand at our supper. I want very much to be on deck then, and will if it is a possible thing."

Address, Travelers Insurance Company, Hartford, Connecticut.

DEXTER, LEWIS, JR.

Born at Providence, Rhode Island, March 28, 1860. Parents, Lewis Dexter and Ellen Smith (Owen) Dexter. Preliminary education received at Mowry and Goff's English and Classical School, Providence, Rhode Island.

Immediately upon graduation he went to Milltown, Charlotte County, New Brunswick, for the purpose of "studying the processes of manufacturing cotton goods," and, passing through the various steps of the business, now occupies the position of resident manager of the St. Croix Cotton Mill, at Milltown, engaged in the manufacture of colored cotton goods; he is also a director of the St. Croix Printing and Publishing Company, and a school trustee of the town.

He was married to Edith Topliff Todd, daughter of Charles F. and Annie M. (Porter) Todd, September 8, 1886, in the Congregational Church, Milltown. They have one child, Ellen Dexter, born July 1, 1888.

Address, P. O. Box 174, Calais, Maine.

DUNLEVY, ELIAS FASSETT.

Born near Granville, Licking County, Ohio, September 11, 1861. Parents, Francis Dunlevy and Amanda (Fassett) Dunlevy. Preliminary education received in the Preparatory Department of Denison University, Granville.

"Enclosed," he writes, "find facts requested, which I am sure I sent you once before, and which are surely too uninteresting to bear repetition. Reside at 8 La Veta Place, Denver, Colorado; business is at present Deputy Clerk of District Court of Arapahoe County. I was for two and one-half years Clerk of the County Court of the same county, and for two years subsequent in the office of S. B. Morgan, real estate. Have held my present position for about three months." A very suggestive blank is the answer to query number two. His travels have been confined to three trips between New York and Denver, and one to Cuba and the South. "This is about all. Am sorry I can't be with the fellows and have a good time, but the fates in the shape of business are against me."

Address, Court House, Denver, Colorado.

DYER, ELISHA, III.

"Born at Providence, Rhode Island, October 23, 1862. My parents names are Elisha Dyer, Jr., and Nancy A. (Viall) Dyer.

"In 1875 I went to St. Paul's School, Concord, New Hampshire, where I prepared for college. In September I entered Brown. Graduated in 1883 and went to New York to live. In October of the same year I entered the Columbia Law School, where I took the full course, graduating in 1885 with the degree of Bachelor of Laws. In June of the same year I was admitted to the New York Bar. I had been also during my course at Columbia a student in the office of Messrs. Strong and Cadwalader, and after my admission to the bar I continued with them until January 1, 1887.

"Immediately after my admission to the bar I went abroad for a pleasure trip, and spent three months in travelling in England and on the Continent.

"In December, 1886, I had a very advantageous offer made me to give up the law and to accept the position of confidential clerk in the banking house of Ladenburg, Thalman and Company, and I accepted the offer. I am still with them in practically the same capacity. It has been my good fortune to be sent on several important journeys by my firm. One of these took me over a great portion of the Pacific slope, and also over a great part of the middle Western States and Mexico. Another gave me a very favorable opportunity to see London and Paris from a commercial point of view. During my connection with Messrs. Ladenburg, Thalman and Company I have been elected to several important positions of trust, among which I might mention the presidency of the Popp Compressed Air Company, a French company, which is doing a very active business in supplying motive power for clocks, light machinery, ventilation, etc., and hopes to do a similar business in New York, the secretary and treasurership of the Colorado Coal and Iron Development Company, and the treasurership of the Underground Construction Company of New York.

“During the recent centennial (Washington) I was chosen one of the four aids to the entertainment committee, and one of the floor committee of the Lawyers Club for their luncheon on the first day of the celebration. I shall try and be with you in June.

Address Post Office Box 3,075, New York City.

ENO, JOEL NELSON.

Born at Enfield, Hartford County, Connecticut, August 8, 1852. Parents, Nelson Eno and Harriet (Lillibridge) Eno.

He writes: "My residence is at South Dartmouth, and business high school principal. I was married August 28, 1883, at Westford, Connecticut, to Etta Myra, daughter of Rev. William Cowper Foster and Mary Ann (Elliott) Foster. To us was born Hattie Mary Eno, October 18, 1885. I received the degree of A. B. June, 1883, and of A. M. June, 1886. I have had no books published since 'The Inner Circles' in 1873. Had an article on 'The Future of the Irish Question' in the Boston Congregationalist of December 20, 1888. In August, 1886, I prepared a New England 'Teachers Directory,' with full particulars and details of the secondary schools, and issued specimen pages, and will publish if favorable opportunity offers."

Address, South Dartmouth, Bristol County, Massachusetts.

FITZ, ALFRED WILLIAM.

Born at Chelsea, Suffolk County, Massachusetts, May 4, 1862. Parents, Eustice C. Fitz and Sarah J. (Blanchard) Fitz. Preliminary education received at Chelsea High School.

The three years after graduation were spent at the Boston University Law School, graduating in 1886 with the degree "LL. B. cum laude." In June of the same year he received his A. M. degree from Brown. As to his foreign travel, he writes: "Left New York on June 23, 1886, reached Queens-town, Ireland, on June 30. Left steamer at that point and travelled through the following countries in order: Ireland, Scotland, England, Holland, Belgium, Germany, Switzerland and France. Remained at Geneva, Switzerland, from September 22, 1886, to January 12, 1887, thence to Paris, remaining three months, and thence home arriving at New York May 2, 1887." On the tenth of the last named month he was admitted to the Suffolk County Bar at Boston. Till October of that year he remained in a law office, when he displayed his "shingle" and began practice for himself at 5 Tremont street, Boston. July 1, 1888, he became a member of the law firm of Gray and Fitz, the other members being J. C. Gray, Amherst, '77, and F. E. Fitz, Brown, '80. Just three months and ten days later he was married to Miss Minnie E. Martin, daughter of Thomas and Sophia Martin, at the Cary Avenue Baptist Church, Chelsea. In December, 1888, he was elected a member of the Chelsea Common Council for 1889, and January, 1889, he was elected a Trustee of the Chelsea Public Library.

Address, 23 Court street, Boston, Massachusetts.

GARDNER, CLARENCE.

Born at New London, Merrimack County, New Hampshire, December 12, 1858. Parents, George Warren Gardner and Celia L. (Hubbard) Gardner. Preliminary education received in the public schools, Winchester, Massachusetts, and Cleveland, Ohio.

He writes: "In regard to my history since graduation I will say that I have studied three years at Newton, and last summer (1888) when seeking a place to work in God's vineyard, the call came to come out here (Pella, Iowa,) and engage in the cause of Christian education, I obeyed what I believed to be the leading of God. I accepted a call to take the Chair of Greek in the Central University of Iowa, situated at this place, and am enjoying my work.

“Although I came here to teach, I have not forgotten that I prepared myself for work in the Master’s vineyard, and have taken an active part in His church here. I have preached for the pastor here several times, and am at present superintendent of the Sunday-school.”

During the school year of 1884–85, he was teaching in the Burlington College, Burlington, Iowa.

“I wish that I could say I will be there in June, but unfortunately our Commencement exercises occur at the same time. I did hope, when I was unable to be there three years ago, that I could be there this year, but it is otherwise ordered.

“Wishing you success in your undertaking in behalf of the class and our dear old Alma Mater, I am yours in 1883.” Not married.

Address, Pella, Iowa.

GILE, MOSES CLEMENT.

Born at Haverhill, Essex County, Massachusetts, December 4, 1858. Parents, Moses Gile and Elizabeth A. (Kelly) Gile. Preliminary education received at Phillips Academy, Andover, Massachusetts.

Since June, 1883, he has been teaching at Phillips Academy, Andover, Massachusetts, and has won a high rank as an instructor in both Latin and Greek, the latter being his chosen department. June 29, 1886, he married Josephine E. Richards, daughter of Hon. Dexter Richards and Louisa Frances Richards, of New Hampshire. They have one daughter, Miriam Richards Gile, born October 5, 1887.

Gile, accompanied by his wife, went abroad in 1886, spending the winter of that year at the Berlin University, Germany, and much of the remainder of his time at Rome and Athens. His A. M. degree was conferred by Brown, 1886.

Address, Andover, Massachusetts.

GRAVES, HENRY STEDMAN.

Born at Boston, Massachusetts, May 16, 1861. Parents, Rev. Henry C. Graves and Susan E. (Stedman) Graves. Preliminary education was received at the High School, Fall River, Massachusetts, and the University Grammar School, Providence, Rhode Island.

He matriculated at the New York Homœopathic Medical College, October, 1883, and pursued a regular course, receiving his M. D. degree in 1885, and being elected a member of the New York County Medical Society in September of the same year. He has been a practicing physician in New York city since May, 1885, and has held the position of surgeon to the New York Hospital Medical College Dispensary. Not married.

Address, 360 West 32d street, New York city.

GREENE, RAY WOODVILLE.

Born at Yarmouth, Maine, July 29, 1857. Parents, Alvin Greene and Maria (Arnold) Greene. Preliminary education received at the High School, Westerly, Rhode Island, and the Worcester Academy, Worcester, Massachusetts.

“I have been waiting to get married or to do something else startling before replying to your list of questions, but will content myself with the recital of cold facts.

“Question 2. See the next edition of the class history.

“ Question 3. I made my foreign tours as a medical student when I often visited the Italian and Russian Jew provinces of Boston in search of cases that could appreciate the philanthropy of our profession. I have travelled thousands of miles in hospital wards, where I have had the pleasure of meeting the representatives of the various nations of the old world, and for the past eighteen months I have worn out considerable shoe leather on the pavements of our University town, the heart of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

“ Question 4. Received my M. D. from Harvard University, June, 1886. I then served as Home Physician to :

1. The Winthrop Sea Shore Home for Children.
2. Worcester City Hospital.
3. Boston Lying-in Hospital.

“ I am now in private practice.

“ Am a member of the Massachusetts Medical Society.

“ Am a member of the Worcester Medical Association, and an Assistant Obstetrician to the Worcester City Hospital.

“Question 5. Anonymous.

“Question 6. Not engaged.”

Address, 30 Pleasant street, Worcester, Massachusetts.

GREENE, SAMUEL STUART.

Born at Providence, Rhode Island, January 1, 1862. Parents, Professor Samuel Stillman Greene and Mary Adeline (Bailey) Greene. Preliminary education received at the University Grammar School, Providence, Rhode Island.

“Since leaving Brown nothing of a startling nature has happened to me that would, I think, be of interest to my brother classmates, but since you insist that some production from my pen should be handed down to posterity, I will try and comply as far as I am able with your modest request.

“In August, 1883, I left the occupation I was then indulging in, namely, a polo tournament at Martha's Vineyard, and accepted a position with Culver, Page, Hoyne and Company, of Chicago, as special agent for them for the Hall typewriter. I remained with them nearly three months, and would have done so much longer, but unfortunately for me the house failed, and I will say here sub rosa that I was not responsible for their failure. I left Chicago and returned to Boston and accepted a position with the same typewriter company, with whom I remained a little over a year.

“ In December, 1885, I left Boston for Thorndike, Massachusetts, to learn the cotton manufacturing business at the mills of the Thorndike Company, and remained with them until April 20, 1889, at which time I returned to Providence to engage again in the typewriter business.

“ My statistics, I believe, you have already received from me, and if you can derive anything that you think will be of interest to the class from the foregoing, you are welcome to do so. For myself it reads in keeping with the experience — dry.”

Stuart is a lusty bachelor.

The first of June, 1889, in company with his brother John he left Providence to take charge of one of the western offices of the Remington typewriter at Cleveland, Ohio.

Address, Cleveland, Ohio.

HAIL, EDWARD L.

Born at Providence, Rhode Island, March 22, 1862. Parents, George G. Hail and Angeline A. Hail. Preliminary education was received at the Highland Military Academy, Worcester, Massachusetts.

His residence is still in Providence, and he is enjoying his "otium cum dignitate."

Address, 259 Washington street, Providence, Rhode Island.

HAMILTON, JAMES EUGENE.

Born at Goodwood, Ontario, October 15, 1857. Parents, Avary Hamilton and Phœbe E. (Vardon) Hamilton. Preliminary education received at the Uxbridge High School, Uxbridge, Ontario.

He matriculated at Brown in September, 1882, having pursued a course of study at Woodstock College, Woodstock, Ontario, from September, 1876, to May, 1879, with "two full years of training in the Theological Seminary at Morgan Park, Illinois, and the advance work in the Summer School of Hebrew in the summer of 1882."

He was ordained clergyman June 28, 1882.

He writes: "Immediately after Commencement in 1883 I went to Chicago and studied in the Summer School of Hebrew. In the autumn of 1883 (September) I began the studies of the senior year in the Baptist Union Theological Seminary, at Morgan Park, Illinois, from which institution I was graduated with the degree of B. D. in May, 1884." His oration at that time was on "Character and Our Idea of God." "From September, 1884, to May, 1885, I resided at Morgan Park and pursued graduate studies, making a specialty of Ethics and Hebrew. From September, 1885, to June, 1886, I continued work in Ethics, chiefly at Boston, Massachusetts. These graduate studies were pursued under the direction of the University of Chicago, which conferred upon me, after examination of a published thesis, the degree of Ph. D., in June, 1886. The thesis was called 'Studies in Moral Law.' In the same month Brown University gave me the degree of A. M. In June, 1886, I was settled as pastor of the First Baptist Church of Vineyard Haven, Massachusetts, in which relation I am still.

"I was married to Miss Carrie Elliott Gifford, of Bristol Ferry, Rhode Island, daughter of David D. and Isabella E. Gifford, August 17, 1886.

"Children, Helen Vardon Hamilton, born July 27, 1887, died October 1, 1887, Marion Hamilton, born August 23, 1888.

“During the last five years I have written many articles for the religious papers and some for secular papers. More especially for The Standard, Chicago, The Journal and Messenger, Cincinnati, and The Indiana Baptist, Indianapolis, Indiana.

“I deeply regret my brief residence in good old Brown and my slight acquaintance with the members of the class of 1883.

“Believing that there was much excellent material in that class, I hope in the future to become better acquainted with its members.”

Address, Vineyard Haven, Massachusetts.

HAMMOND, HENRY HATHAWAY.

Born at Providence, Rhode Island, August 1, 1861. Parents, Barnabas B. Hammond and Jane S. (Nye) Hammond. Preparatory studies were pursued under the direction of Rev. Charles Wheeler, Providence, Rhode Island.

Graduated in '84. He studied law at the Boston University School of Law and at the Harvard Law School. May 9, 1887, he entered the office of Hon. B. F. Thurston, Providence, was admitted to the bar July 5, 1888, and opened an office for himself the following September.

Address, 55 Westminster street, Providence, Rhode Island.

HARRINGTON, CLIFFORD ANGELL.

Born at Providence, Rhode Island, March 30, 1860. Parents, Alfred A. Harrington and Susan N. (Irons) Harrington. Preparatory education Providence, High School.

“While seeking a chance to exchange accumulated brain power (if any other member of '83 were the editor rather than the secretary the punctuation after ‘power’ would undoubtedly be an interrogation mark), for the coin current in this glorious country, a position in the city clerk’s office, Providence, then as now in charge of H. V. A. Joslin, Brown, '67, came in my way and was immediately snapped up. I entered upon my duties July 9, 1883, at a salary which indicated either that the brain power aforesaid was not appreciated at its (to the possessor’s) full value, or that one person at least in '83 had wasted four years. However that may be, I learned something, and February 9, 1884, succeeded C. A. Burbank, Brown, '78, as mayor’s clerk. During the year and a half in which I held this position the executive chair was occupied by Mayor Thomas A. Doyle, and I shall always consider it fortunate that I was associated with a man of his acknowledged executive ability.

“ July 2, 1885, very much to my surprise, the city council elected me, after eleven ballots, clerk of the Municipal Court of the city, in the place of C. C. Mumford, Brown, '81, resigned. This court exercises probate jurisdiction, and is presided over by Judge Joseph E. Spink, Brown, '65. This office, to which I had been annually elected, was resigned May 18, 1889, to accept a position in the Mechanics Savings Bank, Providence.

“ The prospect of meeting the ‘boys’ at the triennial reunion so elated me that I determined to celebrate seven dollars’ worth and write A. M. after my name with the rest. My only claim to this degree was general reading in history and some in law while in the mayor’s office.

“ My efforts in literature have been confined to the preparation of essays before one or two local literary societies. - “ Matrimonial ventures confined solely to attendance on some other fellows. Bachelor sure.

“ Eight weeks of vacation in six years have not enabled me to make extended tours, and the only time that I have been over a hundred miles from Providence was in October, 1886, when I took a two weeks’ trip to Chicago and Cincinnati.”

Address, Mechanics Savings Bank, Providence, Rhode Island.

HARRIS, WILLIAM.

Born at San Jose Valley, Alameda County, California, October 27, 1860. Son of Abraham W. Harris and Hannah (Bucknell) Harris. Preliminary education received at Mowry and Goff's English and Classical School, Providence, Rhode Island.

"Leaving college to battle with the world, his capital was in his brain, and his future livelihood was his ability to use the theories in a practical way. The engineer in theory learned his profession from the beginning in the field, and, in the course of one year, hard work and patient efforts won the praise of his chief, and by his letters and those of his fellow-engineers, gained appointment as United States Deputy Mineral and Land Surveyor for New Mexico, in the year 1884. Mining engineering appeared his forte, and by careful work gained the confidence of the best people in the territory."

He married Miss Kate Burnside, the daughter of Samuel Burnside and Melinda Burnside, of Carlyle, Illinois, at Deming, New Mexico, April 18, 1888.

They have one son, born February 1, 1889, and named Frank Burnside Harris.

“Will” is now engineer for the Illinois Mining Company, of Kingston, and also for the Enterprise Mining Company, still holding his commission under the Surveyor General of the territory.

He was one of the charter members of the Black Range Lodge, No. 8, Knights of Pythias, and is now Lieutenant Commander of the U. R. K. P.

Address, Kingston, New Mexico.

HATHEWAY, NICHOLAS, JR.

Born at Assonet, Bristol County, Massachusetts, August 23, 1859. Parents, Nicholas Hatheway and Fanny P. (Dean) Hatheway. Preliminary education received at Phillips Academy, Andover, Massachusetts.

He studied law at the Boston University Law School in course, and graduated with the degree of “L.L. B., cum laude.” He was admitted to the bar in February, 1887, and has been since with the law firm of Braley and Swift, in his native city. He has taken an active part in Masonic matters, and is a member of King Philip Lodge, of the Royal Arch Chapter, of the Council Royal and Select Masters and Godfrey de Bouillon Commandery, all of Fall River, Massachusetts.

Address, Fall River, Massachusetts.

HOBBS, JOSEPH MELZAR.

Born at Chepachet, Providence County, Rhode Island, August 20, 1859. Parents, Samuel M. Hobbs and Mary J. Hobbs. Preliminary education received at the High School, Providence, Rhode Island.

His profession is that of clergyman. He graduated at the Hartford Theological Seminary (Congregational) in May, 1886, and became a candidate for orders in the Episcopal church in October of the same year. He spent a year studying at Berkley Divinity School (Episcopal) Middletown, Connecticut, and was ordained to the priesthood May, 26, 1887. He immediately took up pastoral work as assistant rector of the Church of the Messiah, Providence, Rhode Island. The parish in which this church is located is large, and situated in the midst of a rapidly increasing community, and severely taxes both the time and energies of its rectors. So well did he meet these requirements that there was a demand for him in a higher sphere of usefulness, and June 3, 1888, he was called to the rectorship of St. Paul's Church, Peabody, Massachusetts, which is his field of labor at the present time.

The following is taken from an article in one of the Providence papers: . . . "During his connection with the Church of the Messiah he has drawn to him a large circle of friends by his many estimable qualities, and his earnest coöperation with the rector in extending and executing the work of the parish has contributed largely to the great progress that has been made, particularly in the mission work at Manton and Mount Pleasant."

He was married October 3, 1888, to Mary E. Baker, elder daughter of William H. and Caroline F. Baker, at the Church of the Messiah, Providence, Rhode Island.

Address, 119 Main street, Peabody, Massachusetts.

KING, CHARLES GREGORY, JR.

Graduated in '84.

No answer to the class circular sent this year has been received; in a letter dated February 28, 1887, he stated that he was junior member of the firm of King and Company, investment securities and agents for C. E. King, and that the month following the date of his communication he expected to sail on a two years' trip to Europe.

Address, Cleveland, Ohio.

LAMSON, HERBERT HUNTINGTON.

No information whatever has been received.

LEACH, SIMEON RYARSON.

Born at Boston, Massachusetts, July 6, 1860.

Parents, Ephraim O. Leach and Mary A. (Ryarson) Leach. Preparatory education at the Roxbury Latin School.

He studied at the law school of the Boston University for a while, and then held a position in the New England Shoe and Leather Association, Boston.

No answer to the last class circulars has been received.

Address, 113 Chestnut avenue, Jamaica Plain, Massachusetts.

LEETE, ALEXANDER DUNCAN.

Born at Brooklyn, Kings County, New York, November 3, 1861. Parents, George A. Leete and Elizabeth F. Leete. Preparatory education received at the High School, Providence, Rhode Island.

Since June, 1883, he has confined himself strictly to business in the office of George A. Leete and Son, agents for the trans-Atlantic steamship lines and foreign exchange.

He is not married.

Address, 72 Westminster street, Providence, Rhode Island.

LEONARD, CHARLES MELVIN.

Born at Middleboro', Plymouth County, Massachusetts, July 9, 1860. Parents, Charles E. Leonard and Martha (Holmes) Leonard. Preliminary education received at the Middleboro' High School and Pierce Academy, Middleboro', Massachusetts.

He was admitted a member of the firm of Leonard and Barrows, manufacturers of boots and shoes, in July, 1883. He writes: "My time since leaving college has been devoted very strictly to business, and therefore I cannot furnish you with any list of literary works or attainments." In addition to his relations with the above named firm, he is trustee of the Middleboro' Savings Bank and a director of the Middleboro' National Bank. Last summer he allowed himself a little recreation, and travelled for a few months through Europe. He is not married.

Address, 13 High street, Boston, Massachusetts.

LE VEEN, ISA HENRY.

Born at Portsmouth, Rockingham County, New Hampshire, July 7, 1862. Parents, Henry Le Veen and Sarah (Spear) Le Veen. Preliminary education received at Phillips Academy, Andover, Massachusetts.

After leaving college he studied law at the Columbia Law School and in various law offices in New York city, being admitted to the New York Bar June 12, 1884. Till 1886 he practiced law in New York, having held the office of justice of the peace, notary public and commissioner of deeds, special master in chancery and also referee in probate matters.

Since 1886 he has been engaged in general journalistic work, and is a member of the Union Press Club, Omaha, and of the Kansas City Press Club. September 7, 1886, he married Inez I. Chrisman, daughter of Frederick and Fanny Chrisman. They have two children, William, born September 10, 1887, and Edith J., born December 30, 1888.

Address, 2417 Locust street, Kansas City, Missouri.

LUTHER, CHARLES BATEMAN.

Born at Fall River, Massachusetts, November 15, 1860. Parents, Samuel M. Luther and Harriet B. Luther. Preliminary education received at the High School, Fall River, Massachusetts. From October, 1883, to July, 1886, he was with the Edison Electric Illuminating Company of his native city, but since the latter date has not been in business other than the matters left in his charge by the death of his father. He is not married.

Address, Fall River, Massachusetts.

LYON, EMORY STEVENS.

Born at Providence, Rhode Island, June 26, 1863. Parents, Emory Lyon and Susan N. (Stevens) Lyon. Preparatory education received at the University Grammar School, Providence, Rhode Island.

His class letter is as follows :

“ You know we who chose business for an occupation, had, perhaps for a while after leaving college, a comparatively uneventful life, so you must pardon me if my sketch is quite short. On graduating I went at once to Boston, and was for about two years with Thayer, Babson and Company, dye-stuffs, and Fairbanks, Brown and Company, the manufacturers of the Fairbanks scales. With this initiation into business I accepted a better opening in the Brooks Chocolate Mills, importers and manufacturers of cocoa, and was about to be admitted into partnership, when the factory was entirely destroyed by fire, which, with the attendant loss, caused the abandonment of the anticipated change in the concern. I now intend to go into banking in the west.

“I have not found hard work at business especially conducive to much exertion in a political or literary way, so in that line I have but little to report. Have had occasion to make several business trips west and south, going as far as Denver, and have just spent a few months' vacation in Europe, largely in the usual travelled routes, England, France, Switzerland and Germany, ever impressed, as I think we all are, by the contrast offered with the brilliant present and still more brilliant promised future of this our country.”

Condition in life, bachelor.

Address, 97 Congdon street, Providence, Rhode Island.

MANNING, HENRY PARKER.

Born at Woodstock, Windham County, Connecticut, October 3, 1859. Parents, John M. Manning and Louisa C. (Leonard) Manning. Preliminary education received at the Connecticut Literary Institute, Suffield, Connecticut.

He writes: "I don't know whether the letter I wrote a few days ago will prove satisfactory. I thought that you had the principal events of my life up to the last year or so, and wished for any additional facts there might be since last spring. I was teacher of mathematics for one year in Cook Academy, Havana, New York, then for three years tutor in a family in Cumberland, Maryland, succeeding F. L. Shepardson in that position, and the two years since that time I have been principal here (St. George Academy, St. George, West Virginia). I have not married, nor received any office nor written any books. I am sorry I cannot be present at the class reunion." He received the degree of A. M. at Brown, 1886, and while at Cumberland studied mathematics "under the direction of the professors at Johns Hopkins University."

Address, St. George, West Virginia.

MASON, MARSHALL SILAS.

Left college in the sophomore year. Killed by the explosion of a boiler in his father's mill, at Hartwellville, Vermont, December 26, 1882. He was twenty-four years of age, and left a wife and one child.

The resolutions of the A. K. E. fraternity, of which the deceased was a member, were published in the Brunonian of January 13, 1883, but the name of another, not a member of '83, was included in these resolutions, and it did not seem best to more than call attention to the fact.

MAY, EDWARD MORTIMER.

Born at Milford, Massachusetts, January 5, 1861. Parents, Madison S. May and Lucy (Ellinwood) May. Preliminary education received at the Highland Cadet School, Worcester, Massachusetts.

Since 1883 he has been selling agent in the line of brass and iron goods, being at present connected with the Smith and Dove Manufacturing Company, New York. He is not married.

Address, 33 Barclay street, New York City.

MERRILL, LEAVITT KING.

Born at St. Paul, Ramsey County, Minnesota, December 15, 1860. Parents, Daniel D. Merrill and Alice (King) Merrill. Preliminary education received at the St. Paul High School and Minnesota Military Academy.

He says: "After leaving Brown, Commencement 1881, I matriculated at Ann Arbor; graduated there in 1883, degree A. B. Read law one year in the office of Williams and Goodenow, St. Paul. Attended Law School (Yale) one year, and was admitted to practice July 1, 1885, at St. Paul, where I've been ever since. In August, 1886, I formed partnership with Francis E. Baker, a graduate of the University of Michigan. Dissolved partnership with him by reason of his leaving St. Paul, in November, 1887, and in December, 1887, formed partnership with C. W. Willett, '83."

He was married September 25, 1885, to Ella C. Cochran, daughter of Robert H. and Martha D. Cochran, of Toledo, Ohio. A son, Edward Francis Merrill, was born March 7, 1887. The firm is still Merrill and Willett, and is handling a remunerative and steadily increasing business.

Address, 63 National German American Bank Building, St. Paul, Minnesota.

METCALF, RALPH.

Born at Providence, Rhode Island, November 2, 1861. Parents, Alfred Metcalf and Rosa C. Metcalf. Preliminary education received in the public schools of Providence, Rhode Island.

He graduated from the University of Michigan in 1883 with the degree of A. B. He immediately entered upon his profession as journalist, serving on the Pioneer Press, St. Paul, Minnesota, till September, 1885, and since that date has been the editor of the Winona Daily Herald. In this connection he says, "I am afraid the secretary's desk is not large enough to contain the columns of rot ground out daily by this unfortunate pencil."

April 20, 1887, he married Miss Edith O. Simpson, daughter of V. Simpson, of Winona. A son, Alfred Metcalf, was born to them, April, 1888, but was not long spared to them, for he died August 12th, of the same year.

"At the urgent request of thousands of anxious fellow citizens, finally consented to serve as city clerk of Winona in 1887, but the powers that be kindly spared me the onerous duties of that office by one majority for another candidate, after seventeen ballots.”

Address, Winona, Minnesota.

MITCHELL, EUGENE POOR.

Born at Du Quoin, Illinois, October 12, 1860. Parents, Abram Mitchell and Bessie P. Mitchell. Preparatory education at the High School, Hyde Park, Illinois.

He left Brown in the Sophomore year. He was a student at the Hahneman Medical College, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, receiving his M. D. degree there in April, 1885. The summer of the same year he studied in his chosen profession in New York city, and during the next two years was a medical student in Vienna, Austria. At the date of the last letter from him (April 30, 1888,) he was a practicing physician in Los Angeles, California, making a specialty of diseases of the throat and chest.

Address 205½ South Spring street, Los Angeles, California.

MOLLOY, WILLIAM A.

Born at Providence, Rhode Island, January 23, 1860. Parents, William Molloy and Bridget Molloy. Preliminary education in the public schools of Providence, Rhode Island.

He died after a short illness at his home on Smith street, Providence, February 23, 1880.

The Brunonian of February 28, 1880, has the following:

“At a meeting of the class of '83, February 24th, the following resolutions were adopted:

“WHEREAS, It has pleased God in His wisdom to remove from our number William A. Molloy, therefore be it

“Resolved, That we the members of the Class of '83 feel that in his death we have lost a faithful student and beloved classmate; and be it further “Resolved, That we tender our heartfelt sympathies to the friends and relatives of the deceased in their deep affliction,

C. M. LEONARD, Secretary.”

MOWRY, ARTHUR MAY.

Born at Cranston, Rhode Island, January 19, 1862. Parents, William A. Mowry and Carrie E. (Aldrich) Mowry. Preliminary education received at Mowry and Goff's English and Classical School, Providence, Rhode Island.

He writes: "I do not know that I have much to write about myself. The six years have passed very quietly, nothing of more than passing interest having occurred. I have entered the profession of teaching, and finding it congenial, expect to remain in it.

"While it is true that 'a rolling stone gathers no moss,' it is also true that 'a setting hen lays no eggs.' Leaving college in April of our senior year, I accepted a position in an academy in Barre, Vermont. Since then I have taught in the High School at Woonsocket, Rhode Island, in Greylock Institute, South Williamstown, Massachusetts, and in the High School at Gloucester, Massachusetts. I am now holding the position of instructor of science in the High School at Salem, Massachusetts, having come here in September, 1887.

"July 5, 1888, I was married at Gloucester, Massachusetts, to Miss Blanche M., daughter of Henry A. and Mary M. Swett, of Gloucester, Massachusetts.

"I received the degree of A. M., Brown University, 1886."

Address, 32 Hathorne street, Salem, Massachusetts.

NIGHTINGALE, HORATIO ROGERS.

Born December 26, 1861, at Providence, Rhode Island. Parents, Horatio R. Nightingale and Anna E. (Pratt) Nightingale. Preliminary education received at Rev. C. H. Wheeler's Preparatory School.

After leaving college in April, 1881, he spent two and one-half years learning the manufacture of cotton goods, first with the Smithville Manufacturing Company, and second with the Elmwood Manufacturing Company. December 24, 1883, he entered the service of the Household Sewing Machine Company as clerk, and remained with that firm about nine months. September 1, 1884, he was admitted a member of the firm of Warren, Salisbury and Nightingale, "Importers of and Dealers in Iron and Steel."

He was married in East Greenwich, Rhode Island, January 11, 1888, to Mary Slater Rhodes, eldest daughter of Henry A. and Hannah W. Rhodes, and has a daughter, Harriet Frances Nightingale, born February 23, 1889.

Address, Providence, Rhode Island.

ORDWAY, LUCIUS POND.

The only communication from him is dated August 12, 1887, and among other things says: "About myself there is very little to tell. I came to St. Paul in the autumn of 1883, and started with the firm of Wilson and Rogers, and after working for them about two years, Mr. Wilson retiring, I became a member of the firm. Married the daughter of Judge J. M. Gilman in April of 1885, and have had two boys, John G. and Samuel M. I am very pleasantly situated here in St. Paul, and expect to make it my permanent home."

Address, 182 East Fourth street, St. Paul, Minnesota.

PRESTON, HOWARD WILLIS.

Born at Providence, Rhode Island, July 29, 1859. Parents, Augustus H. Preston and Abby (Howard) Preston. "Preparatory education at Mowry and Goff's English and Classical School.

"After graduation spent a few months in deciding what I would like to do for a livelihood, and a few more in finding out what I could get a chance to do. In November, 1883, entered the book and stationery store of William T. Tibbitts, well known to college men, and in January, 1884, entered into partnership under the style of Tibbitts and Preston, for prosecuting the book and stationery business in all its branches.

“February 14, 1884, married Florence Mary Spencer, daughter of Jonathan L. Spencer and Mary A. (Briggs) Spencer.

“My life since graduation has been rather uneventful. I have held no offices of ‘honor, trust or emolument.’ If I have any qualifications for holding public office neither myself nor my fellow citizens have discovered them. In 1886, with others of our class, I received the degree of A. M. from our Alma Mater in course.

“What little time I have been able to command for study since leaving college has been given to American history, and prepared ‘Documents Illustrative of American History,’ issued by Messrs. G. P. Putnam’s Sons, of New York, in 1886. It is mainly a collection of charters and state papers of importance in our history, and is designed for use in higher education and for a reference book. It has been used at Harvard and other colleges.

“ In the spring of 1887 went south, visiting en route the cities of the Atlantic seaboard, Washington, Richmond, Wilmington, Charleston and Jacksonville, and after a brief stay among the pine barrens and orange groves of Orlando, Florida, botanizing and resting, returned to Providence. In the spring and summer of 1888 made a flying trip in Europe, landing at Liverpool on May day. We reached London by easy stages, visiting Chester, delightful Warwick, Stratford (missing Simonds by only two days) and Oxford, which charmed with its venerable colleges and quiet quadrangles. After a rest in London we started west to Gloucester, Worcester, Hereford, each with its cathedral, the valley of the Wye, Tintern, with its ruined abbey, Bristol, so different from our drowsy town on Mount Hope Bay, Plymouth, with Pilgrim memories, Penzance and Cornwall to Land’s End, where we stood and looked towards home. Thence back to London along the south coast, glancing at Exeter, Salisbury, that ‘ blonde beauty ’ among cathedrals, Isle of Wight, Chichester and Brighton. Next to Brussels, whence in turn to damp Hague and Paul Potter’s Bull, Amsterdam, Cologne, Rhine, Mayence, and Strassburg with its clock and storks. Switzerland we enjoyed thoroughly, though our stay was necessarily brief, touching Lucerne, Interlaken, Berne and Geneva. In Paris the book stores proved one of the principal attractions, as the increased weight of our baggage testified.

“ Returning to England, we, as in duty bound, made the tour of the English and Scotch lakes, and even the Caledonian canal. From Edinburgh, our appetite for cathedrals being still unsatiated, we made a curve, including Durham, York and Lincoln, and ending in North Wales—or rather in Providence, which we reached in the fall, with the pleasantest memories of ‘our old home.’ ”

Address, 64 Westminster street, Providence, Rhode Island.

QUIGLEY, MICHAEL JOSEPH.

His residence is Valley Falls, Rhode Island. Since leaving college he has been steadily connected with the Providence Evening Telegram in various capacities, and is at the present time on the editorial staff. No answer received from him.

Address, Telegram Office, Providence, Rhode Island.

SHELDON, CHARLES MONROE.

Born at Wellsville, Allegany County, New York, February 26, 1857. Parents, Stewart Sheldon and Sarah (Ward) Sheldon. Preliminary education received at Phillips Academy, Andover, Massachusetts.

"I will answer the questions as well as I am able, owing to my limited knowledge of English, most of my linguistic powers lying in the direction of Greek, Latin, Hebrew and cognate languages, acquired while in college, strange to say.

"1. Residence, Topeka, capital of the state of Kansas, the biggest city in this part of the world, claiming the longest electric railway on the earth, (this is a cold fact) and more push and western enterprise than any place west of the Mississippi, Oklahoma only excepted.

"Business—everything.

"Why? Because I am a preacher, and have to be all things to all men. I am a Congregational minister with a small 'c.'

"2. Time and place of marriage.

"Not any, yet. Probably sometime B. C. or A. D.

"3. Travels. Went to England in summer of 1886. Spent two months in London. Wrote up different phases of life there; newspaper work. Came home dead broke. Landed in New York with one farthing and a two cent stamp, cash assets over all liabilities.

"4. College degree B. A. or A. B., also A. B. C., learned after I got out of college. Member of A. Ψ. Society in Brown. Been elected honorary member of Gamma Sigma Fraternity in Washburn College, Topeka. Only office of profit I ever held. Was secretary and treasurer of a lawn tennis club, now deceased.

"5. Author, in conjunction with sister and cousin, of new book published by L. Prang and Company, Boston, entitled 'Autograph Recipes.' The only illustrated cook book ever published. Price $2.00. Sold well last holiday season. Publisher got all the profits. Have written for Andover Review, Youth's Companion, Christian Union and other newspapers.

"6. Other circumstances.

"Income is not equal to outlay. Most interesting circumstance I can call up at present.

“ I will endeavor to send on my quota of class fund before Commencement Day. I bear the college much affection and think of my classmates with much esteem. Remember me to such as come within your ken. I am sorry I shall not be able to be with you in June.”

Address, 1249 Polk street, Topeka, Kansas.

SHEPARDSON, FRANCIS WAYLAND.

Born at Cheviot, Hamilton County, Ohio, October 15, 1862. Cheviot is now included in the City of Cincinnati. Parents, Rev. Daniel Shepardson, D. D. and Eliza (Smart) Shepardson. Preliminary education received at the Preparatory Department of Denison University, Granville, Ohio.

In his letter he says. “ I have often looked back with pleasure to days at Brown, with fond wish that I might revisit the campus, but a life busy with care has kept me away and the Commencement exercises here (Granville, Ohio,) have made my going at such a time impossible. I was married September 3d, 1884, to Miss Cora Whitcomb, of Clinton, Vermillion County, Indiana, youngest daughter of Hon. John Whitcomb and Margaret (Whitcomb) Whitcomb. We have one child (class baby) John Whitcomb Shepardson, born in Clinton, Indiana, July 25, 1885. 1883-87 I was teacher, and part of the time, 1885-7, was vice-president of the Young Ladies Institute, Granville. From June to September 1887 I (loafed) waiting for something to turn up and then bought a half interest in the Granville Times book and job printing house, and became editor of the Times, which position I still hold. In 1888 we purchased a book store here and now run the two in combination. I was president of the 'Granville Ohio Historical Society,' which existed from 1885 to 1887 and then died. I have been president of Granville Hose Company No. 1, and several times have distinguished myself by heroic conduct at fires. I have been a member of the local Republican committee for several years, and have been a delegate to a number of Republican state, district and county conventions.

"Since 1883 I have been associate editor of the Beta Theta Pi, the fraternity organ published in Cincinnati, Ohio."

Address, Granville, Licking County, Ohio.

SHEPARDSON, JOHN WHITCOMB.

Class Baby, "was born at the home of his maternal grandfather in Clinton, Vermillion County, Indiana, Saturday morning, July 25, 1885, at ten minutes after eight, weighing ten pounds and a quarter. He laughed when ten days old, if any one spoke to him, and before he was a month old was an expert talker in baby language. His first tooth appeared three days before he was six months old and his second four days after that time. When less than a year old he could walk very well, and October 1, 1886, deliberately picked up an iron dumb bell and carried it across the floor. It would be impossible to describe the steps in his progress, 'to follow the gossamer links by which the manikin feels his way out from the depths of the great unknown into the light of day,' but his parents and all who know him think he is a wonderful child.

"He is the pet of all, and living in a seminary for young ladies he receives much attention. His name is usually shortened to Whitcomb."

It is only just to say that the above sketch was sent the secretary April 5, 1887, but it seemed proper to insert it as giving the class an authentic account of the early days of their protégé.

SHEPARDSON, FRANK LUCIUS

Born at Princeton, Washington County Maine, April 10, 1861. Parents Lucius F. Shepardson and Maria L. (Gage) Shepardson. Preliminary education at the Providence, Rhode Island, High School.

“Was graduated from college June, 1883. During the summer I tutored a candidate for Brown, at Ocean Beach, New Jersey. Served as a pedagogue in a private school, at Cumberland, Maryland, from September, 1883, to June, 1884. From September, 1884, to present date, I have taught in Worcester Academy, beginning at the bottom round. I received promotion from time to time till February, 1887, when I was made first assistant principal, which position I now hold.

“Summer of 1886 I lived a nomadic life, spending my time in Massachusetts, Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine,—till finally I found myself in the extreme eastern part of the last named state,—Why? because there was a certain young lady there. Who? Enough to say, she afterwards became Mrs. Shepardson.

“Summer of 1887 I spent travelling in Europe. Sailed from port of New York, June 25, via Anchor Line, reached Glasgow, Wednesday noon, July 6, a lone traveller, three thousand miles from home. I took a trip which is very often taken by American travellers,—from Glasgow through the Lakes of Scotland via Sterling to Edinboro', where I stopped three days, from there to Abbotsford and Melrose, where I met A. D. Cole, Brown, '84. From there I went through the English Lakes, Eastern England to Cambridge and London, where I spent ten days visiting the City and its suburbs,—then across the Channel into Belgium and Germany up the Rhine to Switzerland,—went over the Swiss Lakes and through the Swiss passes to Geneva,—then to Paris where I spent a week. Here by the tomb of Napoleon I. met R. H. Ferguson, Brown, '84. Returning to London I stopped there four days,—then to Stratford, Rugby, Oxford, Chester and Liverpool. Thence back to Glasgow where I took a run into the country of Robert Burns and back. Then my time was 'up.' It was the 25th of August, and the next day I started back for America, reaching my own native soil September 4th, after an absence of eleven weeks and two days.

“On the evening of the 25th of June, 1888, I was led before Hymen’s Altar at which I paid the most solemn vows. At last I had won another over to be one with me,—which one I don’t know, most likely the other one.” (Frank means that June 25, 1888, he married Miss Sarah Whidden, daughter of Charles R. and Mila F. Whidden, at Worcester, Massachusetts.)

“In the Fall we, not I, returned to Worcester Academy, where we still live and expect to be found the next twelve months at least. The latch string is always out for any member of ’83.”

Address, Worcester Academy, Worcester, Massachusetts.

SHERWOOD, RICHARD OTIS.

Born at Ridgefield, Fairfield County, Connecticut, September 3, 1854. Parents David D. Sherwood and Laura S. Sherwood. Preparatory education under the private tutorship of C. F. Barker, M. D., of Newport, Rhode Island.

“Graduated from Brown, June, 1883. Entered the Newton Theological Institution, September of the same year, took the regular classical course and graduated in June, 1886. Had previously accepted a call to a Baptist church about to be formed in North Abington, Massachusetts, and was ordained to the ministry April 14, 1886, at which time the church was formally organized and recognized by sister churches.

“Married Annie S. Easton, daughter of Henry T., and Martha A. Easton of Newport, Rhode Island, June 15, 1886, and at once took up residence at North Abington. In just seventeen months from the date of their organization the church of which he was pastor dedicated a beautiful and convenient church edifice. Has taken an active interest and prominent part in the work of the denomination, speaking and officiating at councils, conventions and associational meetings. Has written several articles for the local press and some of his sermons have been printed. Has had and refused calls to larger fields. Family consists of himself, wife, and one daughter, Carrie Grace, born September 1, 1887.”

Address, North Abington, Massachusetts.

SILVER, EDGAR OSCAR.

Born at Bloomfield, Essex County, Vermont, April 17, 1860. Parents, Albert Allen Silver and

Sarah Warren (Jenne) Silver. Preliminary education received at the Derby Academy, Vermont, and Waterville (Maine) Classical Institute. His letter is as follows :

“ In common with what I doubt not will be true of the larger part of our class, I find that my message must be one of experience rather than achievement. The thought comes to me as I attempt to comply with your request, what a pity that a few more years could not elapse before the members of '83 are called upon to account to the old class for their stewardship since graduation ! But I remember that you request a truthful account of our individual experiences since leaving college, and though scarcely able, as I pause and recall the past, to realize that we are indeed ' alumni ' in the midst of the activities, responsibilities and demands of this busy life, and with something of the feeling that we used to have on our return to college after a long summer vacation, when we reviewed to each other the experiences of the vacation weeks, I endeavor to summarize the six busy years since we separated.

“ One week from the Monday following the memorable Commencement of '83 found me endeavoring to settle myself to the details of the publishing business in one of its branches. That day (July 1st, '83), I began work for Messrs. D. Appleton and Company, publishers, of New York, in their New England office, then No. 6 Hawley street, Boston. Several months later, I was transferred to the educational department of their home office, New York city, entering upon my work there April 2, 1884. I remained in this position until the following year, when I resigned to accept the management of a small publishing interest, with headquarters in Boston. This position I held from April 21, 1885, until September 1, 1886, when the firm Silver, Rogers and Company (publishers), was formed. This partnership was succeeded April 16, 1888, by the firm Silver, Burdett and Company, consisting of my brother, Elmer E. Silver, Brown, '85, Henry C. Deane, Frank W. Burdett (Harvard, '83,) and myself; the business of our firm is that of publishers of school, college and miscellaneous books.

“ In thus choosing the occupation of a publisher, my life work has been turned into a channel which, though unexpected, even up to the time of my graduation, proves thus far to be very congenial, and while full of its own peculiarly exacting and sometimes laborious and perplexing details, has nevertheless many compensating features. While my turning to it for an occupation has been rather the result of circumstantial leading, I find myself thus far well contented, and hope to find in it a career of usefulness.

“While in college, as my classmates are well aware (and I trust this is remembered by our prize men with becoming gratitude), I was not guilty of snatching away prize honors from the brows of worthier classmates, nevertheless, since then, I have been most generously remembered at the hands of another and very amiable Alma Mater. I was married on the 4th of January, 1888, in Providence, to Miss Susan Florence Maine, Wellesley, '86, daughter of Ephraim Wheeler and Catharine (Thompson) Maine.

My time since graduation has been, as you will observe, very fully occupied in business. Nevertheless, I have had opportunity occasionally for an enjoyable and profitable outing. The most notable experience of this kind was a trip to the Pacific coast with my wife, July and August, 1888, in the course of which we visited many of the points of interest in the Rocky Mountains, the Yosemite Valley, Portland (Oregon), Tacoma and Seattle on Puget Sound (where I had a short but enjoyable visit with our classmate Abram Barker), the Yellowstone National Park and many other points of interest.

“As I review the years that are past, in view of the approaching second triennial reunion, now so near at hand, I am impressed with the deep cause for gratitude which we each have in the fact that, so far as is known up to the time of this writing (May 15, 1889,) the ranks of our class have not been broken by death, and that, so far as heard from, each member of the class is busily at work in some line of useful and honorable occupation, which let us hope will yield in the years to come that success which will be well deserved.

“Permit me to thank the members of the class for the honor conferred in my election to the presidency of the class three years ago, and for the hearty and friendly coöperation so generally shown since then, also to add my cordial best wishes to each member of '83.”

Address, 6 Hancock avenue, Boston, Massachusetts.

SIMONDS, WILLIAM EDWARD.

Born at Peabody, Essex County, Massachusetts, September 10, 1860. Parents, Edward Simonds and Mary A. (Chase) Simonds. Preliminary education received at the High School Peabody, Massachusetts, and Phillips Academy, Andover, Massachusetts.

His first two years after graduation from Brown were spent as instructor in the High School at Providence, Rhode Island. He sailed direct for Antwerp, July 11, 1885, from thence proceeding by easy stages to Berlin where he met Crosby, and settling in a quiet part of the city, by the beginning of October was fairly at work in his course.

He writes, "I attended a great many more lectures that winter than I could possibly have understood, or than I could possibly have digested even if I had. My specialty was old English. The presence of Crosby and his mother added infinitely to our content. There was no lack of social life and theatres, concerts and the opera were only too frequent and effective in their provision for amusement and distraction. In March of 1886 we made a change. The Crosbys as well as we turned our backs on gay Berlin and set our faces toward the south. They were bound for Tübingen, we for Strassburg. Before our final separation, however, we took a most delightful trip together, visiting Dresden, Prague, Vienna, Salzburg, Munich, Nuremberg and spending about a month along the route. Then we went each his own way and I came in April to the city of the Minister and the Storks. Strassburg did more for me than simply to impress and charm me by its quaintness and its reminiscences of antiquated elegance. At its University I found the man who better than any other man in Europe could tell me what I wished to know in my chosen department, that man was professor Bernhard ten Brink. Always treated by him with the greatest kindness and consideration, ever relying on his guidance, in constant attendance upon his lectures and seeing much of him in social intercourse I came to have a profound admiration for his scholarship and to feel myself honored in counting him my master and friend.

“When March of 1888 came round I found myself ready for examination. My thesis on Sir Thomas Wyatt and his Poems had been examined and accepted by the faculty; I had the ordeal of the ‘oral’ before me. The day arrived and in full dress with a palpitating heart I presented myself before my judges. There were three: ten Brink, Martin, Groeber. The first examined me an hour in English, the second half an hour in German, the third a like time in French. Each of the three was expected to cover, if he chose, all the ground implied in his subject from pre-historic time to the present: philology and literature were both included. Well! the prospect was indeed enough to make one shudder; but the reality, as oftens happens, proved less formidable than its anticipation. The whole affair passed off pleasantly, the professors bore themselves in the kindest manner and the two hours were soon over; my course in Germany was ended.

“Matters were soon arranged for our home coming and our cheery Strassburg home was left behind. It was with a pang of real regret that we saw the tall, lone spire fade in the twilight as we rolled swiftly across the familiar Alsatian plains on the night express to Paris. Two weeks in Paris, a fortnight in London, a trip to the north via Oxford, Stratford and thence to Edinborough, brought us on the 10th of May, to Glasgow. Our first day in Europe was spent in the international exposition at Antwerp; it was a coincidence that our last day on foreign shores was passed in a manner precisely similar, in the exposition at Glasgow. The afternoon of the day following, found us on board the comfortable Furnessia; with a pleasant ship's company and fair weather we arrived in due time with no misadventure to report and only pleasant, grateful memories of our stay abroad. From May until September of 1888 was spent for the most part in Providence and Boston, and in Nashua, New Hampshire. In the latter part of the month last named, I received an unexpected call to an instructorship in German at Cornell University, where I now find myself most agreeably situated, thoroughly enjoying my work and with the added pleasure of association with Andrew, Wheeler and several other Brown men of a generation earlier or later than our own. The memory of Alma Mater has by no means passed from mind, for her and for the members of '83 I desire only the best of things; the most brilliant and enduring success." Not married.

Address, 63 Eddy street, Ithaca, New York.

SLATER, HENRY BYRON.

No information has been received respecting him.

SMITH, GEORGE EDWARD.

Born at Ripon, Fon du Lac County, Wisconsin, November 12, 1860. Parents DeWitt Clinton Smith and Mary J. (White) Smith. Preliminary education received in the public schools of Fall River, Massachusetts.

He studied for four years (1882-86), at the College of Physicians and Surgeons Chicago, receiving the degree of M. D., since 1886 he has been practicing physician in Minneapolis, Minnesota, and is the general manager and physician in charge of St. Anthony Hospital, in that city. Not married.

Address, 327 South 10th street, Minneapolis, Minnesota.

SNOW, SYLVESTER MILLER.

Born at Providence, Rhode Island, September 3, 1861. Parents Edwin M. Snow and Ann E. W. (Pike) Snow. Preliminary education at the University Grammar School, Providence, Rhode Island.

In his letter he says: "As I have resided in Providence since our graduation my history has not been very eventful or interesting. Since graduation have followed the profession of draughtsman, and am at present with the Corliss Steam Engine Company. Received the degree of A. M. in course June, 1886. Was elected clerk of the Warren Association for the years 1885-86-87, and as clerk published the minutes of the above years."

He nobly sustains the role of bachelor.

Address, 327 Gano street, Providence, Rhode Island.

STEERE, CHARLES ALLEN.

His home is Chepachet, Rhode Island. All letters but one have been returned and to that no answer has been received. Rumor states that he is acting as agent for a book publishing house; nothing more definite.

STOKES, EDWARD CASPER.

Born at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, December 22, 1861. Parents Edward H. Stokes and Matilda G. Stokes. Preparatory education at the Friends School, Providence, Rhode Island.

He holds a position in a bank in Millville, New Jersey, and is superintendent of the public schools of the same place.

No answer has been received to any class circular sent out.

Address, Millville, New Jersey.

TWING, MARTIN WALTER.

Born at Sandersfield, Berkshire County, Massachusetts, December 15, 1857. Parents Alvin Twing and Jerusha (Heath) Twing. Preliminary education received at the Connecticut Literary Institute, Suffield, Connecticut.

“If the history of the class of '83 is to be a record of the achievements of its members a very little space will suffice for me.

“If it is to tell what they have not done, I fear that my part will be sadly disproportionate to the rest. I have not written a single book or magazine article or even a newspaper article that deserves mention. I have not travelled nor have I been honored with any college or other degrees. I have not even taken to myself a wife, nor am I prepared to disclose anything about my mother-in-law. Yet I have not spent all this time in state prison or insane asylum, nor have I been altogether idle.

“Upon graduation at the Rochester Theological Seminary three years ago I accepted the pastorate of a newly organized Baptist church, at Tonawanda, New York. Since that time it has been my privilege to see the membership of the church increase from eighteen to one hundred, and to see a new and very handsome church built. The church organization and the church building are all that I have to point to as the result of my last three years' work. I am quite contented with my obscurity, and shall hear with much pride and satisfaction of the more brilliant achievements of my honored classmates."

Address, Tonawanda, New York.

VAN METER, FRED.

No information respecting him has been received.

WHITE, WILLIAM EDWARD.

The only information received is that in February, 1883, he was in the freight department of the Old Colony Railroad, Boston, but in April, 1887, he was not there nor could any trace of him be found.

WHITTEMORE, FREDERIC ELLSWORTH.

Born at Bolton, Middlesex County, Massachusetts, March 25, 1861. Parents Thomas Jefferson Whittemore and Louisa Maynard (Rice) Whittemore. Preliminary education received at the High School at Ashland, Massachusetts.

In the fall of 1883, he accepted the position of principal of the High School at Ashland, Massachusetts, where he taught for three years.

Writing in March, 1887, he says, "Last August (1886) I was proffered a position by the New West Education Commission, and have since that time been in its employment. My field of labor has been thus far in New Mexico where we are endeavoring to establish good schools. The educational provisions of the territory are inadequate to obtain the true objects aimed at in education, but under the directions of the New West Commission several good schools and academies have been organized and are being well supported." His work with the commission continued for a year when he returned East and took charge of the High School at Weston, Massachusetts, where he is at present located. He is not married.

Address, Ashland, Massachusetts.

WIGHTMAN, WALTER VALENTINE.

Born at Middletown, Connecticut, July 8, 1861. Parents J. Colver Wightman and Abby P. (Hough) Wightman. Preparatory education at Bristol Academy, Taunton, Massachusetts.

Left college at the close of the freshman year, and since that time has been in the service of the New England Granite Company in various capacities.

Address, 650 Main street, Hartford, Connecticut.

WILLETT, CHARLES WILLIAM.

Born at La Crosse, Wisconsin, August 17, 1859. Parents Charles Willett and Candice (Hosmer) Willett. Preparatory education at the Connecticut Literary Institute, Suffield, Connecticut.

Writing from New Haven, March 16, 1887, he states that he is an attorney-at-law, and a graduate of the Yale Law School, and was admitted to the bar in July, 1883. He says, "In August, 1885, I was appointed deputy coroner, for New Haven County which office I now hold. In December, 1885, I was elected city clerk of this city to fill a vacancy caused by the death of the incumbent of the office. I held that position from December 1, 1885, to January 1, 1887. In December, 1886, I ran again for city clerk and was defeated by 243 votes, running several hundred ahead of my ticket."

Since December 1, 1887, he has been a resident of St. Paul, Minnesota, where he is a successful practitioner in the law firm of Merrill and Willett.

Address, National German-American Bank Building, St. Paul, Minnesota.

WILLIAMS, CLARENCE OTIS.

Born at North Foster, Providence County, Rhode Island, November 10, 1859. Parents Stephen P. Williams and Hannah (Brown) Williams. Preliminary education received in the public schools of Providence, Rhode Island.

“In accordance with three requests and ominous threats from the secretary I sat down fully two hours ago to write up my history, but have had a woeful time ransacking the accumulated junk of memory to find something that would interest such charitable critics even as one’s college classmates.

“The autumn following graduation I accepted an election to the position of instructor in Latin and metaphysics in the New Hampton Literary Institute of New Hampton, New Hampshire.

“There I remained three years, where in addition to the Latin and metaphysics I taught several terms each of geology, zoölogy, physiology, algebra and geometry.

From New Hampton the fates directed my course to Lewiston, Maine, where I found a long desired opportunity of pursuing the study of Hebrew in connection with my professional work. In this city are situated Bates College, Cobb Divinity School and Nichols Latin School. At the same time I entered the Divinity School and was elected instructor in Latin and Mathematics at the Latin School. Besides this instruction and study, three hours each day were given to private pupils while my Sabbaths were devoted to the pulpit of the South Lewiston Free Baptist Church.

One year and two months later I was elected to my present position, Waldron professor of the Latin language and literature in Hillsdale College, Hillsdale, Michigan. On Sabbaths I supply the pulpit of the Somerset (Michigan), Congregational Church.

“As for wife, children, travels and authorship, these things belong to my future history: the fates are silent and the subscriber is no prophet.”

Address, Hillsdale, Michigan.

WILLIAMS, WILLIAM FREDERIC.

Born in the city of New York, December 23, 1859. Parents Isaac Frazee Williams and Mary E. (Weed) Williams. Preliminary education received at Mowry and Goff's English and Classical School, Providence, Rhode Island.

He entered the Harvard University Medical School, from which he graduates this June, entitled to an M. D. after his name.

He writes, "I am afraid that you will find my history far from interesting, and I have found it for all practical purposes much the same, in fact I can think of nothing to add to the very meagre answers to the questions of the circular. If possible I want to be present at the reunion this year, as I missed the last three years ago, but examinations, the bête noir of every student, may prevent me now as then." Condition in life, bachelor.

Address, 9 Byfield street, Bristol, Rhode Island.

WILSON, CLARENCE EDWARD.

No answer to the recent class circulars has been received, and the only communication is one bearing date April 19, 1888, very brief and stating that he was the secretary and treasurer of the Boston Die Company, engaged in the manufacture of cutting dies and raw hide mallets.

Address, 17 Chardon street, Boston, Massachusetts.

WOOD, CHARLES BALDWIN.

Born at Onarga, Iroquois County, Illinois, October 12, 1860. Parents Charles H. Wood and Julia (Baldwin) Wood. Preparatory education received at the High School, Hyde Park, Illinois.

He left College in the Sophomore year and was a student at the Union Law School, Chicago, from 1881 to 1883, receiving the degree of LL. B. He was admitted to the bar in July, 1883. The only letter from him is dated April 25, 1888, at which time he was a member of the law firm of C. H. and C. B. Wood, Chicago.

Address, 122 La Salle street, Chicago, Illinois.

REUNION HYMN.

Tune—AMERICA.

1.	3.
Loved class of '83,	Six years in circling round
Our song we raise of thee,	Still all our hearts have found
Our heart-felt song,	Loyal to "Brown."
Come, comrades, classmates all,	O, may her future yield
Come at the cheerful call,	Fruits from a richer field;
Come to the banquet hall,	Grand influences may she wield,
Your joys prolong.	Long wear her crown.
2.	4.
Once more together stand,	May he who rules the skies,
Clasping the friendly hand,	Look still with loving eyes;
Greeting with cheer,	Guide by His hand,—
Brothers of years ago,	That we, oft met before,
Whose hearts together flow,	May, on life's other shore,
And whose affections grow	Meet, but to part no more:
Firm with each year.	No broken band.

—J. N. ENO.

APPENDIX.

CLASS. FUND.

AT a class meeting in June, 1888, it was unanimously decided that '83 should place itself in line with some of the older classes of Brown and raise a fund to be placed at her disposal, and subscriptions were invited. The response has been quite general, though the amount is not what had been hoped for.

In considering the financial matters of the class at the reunion, June 18, 1889, it was considered best to keep the money in two distinct funds. One, the incidental fund, which will show a balance on hand over all drafts upon it, is to be drawn upon to pay the running expenses of the class, postage, etc., etc.; the other, the permanent fund, the subscriptions to which amount to over $225, is to be kept intact with its accumulations of interest, and still further increased till such time as the class desire to turn it over to the college; the present intention being to raise a fund which shall be known for all time as the fund of the class of '83, the income of which shall be devoted to a specific purpose, and not have it merged with any other fund or absorbed in the common fund, so called, of the college.

The matter will be brought to your further consideration by the treasurer, who has been empowered by the class to adopt such measures as will best secure the desired object.
