Five Killed. Agencies Raising Funds For Quebec Fire Sufferers

Ottawa, Aug. 12.—(Canadian Press)—The latest estimate of losses caused by the disastrous fire at Aylmer, Quebec, on Wednesday, places the damage at about $750,000.

Six hundred of the homeless reared last night in military tents on the Wright County Fair Grounds. The military authorities are on hand to supervise arrangements. The women's relief committee has already served thousands of meals to the sufferers, business firms in Ottawa and Hull have come forward generously with needed supplies, such as coffee, meat, and children's shoes, and large sums of money have been subscribed. A formal appeal for aid is to be made to the Federal as well as the Quebec Government. The local newspapers contain appeals for help both in money and clothes.

MINISTER SHOT AND KILLED PRIEST

Then Surrendered to Police in Alabama Town

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 12.—Father James E. Coyle, for many years pastor of St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church, died at a hospital last night after having been shot three times, according to the police, by Rev. E. R. Stephenson, a Methodist minister.

Immediately after the shooting, Stephenson went to the county jail and surrendered, admitting, according to officials there, that he had shot the priest. Officers quote Stephenson as declaring he shot Father Coyle because the latter had performed a marriage ceremony between Stephenson's daughter and Pedro Gussman, a Roman Catholic. Rev. Stephenson is known as the "marring parson" because of the large number of marriage ceremonies performed by him.

BRITISH LORDS DISCUSSED FAMINE IN RUSSIAN AREA

London, Aug. 11.—In the House of Lords to-day, Lord Asquith inquired regarding the famine in Russia, and asked whether measures were being considered to prevent the spread of cholera to the Dominions.

Lord Alfred Emmott said Russia was faced with a terrible catastrophe that would rest on the whole world, and it was the duty of the Government to do its utmost to improve the situation. The opinion was expressed by Lord Anthony MacDonnell that no Government in the world is capable of coping with the calamity threatening Eastern Europe. The only practical system, he thought, was the one elaborated in India during his residence there, wherein the most important object was to secure a pure water supply. He declared that the experience in India showed that when the people were wandering over the country the only method was to establish a large famine camp and keep the people there until they could be returned to their own villages. He would have the camp under the village system of administration such as had been established in India.

Lord MacDonnell urged the Government to grant £5,000,000 for relief measures. The Earl of Crawford, replying, said official information from Russia was very meagre, but it was clear that the country's condition was one of utmost danger, as it involved failure of crops in the middle and lower basins of the Volga River.

The Soviet Government had reported 27,000 cases of cholera. Measures had been taken to keep cases out of Great Britain and all the different nations had been fully informed of the situation. The Allied Supreme Council, he said, would consider remedial action which would include preventive measures in regard to the spread of disease to the Dominions.

SUFFERED ALL A WOMAN COULD

Mrs. Meyer Finally Found Relief and Health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Orange, Cal.—"I always feel very grateful to you, as some twenty years ago three doctors said I had to have a serious operation. I had a tumor, and ulcers which would break. I had displacement so badly that I could hardly sit down at times, and it seemed as if I suffered everything that a woman could suffer. Then some one advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I took it until I was well and saved from the operation. I have told women of your wonderful medicine times without number, and I am willing that you should use these facts every day as I help my husband in the office."—Mrs. J. H. Meyer, 412 South Orange St., Orange, California.

A great many women who suffered like this have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. (Advt.)

LONDON PRINTERS TAKE WAGE VOTE

London, Aug. 12.—As the result of the intervention of the joint industrial council the employers in the printing trades and allied industries have submitted revised wage proposals. This action was taken after the London printers had voted overwhelmingly against acceptance of a proposed 10 shillings a week reduction in their pay. The new proposals call for a reduction of 1 shilling and sixpence weekly for the men and 3 shillings for the women, the reduction to take effect gradually during August and September.

An immediate balloting on this proposition by all the unions affected has been recommended.

The Scientific Method—Easy, Gentle, Quick and Sure

A famous chemist, some years ago, discovered a way to end corns. A surgical dressing—house of world-wide repute adopted and produced it.

Millions of people use this instant relief and quickly rid themselves of throbbing corns. The method is Blue-jay—liquid or plaster. One applies it by a touch. The pain stops instantly, and the whole corn quickly loosens and comes out.

Old, harsh methods are supplanted by it. So with corn pads, so with paring. All such ways are folly. Try Blue-jay on one corn now and see. You will be delighted. Your druggist has

JUDGE CONSIDERS BERTHAUME CASE

Judgment Aug. 22 on Montreal La Presse Charges

Montreal, Aug. 12.—Judge Cusson yesterday cut short argument on the merits of criminal charges laid by Arthur Berthaume, president of La Presse Publishing Company, against his two brothers, Eugene and Edouard, by declaring that the evidence adduced in the case was sufficient to warrant the commitment for trial of the accused, who are alleged to have conspired to steal sums aggregating $120,000, the property of La Presse Company.

The judge did not give judgment to this effect, however, stating that he entertained serious doubts as to the competency of his court to hear the case, in view of the contention of the defence, maintaining that the charges as laid required the authorization of the Attorney-General before they could be heard in a preliminary inquiry. Judge Cusson will decide as to this in a judgment on August 22.

CHANGES AMONG MANITOBA M.P.'S.

Six Members May Join the Farmer Party

Winnipeg, Aug. 12.—According to a local paper, rumor is rife that four members of the Labor group in the Manitoba Legislature, J. M. Standbridge, St. Clements; George Palmer, Dauphin; C. A. Tanner, Kildonan, and St. Andrews, and A. E. Moore, Springfield, are likely to change over to the Independent Farmer Party.

It is also stated that A. Kristjanzon, St. George, and George Little, Beautiful Plains, who deserted the Farmer-group at the close of the last session, are desirous of returning to it.

Should the Farmers receive these accessions to their ranks the party would be of the same strength numerically as the Government.

TEACHERS DISCUSS BUSINESS TRAINING

Addresses Delivered at Empire Conference in Toronto

Toronto, Aug. 12.—A strong case for reorganization of the university men in business was made before the Imperial Conference of Teachers last night by Professor C. R. Fay, M.A., Fellow of Christ's College, Cambridge, who will occupy the chair of Economic History at Toronto University through the interchange of instructors. Professor Fay said he would not assign the trained university man to doing the routine work of business. Such a step, he felt, would be a waste of power which could be avoided by a more intelligent use of the human weapon.

More Sympathy. The need for a more sympathetic viewpoint on the part of educators generally towards the so-called "commercial" school was one of the points emphasized by Inspector R. H. Roberts of Alberta, who in the absence of J. P. Page, principal of the McDougall High School in Edmonton, read the latter's address dealing with the place of commercial training in elementary and secondary schools as well as university courses of study. With the keen competition that prevailed in the international commercial world to-day it was becoming more and more recognized that there must be efficient preparation for business vocation. There was still considerable antipathy in the minds

Sayward—The dance which was given under the auspices of the entertainment committee on Saturday evening was a great success, and the large number of residents and visitors who attended spent a very enjoyable time. The schoolhouse was altogether too small and it was again demonstrated that the community hall which has been talked of so long is greatly needed.

Master Arthur Sacht made the record catch of the season this week by landing three Tyes Salmon, weighing 35, 43 and 43 pounds. Arthur is only ten years old, but when it comes to fishing he takes some beating.

Work on the Patricia Group.
Work on the Patricia group on the Marmot will be carried on throughout the winter. According to latest plans, Dr. R. E. McKeehan will continue to be known in medical circles, but also in the mining world in Vancouver, and who is very well satisfied with it, and informed that he will continue the work of extending the present tunnel, until such time as the snow commences to fly. They will then lay a contract for the extension of this tunnel. This will give them on this property from 150 to 200 feet of tunnel. This tunnel is being driven on ore all the way, which carries from two to three ounces of gold, as well as gold and silver values. This tunnel is being driven with a view to cutting a considerable depth a large lead which lies alongside of a dyke, diagonally across the front, and which is expected to encounter about 400 feet from the portal. One noteworthy feature of this work is that there is no dead work. When the time comes for putting in a raise it can be put up through ore all the way as the lead stands perpendicular. It is hoped that next year the government will construct a wagon road up the valley, thereby enabling active mining operations to commence on this property.

Before leaving for the south Dr. McKeehan was interviewed by The Portland Canal News, and expressed himself very well satisfied with his observations on the Marmot. He stated that he had during the past twenty-eight years been interested in every mining district in the province, and in his whole experience had never seen such a well mineralized district as that of the Marmot. While on the property McKeehan and himself had located a new lead, about six foot wide, some 1,200 feet above the tunnel. Samples from this surface assayed $133 in all values.

News Notes of the Mines

Sunday last he, in company with Dr. Uglow and D. A. Nichols of the Dominion Geological Survey, and the American geologist, Dr. Westby, paid a visit of inspection to the Chu Chua coal mines.

All of these gentlemen are much impressed with the showing and while their report has not yet been made public, they were optimistic as to the outlook and the prospects of this becoming one of the best coal-producing areas in the province. A number of citizens accompanied the party of the trip and were surprised at the improvements made in the last three weeks. Two more veins have been discovered and the company now has a diamond drill on the grounds and will at once commence exploration work for the purpose of ascertaining the true extent of the coal deposits, and the best manner of working the mines economically. In the mean time they have resumed production and it is intended to put on a second shift this week and work the mine to full capacity of the present machinery. Monday they were loading a car for shipment to Everett, Wash.

Trail Shipments.
One quarter of a million tons of ore and concentrates was received at the Trail smelter this year up to and including Sunday, August 7, from the weekly shipments issued from Trail by the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company of Canada. Of the 250,580 tons, the actual total, 146,140 tons were from the properties of the Consolidated Company and 4,840 tons were custom ore.

Ten properties shipped custom ore to Trail the past week, this being the largest list yet this year. Of these, the Freddy Lee and the Majestic of Sandon, the Kokomo of Seaverdell, the Skyline of Alnsworth and the Birnie, which was credited with a fractional shipment, were on the list of Trail shippers for the first time in 1921.

SUGGESTS IMMEDIATE AND PERMANENT CURES FOR UNEMPLOYMENT

Unemployment, Mr. Parnell defined, as the case of the able-bodied man unable to secure employment, and ready to work for any wages which would provide a livelihood.

That barred, in his opinion, three classes of persons, the disabled soldiers, whose care was entirely one for the Federal Government; next the men who were lazy and indolent, and, thirdly, those who insisted on a high scale of wages for specialized work.

The evil effects of unemployment, Mr. Parnell proceeded, were to be traced in financial loss to the worker, to the employer and to the productive capacity of the people of Canada. The physical and mental distress of the worker and the break down of his morale were concomitants, and the constant fear of being without work proved a deterrent to effect work.

Causes and Remedy.
The causes of unemployment, said Mr. Parnell, could be traced to industrial and social changes, to fluctuations in the world's markets, to fluctuations in the social and personal conditions of the people, to the need for extending seasonal occupations, in Canada more regularly, as opportunity offered, over the twelve months.

The remedies, he felt, which could be applied, were better organization of productive work, mobilization and training in work, an educational campaign to promote thrift, and greater care of wages earned in prosperous times; co-operation between employers to distribute work evenly over the seasons in the districts, and a better system of immigration into Canada. Most important of all he placed the education of the people in the absolute necessity of using Canadian made goods. Last year $750,000,000 worth of goods were imported which could have been produced in Canada, and which were mainly luxuries and productions of other countries, which in his opinion could be just as well provided in this Dominion. He declared whims and fancies determining the Canadian people in buying abroad. This vast quantity, the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, of which he is a prominent member, estimated would employ 140,000 persons.

Mr. Parnell, as one of the remedies, suggested a Dominion-wide conference in the lines advocated by Senator Robertson, Minister of Labor. Such a conference in Ottawa, he believed, could be made of great value.

Housing.
The Mayor next dealt with the value derived to Winnipeg by an extensive housing scheme. The municipality has loaned $1,000,000 to build three hundred houses on twenty year loans at seven per cent. The result, he said, has been entirely satisfactory, not only aiding stability of citizenship, but maintaining 1,200 persons during construction.

His Visit.
Mr. Parnell, who is at the Empress Hotel with Mrs. Parnell, will stay until August 19. He is delighted with Victoria, naturally having many Winnipeg friends here settled, and makes periodical trips to the city, although this is the first occasion he has been able to visit since becoming Mayor of a city of nearly 200,000 people, the third largest in the Dominion, and one which has recently contended with its general strike situation, and the methods adopted to rehabilitate conditions.

Mr. Parnell is the head of Speirs-Parnell Baking Company, bread manufacturers of Winnipeg. He is also associated with baking companies in Toronto and London, Ont. He was an alderman of London for eleven years before going to Winnipeg.

SPLITTING STRAWS.

It is an indisputable fact that "the basic principle of a League of Nations lies in the promotion of a reduction of armaments, not among a particular group of nations, but throughout the world."

It cannot be seriously argued that there is any difference in principle between the motives with which the two agencies are imbued. But in contemplating the comparative prospect of success it must be patent to the average mind that the movement to which the second greatest naval power in the world is prepared to subscribe has the promise of greater results.

If Great Britain, the United States, France, Italy, and Japan agree to put an end to the mad race in competitive armaments is Belgium going to object? Will the Swiss Federal Parliament assemble and initiate a naval programme? Will there be any misgivings in China, or Germany, or Russia, or Patagonia?

Everybody knows how much persuasion has been employed to convince the United States that it should align itself with the rest of the half a hundred nations and join the League. Everybody knows that this excellent and useful body will lack a large part of its driving force as long as the American Government maintains its present attitude towards it.

What the people want is disarmament. They do not care a rap by what agency it is brought about. For that very obvious reason nothing is to be gained by criticizing the arrangement which is going to bring the two great English-speaking nations into common accord upon one of the most momentous issues of modern times.

Nor must it be forgotten that if the Washington gathering were to assume anything in the nature of a conference—whether it should be described otherwise or not—of the member states of the League of Nations a popular outcry would accuse the Harding Administration of flirting with something that it has repudiated times out of number. As it is a "committee of the whole" will meet to transact the business and the people of the uninvited states will not grumble if success attends its deliberations.

WHAT B. C. CAN DO.

British Columbia has much upon which to congratulate herself from an industrial standpoint. Many branches of endeavor are not specifically obvious; but in the case of the new addition to the coastwise fleet of the Canadian Pacific Railway the Princess Louise now under construction will constitute a travelling object lesson to all and sundry who may or may not be interested in the industrial potentialities of this Province.

The vessel now building at the Wallace shipyards should prove to be the last word in comfort and speed. It should be a travelling advertisement for British Columbia in that its decks will be paced by people from every part of the world. No sense of modesty should prevent a reasonable amount of publicity to the fact that it was constructed in this Province and that the materials which entered into that construction originated in British Columbia. Victoria is not envious of Vancouver in this particular instance. What the firm of Wallace may do can be done by the firm of Yarrow here. Competition is a healthy stimulant to trade. The main point is the fact that the Princess Louise is a British Columbia-built vessel and the fact should be widely advertised on its decks.

REFERRED TO THE LEAGUE.

There will be many questions of international politics and policies upon which Great Britain and France will not be able to agree without a reasonable amount of give and take. The Upper Silesian entanglement is the most outstanding example since the dispatch of French troops to Frankfurt and Darmstadt. In that particular instance the San Remo Conference resulted in a compromise and the gathering at Spa relieved the French mind for the time being. The French press has never fully recovered from what it believes to have been the cupidity of Mr. Lloyd George. But the relations between the two countries have at no point been as strained as some of the sensational writers on the other side of the English Channel would have us believe. The Silesian matter has proved even too much for the Supreme Council and other questions from time to time may produce similar conditions. Here lies an opportunity for the League of Nations to test its own machinery. It is purely a European problem and the United States has regarded it as such. To have gone deeper into the differences at Paris might have produced an uncomfortable situation. That danger has been removed by this morning's decision.

THE ENTENTE'S VALUE.

By reason of his intimate association with and complete understanding of European affairs Mr. Wickham Steed is in a position to estimate the value of harmonious relations between Great Britain and France better than most observers of international politics. During his long sojourn abroad and more especially by virtue of his unique position in the world of journalism it was his business and privilege to explore beneath the surface of things. On that account—although it is becoming increasingly obvious to the lay mind—it is small wonder that he should believe in Anglo-French co-operation as the only reliable basis upon which Europe may be reconstructed and normal conditions restored. But it is rather in the absence of extended observation upon the relations between the Old and New Worlds that lends significance and importance to Mr. Steed's belief that the support of the United States may be obtained by Europe when it shall have been established that the Entente is a lasting institution. It goes without saying that the republic to the South will not permit herself to be intruded by Europe. It may be that her policy of splendid isolation is not fool-proof. A fairly substantial measure of dependence upon the course of European developments and European policies may be vital to her own interests from a commercial if not from a sentimental point of view. On the other hand the wealth of the United States, none the less her industrial position and boundless natural resources, places her in an enviable position. At the same time she understands the strength of the British Empire. Well may she regard her respect for British tradition and particularly John Bull's way of doing business as the guarantees that would encourage her to embark upon the European political sea even at the expense of forsaking to some extent her traditional policy of isolation. But in so extending her influence and co-operation she would not be incurring risks. It is patent to the world that a triple alliance partnered by the British Empire, the United States and France, would find itself in a position to impose a lasting peace. It is reasonable to assume, therefore, that Mr. Steed places tremendous importance upon a solution of the Upper Silesian imbroglio and the restoration of such rifts as may have appeared in the Entente because of its effect upon the United States and her future attitude towards European and world affairs. Herein lies the promise of an improvement in respect of commerce, industry and political amity among all the nations.

NOTE AND COMMENT

There comes an account from Heidelberg that the earth passed through the tail of a comet on the night of Monday last. And Victorians will remember that Lord Northcliffe passed through Victoria on Saturday. Still the "world wags."

While there will be no particular signs of regret over the fact that the noblemen of Great Britain are disposing of their large estates it is a matter of congratulation that Runnymede meadows are to be retained by the state. To bring the historic scene of the birth of British institutions under the hammer of the auctioneer would have been too much of a shock for Anglo-Saxondom.

HOROSCOPE

FRIDAY, AUGUST 12, 1921. (Copyright, 1921, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

While Mars and Mercury are in benefic aspect today, according to astrology, it is a time in which to exercise caution in all important affairs, for while Uranus, the planet of the mind may be active, Uranus may distort the judgment.

Publicity and advertising in all forms are well directed during this configuration and should make a strong impression on all who read or see it. Military men should benefit from this way which makes for activity, army reorganization and promotions. Problems of unemployment will be forced upon public considerations at this time and the Autumn may present serious troubles.

Warning is again given that the conjunction of Jupiter and Saturn next month presage many labor disputes. This conjunction, which occurs once in twenty years, is held by astrologers to be always of great moment in forecasting the future.

Race antagonisms will be aggravated by the position of the stars and perils will be multiplied unless wisdom teaches the countries of kindred blood to recognize the universal brotherhood. In the coming decade great leaders will arise, and among these will be a woman who transmits a wonderful lesson in living.

B. C. APPOINTMENTS

Appointments announced in this week's issue of the British Columbia Gazette are as follows: The Notaries Public: John McLennan of Vancouver; Edward Richardson Bell of Ladner; Gordon Sylvester Wiener of Vancouver; Ormond St. Patrick Atkens of Kelowna; Michael Mabon Greaves of Vancouver; L. Gordon Bryant of 141-Mile House; Du-gald John McAlpine of Vancouver; Clifford J. Hilmann, of Vancouver.

25,000 WORKERS FOR PRAIRIE FARMS

Ottawa, Aug. 12.—A report on the Manitoba harvest labor conditions has reached the Department of Immigration from R. J. C. Stead, Director of Publicity, who is making a tour of the prairie wheat areas to gain first-hand information as to the crop outlook. Mr. Stead in his report states that some 25,000 harvest laborers have already reached Winnipeg or are arriving on trains now almost due and practically all of these are being placed on farms at the prevailing wages of $4 a day and board. He states that while there is plenty of work for these 25,000 men, there is not at present any demand for more.

PONZI CREDITORS WILL GET MONEY FURNITURE BRINGS

Boston, Aug. 12.—The furnishings in the Lexington Home of Charles Ponzi, valued at $35,000, belonged to the man of quick and easy riches himself and not to his wife, the referee in bankruptcy for Middlesex County decided yesterday. Mrs. Ponzi had entered a claim for all the furnishings. By the decision they will be sold at public auction, and the proceeds turned over to the trustees of the Ponzi estate for the benefit of the creditors.

WORLD LEAGUE ASKED BY ALLIED COUNCIL TO DIVIDE SILESIA

ing to the German and Polish Governments that order must be maintained in the disputed territory. Mr. Lloyd George expressed the opinion that there would be no trouble in the district provided the high commissioners were instructed to show strict impartiality.

Viewpoint Changed.

The Council at its early sessions this week decided that the sending of reinforcements was not necessary for the time being but the decision now taken indicates somewhat of a change in the viewpoint of the body as a whole, in as much as the idea that reinforcement of the Allied troops ultimately is likely to prove advisable has been adopted. The decision not to send troops, as indicated at the time, was because it appeared that an agreement on the whole question of Silesia was imminent, but as the situation developed obstacles in the way of an adjustment satisfactory to both France and Great Britain became apparent, leading up to the virtual deadlock in the Council which was broken only by today's decision to refer the whole matter to the League of Nations. In turning over the question to the League "to consider the matter as of the utmost urgency and to make its report at the earliest time possible."

Will Decide.

The decision of the Supreme Council to present the question of Upper Silesia for advice to the Council of the League of Nations, says the Havas Agency, "specifies it will adopt as its own the decisions of the League's Council."

It was when Premier Briand informed Mr. Lloyd George that the French Council of Ministers considered concessions further than the Silesia was inadvisable that the British Prime Minister proposed the arbitration of the League of Nations in order not to break up the Entente, opinion in the two countries having been decided a position for a compromise that either would accept.

MISFEASANCE CHARGE WILL BE HEARD TUESDAY

offence no penalty or other mode of punishment is expressly provided, contrary to section 164 of the Criminal Code."

Counsel's Statements.

Mr. Clearhue appeared for the accused and requested a remand of one week. The remand was opposed by Mr. Higgins for the informant, who said he wished an immediate trial. "Here are gentlemen occupying an official position in this city with the police force in their guidance, and here they are charged with stimulating crime. If that charge were true," continued Mr. Higgins, "these men have no right to occupy that position for a moment longer than is necessary. It is not a question of motives, but a direct charge with an offence against the criminal code. It is a serious crime, and how can these men remain in their public capacity, with that charge hanging over their heads?" "But a remand," began Mr. Clearhue in objection, but was silenced. "Oh I know it hurts," continued Mr. Higgins. "It hurts you political moralists. I would suggest that we go on to-morrow morning."

Magistrate Jay Explained.

Magistrate Jay explained that he would be leaving town on Saturday, and that the case would have to be tried by the same court all through. For that reason he would allow the defence to reserve their election, and elect before the trial judge. After some opposition from the counsel for the defence the date for hearing was set for Tuesday morning next. In the absence of Magistrate Jay, W. W. Northcott, J.P., and Dr. Lewis Hall, J.P., will likely hear the preliminary evidence. In opposing the short remand granted, Mr. Clearhue outlined his position on behalf of the accused. The case is bristling with technicalities and points of law," he stated. "I will have to prepare a list of references and the case will have to be very carefully prepared. I would like a remand for one week." Magistrate Jay then set the date as Tuesday morning next, when the preliminary hearing will be carried out. The charge against Chief of Police Fry was read and the same action being taken. The Chief reserved his election, and will appear on Tuesday next for preliminary hearing.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

Chicago—Eight hundred dead horses, victims of the heat wave, are lying on the streets of Chicago, and the city is unable to secure sufficient assistance to cart them away as they succumb. West Coast trade having increased so much of late the Canadian Pacific Navigation Company has replaced the Maude with a new ship, the Tees, of Stockton. The Tees reached here to-day and was visited by a large number of business men, who were delighted with her substantial appearance. Dr. Prevost, of Seattle, is taking steps to sue the City of Victoria for $50,000 damages on account of the death of his wife in the Point Elliott Bridge disaster.

Fraudulent Marking of Goods Must Cease Sept. 1

By Capt. Evan J. Edwards, Senior British Trade Commissioner, Montreal, in Marking. Examples of foreign goods masquerading as British or Canadian are continually being brought to my notice. Some of these deceptions are of no moment, and some are made innocently, such as the Japanese manufacturer who marks his goods with the word "Nippon." Nippon is their native word for Japan, but probably to most people it appears as the registered trade name of a Canadian or British maker. Other cases of improper marking are intentionally fraudulent, such as the marking of German manufacturers with English names and the names of English cities. I get not a few samples of German manufactures, for instance with the name "Sheffield" on them as if they came from the celebrated cutlery centre. That is the rankest of fraud, done deliberately to mislead buyers. At one time it was possible to detect the fraud, if one was acquainted with the appearance of German printing, but now that means of detection goes, and as they have learned the need of using good English translators it is often not possible to see even from their catalogues where the goods were made.

ETNA.

ETNA is a product of the sixteenth century, when its more dignified predecessor Henrietta appeared in France in the House of Stuart d'Aubigne. It means "home ruler," and has an elaborate and involved history which takes it through the Royal House of France, England and Germany.

ETNA itself, however, is purely English. It was evolved in that country after Henrietta had become a reigning favorite, made popular by Henriette Marie, daughter of Henry IV, who had brought it with her from France. It had

BUSINESS WOMEN'S CONVENTION SUCCESS

Canadian and American Clubs Met at Cleveland; Armenian Delegate

In view of the cordial invitation sent to the Kumtuka Club to send delegates to the recent convention of the National Federation of Women's Clubs at Cleveland, Ohio, the following item from an Eastern paper will be of interest to its members.

"Just returned from the interesting sessions of the third annual convention of the American National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, held at Cleveland, Ohio, Miss Mary MacMahon, president of the Canadian Business and Professional Women's Clubs in Toronto, Miss MacMahon, with Miss Hay, president of the Business Women's Club of Hamilton, were the Canadian guests of the federation.

"Miss MacMahon, in concluding a felicitous address before the federation, presented a gift from their Canadian sisters, a large, flat basket, the handles and sides of which were covered with specially-pressed Autumn maple leaves. With her were lovely Ophelia roses and fresh green maple leaves.

"The large number of American women in business for themselves was one of encouraging features noted," said Miss MacMahon. "There were three women present who were operating farms most successfully, and another interesting delegate was Miss L. Kelly, who controls and operates successfully a departmental store in New Mexico and has just opened the third of a chain of Business Women's Clubs. In the ranks of the business women were to be found a great number of school teachers, who, having grown weary of their profession, had turned to other avenues of work.

"Vocations for women were discussed at a luncheon, addresses being given on 'The Woman Banker,' 'The Woman Farmer,' 'The Woman Merchant,' 'The Woman Architect' and 'The Woman in Public Welfare Work.'

"Architecture was recommended as a profession for women by Miss Eleanor Manning, a member of the Housing Committee of Boston.

"Greetings from Armenia were brought to the convention by Lady Jane Anaplian."

PRINCESS
"Because She Loved Him So" is chief among a number of the cleverest English comedies. There is an original plot, a collection of lovable characters, and some wonderful climaxes. The "lady who loves him so" will be played by Miss Page and the unhappy recipient of the over dose of the ladies' affection falls to the lot of James Coots who will also sing some beautiful songs. Mr. Aldenn in a clever character study has another delightful offering for his friends and Arthur Elton has a surprise in store for the Princess patrons. Lee Jaxon and Lily Doolley and all the other members of the company have splendid parts and cannot help but please in the various roles. To-night is prize night in the "grown up" contest. Address your guesses to Captain Kidd, Jr., Princess Theatre. Saturday will be the matinee performance of "Because She Loved Him So" and also prize day for the "little folks." Have you seen the bean jar in Hibben's window on Government Street? Send your guess about the contents of the jar, addressed to "Bean," Princess Theatre. "Because She Loved Him So" will be presented to-night. To those who know Mr. William Campbell, who has won great popularity here, it will be interesting to learn that he wrote "The Dreamer," especially for Mr. Coots. At different odd times Mr. Campbell has shown that he is a very capable entertainer, but no-one has heretofore suspected that he was a composer.

The short subjects this week have also been well looked after by special Christie Comedy, "Mr. Fatina" and a Chester Outing, "There Ain't No Santa Klaus," being the two selected. J. Petch will also be heard to good advantage in new songs. And the orchestra has arranged a special musical programme.

COLUMBIA
The success of Fontaine Fox in transferring his cartoon creations to the screen in the form of "live" comedies, has created a lot of interest among cartoonists, and has encouraged several noted comic artists to make the screen their home.

The second half is one long rippling of catchy musical numbers and clever dialogue, supplied by the "1921 Folies." Songs, dances, ballads and dialogues follow each other in quick succession, and all the audience will have to do is to sit back in their seats and enjoy themselves.

LITTLE THEATRE
The Little Theatre will open its season on Monday next with a bill of an entirely new character. The first half of the programme will be taken up with a dramatic sketch by W. W. Jacobs, entitled "The Monkey's Paw." W. W. Jacobs, as all the world knows, is a humorist in a class by himself; few there are who do not know his "Captain Barley," "Bob Preddy," or "Night Watchman," but in "The Monkey Paw" he has written a drama with a grip so thrilling that when Mr. Cyril Maude read it he bought it, and himself played the lead in it, although it is only a sketch which runs some forty-five minutes.

EXIT BETTY
By Grace Livingston Hill (Mrs. Lutz)
Author of "The Search," "Marcis Schuyler," "The Enchanted Barn," etc.

CHAPTER XVI.
Bob had just finished feeding the chickens when the automobile drew up at the door, and he hurried around the house to see what it might be. He was rather looking for the return of that nice lawyer again. He felt the family expected him some time. Perhaps he would be to breakfast, and mother would want some fresh eggs.

They had dropped Bi at the edge of the village, and there were only Hutton and the driver. The driver brought them. Bi had no mind to get mixed up in this affair too openly. He valued his standing in his home town, and he did not wish to lose it. He had an instinct that what he was doing might make him unpopular if it became known. Besides, he had another axe to grind.

Bob did not like the look of the strange dark man who got out of the car and came into the yard with the air of a threshing machine bolted into whatever came in his way. He stood sturdily and waited until he was asked who lived there, and admitted with a stony "yes" that it was Mrs. Carson. A hurried guest, deriding knock on the front door followed and the other man in the car got out and came into the yard behind the first.

"Well, you needn't take the door down," Bob snapped, and scuttled around the house to warn his mother, aware that he had been rude, and glad of it.

It was Betty who came to the door, for Ma was frying bacon and eggs for breakfast, and Bob hadn't been quite so much. She started back with a scream, and clung to the door that reached for her arm, fairly flew back to the kitchen, taking refuge behind Mrs. Carson, with her eyes wild with fear and her hand on her heart, while Hutton strode after her. Mrs. Carson wheeled around with her knife in her hand and faced him.

"What do you mean by coming into my house like this, I'd like to know," she demanded angrily, putting her arm around Betty.

"I beg your pardon," said Hutton, a poor apology for courtesy slipping into his manner. "I don't suppose you know it, but that is my wife you are harboring there, and she ran away from home several months ago! I have just discovered her here, and about as you have come to take her away!"

Ma straightened up with the air of a queen, and a judge, and she stilled a scream and in a small voice of terror cried: "It isn't true! Oh, mother, don't let him take me!"

Mrs. Carson pushed Betty behind her, the knife still in her hand, and answered with dignity: "You've made a big mistake, Mr. Herbert Hutton; this is your wife at all. I know all about you."

Hutton put on a look of instant sanity. "Oh, of course, madam, she has told you that, but I'm sorry to have to tell you that she is not in her right mind. She made her escape from the insane asylum."

"Oh, rats!" shouted Bob, and vanished out the kitchen door, slamming it behind him.

Emily, frightened and white, stood just outside, and he nearly knocked her over in his flight. He pulled her along with him, whispering in her ear excitedly: "You beat it down to the fire gong and fly it for all you're worth! Quick!"

Emily gave him one frightened look and sprang to action. Her little feet sped down the path to the lot where hung the big fire gong. Two wild rabbits running for their lives, and in a moment more the loud whang of alarm rang through the little town, arousing the princes. The greatly disconcerted Bi, who was craning his neck at the station and watching the fast-growing speck down the railroad track. That was the train coming already. PANTAGES
There are many ladies attending the fight pictures at the Pantages, which are being shown for the last time to-day and to-morrow. Women find much to interest them in the flistic art, for it exemplifies the strong qualities of virile manhood, which the feminine sex admires. It was not so very many years ago when our ancestors, the cavemen, would carry off their mates by force, and the woman admired her husband for his very strength and combative-ness. This attitude is still inherent in womanhood—an offshoot of primitive days. As for the two fighters in the ring, their business is to fight and to take and inflict punishment upon each other, and then to shake hands after it is over. The loser expects no sympathy. And, getting down to the fine point, a flistic encounter is generally less vicious than many mental battles which occur daily in the marts of trade.

VARIETY
Being a civil engineer, a Wall Street broker, a Colorado rancher and a Yale athlete make a good preparatory course for a motion picture actor, as demonstrated in the case of "Lefty" Flynn, who appears in Rex Beach's new picture, "Going Some," produced by the Goldwyn Pictures Corporation, which is featured at the Variety Theatre again to-day. Flynn won fame a few years ago on the Yale football eleven. He then joined his father in the brokerage business, later went to various parts of the country as a civil engineer and finally settled down on a 2,200-acre ranch near Steamboat Springs, Colorado, the ranch being a gift from his father. Recently when he was in New York Flynn met Rex Beach, and during several games of golf Beach persuaded him to go to California to take part in "Going Some." Flynn plays the part of "Skinner," the ex-soldier, who won a race at Pershing Stadium in France.

COLUMBIA
The success of Fontaine Fox in transferring his cartoon creations to the screen in the form of "live" comedies, has created a lot of interest among cartoonists, and has encouraged several noted comic artists to make the screen their home.

The second half is one long rippling of catchy musical numbers and clever dialogue, supplied by the "1921 Folies." Songs, dances, ballads and dialogues follow each other in quick succession, and all the audience will have to do is to sit back in their seats and enjoy themselves.

LITTLE THEATRE
The Little Theatre will open its season on Monday next with a bill of an entirely new character. The first half of the programme will be taken up with a dramatic sketch by W. W. Jacobs, entitled "The Monkey's Paw." W. W. Jacobs, as all the world knows, is a humorist in a class by himself; few there are who do not know his "Captain Barley," "Bob Preddy," or "Night Watchman," but in "The Monkey Paw" he has written a drama with a grip so thrilling that when Mr. Cyril Maude read it he bought it, and himself played the lead in it, although it is only a sketch which runs some forty-five minutes.

EXIT BETTY

CHAPTER XVI.
Bob had just finished feeding the chickens when the automobile drew up at the door, and he hurried around the house to see what it might be. He was rather looking for the return of that nice lawyer again. He felt the family expected him some time. Perhaps he would be to breakfast, and mother would want some fresh eggs.

They had dropped Bi at the edge of the village, and there were only Hutton and the driver. The driver brought them. Bi had no mind to get mixed up in this affair too openly. An Interesting Cricket Match For To-morrow; Incogs Play Garrison

Cricket enthusiasts are taking keen interest in the match which is to be played to-morrow afternoon at the Jubilee grounds between the Five C's and the Congos.

The Five C's are in a tie with Victoria for the leadership of the Victoria and District Cricket League and the Congos, while having no chance to land the top berth, are playing exceptionally good cricket and are practically assured of third place.

The Congos hope to give the Five C's a close run. They are turning out their strongest eleven and have been practising steadily of late.

The Five C's are banking heavily upon the ability of their star bowlers, Laurence and Wilkinson, to give them the match.

The only other cricket match to-morrow will be between the Incogs, last year's champions and the Garrison. The teams will meet at the University School grounds and are expected to provide quite a keen match.

The teams will be as follows: Five C's—H. Edwards (captain), Eric Dean, Quinlan, Eden, Quinlan, Eric Quinlan, Rev. F. Comley, W. M. Sutton, D. Hudson, G. Wilkinson, B. Laurence, T. H. Knappman, R. E. ### G.W.V.A. WILLING TO CONSIDER PLAN FOR AMALGAMATION

After lengthy consideration of the scheme for the federation of ex-service organizations the G.W.V.A. Veterans' Association last night passed the following resolution, which was moved by Comrade P. R. Leighton and seconded by Comrade W. G. Stone: "Though we cannot accept the amalgamation scheme as presented to us to-night by the Army and Navy Veterans, this organization amalgamation through the Dominion Commands, in so far as it is directed to bring about all ex-service organizations in this city under one roof, and is willing to nominate delegates to a committee to draw up a scheme for that purpose."

During a general discussion following the passage of this resolution, a number of practical suggestions for the solution of the employment problem were advanced.

The photograph used by Premier Oliver this week as he was going through a mass of old documents, Mr. Oliver immediately had the picture framed, and ordered it placed beside the portraits of former British Columbia Premiers and statesmen.

NEW MEDICAL OFFICERS FOR NO. 5 MINE, NANAIMO

Nanaimo, B. C., Aug. 11.—The halting for medical health officer at No. 5 mine, Canadian Collieries, South Wellington, resulted in the election of Dr. P. J. Emerson. There were seven applications, the successful candidate receiving 171 votes out of a total vote cast of 216.

The Owls took the lead in the city baseball league by defeating the Elks last night by 7 to 6. The Owls scored in the first, fourth and seventh innings. Parks pitched good ball for the Elks but had poor support.

The Nanaimo City football team will journey to Vancouver on Saturday to play the Rangers in a Pacific Coast League game, while South Wellington will be at home to the Vancouver Celts.

Alex. Rowan's five-a-side team, which defeated the Kitsilano team and won the championship of British Columbia at the Caledonia sports recently held in Vancouver, has entered the five-a-side competition to be held in connection with the field day, to be held here to-morrow. Although Nanaimo is scheduled to play at Vancouver, Manager Watson claims that he can place a five-a-side team in the competition.

The Nanaimo baseball team will meet Port Alberni on the cricket field Sunday afternoon. A strong team has been picked to play the invaders.

SAYS BOWSER FEARS TO FACE SITUATION

Premier Sees Reason for Refusal to Make P.G.E. Trip

The real reason why W. J. Bowser, K. C., leader of the Opposition, does not intend to join the forthcoming Pacific Great Eastern Railway excursion is that he does not wish to see, in the course of the trip, the mistakes of the former Conservative Government's railroad policy revealed. This was the assertion of Hon. John Oliver voiced when he returned to his desk at the Parliament Buildings this morning after a two-day visit to Vancouver.

"I believe the real reason why Mr. Bowser doesn't want to go with other members of the Legislature over the P. G. E. is because he doesn't wish to face the situation on the ground in regard to changes in the location of the railway line," the Premier declared.

Mr. Oliver explained, with the use of maps, how the present Government had changed the course of the railway to a route much more satisfactory than that which the former Government planned to follow.

"I don't assume for a moment on account of Mr. Bowser's refusal to make the trip that there is concerted action on the part of the Opposition to boycott the P. G. E. trip," Mr. Oliver stated. "I am willing to take Mr. Bowser's word that such a plan has not been adopted by the Conservative members."

More Refusals.

Two more Conservative members, A. McDonald, of Lillooet, and J. R. Hunter, of Siccan, have declined to join the P. G. E. excursion. Mr. McDonald stated in a letter received by the Premier to-day that he was going to Alford's soon, while Mr. Hunter informed Mr. Oliver that he could not spare time to make the trip. Two other Conservative members, J. H. Schofield, of Trail, and Canon Hincliffe, of Victoria, wrote the Premier several days ago declining the P. G. E. invitation. Samuel Guined, Socialist member for New-Castle, also has declined to join the excursion.

ATTITUDE IS NOW ONE OF ENQUIRY

Government Seeking Means to Relieve Unemployment

"The attitude of the Provincial Government toward the unemployment problem is one of enquiry," Premier Hon. John Oliver explained this morning when asked about the results of the conference between members of the cabinet and industrial and municipal leaders in Vancouver early this week. "Our purpose is simply to try to find what can be done to relieve the present situation.

"The principal benefit I see from the conference in Vancouver is that it will show the people that the Government is really taking an interest in the unemployment situation.

"The present situation can be summed up in this way: The statement made at the conference that retailers would not take their losses and sell on a replacement basis, and while it was not stated in just as clear language the inference all through was that those who control industries could not and would not produce because they in their turn could not market goods produced at the present cost of production.

"We shall meet representatives of the employees in industry next week and later two officials of the Department of Labor will go to Ottawa to attend a nation-wide conference on unemployment, called by the Federal Minister of Labor."

GRAND FORKS MEMBER MAY RESIGN

E. C. Henniger Opposed to Present Government Policies

E. C. Henniger, Liberal Member for Grand Forks, may resign, or at least cease to support the Oliver Government because he is opposed to the treatment received by his constituency at the hands of the Department of Labor which he has just visited, he intimated this morning following a conference with Premier Oliver.

"The people of my constituency undoubtedly will demand my resignation on account of the Government's decision not to go ahead with the Grand Forks irrigation project this summer," Mr. Henniger told the Times after he had interviewed Mr. Oliver. Asked if he would tender his resignation if he were pressed to do so by his constituents, Mr. Henniger replied: "That will depend upon how strong pressure is brought to bear."

"The Government," he declared, "has lost the Grand Forks seat already—it could not elect a member there at another election now."

"I may not be able to tender my resignation at all," Mr. Henniger remarked significantly, and later he added: "They can move my desk over from the Government to the Opposition side of the House."

Promises Small Expenditure.

Mr. Henniger said that the people of the Grand Forks district were demanding that the Government go ahead with its irrigation project there. It was to press Mr. Oliver and his colleagues to proceed with the irrigation work that he had come to Victoria to-day, he intimated. He said that Mr. Oliver had promised some temporary relief, and the expenditure of a million dollars on the irrigation scheme. The Premier had said, however, that the Government could not afford, at the present time, to spend any large sum of money on the project.

The Grand Forks irrigation undertaking, it is understood, would require upwards of $200,000 to complete it. Thousands of acres of the best fruit lands in the Province are awaiting water. The money to carry out the project, Mr. Henniger said, was available in the "Conservation Fund estimates, approved by the last session of the Legislature."

Will Not Join Excursion.

"I am certainly not going on the P. G. E. excursion," the Grand Forks member declared. "It is the P. G. E. which is eating up the revenue of the Province and, while benefiting only a few people up North, keeping the rest of British Columbia from getting what it needs. It was a mistake in the first place, and is just being perpetuated."

Mr. Henniger is still suffering from the results of a recent automobile accident. He dozed off to sleep while driving and his car sliding over a bank, turned upside down. He used crutches up to a few days ago.

LUCKLESS SPREE AIRED IN COURT

Man Loses $30 in Festive Holiday; Friends Exonerated in Court

William Pierce, charged in the police court to-day with the theft of $30 from Neil Maciver, pleaded not guilty, and was subsequently discharged. John L. Clay appeared for the accused, and submitted that the evidence did not even point to his client.

Complainant told the court a story of an afternoon of which he had but a hazy recollection of being put to bed by two others. When he woke up he was locked in his room, and he missed $30 from a $60 roll. It transpired from further evidence that the owner of the missing money had been locked in by his friends to prevent him wandering on the street in his condition at the time, and that the friends knew nothing of his money. The court held there was no evidence to implicate the accused, and he was granted a discharge.

Joseph Kelly, described as a cigar maker of Vancouver, was fined $20 for speeding down towards the Willows, the motor cycle constabulary he flashed in front of a street car, while going forty miles an hour, a charge under the Motor Act against

ARCTIC EXPLORER WILL TAKE FOOD TO LAST SEVEN YEARS

Amundsen Party Will "Travel on Their Stomachs" in Drift for Pole

Seattle, Aug. 12.—When the Amundsen expedition ship Maud sails from Seattle next May to resume the expedition's daring attempt to drift to the North Pole with the Arctic ice pack, she will be stocked with enough food to last nearly seven years. It was learned to-day, between $25,000 and $30,000 will be expended in Seattle for the supplies, it is estimated.

Personal comfort and nearly everything else on the Maud will be sacrificed to providing space for food and still more food, and other essential supplies.

"Travel on Their Stomachs." When asked why he would load down the Maud with food supplies, Captain Amundsen paraphrased the old military dictum. He said: "Explorers travel on their stomachs."

"When you get to 85 degrees north," he said, "you find animal life in the polar spaces very scarce. It is a case of take your food along or starve and we are going to run no risk of starving. I doubt whether it would set out on such an expedition unless I had enough provisions for five years, and it is safer to have provisions for seven years."

"On the Fram expedition we drifted across the polar basin, studying all conditions for three years, and we found that at 85 and beyond, the Arctic is absolutely desolate. As an example, a stray bear appeared in the vicinity of Fram. We shot it and the only thing we found in its stomach was an old newspaper. It had eaten the newspaper because it could get nothing else to eat. The bear was a one of a very few that we saw after reaching the pole."

Will Take No Chances. "We are taking no chance of landing in the same plight as the boat that had to dine on a newspaper. When you attempt to cross the polar sea, you must be prepared in every detail and one of the greatest details is food. Months will be spent in provisioning and outfitting the Maud in Seattle, the work being done without the least attempt at haste, so that there will be no danger of our overlooking anything. We will be stocked to the guards with food when we leave Seattle and we will have four or five extra propeller wheels for the Maud."

The work of outfitting the Maud will be completed by H. H. Hammer, president of the Universal Shipping & Trading Company, acting as general agent for the famous explorer. The Maud sailed from Dutch Harbor, Alaska, under her own canvas. She is expected here early in September.

SHIPPING NEWS FROM DAY TO DAY

TWO NEW STEAMERS FOR MONTREAL-LIVERPOOL SERVICE

Within the next six months, there will be put into commission for the Canada-Liverpool service, two new White Star Dominion Line steamers, which will be the largest of their types making the port of Montreal during the open season of navigation.

These vessels are the Regina and the Doric, which are sister ships in nearly every respect and which will provide ocean travelers with those comforts and luxury which are known only to the most modern type of ocean-going steamer.

The erection of the boat deck and deck houses on the Regina, which will permit her to accommodate about 300 cabin passengers and 1700 third-class passengers, are now being completed. It is expected that the Regina will be ready for service in February and that the Doric will be in commission in March or April, 1922.

Both the Regina and the Doric will be approximately 17,000 tons and 600 feet in length. The former is a triple screw steamer with a combination of turbine and reciprocating engines, while the Doric will be driven by twin screws and turbine engines.

Both vessels possess many features for the benefit of passengers, and the latitude which the White Star-Dominion Line has allowed the builders, Harland & Wolff, Limited, of Belfast, in the construction of these vessels, has resulted in many details which will be appreciated by those traveling to Europe by these boats. In interior construction, both the Regina and the Doric are marvels of beauty. Entrance to both ships is through a white hall, reminiscent of the time of Inigo Jones, when the quaint fashion of the Elizabethan period gave place to the orderly, classical conceptions which found expression in the work of Wren and Grinling Gibbons. The only color here is supplied by the doors of teak and the floor of linoleum. On the landing of the grand staircase of the Regina one will find a large painting of the city for which the vessel is named.

The dining saloon on each boat will accommodate approximately 380 passengers and is decorated in white with paneling and open side-boards typically English in style.

On the promenade deck are the reading and writing room, which is done in the motifs of Boucher and the Adam Brothers, and nearby the lounge, decorated in the same style, while the children's playroom lies between the lounge and the reading room.

The smoking room is paneled in French walnut in the style of Queen Anne, with stained glass windows, and other details of beauty and comfort. Both the Regina and the Doric are equipped with up-to-date gymnasiums for the use of passengers.

On the bridge deck, suites of rooms have been provided on the port and starboard sides of the vessels, consisting of sitting-room, bedroom and bathroom, with communicating doors.

Next season's navigation period will see these two vessels plying the St. Lawrence route, adding to that comfort, convenience and luxury which has always been characteristic of the White Star-Dominion fleet operating between Montreal, Quebec and Liverpool.

STEAMER ANYOX CALLS HERE AFTER LANDING SURVIVORS

Capt. Snoddy and Second Officer Sinclair Not Disposed to Talk of Heroic Work

It's an experience that I don't want again," said Captain S. Snoddy, hero of the Alaska disaster, and master of the steamer Anyox, referring to the terrible tragedy of the sea in which the Anyox and her crew figured so conspicuously when the Alaska crashed to her doom last Saturday night on Blunt Reef. With the barge Henry Villard in tow the Anyox arrived here about noon to-day, and leaving the barge at anchor in the Roads, she came into the Inner Harbor and remained at the Evans Coleman and Evans wharf only for sufficient time to enter and clear the customs.

At 1 o'clock she left for Vancouver where the Second Officer, the grand steamer of the Anyox, another outstanding figure of the Alaska wreck, is a cousin of Mrs. J. M. Henderson, of this city, and a naval veteran, having served with the C. G. S. Malaspina and also on the Halifax station.

Victoria was the first port touched at by the Anyox since she put into Eureka, Cal., to land the 187 survivors of the ill-fated Alaska.

The men of the Anyox who performed so heroically when they intercepted the O.S.S. of the sinking of Alaska, are true seamen and modestly refrain from discussing the part they played in the most terrible marine disaster of the year.

Capt. Snoddy's first thought on arrival here was to communicate with his wife, who resides at 1827 First Avenue, Vancouver.

The skipper of the Anyox is one of the youngest skippers on the coast, being only 25 years of age.

Second Officer Sinclair saved thirty lives at the wreck by volunteering to pilot a half-swamped boat in an effort to save the crew.

By these brave men stand out in marine history. Steps are being taken to give suitable recognition of the Anyox's officers.

The Anyox is owned by the Coastwise Steamship & Barge Co. and was built for James Grimith, of Seattle, in 1917 for the ore-carrying trade between Anyox, B. C., and Puget Sound.

SS. KASHIMA MARU STILL HELD BY FOG OFF CAPE

The N. Y. K. liner Kashima Maru is still forlorn outside the Straits, according to the latest message received here early this afternoon.

Dense fog is reported to prevail outside the Cape and it is impossible to predict when the ship will be able to break through. Some three years ago, the liner Kasagi Maru, of the same fleet, was held by fog off the Cape for three days.

OCEAN TONNAGE LARGELY INCREASED

The tonnage of seagoing merchant vessels launched during the three years ending December 31, 1920, comprised more than 25 per cent, of all similar tonnage launched in the twenty-nine years beginning with 1892, for which the compilations of Lloyd's Register of Shipping are available, says the Bank of Commerce Monthly.

Prior to the European war the largest amount of shipping launched in any year was 3,322,882 gross tons, in 1913. Ship construction decreased during the earlier phase of the war, falling to 1,261,630 tons in 1915. In the following years, however, urgent demand for tonnage stimulated construction, but it was not until 1918 that total launchings exceeded those of 1913. In that year, thanks very largely to the construction of more than 3,000,000 tons in the United States, the world's shipyards launched 5,447,444 tons, while in 1919 the total was 7,144,549, of which more than 4,000,000 were the product of American yards. In 1920 shipbuilding activity was reduced somewhat, but launchings were still in excess of any previous year except 1919.

In spite of the destruction by enemy action of over 12,000,000 gross tons of seagoing merchant vessels between August 1, 1914, and November 11, 1918, and the loss through marine hazards of an additional 2,300,000 tons during the same period, the world's mercantile tonnage afloat is to-day greater than it would be had the average rate of increase for the ten years prior to 1914 contained in the years since that date. Estimates of tonnage now afloat indicate a total in excess of 60,000,000 gross tons, approximately 1,000,000 gross tons above the figure for June 30, 1914.

EXPORTER WRECK INQUIRY OPENS

Capt. Wm. Bradley Testifies That Compasses Were Unsatisfactory

Vancouver, Aug. 12.—Captain William Bradley, master of the freighter Canadian-Exporter, was on the stand today all morning at the investigation which is being made into the loss of the ship.

Captain Bradley testified that his compasses were unsatisfactory and his crew an unknown quantity, being entirely new. His chief officer and his second had been with him for some time and he knew them and his third officer was a new man.

After clearing Umatilla Lightship at mid-Saturday he went to bed, setting a course to bring the ship five miles off the whistle buoy at the mouth of the Columbia. He had not had his clothes off since the preceding Thursday. At 6.35 a.m. Sunday he went on deck, found that the chief officer had altered the course, took it for granted the officer had fixed his position before making the change, and was in the chartroom looking over the log when the ship touched.

At the conclusion of Captain Bradley's evidence Chief Officer Newton Campbell was called, but had only started giving evidence when the noon recess was taken by the Commission.

COUNCIL DECIDES TO AID HARVESTERS
 Machinery Provided for Granting Transportation to Prairies

At the special meeting yesterday afternoon of the City Council called for the purpose of discussing the aiding of harvest workers in the way of providing transportation to the prairies, it was decided that advances would be made to those who actually needed such assistance and that Mayor Porter should be authorized to name a committee to deal with all applications.

In moving that such assistance should be rendered by the City, Alderman Todd said that applicants should be bona fide Victorians and the advance would be on the understanding that the Provincial and Dominion governments rebate one-third of the money so paid out.

Alderman Woodward remarked that the great difficulty was in looking after the people who flocked to the city and did not belong to it. As the law put the responsibility on the city in regard to those who had lived here for over thirty days he considered that the city should not shirk its duty and he thought that it would be good business to assist men to get to the prairies where they would earn $4 a day and their keep as they would thus be able to pay, by sufficient to keep them there for the winter. He opposed the suggestion that only bona fide Victorians should be aided.

Alderman Fullerton thought that married men should be given preference in the matter of consideration, and Mayor Porter agreed in this course.

Incidentally, the Mayor remarked that the conference in Vancouver had not arrived at a solution of the unemployment problem.

In view of the decision reached yesterday, the city will now be in a position to deal with applicants for transportation as they apply at the City Hall.

HOSPITAL GIVEN SUBSTANTIAL AID
 Sum of $16,500 Granted by City Council; Urgently Needed

In response to the appeal of a deputation from the Jubilee Hospital which included Captain George McGregor, the president, James Forman and Secretary G. T. Carver, the City Council in special session yesterday afternoon granted that institution the sum of $16,500 to relieve the present financial stress through which the hospital is passing.

Mr. Forman pointed out that there were 3,728 days up to the end of July for which indigents had been treated and for which the city is legally responsible, amounting to $9,396. Then there were $3,215.50 unpaid accounts, a good portion of which was still collectible, but in the meantime trades people were getting impatient, and ready money was needed.

Immediate Aid.
 The question of free water was also discussed, and Captain McGregor pointed out that no other city charged its hospital for water. A request was therefore made for $15,000 against services rendered to date to enable the hospital to carry on, and the council unanimously agreed to the grant and to remit the charge for water, making $16,500 in all.

Secretary Carver reported that the hospital succeeded in collecting about ninety per cent. of its bills and of the balance there were a good many people who could not pay, but the hospital could not get them to do so. It was only as a final resort that the unpaid bills were turned over to the city.

The hospital deputation expressed its keen appreciation of the action taken by the council and expressed the hope that when next year's council prepared its estimates it would include in the budget an item of at least $35,000 for its city hospital.

LACK OF SPRAY ROBS APPLE GROWERS OF BETTER CROP
 Poor Set Discouraged Cultivators; Pears and Prunes Complete Failure

"No pears, no prunes, and only half an apple crop," was the summary of Saanich tree fruit crops given The Times yesterday by H. E. Tanner, President of the Saanich Fruitgrowers' Association.

The absence of bees during the blossoming period was the reason for the lack of a pear crop this year, according to Mr. Tanner. This was due to the abnormally chilly spring weather, which prevented the insects from their accustomed liveliness. It was explained that while the fruit set in abundance the pollinization was so poor that there was little strength in the young pears, and they dropped off the trees in uncountable numbers.

Prunes are to be scarce in the main because of late frosts, much fruit being killed after it had been counted upon as safely set. Apples, at best but a sixth per cent. promise, not so much due to a poor set as to carelessness in husbandry.

This is explained as follows: "There was a smaller set of fruit this year, but this would have remedied itself, and merely amounted to an early thinning by nature and was a sort of labor saver for the orchardist. However, the moral effect came in on the matter. With a small Spring set many of the growers became careless, allowing the customary necessary Summer sprayings to go by default under pressure of harvesting strawberries, with the result that scab is widely prevalent and aphid has done a lot of damage.

"The effect of the sprayings, had they been administered, would not have increased the number of apples, but would have almost doubled the marketable crop," said Mr. Tanner.

HIGHWAY BILL IS DRAFTED FOR CONSIDERATION
 Quick Action by Canadian Highway Association Formed Here

Further strides were made yesterday afternoon in the development of the Canadian Highway Association, when the organization was strengthened by the naming of additional committees, the by-laws and constitution were adopted and a draft bill to be presented to the Federal House providing for the appropriation of $20,000,000 for the completion of the coast to coast highway was read and submitted to the Legislative Committee for revision prior to its being carried to Ottawa by an influential delegation representative of every section of Canada.

It was decided to name an advisory board and this will be made up of the entire executive of the Canadian Good Roads Association.

The association expressed the belief that in view of the present unemployment, the demand for a wholly Canadian route would be all the more likely to receive favorable consideration. As a means of enlightening members of the association regarding the conditions of motor travel across Canada, Mr. Litchfield submitted a copy of Thos. W. Wilby's interesting book entitled "A Motor Tour Through Canada."

To invite Mr. Hill.
 As a means of creating public interest in the project it was decided to invite Hon. Samuel Hill, the American good roads advocate and father of the memorial peace arch scheme, to address a meeting at the High School auditorium early in September.

The association also decided to lend its aid to other public bodies in inducing the Canadian Good Roads Association to hold its convention here next year.

The Canadian Highway Association does not propose to put on any public campaign for membership but will be very glad if anyone interested would write to the secretary, care of Chamber of Commerce, enclosing the annual membership fee, cheques to be made in favor of F. Elworthy, treasurer.

The Highway Bill.
 An idea of the purpose of the proposed bill to be submitted to the Federal House is given in the draft already prepared, which reads as follows:

Whereas the highways of Canada constitute an important part of the national scheme of transportation and inter-communication;

And whereas with the increasing progress and development of Canada it is desirable and expedient that the highway systems of the various provinces be linked together by means of a road extending from the eastern extremity of Nova Scotia, to Cape Scott, upon Vancouver Island, the said road to be known throughout its length as the "Canadian Highway"; and whereas the linking together of existing roads so as to form such continuous road would do much to strengthen the spirit of Canadian unity; and whereas the "utimarian" address of the Canadian Highway would be great throughout every section;

Therefore, His Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate and the House of Commons of Canada, enacts as follows:

(1) This Act may be cited as the Canadian Highway Act.

(2) In this Act the word "Minister" means Ministers of Railways.

(3) In this Act the "Canadian Highway" means a roadway extending from the eastern extremity of Nova Scotia, as directly as possible to Quebec City, thence to Ottawa, Winnipeg, Vancouver City, Victoria, Nanaimo and Cape Scott upon Vancouver Island; the route from point to point to be approximately as direct as possible and taking into due consideration engineering necessities.

(4) Twenty million dollars shall be appropriated for the purposes of this Act; hereinafter referred to as the "fund."

(5) This fund shall be divided amongst the several provinces on the conditions hereinafter set out and in proportion to the estimated mileage of each province of the Canadian Highway.

(a) The apportionment and division of the fund in accordance with the conditions immediately hereinafter set out, in the event of any province being dissatisfied with its apportionment, then an immediate protest to be lodged with the Minister by the Government of the Province affected. Thereupon the entire matter shall be referred to the Board of Railway Commissioners, who shall examine the matter, and make a report and re-division to the best of their ability, or confirm the figures of the Minister. The decision of the Board of Railway Commissioners to be final and to be made within sixty days of the lodging of protest, by any province, with the Minister.

(b) The respective share of each province to be in due course remitted to and turned over to the Government of each province, on the expressed condition and understanding that it is to be used solely in connection with the linking together and improvement of the Canadian Highway, and each Provincial Government to furnish the Minister with an assurance to the effect that the Minister to also furnish the Minister.

(c) The Government of each Province to also furnish the Minister with an assurance that no portion of the grant will be used for the purchase of right-of-ways, or for payment of damages of any description; nor that, in any one instance, will any greater sum than five thousand dollars be expended from the said Province's share of this fund towards the construction of any one bridge; and that no portion of the grant shall be used to defray any portion of the ordinary office or permanent staff, administrative expenses, of the Highway Department of the said Province.

(6) Immediately upon the passing of the Act by the Senate, the Minister to extend to the Government of each Province an invitation for one or more of the officials of each of such Provinces to attend a conference, at Ottawa, for the purpose of an exchange of ideas amongst the said officials, as to construction methods, widths of right-of-ways, maximum grades and other details, in the endeavor to mutually arrive at, as nearly as possible, uniformity in the construction methods to be followed.
