disted the doctrine and the man. This was the first natural and impulsive movement of the perty-on finding that its most cherished teneti were violated and set at naught by the new Governor of Kansas. At that time it was not antiopated that the administration would defend Walkem. The opinion prevailed, on the contrary, that the well founded complaints of the Southern Democracy would induce the President to recall him. After a while the Washington Union epitered upon an elaborate defense of Walkem, and arraigned all Southern Democrats who condemned him as extremists worthy to be elasted with the abolitionists of the North-Then, came the struggle between adherence to principle and consistency, and feally to party. The administration had committed itself in fayor of Walkem. To censure the latter would be by implication to denounce the former. Hence it is not surprising that many party journals have begun to faiter; that others have ignobly retreated from their bold and manly position, and that but a few persist in courageously standing by their criginal views.

persist in courseously standing by their original views. In Georgia, whence proceeded the first counterblast against Warren, there has been a mahifest shivering in the wind. Sundry of the most truculent presses have tamed down amazingly. Among them we may cite the Albany Patriot and the Augusta Constitution-ulast, of which the one, while conceding the treachery of Warren and the wakness of the President, thinks, with Senator Tooms, that there is no hope of safety outside of the Democratic party; while the other, which Democratic party; while the other, which had-roared like a raging lion, has finally qua-vered down, like Borrom, to the gentle ac-cents of a sucking down. The Columbus mes, however, stands firm and unshaken. A late number, the Times closes up a long tide in the following spirited style:

Arid who, pray, is Governor Walkes, that he should assume to play the tyrant over a ree jeopie? An Executive appointee, whose only priver and duty is to obey and execute he saws of the Territory; and yet he praums to dictate to a body clothed with all he swall attributes of sovereignty!

His course is utterly indefenable. The southern Democracy have reproduced it, and save asked for his recall.

It is rumored that the administration will not rely refuse to recall dow. Walkes, but will mustain his policy. We cannot believe will prove the southern, and the administration will will refuse the course of the south of the other, and the administration will refuse the first of the south to the other, and the administration will refer tall held upon the South.
