DOUGLAS QUEEN ALEXANDRA CRITICALLY ILL

CROWDS ATTEND UNVEILING OF CAIRN AT GONZALES IN HONOR OF EARLY NAVIGATORS

Ceremony Performed by Direct Descendant of Capt. Charles William Barkley Who Sailed up Straits of Juan de Fuca in British Trading Vessel Imperial Eagle; Inscription Gives History of Site.

Under smiling skies with the sun's rays tinting Autumnal foliage to a burnished gold the memorial cairn erected to the memory of eighteenth century navigators was unveiled before a large attendance at Gonzales Heights at 2.45 this afternoon.

Coinciding with the sixty-seventh birthday of British Columbia the ceremony which marked a public appreciation of the debt of gratitude owed to pioneer geographers and explorers was impressive in the extreme.

PIONEERED ON VANCOUVER ISLAND

Capt. Robert E. Barkley, R.M.A., retired, who officiated at the unveiling of the Gonzales Cairn to-day, is a pioneer resident of Westholme, coming to Vancouver Island thirty-five years ago, exactly 100 years after his great grandfather sailed up the Straits of Juan de Fuca in the Imperial Eagle. Capt. Barkley served with distinction in the Royal Marine Artillery during the war, and was three years with the colors in France. He is accompanied by Mrs. Barkley, and Edward Trevor Barkley, his son, a great-great grandson of Capt. Charles William Barkley, the eighteenth century navigator. Mrs. G. E. Barnes, a sister of Capt. R. E. Barkley, and Lieut.-Col. G. E. Barnes are also in the city for the ceremony. It was in 1987 that Capt. Edward Barkley, R.N., grandson of Capt. Charles William Barkley, and Capt. Robert E. Barkley, a great grandson, came to this coast. In November of the hundredth anniversary of the discovery of the Straits, the family settled at Westholme which takes its name from the family home at that place.

PACIFIC CABLE BOARD DIFFERENCES AILED

London Hears Canada May Withdraw From Group; Ottawa Statement Awaited

New Additional Line From Banfield to Fiji Cause of the Cleavage

London, Nov. 19 (Canadian Press Cable)—The London Daily Express says it understands the Postmaster-General of Canada, Hon. Charles Murphy, has recommended that the Canadian Government withdraw from partnership in the Pacific Cable Board.

The withdrawal, the newspaper says, is because, among other things, duplication of the cable from Banfield, Vancouver Island, to Fiji, was decided upon in the absence of Canadian representatives, and the contracts therefor were awarded despite Canada's protests and in defiance of the provisions of the Imperial Cable Act, under which unanimity in such matters is essential.

Ottawa, Nov. 19.—In the absence of Hon. Charles Murphy, precise information in regard to his representations on the duplicate Pacific cable are not available, though it is said the Government has not yet taken any definite step looking to the withdrawal of Canada from participation. It is understood, however, (Continued on page 2.)

NIGHT WATCHMAN IS CHARGED WITH THEFT

Vancouver, Nov. 19.—Branding the hold-up story told by George Davidson, night watchman at the Chatterbox Cafe here, as a hoax, police today arrested him on a charge of theft in connection with the disappearance of approximately $100 from the cafe's cash register early last Friday.

Police say Davidson, who had said he had been forced by two masked, armed bandits, to hand over the money to them, has admitted he concocted the story to cover up the theft.

FRENCH TROOPS NOW AT SOON IN SYRIA

1,000 Infantrymen With Armored Cars Sent There to Prevent New Outbreak

Sidon, Syria, Nov. 19.—French reinforcements comprising 1,000 infantrymen with a tank and armored cars, have reached this port. A destroyer also has arrived.

The destroyer commander visited the Presbyterian Mission schools and the Near East Relief orphanages, the staffs of which he requested to remain, promising adequate warning of any danger.

The French Governor conferred with the religious leaders of all denominations and asked they urge their followers not to incite the people to panic or excesses.

The Druse forces behind Sidon are commanded by Zaid Altrash, a brother of the Sultan Altrash.

Refugees from the interior continue to pour into the town.

Three Other Children Are Saved in Dartmouth Fire

Dartmouth, N.S., Nov. 19.—William Cheek, four, and Bramel Cheek, three, sons of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Cheek, were burned to death when flames swept through the upper floors of their home this morning. The father was badly burned in trying to rescue them from the flames—his three other children were saved unharmed.

UNVEILED TO-DAY

Gonzales Hill cairn unveiled this afternoon before a large attendance in memory of the pioneer voyages of exploration and discovery made by eighteenth century navigators, who sailed the Straits of Juan de Fuca looking for the mythical Northwest passage from the Pacific to the Atlantic.

LEGISLATURE MARKS BIRTH OF B.C. 67 YEARS AGO TO-DAY

Members Wear Douglas Fir in Memory of First Governor Sworn in Nov. 19, 1858

Oliver Tells Province's Vast Development Since Early Days of Colony

British Columbia's birthday is being observed to-day at the Parliament Buildings. All the members are wearing sprigs of Douglas fir, the emblem of the day, and by order of Mr. Speaker, Buckingham similar foliage decorates each desk in the Legislative chamber.

When the House met to-day Premier Oliver called attention to the fact that on November 19, 1858, Sir James Douglas, then Governor of Vancouver Island, was sworn in as Governor of British Columbia, at Fort Langley, Matthew Baillie Begbie took oath of office as chief justice, the exclusive trading privileges of the Hudson's Bay Company were revoked, and English common and statute law became the law of the land. He pictured the wonderful development that had taken place in the space of sixty-seven years, and declared that the future for the country was bright.

R. H. Pooley, Opposition Leader, a native son of British Columbia, responded. He paid his tribute to the memory of Sir James Douglas, as a man and Empire builder, outlining the work that he had undertaken and accomplished for the common good and advancement of the Empire. He also spoke of Chief Justice Begbie and told how his father had been registrar for many years in the Chief Justice's court, relating several anecdotes of British Columbia's pioneer jurist.

700 LOST LIVES IN GREAT STORM ON COAST OF INDIA

GOVERNMENT NOT BACKING WINE SALE WITH BEER BUT MEMBERS MAY OPEN ISSUE

No move to open the sale of wines as well as beer in licensed beer parlors will be sponsored by the Government, Attorney-General Manson announced to-day, following the publication of reports that the Government planned to broaden present regulations in this way.

Nothing of the sort has been considered," Mr. Manson declared emphatically. "I have not even had time to consider any amendments to the Liquor Act yet but certainly the idea of allowing the sale of wines under license has not been contemplated."

While the Government has no intention of starting the sale of wine with beer under license, it is generally understood that private members will attempt to bring about this change by amendments to the Liquor Act. The Act presumably will be opened again before the session is over to permit of minor changes, and this will provide the necessary opportunity for advocates of wine sale to propose the broadening of existing regulations. It is known that some members are strongly in favor of the sale of wine by the glass, asserting that this departure would aid the loganberry wine business of the Province.

If the wine question is opened up in this way other members will demand that the existing regulations covering the sale of beer be altered to permit the sale of refreshments and tobacco in beer parlors.

GRAND JURY DEFENDS WONG CASE RULING

Vancouver Body Says no Evidence For True Bill Was Presented

Statement is Answer to Reports of Speech of Attorney-General

Vancouver, Nov. 19.—Answering the statement made by Hon. A. M. Manson, Attorney-General of British Columbia, in the Legislature that the grand jury which tried the murder charge against Wong Foon Sing should have returned a true bill, the grand jury, in its presentment to Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald, who conducted the sittings, replied that it had no evidence that a crime had been committed and no evidence connecting the Chinaman with a crime.

"We are according to press reports that the Hon. the Attorney-General has criticized in the Legislative Assembly the finding of the grand jury in the Wong Foon case," read the report, submitted by Benjamin Dickinson, foreman. "The Attorney-General questions the returning of a 'no bill' in this case while, at the same time, expressing his opinion no jury would have convicted Wong Foon Sing."

"CLEAR DIRECTIONS

"The directions received from your Lordship were clear and concise. The grand jury must not try the case. Your duty, you said, is to find out on the evidence adduced by the crown whether a crime has been committed. If the evidence is inadequate to establish the duty of the grand jury is to return a true bill."

"Every witness called by the crown was carefully examined by the grand jury. There was no evidence to show a crime had been committed. There was no evidence connecting Wong Foon Sing with a crime. The grand jury had no option but to return a no bill."

"STREET ACCIDENTS

After pointing out there were a number of manslaughter cases arising out of deaths caused by automobile accidents at the assize, the grand jury stated:

R. C. WATSON MAY SEEK COMPENSATION

Counsel Considering Legal Means of Recovering Money For Incarceration

Vancouver, Nov. 19.—Ross C. Watson may yet enter the legal lists with police authorities in a battle to secure compensation for his incarceration and heavy legal expenses incurred during his six-months' fight for freedom. W. E. Burns, his counsel, is still considering possible methods of attack, although he explains the former Seattle detective, acquitted of the Nanaimo bank robbery charge, is not the least bit vindictive.

"Watson is more concerned with re-establishing himself in life than he is interested in securing his costs from the police authorities," Mr. Burns explained to-day.

$200,000 Fire To-day In Philadelphia

Philadelphia, Nov. 19.—Fire early to-day badly damaged three buildings in the business section of Germantown, causing a loss of approximately $200,000. WESTERN CANADA WILL BE ONE OF THREE TERRITORIAL DIVISIONS OF NEW DOMINION BOARD OF TRADE

Winnipeg, Nov. 19.—Details of the organization of the first Dominion Board of Trade, decided on yesterday by the delegates to the National Economic Conference here, will be undertaken by a committee consisting of representatives of the boards of trade of London, Hamilton, Montreal (two boards), and Toronto. The deliberations of this provisional body will be reported to every affiliated organization before final action is taken. In the interim, the Dominion body will function through the agency of the Ottawa Board of Trade.

It is proposed ultimately to divide the country into three regions—Maritime Provinces, Central and Western Canada—and when a fixed representation is agreed upon for the three divisions, a meeting will be called for the election of permanent officers and organization of an independent staff.

Adoption of the resolution calling for the permanent organization of a Dominion Board of Trade was the signal for an outburst of spontaneous enthusiasm at yesterday afternoon's session of the National Economic Conference here.

Mr. Dawson, president of the Montreal Board of Trade, explained, would be to act as the business intelligence of the Dominion, operating continuously and giving constant thought to the many problems of the country as they might arise.

ILL IN ENGLAND; QUEEN MOTHER ALEXANDRA

Queen Mother Alexandra, mother of King George, is critically ill from a heart attack.

Alexandra's Physicians Announced Critical Condition of Royal Patient To-day

December 1 Eighty-first Birthday of Mother of King George

London, Nov. 19.—Dowager Queen Alexandra, mother of King George, is critically ill from a heart attack.

The Queen, whose 81st birthday will fall on December 1 next, suffered the attack this morning.

A statement issued from Sandringham Castle this afternoon reads:

"Her Majesty Queen Alexandra, who for some time past has been failing in health, suffered a severe heart attack this morning. Her Majesty's condition is critical.

(Signed) "F. G. Williams, Thomas Horder."

Queen Alexandra's condition was unchanged at 6 o'clock this evening.

A message from Sandringham received at Marlborough House to-night stated no further bulletins would be issued regarding the royal patient's condition until after the doctors had visited her to-morrow at 10 a.m.

FIRST STATEMENT

This afternoon's announcement by the physicians was the first intimation the public had the aged queen was not in her usual health. As the evening newspapers containing the news appeared in the streets, great crowds rushed to buy them for no member of the royal family in the history of the Empire has had a firmer place in the hearts of the people than Queen Alexandra.

MANY VISITS

The Queen Mother has had constant visits from members of the royal family in her retirement. One of the first acts of the Prince of Wales upon his return to the United Kingdom was to visit his grandmother, with whom he has been a great favorite.

As far as is known officially, the presence of the King and Queen Mary at Sandringham to-day had nothing to do with any anticipated crisis, being merely one of their customary visits.

RUMOR LAST JUNE

It is recalled Queen Alexandra was reported late in June to have developed heart trouble and that a rumor of her death circulated in London on October 16.

The grave nature of to-day's official statement has led London to expect the worst in view of her advanced age.

LIVED IN RETIREMENT

Queen Alexandra's strength has been failing for a long time and for a considerable period she has been living in the quiet of Sandringham. While able on most days to take rides in the country, her health has been so poor she has been forced to abandon her visits to London.

More than a year ago it was announced she would not appear at any further public functions, and last year for the first time she was unable to appear on Alexandra Rose Day, which had long been a feature of her life.

AMERICAN LEGISLATORS TO VISIT HOUSE HERE

Members of the Washington State Legislature, now in session in Olympia, Washington, will visit the British Columbia Legislature on November 25, United States Thanksgiving Day, according to word received here to-day.

Some of American legislators are anxious to view the procedure in a British parliament, it is understood, and will be warmly welcomed here.

TRAVELERS ON NEW B.C. HIGHWAY MUST PAY TOLL CHARGES

Only Residents Along Trans-provincial Road Will be Exempted From Small Levy

Tourists using the new Trans-Provincial Highway when it is completed next year will have to pay a small toll to the Government under regulations drafted by the Public Works Department for approval by the Legislature. It was announced to-day. The amount of the toll has not been fixed yet, but it will be substantial enough to place its collection well worth while, it was stated officially. All money (Cancelled on page 2.)

FACTIONS FOUGHT IN CHEMNITZ, GERMANY

One Man Killed; Many Heads Broken; Fascism Was Cause of Violent Dispute

Cheumnitz, Saxony, Germany, Nov. 19.—A thousand beer glasses, 500 coffee cups and 500 tables and chairs were used as arguments with smashing effect in a discussion of the topic, "Lenine or Hitler," staged by local Fascists last evening. (Hitler is the Bavarian Fascist leader.)

When the beer mug battle was over, sixty of the participants required bandages and one was so severely hurt he died.

When the police reached the hall many of the communists jumped through the broken windows into the garden.

The ringleaders, when arrested, were found to be armed with clubs.

PENDRAY BIDS FOR NEW GRAIN ELEVATOR HERE

Edmonton Concern Invited to Locate Proposed Terminal Elevator Here

Mayor Carl Pendray this morning opened a campaign to secure for Victoria another terminal elevator.

Informed that the Banner Elevator Company of Edmonton is making preparations to finance the construction of a large export elevator somewhere on the Pacific Coast, Mayor Pendray took prompt steps to secure consideration of Victoria as the site of the undertaking.

The following telegram has been sent the Banner Elevator Company:

"Understand you contemplate erecting elevator on coast. Would like opportunity to discuss question of your locating in Victoria. Feel we can make you more attractive proposition than you could obtain from any mainland point. Freight rates Edmonton to Victoria same as to Vancouver or New Westminster. Do you intend sending representative to Coast shortly? Will come Edmonton if desired."

Mayor Pendray is taking other measures to reinforce this telegram, and expects that Victoria will receive at least an even break in consideration of its advantages. It is pointed out that Victoria has many influential friends in Edmonton, and the announcement that this city is anxious to secure this undertaking will be taken up with vigor on her behalf by prominent Edmonton citizens.

COMMUNISTS DRIVEN FROM ITALIAN HOUSE

Fascist Deputies in Rome Rained Blows on Opponents During Disorder

Rome, Nov. 19.—The communist members of the Italian Chamber of Deputies were forcibly ejected under a rain of blows from the chamber by enraged Fascists to-day after a scuffle brought on by a speech of the communist deputy, Maffi, in protest against yesterday's demonstration in the chamber in favor of Premier Mussolini. Maffi declared yesterday's manifestation, a few days after the Premier's assassination, had represented "neither the thought nor the sentiments of the laboring masses nor the whole Italian people."

These words had hardly been uttered when Roberto Farinacci, secretary-general of the Fascist Party leaped from his seat and rushed across the floor, shouting in Maffi's face:—"When one speaks ill of the Duce, this must be the answer." The next instant he landed a blow on Maffi's face.

NATIONAL CONFERENCE DECLARES FOR NEW CANADIAN SETTLEMENT PLANS FOR FOREIGN TRADE MOVE

Winnipeg, Nov. 19.—Fifteen resolutions in all were passed by the National Economic Conference before the delegates of boards of trade and chambers of commerce closed their sessions here last night.

The fifteen resolutions were passed by the delegates without a sign of opposition or discord. Several other resolutions of more controversial nature, including one relating to the reorganization of the Hudson Bay Railway and taxation of publicly-owned utilities, were referred to the newly-formed Dominion Board of Trade for consideration and report.

During the final session the assembly listened to exhaustive discussion of national taxation and economy and Empire-trade relations and the appeal of a group of prairie delegates for the declaration of the Hudson Bay Railway as a national obligation.

The grand jury deplores the increasing number of accidents on the streets, directly attributable to motor cars. While fully realizing the increasing difficulties of the traffic authorities in coping with this danger, we are of opinion that in cases where an accident is caused by a person proved to be under the influence of drink such conduct should be considered an aggravation of the offence and the punishment made heavier in consequence.

Our morning "punch" is far from peeling. What you need's "the Kruschen feeling."

"Who's been Missing His Kruschen?"

Grandpa: At last! Caught in the act! Bill: What do you mean? What act? Grandpa: For weeks I've longed to meet the lad with the nerve to clock in 35 minutes late for days on end. Bill: Nerve, you call it? It's a cruel handicap, that's what it is, with me on piece-work. Grandpa: But what's the reason? Surely it's hardly in your own interest to straggle in like this day after day. Bill: You know how it is. A chap feels that heavy in the morning it's a regular toil and labour to turn out and get down to it. Grandpa: Sleepy after dinner too, I'll be bound. Come, come, there's no earthly excuse for this. The reason's plain. Bill: Then p'raps you'll just explain it. Grandpa: Nothing easier. Who's been missing his Kruschen? Bill: Kruschen? Why, the wife fairly swears by that for her rheumatism. But one little daily dose's enough in one house, that's what I say. And anyway, I haven't got rheumatism. Grandpa: No, all you've got is a pretty well poisoned inside. Bill: Here, what are you getting at now? Grandpa: How else can you account for all this sickness and depression that'll end, as likely as not, in getting you 'the sack'? You take a leaf out of your wife's book — and a pinch out of her bottle — and you'll soon realize your little error. Bill: It does give you "that Kruschen feeling" like it says in the advertisements? Straight goods? Grandpa: Look at me, my lad. And all for the price of a package of smokes per month! Bill: Then blow me if I don't get a bottle of my own!

Kruschen Salts Good Health for Half a Cent a Day

The ingredients of Kruschen Salts are necessary for healthy life. Your body must of necessity extract these ingredients from somewhere, or you could not live. If you led an ideally healthy life in the open air, with plenty of exercise and no worries, your body would extract these vital salts from your food. But the artificial life you lead prevents this. Hence the need for the "little daily dose" of Kruschen, which, unlike any other saline preparation, is a scientific combination of the six salts your body needs for its proper health. As much as will come in a 10 cent piece every morning, tasteless in your breakfast cup of coffee or tea, expels all clogging waste matter, purifies and invigorates your blood, and sets you all a-tingle with "that Kruschen feeling." Every drug-store sells Kruschen. A 10 cent bottle contains 160 doses, nearly enough for six months. Get a bottle to-day and begin a new life to-morrow. It's the "little daily dose" that does it. Tasteless in Tea or Coffee.

MINISTER ADVOCATES SUPERVISED GAMES Help Form Boys' Character, Says Rev. A. H. Sovereign

Special to The Times Duncan, Nov. 18.—Many missed a decided treat when they failed to attend St. John's Hall on Tuesday evening to hear the Rev. A. H. Sovereign, M.A., B.D., F.R.G.S., rector of St. Mark's Church, Vancouver, give his lecture on "The Home, The School and The Church," given under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher Association. Mr. Sovereign is a fluent impressive speaker with a telling personality and his lecture was full of interest throughout. He emphasized particularly the need for supervised games. The school grounds played a most important part in the training of the child, he said. He talked of the playing fields of Eton and Oxford, which he had been privileged to see before the war, and how there, any boy or man would rather lose a game than win by a doubtful trick. He told of the Arabs who, when they wish to show that they are telling the exact truth, take this oath: "By the English word I say that this is true." A boy when he becomes a man does not take on new ideals of honesty, they are what are in him. A teacher is remembered more by his personality than what he teaches, and a child will play the game in the spirit which he has caught, not learned, from his teacher. A very hearty vote of thanks was tendered to Mr. Sovereign. Songs by Mrs. W. Dolson and Mrs. Keatley were enjoyed and the singing of the National Anthem brought the entertainment to a close.

The saws started about three weeks ago. The dry kilns and planing mills will operate this week. The resaw and a number of other small devices are at work. A huge haul is in waiting for pulp wood. The hog fuel conveyor is not yet complete. The sawmill (No. 45) hogs to pulverize the wood refuse to make the chips. Mrs. Neslin and Miss Irene Neslin are holidaying in Vancouver for a few days. Miss Grace Murray has returned home from a pleasant visit to friends in the Capital City. Miss Clara Cava is spending a few days in Victoria. The many friends of Miss Hazel Cathcart will be sorry to hear she is a patient in Chemainus Hospital.

TWO MURDERERS EXECUTED IN BOMBAY Put to Death To-day For Killing Abdul Kadir Bawla, Rich Merchant

Bombay, India, Nov. 18.—Two of the men convicted of murdering Abdul Kadir Bawla, rich Mohammedan merchant and protector of the dandies, were executed to-day. They were Shafi Ahmed, a sergeant-major of the mounted police maintained by the Maharajah of Indore, and Shamur Raghoe, a captain in the Indore air force. The third condemned man, an officer of the Maharajah's household named Fonde, is confined in an insane asylum. Three other men were sentenced last May to deportation for life. Mumtaz Begum, once the favorite dancing girl of the maharajah, escaped from her confinement and was given protection by Bawla. Melbourne, Nov. 18.—(Canadian Press via Reuters).—There is intense interest in the ding-dong struggle between Mr. Not a Government candidate, and Edward G. Theodore, former Premier of Queensland, for a federal constituency. The returns received so far give Mr. Not a majority of 52, but there are 4,000 votes to be counted and Mr. Theodore still hopes to be returned. The former Premier of Queensland admits the result of the Federal election is very disappointing and attributes the defeat of the Labor candidates to misrepresentation in his own riding, he said, he had to fight attacks by both Nationalists and Communists. Some of the workers voted against me, he stated, because I am not a Communist and others voted against me because they believed the Nationalists and that I associated with Communists. Mr. Theodore resigned the premiership of Queensland to run as a Labor candidate in the Federal election.

Boy of Fourteen On Prairie Faces Trial For Murder

Saskatoon, Nov. 18.—Joe Kazowski, fourteen, was committed for trial on a charge of murdering his step-mother, Mrs. Mary Kazowski, thirty-five, following a preliminary hearing in North Battleford yesterday. The hearing followed an inquest from which the public and press were barred. The woman was shot as she was sleeping beside her husband Monday night on the latter's farm near Highgate.

TWO MEN KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Salt Lake City, Nov. 18.—Webster Nichols, twenty-one, and "Red" Wood, twenty-two, lost their lives, and Glenn Player, twenty-two, is lying in a hospital in a critical condition as a result of a railroad crossing accident at Bennion, ten miles south of this city. According to eyewitnesses, the young men were driving in a light automobile and attempted to beat a train of the Salt Lake and Utah Electric to the crossing.

Speed Shown by Returning Officers Indicates Session of Parliament in December

Ottawa, Nov. 18.—One hundred and eight members of the new House of Commons, including Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader, were officially gazetted in a special issue of The Canada Gazette published yesterday. Thirty-four members were gazetted last week, so the total number of members of whose return official notice has appeared is now 142. The rapidity with which the returns are being made and members gazetted is an indication Parliament will meet about the middle of December. British Columbia members gazetted are: Hon. J. H. King, Kootenay East; Hon. S. F. Tolmie, Victoria; Hon. H. H. Stevens, Vancouver Centre; L. Ladner, Vancouver South. The total membership of the House is 245.

Steady Publicity Will Stimulate Immigration, Says Beatty C.P.R. President Speaker at Boards of Trade Conference

Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 18.—"I confidently expect a revival in British immigration to Canada in 1926, due to steady publicity and the facilitating of admissions arising out of the new arrangements between the Canadian Government and the railways," said E. W. Beatty, Montreal, president of the Dominion Pacific Railway, who arrived here last night to address the delegates attending the economic conference at the banquet this evening. "There is no general tendency in Great Britain to deny Canada," said Mr. Beatty, "but we have not been as insistent as we should in pressing the demand that the country, or, until recently, to affect the adverse propaganda there, most of which has had nothing whatever to do with Canada as a desirable place to live in."

RAILWAY SITUATION

Discussing the railway situation of the Dominion, Mr. Beatty stated that he considered an aggressive immigration policy as a condition precedent to any substantial improvement in railway earnings. "Industrial expansion," said he, "will naturally follow increased population and all transportation agencies are anxious to see that through. The present population coupled with industrial activity, in the present condition of things, the economies due to cutting out unnecessary duplication of services will, of course, scarcely be as substantial as most people expect, but everything that can be properly done in that way will represent a saving and to that extent is desirable."

FOUR POOL URGED FOR WESTERN CANADA

Winnipeg, Nov. 18.—Formation of a Western Canadian flour pool by the farmers was advocated by J. J. Gibbons, Toronto, advertising manager during an interview. "If the Western farmers can operate a wheat pool successfully as it appears they are doing, they can also extend and operate a flour pool, and that is undoubtedly what should be done if they are to receive the real price for producing the finest wheat in the world," said Mr. Gibbons. Referring to the value of the first three grades of Western wheat in the making of flour, Mr. Gibbons said: "The farmer should see that he gets the proper price for these grades. At the present, he is not doing this, but is selling these grades to other countries, permitting them to gain the benefit by mixing these high grade wheats with their inferior ones and so getting a market for their flour. Without our grain they could not gain an export market, especially if Canada were turning her own high grades exclusively into flour herself through the making of a flour pool. The formation of a flour pool on the lines laid down would, said Mr. Gibbons, lead to Canada controlling the export flour trade, which would need to worry about tariff, for then they would be receiving a real price for their wheat."

TWO HUNTERS IN ONTARIO DROWNED

Toronto, Nov. 18.—George Rogers and George Winslow of the Clarina district are believed to have lost their lives in Kankadomog Lake, and a party led by Thomas and David Drain, who accompanied the two men on a hunting trip, is searching for them. The canoe in which Rogers and Winslow were in a camp, but died across the lake was found floating upside down in the water with the bodies of two dogs chained to it. The Drain brothers were with Rogers and Winslow in a camp, but left them on Monday morning. On their return their companions had gone and a search resulted in the finding of their canoe. HUNTING FATALITY Pembroke, Ont., Nov. 18.—R. Hennessy, of Chertseyville, Ontario, was accidentally killed in the hunting district five miles West of Chalk River yesterday when a bullet from a gun in the hands of D. Cassels, also of Chertseyville, his hunting companion, entered his abdomen. The men had been hunting companions for twenty years.

EXCITEMENT IN TORONTO

Toronto, Nov. 18.—Police bullets were necessary to stop a bull which ran amok in Toronto streets yesterday after escaping from a slaughterhouse.

MAHARG CHALLENGES POOL DIRECTORS

Nokomis, Sask., Nov. 18 (By Canadian Press).—A challenge to the directors of the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool to produce any valid reason why pool ownership of elevators is necessary and a statement that the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company "would continue to handle pool grain under any circumstances," featured an address here to-day by Hon. J. A. Maharg, president of the elevator company. "A subtle type of propaganda is being spread about the country aimed to undermine the morals of the shareholders of the company in the matter of the safety of their financial interests in the 'coop,'" Mr. Maharg declared. "They are told that the assets of the company will be worthless if the pool duplicates the 'coop's' facilities. The company would be able to continue paying interest on its capital even if the pool build an elevator alongside the 'coop' at every one of the 450 points in Saskatchewan now served by the co-operative elevator company. "The company would continue to handle pool grain under any circumstances. It would also handle non-pool grain as heretofore. The handling of grain will always be a competitive business and the excellence of the 'coop' service will always assure to it a substantial percentage of the total business. "Mr. Maharg asked careful consideration of the proposals of the pool directors to spend millions in the construction of elevators throughout the province." He questioned statements that ownership of elevators was necessary to the life of the pool, Mr. Maharg continued: "The president of the Saskatchewan pool has stated that the idea of the pool farmer is that of making it difficult as possible for the non-pool farmer to market his grain. I do not believe that a view so unfair is held by the pool farmers. "The present policy of the pool fort was being made to eliminate the elevator company not by proving the superiority of the pool method of marketing but by absorption. The elevator company, he said, was giving the pool every opportunity to prove its superiority and he pointed out that pool grain is being handled through co-operative elevators on the basis of cost to the grower. "Until the pool system of marketing is proved," he concluded, "the 'coop' will continue to serve all the farmers of the province." Mr. Maharg charged that an effort

A REMARKABLE RECORD

ONE OF THE MOST IMPORTANT ELEMENTS in the observance of an anniversary such as that which is being celebrated to-day is its educational value. This is especially the case in the commemoration of British Columbia's birthday as a colony.

British Columbia's progress under many heads in the sixty-seven years since it became a colony has been remarkable. Notwithstanding the fact that for many years it was cut off from direct transportation communication with the East and that its physical characteristics made settlement difficult and costly, its growth in population and industry has been one of the outstanding features of Canada's record of development.

It is unnecessary to review in detail our progress in the development of our natural resources. We lead the Dominion in the production of fisheries. We are second among the provinces in the products of our mines. We have half the entire merchantable timber of the Dominion.

LEAVING IT TO GEORGE

MUCH IS TO BE LEARNED FROM THE Canadian Pacific Railway president's diagnosis of one of the maladies from which this country is suffering. Here are a few pointed and self-explanatory sentences from his address to the delegates who are attending the economic conference in Winnipeg:

There is a tendency, particularly around election time, to blame whatever Government may be in power for its alleged inefficiency or inactivity in carrying out programmes in which the public is interested. It sometimes occurs to me that we are too apt to blame the Government for not doing what we ought to do ourselves.

How a good deal is being left to George in British Columbia is manifested in the Legislature by tactics frequently indulged in by members of the Opposition. If half the time expended on purely frivolous criticism were to be devoted to constructive debate, this Province would benefit very materially in a short space of time.

HOW GOOD OF HIM!

APPARENTLY EX-KING MANUEL IS getting rather tired of William-Hohenzollern and former Ferdinand of Bulgaria getting the greater part of that publicity which is now devoted to one-time monarchs. He has jumped into front-page prominence in quite a novel and entertaining way.

WHAT BRITAIN MISSED

AT YESTERDAY'S SESSION OF THE economic conference in Winnipeg Mr. H. O. Bell-Irving from British Columbia and Mr. H. F. Cockshutt from Ontario roundly scored the British policy of free trade and said it ought to have been scrapped twenty-five years ago.

What a variety of pitfalls successive governments during that period might have avoided if they had known that this talent was going to waste! What further heights of commercial supremacy could not have been reached! But how were the eight Prime Ministers who have presided over Britain's affairs since 1900 to know of this willingness to advise and encourage them? It was impossible; so they merely had to rely upon the instructions of the British taxpayer and let it go at that.

How refreshing to turn from the querulousness of these two to the constructive case presented by Mr. Travers Sweatman, K.C., of the Winnipeg Board of Trade! His prescription for such of Canada's economic and other ills as he believes them to exist is a spirit of unity and co-operation, liberally mixed with an aggressive bid for business in the markets of the world.

It is interesting to note that the Mr. Cockshutt who says Great Britain is tottering because she refuses to tax certain articles for the benefit of a few high protectionists in this country is prominent among the Tory tom-tom beaters who, in every election, claim for their party a monopoly of devotion to the British connection.

MUSSOLINI SETS A NEW PACE

IT IS ASTONISHING HOW QUICKLY men who challenge democratic institutions and dress themselves up in black shirts or nightshirts thrive for a time on the novelty they create and then look around for more worlds to conquer.

INCREASING BUSINESS

CANADIAN TRADE FIGURES FOR THE seven months ending October 31 are encouraging. An increase of $197,000,000 over the corresponding period of the last fiscal year is an indication of excellent progress and furnishes a striking contrast to the "blues" with which Conservative politicians afflicted themselves for party purposes during the recent Federal election campaign.

In the light of these continuous increases in the country's business it follows that the policies which are enabling us to sell more and buy less are the policies which are essential to Canada's development and commercial expansion. Nor is the persistent improvement in conditions reflected only by figures issued by one government department.

IDLE MEN LEAVING THE STATES

VANCOUVER CITY COUNCIL IS TAKING stock of relief work that it may find necessary to offer to men who drift this way during the coming winter months. The Daily Province reports a meeting of the Civic Relief Committee and includes this information in the item:

Relief Officer G. D. Ireland stated that from information reaching him, one-third of the men now coming into the city without means are coming in from the United States points and they are reaching the railway at Field, he was informed.

Not very many days ago Conservative newspapers—the Vancouver Daily Province included—were telling their readers that hundreds of thousands of Canadians had gone to the United States to find work. They emphasized it by saying that they would continue to migrate as long as the King Government remained in office.

The statement of Mr. Ireland quoted above rather suggests that the worker in the United States is putting more reliance in the frequent reports of British Columbia's prosperity—which Conservative newspapers were running in columns almost parallel with their tales of depopulation—in political propaganda. In any event we presume our Conservative contemporaries on the Mainland will agree that idle men would not come North if they could obtain work in the South during the winter months.

V.O.N. SUPERVISOR MAKES TOUR OF WESTERN BRANCHES

Miss Hall Believes in Co-operation of All Public Health Work in Isolated Districts

"Canada's greatest need to-day is for the correlation of all the public health work, for the various Provincial departments of health and the voluntary agencies to confer and co-operate with a view to securing the most effective administration of health work in the isolated communities."

This was the opinion expressed this morning by Miss Bertha E. Hall, assistant superintendent of the Victorian Order of Nurses, who is here from Ottawa for a special course in public health nursing appointed by the Provincial Board of Health to the Cowichan district, with headquarters at Duncan. She was appointed to open up this work at Duncan in 1920, but resigned in the following year to go East to Columbia University where she took a special course in public health nursing and acquired her B. Sc. degree.

At the conclusion of her course, Miss Hall returned to Duncan and remained there for six months, during which time she was appointed to the position of assistant superintendent and was appointed one month after the appointment of Miss Smellie as Dominion Superintendent. Miss Hall's present trip is of a supervisory nature. She is visiting the nine centres in the West, including Winnipeg, Saskatoon, Edmonton, Calgary, Victoria, Greater Vancouver, North Vancouver, New Westminster and Burnaby. In each district she makes a survey of all the health and social factors and conditions and reports to the local Board of Health. In this way the standard of the work is kept up and the local branches are given help and encouragement.

287 NURSES IN ORDER To-day there are 287 nurses in the Order and sixty centres. The bedside number, thirty-three centres are in Ontario, and it is interesting to note that out of every twelve babies born in Ontario last year, one was brought into the world by the aid of the V.O.N. Last year Victorian Order Nurses contributed to public service in Canada in the neighborhood of 800,000 visits, broken up as follows: 335,508 nursing visits; including 56,101 free nursing visits; 30,892 pre-natal visits; 61,918 infant welfare visits; 17,230 social service visits; attendance at confinements 11,650; night visits 16,339.

NURSING AND INSTRUCTION While the Order started fundamentally as a voluntary agency for bedside nursing, its scope has widened tremendously to meet the growing advance in the public interest in health and hygiene. The bedside work is still the main factor, but with it the nurses are now able to do invaluable instructional and preventive work in the homes. Their entry into the home gives them an opportunity for the dissemination in a receptive atmosphere of invaluable advice as to the care of children, and in many cases, to pre-natal and post-natal care.

Where there is no other public health nurse or voluntary agency, the V.O. nurse combines her home and family visiting with school nursing, T.B. care, and similar work. More of this work could be done in the isolated districts were the necessary funds available. But at present many outpost hospitals are being run by the Red Cross, while the Provincial Departments of Health also send out district nurses. Close co-operation of these agencies with the V.O.N. would, in Miss Hall's opinion, give opportunity for much greater service to the scattered communities. Miss Hall expects to remain in Victoria until Monday next when she will make her report to the local Board, after which she will proceed to Vancouver.

London Puzzled About What to Do With Wembley

London, Nov. 19.—The question now is, what is to become of Wembley? The matter has been the subject of discussion between the Exhibition authorities and the Prime Minister. If to the present overdraft is added the cost of maintaining Wembley during last winter and the cost of dismantling it, there will be a very large debit balance. If the assets were realized this debit would be greatly reduced, but it is pretty certain that the guarantors will have to be called upon to a considerable extent.

The question as to whether any part of Wembley should be continued as a permanent Empire Exhibition will probably be decided by the guarantors themselves, for since they pay the piper they have a right to call the tune. The matter is for the moment in abeyance, pending the statement of the views of the Government as the largest guarantor.

Obviously, some part of Wembley such as the Stadium—must remain, and it may well be argued that some of the buildings should be continued as a permanent exhibition of Empire products. There is also a strong popular feeling that the Tatree, which has profoundly impressed the country, should be staged as an annual event. Credit for that magnificent spectacle seems not yet to have been allocated. Its success was due to the fact that every detail was part of a carefully realized and most imaginative scheme, and the ordinary man would like to know who was the precise author of that scheme.

"Does Last Longer" Oxford to Expunge Architectural Blots By Razing Slums

London, Nov. 19.—Historically the most important entrance to Oxford is from the South, for there in Saxontimes was that double fold over the river which was the main route between Wessex, the Midlands and the North.

At present this entrance is almost the shabbiest. Coming from the East, the city begins with the noble tower of Magdalen; and from the North, broad roads lead into the tree-lined place of St. Giles. But from the South, after crossing Folly Bridge, of one of the most beautiful pieces of architecture in the country, but at present it is impossible to see it, though a glimpse may be had from the Great Western Railway just before the train reaches Oxford station.

The South facade of Tom Quad, which contains the Great Hall, is one of the most beautiful pieces of architecture in the country, but at present it is impossible to see it, though a glimpse may be had from the Great Western Railway just before the train reaches Oxford station.

For the traveler, after crossing Folly Bridge, will see on his left nothing but the greenery of meadows, and beyond, the great lift of Christ Church towers.

"Bread Givers" takes up the old situation of an immigrant family in which new world children grow away from old world parents. Here is introduced Reb Smolinsky, learned in the holy Torah, childishly impractical, inflexible in domestic discipline. The three daughters in turn are crushed under the father's domination. The youngest, Sara, nicknamed "Blood and Iron" in infancy, fights for her own life. She grows up into self-control and cleanliness and sympathy. The process is painful. Her strivings sometimes make one's flesh creep. But she emerges as definitely a person in her world.

"MR. PETRIE," written by Hillaire Belloc and illustrated by G. K. Chesterton, is a hilarious (pun unintentional) novel dealing with the adventures of a man who loses his memory just as his ship reaches England from America. He wanders to a hotel, is mistaken for a world-famous financier and has all sorts of adventures, not the least of which is his amassing of a fortune of some $15,000,000 solely on his reputation. The book contains, incidentally, a scorpion-like satire on the uses of credit and the workings of big business, and is altogether delightful.

THE Octavus Roy Cohen, writer of short stories, is changed as a writer of full-length novels. The smoothness of style that makes his short stories race along is absent in the longer tale.

"The Iron Chalice" is no exception to this rule. The plot is from Faust. A young man, who thinks he is beaten, takes out an insurance policy for $100,000, and for that is given $20,000 and one year. At the end of that time he is to kill himself. One gets the impression that Cohen just discovered the word "impalpable" and has grown fond of it. He pats it like a baby and repeats it over and over. The book succeeds as light reading if you want to be amused.

There has recently been considerable agitation in England relating to the conditions under which figs and raisins are packed in Smyrna and other Turkish countries from which much of this dried fruit is exported into England. As yet apparently no very definite answer to the questions involved has been given. It has been discovered that very often the figs carried in packing—these fruits are diseased and unclean. It has been shown that the fruit itself is often far from clean. The question that arises is whether or not the man engaged in packing—these fruits are diseased and unclean—disinfects and whether the filth that certainly carries with it is actually injurious. So many of the good things that English people eat contain raisins or sultanas or dried fruit of some sort that comes from Smyrna that they really ought to know just what the conditions are.

For our own part, here in the United States, what ought we to do? You may have observed that recipes for cake or pudding calling for raisins and other similar fruits almost always stipulate that it should be thoroughly washed and picked over. Sometimes in our haste we overlook this, feeling no doubt that any food that comes to us in neat packages must be clean. This we ought not to overlook. If you like you can soak the fruit for a time and in this way free it from all dirt that might have adhered to it. Almost always, of course, the dishes in which these fruits are used are cooked and this of course would serve to sterilize it.

Another precaution you might take is to buy nothing but the better sort of fruits and whenever possible fruit that is grown and packed in our own country, where of course the conditions of packing are quite satisfactory.

KIRKLAND DEAL IS SIGNED UP

Rich Atlin Mine Control Passes to New York; Discoverer Made Rich

The deal whereby the Kirkland gold mine in Atlin will pass to Wall Street interests close to the Engineer mine people, was completed here yesterday afternoon when Thomas Kirkland, Alaska pioneer, who has held the property for quarter of a century, signed the agreement. Major A. R. Ross, who brought the papers here from New York, left an hour after the signature was attached on the boat for Seattle, and his return to New York with the agreements.

Under the agreement the New York bankers will put between $1,000,000 and $1,500,000 into the mine, which adjoins the Engineer mine, now owned and being developed by a New York and Philadelphia group. A small number of Victoria friends, many of them old-timers of the North, are associated in the Kirkland with Mr. Kirkland. Under the terms of the agreement they are all guaranteed per cent for their holdings, which they obtained at small fractional prices.

The human interest feature of the deal, Major Ross said was that it practically made a millionaire out of Mr. Kirkland, who was one of the pioneers of '88 in the North, and has spent almost all his active life on the trail and in prospecting camps.

PAINLEVE'S PLAN IS BEFORE CHAMBER

Premier Tells French Deputies Finances Must be Remade at Once

Paris, Nov. 18.—Premier Painleve took the floor in the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon and declared the chamber must finally decide between a procrastinating financial policy and an immediate settlement of the financial situation. The country could wait no longer.

Replying to his critics, the Premier declared they had no projects to offer. His proposals, he said, had at least the merits that they really existed.

COLUMBIA PICTURE SLASHING ATTACK ON MODERN ROAD HOUSE

The old-fashioned salon is gone, but in its place has come the modern roadhouse, where heavy-lipped youths steal in with wide-eyed, rosy-ringed girls.

One of the important episodes in "Broken Laws" the splendid photograph of Mother Love and Law, produced by Mrs. Wallace Reid, deals with such a roadhouse. In "Broken Laws" at the Columbia

There is much drinking and dancing and hilarity and in the midst of it Bobby's mother and Patsy's father unexpectedly appear in search of their children. Patsy is hustled off home and Bobby, pursuing her father's car in his own speedy roadster, crashes into a vegetable wagon, killing an aged woman.

"BYNG BOYS" PROVES GREATEST SUCCESS OF COLISEUM COMPANY

Frank Allwood can stake his reputation as a manager, George Olsen as stage director, and Will Marshall as comedian on the "Byng Boys in Barcelona" this week at the Coliseum, and they will come through with honors. It is without a doubt the greatest feat of comedy ever offered in this city with more laughs to the minute. Will Marshall, although he would not be recognized in his role this week so different is it from his usual parts, scores the greatest success of his career. He is the other Byng boy with George Olsen and the partnership works wonderfully. They both have some first-class songs and the duet which George sings with Eva Hart is another fine contribution. The former member of the Brandon Operatic Company, who is also the stage director at the Coliseum, has found a perfect way to use his wonderful voice in

HUNGARIAN ACTRESS IN DOMINION PICTURE CLEVER HORSEWOMAN

"How few ladies are familiar with the side saddle to-day!" Thus exclaimed George Fitzman, vice while engaged in filming his latest screen production, "The Dark Angel," which is booked as a First National attraction at the Dominion Theatre this week. "The sequence we were making," he explained later, "portrays an English fox hunt. We were anxious to secure the most expert riders obtainable. 'The girls of to-day,' he continued, 'with their flaps for all things masculine, have, of course, adopted the other saddle and ride astride. Few of them know what a side saddle is. In reality, it is much easier to ride, and the equestrienne cuts a much more graceful figure.' 'Our great surprise was the first appearance of our leading lady, Vilma Banky, seated upon her horse. She is the charming young Hungarian actress recently discovered by my associate, Samuel Goldwyn, in Budapest, and placed under long term contract. Her first American appearance is opposite Ronald Corman in 'The Dark Angel.' Miss Banky proved herself a most graceful horsewoman."

INTEREST IS HIGH IN "BLOSSOM TIME"

Charming Musical Gem Opens To-night at the Royal

After the dash and irritating artificiality of the usual brand of musical pieces, one cannot but feel a feeling of gratitude bounded wholly by pleasure following a performance of "Blossom Time" the charming musical gem which the Messrs. Shubert will present at the Royal Theatre to-night for a three-day engagement with a matinee on Saturday, and on Sunday at the greatest Century Theatre, New York cast. Sigmund Romberg took Franz Schubert's finest and most exquisite melodies and set them into a rich and vibrant score, for which Dorothy Donnelly wrote an appealing and interesting book. The graceful "Serenade" and the stirring "Song of Love," strains of which are found in "The Unfinished Symphony," creep in again and again during the course of the play, and the beauty of Schubert's "Ave Marie" is given sympathetic expression in "Lonely Hearts." "Blossom Time" was declared by the critics as the peerless musical triumph and the greatest musical offering of the country.

NEW SCREEN DRAMA FOR POLA NEGRI HAS DRAMATIC APPEAL

Pola Negri knocks a man unconscious because she loves him in "Flower of Night," her tempestuous new screen drama for Paramount, at the Capitol Theatre all this week. The blow, delivered with the heavy butt of a six-shooter, is the only means by which she can save his life. And she makes of the scene one of the most gripping emotional moments of her acting career. The man she loves is John Bassett (portrayed by Tom Terraviva), young assistant superintendent of the Flor de Noche gold mine. Barred in a mine shack, he attempts to fight off an attack by desperados after he has refused to yield possession of the mine.

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS WARNED TO GUARD HIS INFECTIOUS SMILE

Douglas Fairbanks, who gained world-wide fame because of his infectious smile and his ability to leap from house-top to house-top and because of his feats, is a very serious-minded person. Perhaps few stars worry over stories as much as he. When he completed "When the Clouds Roll By," he started in to all up nights with Tom Terraviva in the tremendous effort to whip his next story into scenario form. Douglas Fairbanks knows that a good story is essential to a photoplay's success nowadays, and he looks at each succeeding vehicle from every angle before deciding to put it into photoplay form. "Therefore, when he set out to whip 'The Mollycoddle' into shape, which is the title of his next 'Big Four' production, which will be shown at the Playhouse Theatre Friday and Saturday, he worried with the problem until he began to lose his smile and until he was quite a nervous young man. Then it was that his brother and manager, John Fairbanks, cautioned him to take a rest, and to forget about his next play for a few weeks.

"ABIE'S IRISH ROSE" COMING TO ROYAL NEXT WEEK

When the theatrical history of this generation is thoroughly digested and written there is one comedy that will go down to immortality. It is "Abie's Irish Rose," a Broadway success, "Abie's Irish Rose," which comes to the Royal Theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday, with a Saturday matinee, November 26, 27 and 28. "Abie's Irish Rose" is now in its fourth year at the Republic Theatre, New York, and has played for over a year at the Studebaker Theatre, Chicago. It has also played record-breaking engagements at Pittsburg, Buffalo, Cleveland, Kansas City, Washington, Baltimore, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Montreal, Toronto, Columbus, Louisville, San Francisco and Los Angeles and all other large cities. A large cast of carefully chosen New York actor artists, assisted by a bevy of pretty bridesmaids, and an exact and heavy duplication of the New York scenic production is carried in a special seventy-foot baggage car, assuring a noteworthy production of "Abie's Irish Rose."

West End Players Give Entertainment at Aged Women's Home

The West End Players, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Ruddock, Mrs. Gaiger and Mrs. Cowry, gave a delightful entertainment at the Aged Women's Home on Monday evening. At the close of the programme delicious refreshments, provided by the entertainers, were served to all and a hearty vote of thanks was accorded the players. Programme: Vocal solos, Mrs. B. Bonner, Mrs. Gaiger, Mrs. M. Graham and Miss Vivian Matthews; song and dance, Baby Edna Lowry; step dance, Mrs. H. Boyd; Dutch dances, Misses Mona and Doris Jewell; perriod dancers, the Misses May and Margaret Foyer, Enid and Jessie Ruddock, Daisy Denton, Marjorie Colby, Norma Kent and Rosalie Dale; piano solo, Mr. A. STERN MEASURES, INCLUDING STERILIZATION OF LUNATICS, PROPOSED TO CURB INSANITY

House Appoints Committee to Grapple With Grave Problem as Members Urge Stronger Eugenic Marriage Laws, Better Immigration Rules, Childless Marriages and Public Education; Huge Cost of Insanity Here Bared.

Drastic measures to halt the increase of insanity in British Columbia, including sterilization of mental defectives, childless marriages and strong eugenic marriage laws, were discussed in the Legislature yesterday when it was decided unanimously to appoint a special committee to consider the whole problem of mental disease.

The growth of mental cases in British Columbia institutions is one of the most serious questions before this Province, the Legislature was told by Mr. Sloan, who has charge of asylums, whose statement was endorsed by Dr. E. J. Rothwell, of New Westminster and Dr. H. C. Winch, of Skeena, both well-known medical men.

Mr. Sloan gave the House figures to show the increase of mental cases under state care in this Province. In 1872, he said, there were two mental cases for every 2,265 persons in the population. In 1924, there was one mental case for every 233 persons in the Province.

Dr. Rothwell pointed to the heavy cost of maintaining sub-normal children in school, where they held up the progress of the average pupils, and declared that the maintenance of mental hospitals was a small part of the expense of insanity to the state.

He warned the House, however, that it would take up to ten years to educate the public in the necessity of drastic measures to halt mental disease. Until the public was ready for it the Legislature could not put into effect strong legislation on the question, he said.

Measures to prevent the reproduction of mental defectives, Dr. Rothwell stated, were in force in ten states. California, he said, had gone furthest in the problem by appointing a state board of experts to handle it.

Dr. Winch warmly praised the work of Essondale mental home and said he was impressed particularly with the low cost of upkeep, about eighty cents a day per patient. It would pay to keep many people now at large in this home, at this price, he said, in order to prevent them propagating their kind.

AWAIT GERMAN VOTE ON LOCARNO PACT

Members of British Commons Last Night Gave Approval to Security Treaty. London, Nov. 19.—The House of Commons having last night by a vote of 375 to 13 given its sanction to the security pact formulated at Locarno for the purpose of bringing permanent peace to Europe, the expectation is that the German Reichstag will shortly follow suit and ratify it.

The adoption of the measure by the Lower House of Parliament marks somewhat of the nature of an ovation for Right Hon. Austen Chamberlain, Foreign Secretary, to whose efforts the success of the Locarno conference was largely due. In the voting a majority of the followers of Ramsay MacDonald cast their ballots with the Government, but some of them abstained from voting.

"I do not say these treaties when ratified will make war impossible," said Mr. Chamberlain, "but I do say they will render war infinitely more difficult. With these agreements in operation, it will be difficult for a signatory nation to make war without putting its position in the wrong before the civilized world and bearing the odium of such wrong doings."

It was due, said Mr. Chamberlain, to the circumstances of the various governments of the Empire that the British Government had been able to meet them before the consultations at Locarno began, but Britain had not faced with a situation not brooking delay.

Both were remanded. Montreal, Nov. 19.—Confessing he had held up the cashier of the St. Denis Theatre last Sunday night and stolen $25 at the point of an unloaded revolver, John Boyd of New York, consulting engineer and inventor, yesterday pleaded guilty to the former charge, turned King's evidence and branded A. Finlayson, the theatre engineer, as the master mind of the plot.

NEWS IN BRIEF

FARMERS FEAR NEW SURVEY COMMISSION
The case against L. Taylor, charged with passing worthless checks, was remanded in police court to-day until to-morrow.

Commissioner and Mrs. Lamb of the Salvation Army, who are on a world tour, will conduct a public meeting at the Citadel this evening. They are accompanied by Col. Tudge and Major Joy, who will also take part.

The Men's Guild of Christ Church Cathedral will meet this evening at 8 o'clock in the Memorial Hall. After a short business meeting Harry Christensen will address the members and their friends on his recent visit to Europe. Refreshments will be served.

FARMERS FEAR NEW SURVEY COMMISSION

Farmers of British Columbia are afraid that taxation proposals contained in a report of the School Survey Commission may work a hardship upon them. Hon. J. D. MacLean, Minister of Finance, was told when he conferred with the Agricultural Committee of the Legislature 10-day on taxation matters. The proposal of the Survey Commission that a four-mill school rate be levied on all personal and real property not now paying other school taxes might place a serious burden upon some farming areas in unorganized districts, it was asserted.

Dr. MacLean pointed out that there were districts in the Province with improved lands of considerable value where no school taxes were levied. He estimated the value of these improved lands at about $30,000,000. On the other hand, he said, farmers were paying school taxes of ten mills on their assessed holdings. This, the Minister stated, was considered inequitable.

The Agricultural committee urged that none of the recommendations of the Survey Commission go into effect without the advisory board of the Farmers' Institute being consulted. Dr. MacLean stated that the taxation questions in which the farmers were interested were still under consideration by the Government.

The agricultural committee is urging the Legislature to take more drastic steps to curb the influx of Orientals owning land in the Province. The House will be requested to investigate its powers to prevent Orientals owning land in the Province. A proposal along the lines of California's Oriental laws.

LAWYERS FEES REVEALED BEFORE HOUSE COMMITTEE

Seattle Attorneys Charge Over $15,000 For Beryl G. and Bank Robbery Cases

Gordon Wismer and M. B. Jackson Paid $60 a Day For Criminal Assize Work

Seattle, Vancouver and Victoria lawyers fees in recent British Columbia criminal cases came under examination before the Public Accounts Committee of the Legislature to-day. When J. W. Dixie, K.C., solicitor for the Attorney-General, and W. D. Carter, K.C., Deputy Attorney-General, were placed on the stand.

In the Nainaimo bank robbery case, Patterson and Ross, attorneys of Seattle, were paid by the B.C. Government $5,000 counsel fees and $439 expenses up to March 31 last, according to the Attorney-General's Department showed. In the Beryl G. murder cases, the same Seattle attorneys, up to March 31, were paid $7,500 counsel fees and $287 expenses. Since March 31 the Government has paid Patterson and Ross an additional $2,753.

R. H. Pooley questioned Mr. Carter as to the money well spent. Mr. Carter testified that A. M. Johnson, K.C., prosecuting attorney for the B.C. Government, had made the arrangements and could not get content and first class Seattle lawyers to undertake the work at a lower figure.

Mr. Pooley pleaded for larger fees from the Government for B.C. lawyers, declaring that if it could afford to pay these fees to Seattle attorneys, it could afford to pay them better than it does. Ian MacKenzie, chairman, said he agreed with the idea.

Examination of Mr. Johnson's costs as prosecutor revealed that he is paid no fee for his work but is paid a salary by the Liquor Control Board. "Do you think the money spent on these cases was justified?" H. F. Kergin, secretary of the committee, asked.

"If it were necessary to spend twice as much as we spent," Mr. Carter replied. "We can't have criminals from the south of the line coming and using our territory for their crimes."

The amount paid out by the B.C. Government on these cases was absolutely justified," Mr. Kergin asked Mr. Dixie.

"Yes," Mr. Dixie replied. "The criminals on the other side of the line since the Beryl G. and Nainaimo bank robbery cases think twice before they come across to try anything here."

Examining the Vancouver lawyers have been paid on criminal assize work, Mr. Pooley wanted to know why Gordon Wismer had got $75 a day when acting as Crown prosecutor, while other lawyers employed by the Government on similar work had been accepting the usual rate of $60 a day.

"He explained that Mr. Wismer had put in a bill for $75 a day, but he had cut him down to $60 and paid him that."

Mr. Pooley brought out that M. B. Jackson, K.C., had been paid the usual rate of $60 a day on the Dr. Boak manslaughter case. Mr. Pooley also brought up Dugan Denaghy's accounts. Officially explained that Mr. Denaghy had wanted $2,500 for handling four Supreme Court cases, but they cut him down to $1,500.

Mr. Pooley asked that Mr. Denaghy's accounts in the Wong case be rendered yet.

PRESIDENT LYNCH OUTLINES PROGRESS IN LABOR WORLD

Rotarians Hear of Wonderful Accomplishments of Organized Workers

President James M. Lynch of the International Typographical Union was the guest of honor of the Rotary Club at to-day's luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce, and outlined the history of trades unionism in North America. In ascribing its rise to institution of factory methods of production, he recalled that workers a century ago had little to say as to wages and hours of labor. Men, women and little children worked in the New England states from 6 in the morning until, in some cases, 9 o'clock at night.

These conditions caused the rise of the unions, the workers taking their example from British precedents. There are now 130 international unions, with over 4,000,000 members, and they have changed completely those conditions which caused them to come into being.

CHILD LABOR ENDED

Child labor prevention laws have been placed on the statute books of most states, and Mr. Lynch contended that, if the unions have done nothing else, they have justified their existence by their abolition of child slavery.

Mr. Lynch dealt briefly with the down-trodden conditions which existed in the anthracite mines prior to the two great strikes engineered by President Mitchell, who had himself labored in the mines when an eleven-year-old lad.

"You hear of these unions when they are striking for better wages and conditions."

"You do not hear of the peaceful activities of these 149 unions, the work which justifies their existence," he stated.

SOCIAL WORK

Mr. Lynch dealt with the creation of homes for aged workers by the unions, and touched upon practical work such as hospitals, a feature of many of the labor organizations.

"Working conditions in printing shops are incomparably better than the state of affairs existent twenty-five years ago," he said, touching upon the need which preceded establishment of tuberculosis sanatoria. Despite the betterment—the union finds necessary a rate of 40 cents monthly on all members, to raise $250,000 for operation of this curative service.

Mr. Lynch dealt with the pensions system of the union, now paying weekly sums to 2,500 men, an aggregate of $1,000,000 last year, while other dependents draw $500,000 yearly. "These are some of the activities of this Union, of these who you never hear. These matters are not news, they are just our everyday work," he said.

Dealing with the educational courses insisted upon by the union for apprentices, Mr. Lynch declared the object to be the raising of the skill of all workmen under his jurisdiction, so that they are able to earn, not the minimum scale of wages, but more than that amount as the best printers in the world. "We aim to assure that no man shall be the subject of charity, but shall face the world independent, and in comfort, as the result of his own industry."

President Lynch gave praise to the Victoria Typographical Union, believing it has earned the high regard of the citizenry.

President Mayhew remarked on the need for closer understanding of the problems of labor and more sympathy with the objectives of the unions.

The Liberal Association of Ward Seven, Saanich, held a regular meeting at 2838 Head Drive, Wednesday evening. President D. Ramsay, congratulated the association that new members were being enrolled, and the association was numerically stronger than any other time since its formation. This argued well for the future, as the success of the Liberal cause very largely depended on the strength and vitality of local organizations. It was decided that the annual meeting and election of office bearers would be held on the third Wednesday of January.

BURGULARS ENTER SAANICH HOME

Burglars last night broke into and robbed the home of E. A. Williams of Falmouth Road, Saanich, getting a booty of jewelry and about $17 in cash.

Entry was secured somewhere between 8.30 and 10 o'clock, during the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Williams, by jimmying open a window leading to the back garden.

The thieves appear to have been well experienced at their occupation, the placement of the tools, as shown by the marks on the window casting bearing evidence to their skillful application. The evidence supports the theory that more than one man was engaged in the raid, and the general disorder of all the rooms shows that the raiders took considerable time to carry out a thorough search of the premises.

ALLEGED MURDER AT HAZELTON BEING INVESTIGATED

Bones Found on Skeena River and Three Half-Breds Are Held by Police

According to reports reaching the provincial police to-day a skeleton believed to be that of Matthew McLean, an Indian allegedly murdered over a year ago in the North, has been discovered at a spot 100 miles down the Skeena from where the supposed murder is thought to have taken place.

According to the provincial police the Indian, McLean, was suffering from a tubercular thigh, and from this the bones are said to have been identified as those of McLean.

Three half-breeds, Pierror and two Bird brothers, have been arrested, and are now held for investigation.

About twelve months ago McLean mysteriously disappeared from the Indian reservation near Hazelton. At the time of his disappearance there were indications of foul play, and the police worked on small clues to unearth evidence to prove guilt in the supposed murder. But until now little has come to light.

The discovery of the skeleton, 100 miles down the Skeena River from the point where the man McLean was supposedly murdered, and the arrest of the three half-breeds precedes an inquiry which the provincial police department is directing at Hazelton.

MODERNIST THEORY OF BIBLE ATTACKED

British Israelite Speaker Scores Materialists and Unbelievers

In an address pointed with incisive humor Rowland Hills, M.A. LL.D., vigorously attacked the modernist theory of the Bible at a public dinner, an audience in the Memorial Hall assembled under the auspices of the British Israel Association. The speaker compared the theory to a great temple inscribed "The Temple of Doubt in the Supernatural," greeted in the name of science and scholarship and claiming the attention and regard of mankind. Yet, he maintained, the foundations are laid upon sand.

In the first place the origin of the theory began not with Christian students but with materialists and unbelievers such as Spinoza and Wellhausen, yet these are taken as authorities by the modernist Bible students. Their day the discoveries of archaeology enable the student to compare Bible history with contemporary documents and in no instance is the record contradicted. But the methods of biblical criticism claim a shell of literary judgment which enables the critic to detect and date the authorship and dates of composition that enable them to affirm that much of the Bible is unbelievable. Yet it is well known that it is impossible to distinguish the difference of authorship in such books as those by Besant and Rice. Authors also use different styles for different purposes. NATIONAL CONFERENCE DECLARES FOR NEW CANADIAN SETTLEMENT PLANS AND FOREIGN TRADE MOVE

Settlement Plans The text of the resolution on colonization and immigration follows: That this conference respectfully urges upon the Federal Government:

(a) The immediate creation of a small non-political advisory board on colonization and agricultural development, composed of Canada's leading experts on the subject and skilled business executives, such persons to be invited to contribute their time and skill as a matter of public service and without compensation other than expense allowances.

(b) The official recognition of the patent fact that any attempt to exclude European agricultural colonies physically fit and of satisfactory mental and moral endowment purely on racial grounds must inevitably delay indefinitely the solution of our present problem for the sufficient reason that desirable agricultural settlers of Northern origin are not available in sufficient volume to make any adequate impression on Canada's population problem.

(c) Recognition of the fact that there no longer exists the condition of free homesteads reasonably close to railroads, long term credits on farm implements and supplies, and part-time employment on railroad construction that made it comparatively easy for people with small capital to settle on land during the decade preceding the war.

(d) The early investigation, in co-operation with the proposed advisory board or commission, of the feasibility of a great agricultural and colonization forward movement, including a scheme of moderately assisted settlement available to desirable agricultural settlers of European and American origin, carried out in conjunction with the Canadian railways and other land-owning bodies, this movement to have due regard to the needs of and opportunities in every part of Canada, and particularly to the need of replenishing the rural population of the Maritime Provinces and repatriation of former Canadians and their descendants now living in other countries.

(e) The early investigation, in co-operation with the proposed advisory board or commission, of the feasibility of a great agricultural and colonization forward movement, including a scheme of moderately assisted settlement available to desirable agricultural settlers of European and American origin, carried out in conjunction with the Canadian railways and other land-owning bodies, this movement to have due regard to the needs of and opportunities in every part of Canada, and particularly to the need of replenishing the rural population of the Maritime Provinces and repatriation of former Canadians and their descendants now living in other countries.

Canada's population to the United States was essential. HUDSON BAY RAILROAD The prairie provinces, Premier Bracken declared, considered the Federal Government "had trifled with the feelings" of those urging the finishing of the Hudson Bay Railway. "The understanding of the East and West was too important a factor to sacrifice for the sake of the economy of $5,000,000 or $8,000,000, which, he said, was needed to complete the road.

"If construction is not carried on we can not hope for unity of feeling between the different sections of the country," the Premier said.

Thompson of Deep Bay for the Deep Social Cove Club recent sale of work was competed for and the lucky winner was Mrs. Friday.

PARENT-TEACHER The regular monthly meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association was held in the school on Tuesday evening. The president, Mr. Holdridge, was in the chair. There was a good attendance. Miss Jean McNaught, the secretary, read the minutes, which were adopted. A good deal of business was discussed. Arrangements were made for a Christmas tree for the children in December. Horace Peck, Stanhope Rowton, George Wylie and Jean Speedie then acted a sketch from Dickens, "David Copperfield at the Inn," which was splendidly done, also, which added to the interest of the evening. An interesting address on "The Home and the School" a social hour was then enjoyed.

WOMEN'S AUXILIARY The annual meeting of the senior branch of St. Andrew's and Holy Trinity Women's Auxiliary was held in Matthews' Hall on Wednesday afternoon. There was a good attendance and two new members, Mrs. Peck and Mrs. Payne, were welcomed. The president, Mrs. Gwynne, was in the chair and opened the meeting with a reading and prayer. The various secretaries gave their reports, the treasurer reported that over $170 had been handed in for different objects during the year. The superintendent of the juniors, Mrs. Gilman, gave a splendid report: They have twenty-five members and have given two silver teas, and with other money, dresses, etc., a balance of over $40. The Dorcas secretary reported that a bale had been sent for the adopted Indian boy at Alert Bay Mission. The president then read a most interesting report of the year's work and the aims and objects of the W.A., showing what splendid work is being done by the W.A. The election of officers took place as follows: President, Mrs. Gwynne, re-elected unanimously; vice-president, Mrs. Critchley; secretary, Mrs. Bowman; treasurer, Mrs. Salmon; Dorcas secretary, Mrs. Herchmer; literature secretary, Mrs. Philp; extra cent a day secretary, Mrs. Ward; little help secretaries, Mrs. Hines and Miss Sander; juniors' superintendent, Mrs. Gilman; thank-offering secretary, Mrs. McAuley; living message secretary, Mrs. J. The delegates for the diocesan annual meeting to be held in Victoria in January are Mrs. Bowman and Mrs. Philp, and substitutes, Mrs. Gilman and Mrs. Peck.

It was decided to adopt another Indian boy, as the one which has been adopted now passes under the Government's care. It was decided to send a sum of money instead of toys to the Columbia Coast Mission for Christmas. It was arranged to have a chain of intercession on St. Andrew's Day in St. Andrew's Church, starting with a service of Holy Communion at 10:30 o'clock, and ending with an evening service at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The meeting then adjourned to meet next month at the rectory. The hostess, Mrs. Philp, then served tea and was assisted by Mrs. Barker.

A visitor at a country village went into the post-office and, with the object of getting into conversation, asked the postmaster what his views were on vegetarianism. "Haven't any views of that kind," replied the official, innocently, "but I've got some fine postcards of the new viaduct, the Baptist church and the library."

Relation of the Liver and Kidneys Such that each suffers from other deranged—Both regulated by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. When the liver becomes sluggish or torpid in action, the kidneys have to help out with the work of filtration. When the liver fails the kidneys have all the work to do. Here the beginning of trouble is usually biliousness, indigestion and constipation and after a time the kidneys begin to be affected and there comes backache, urinary derangements and kidney disease.

The remarkable success of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills is due to their unique combined action on the liver, kidneys and bowels. They get at the cause of trouble and remove it no matter how complicated it may be. Promptly and thoroughly they cleanse the bowels or intestines, arouse the liver action and thereby relieve the overloaded kidneys.

Greatest Team to Come Out of West, Say Fans

Montreal Very Complimentary to Cougars, Who Last Night Accounted for Their Old Rivals, Canadiens, by 5-3; Furious Rally in Last Period Brought Victoria to Front; Champions Play in Ottawa To-night Before Governor-General and Lady Byng

Montreal sport writers and fans are apparently greatly taken with the Victoria Cougars, according to a telegram received from Lester Patrick, manager of the world's champions. Before the Cougars invaded the East there was some skepticism over their ability, but now that they have beaten both Montreal teams the folks down that way are taking off their hats and paying tribute.

The following telegram was received by The Times this morning from Lester Patrick:

"Game last night was real thriller. Our boys showed great improvement over first game. Montreal fans are very complimentary. They say our club is the greatest that ever came out of the West. Our last period finishes are really effective and leave high impression with fans. Halderston much improved—played this season, but everybody started last night. We play Ottawa to-night. Everybody happy. No casualties."

Ottawa, Nov. 18.—Ottawa Senators and Victoria Cougars open the professional hockey season in Ottawa to-night when they meet in an exhibition game here. This will be the first of a two-game series, the proceeds of which will be given to the Humane Society.

An important feature of to-night's game will be the presence of their Excellencies Lord and Lady Byng of Vimy.

The first game will be played under Eastern rules and the second under Western rules.

Ottawa will use their regular lineup, that is the team that carried them through the greater part of last year's N.H.L. schedule.

Victoria will use the same team which defeated Montreal Canadiens and Marquette.

The probable lineup: Victoria—Holmes, goal; Fraser and Loughlin, defence; Fredrickson, centre; Hart, right wing; Walker, left wing; Halderston, Oatman, Meekins, Shepherd and Anderson, substitutes.

Ottawa—Connell, goal; Boucher and Clancy, defence; Fredrickson, centre; Hart, right wing; Walker, left wing; Halderston, Oatman, Meekins, Shepherd and Anderson, substitutes.

Referee, Dr. O'Leary, Ottawa.

Montreal, Nov. 18.—Victoria Cougars, Dominion pro Canadian hockey champions, defeated Canadiens of the National Hockey League, 5 to 3, in an exhibition game played here last night.

After trailing behind in the first two periods the Pacific Coast giants came back strong in the final session and secured four goals to their opponents' lone tally.

While five of the eight goals scored were recorded in the final period, the preceding frames were not without their quota of fast hockey, and in the first few minutes one of the most prominent men on the ice was Joliat, who several times brought the Cougars to their feet by snappy plays.

He teamed well with Billy Boucher, and both gave Holmes, in the Victoria nets, a hectic time. The visitors were not without the spirit of retaliation, however, and several times the veteran Vesina was called on to do some snappy work.

MORENZ OPENS SCORING The play save-ward, up and down the ice, with Fredrickson developing some polished skating. The first score came in the last minutes of the period when Morenz got a loose puck and, flashing it on Victoria's net, sent past Holmes.

It was in the second period that Victoria came into the picture and evened the score. Boucher and Halderston became entangled in hostilities and Smeaton halted play until the snarl was shaken out. Thereafter some spectacular skating was the order of the day with both goals in danger several times.

The equalizer came from a rush initiated by Fredrickson. The puck went to Sheppard and then to Fraser, the Victoria defence man evading up the court just as the play under Eastern rules ended and restarted under Western rules. Victoria thereupon started to open up their passing game.

COUGARS OPEN UP Four minutes from the end of the second period Morenz rushed from his own goal ice and shooting from outside the defence beat Holmes with a clean shot. With a lead to encourage them in the opening of the final period, Canadiens entered the period full of hope. But their antics during the defence last period, starting tricks right early, and the session had not been under way for two minutes when Walker beat Vesina.

From that point the visitors unleashed a tremendous burst of speed and combination and they swarmed all round Canadiens' goal. Hart was the next to score, putting Victoria one ahead. Substitutes were rushed to the Victoria front line to keep up the pace, and it was Anderson and Sheppard who opened up the way for Fredrickson to crater the fourth score. To cap it all, Fraser went through

Hudson's Bay Are Victors in Match For League Lead

Defeat Tillicums by Score of 2-1 in Great Fight For Leadership

Garrison Obtained 4-0 Verdict Over Kirkhams; Rennie and Taylors Beat Navy 4-2

By virtue of their splendid victory over the Tillicums at Beacon Hill yesterday afternoon, by the score of 2-1, the Hudson's Bay soccer eleven gained undisputed leadership of the Wednesday Football League.

The Bays put up a fine exhibition, although the Tillicums fought hard to stave off defeat.

In the other match played at the Hill the Garrison Recreationists defeated the Tillicums for second place. At Central Park, Rennie and Taylor showed their true form by trouncing the Navy by the score of 4-2.

The Tillicums gave the Bays their toughest game this season. The clubmen tried desperately to tie the score in the second half, but they were unable to fathom the strong defence of the departmentals. All the scoring was done in the first half, although no goals were scored.

THREE GOALS EARLY Kicking with the slope in their favor in the first half, the Tillicums opened the scoring when Hole beat Shrimpton after Toby, the Tillicum's inside right, had shot and hit the post. The Bays soon evened things up, and after a number of dangerous attacks on the champion's goal, they secured the lead in the second half.

The Bays went into the lead, which they maintained until the end, when Woodley, their centre forward, placed the ball in the net with a low shot.

Play in the second half was fast, but neither club was able to break into the scoring column. On several occasions the forwards on both sides had grand opportunities at times, but the shooting was faulty and the chances slipped by. Each had an even share of the play, and in this period the fine work of both goalies stood out.

The teams were as follows: Hudson's Bay—Shrimpton, Gibson, Gardiner, Blair, Webber, McKay, Addie, Clark, Woodley, Carey and Hansson.

Tillicums—Ackroyd, McIntyre, Turner, Tall, Armstrong, Gillan, Freeman, Whittaker, Fletcher, Hole and Toby.

The Garrison proved far too good for Kirkhams. The grocers managed to hold their faster opponents in the first half, but in the final period they checked under the fast pace, allowing the Tommies to score three goals.

From the kick-off the Garrison took the offensive and only the fine work of Kirkham's goal division kept them in check. Time and time again they carried the ball within a few yards of the grocer's goal, but they were unable to place the leather in the net.

Kirkham's camp within an ace of scoring when Collier had the ball at his feet, and only a goalkeeping blunder cleared out of danger.

The Garrison opened the scoring when Middleton drove the ball into the net after a pass from left wing. Wetherall, the grocer's goalie, attempted to stall the ball out but misjudged it. For the remainder of the first half the Bays were on the attack.

SOLDIERS RALLY In the second half the soldiers had the better of the play the ball being in Kirkham's goal area the greater part of the time. Bryson gave the Garrison a goal, when he kicked the ball into the net from Blicher and Middleton made it 3-0 shortly after when he took the ball through on his own scoring from close range. With the ending of the game taking place Middleton accounted for the Tommies' fourth goal when he planted the ball between the sticks on a long shot.

Wetherall handled the whistle and the teams were: Garrison—Bayliss, Obach, Watt, Julien, Brown, Mitchell, Bichead, Bloomfield, McLean, Bryson and Pascoke.

Kirkhams—Wetherall, Glancy, Johnston, Collier, Jones, Rutledge, Nicholas, Gibney, Smith, Chattell and Watson.

Putting up their best display of the season Rennie and Taylors had no difficulty in accounting for the Navy. The bakers were in fine form their combination work and shooting being splendid.

From the start the bakers pressed on the Navy's goal and during a general melee in the bluejackets' goal, area Hawkes scored.

The Navy carried the ball down the field from the centre-off and Freshwater put the teams on even terms when he beat Davies with a shot from long range. Play disintegrated from one end to the other, and with half-time only five minutes away Fish gave the bakers a one goal lead when he scored after Hawkes had made the opening.

BAKERS HOLD EDGE In the second half Rennie and Taylors had a decided edge and it was only through the fine goal tending of Souther that kept the Navy from receiving a worse licking. Stewart, the bakers' farther in the lead when he scored after McKinnon drove the ball into the goal mouth.

The Navy staged a dying rally which saw the ball down the field, where it was met by a shot from the clearing. Burden played in a fine cross, Gleave driving it into the net. Just before the final whistle Speak scored the bakers' fourth goal after

Legal Opinion Is Prepared On Fight For Heavy Laurels

Indiana Attorney-General Informs Governor of Question of Wills-Dempsey Bout

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 19.—Foundations for a legal attack on the proposed Jack Dempsey-Harry Wills fight in Indiana, probably at Michigan City next summer, were laid yesterday when Attorney-General Arthur L. Gilliom of Indianapolis gave Governor Ed Jackson an opinion on the legality of the fight, which prohibits the meeting of Dempsey and his challenger.

"It is possible," Gilliom's opinion said, "that these men might without violating the law, meet for the single purpose of exhibiting their skill as boxers, excluding from their purpose the exchange of blows which would be calculated to determine superiority between them in their chosen and well-known profession. If this is the intention there is no intended violation of the law."

Otherwise he held that such a meeting would violate the spirit of the Indiana law.

A distinction between "boxing exhibition" and "prize fighting" is outlined in the Indiana law, which forbids the latter.

Articles for the match were signed sometime ago with the two principals reaching an agreement on terms and conditions of the fight with Floyd Fitzsimmons, a Michigan City promoter.

Anderson announced his retirement from hockey a few hours before the team left last night. Manager Rosie Heimer is in charge of the team.

Harvard Players Resent "Insult" Given in Boston

Boston, Nov. 19.—Harvard to-day was agog over the expulsion of thirty members of its varsity football squad three days before the annual battle with Yale, from the lobby of the Tremont Theatre.

Head Coach Robert T. Fisher, who termed the incident the "dirtiest, lowest insult" he ever knew, will conduct a rigid investigation to determine who charged the squad with being "half-drunk" as they entered the theatre lobby last evening.

Last evening the largest mass meeting ever held in Cambridge, accompanied by snake dances to the dormitory, was staged by the students from the theatre lobby.

The gridiron men became indignant when the officer ordered them out.

They say he charged them with being "half-drunk." They took the number to a nearby police station, where Capt. "Dolph" Cheek had Lieut. Dobbin inspect each man.

"They are sober, all right," was the police officer's verdict, "but I can't do anything about it."

MANSON ASKS HOUSE TO TURN DOWN MOTION ATTACKING HIS JANET SMITH INVESTIGATION

Attorney-General Strongly Defends Use of Human Corpse to Test Action of Bullet and Asserts Experiment Produced Valuable Results; Asks Early Verdict But Vote is Postponed; Speaker Halts Pooley in Attempt to Read Abduction Evidence.

Conservatives' plans to force a division on the Government's handling of the Janet Smith case got under way in the Legislature yesterday but action on H. D. Twigg's demand for a special committee to investigate the matter was postponed, although the Government desired a quick verdict.

Attorney-General Manson faced the House with a vigorous defence of Mr. Twigg's charge that he was guilty of dereliction of duty in allowing the use of a human corpse for experimental purposes in the Janet Smith investigation. Mr. Manson made it clear that the Government would ask the House when the question came to a division, to vote down the Twigg resolution asking for an investigation.

In the course of the debate, R. H. Pooley, Opposition Leader, took an appeal from the chair, Mr. Speaker Buckham being sustained by a vote of twenty-six to seventeen in ruling out certain statements in Mr. Manson's evidence at the abduction trial which Mr. Pooley attempted to read to the House. Following this, C. F. Davis, Conservative, moved adjournment of the debate, which motion was followed to pass.

Mr. Twigg in moving the resolution did not amplify his remarks of Monday when he stated the facts set out in his resolution. He merely remarked that there was no dispute on the facts, as the use of a body

"sparing neither time nor money and let the chips fall where they might. No man in B. C. was immune from that enquiry. Possibly some may have thought from the campaign of that sheet that the Attorney-General was afraid to strike for fear some extraordinary person might be effected, but there was no fear on my part."

NOT A COURT

"I have no direct evidence of who was guilty, if crime there was, but I want nobody to draw conclusions as to guilt from any statements I may make. This is not a court."

"But there were inexplicable conditions and we sought for an explanation. The matter was handled in a simple departmental way. The Provincial Secretary did not even know what happened. I only knew in a casual way. I was asked if it was all right to pursue this method of inquiry and I said they could use any step that would help to find how this poor girl was done to her death. I did not want it said, as it has been said, that this servant girl's death should go uninvestigated. The law knows no distinctions in matters of life and death."

"I said 'yes.' The department officials referred to the statutes and ascertained that the proceeding was legal. I had no time to check all these things myself, but I had the correspondence. Dr. H. C. Steeves, superintendent of the mental hospital, said that under the Medical Act he was available for the purpose mentioned."

NOT DISCOURTEOUS

"I did not mean to be discourteous but my patience has been sorely tried," declared the Minister. "Dr. Steeves referred to the Medical Act which allows an unclaimed body to be used for purposes of dissection by medical practitioners who may require them for experimental purposes."

"The body that was made available was that of an unclaimed, unknown person who had no relatives as far as our records showed. Dr. Steeves made it available for Dr. Hunter who conducted the autopsy on Janet Smith for experimental purposes to settle certain perplexing problems, the absence of blood, condition of the skull fracture, and so on. Dr. Hunter, Dr. Steeves, Mr. Jackson and the constable were present when the experiment was made. Now I should like to draw your attention to the results."

"We found a complete skull fracture, but not a transverse line, as in the case of the girl. We found blood and brain matter exuded forward and backward and in every direction to places ten feet distant, a totally different result from that in the case of Janet Smith."

DIFFERENCES NOTED

"All this was exceedingly important to show whether the tragedy occurred as it appears or whether the scene had been staged. We used the same kind of bullet as was found in the basement and in this case it was absolutely flattened out, whereas in the Smith case its nose was only slightly bent."

"It was an exceedingly valuable

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and the Fir Tree

Copyright, 1925, McClure Newspaper Syndicate (By Howard R. Garis)

Uncle Wiggily, hopping about in the woods near the hollow tree where lived Johnnie and Billie Bushytail, had found a green feather, as I told you in the story before this. The rabbit gentleman had gone to pay a Thanksgiving visit to the squirrel boys. And, no sooner had he picked up the green feather than a voice in a tree over his head cried:

"Come back with that! Come back with my green feather! Ooie! Ooie! Ooie!" whatever that means. I say that Uncle Wiggily could not see who was speaking, for no one was in sight, not even the Bob Cat nor Woolie Wolf. Though, for the matter of that, neither the Bob Cat nor Wolf has feathers, either green, red or blue.

"Perhaps this is a piece off the fir tree," thought Uncle Wiggily, for he was near a clump of evergreens. The green feather, though, was a brighter green than the branches of

"I'm sorry I flew out of my cage," said the parrot.

SPEAKER RULES

Here the Attorney-General interrupted the discussion was irrelevant and asked the Speaker to rule. The discussion, he claimed, must be confined to the question of the use of the dead body and could not take in the abduction trial. Mr. Pooley reminded him that he had himself referred to Cowper not being convicted, but the Speaker ruled that he could not read the evidence of the abduction case.

"This is too important a matter for discussion to be shut off," said Mr. Pooley, taking an appeal from the chair. On the resulting division the Speaker was sustained by 26 to 17, all four Labor members, and David Stoddart, Provincial, voting against the Opposition, while George Walkem and A. McC. Creery, Provincials, voted with the Conservatives.

Mr. Pooley then requested the Attorney-General to allow members to peruse the communications of the officials who found that the proceeding under attack was legal, and Mr. Davis adjourned the debate until the next sitting.

Mr. Twigg smiled broadly when Mr. Manson explained to the House that he did not have a written opinion from the Deputy Attorney-General on the Janet Smith case, an opinion which Mr. Twigg sought. Mr. Manson retorted sharply that the case was not a laughing matter and he personally regarded it very seriously.

Every Possibility of Company Cancelling Arbitrary Rate on Vancouver Island

Following the announcement that the Canadian National and Great Northern Railways would cancel the lumber arbitrary on Vancouver Island there is every possibility that the Canadian Pacific Railway will follow suit.

The C.P.R. is arranging with the Transcontinental Freight Bureau in Chicago to have the lumber arbitrary rates cancelled from points on Vancouver Island.

as she streaked at top speed for the Delaware Capes. Hundreds of passengers, lifebelts and some scantily clad, huddled on her decks as the Philadelphia ran alongside and Capt. Charles S. Morris of Lowest, a veteran pilot, clambered up the ladder.

Disregarding the fire below, he took the wheel and steered the doomed ship through the tortuous shoals as gusts of smoke surged up about the pilot house.

Passengers reported seeing one of the crew hanging from a rope until he saw the captain was about to leave the vessel, then concluding his leader was safe this man leaped into the water and was picked up by one of the boats.

ORDER BANS FISHING ON LOWER MAINLAND

Action Taken by Federal Authorities to Protect Spawning Grounds

Cohoe and Chum Salmon Fleet of 700 Vessels Will Tie-up Saturday

New Westminster, Nov. 19 (Canadian Press)—About 700 fishing boats and 1,000 men must cease operations here Saturday on rivers of the British Columbia lower mainland.

This action was taken, it is stated by A. P. Halliday, fishing inspector, owing to the fact that the spawning grounds for the coho and chum variety of salmon do not appear to be well supplied, and also because the chum variety are showing signs of deterioration.

Philadelphia, Nov. 19.—Battered and almost helpless after a three-day struggle with a storm at sea, the Atlantic Refining Company's tanker, W. D. Anderson, put into port here yesterday with her captain, mate and everyone of her crew of twenty-five injured more or less.

The mountainous waves swept the ship from stem to stern, smashing lifeboats, wrecking the steering gear, and finally disabled it.

Capt. G. R. Holmes suffered from a broken leg when at the height of the storm the pilot house was overturned by a giant wave and nearly carried overboard.

Last Minute News on Stocks and Financial Affairs

New York, Nov. 19 (By R. P. Clark and Company)—Mixed movements were featured in the afternoon session led by the rail issues, they being traded in on a large scale. News that no change was made in existing bank rates in London and Philadelphia influenced an early rally, but this met with heavy realizing and a price recession, particularly in the motor division, where some new buyers for the present movement were made, there appears to be considerable apprehension over the outlook of to-day's Federal reserve action and it was this influence that probably directed a cautious trading attitude in the forenoon.

The news, constructive in character, featured car loading figures, heavy equipment inquiry and an extra dividend declared by Texas Gulf Sulphur of 75 cents a share. The local call money rate renewed earlier and softened, and it may have been this last-named influence that stimulated part of the afternoon improved demand for stocks.

Talk was persistent in claiming that President Coolidge at the Chamber of Commerce meeting, might offer some favorable suggestions in reference to pending rail mergers, and this talk promoted some of the renewed interest in the rail section of the market though in other departments there appeared to be considerable covering by shorts.

The market had a somewhat healthier appearance in most departments, especially the oil and rail region, and it may be that these departments will attract more to those entertaining bullish views, while many of the industrials may have to contend with sterner opposition on the upside.

New York, Nov. 19 (By B.C. Bond Corporation's Direct Pit Wire)—The Wall Street Journal's stock market edition this afternoon after announcement came from London that the Bank of England rate had been advanced to 4 per cent. This news was looked upon as virtual assurance that the local re-discount charge would be left unchanged at 3 1/2 per cent. as this afternoon's meeting and the belief was mirrored in a split rise of traders on Wednesday's break. Traders who had taken a short position, figuring the directors, figuring the directors, Federal Reserve Bank of New York planned an increase, were forced to beat a hasty retreat.

C. & O. was the feature of outstanding strength, running up nearly 3 points to 120 1/2, a record high. This spurt was accompanied by reports in speculative circles that a private settlement had been effected with the stockholders by the Van Swearingens at a price above current market levels. U. S. Distributing figured into a new high ground at 50 1/2, reflecting buying by interests favoring the stock who look for a balance of from $7 to $9 a share for the common stock out of 1925 earnings.

Rails continued the most impressive acting group with the Erie issues in special demand. Erie common gained 1 1/2 to 38, its highest price since the war, while the preferred gained nearly 2 points to new high ground on the movement at 4 1/2. One of the reasons for the strength in Erie was obviously the fact that the Erie stock price had decreased only 2 1/2 from last year, with the anthracite tonnage missing this year. With soft coal moving into hard coal territory as a season advances, Erie had finished the year with a satisfactory showing.

Call money was in plentiful supply, giving additional impetus to a rally which attained considerable aggressiveness in the afternoon trading. American Can, Steel, Gen. Electric and other leading industrial concerns were in demand and a forward movement occurred in the rails, under the leadership of C. & O. Urgent buying carried the latter issue to the highest level of the year, while the financial community drew the conclusion that better times were forthcoming to minority shareholders before the completion of the Nickel Plate consolidation.

American Brake Shoe continued its rapid advance, selling at 15 1/2. Aside from rumors of a proposed re-organization, possibly a stock split, and better dividend rate than the present $5 a share annually, the company is expecting a good year from the standpoint of profits. Traders argue that if Brake Shoe can show around $14 a share this year, in a good year it can do considerably better. Next to the rails, the oils gave the greatest show of technical strength, moving ahead under the leadership of Marland, which gained 1 1/2 to 57.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

Winnipeg, Nov. 19—After a weak opening the market responded to excellent buying to-day and closed 2 1/2 cents to 2 3/4 cents higher, with November reaching the high spot of the current movement at 141 3/4.

All interests were on the buying side. Exporters were taking November and December futures against overnight acceptances which were said to be quite large by the continent. Sales were estimated at 400,000 bushels to 500,000 bushels, mostly Manitobas. New business was reported this morning. New York and Chicago operators were reported buying May wheat here to-day. The trade volume was exceptionally large.

The coarse grain markets were dull. Winnipeg, Nov. 19 (By R. P. Clark & Co.)—Wheat: Excellent buying by exporters, millers and speculators combined with some short covering gave us a very bullish market today in spite of a lower opening from 1/2 to 1 cent, and final figures which were around the top were 2 1/2 cents, above the close yesterday.

The November is now at the highest point in this crop movement. There were good acceptances overnight, the continent being good buyers, while the United Kingdom was not so keen, but buying and selling new business on a large scale worked this morning and at least it would appear that the foreigner is becoming alarmed as to his future supplies, the light stock in European markets and light shipments and to the better situation in the Argentine crop.

The market was a big broad affair with exporters, shippers and millers doing the bidding, the nearby millers and speculators the deferred. The cash market was very active with the best demand for all grades except No. 1 Northern, that has been seen doing the bidding, the nearby millers and speculators the deferred. REAR AIR BATTLES

Body of Baron Richthofen Returned by France to Germany For Ceremony

London, Nov. 19.—Baron Manfred von Richthofen, whose body was returned to Germany by France yesterday for burial, was one of the German admirals by the British during the war period of bitter hatred. The young ace was known by the British as a "good sport"—a clean and chivalrous, albeit, a fierce fighter. He seemed imbued with the spirit of the cavaliers of old, battling for pure love of the game rather than because of patriotic duty.

The baron's squadron, called "Richthofen's Circus" because of the variegated colors of its planes, was known the length and breadth of the British isles. He was the most feared and the most sought aviator among the enemy.

It was every British airman's hope that the body of the famous baron and Richthofen was hunted far and near until his death. Many found him, and failed to return, but it was always the same story—Richthofen was a terrible opponent, he played fair.

Richthofen's end was no less spectacular than his career. He had been battling a British plane in the Somme region, having gained the advantage, he was chasing the latter toward home. The British plane was in difficulties and the baron was "on its tail" above and behind the other pilot as they reached the British lines.

They were flying only a few hundred feet up. It was a typical Richthofen maneuver of circling in a tent near the machine guns and rifles opened up on him, and before he could get away his red winged plane crashed, just in front of the lines.

German gunners stamped a barrage about the plane to prevent the British from getting it, but without avail. The British found Richthofen dead, strapped in his seat. Underneath the aviator's suit he wore blue silk pajamas.

His body was treated with the greatest reverence. A special lead coffin was procured, and for a time he lay almost in state in a tent near the fighting lines, with a guard of soldiers. A sentry stood over the fallen plane. He was buried in the British cemetery, with full military honors, while the fleet of Allied planes circled overhead.

THE TIME-WORN TOWN

By J. S. Fletcher

"You'll have to go into that, you know," concluded Brent. "Now that I've got through with that election, I'm going to give more time to this business. We've got to find out who killed my cousin, Hawthwaite, somehow. It's not going to rest. I won't leave a stone unturned! And there," he added, pointing to the sheet of paper on which Queenie had made specimens of the broken type of Simon's antiquated machine, "there is a stone which needs examining on all four sides!"

garden at the Abbey House, there's a quiet, narrow lane, little used."

"I know it," replied Brent. "Farming Lane."

"Just so," and why so called none of our local antiquaries know," said Hawthwaite. "Well, not so many nights ago, I had some business in that lane at a late hour. I was watching for somebody, as a matter of fact, though it came to nothing. I was in a secret place, just as it was getting nicely dark. Now, then, who should come along that lane but Krevin Crood!"

Hawthwaite picked up the sheet of paper, twisted it in his big fingers and looked over it at the two young people with a quizzical smile.

"I understand that you and Miss Queenie there are contemplating matrimony, Mr. Brent?" he remarked. "That so, sir?"

"That's so," replied Brent, promptly. "As soon as we've got our house furnished we'll be married."

"Then I can speak freely and in confidence before Mrs. Brent that's to be," responded Hawthwaite, with another smile. "Well, now, what you've just told me, I'll show you something." He turned, drew out a drawer from a chest behind his chair, and finding a paper in it, took it out and handed it to his visitors. Look at that, now!" he said. "You see what it is?"

Brent saw at once. It was a half-sheet of newspaper, on which were examples of faulty type, precisely similar to those on Queenie's bit of evidence.

"Hello!" exclaimed Brent. "Somebody else been here at the same game, eh?"

"I'll tell you," answered Hawthwaite, settling himself in his chair. "It's a bit simple—let me think, now—yes, it would be a day or two after that facsimile appeared in the Monitor that a young man came to my house here one evening—a respectable artisan sort of chap. He told me that he was in the employ of a typewriter company at Clifton, which, Mr. Brent, (as Queenie there knows) is our big town—only a few miles away. He said that he'd come to tell me something in confidence. The previous day, he said, Mr. Crood of Hatherborough had come to their place in Clifton, and had brought with him an old-fashioned typewriter which, he told them, he had bought when such things first came out. He wanted to know—the thing being, he said, an old favorite—if they could do it up for him through its mechanism thoroughly, supply new letters, and so on. They said they could. He left it to be done, and it was handed over to this young man. Now then, Hawthwaite brought this facsimile, has some relations here in Hatherborough. A day or so before Simon Crood called with his machine, they sent him—the young man—a copy of the Monitor with this facsimile letter enclosed. Being concerned with such things in his trade, he was naturally interested in the facsimile, and of course, as an expert, he noticed the broken letters. However, he didn't connect the facsimile

"Oh, eventually they parted, of course," replied Hawthwaite. "She slipped back into the garden, and he went off down the lane. Now—did they want each other?"

"They're both tending to elderliness I think," interrupted Brent, with a cynical laugh, "but one's never surprised at anything nowadays, so—did you see any love-making?"

"Oh, Lord save us, no!" exclaimed Hawthwaite. "Nothing of that sort! They never even shook hands, just talked—and very earnestly, too."

Brent reflected for a while. "Queer!" he said at last. "What did Krevin Crood do?"

"Aye," said Hawthwaite. "As I said just now, I'd have given a good deal to know. But Krevin Crood is a deep, designing, secret sort of a man, and that woman, whoever she may be, looks just the same."

"Has she been with Mrs. Saumarez long?" asked Brent.

"Come with her when Mrs. Saumarez first came and took the Abbey House," replied Hawthwaite. "Always been with her. Went away with her when Mrs. S. was in the South of France all last Winter. Odd creature, I call the two of 'em, Mr. Brent—between you and myself!"

"Why, exactly?" inquired Brent.

"I've seen nothing particularly odd about Mrs. Saumarez, except that she's evidently high-strung, perhaps a bit excitable sort of woman, all nerves, I should say, and possibly a bit—emotional. Clever woman, I think—and pretty!"

"Pretty enough—and clever enough," assented Hawthwaite, drily. "And I daresay you're right about the rest. But I'll tell you why I used that term—at least, in regard to her. When Mrs. Saumarez first came here it was understood that she was the widow of a naval officer—of high rank. Well, naturally, the big folk of the neighborhood called on her when she settled down—she furnished and fitted her house from local shops, and it took her some time to get fixed up—expecting, of course, that she'd return their calls. She never returned a single one! Not one, sir!"

"That certainly sounds odd," admitted Brent.

"Aye, doesn't it?" said Hawthwaite. "You'd have thought that a young and stylish woman coming to live here as she did, would have been glad of society. But though some dozen or so ladies of the place called on her, she never, as I say, returned a single call; in fact, it very soon became evident that she didn't want any bicycling a good deal by herself in those early days—that I fancy was now she got to know both Wellesley and your cousin. She was fond enough of their society, anyway."

"Always?" asked Brent. He was learning things that he had never heard of, and was already thinking deeply about them. "From the beginning?"

"Well, practically," replied Hawthwaite. "First it was the doctor; then it was Wallingford. And," he added, with a wink, "there are folk in the town who declare that she carried on with both, playing one off against the other, till the very end. I don't know how that may be, but I do know that at one time she and Wellesley were very thick, and that afterwards your cousin was always running after her. Naturally, there was talk—especially amongst the folk who'd called on her and whose calls she didn't return. And, to tell you the plain truth, they said things."

"What sort of things?" inquired Brent.

"Oh, well," said Hawthwaite, with a laugh, "if you'd lived as long in this town as I have, and been in my position, you'd know that it—like all little places—is a hotbed of scandal and gossip. The women of course, seeing her partiality for men friends, said things and hinted more. Then Hawthwaite, but you're already busy about it."

"I'm not only busy, but actively so," replied the superintendent. "And again between you and me and nobody else—I'm expecting some very special professional and expert assistance within the next few days. Oh, you leave this to me, Mr. Brent! I'll run down your cousin's murderer or murderers yet! Go on with your articles; they're helpful, for they're rousing public interest."

Brent went away and followed Hawthwaite's advice. His articles came out in The Monitor twice a week. Peppermore printed them in large type, headed, and gave them the most prominent place in the paper. He himself was as proud of these uncompromising attacks on the municipal government of Hatherborough as if he had written them himself; the proprietor of The Monitor was placidly agreeable about them for the simple reason that after the first two had appeared, the circulation of his journal doubled, and after the next three, was at least four times what it had been before. Everybody in their immediate neighborhood read and discussed the articles; extracts from them were given in country papers; some of the London dailies began to lift them; eventually a local member of Parliament asked a question about them in the House of Commons. And one day Peppermore came rushing in to Brent in a state of high excitement.

"The pen is mightier than the sword, Mr. Brent, sir; that's a fact!" he gasped, tumbling headlong into Brent's room. "Heard the news, sir? All through your articles!"

"Heard nothing," replied Brent. "What is it?"

"I had it from the Town Clerk just now, so it's gospel truth," replied Peppermore. "The Local Government Board, sir, is at last moved to action! It's going to send down an inspector—a real, full-fledged inspector!—The Town Clerk is in a worse state of righteous indignation than I ever saw a man, and as for Mayor Simon Crood, I understand his anger is beyond belief. Mr. Brent—you've done it!"

"Well, I'll tell you that, too," he answered. "I've got the machine here—there—in that box—in the corner. The Clifton firm will make an excuse to Mr. Crood that they've had to send his machine away for repairs—eh? Of course, I'm not going to let it out of my possession until—well, until we know more."

"There's no doubt he wrote that threatening letter," observed Brent.

"Oh, no doubt—no doubt whatever!" agreed Hawthwaite.

"What about the handkerchief—and the inquiry at the laundry?" asked Brent.

Hawthwaite accompanied his reply with a nod and a wink.

"That's being followed up," he said. "Don't ask me any more, now. We're progressing, and, I believe, in the right direction this time. Do you leave it to us, Mr. Brent; you'll be surprised before long and so will some other folks. You go on with those articles you've started in the Monitor. It doesn't do for me to say much being an official," he added, with another wink, "but you'll do some good in that way. There's a lot under the surface in this old town, sir, that only needs exposing to the light of day to insure destruction. Public opinion, Mr. Brent, public opinion! You stir it up, and leave this matter to me. I may be slow, Mr. Brent, but I'll surely get there in the end."

"Good! It's all I ask," said Brent. "Only get there!"

He took Queenie away, but before they had gone many steps from the superintendent's office, Hawthwaite called Brent back, and leading him inside the room, closed the door on him.

"Your young lady'll not mind waiting a moment or two," he said, with a significant glance. "As she already knew about old Simon Crood's typewriter, I didn't mind telling that I knew, 'dye see? But there's another little matter that I'd like to tell you about—between ourselves, and to go no further, you understand?"

"Just so," agreed Brent.

"Well," continued Hawthwaite, "there may be nothing in it. But I have a suspicion that there was nothing definite got out of either Dr. Wellesley or Mrs. Saumarez about their—well, I won't say love affairs, but relations. Anyway, that there was something mysterious about the sort of three-cornered relations between her and Wellesley and your cousin, I'm as dead certain as that I see you! I've an idea, too, that somehow or other those three ought to have something to do with your cousin's murder. But now, this is it; you know, I daresay, that at the back of Mrs. Saumarez's

NERVES AND FAINTING SPELLS

Sent Woman to Bed. Great Change After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Sarnia, Ontario. "After my girlie was born I was a wreck. My nerves were too terrible for words and I simply could not stand or walk without pains. I suffered with fainting spells until I was no longer any good for my household duties and had to take to my bed. The doctor said I should have an operation, but I was not in a fit condition at that time. My neighbor said, 'Why don't you try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?' I am sure it will do you good and will save those doctor's bills. So I was advised by my husband to try it after I told him about it. I am very thankful to say that I was soon able to take a few boarders for a while as rooms were scarce at that time. My baby is 17 months old now and I have not yet had an operation, thanks to your medicine. I have recommended the Vegetable Compound to a few people I know and have told them the good it has done me. I know I feel and look a different woman these last few months and I certainly will not be without a bottle of your medicine in the house. You can use this letter as you see fit, as I should be only too glad for those suffering as I have to know what it has done for me."

Mrs. ROBERT G. MACGINISOR, R.R. No. 2, Sarnia, Ontario.

A recent canvass of women users of the Vegetable Compound report 88 out of 100 received beneficial results. C (Adv.)

TYPOGRAPHICAL HEAD ADDRESSES UNION MEMBERS

James M. Lynch Speaks of Work of International Typographical Body

"You do well to celebrate in reverence a visit of representatives of the great organization of which you are a part, not for the representatives themselves but for the sake of that for which they stand," said James M. Lynch, president of the International Typographical Union, in an address to the local typographical branch at the Conservative Club rooms here last night. "Your body here, referred to as the 'great little union' of Victoria, has celebrated with fitness and proper ceremony this occasion."

Mr. Lynch, in the course of an inspiring address, referred to the work done by the International Typographical Union in America, pointing out that its members and their employers had a common interest in the industry in which they were employed and saying that all worked for its benefit. The union, he said, protected the employee and strove to mediate between them and the publishers in any dispute which might arise.

But the union had other work as well, Mr. Lynch said. There had been many changes during the last twenty-five years in America, and he called to mind a dispute he once had with Sir Wilfrid Laurier on a matter with Sir Wilfrid Laurier in the Government printing offices. He quoted Sir Wilfrid as saying: "You must remember that this Dominion is not so much a young nation. You must remember that there is a long thin line stretching from Halifax to Victoria of 7,000,000 people. But the time may come when we will be in a position to say the same things that were said in the United States!"

A GREAT STATESMAN

Sir Wilfrid had been right, said Mr. Lynch. The time had arrived when the same scale of wages existed in Canada as in the United States, and the price of labor in the Canadian shops compared favorably with that existing on the other side of the international boundary line, he said. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, he said, no matter where he had been born, no matter where he had been living, would have been the leading statesman in that country.

As Sir Wilfrid foresaw, the wage scale in Canada had been trebled in the last quarter of a century, so far as the printers are concerned.

UNION PROTECTION

After the second year of service, an apprentice receives the protection of the International Typographical Union with it, Mr. Lynch said. It was a different state of affairs from the conditions of twenty-five years ago, when a man worked for a third the wage and eleven hours a day.

The organization of the union had been made along the right lines, in a sane fashion, and had had a long and successful career, he declared. It had paved the way for all unorganized labor, and was giving the working man an opportunity of properly educating his children and an opportunity of giving himself more culture.

"There has been success in the past, and success will greet and crown our efforts of the future, for we are working hard," Mr. Lynch said emphatically. "Our success is the stability and soundness of our organization and our foundation, and this has been achieved through sacrifice, with words and acts offends the Premier is punishable with imprisonment from six to thirty months and a fine of from 500 to 2,000 lire."

J. W. HAYS SPEAKS

John W. Hays, secretary-treasurer of the International Typographical Union, spoke briefly by way of appreciation of the welcome accorded to him and his party, and in his opening remarks, spoke of the opportunity of the formation of a typographical auxiliary to the I.T.U. in Victoria.

"I strongly advise and hope that you will organize an auxiliary and conduct it along the lines which will most benefit your men," he said, addressing the ladies present. Speaking of the particular work of the union, he said it was an executive member, Mr. Hays said it had organized many benefits which would be done in a large measure by a few other such bodies had it not been for the union, which possibly none had equalled. He spoke of the mortuary benefits to be derived by the dependants of union men, of the wage scale of the union for the sick and the pension system and the many other attractions of the union. No wonder, he said, it was growing and gaining support by thousands. Its membership had now reached the 75,000 mark and its pension list was 2,500. Branch organizations all over the North American continent were growing and adding to their numbers and everywhere the work of the body was recognized as being beneficial to the workers and the employers.

MR. BROWN'S ADDRESS

First Vice-president Seth R. Brown, the third member of Mr. Lynch's party, and another one of the executive of the International Typographical Union, spoke of the great future lying ahead of the organization. The fact that in Los

Winter's Little Joke in the East

Angles, where he had lived for fifteen years, the organization had recently celebrated its fiftieth anniversary with an attendance of 1,100 was proof in itself of the great growth and growing popularity of the union. One of the accomplishments of the union in settling differences between employer and employee, he said, was its successful arbitration of the trouble with the American Newspaper Publishers' Association. An amicable settlement with the directors of this body was nearer now than it had been in three years, he asserted, and he had hopes that a definite ground of understanding might be gained upon which might be built a basis of co-operation and mutual benefit.

NO TROUBLE HERE

S. V. Bowers, chairman of the gathering, opened the ceremonies with a brief address in which he lauded the fact that there had never been trouble of a serious nature with proprietors and union men in Victoria. He was thankful for that, he said, and believed that "an amicable state of affairs would continue to obtain."

In this way Mr. Bowers introduced John Crow, who proposed the toast for the proprietors.

Mr. Nicholson, in replying to this toast, asserted that a policy of force and violence was never right, and that the policy of moderation adopted and carried out by the International Typographical Union was the proper one. The proprietors of all publications appreciated what had been done by the printing craft towards making a success of the business, he said, and he pressed the fine spirit of co-operation during the past thirty years between employer and employee.

C. F. Banfield, King's Printer, proposed a toast to the ladies, to which Mrs. S. V. Bowers responded. Mr. Banfield paid tribute to them for the fashion of their preparations for the welcoming of the members of the

LARGEST BOYS' CAMP IN WORLD, ORGANIZED IN SYRA, GREECE, FOR INTERNATIONAL WARDS

One great relief organization alone in Bible lands has 25,000 of these Near East orphans in institutions where the activities shown above—calisthenics—is part of the programme. There are 100,000 or more of such, the fatherless children of parents who laid down their lives in defence of the sacred principles for which the war was fought. These children are international wards. Golden Rule Sunday, December 6, is an international observance to mark the sense of responsibility of the rest of the world and particularly the Anglo-Saxon world over this mass of human suffering. His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Walter C. Nichol has endorsed the idea and mayors and other responsible citizens are heading local committees to secure observance in all parts of the Province. "Just what does it mean?" was asked of Major Owen, the chairman of the B. C. Joint Committee. "It means," the Major replied, "the eating on that day, of some other more suitable day, of one orphanage meal in every household, brown bread, rice, cocoa, stewed fruits, on bare boards, fellowship in conversation with the orphans and a donation sent to the local treasurer, Fred Landsberg, 641 Port Street. This is a work of human salvage on the widest scale of anything now going on in any part of the world," added Major Owen.

SINKING FUND FOR P.G.E. PROVIDED IN NEW MACLEAN BILL

New Scheme For Financing Repayment of Railway Obligations Before House

Hon. J. D. MacLean, Minister of Finance, laid two new bills before the Legislature yesterday, one being the expected measure to provide a sinking fund for the P.G.E. Railway debt. The bill provides for the annual utilization of $375,940.75 for purchase as far as possible of P.G.E. debenture stock guaranteed by the Province and to the extent that purchase of that stock can not be effected the remainder of the fund is to be invested in Provincial and Dominion interest bearing securities, or other trustee investments. This portion of the sinking fund is for the purpose of setting the $20,180,000 of the guaranteed debentures of the P.G.E. for which the Province is fully liable as to interest and principal.

Another bill presented by Dr. MacLean is an amendment to the University Act prohibiting the use of the University coat of arms or any imitation of it by private individuals.

Exhaustive documents covering all the correspondence between the Federal Government and the Province concerning the Peace River Land Block, since Confederation, will be laid before the House at its present session if Government clerks can collect all this information in time. A resolution ordering a return of these documents was passed yesterday after H. G. Perry, Liberal, Fort George, and chief advocate of the Peace River Block, had explained the legal position of the Peace River Block. This discussion is part of an effort by British Columbia to secure control of the Peace River Block which was handed over to the Federal Government in return for the construction of railways westward to the Pacific Coast. REDRAFT CONTRACT TO MEET CRITICISM

Esquimalt Waterworks Secretary to Swear no Commissions Paid

To make plain beyond controversy that Victoria shall not pay more than $1,450,000 for the Esquimalt Waterworks Company's undertaking and franchise, the wording of the agreement will be slightly changed, Mayor Pendray has announced. This action follows criticism of the agreement by Frank Higgins, K.C., in the course of remarks before the Private Bills Committee of the Legislature yesterday. Mr. Higgins had interpreted the agreement as requiring payment of the capital sum, and in addition thereto the accumulation of a sinking fund of $325,000 to be transferred to the Esquimalt Waterworks Company.
